Mattress Program Slated For County

The Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation, Agricultural Adjustment Administration and Extension Service are cooperating with other agencies in a mattress program in Knox county in the near future.

The first meeting was held in the courthouse Friday, April 5. The county land use committee, and the county home demonstration council were in charge of the meeting. J. A. Scofield and Mrs. Isla Mae Chapman, district extension agents; J. H. Watson, state AAA committeeman, and R. P. Kinsley, district AAA agent, were present to explain how the program should be put into operation in the county.

Fifty pounds of cotton and ten yards of mattress ticking will be made available to farm families that have an income of less than $400 per year. The person that receives this material will be required to make it into a mattress. Plans are under way to have a station at Knox City, Munday, Goree, Vera, Benjamin, Truscott, Gilliland and Rhineland. In some communities, leaders have been selected and applications are being taken. The county agent's office has a supply of applications and will take applications for those who come to Benjamin.

The mattress program in Knox county will be under the direct supervision of an executive committee consisting of August Schumacher, representing the Knox county land use committee; J. W. Smith, chairman of the Knox county AAA; Mrs. J. O. Cure, chairman of Knox county home demonstration council; Judge E. L. Covey, Neva VanZandt, home demonstration agent, and Walter Rice, county agent.

Persons interested in securing a mattress may contact the home demonstration club members, AAA committeemen, or call at the office of the county agent or home demonstration agent.

The following were elected as club officers: Gaylon Scott, president; Elton Scott, vice president; and Preston Frazier, secretary. The boys selected Clifford Robertson and Lester Kinniburgh as their adult sponsors. Cotton and calf feeding will be the principal projects undertaken. The boys plan to feed calves for the coming year, starting their calf feeding work in the near future.

District Meet Of Churches Is At Knox City

Munday Delegates are In Attendance

A district conference of Methodist churches of this district was held with the Methodist church in Knox City on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. An effort has been carried on to have all church business up in good shape for this conference.

Rev. T. M. Johnston of Stamford, district superintendent of this district, was in charge of the conference, at which delegates of the Munday Methodist church were present.

The meeting opened at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon and continued through Wednesday. Other than Rev. H. A. Longino, pastor, the following are delegates to the conference: Ex-officio members: J. A. Caughran, Mrs. S. E. McStay, Miss Lenore Longino, Lee Haynes and Mrs. S. A. Bowden. Delegates: W. A. Baker, E. W. Harrell, Mrs. Levi Bowden and Mrs. H. A. Longino.

Although some of the official delegates were unable to attend, the Munday church was well represented at the conference.

Herschel Crain At Guinn Hardware

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Crain have returned to Munday, after having spent six months at other points, where Mr. Crain has been working at his trade. Crain has accepted employment in the blacksmith shop of Guinn Hardware Co. Mr. Crain is a well known blacksmith and an expert at acetylene and electric welding. Mr. Crain and Jim Bell are employed in the shop, and they invite their friends and old customers to visit them there.

Rains Over County Benefit To Wheat Crop

Munday Gets 1.7; All West Texas Receives Needed Moisture

Faces of Knox county citizens are all smiles again, as rains during the latter part of last week gave farmers better crop prospects at planting time than in many years. Knox county received her share of the rains which covered virtually all of West Texas, extending to the southern border.

Official reports are that Munday received 1.76 inches; Goree, 2.10 inches; Weiner, 1.25 inches, and good rains at Benjamin, Knox City and other portions of the county. Two inches were reported at Benjamin.

The moisture is of particular benefit to the wheat crops of this section, and it is believed that wheat will be carried almost to maturity on the present moisture. All crop lands in the county are now in excellent shape for spring planting, and farmers can start the work of planning for the 1940 harvest with high hopes for the future.

Two New Members Named to Board of Sunset School

Two new members were elected to the board of trustees for the Sunset Consolidated School District in the election last Saturday. Forty-two votes were polled at the election.

The new members are J. E. Frost and Clay Hutchinson. Other members of the board are John Jones, C. A. Richardson, Ed Whittemore, George Offatt and C. W. Hill.

County Agent Walter Rice and Mrs. Neva VanZandt home demonstration agent, were in town Wednesday on official business.

