RUBBING ALCOHOL

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue rubbed a lot of storekeepers the wrong way when he put into effect last month a new regulation that prevents the retail sale of rubbing alcohol except by a registered pharmacist. The latter is required to write or stamp his name and address across the brand label, under the words, "sold by." This ruling will prevent the sale of rubbing alcohol in variety stores and many department stores and will add inconvenience and cost to its handling in drugstores.

Spokesmen for retailers are describing the new ruling as an example of intolerable meddling of government in business. Of course the issue is not entirely one-sided as such epithets might suggest. What is commonly called rubbing alcohol is a compound made from specially denatured alcohol that is free of internal revenue tax. Investigations made last year, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue claims, showed that the sale and use of rubbing alcohol for beverage purposes was so large and so widespread that it led to a serious social problem and caused the government a marked loss in revenue.

It would be interesting to know what the Commissioner regards as "large and widespread use." It is unlikely to have occurred in retail purchase for beverage purposes, a practice possible but eventually certain to result fatally. Quantity purchase for redistillation could effect some saving over market buying of tax-paid grain alcohol but the laws protect the government against such practice and the only apparent remedial measure needed would lie in requiring notice of the buying.

On the face of the Commissioner's ruling, legitimate business and customer price are both handicapped by the Internal Revenue Department's anxiety to guard against, or all things, the bootlegger in an unpalatable and, in internal use, a dangerous commodity.—The Dallas Morning News.

The invention of the linotype in 1885 enabled one man to set as much type as 10 typesetters by hand. The new invention and later developments have increased the use of printing that the industry now gives work to over 7 times as many workers as in 1880.

YOUTH HAS ITS EYES OPEN

"American young people have confidence in themselves, place real value in their talents, and have faith in the future of their country."

In these encouraging words, "Scholastic Magazine," announces the results of a survey it took recently among more than six thousand representative high school young people throughout the country. The conclusion should be heartening, but not genuinely surprising to anyone who has observed the American spirit in operation before.

Some of the answers, indeed, point to a courageousness and belief in the future that we older folk would do well to emulate. For instance, only 10 per cent of these questioned expressed the belief that government jobs should be provided for young people until times improve, and 61 per cent said that if they had trouble finding jobs they would blame themselves.

As a further comment, 90 per cent of the young men and women questioned believed that the best cure for unemployment among youth and for young people in jobs they don't fit is more preparation for specialized jobs.

This note of encouragement comes at an apt moment. For with industry once again on the move and already reporting serious shortages among the applicants for skilled jobs in some brackets, youth is shown displaying a confidence that will take advantage of these new opportunities, and that augurs well for the future of America.

THEY SAY!

"That which we call progress has not come because the mind of man is better than it was thousands of years ago, but because the developments of industry have enabled those minds to accomplish results impossible in former times."
—S. Wells Utley, president Detroit Steel Casting Co.

"Not only our own civilization, every civilization of which we have any knowledge, has grown and flourished because of the work of the men of industry, and each one of these civilizations in turn has dwindled and decayed when the incentives producing industrial endeavors have been destroyed and the minds of the people turned to the distributing of that which already exists."
—S. Wells Utley, president Detroit Steel Casting Co.

School has begun to take up at 8:30, leaving not much leisure time before school starts.

In science we are making posters and writing themes about the transportation of today and yesterday.

We are sorry to hear of Joe's attack of appendicitis. We hope he will be with us soon. Monday all the freshmen wrote Joe a letter.

We have received some booklets on safe driving. Everyone should read and study the rules in these booklets. Questions out of these booklets may be given on exams. "All the world's a baseball diamond." And all the men and women merely players."

Grade School News
Although our Easter Egg hunt was originally scheduled for last Saturday afternoon, the weather made it impossible for us to have it then. However, we did not mind, since we had it Monday evening and everyone had a grand time.

