At a recent meeting of the Munday Volunteer Fire Department, new officers were elected for another year, and plans were made to help keep Munday's fire loss at its present low record for the remainder of the year.

Bargain Rate Brings In Many Dollars On Subscriptions To The Munday Times

The annual bargain rate for The Munday Times has resulted in many subscriptions being received during recent weeks. Many who have not taken The Times have come in and subscribed within the last few days, and response which citizens of Knox county and surrounding territory have made to our bargain rate has been very gratifying.

The bargain days will continue for a short while longer, although it is almost certain that this low rate for The Munday Times will be withdrawn within the near future. Those who have not yet paid up their subscriptions are urged to do so in order to get the saving offered by The Times during the annual bargain days.

When the bargain rate is withdrawn, subscription prices will go back to their usual rate of $1.50 per year within a 50-mile radius of Munday, and $2.00 per year beyond that distance.

$1.00 per year this year a long time ago.

This is possibly the lowest price of newsprint at such a low rate for The Munday Times.

Chas. Giddings Enters School Of Aviation

Reports For Duty At Love Field, Dallas On Thursday

Charles Giddings, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Giddings, left this week for Dallas, where he is entering training in the U. S. Aviation Service. Charles reports for duty at Love Field, Dallas, on Thursday morning.

Passing the government examination several months ago, Charles was notified that he would likely be accepted into the service, but final acceptance and orders were not received until a few days ago.

Charles was the only one out of some twenty youths who passed the rigid government examination. Friends and relatives here believe that after preliminary training at Dallas, Charles will likely be transferred to San Antonio for advanced training in aviation.

The cotton ginning report from the Department of Commerce bureau of the census shows that 15,522 bales of cotton were ginned in Knox county from the crop of 1939 prior to December 13, as compared with 24,326 bales from last year's crop.

Appointed by former President Herbert Hoover as Texas Director of the National Finnish Relief Fund, Captain J. F. Lucey urges Texans to subscribe money to aid Finnish civilians who have been driven out of home and home by the Russian attack on their country. Moguls To See New Years Game In Cotton Bowl

Plans of the Munday Lions Club for taking over twenty members of the Munday high school Moguls to the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas on New Year's Day are rapidly being completed. Several have offered to take players in their cars, while others have agreed to pay their admission to the game.

Plans are to go to the game and return in one day, so there will be no over-night expenses to the trip. On their arrival in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl classic, Clemson and Boston College will stage daily workouts on the Southern Methodist and the new Dallas high school athletic field. Clemson, co-champion of the southern conference will be quartered at the Stoneleigh Hotel and work out on the S.M.U. gridiron. Boston will stay at the Melrose Courts and stage daily practice on the new high school gridiron.

O'DANIEL URGED TO PAY POLL TAX

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel was urged last week by the Young Democratic Club of Travis County to pay his 1940 poll tax.

The club named a committee to call on O'Daniel, urging him to pay his poll tax and request that he devote a Sunday morning broadcast to the need for paying poll taxes.

During the 1938 campaign it was proven that O'Daniel had not paid his poll tax for several years since he came to Texas. He then advocated abolition of the poll tax, but made no efforts to get the tax repealed at the Legislature's regular session.

22 Baskets Are Distributed To Needy Families

Don M. Ferris, commander of Lowry Post of American Legion, stated that 22 baskets were distributed to needy families in and around Munday on Christmas. The goodfellow baskets were to families who otherwise would have had no Christmas; the baskets containing clothing, toys and food.

Ferris expressed thanks to everyone who cooperated with the American Legion in this movement by placing articles in the goodfellow barrels at the grocery stores. Special thanks was given the Book-out Bakery for supplying bread for each of the baskets.

In addition to the movement sponsored by the American Legion, baskets were also distributed by the Munday Chamber of Commerce, with the Munday Lions Club and other organizations cooperating.

A business session will be held during intermission, and officers of the alumni association will be elected for 1940.

Mitchell Home Wins Prize For Decorations

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mitchell was adjudged the most beautifully decorated for Christmas and was awarded the Lions Club prize of $5.00 by a secret committee that judged the decorated homes last Friday night.

The Mitchell home was an array of blue lights, with evergreens in the yard being well lighted and lights strung along the entire front of the residence. Over the front door were many blue lights, forming a huge star. This was a display that could be seen for quite a distance and was one of the most beautiful of outdoor decorations this Christmas.

Second and third places went to the W. R. Moore and H. A. Pendleton homes, both of which were beautifully lighted. Judging was done from the streets, as was done last year.

