HEREFORD CALF CHAMPION OF KNOX SHOW

Football Banquet Honors Mogul Club

Sweaters Awarded to 20 Moguls, Coaches And Managers

The annual football banquet honoring the Moguls was given by the pep squad and Miss Couch on Thursday night of last week at the school gymnasium.

School colors of purple and gold were used profusely about the banquet hall, while programs were in the shape of footballs and in school colors. A football goal, one-half regulation size, adorned each end of the banquet hall, and to each crossbar were hung five footballs upon which were printed the scores of the Moguls' ten games last season.

The program was divided into four quarters, with Wade Mahan, toastmaster, referring about the referee. Rev. Longino "kicked off" by giving the invocation, and Miss Zell Spann gave the welcome to the Moguls and guests. Response was by Co-Capt. McCarty. Miss Jane Campbell sang "I'd Like to be a Football Hero," and Miss Mildred Kennedy rendered several selections on the piano while the meal was being enjoyed.

John Ed Jones, a member of the school board, presented sweaters to Coaches Billy Cooper and Howard Garner, and they in turn presented the lettermen with their sweaters.

Coach Frank Kimbrough of Hardin-Simmons University was the principal speaker of the evening. Kimbrough played the new 18-year rule no end, pointing to the ridiculousness of such a rule and made several remarks about how it would be a death-blow to small school football. Loss of several outstanding Mogul players by the 18-year rule was also pointed out. At the conclusion of his speech, Coach Kimbrough showed motion pictures of one of Hardin-Simmons' games, as well as of other big eastern and midwestern games.

Reversible jackets, in colors of purple and gold were awarded the following: John Broach, Troy Denham, A. B. Kitchens, Marvin McCarty, William Walton, Clayton Stevens, Joe Morrow, Ralph Tidwell, D. P. Morgan, Judge Stevens, Joseph McGraw, Lamoine Blacklock, Bob Barton, Forest Yancy, Jack Pippin, Clifford Pippin, Jiggs Thompson, Raymond Carden, Lee Patterson and Clyde Hendrix. Team managers, Marlon Phillips and Maurice Stapp also received jackets.

March 7th Set For Annual C of C Banquet Here

Thursday, March 7th, was set by members of the Munday Chamber of Commerce for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet and election of officers. The banquet will be held at the school gymnasium.

Ticket sales will be limited to 250, as it is believed that number is all that can be accommodated. Tickets will go on sale several days before the banquet date.

Various committees were named at the regular meeting last Thursday to complete plans for the banquet. Committee members are as follows:

Moguls Elect 4 Captains For Another Year

Walton, Yancy, Pippin And Broach Named

William Walton, 206-pound right tackle, who will return to bolster the Moguls' cause next year, was elected captain of the 1940 team at a meeting held the first of this week. But Walton will not be without help!

Because of four lettermen, who were regulars on the 1939 Mogul lineup, all of whom are well qualified and who will make excellent captains, the Moguls decided to "pass the honors around" next year by letting each one share in guiding the team's activities.

Forest Yancy, all-district left halfback, was elected as co-captain with Walton.

Jack Pippin, 2-year letterman for the Moguls, was elected backfield captain, and John Broach, all-district end, will be captain of the linemen.

City, School Tax Payments Are Higher for '39

That payments of city and school taxes for 1939 increased over last year, was made known Monday by Riley B. Harrell, city secretary.

Ralph Tidwell Nets $90.90 From Cotton Project

Ralph Tidwell, who won first place in the Knox county 4-H cotton contest, produced 4,625 pounds of seed cotton which turned out 1,248 pounds of lint. The cotton sold for an average price of .0876 cents per pound, and was graded strict middling 31-32 inch cotton.

His total sales including the seed amounted to $137.90 and incurred an expense of $47.00. Ralph netted $90.90 from this three-acre cotton project.

Economy Store Open

The Economy Store is still open and selling merchandise, despite the fact that it advertised to close on February 10.

Jimmie Silman, manager, said that due to the cold weather that hampered the sale, it was decided to keep the store open during the remainder of February. Lots of merchandise remains on the shelves at greatly reduced prices, and Jimmie invites the public to take advantage of the savings offered at the sale.

Harber Named To Head Sunset School 2 Years

Underwood Re-elected School Principal

At a recent meeting of the Sunset school board, T. W. Harber, present superintendent of the Sunset Consolidated School, was re-elected for a two-year period. Harber is finishing his ninth year with the Sunset school, three years as high school principal and seven years as superintendent.

Under his direction Sunset has been made one of the most outstanding rural high schools in the state, both in academic and vocational subjects. Sunset has one of the most up-to-date and best equipped home economics and shop departments in this section of the county.

Harber is considered an authority on bus transportation, and he is writing his master's thesis on this subject to present to Hardin-Simmons University, where he will receive his Master's degree this summer.