Raymond Redder proved to be the best hunter in the group by finding 31 eggs. He won first prize for the boys. Another prize was given to Rayford Gene Chandler for finding the second largest number of eggs for the boys. Anna Fetach and Madalene Wilde won the prizes awarded to the girls. Magdalen Homer found the prize egg after almost having sat on it. Accidents happen, don't they, Magdalen? Sometimes! Ruth Loran got the booby prize. We discovered that Walter has a weakness for chocolate eggs, and that Cletus and Richard really must have a knack for hiding eggs, especially since they did such a keen job of it for us. Sincere thanks are extended to Mr. Victor Redder from all of us, for permitting us to use his pasture for our hunt. It was an ideal place.

Here are some jokes:
A negro soldier back of the lines was stopped by an officer.
"Don't delay me, sah. I gotta be on my way."
"Boy," replied the officer, "do you know who I am? I'm the general!"
"Go on, you ain't no general!"
"I certainly am," insisted the officer angrily.
The negro took another look.
"Great day in the mornin', you sure is! I must be traveling fast, 'cause I didn't think I got that far back."
Superintendent: "What we want is a night watchman that'll watch, alert and ready for the slightest noise or indication of burglars; somebody who can sleep with one eye and both ears open, and is not afraid to tackle anything."

When the Sophs are still struggling with the subject matter of their various courses, "Garth and Lynette" is proving interesting to the boys.

In Algebra we are solving equations containing fractions. Now and then we find them difficult, but we have set our goal to pass the three remaining examinations.

Ralph Waldo Emerson

Through his lectures, essays, and poems, Ralph Waldo Emerson made original and valuable contributions to the world's treasure of thought. He was born at Boston and was descended from seven generations of ministers of Puritan ancestry. His father died while he was quite young, but in spite of the fact that the family was poor, he managed to work his way through Harvard College, graduating at the age of 18. He taught school for a time, then studied for the ministry, and eventually assumed charge of a Unitarian church. He thought he could not continue to uphold the accepted faith and formalities of his church, and finally resigned from the ministry in 1832. He then definitely chose for himself the career of lecturer and essayist.

Emerson's first book to be published was "Nature." Although not popularly received, it was important as a forerunner of his later essays, because the idea it contained formed the basis of his philosophy. In 1841 his first series of essays came out, some of their titles being "History," "Compensation," "The Over-Soul," and "Intellect." A second series, including "The Poet," "Manners," and "Character," followed in 1844. Some more of his books were "English Traits," and "Conduct of Life."

"The Sage of Concord" was the title he received when he settled in Concord. Although somewhat reserved, his manner was gracious, and people were favorably attracted by his charm of personality. In appearance he was tall and slender, with a face lighted up by a kindly, spiritual expression and a look of deep, inquiring intelligence. Deep sincerity marked all that Emerson taught, and his idealism, exercised a strong influence, both at home and abroad, on the thought of his age.

Senior Class News

The Seniors have been working very hard at trying to finish a practice set in bookkeeping. They have found it rather difficult, but you know the Seniors, being industrious as they are, they will get at it.

We listened to "The School of the Air" last Friday. "The Farmer and the Government" was the topic discussed. We also listened to Monday's subject, which was "Government! It's up to Us."

In Economics last Monday Mr. Hoffman asked Alma what it meant to say a partnership is flexible. Alma answered "It means you can start a business in hardware, and if you don't succeed in that you can change to groceries, and if you don't succeed in that you can change to dry goods or drugs."

Bernee seems to think that a stock-joint company is the same as joint-stock company. Last week booklets concerning traffic safety were distributed in the school. These books show all the traffic laws of Texas and contain many important rules everyone should know.

Junior Report

Page by page we turn our Geometry books. Sometimes we also turn our brains, but once in a while they are so tired from the day before that they just can't concentrate.

Here's a little poem of which we think very much, and we believe that every word of it is true:

Horrors of Geometry
I hate to do Geometry
It seems so awful queer.

But when it comes to Algebra I have no dreadful fear.

The propositions are so hard I study half the night, And yet my efforts are in vain I still am in a plight.

I dream of angles A and B, They never let me rest, And every month my blood runs cold When teacher says "A test."

Oh! Who the deuce invented it? I'm sure he must be queer, Had I the chance to meet him now I'd run away in fear.