After receiving the committee's report, Lee Haymes, president of the club, said they found more homes decorated than last year and all of them seemed more beautiful and attractive than those last year. He expressed appreciation of the the Lions Club for the splendid cooperation given in decorating the town, both residence and business sections, for the holidays, stating that much more was done this year to make the town attractive.

Dr. D. C. Eiland Is Speaker At Meeting Of Lions Club

Dr. D. C. Eiland had charge of the program at Wednesday's meeting of the Munday Lions Club, giving the members some of the advancement made in the medical profession in recent years. Dr. Eiland spoke of several new drugs which have come into general use recently, thus greatly aiding doctors in the treatment of various diseases. He spoke particularly of the new drug used in the treatment of pneumonia, which has resulted in the death rate from pneumonia being much lower than at any other time in the history of medicine.

His talk was very interesting and was enjoyed by everyone. Dr. Eiland was "redeeming himself" for failing to provide a program while he was attending a medical meeting in Oklahoma city recently, being away on the date he was to have charge of the program. Christmas Is White in Munday

Half-Inch of Moisture Is Received Here

Santa Claus brought Munday and all West Texas an appreciated Christmas present in the form of a welcomed snow on Christmas day. It was appreciated by all, except the thousands of motorists who had to wend their ways homeward on slippery pavements.

It started snowing at about eight o'clock Christmas day in Munday and continued throughout the entire day. Approximately five inches fell at Munday, and it was estimated this brought about a half-inch of moisture. Winter wheat fields will be greatly benefited by this moisture.

Sunshine during Tuesday and Wednesday melted most of the first snow of the winter, but snow started falling again Thursday morning and the ground was soon white again.

Reports of snow over portions of West Texas and Oklahoma, as reported by the daily papers were as follows:

Texline Tuesday morning had 16 inches of snow on the ground with a temperature of 16 degrees. Other snow reports included Dalhart, 10 inches; Amarillo, seven inches; Pampa, Wellington, and other North Plains points, six inches; Quanah, Childress, and Chillicothe, three inches; South Plains area, two to four inches; Electra, one inch; Iowa Park to Decatur, scattered snow flurries; Keyes, Okla., to Woodward, Okla., eight inches; Woodward to Tipton, four inches.

Cotton Blooms
As the snow was falling and fast, P. C. Phillips came to Times office Thursday morning to left a bunch of cotton blooms gathered from his field on Christmas eve. He said he hadn't seen cotton blooms this late in the year since 1904.

Livestock Sale Is Light Tuesday

The Munday Livestock Commission Co. experienced its lightest sale last Tuesday since the firm was organized. This was attributed to the bad weather, making it dangerous for truckers to bring cattle into town, and the sale coming right after the holidays.

Sellers included Grady Hudson, Benjamin I. S. Farr, Stamford; Jack Ratliff, Haskell; Mrs. W. C. Bevers and Otis Phillips, Munday.

Buyers were C. R. Elliott, W. A. Baker and D. G. Griffith, Munday; A. R. Reeves, Weimert; Wichita Packing Co., Wichita Falls; I. O. Tucker, Vernon, Lee Cannon and Jack Ratliff, Haskell.

J. M. Terry III In Stamford Hospital

J. M. Terry, well known resident of Munday and member of the city council, was taken to the Stamford hospital last Friday for treatment. Mr. Terry became suddenly ill and later developed pneumonia.

Reports from the hospital are that Mr. Terry is very greatly improved, and he is expecting to be brought home with in the next few days.

Mrs. G. C. Spann and daughter, Ida Mae, came home from Abilene to spend the Christmas holidays. They had as their guests for Christmas dinner last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Donnell and children of Bryson, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Campbell and daughter of Roaring Springs, Mr. and Mrs. George Spann of Abilene, Mrs. W. D. Ford and son of Lawton, Okla., and Oscar Spann and family and John Spann and family of Munday.

Mrs. A. F. Huskinson spent Christmas in Wichita Falls with her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Lee.

J. Dee McStay and wife of Vernon spent Christmas day here with Mr. McStay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. McStay.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hammett and little daughter spent Christmas with relatives in Austin.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

RING IN THE NEW

As we celebrate the coming of the new year and tack the 1940 calendar on the wall, it makes a lot of difference in looking back and in looking ahead whether we consider things from the point of view of the whole world, or just of the United States.

A little reason to remember 1939 with affection, and this country—though worried and shaken by the hard reality of a war abroad—finds certain aspects of the domestic picture that ought to cheer it up.