Sang to Fame Over Telephone

Horace Heidt presents Golden Voices as well as a "Pot o' Gold" each Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. on the NBC Red network. The voices belong to the lovely Le Ann sisters. Left to right they are Virginia, Maree, Jean and Miriam. Heidt first heard the quartet when they were in Texas and he in New York. Their singing, over the long-distance phone, so impressed him he flew to the Lone Star State to sign them up. Heidt, whose specialty is good news telephoning, feels that this is one of the luckiest calls he ever made.

Rhineland Softball Club Elects Officials; Plays Vera Next Sunday

The Rhineland Softball club assembled last Friday night and elected Shorty Kuehler as their manager for the coming season. Shorty, the players asserted, shall have a free rein at the helm of the club. The team also named "Lunchie" Wilde as business manager, and will attend to all business affairs of the club.

Captain Charles Stengel, a University of Texas product, who knows his athletics, will be the umpire, and will arbitrate both home and road games.

A. B. Wilde and Joe Herring are sports writer and scorekeeper, respectively. These two boys probably will get along with the players plenty good, for they will keep tabs on the "Red Raiders" batting averages. The "Red Raiders," by the way, is the name the team will go by.

H. P. Decker will be gate keeper, and he asks the fans to please come in the front way. "Bunce" Albas was chosen as ground keeper, and he assured the team that Rhineland would have the best diamond in the league.

August J. Loran, the same lad who once heaved the high hard ones in baseball, will coach the boys. Gus should prove to be very valuable to the team, for he knows all the tricks of coaching.

The Red Raiders are eagerly awaiting the curtain-raiser with Uncle Tom Hardin's hearty rivals from across the river next Sunday at Rhineland. This game with Vera should be a classic and probably will be the top game in the league for the day, because Vera thinks about as much of Rhineland as Brooklyn does of the Giants. Vera hasn't forgotten that Rhineland ousted them right out of the tournament at Seymour last season. Naturally they will be gunning for revenge, but Shorty says he will be ready to "shoot the works" at them Sunday.

Other games in the league are: Benjamin at Munday and Goree at Knox City. Regular league prices of five and ten cents will be in effect.

Three Trustees Named at Goree in Election Saturday

Three trustees were elected for the Goree Independent school district in the county-wide trustee election last Saturday. Returned to the board were Tom D. Harlan, Ira L. Staleup and S. Cannon Roberts.

W. W. Coffman, county trustee for precinct four, received a majority of votes over W. E. McNeill in the Goree box. Coffman received 72 votes.

Braly Named Delegate to CC Meet, Big Spring

Hour For Trades Day Event Is Set At 5 o'Clock

At the regular meeting of the Munday Chamber of Commerce on Thursday of last week, W. E. Braly was re-elected as a delegate to the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention this year. The convention will be held at Big Spring this year, the dates being May 13-14-15. Mr. Braly has served as official delegate from the Munday organization a number of times during recent years.

Thirty-three members were present Thursday, and lots of interest was shown in work being carried on by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Kimbrough of Haskell, N. Y. A. supervisor for this area, was at the meeting, at which plans were discussed for securing N.Y.A. aid in constructing the rock fence at the local cemetery. Plans are now under way to combine this project with a project for building a Boy Scout lodge, making them both into one project. Various organizations of the town are becoming interested in this work, and it is expected that definite plans will be worked out in the near future.

The Chamber of Commerce set the hour for the trades day event each Tuesday at five o'clock. Since the days are becoming longer, this hour was decided upon for the spring and summer months. Beginning on Tuesday, April 16, the $40 awards contributed by Munday merchants will be made at five o'clock, and this hour will not be changed during the spring and summer, it was stated.

Rhineland Gin Elects Officers For New Year

Members of the Rhineland Union Gin met last Thursday night for the purpose of electing officers for the new year.

Frank Cerveny was named president of the group, while Fred Stengel was elected to serve as secretary.

The officers and directors stated that they would select a manager for the gin at a later date.

RIP DAVENPORTS ARE PARENTS OF A GIRL

Announcements of the arrival of Franchia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Davenport of Dallas, were received in Munday this week. The child was born Saturday, April 6, and weighed seven pounds and nine and three-fourths ounces. The Davenports are former residents of Munday and have many friends over the county.

CORNERSTONE FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S CENTER TO BE LAID

Gonzales.—Interest of thousands of Texas' crippled children and of many men and women working to better the lot of the physically handicapped child will center in a little wooded valley in the San Marcos river Sunday afternoon, April 14. There at three o'clock in the afternoon ceremonies will be held to lay the cornerstone of the first unit of a Texas warm springs center for crippled children.