At the same board meeting N. T. Underwood was re-elected principal of the high school. He is completing his fifth year with Sunset, three years as grade school principal and two years as high school principal, where he has had complete charge of the athletic program of the school.

In spite of the many injuries sustained by Underwood's 6-man football squad and the handicap of the team's inexperience, the Sunset team won five games and lost four last year. Underwood's experience as a school man, together with his executive ability, makes him a valuable asset to the Sunset school. He is doing his Master's work at the University of Texas.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

WHAT PRIVATE ENTERPRISE HAS DONE FOR US

Everyone in America, including the myriad employees of government even in its experimental efforts in business, is, in the end, the beneficiary of private enterprise; in fact, he lives by private enterprise no matter what his occupation, private or public. It is well to remember this when the Washington theorists talk about government enterprise.

Private enterprise did not create our natural resources—they existed here in the time of the primitive man. What private enterprise did was to develop them. A ton of coal beneath the earth's surface is of no use to anyone. Not until it has been mined, processed, shipped and distributed does it contribute to the maintenance and progress of society. That is what private enterprise does—it takes the resources nature has given us, and uses them to give us jobs, opportunities, necessities and luxuries, and a constantly rising standard of living.

Private enterprise has nothing to do with size. The man who runs a shoe-shine stand of his own is as much of a private entrepreneur as the man who runs an electric plant. Private enterprise is an ideal, a way of life—dedicated to the proposition that every man shall have the right to the fruits of his labors, and shall go as far as his own brains and energies can take him. Private enterprise made this nation as we know it. And if ever private enterprise is killed, this nation will die with it.—(From the Enid (Okla.) Eagle.

WAR RAVAGES HERE

Last year fire loss in this country ran to nearly a million dollars a day—the grand total was around $313,000,000. This is a big country and it can carry tremendous debts and losses without being bogged down. But three hundred million dollars is no paltry sum even here, when you think of the lives, jobs and intangible loss involved, for which no insurance can compensate.

Three hundred million dollars would pay a substantial share of our proposed record-breaking naval building program. It would pay for thousands of the costly airplanes now needed by the army. To make a more peaceful comparison, it would build 100,000 homes costing $3,000 each. Or it would build fine hospitals to care for the countless thousands of sick people, and ameliorate ghastly suffering.

Last, but not least, is fire's destruction of life. According to news reports, Finland lost only 258 civilian lives by air raids in the first six weeks of its war with Russia, whereas the United States loses over 10,000 lives by the ravages of fire alone in an average year, or nearly 200 a week.

Although this nation is blessed with peace, it suffers war ravages from an enemy it can control. It's time to go to war against fire!

A LESSON IN AMERICANISM

Communist Leader Earl Browder has been sentenced to prison for four years for traveling under forged passports. He will have time, therefore, to ponder the important difference between the way things are done in the land of his origin—America—and the land he seems to think is so much better—Russia.

If the Red chief is a thoughtful man, he might well begin by pondering what would have happened to him if he had been a Russian in Moscow and had advocated that the Soviet change over to a democratic form of government based on the American pattern. Granted he was given a trial at all, it would be a political show, in which he would be prosecuted for his democratic beliefs, and be "liquidated" within 24 hours.

The trial at which he was convicted in New York City recently was of a far different order. The jury was not concerned with the point that the defendant was a Communist; the prosecutor stuck closely to proof of the fact that Browder had used American passports illegally—in other words, that he had abused his privilege of citizenship. This was the only ground upon which the man was convicted, and he was allowed to speak at great length in his own defense. Compared with Browder's oratorical flight and his claim of being "persecuted" for his political color, the summation of the case by the District Attorney is an object lesson in real Americanism and real justice. He is what he had to say about Browder:

"He has made a mockery of everything we hold dear—the sacred right of passport by which American citizens travel abroad with the protection of the United States government; the proofs of citizenship in birth certificates and naturalization papers that were tampered with so that this man could visit Moscow on passports in the names of others.

"Our country is not a laughing stock. It is not to be made a joke of, nor are its own passport laws to be taken into Browder's abusive hands for reasons of his own selfish interests. The American people have a sense of humor, but the time has come to put a stop to this prostitution of the right of safe conduct abroad."

The Communist leader will have plenty of time to ponder the duties and obligations of American citizenship in the days that lie ahead.

WHAT'S AHEAD

Since 1900, six inventions profoundly influenced the lives of millions of people—the telephone, automobile, airplane, motion picture, rayon and radio. They not only represent great accumulations of capital and give employment to millions, but they have had social influence so vast as to be impossible to calculate.