One of the chief of these is the appearance of a business recovery that this time seems to be the "real thing." Not a war boom, but an industrial upsurge that is meeting the long-delayed needs of Americans the country over, it shows promise of continuing the march towards higher standards of living that has in the past been typical of this nation as of no other.

Continuation of this drive towards prosperity on a sound basis, of course will depend upon keeping certain fundamentals in mind. Some of these have fallen into neglect during the years of depression, and New Year is a logical time for all Americans to get them clearly in mind again. In this light, it would be well for all of us who have this country's welfare at heart to make a resolution to support and encourage the following fundamentals wherever and whenever the opportunity presents itself:

- (1) Preservation of liberty for individuals as long as it does not conflict with the public interest.
 - (2) Maintenance of government in the place allotted to it by the Constitution—as the people's servant, not as their master.
 - (3) Government through the orderly processes provided in the law, rather than by decrees and bureaus.
 - (4) Avoiding extravagance in government whenever it is found to exist, so that the taxes collected from the people may be used entirely for the people's welfare.
 - (5) Raising of the American standard of living to even higher levels by adherence to the time-tested principles of individual private enterprise and incentive.
 - (6) Keeping secure our three freedoms—representative political democracy, religious and other liberties, and private enterprise—realizing all must stand or fall together.
- If we keep these resolutions in mind, maintain these national aims, all of us as individuals can look forward to a happy and prosperous New Year and many more to come.

TEXAS SAFETY COUNCIL

Extra precautions should be taken during this Holiday Season so that the death and injury toll of both old and young may be held to a minimum.

While Christmas Day has already passed, bringing more fatalities than should have been the case, we still must face the carnival spirit that prevails when we bid farewell to the old year and usher in the new.

"Fireworks in the last five years in the United States have cost the lives of more children than Christmas soldiers were killed in the American Revolution," George Brooks, president of the Texas Safety Council, said. "Fireworks, of course, are the joy of youth in this festive season, but fireworks are dangerous in the hands of unthinking boys and girls. If allowed at all, they should be under very strict supervision."

"Gaudy and inflammable decorations not only are an open bid to the fire demon, but oftentimes result in the deaths of innocent people. Electric lights and fires should be kept carefully away from all such decorations. They should not be in reach of the child."

"And we will be faced on New Year's eve again with the problem of the celebrant who imagines he can drive a high-powered motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Let us plead with all those who find it necessary to drink on New Year's eve to leave their automobiles at home. The toll of your life, of that of an innocent person is too much to pay for a moment of hilarious driving on our crowded streets or highways."

"And a good resolution for the New Year: 'Think, Talk and Act Safely. Do not drink while driving. Observe all the rules of the road. Consider the other fellow.'"

It is better to wait for a light to change than to wait for the ambulance to arrive, says the Texas Safety Association.

Unless you live rent-free or own your own property the rising cost of government weighs on you heavily. The most important tax in the United States is the property tax which alone made up one-third of total collections last year.

MAYBE GEORGE WON'T

However outworn it may be, there's still a lot of truth in the old expression that some people are willing to just "let George do it."

Take this Cotton Christmas idea advanced by the National Cotton Council. Just about everybody will agree that it's a fine thing and that it will help boost cotton consumption.

Mighty few folks in the Cotton Belt won't admit that cotton goods are better than ever before. Even fewer will tell you that dozens of fine cotton articles aren't suitable as Christmas presents.

Trouble is that there are some folks who claim they want to make this Christmas a Cotton Christmas and that they certainly do like these new cotton gifts. And then they go down town and buy every blessed thing under the sun but cotton presents.

These are the folks who want to "let George do it." Wonder if they ever stopped to think that maybe George won't do it.

George is no different from everybody else. He knows that when he buys cotton Christmas gifts he is actually putting money in his pocket and in those of other people of the Cotton Belt. But he sits back and waits for other Georges to do it.

Somewhat we never did have much faith in waiting for somebody else to do things. We know that if we all pitch in together and buy cotton gifts, we can make this a real Cotton Christmas. Let's go out and do it without waiting for George.

A SIGNIFICANT AWARD

The Nobel Prize situation this year attracted an unusual amount of attention because there was no peace prize awarded. That, of course, was only natural, since war was blazing all around the prize-giving country.

Interest in the peace prize story, however, unfortunately distracted attention from the other prizes. One of these pointed a very interesting moral.