We find the study of the World War very interesting, because it looks in Europe as though we are going to have another World War. Studying authors and their poems seems to be very interesting at times, even though we don't prove to be very intelligent to our teacher sometimes.

Period for Deferred Grazing for AAA Range Payments Announced

Ranchmen planning to use deferred grazing to earn payments under the AAA's range conservation program must submit in writing a designation of the acreage to be deferred before the practice is started.

Since the five-month periods for deferred grazing vary in different sections of the state, ranchmen should notify the county Agricultural Conservation Association committees as to the acreage to be deferred in ample time before the deadline for their sections, Howard T. Kingsbery, state ACA committeeman for Santa Anna, pointed out.

For eight Valley counties—Zapata, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Kenedy, Starr, Hidalgo, Willacy and Cameron—the deferred grazing period begins April 15 and extends thru September 15.

In Wichita, Archer, Throckmorton, Shackelford, Jones, Taylor, Nolan, Coke, Sterling, Reagan, Crockett and Terrell counties and all counties to the east with the exception of those in the Valley, the period extends from May to October 1.

In all the remaining counties the deferred grazing will be carried out from May 1 to October 15.

By deferring 25 per cent of the range land in the ranching unit from grazing during the specified period, the ranchman may earn 40 per cent of his maximum range-improvement allowance. He may earn an additional 35 per cent by adopting supplemental practices if the county committee so recommends. Thus, Kingsbery said, up to 75 per cent of the maximum allowance may be earned by this one practice. If grazing is deferred on less than 25 per cent, proportionate payments may be earned, he added.

 Dear Reader:
 I am in a musical mood as I write you. Music on the mind and water on the brain, what a combination!
 I was going down the street today, and whom should I see in the Shade of the Old Apple Tree but "Dixie." I did not know the tree belonged to Johnny so I stopped to get "An Apple for the Teacher." "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home." I was on my way immediately, pausing only long enough to say "My Prayer" and fearing I might see "Stars of the Summer Night" if Johnny caught me "Alone."

I went on to town and there I found that music was not on my mind, since I don't have one. I began to search diligently for some material for this gossip column. Among the first things I saw was a crowd of people gathered and talking excitedly. I heard only a little of their conversation, but it seemed that they were talking of Ray Moore seeing a tan 1940 Plymouth in his dreams. That sounded silly to me but it did not sound half so silly as some of the other things they said. Cora Jean's name was mentioned too. I gathered that a boxer had a fight, or there was a fight about a boxer, or something to that effect. I don't think the boxer was Billy McDavid, either. I was trying rather intently to hear all that was said, but it was quite impossible. Juracy's name was also mentioned along with a vanity.
 So long . . .

 After eating sand last Friday and Saturday, we are not really able to tell you what has happened in our classes.
 We are going to make a stab at telling you the news . . . so here goes . . .
 We are still studying Literature in English III. Sue Stodghill and Patsy Ruth Mitchell gave very interesting reports on O. Henry Tuesday.
 The typing students finished their manuscripts Monday in class. We really enjoyed typing these.
 Dr. Bass has been letting us use our history notes in class. We find this to be very helpful and much more interesting.

Sunday School 10:00 A.M., Sunday.
 Church service 11:00 A.M., Sunday.
 Mid-week service 7:30 P.M. Wednesday.
 We extend a hearty welcome and invitation to everyone to come to all our services. This is the time of year when it is easy for everyone to be filled with the joy of living. Everything begins to bloom and grow and it seems good to be alive. Make your happiness complete by attending church and worshipping the very God who gave us all life. Start coming to church next Sunday and keep it up for the rest of the year, then you will know a completeness in your life that possibly you have never known before.