What will the next third of a century bring forth? What new industries are even now coming into being? During the first third of this century 1,330,000 patents were issued in the United States, and it is almost certain that during the next thirty years out of more than this number of patents there will be some inventions that will rank in importance with the six mentioned here.

It is safe to predict that during the next third of a century industries now in their infancy, or not yet born, will provide jobs that do not exist today for millions of workers.

(From the "Vagabond")

THINK THIS ONE OVER

In the Butler, Pennsylvania, Eagle, appeared the following statement by T. W. Phillips, Jr. It carries more wallop than one usually finds in a volume of economic questions.

"If my chief purpose in life were to break down our political, industrial and social order, I would naturally take the surest and most effective means, and the means that might be least suspected—that is, through involving the government in extravagance for well-meaning and high-sounding objectives, which of course, would result in high taxes, and in order to make these taxes most effective in bringing about a chaotic condition, I would concentrate the taxes on the employers—on the business men."

If there is one place where clear thinking on the part of the average citizen is needed, it's in the matter of seeing that the fundamentals of our American system—our representative democracy, our system of private enterprise, and the various freedoms we enjoy—are maintained. Under the guise of "reform" these are often attacked by those who would like to see the whole American way of life scrapped.

In this connection, a sentence from Irvin S. Cobb, wise American writer, puts the case with a great deal of clarity. "It should not be necessary," he observes, "to tear down the temple of our forefathers merely to kill a few cockroaches in the basement."

Genuine Americans should find Mr. Cobb's statement worth remembering.

Pushing forward their part in the fight to conquer disease, industrial laboratories are now producing a serum for every type of pneumonia known to medical science.

The attainment by the American people of the highest standard of living known in history is largely due to the technological developments growing out of the American patent system.

The White House originally was painted white to hide black smudges made by flames when the British fired the building during the War of 1812.

Of the 43 million motor vehicles in use in the world today, 82 per cent are of American manufacture. Virtually 40 per cent of the cars registered outside this country are of American make.

Put end to end the 20,500,000,000 dollars paid by the U.S. for relief since 1932 would reach from the earth to the moon ten times.

Approximately 72 per cent of the deer harvested in Texas are taken from thirteen counties on the Edwards Plateau.

As many as ten muskrats have been trapped from an acre of marshland in Jefferson county, Texas, and sufficient seed stock was left.

San Antonio was once known as the "Twin Cities"; San Antonio de Bexar, established by the King of Spain, and San Fernando, founded by the Governor of Tejas.

LET HIM IN!

THEY SAY!

"We're all ready to go and it won't take much to start us—that 'muck' is the return to that idea that this is a private business country and that government functions should be concerned only with governing."—Floyd L. Carlisle.

"The spirit of freedom is not in laws and institutions alone. It is expressed in the expansion of the personal experience, in an individual's rather than a nation's room to grow, in the unlocking of human powers and human opportunities. No disaster can black out a nation which lives in that spirit."—New York Times.

A GREAT AMERICAN ANNIVERSARY

This week all America is celebrating the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the Boy Scout movement in America. The movement has its enthusiastic supporters everywhere. Indeed in its three decades nearly 9,000,000 Americans have been Scouts, Cubs and leaders. Today there are over 1,330,000 boys and men actively enrolled.

Now as never before, American adults are giving their time, energies and financial support to time-tested boys and girls organizations that help mold their children into types of citizens that will guarantee the continued existence of the United States along the pattern set by the nation's founders who gave America its democratic form of government and its precious heritage, the Constitution and its Bill of Rights.

Supplementing existing organizations such as the home, church and school, the Boy Scouts of America engages boys' leisure time energies in outdoor life and activities of cultural and practical values which lead boys to become dependable men.

Every president of the United States since William Howard Taft has been an enthusiastic supporter of Scouting and every American who knows anything about Scouting's beneficial program acknowledges it as worthy of continued confidence and trust.

MOST VALUABLE TREE

Most valuable of about 60 species of commercial time-producing trees in the United States is the black walnut which grows singly or in small scattered stands in some portions of Texas. J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. and M. Extension Service, says the black walnut can be planted, protected, and harvested as a substantial supplemental farm crop in East Texas. Trees planted in deep, rich soil where moisture is plentiful and drainage good will be large enough to cut for market in 35 to 40 years. Nuts may also be planted where trees are to grow.

FEDERAL AID TO STATE PROGRAMS

The Federal Government helped Texas to the extent of $31,764,144 during the fiscal year 1939 to operate such Federal-State programs as highway improvement; agricultural experiment stations; aid to the aged, and to needy or incapacitated.

This was made known today by Mr. B. Frank White, Texas Acting State Director for the Office of Government Reports, in conjunction with the annual publication of an itemized accounting of Federal contributions to agencies operating on a Federal-State or a Federal-State-local cooperative expenditure basis.