The award in question went to Professor Gerhard Domagk for his discovery of a cure for pneumonia, meningitis, and a number of other of man's most "difficult" diseases. And there was one particularly interesting fact about the situation which was more or less lost in the shuffle. It was the fact that the award was made to a man who conducted his researches, not with the aid of some university or hospital, but with the aid of industry.

Why is this important? The answer isn't obscure. The important point is the fact that the award recognizes a trend of the times; that in those nations which have advanced farthest towards better living, industry has taken the lead in promoting industrial research.

Because America has far and away led all other countries of the world in this respect, and because it is prepared today to achieve further peacetime progress in the same direction, it is only natural that the Nobel Prize award to a leader of industrial research should have significance for all Americans.

DID IT CONTRIBUTE TO RECOVERY?

Six years ago, in September 1933, the Federal Trade Commission took issue with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company on what was a fair and legal contract to produce tires for Sears Roebuck and Company.

Goodyear was cited by the commission for alleged violation of the Clayton Act, it being charged that the contract tended to create a monopoly in the production and distribution of tires.

The result was one of the longest legal proceedings in the history of American jurisprudence. Hearings were held in Chicago, Cincinnati, Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul, New York, and Washington.

Witnesses—211 of them—were summoned from coast to coast at great expense to the taxpayers. Nearly 10,000 pages of testimony were taken. Some 22,869 "exhibits" were put into the huge record.

The case dragged for years from court to court. Finally, 6 years after the commission's original citation, the Supreme Court of the United States dismissed the whole proceedings, refusing to review a decision of a lower Federal Court which had reversed the commission's order against Goodyear.

Did it contribute to recovery?

THEY SAY!

"We may be approaching the time when a choice must be made in this country between a lower standard of living as a permanent thing or a lower rate of taxation, in order to stimulate a greater volume of production and consumption. Certainly we will not deliberately penalize ourselves and our children when the facts are so clear that the greatest market any of us can imagine still lies fallow within our possibilities. We have the opportunity before us of making the brightest era of prosperity imaginable, in the mere fact that none of the people in this country has everything he or she wants."—Walter D. COTTON FARMERS VOTE 'YES'

Cotton farmers of Texas and the rest of the South shouted a loud "yes" to the question whether they wanted cotton marketing quotas in 1940, George Slaughter, chairman of the state Agricultural Conservation Association committee, said after returns on the referendum December 9 were virtually complete.

In Texas 134,575 cotton producers voted in favor of quotas, while 29,853 voted against them, a majority of 81.8 per cent, Slaughter announced, the total vote being 164,428. Only Carson county, in which the vote was very small, had not reported by the time this tabulation was released, while 3 other counties were incomplete.

In the 14 cotton-growing states in the country, 90 per cent of the producers favored quotas, 803,095 voting "yes" and 79,928 voting "no."

"The jump in the percentage in Texas favoring quotas this year from 7 per cent to 81.8 per cent is adequate proof that farmers believe in the AAA program," the farmer-chairman commented. "A similar increase in the South as a whole, from 84 per cent to 90 per cent, shows that Texas farmers are not alone in this faith in the program."

Out of 20 counties which last year did not give even a simple majority in favor of marketing quotas, 9 counties now favor them by more than the necessary two-thirds majority, Slaughter pointed out. Only two counties, Lavaca and Throckmorton, which did not vote as much as 50 per cent for quotas last year voted still less favorably this year, he declared.

"The most remarkable change of vote was in Cameron county," the chairman continued. "Where last year only 17 per cent of the producers favored quotas last year but 74 per cent voted in favor of them this year."

Out of the 34 counties which last year gave a simple majority but not the necessary two-thirds, 32 counties now favor quotas by more than the two-thirds," Slaughter said.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday we write the last page of the old year. For three hundred sixty-five days we have been adding to the deeds of this year. Now we write the last chapter, roll it up as a scroll, and lay it aside for future consideration, and for a witness in the last great assize. In that day the leaves of the judgment book will unroll, and the deeds of life will unfold, and we will see ourselves as we really are. May we close out this old year in high, and begin the new one with an abiding faith, an energizing conviction and a stabilizing hope. In this season of Hope and Good Cheer we rejoice with those who are happy, and sorrow with those to whom sickness and sorrow and disappointment have come. Jesus came into the world to bring peace among men who would be disposed by good-will. He has been unchanging in His will toward, and in His plan with men. Just as He made a world citizen out of Paul, the conceited, bigoted Pharisee, so will He revolutionize our lives and make us to see visions and dream dreams, and give ourselves to help a lost world to know God.