Thousands are expected to attend the ceremonies at the 40-acre location of the Gonzales Warm Springs foundation, ten miles north of Gonzales and adjoining Palmetto State Park. Many others will listen to a broadcast of the ceremony over WOAI and KPRC.

Mrs. W. K. Lankford, bedroom demonstrator, and Miss Sadie Smith, home food supply demonstrator, have made excellent plans toward outstanding demonstration work in the county. Miss Hale complimented these women highly on the type of work being carried on.

THIS WEEK'S TIMES ON TEXAS PAPER

This week's issue, is the first of The Munday Times to be printed on Texas paper from the Southland Mills at Lufkin, Texas. This newsprint is manufactured from Texas pine as a result of the scientific discoveries of the late Dr. Charles H. Harty. The mill was completed shortly after January 1st and this week's issue represents a part of the first shipment received by The Munday Times.

The manufacture of newsprint, heretofore, has been confined to Canada and the north-eastern section of the United States, opens an entire new industry for Texas and the South.

State Aid Money Is Received Here

Transportation And Scholastic Money Is Received

County Supt. Merick McLaughlin reports Tuesday that substantial portions of state aid money has been received during the past few days and will greatly boost the financial standing of Knox county's schools.

The county received the first half of transportation money last week, McLaughlin said, amounting to $3,720. The remainder of this money is expected from the state before the close of the school year.

Also received by Knox county was $2 per capita on scholastic money, making a total of $13 per capita which has been paid the county thus far, and making only $9 per capita which is still due from the state.

McLaughlin said that the state also expects to pay the second half of teacher salary aid during the month of April. He praised the promptness with which the state has been paying the school obligations this year, stating he believed this the result of the new state aid law passed by the last session of the legislature.

J. E. EDWARDS AND WIFE LEAVE SUNDAY FOR BANDERA, TEXAS

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Edwards left last Sunday for several weeks sojourn at Bandera, Texas, where they have had The Times forwarded to them.

Mr. Edwards will be located near Medina Lake. They will have a cabin there, where squirrel, deer and fish abound. Edwards says his favorite sport is squirrel hunting, and he plans to divide his time between that sport and fishing.

Post Office Open All Day Saturdays

Beginning last Saturday, the post office in Munday is remaining open on Saturday afternoons.

This decision to remain open, Lee Haynes, postmaster, said, was reached because of complaints made at having the office closed on Saturday which caused considerable inconvenience to traveling people. Haynes said the office will remain open until six o'clock on Saturday afternoons.

Cattle Being Tested Here For Bangs' Disease

Dr. C. E. Layton, a veterinarian with the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, is working with Knox county, testing cattle for Bangs' disease.

Dr. Layton is retesting all herds that he has previously tested, and will pick up additional cattle at this time. Any farm families interested in having their cattle tested for Bangs' disease should leave their names at the county agent's office.

A large majority of the cattle owners of Knox county have already had their cattle tested one time, and the testing at this time will be a recheck test.

As various schools of the county were dismissed Friday for the county-wide music festival that was held at the Munday school, a large crowd gathered in Munday for this outstanding school event. School buses brought children from other schools in for the festival.

The morning program consisted of instrumental music, in which bands were featured. Rhythm band numbers were given during the morning program.

In the afternoon program was given over to choral singing. Individual school choral offerings were held, as well as massed singing. A feature of the program was the singing and directing of choral singing by S. O. Murdock of Childress, deputy state superintendent.

Dr. L. A. Woods, state school superintendent, arrived here during the late afternoon and was a guest of the city and county. Dr. Woods remained for an open house at the school on Tuesday evening, where he was the principal speaker.

The music festival has been interpreted as one of the most important school events ever held, and the school auditorium was filled to its entire capacity for the various events of the festival.

School Census For Knox County Shows Decline

Although slight revisions may be made, it is apparent that the scholastic population of the Munday Independent School District has continued to decline during the last year. Superintendent J. Horace Bass is tabulating the returns and he indicates that Munday District shows 488 white and 34 colored scholastics. The associated contract schools of Washburn and Hood show 37 and 40 scholastics, respectively. The population trend is indicated in that Munday census shows 50 17-year-old scholastics who pass out of the enumerated age this year and only 36 six-year-old children come on the rolls for the first time.