We invite you to make our church your church and our God your God. Christ is not willing that any should perish and we stand ready to serve all who come.
 Winston R. Bryant,
 Pastor

First Baptist Church

Everyone enjoyed the all-day service last Sunday. Brother Littleton brought us some great messages on Stewardship. We are especially pushing the Sunday School organization. We are working for a Standard school. We need your help. Let every Baptist help by coming. Find your place in the organization and help put the program over. Don't fool about it. Come on and help us. Be as loyal to your church as you are to your means of making a living. Your activity in the church will be a great asset in your life of usefulness in the community. If it were not for the church we would not have a single institution in the world today that makes for civic uplift. Take the church and its message out of the world and what have you left? Let's help carry on the institution that has done so much for us.
 W. H. Albertson

Munday Methodist Church

Isn't it hard to get anything to measure up 100 per cent in this day of rush and uncertainty? Our Bishop came to us in fine spirit but practically in bed with a cold, or better termed, the "flu." From the Stamford meeting last Friday night he went to Dallas to rest up in a hospital. The day also celebrated to give our guests a touch of a "Western Dust Storm," but with it all there was a fairly good attendance and Dr. Vliet gave us a very fine address on the importance of Benevolent giving. Both here and at Stamford he made the main address while Bishop Holt had to content himself with a short "thank you" talk.
 The Epworth Conference, held this week at Seymour by the J.O.Y. Union of our Young People went over nicely and those in attendance still live.
 At the age of seven, Alfred started to school at Hood and went there for six years. In his seventh year, he started to school in the Goree school. However, since his first year in high school was in Munday, we have had the privilege of having him with us every year thereafter.
 Alfred's favorite teacher is Mr. Cobb, and his favorite subject is law. He likes band music, and football is his favorite sport. He has no particular hobby. His favorite period is the last period. Statistics (if there were any) would show that he can say just as many witty things as Bob Burns. (And he doesn't have to go to Arkansas to get his material, either.)
 Alfred is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 126 pounds. He doesn't know what he intends to do after school.

Senior News
 It seems as if we Seniors are the victims of spring fever, at last. I have done a little thinking. I have found out that there just isn't any news, or very much action, either. So I wandered up to the library, got a book, and the following material is what I read from it. This was taken from "Elbert Hubbard's Scrap Book."
 The ladder of life is full of splinters, but they always prick the harshest when we're sliding down.
 When a bit of sunshine hits ye, After passing of a cloud, When a bit of laughter gets ye, And ye're spine is feelin' proud, Don't forget to up and fling it, At a soul that's feelin' blue, For the minut that ye sling it, It's a boomerang to you.
Who's Who in the Senior Class
 Really, this job . . . getting the seniors' lives . . . it not so hard as I thought it was, especially when a boy like Alfred Hendrix is the one who is telling me his life. Here it is:
 Alfred was born three miles east of Benjamin on July 19, 1922. After living there for a short time, he moved to Slaton, Texas. From there he moved to Munday, where ance have gotten a deeper understanding of their possibilities through the Youth Organization of our church.

Next Sunday is termed "Passion Day" by some. It was the time in Christ's experience when he was facing the cross and knowing that his Disciples were not fully understanding what was to be their lot in life. We will think on "Life's Motivating Power" in our morning worship Sunday. We had a number of newcomers present last Sunday? Say; do you go to church?
 We have some plans and are eager to carry them forward if the church will open a new bottle of inspiration and break open a box of enthusiasm. Spring awakens new life into most every thing about us, and we will feel fine if we catch the spirit of new life.
 "God never lets any day grow so dark but that the tomorrow's sun will break through."—Upper Room, March 1st, remember it?

Jim Reeves of Haskell was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Mrs. Jack Mayes, Mrs. J. C. Harpham, Mrs. Cyril von Baumann, Miss Cloe Mayo and Mrs. Grady Roberts were visitors in Quamah and Vernon last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. H. A. Pendleton
 Ford Tractor Dealer,
 Munday, Texas.

Dear Harp:

Being one of the first Ford Tractor customers you had and thinking that you would be interested in knowing what I think about the new Ford Tractor, I am going to give you below a statement of cost in preparing my land for the coming season:

Cut 100 acres of stalks
 Listed 145 acres
 Flat-Broke 65 acres 10 in. deep
 . . . At a Total Cost of $23.45

I am agreeably surprised in the performance of this new Ford Tractor and believe that it is the tractor for all small farmers.