Mr. White said that the number of State programs which receive Federal contributions has doubled during the past seven years. New programs sharing the Federal expenditures are those for the

Just in Case You Haven't Been Using Your Eyes

The Freshmen are studying grammar now. And they think it is really hard (or is it? They are just lazy.)

YET—WE WONDER WHY—

Juanita Faye changed her nickname from "Pat" to "Tap."

Edna Faye likes Algebra.

Gaynelle likes to sit in the study hall. (You can guess what it is.)

Juanita Faye and Edna Faye are so hard to get mad. (Especially in Algebra.)

Glyndolin doesn't like her new seat in front of the study hall.

Frances heard so soon about a marriage. (Was she the bridesmaid?)

Victor likes to sit by a certain girl in General Science.

Gena Beth likes to keep the library. (Is it because she can see everything that goes on?)

Lloyd is so bashful? (Especially around the girls?)

Harold had to move from the front to the back of the study hall. By Just Somebody

Junior Report

There are three Juniors absent from school because of the flu. They are Agnes Brown, Doris Walker, and Jean Griffith. The Juniors are making their grades on the weekly test and they hope to make good grades on their six-weeks test which they will have in the next week or so.

Men Are Ousted Out of Bed to Attend Breakfast

Men folks were ousted out of bed during the early hours Wednesday to attend a breakfast given by the Munday Study Club at the club house. They were warned some 24 hours beforehand, but the time was kept secret. The ladies called at each home and took the men to breakfast in cars.

The study club wishes to thank everyone for their liberal donations to the breakfast. Especially are they appreciative of the Fulgers coffee donated through Atkinson's Food Store, and the hotplates loaned by the Home Furniture Co.

Leading the pajama parade in a becoming paisley ensemble was Representative Grady Roberts, followed by Dr. R. L. Newsom in stripes; L. M. Palmer's was a delicate print, and Howard Garner was in pastel blue. Judge M. F. Billingsley, in a multicolored print, was very becoming, while W. R. Bryant ended the parade in a fashionable cut robe of maroon satin. The following came dressed or semi-dressed—a few with heads combed:

Sebern Jones, A. L. Smith, Dick Atkinson, H. A. Pendleton, A. H. Mitchell, J. C. Harpham, Paul B. Pendleton, M. L. Barnard, J. A. Caughran, D. E. Holder, O. A. Cox, Wallace Reid, Fred Broach, C. P. PENTECOSTAL HOLINESS CHURCH

Dedication of the new Pentecostal Holiness church will be held next Sunday, with all-day services. Preaching by a number of different preachers, special songs and a good day of services is in prospect. Everyone is extended an invitation to attend.

Regular services are: Sunday school at ten o'clock, preaching at 11; chorus singing at 7 p.m., and preaching at 7:30.

Old time salvation . . . pray through to victory . . . baptism of Holy Ghost according to Acts, 2-4. Everybody welcome.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Considerable interest is being manifested in all the classes in the Sunday school by the teachers, superintendents, and many of the members of the classes. We are expecting a good increase in attendance next Sunday. If you were not there last time make your plans not to be an attending booster next Sunday. A smile, and a push in the right direction, will do great good. Try it. The attendance at the morning preaching services has been good all along; but the Sunday night attendance is rotten.

The night service will be the subject for the morning preaching service next Sunday.

"I love thy Kingdom, Lord, The house of Thine abode, The Church our blest Redeemer saved With his own precious blood.

I love Thy church, O God! Her walls before Thee stand, Dear as the apple of Thine eye, And graven on Thy hand.

For her my tears shall fall; For her my prayers ascend; To her my cares and toils be giv'n, Till toils and cares shall end."

MUNDAY METHODIST CHURCH

Our delegation of six persons has just returned from the Bishop's Advance Meeting held in Amarillo. There were four bishops who spoke during the days services, Bishop McConnel of Washington, Bishop Baker of California, Bishop Sealeman of Oklahoma and Bishop Holt of Texas, our presiding bishop. The services were attended by some sixteen hundred people, composed of the pastors of this Conference and some of the leading laymen from each congregation. It was indeed a great meeting and of great inspiration to those who were able to attend.

Bishop Holt is to be in our district on March 1. He will speak in Munday Friday, March 1st, at 3:00 p.m., in the Methodist church. In the evening he will be at Stamford for a service. He was by here last February for a brief stop and many of our local people were privileged to meet him. This time I hope we may be able to present him a full house for this service. Keep the date in mind and be sure to be on hand March 1st, 3:00 to 4:00 p.m.

The Youth Rally will be held at Stamford this Friday night at 7:30 p.m. Five hundred young people and two hundred and fifty adults are expected at this service. In the youth rally at Amarillo some young people were in attendance who had driven seventy-five miles through the snow, having left their home while it was snowing. We dare to do things in the sports world, why not for the sake of the kingdom of God and the elevation of humanity?