The scholastic census for the districts last year was as follows:

Munday, white	500
colored	42
Washburn	37
Hood	52

Compared with the above figures for 1940-41, there is a decrease of 62 scholastics in the three districts, with Hood showing a sharp drop of 27 scholastics—from 67 to 40.

Fire Marshals, Chiefs to Meet at Wichita Falls

Austin.—The region ten meeting of city fire marshals and fire chiefs will be held in Wichita Falls April 18. Marvin Hall, state fire insurance Commissioner, announced today. Fire fighters and officials from 34 cities will be invited to the party.

Representing Munday will be Mayor J. M. Terry, fire marshal M. J. Franklin and fire chief H. C. Hawes.

The meeting will be devoted to a discussion of all matters pertaining to fire inspections and fire investigations as a means of reducing fire losses. Many questions of importance in fire prevention work are arising daily, Hall said, and all of these will be fully discussed and suggestions offered as to their solution.

An ex officio state fire marshal, Commissioner Hall said fire investigations and the prosecution of arson cases in particular would come in for full discussion. Eugene Sanders, fire prevention chief and assistant state fire marshal, will be in charge of the meeting.

"Preservation of human life is an important factor in fire prevention," Hall said. "We realize that the sacrifice of 400 lives annually in Texas by fire is far too great in number, and suggestions will be offered at this gathering on how to bring a reduction in the number of deaths by fire."

A feature of the Wichita Falls meeting will be a discussion of liquefied petroleum gases. Safety precautions and measures will be recommended.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"

A YEAR AROUND PLAN

National Cotton Week, set for May 17-25 this year, promises to be the greatest event of its kind in cotton's history.

Promoted by the National Cotton Council, the Cotton Textile Institute, and other cooperating agencies, Cotton Week in the nineteen cotton-producing states will bring before the public a record parade of cotton products.

With merchants of the Belt featuring their annual cotton sales, it is certain that cotton consumption will take a decided jump during National Cotton Week. Promotional plans which bring into play every agency in the community can but result in such an increase.

Yet an increase in volume of cotton sales during National Cotton Week alone is not enough. To increase cotton consumption appreciably we must convert Cotton Week into a year around plan. If the goal of ten per cent gain in domestic consumption set by the National Cotton Council for the immediate future is to be reached, every man, woman and child in the United States must use an additional 14-19ths of an ounce of cotton every day of the year.

Fourteen hundredths of an ounce is not a very imposing quantity. But when the per capita increase per day of cotton consumption reaches that quantity, we will be using 750,000 bales a year more than we are at present. This increase would bring domestic consumption to within a few hundred bales of the all-time high.

The Cotton Council is launching a program which can bring about that increase, an increase which will make it Cotton Week not once, but 32 times a year. Cooperation of the people of the Belt will go a long way toward making that program successful.

THE FARMERS' BIGGEST CROP

The biggest crop of which the average American farmer is conscious in neither wheat, cotton, or corn. It's taxes—and taxes are the hardest annual of them all.

When he is confronted with increasing taxes—Federal, state and local—the farmer can, of course, reflect that he's faced with a difficulty common to all citizens. But when it's a matter of cash on the line, and more hard work to gather the cash, that represents a pretty small source of satisfaction.

Last year's report of the Secretary of Agriculture discusses certain aspects of the farmers' "tax crop" in the following words:

"This is of course an old story, but its importance does not diminish. The general property tax is the largest tax that farmers pay. Properly, according to accepted economic principles, a tax on land values should fall on net rent. The farmers should be able to pay it out of the income that accrues to the land as its share of the farm returns. In practice the farm real-estate tax varies greatly from such a purely land tax. (1) In addition to the permanent element of the land, the tax covers improvements and also perishable land elements that require upkeep. (2) It is haphazard; assessment is often nearly a blind guess at the value. (3) It is regressive; in other words, blind guessing at the value tends to overrate low values and to underrate high values. (4) It varies greatly in the 48 independent State systems, which include more than 160,000 semi-independent local jurisdictions."

Every group that bends its back under the ever-heavier weight of taxes in this country has its own particular problems, of course. But a more general conclusion is inescapable, and ought never to be forgotten by anyone who contributes a share to the national income: That it is wasteful and reckless spending by government which creates the need for more taxes, and that until this condition is remedied, farmer, businessman, jobholder, and Mr. Average Citizen are all going to continue to eat increasing portions of the "tax crop" and like it!