Wishing you success, I am,

Yours very truly,
 (Signed) S. W. (Scott) Hutchens

Here at last is an economical, easy-to-operate, and practically automatic unit of mechanized farm equipment. It's going to change things on the farm. Shorter and easier hours. More profit. Less back-breaking toil. Farm experts who have operated the Ford Tractor with Ferguson system agree with Henry Ford when he says that it takes the drudgery out of field work.

Implements are not only kept automatically at any desired depth in the ground by the hydraulic mechanism but are also lowered and lifted for work and transport. Implements, including the row cultivator, can be attached or detached in less than one minute.

Another exclusive feature is the light weight of the unit. The Ford Tractor with Ferguson system, with its new "downward line of draft," eliminates all need for excess weight. But there are so many unusual and exclusive advantages of the Ford tractor with Ferguson system that you really must see it in operation. We'll be glad to arrange a demonstration for you on your farm.

YOU GET THESE FEATURES AT NO EXTRA COST

Ferguson System of Hydraulic Controls . . . Pneumatic Tires . . . Self Starter . . . Power Take-Off . . . Governor . . . Battery and Generator . . . Oil-Bath Air Cleaner . . . Muffler . . . Mrs. T. M. Busby directed the guests to the dining room where punch, sandwiches and angel food cake were served. The dining table held a beautiful lace-laid tablecloth.

After leaving the dining room, guests were ushered into the bedroom by Mrs. R. M. Almanode, where they viewed the beautiful array of gifts on display.

The Sunset junior quartet and the senior trio, accompanied by Miss Virginia Parkhill on the accordion, gave interesting numbers during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garner visited relatives in Quanah over the week end.

Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Eiland returned home Sunday night from Galveston and New Orleans, where they had been for a week. Dr. Eiland attended a medical meeting in New Orleans.

Does Gaynelle have a heart throb in the Senior class?
Is Gena Beth really going to plant a garden in her hair? (Well, I think anyone could after being out in that sand Friday.)

Is Pauline's ideal boy still in the Senior class?
Is Joe going to change his mind? (About girls.)

Who was Victor seen with Saturday night?

Senior Report

"Ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience we will give you some real entertainment, if you will hold to your chairs and listen . . . that was Miss Bumpas just fresh from the range."

This is how our Radio Program started off and it was entertaining, too. Several other numbers were given and then came the Battle of the Sexes. The contestants were called from the audience, the Professor's students were told to get set, and the contest started. The contestants were: Mrs. Savage, Mrs. Shannon, Mrs. Reeves, Mr. Jones, Mr. Underwood, and Mr. Harber. The old professor really learned who was the wiser, men or women. At the end of the first bout to all the women's joy—the women were ahead. While scores were counted more numbers were given—then the second round of questions came. This time the men won. Prizes were given by the "Ole Professor" and the contest ended. The remaining part of the program was continued then.

We wish to thank everyone who helped the Seniors in putting their program on and making it a success. We also want to invite everyone to the big event, "Our Senior Play."

The Seniors of 1940 in 1950

The other day a friend of mine asked me to dinner. Another of his guests interested me greatly. On seeing that I was greatly interested in his line of work he invited me to drop around the next day. He was very famous the whole world over.

When I reached his luxurious office he had a large crystal ball on his spacious desk and here's what I saw:

The Sunset graduating class of 1940! Why that was the class that I taught so long! They all faded away and there was just one lone guy standing. He had a bright sweater on with the symbol of John Tarleton on it. Yet he was a graduate of there four years ago—ah, I see . . . Coaching the John Tarleton football squad. Why that was none other than ole "Paynie" Shannon. As he faded out I saw three comedians before a microphone and a large audience. Black! Not my classmates?? Yeah!! There were Bill Herring, Ausa Cluck, and A. J. Gilbert, making the crowd hilariously happy. Into this shimmering mist I saw three girls—in Madison Square Garden—New York! They too stood before an immense crowd, but the crowd was silenced by the melodious strains as Sunset's own high school trio, (now known under a different name) sang "The Rosary." They were, of course, Cleta Jones, Katie Bell Sweatt, and Virginia Parkhill. Next came rows and rows of corn, cotton, just life on the farm. In the door of the little white cottage on the side of the hill stood a woman—waiting for her husband to come to the noon meal. A closer view . . . well! Quiet, meek little Annie Burns. Just as I was casting my eyes to see who her husband was; the farm and house were lost in shimmering darkness and when the night next appeared it was in a most beautiful spot. Ah, the happy, healthy, sunny land of California. Just as I was wondering what significance this far off country could hold, I saw the answer! Up on the top of the hill, set off from the other houses, stood twin houses. A closer view showed two children playing in the yard . . . I was about to look questionably at my entertainer but just then I caught sight of two women coming out the door and catching the two children up . . . run to meet the two men coming in at the gate. Why Those two were the former Jo Smith and Rachel Walling! So far away and yet so happy—I wanted to linger longer in this sunny land, but time flies onward and next I could see nothing except snow and ice. Surely none of those pesky Seniors could be up here—but I could see someone observing the skies. Even taking notes. Yea . . . a famous author, especially of landscape and sports. That was Robert Travis. As the shimmering snow glittered in the sunlight and became dimmer and then faded away something cracked. I thought instead of seeing the huge icicles breaking I heard them, but Mr. Crosby said that the ball was broken and until tomorrow I would have to wait to see the rest of the interesting interlude. So . . . also breaking off . . . look forward next week and see what these other "Dignified" Seniors make of themselves and life in general.

SENIORS ON PARADE

Helen Juanita Hunter
Juanita Hunter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hunter, was born six and one-half miles southeast of Knox City, on March 16, 1923.

Juanita is five feet and five inches tall, has brown hair, blue eyes, and weighs 121 pounds.
Some of her favorites are: color, blue; subject, English; song, "Scatterbrain," or "Oh Johnnie"; sport, volleyball; hobby, keeping scrap books; dislike, people who do things for spite; and movie star, Andy Hardy.

The nickname that she goes by is "Nita."
She does not know what she will do after finishing high school; she says that one thing will be to take a long-wanted vacation.

Did You Know . . . Did Ya?

Bill says that he owns several pairs of skates. (We wonder if they're the kind he plows with.)

Six weeks exams are over and the "Kiddies" are feeling a lot better.
Aenes seems to have found her ideal.

Verbon and Marvin think a car can run without water.

Rachel seems to be so happy this week. (What do you know that the rest of us would like to know?)

Nellie and LaVerne won't take a dare. (Or will they?)

Joe Tom is so inquisitive.

Wallis knows all about the different makes of cars that pass down the highway.

Katie Bell has adopted a new hair style, or maybe it is just for one day.

Edith has some important news from O'Brien to tell Jo this week.

Spring is in the air, because the birds are singing and the trees are budding. (Reckon that is all the reasons we know of.)

Tuesday morning, February 19, the Benjamin High School was honored by a visit from the distinguished Mr. Steghul Misah of India. Having delivered such an excellent lecture at the Christian church Monday night, he was asked to give the school children a talk on his native country Tuesday morning.

Many interesting subjects were discussed by Mr. Misah and the students took great pleasure in asking questions about India. Such topics as education, occupation, recreation, government, and sports were discussed.

The student body was very surprised to learn that the natives of India resent the attitude instilled in our minds by such pictures as "The Rains Came," etc., for Mr. Misah says that they are not true. Also Mr. Misah does not approve of commercialized inter-school sports. This address was enjoyed by all who heard it.

Annual Production

The school has contracted for 31 annuals, and work has begun on the layout sheets. The staff this year includes: Editor-in-Chief, Buddy Sams; assistant editor, Cidy Williams; business manager, Billy Joe Sams; production manager, Mutt Jackson; art editor, Dorothy Mills; sports editor, Mary Lucille Smith; social editor, Gertrude Laird; senior representative, Ina Fern Parker; junior representative, Billy Brookreson; sophomore representative, Nadene Parker; freshman representative, Bonnie Parker. Those of you who have not already done so, please submit your balance of fifty cents, so that the final materials may be secured.

Confucius say track man and cigarettes gains nought. Could this be why so many boys are refusing "drugs"? How nice to smoke without creating a riot which simply means, our track boys (the whirling dervishes) are training within regulation rules.