We were glad for the increase in attendance at church last Sunday, and welcome you back to the services this Sunday. Get the church-going habit and you will like it.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to ward us, not willing (not wishing) that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

—II Peter, 3:8-9.

Dear Friends, Some Christian people may be of the opinion that the Church has about reached all the people that she can reach. They seem to think that the Church has been working in communities for a great number of years and everyone has been given an opportunity to be saved. A belief of this nature will cause the missionary spirit of the Church to die. It might leave the impression with some people who have never joined, but have had countless opportunities to do so, that Christ does not want them and the Church has no place for them. Christ is patient and He is not willing that you should perish.

Since Christ is our leader, we, too, are not willing that you perish.

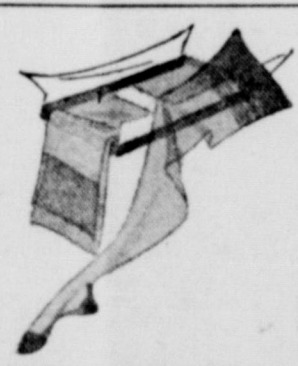

Your friend and Christ's servant, Winston R. Bryant, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Munday, Texas.

Dr. R. L. Newsom and Jack Pippen went to Wichita Falls Sunday to see "Gone With the Wind."

County Treasurer Bob Barton of Benjamin was a business visitor in the city Wednesday.

We are not willing that you continue to live outside the Church. We do not know your particular problem, but we feel sure that we can help you and we know that Christ can certainly help you. Will you give Him a chance?

"If you live in the country around Munday and have no way to come to church; if your children have no way to come to Sunday School then I know that we can solve that problem. Will you sit down and write me a letter and tell me where you live? Draw me a road map of how to find your home and I will see that you have a way to come to Church each Sunday.

Medico: "Some germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seventy-million, forty thousand nine hundred and fifty-one in a drop of water."

Patient: "Remarkable! But it wouldn't take that many to kill a man would it?"

Medico: "No. Fifty-one would kill a man, but who wants to be killed by just 51 germs?"

Many of the great patented inventions in this country have been the product of efforts of individual inventors but the vast majority of improvement patents on fundamental inventions have been produced in research laboratories, especially those maintained by industries.

Texas has more voters this year than ever before, indicating a hot campaign in the offing. Harris County with approximately 125,000 electors led the state with Dallas county second with some 95,000.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

"I met James Leonard Highsaw and he wanted to be remembered to you," remarked Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler a while back.

It brought a flood of memories for Mr. Highsaw was my instructor in high school. I took every subject he taught and then an after-school course, too, for he was debating coach. Many an afternoon, he spent in going over arguments with his boys until the room grew too dark to see; then sometimes we reconvened at his home to continue the study of "First, because . . . second, because . . . and third, because . . ." We always had three 'because's' because there were three members on a debating team in those days.

The energy, enthusiasm and brilliance of the dynamic reheaded Texan was an inspiration, indeed. James A. Garfield, once paid tribute to his old teacher and I should like to borrow the phrase. Take a log, put J. L. Highsaw on one end of the log and a student on the other and you have a real educational institution.

After getting into newspaper work, it was my privilege to urge upon the members of the board of education in Memphis, Tennessee, that they elevate Mr. Highsaw to the principalship of Tech High—then a school so small that its football team wasn't even on proud Central's schedule, if Tech had a team at all.

Probably my advocacy had little to do with Mr. Highsaw's getting the principalship; very likely the board members already had their eyes on his fine work. But, anyway, he built up such an institution that, in a few years, Tech had completely outgrown the old building.

In the midst of broad grounds equal to three city blocks there long stood an aristocratic old Southern mansion—but that mansion has "gone with the wind" and in its place is the spacious and beautiful Tech High building; but there still remains the majestic oaks, the whispering pines, the rustling magnolias and the stately elms, with their memories of the days when Lee and Jackson and Forrest rode in battle with the grandeur of demi-gods—a truly noble setting in this modern era for the greatest technical high school in the South.

Mr. Highsaw needs no monument for he built his own—in tangible form, magnificent Memphis Tech; and, intangible but even more impressive, the imprint of his heart and intellect upon the characters of thousands of his "girls" and his "boys."

The neighborly spirit of the Southwest will reign, more than ever before, at the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth when a new feature will be introduced—the All-Southwestern Roundup where home town talents will pass in review and visitors will meet their former fellow townsmen during the exhibition, March 8-17. The visiting delegations will bring their talent along—square dancers, saxophone players, tap dancers and even knife-throwers, if any. The amusement building will be open to the "home town" folks, without admission fee, from 9 a.m., to 1 p.m.