"There are two kinds of laws. There are laws that define crimes, that define abuses, and that prescribe exactly what can be done and what the punishment should be for violation. Then there are other laws that usurp that function and set up agencies given arbitrary power to do as the men who compose them will."—Willard Chevalier, publisher.

In 1916 there were 71,933 patent applications in the U.S.A. The war caused the number to drop to 59,615 in 1918. When peace came in 1919, it rose to 80,450.

Clocks in early America were made by carpenters. (Which accounts for their wooden works.) In Europe the first clocks were made by locksmiths, blacksmiths and astronomers.

The National Cotton Council suggests practical summer house dresses made from cotton bags. The bagging may be combined with bright colored trimming or dyed to suit the wearers' taste.

Recent scientific research which destroyed the myth of "cottonseed meal poisoning" has increased the domestic demand to such a point that exports have practically ceased, according to the National Cotton Council.

THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

On Tuesday, May 7th, the Munday Volunteer Fire Department will be host to firemen of some 20-odd West Texas towns in the semi-annual convention of the West Texas Firemen's Association.

Sentinels over our homes and property, these firemen are ever alert, guarding our worldly possessions against the invasion of that intruder that can make most of us homeless in but a moment—fire. In most West Texas towns, as in Munday, these men are voluntary guardians . . . and when duty calls, they stand ready to answer without thought of remuneration.

Munday owes much to her volunteer fireboys for the splendid fire record which was made last year. The firemen do not expect remuneration from a monetary standpoint, but they are expecting Munday to cooperate with them in entertaining the visiting firemen on May 7th.

Get ready, Munday. Show your appreciation for the work of our fireboys by helping them in every way possible to see that their program for visiting firemen is carried out . . . and that members of the West Texas Firemen's Association return to their homes with pleasant memories of a hospitable Munday citizenship.

IS IT ANY WONDER?

April 10, 1940, has been set aside by the government of the United States to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Patent System of this country. Following hard on the heels of a similar honoring of patents and inventors on the part of industry, through the National Association of Manufacturers, this is a date well worth setting aside on every calendar in the land.

The contribution of the inventors of this country to our present welfare, made possible only because the American patent system provided these men with fair protection and fair rewards, is a record unmatched anywhere else in the world. We have the inventors to thank for our great industries employing millions of men, and we have them to thank equally for the higher standard of living that has resulted. We must look to them, too, for continued progress in the future.

The government should be commended for emphasizing that fact. But the neutral observer can hardly help remarking on one curious point in connection with the whole procedure. It is this: On the one side, we see inventors being paid ample honor for their services in giving the average American a better and a richer life. On the other, we see certain individuals in government itself reversing this process and placing obstacles in its path—suggesting legislation to hobble the machine, which has made jobs in industry possible, or offering proposals that would close close to scrapping the Patent System or altering its basic elements.

Is it any wonder that the average citizen with a stake in the whole matter who pauses to watch antics in Washington is a little bit confused?

Since the advent of the dial system calls have doubled, operators increased from 190,000 to 300,000 and the number of linemen in the telephone industry has doubled.

Several days after robbers ransacked the safe at the offices of the Cole Nursery in Painesville, O., the loot—$46—was returned by mail to the nursery.

Fearing the two-carat diamond given him by the late Will Rogers might be stolen, Chief White Eagle of Trenton, Ill., has had a dentist set the stone in one of his upper teeth.

City officials of Detroit, notified that a certain downtown building had violated three sections of the construction code, discovered the building was the City Hall.

More than nine-tenths of the cottonseed oil produced in this country is used as food.

The American population is increasing faster than the amount of cotton used in this country.

There remain but 300 horned mountain sheep in Texas, according to State Game Department's survey reports.

THE TYRANT'S HEEL

THEY SAY!

"No matter what one's political beliefs may be, the conclusion is inescapable that we are on the wrong course . . . Private initiative is being crushed under the weight of domestic taxes and the total unemployment figure remains in the neighborhood of 10,000,000."

F. W. Litchfield, president
Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

"We have of late been hearing demands that we suppress invention and put hobbles on inventors, lest they get going so fast that the mass of us can't keep step with them. Such counsels would call on us to turn backward just when we are ready to go forward at a pace never before known. Our utilizations of mechanical power, of electricity, of chemistry, are almost daily opening new avenues of advance toward better life, the higher and ever higher standards of living, the real establishment of human security and assured economic well-being."