We are expecting to gain victory for the dear ole' Alma Mater through the boys, who are Billy Joe Sams, Bud Kendrick, Douglas Meinzer, Cidy Williams (what a quartet!), Willie Escobar, Perry J. Stark, Pete Rutledge and Butch McCandies.

If practice makes perfect, then Billy Joe and Bud certainly ought to be above reproach. Dust flies from morn to night on the ole' track, as muscles are pushed into coordination, creating a lightning effect and I do mean it! By the way, who don't we take up a collection to buy Billy Joe some track pants? His seem a little short and he is so modest... or is he? Tune in next week to ole' B.H.S. and we will give you further details of what promises to be the best track team in the history of Benjamin schools.

Senior Report

Spring being ushered in by gusty winds, the Seniors thoughts turn not to love but to ideas of how to "stay put" here on dear old mother earth when choking sand storms threaten to send one's skirts and hats flying.

And with gasps of surprise, we are proud to say, the Seniors came out with flying colors this six weeks when grades soared skyward. My, how this grade market does change! Why those grades even startled the teachers, those supposedly shock-proof pedagogues! My! My! Nevertheless, grades in Economics and English were better than usual, which thrilled the hearts of the Seniors and set them singing merrily on their way to bigger and better undertakings.

Little old Broadway! Right here in Shanty Town (school zone to you!) Well, have you heard "Sauce for the Gossings, Why Lie About It, Ambition, His and Hers, and That Awful Letter," starring Dorothy Mills, Bonnie Marshall, Vivian Littlepage, Buddy Sams, Gertrude Laird, and Claude Lee Snailum. Wonderful dramatizations of the latest Broadway hits! These thrilling episodes take place in the speech class every afternoon in the English room with a very attentive audience in the study hall. Well, don't blame us, walls will talk!!!

The Seniors now realize how full of meaning the old adage "Nothing is surer than death and taxes" . . . especially taxes . . . when they delve into the economic effects of taxation in economics class. A very interesting chapter on Investing and Speculating has just been completed by this class which has put those "wise owl" expressions on their faces because they think "you can't fool an old-timer like me," and no more zyp joints for me! Well, pleasant effects! Thanks to our instructor, Mr. Cunningham.

A sleepy atmosphere broods over the old B.H.S. campus as lazy spring lays its blanket of peace and quiet over the students after the very heated excitement of the basketball games. But not for long do you find those active students of ole Benjamin High loafing, for track events and interscholastic league events beckon and remind us that there is no time to tarry over dreams. Speaking of dreams, reminds me that two Senior girls, (hint, blonde and redhead) have picked Biology class as a time for reverie. Well, after all, this is spring and why should one substitute "What I am going to do to-night," for such a deep subject as the study of black mold and yeast plants, which is the subject of discussion in Biology now.

Junior Report

Merry voices issued from the "ole Mercantile Building" Saturday night, March 2, as many couples danced to the music furnished by a nickelodeon. In short—a dance was sponsored by the room mothers, Mrs. Williams, and Mrs. Brookreson of the Junior class and Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. H. B. Sams of the Senior class. The colors, red, white, and blue were used for decorative purposes. A clever lighting effect was produced by candles which were hung in the center of the room. Everyone enjoyed himself—dancing such dances as the old square dance, Virginia Reel, New Shoe, Coming Through the Rye, Shaz, etc.

About 1:00 a.m., the dancers stopped their merrymaking and went home. After checking up we found that the total proceeds received were $20.35. This will be divided evenly between the two classes, the Juniors and the Seniors. We will push our half back into the Treasury for future means of financing the banquet for the Seniors.

On Saturday night, March 9 the above room mothers will sponsor another dance which will be given also at the old Mercantile Building west of the courthouse. Everyone is invited to attend.

Freshman Class
 The poetry unit is being studied in literature this six weeks. The construction of words and poetic feet are being stressed as well as the different rhyme schemes. It is proving to be quite enjoyable.

Just in case we die some day, we are learning something about insurance. It is a fascinating study and several students insist they are going to insure their personal assets.

Sophomore Report

"Shouldn't auld acquaintance be forgot . . . ?" Well no! Louise Spikes, formerly of the Spikes ranch, now of Spur, is visiting her old Alma Mater. She attended here until she moved to Spur three weeks ago.