We wish for each, and all, the very best the New Year may possibly have in store. May the invisible guest, and the unseen guide be heard and followed all the way. Sermon subject for Sunday morning, Pressing On.

Killed "Bird" Twice

P. G. Morgan of Fort Worth will be certain in the future that only dead birds go into his game bag. Mr. Morgan flushed a covey of birds and killed one and crippled another. His dog retrieved both birds and Mr. Morgan placed them in the pocket of his hunting coat. After hunting a while he decided to change the birds to another pocket. The supposedly dead bird startled him when he suddenly flew from his hand. However, he made a quick shot and this time made certain the bird was dead.

Quail Nearly Doubled

Reports continue to come into the office of the State Game and Fish Department showing increases in the quail population as the result of the department's method of providing food and cover for the birds.

A 1,200 acre game preserve was set up some months ago near Seguin. Fenced areas were installed thus providing the birds protected places to nest and eat. Last spring a census of the area by a game manager showed the population of one bird to every ten acres. This fall there was a population of approximately one bird to six acres, showing the quail crop, through protection and the providing of food and cover has nearly doubled.

However, the game manager is not yet recommending open shooting on this preserve. Lack of moisture in that area has cut the food and cover, but it is believed that with better conditions and additional protection the Bobwhite crop there can be brought up to one bird for every two acres.

Senate Bill No. 190 passed by the Forty-Sixth legislature set out the requirements that preference should be given ex-service men by all state departments and required each department to have a minimum of 10 percent of its personnel composed of former service men. A complete check of the state game department reveals that 19 4-5 per cent of the employees of the department served in the Army,

New Pollution Drive

Cities of the Rio grande Valley have new methods available for preventing pollution of the streams in that section by refuse from cities and citrus fruit plants as a result of research done by the State Health Department and a strict campaign of enforcement of the anti-pollution laws is being by the State Game Department. Pollution of streams and lakes in Texas by refuse, sewage and salt water from oil wells kills hundreds of thousands of fish annually and it is the unceasing task of the Game Department to prevent pollution.

AAA SHORTS

From 1929 to 1932 industry reduced its production 56 percent, keeping prices within 16 per cent of what they had been in 1929. Agriculture, on the other hand, reduced its production only 16 per cent while prices dropped 63 per cent.

On 12 per cent of our land area more than three-fourths of the topsoil has been lost through erosion.

In a little more than 4 months of the cotton export program, sales and exports of cotton were 982,000 bales more than the total export of cotton from the United States during the entire 1938-39 crop year.

At least one-tenth of all people in the United States depend entirely on cotton for their living.

The 7-million farm families of the United States, constituting 25 per cent of the population, are educating 31 per cent of the children of school age, but they receive only 11 per cent of the national income. In 1932 they received only 7 per cent of the income.

The nation needs always to guard its agriculture, so that agriculture can guard the nation.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

11,024 Applications Accepted

Operators of more than eleven thousand Texas wheat farms have no fear of drought, pestilence or other disasters in 1940 because they know that they will harvest more than five million bushels of wheat come what may.

With nearly all applications for 1940 all-risk wheat crop insurance audited, E. R. Duke, state crop insurance supervisor, reports 11,024 applications accepted, insuring the production of 5,423,852 bushels of wheat on 853,732 acres. Premium payments on this insurance totaled 1,129,403 bushels, the equivalent of $712,370 in cash, he said.

Nearly three times as many policies were taken out this year as were signed last year, Duke said, with most policies covering 75 per cent of production, the maximum offered, but with a few covering only 50 per cent.

With indemnity payments for 1939 almost complete, Duke reports 2,355 claims have been paid, totaling 1,020,929 bushels or the cash equivalent of $535,724. Last year 3,691 policies were in force.

"The increased use of wheat crop insurance this year certainly proves its success," Charles Thomas, State Agricultural Conservation Association committeeman from Pampa, declared. "Many farmers sat by and watched the operations of crop insurance last year, because they weren't sure it would work. And many of them regret their refusal to take out insurance. The drought got them, but they were among the first in line this year."

solutely true."

The new reporter was sent out to get society items, and the next day the following paragraph appeared in the paper:

"It is rumored that a bridge party was given yesterday by a number of local people. Mrs. Jones, it was said, was hostess. The guests, it is alleged, with the exception of Mrs. Jackson, who says she comes from Ohio, were all local people. Mrs. Jones claims to be the wife of Howard Jones, who is rumored to be doing a thriving business in town, allegedly in real estate."

He is truly great who hath a great charity.