J. Howard Pew, president
Sun Oil Company

"Management today carries many added burdens. More than anything else, industry is in large measure held responsible for the happiness and contentment of 130 million people. Together with productive labor, it provides the daily bread and clothes and homes for a nation's families. It builds their churches, hospitals and schools. It helps take care of the aged, the sick, and the unemployed; and if it did not provide the funds for government agencies to function who else would, or could?"

C. M. Chester, chairman
General Foods Corp.

Just before the opening of hostilities in Europe in 1914, cotton prices were about 11.9 cents a pound. When the exchanges were closed (August 1-November 17, 1914), prices dropped with the diminishing market to nearly half this level. It was two full years after the war began before domestic prices recovered to the levels existing immediately before the war.

On 41 per cent of the total land area of this country, erosion has been serious enough to destroy from one-fourth to three-fourths of the top soil. On 12 per cent more than three-fourths of the top soil has been lost through erosion.

The farmer's share of the domestic market for agricultural products has ranged from 89 per cent in 1924 to 93 per cent in 1938.

Production of rayon, a cotton substitute, increased from 21,000,000 pounds, the equivalent of 49,000 bales of cotton in 1914, to 1,948,000,000 pounds, the equivalent of 4,584,000 bales of cotton, in 1938.

Real Estate Men to Convene In Galveston

On May 16, 17 and 18 the Texas Real Estate Association and all affiliated member boards are sponsoring "Texas Real Estate Festival" at Galveston.

Invitations are extended to all licensed real estate dealers of Texas, all mortgage bankers, loan agents, title men, architects, contractors, building supply dealers and all other individuals or corporations directly or indirectly interested in the real estate business. The purpose of the festival is to bring all real estate interests together in order to discuss vital problems now confronting the various phases of the real estate business.

The Governor of Texas has officially proclaimed the week of May 13-19 as "Real Estate Week" and has issued a proclamation to this effect. Various real estate organizations throughout the state are planning activities calculated to direct the minds of Texas citizens to home and land ownership during this period.

John Ed Jones, official of the Texas Real Estate Association, states: "The members of this association have for many years felt that at least once a year the varied real estate interests should meet in order to co-ordinate their various efforts and come to a closer understanding with each other. We have many problems and broader objectives than can be accomplished by our co-ordinated efforts, and we should certainly strive to establish a closer communion with each other.

"Our academic program at the festival this year will be the best and most interesting ever offered the real estate profession. Outstanding speaker of state-wide importance will appear on the program, and the subjects to be discussed will be of keen interest to everyone engaged in the various phases of the real estate business."

CARRYING COALS TO NEWCASTLE

Bentonville, Ark.—Residents of this community were surprised recently when three carloads of apples were rolled onto a railroad siding and it was announced that they had been shipped here from the State of Washington by the Surplus Commodities Corporation.

Washington, it was explained, had a surplus of the fruit.

The irony of the situation was that this county is one of the first five apple-producing counties in the United States and had huge surplus of apples on its own hands. Thirty carloads of apples were in cold storage here for lack of a market when Washington's surplus apples arrived, and there are more than a half-million bearing apple trees in the county.

Munday Study Club Has Open House at J. R. Smith Home

On Friday, April 5th, Mrs. J. R. Smith, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Helen von Baumann, held open house for the Munday Study Club. This is an annual presentation to raise funds for the club and is sponsored by the finance committee.

Mrs. Chandler Hughes, president-elect, introduced Mrs. Fred Broach, Jr., who reviewed the book "One of Ours," by Willa Prather, to a most responsive audience. Mrs. Broach's presentation was probably one of the best reviews from the standpoint of subject matter and delivery as well as comprehensive character analysis ever sponsored by the Munday Study Club in their annual presentation of these affairs.

Mrs. J. R. Burnison, president, poured tea from a table centered with flowers and lighted tapers. The reception rooms were abundantly filled with spring flowers. Music was provided during the tea hour by Mrs. von Baumann at the piano. Members and guests for the afternoon numbered about fifty.

Betty Crocker KITCHEN CLINIC

Prepared by Your Newspaper—Betty Crocker Home Service Department

HOW DID YOU MAKE IT?