Jottings about Texas newspaper men:

When John McCarty was editor in Dalhart, he was writing lots of sports news so he signed himself, John L. McCarty—nearly as athletic-sounding a name as that of old John L. Sullivan himself, but when McCarty became editor of the Amarillo News and Globe, he knocked the "L" out of his name.

V. D. Ringwald, successful Alice publisher, didn't always know as much about a printing office as he does now. On his first job—as advertising solicitor of the Cisco Daily News—he yanked out drawers after drawer, and finally asked—"Where in thunder is the red type?" (No, Ethelbert, all type is the same color; it's the ink that makes the difference!)

Representative Grady Roberts, Munday editor, used to be editor in Chillicothe and he once set a precedent by daring to pick the home club to lose a football game. That was the season that Dick Todd was running miles and miles for Crowell and Roberts predicted: Crowell 65, Chillicothe 0. The actual score was: Crowell 65, Chillicothe 0. Roberts oughta been a surveyor!

It's about time that Henderson Shuffler, out Odessa way, came forward with another inspiration like the one he had a few years back. He wrote a whimsical and fantastic account of a purely imaginary sport—the roping of jackrabbits. The story gained wide fame for Odessa, especially when Eastern humane societies began to protest.

Blondy Cross, of the San Angelo Standard-Times, is one sports writer who can do more than just write about 'em. Not so many years back, his jibes caused an athlete to challenge him to a boxing match. Blondy accepted and fought a draw with the professional.

Jinx Tucker, who writes sports down at Waco, used to be a star halfback in high school. The Thanksgiving Day battle with his team's greatest rival was 0-0 with seconds left to play. Jinx's club had scored a couple of times but the game was being played in the other town and the mob made the officials rule the plays out. So, on the last play of the game when Jinx had run 50 yards for a touchdown, he just kept on running, there being no fence around the field—and went a mile before he stopped. It was the longest run in the history of football.

Tune in this same space next Thursday and we'll give you authentic (more or less) information about your favorite newspaper folks.

Idea For New Industry, Giving Jobs To Thousands Inspired by Train Wreck

The American patent system has its 150 birthday this year. In February industrial communities over the nation are marking the occasion by paying special tribute to their "Modern Pioneers"—inventors and research workers whose patented ideas have laid the groundwork for the building of new job-giving industries. This is one of a series of stories of the development of some of these industries.

Washington (IPS)—Because of a freight train collision near Schenectady, N.Y., an idea was born and patented and a great industry has sprung up in Pittsburgh, Pa., giving jobs to many thousands of persons in a plant that expands now over 36 acres.

That industry is the Westinghouse Air Brake company, and its growth was the culmination of an idea conceived by young George Westinghouse when he was fresh from an engineering school.

Just before the turn of the last century, young Westinghouse was a passenger on a train between Schenectady and Troy, N.Y. The train was delayed because of a collision between freight trains, and it set Westinghouse to thinking that if all trains had automatic brakes for all wheels such accidents could be avoided.

"The first plan that came into my mind," he recalled, in later years, "was to connect the brake levers of each car to its draft gear so that an application of the brakes to the locomotive—causing the cars to close up toward the engine—would apply a braking force through the couplers and levers of each car."

When he learned that this idea already had been conceived by others, he discarded it and set out to find something even more practical and efficient. He tried many theories, but they, too, were discarded after much experimenting. Westinghouse, discouraged, dropped his experiments and turned to other work.

A magazine subscription played the next role in the drama of the development of this new industry. Two young women are said to have persuaded the young would-be inventor to subscribe to a monthly publication. Although Westinghouse was little interested in the publication, he glanced through the first issue that came to him. There he read an account of the tunnel operation under a mountain in which compressed air was conveyed through 3,000 feet of pipes to operate machinery.

Westinghouse instantly realized that the power brake of which he had dreamed could be made to work—by air. If compressed air could be carried 3,000 feet in pipes into a tunnel, he reasoned, it would be piped to the brakes of every car in a train, no matter how long the train.

He drew up plans for his air-brake. Patent rights were filed and a friend helped him finance the construction of the first brake for a test. Railroads, at first were skeptical but finally a railroad executive was convinced of the practicability of the brake and furnished and engine and eight coaches for the test.

A day was set for the test. Westinghouse and his helpers worked all night before the test to install the equipment. An engineer—Daniel Tait was his name—stepped into the cab with young George Westinghouse the next morning in Pittsburgh and the train moved out of the station. Emerging from a tunnel a few miles down the track, the engineer was startled to see a horsedrawn wagon start across the tracks. The horse, apparently frightened by the locomotive, stopped on the track.

Engineer Tait grasped the brake lever. Then, to everyone's amazement—for no one believed the train could be halted in time to avoid a collision—the train came to a quick stop just four feet from the horse and wagon. The air brake was a success. An industry—and history—was made!