One of our classmates had a birthday recently. Perry J. Stark reached his sixteenth year a struggle for existence, while Douglas Meinzer of the Junior class, shared honors and presents with him at a party held in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Austin.

One Act Play

Under the direction of Mr. Wendell Watson, preparation has been made to present, "The Perfect Brick," in the Interscholastic League one act play contest. After trying out the following cast has been selected:

Aunt Miranda.....Mutt Jackson
 Uncle Henry.....Pete Rutledge
 Nancy.....Wanda Nunley
 Bob.....Alonso Cartwright
 Susan.....Dorothy Mills
 Jim.....C. E. Williams

This play will be presented on March 21, along with the other one act plays of the different schools of the county. So don't fail to see Benjamin's presentation of "The Perfect Brick."

Seventh Grade

It is not often that the seventh grade is recognized for its ability to do great things. At the beginning of the year we thought that we had plunged into a series of subjects which would be beyond our comprehension. Since we have a different teacher for each subject for the first time in our lives, we had a little difficulty adjusting ourselves; but now we realize that each teacher has one best way of teaching us. Let us give you an outline of a typical day's work. When we enter the study hall, no matter how early in the morning, our thoughts turn to English, for it is our first subject, we know that Miss Diersing expects our work to be as nearly perfect as possible. We look forward to her class because she has the cleverest ways of teaching grammar. Can you imagine enjoying a study of the dependent clause? Well, we are making a scrapbook which is divided into three sections; the adjective clause, the adverbial clause, and the noun clause.

The reckless driver is a criminal.

Mrs. Joe Bailey King visited in Abilene last Sunday. Mr. King, who has been at the bedside of his mother for some time, remained in Abilene to be with his mother.

A Modern Linerider

on the Range

"We're on guard day and night"

THIS MODERN LINERIDER—so like the old-time cowboy—has a mortal enemy too. The cowboy waged a continuous battle against the rustler. The lineman's big fight is against depreciation—and the ravages of wind and rain, heat and cold.

Just as the soil is worn away by erosion . . . just as a herd of cattle or sheep can be depleted by theft or disease, so does the electric line suffer from depreciation and the elements.

The lineman is constantly at work on the lines entrusted to his guardianship. Repairing and replacing old poles. Repairing and replacing old wires. Destruction by a sudden storm—or damage by a run-away car or truck—must be repaired in as short a time as possible.

Day or night—the lineman is subject to call. The light of a flashlight may be his only illumination while atop a 50-foot pole, working on high voltage lines.

He is one of the hundreds of men and women, working "behind the scenes" who help make Electric Service efficient, dependable and economical here. On him we bestow a title of honor—"A Modern Linerider."

This is the second of a series of "THUMBNAILED SKETCHES" featuring the work performed by our Linemen in bringing ELECTRIC SERVICE to your home

County Council Has All-Day Meet

The county council of home demonstration clubs met at Benjamin at ten o'clock March 1 for an all day meeting. Seven clubs of the county were represented.

A budget for 1940 was set at $100,000. All standing committees gave reports of the various work to be done throughout the year.

AAA WHEAT SHORTS

Wheat is an important source of cash income to more than 55,000 farmers in Texas, more than a million in the United States.

In 1939 there were five bushels of wheat available for every four needed in the world.

The combined harvester-thresher was used to harvest less than five per cent of the wheat crop in 1920, but in 1938 it was used in harvesting about 50 per cent of the wheat acreage planted for grain.

During the same period the number of combines on farms in the United States increased from about 4,000 to around 100,000.

During the last world war, Great Britain bought half her wheat supply from the United States. Now she can supply all her needs from the British Empire.

"Soil conservation on a national scale is essential to a permanent and stable agriculture of the present as well as the future."—R. M. Evans, National AAA Administrator.

More than eleven thousand Texas wheat producers are guaranteed a wheat harvest in 1940, since they have insured their production with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Miss Clara Strubel of Wichita Falls spent last week end with Mrs. L. Loran and Mrs. J. G. Keenig.