Don't you always feel that you have scored a real triumph when your friends begin calling you the day after you've entertained, and begging you to tell them how you ever made that "grand casserole dish"—or that "wonderful salad dressing"—or that "perfectly heavenly dessert"?

Here is a dessert recipe that is bound to do just that. I speak with assurance because I've talked with so many women who have had just that experience in serving this frothy delicious chocolate soufflé garnished with swirls of whipped cream. It's a soufflé that's amazingly delicate and frothy, and at the same time holds up surprisingly well. It is a truly elegant dessert for any dinner or luncheon. In fact it's the most popular party dessert at a famous western tea room.

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

- 2 tbs. butter
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 1/2 sq. unsweetened chocolate
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla
- 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour and salt. Remove from heat. Add milk slowly, stirring until smooth. Add cut-up chocolate. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick (about 3 minutes). Remove from heat. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add sugar gradually, and continue beating until thick, smooth and creamy. Add a small amount of the egg yolk mixture to the chocolate mixture; then add this mixture to the remaining egg yolk mixture—adding it slowly and stirring as the mixtures are combined. Let cool to lukewarm (about 10 minutes). Blend in vanilla. Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream of tartar, and continue beating until egg whites are stiff enough to hold a point. Fold the beaten egg whites into the chocolate mixture. Pour immediately into a well greased baking dish, 8 inches in diameter and 3 inches deep, and set dish in pan of hot water (having water reach well up on dish). Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F. This will make 8 generous servings.

The Antiquity and Use of the Yo-Yo

(By Dr. J. Horace Bass)

The origin of the yo yo is lost in the misty obscurity of history's early dawning. But we know it is as old as recorded account, itself, for we find it in general use in ancient China when the historical curtain rises there about 4,000 B.C. The discovery of various types of yo yos and tops in the tombs of the Egyptian Pharaohs by the Breasted Archaeological Expedition in the last decade is evidence that the yo yo was no stranger to the Sacred Nile and the pyramids. The great veneration in which the yo yo was held by the ancient Egyptians is depicted by the pose of one of the mummies excavated there. Around his funeral couch one finds his stock of yo yos, and clutched in his mummy fingers is a yo yo of great symmetry and beauty.

According to research, the yo yo was introduced into Europe by Marco Polo and by the Crusaders during the 12th and 13th centuries. Marco Polo tells us in his Travels that just before his return to Italy the Great Kahn gave him a jeweled yo yo, which when spinning gave forth sweet strains of music not unlike that of the European Nightingale. The returning crusaders brought new and fine specimens from Jerusalem and the Holy Lands. It is from these sources that we know the yo yo came into use in Europe before Columbus visited the New World.

Historians are uncertain of the time and place of the introduction of the yo yo into America. It is known that the Spanish fathers employed bright colored yo yos to lure the savage Indian into the mission. Likewise the English Pilgrim knew it in his new home. An unpublished manuscript recently found in the archives of Massachusetts Historical Society recounts how Miles Standish sent a message and a yo yo to Priscilla by John Alden. And the complete version of the legend of John Smith and Pocahontas is that she intervened to save John's life because he had promised to make her a yo yo.

How the yo yo came to be called is still a matter of profound speculation and controversy among scholars. One school maintains that the word is of Scandinavian origin and that the Danes carried it to England. Their explanation is that the native Celts, hearing the invaders say "yo yo," meaning in Scandinavian "yo," coined the unglorified "yo yo." From it was later derived the word "go."

Others contend that the word is of Latin origin and they point to the French word "Yo-kel" which was introduced into English by the Normans. Their explanation is that the derivative, "yokel," meaning in French one who yo yos, has been corrupted by use. Webster defines it as a "country lout" and we accept the first syllable of the word instead of the last as do the French.

Still another group of linguists maintain that yo yo is of Swiss origin, and they offer a plausible argument. According to them, the Swiss word "yodle" is a derivative from yo yo and shows conclusively their contention. The full story is that a herder of the Swiss Alps region drove his goats up the mountainside one morning, but learned to his consternation that he had left his yo yo at the house. Now he had two children—Daughter Dell and son Dee—so he called them to bring his yo yo up the trail, thus "Yo yo, Dell . . . Yo yo, Dee." From this we may not accept the version but it does prove the origin of "yodle."