Dental Health Show Coming To Knox Schools

The Morrey-Towse Dental Health Puppet Show will be given in the school of Knox county by the State Department of Health, with the co-operation of the State Department of Education and the Good Teeth Council for Children, of Chicago. This piece of visual health education has been arranged under the approval of nationally known leaders in the fields of dentistry, medicine, and elementary education. It is dramatized with music, voice, and humor, bringing out four fundamental points in dental health in such a way that it is not only entertaining, but makes lasting impressions on the minds of the school children as to the value of dental health. It is presented by two operators, man and woman, both of whom are highly trained in dramatics and puppetry.

The plot of the story concerns the trials and tribulations of Little Jack who could not go to the circus with his sister, Joan, because he had toothache. Through the cooperation of his mother and the friendly family dentist, Jack's toothache was relieved and he was taught how to care for his teeth to prevent toothache; how dental disease affects the general health of the body, as well as that of the mouth; he is told of the importance of the right foods, exercise, home care and dental care.

The supporting cast, in addition to the dentist, Jack's mother, and sister, Joan, are Toni, the fruit peddler; the milkman; Toni's son; and Jocko, the monkey.

The show has been given in over a hundred counties of Texas to more than half a million children and teachers the past three years and is scheduled to cover sixty-odd counties this year. It has been shown to several million school children in other parts of the United States, and both pupils and teachers are loud in their acclaim of its value.

While the show is arranged to fit into the forty-minute school period and primary for elementary school children, parents are invited to see it with the children and teachers. It is considered one of the best visual education sub-

On With the Seniors
 Well, here's another one and this time it's Dorse Collins.
 Dorse says he just hasn't any life, and I am beginning to believe it, because this is all I could find out from him.
 Dorse was born in Munday, September 16, 1921. It seems as if he has been very faithful because he has never moved away from Munday.
 Unknown to some, Dorse is a twin. His twin sister died at the age of 6 months.
 He tells me that he likes all the good things in life, so here's a few of them:
 Subject: Business Law.
 Sport: Football.
 Song: "Yodeling Jive."
 Teacher: Miss Couch and Mr. Cobb.
 Hobby: Reading.
 Dorse plans to go to a business school after he finishes high school.

Sophomore Report
 One of the great events of this school year has just occurred—the football banquet. We served our usual place, as the strife of the party. David would probably have been more at ease had he not been courting a jitterbug junior. You know how you feel when with one who is more sophisticated and worldly. Dixie did not let anything like that spoil her fun. Her only worry was whether the jacket really was size "sixteen." Perhaps that will clear up the mystery of the great events that occurred in 1693. (For further information see Jiggs.)
 Perhaps it was just a coincident, but Florene's flu got well just before the banquet. Fate seems to have a nice way of doing things, as that case proves.
 Clyde cannot seem to get the point over to Forest that a car is a mechanical machine and is not to be treated as one would treat a broncho. Experience is the best teacher. We hope that Forest's knowledge won't cost him too much.
 Ray is having a very difficult time teaching Bobbie the seasons of the year. Why should she be thinking of "Jingle Bells" at this time of the year?

Junior Report
 Some of us Juniors felt that we were left out of the Football banquet since it was a leapyear affair, so we are having a class party Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Home Ec cottage.
 We are continuing our study of American Literature in English III. Miss Couch, our instructor, makes this study a pleasure instead of drudgery.
 Some of us are still slaving in Typing. We have to type twenty words a minute with ninety per cent accuracy to receive a passing grade this six weeks.
 Mr. Allen is teaching us the foundations of Chemistry. At least he is trying to.

 Miss Couch: Who can tell me what the former ruler of Russia was called?
 Class: Tsar.
 Miss Couch: And what was his wife called?
 Class: Tsarina.
 Miss Couch: What were the Tsar's children called?
 Wayne Thompson: Tsardines.

Freshman News
 Everyone had a good time at the football banquet last Thursday night.
 Say, do you know where we get the word Geometry? Well, it's like this: A little acorn dropped from a tree and soon sprouted. When it grew up it said "Gee, I'm a Tree."
 This is a poem we think you will like.
 You can tell a Freshman by his awkward ways.
 You can tell a Junior by the way he acts.
 You can tell a Senior by the way he dresses.
 You can tell a Sophomore, but you can't tell him much.
 Mr. Cooper: I bought a new hat for my wife and had to run all the way home.
 Mr. Allen: What for?
 Mr. Cooper: I wanted to give it to her before the style changed.

Worker: Could you give me a job, mister?
 Barber: O.K. Paint this barber pole.
 Worker: Say, boss, where is the striped paint?
WE WONDER WHY—
 Dr. Bass thinks Patsy Ruth is a judge of chewing gum.
 Jerry looked so wide awake Monday morning. (What time did you get home Sunday night?)
 John Broach had to start to the football banquet so early? Where does she live, John? Out north of town?
 Our little editor doesn't tell us more about "That's right. You're Wrong."
 So many girls were present for the calf show, Saturday. It couldn't have been the calves, could it?
 Glenn D. is getting the Goree habit, too.
 Elizabeth Frances insists on wearing football jackets.
 So many of the boys could be found in the study hall during the noon hour.
 Joe Dean has a such a hard time getting his hair oil.
 Nothing of any importance is happening to the Seniors at present—only that they are still here.

 We might advise a few with the following saying:
 The world is a lookingglass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it in turn will look sourly upon you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly companion.—W. M. Thackeray.
 I never make the mistake of arguing with people for whose opinions I have no respect.—Gibson.
 It may make a difference to all eternity whether we do right or wrong today.—J. F. Clark.
 All else is gone from those great eyes,
 The soul is fled,
 When faith is lost, when honor dies,
 The man is dead.—Whittier.
 He is the happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home.—Goethe.

The Sadies take over to make the co-eds doing the man-work. During the week there were skating, howling, picnics, parties, arange, and parties, parties, arranged by the girls and paid for by their papas.

In the picture, working on the pump at the front is Helen Jay of Roby; in the motor, Teny Blanche Merrill, Throckmorton; on the run-ningboard, Virginia Long, Abilene; at the back wheels, Patt Brigance and Vivian Caldwell of Big Spring. Seated in the ancient wreck are Ted Longino, Munday; Robert Bickley, Merkel; Dub Rhodes, Abilene; Buster Peek, Paint Rock; Clyde Wood, Guion.

WE WONDER WHY—
 Dorothy Lee likes to Sophomore class so well? (or is it the students?)
 W.C. likes the song, "Oh, Mary." (Is it the song or the name Mary?)
 Ruby likes to go to town so well? (Is it to see who's there?)

TWINS
 "My brother and I were twins. We looked so much alike that no one could tell us apart. One day in school by brother threw spitballs, and I was punished. My brother was arrested for speeding, and I spent three days in jail and paid a fine for it. I had a girl, and my brother ran off with her. But last week I got even with him—I died, and they buried him."

New Means Are Being Used To Transport Fish
 Austin, Tex.—Having thoroughly tested the newest type of container used for transporting fish, one invented by Texans which provides a continuous supply of oxygen in the water, the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission has placed an order for more than 300 of them and not only will the Department be able to transport fish from the hatcheries to lakes and streams with few losses, but at a considerable saving, it was announced by the executive secretary of the department.
 The new containers can be carried in any type of truck, differing from the equipment being used by many game departments and making it unnecessary to purchase expensive, specially-built trucks. Each of the ten state hatcheries will be provided thirty-four of the new five-gallon containers. The cans are equipped with a patented galvanized insert. Air is pulled through the water in the containers constantly for they are hooked up with the intake manifold of the truck's motor by metal and rubber tubing. All the containers can be operated as a single unit or separately. If not in use they can be stored and the trucks used for other purposes.
 Formerly the Game Department used heavy ten-gallon milk cans. Some fish were lost on long hauls. However, tests extending over several months last summer show the new containers will carry twice as many fish as the old-type can with far less loss of fish. Trips can be made longer distances. The number of trips necessary will be cut in half. The Department will be able to purchase smaller trucks, and yet carry on its work of fish distribution even more efficiently.
 Each truck will be equipped with a half-horse auxiliary motor which can be switched on should the trucks motor fail and thus cut the chances of loss of fish.

 Sportsmen desiring to carry minnows considerable distances will soon be able to obtain a similar minnow bucket in smaller sizes, according to the San Antonio inventor of the new device.
 Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roberts of Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Roberts spent the week end in Byers with the Messrs. Roberts' mother.
 Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanders and daughter of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pendleton, Jr., of Wichita Falls were guests in the H. A. Pendleton home last Sunday.
 Jack and Rupert Williams, who are attending A. and M. College, spent the week end here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams.

DOUBLE PLANTING SYSTEM

A system of double planting is advocated for rural people who are in a hurry for shade about their homes but do not admire many of the rapid growing trees. This suggestion is made by Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

She says: "Plant rapid-growing trees 10 or 15 feet away from the house and slow-growing trees farther back. As soon as the slow-growing trees have made enough growth to give needed shade, the rapid-growing trees may be cut down and removed." Among the rapid-growing trees which may be used in this way are cottonwood, sycamore, and native elms. Trees for more permanent places in the landscape which grow large are pecan, black walnut, and live oak.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Middleton and Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Conger of O'Donnell visited Mrs. Ralph Blanton in the A. U. Hathaway home the first of this week.