In modern times, the yo yo has been intimately interwoven in the entire social, economic, and political life of nations. The last few minutes of the life of Louis XVI of France were spent quietly yo yoing, and as a special privilege, he was permitted to carry the royal yo yo with him to the guillotine on that fateful January 21, 1793. The French Royal Academy of Science recently corrected historians when they stated that most of the spectators who were reported as knitting were in reality yo yoing.

The yo yo contributed to the break-up of feudalism and to the industrial revolution. It was the yo yo makers who formed the first trade guild in Milan, or Cologne, the records are not clear. The yo yo makers employed the rudiments of machine technique which suggested to Harvee the spinning Jenny in 1767. Thus the yo yo has been a fundamental element in the development of the capitalists and industrial system.

The yo yo holds an important place in contemporary American life. Its use is said to mirror the shifting emotions and passions, the joys and sorrows, of American social life. Poets and musicians have employed it as a theme in expressing the pent-up feelings of the human heart. Who has not thrilled to the tender melody of "Yo, yo, A Thousand Times Yo?"

Educationally speaking, the skill required to manipulate a yo yo gracefully can be transferred in an emergency to catching one's hat when the wind blows it off. There are other adaptations that may be suggested, for an instance, churning with a fell crock.

The yo yo has given employment to wood and twine manufacturers and to artisans and retailers. Men's wares in this connection contributed mightily to the national income. The designs of painting the yo yos have brought a renaissance to American art. In the fields of science and medicine, the yo yo has likewise made its contributions.

In criminal cases, where there is a pleading of insanity, any qualified alienist may administer the yo yo test and it is accepted as irrefutable evidence in any court. The alienist simply places a yo yo in a suggested position in the hands of the supposed insane. If the person proceeds at once to spin the yo yo, he is taken to be insane.

Thoughtful philosophers who seek to plumb the depth of American life and to probe its innermost feelings, say that as long as the country yo yos, it is essentially safe and sound. The Dies committee has said that as long as we have the yo yo, communism will never make much headway here. The President has said truly: "Let me prescribe the kind of yo yo the country uses and I care not who makes the laws, for as long as the country yo yos generally the Republicans cannot be elected."

Moffett Speaks At Legion Meeting Tuesday Night

State Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe was the principal speaker here Tuesday night at the regular meeting of Lowry Post No. 44 of the American Legion. Senator Moffett made an interesting talk, which was of a humorous nature, yet contained valuable thoughts for his hearers.

About 50 Legionnaires and executive men attended the meeting. A splendid feed was served by Kirby Fitzgerald, D. E. Jones and H. W. Johnson.

Musical entertainment during the meal was furnished by Whitworth's "Prairie Ramblers," local blind boys' orchestra.

We are introducing a new cotton, "College Acala 37-A," which was grown by members of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association from seed furnished by New Mexico A. and M. College and the cotton was grown and ginned under their supervision.

They claim it to be a quick-fruited, prolific strain, and has from 1 to 1 1/8 inch, uniform, strong staple, and the gin turnout is 38 to 42 per cent lint.

We have a supply of this strain of seed in both the "fuzzy" and delinted seed.

These seed were grown in the irrigated country around Roswell, New Mexico.

PARTNERS IN A GREAT TEXAS ENTERPRISE

Oil

TEXAS farmers and ranchers received last year from oil men the huge sum of $132,478,000 for leases and royalties as their share in this partnership.

All but seven of Texas' 254 counties now share in this cash return from leases and production on more than 50,000,000 acres of Texas land.

Then, too, the Texas farmers and ranchers sell to oil workers and their families more than $60,000,000 worth of farm and livestock products each year.

Thus the farmers and ranchers of our state receive nearly 200 million dollars a year as their share of oil's total expenditure of 750 million dollars annually in Texas. These 200 million dollars in turn flow into every channel of Texas trade.

The Texas farmer and rancher and the oil man are partners in the development of Texas.

TEXAS OUT-OF-DOORS

Crucial Time for Fish

Austin, Texas.—This is the time of year when lake owners, seeing fish die, blame pollution for it. However, in most cases, it is because too much of the dissolved oxygen in the water is being taken up by plankton, according to the Texas Game Department's chief aquatic biologist.

Plankton (microscopic plants and animals) is blooming profusely in most of Texas' lakes now. Too, there are more cloudy days at this time of year than usual and the combination tends to lower the supply of oxygen in the water.

Lake owners who see fish die in the mornings, but few, if any, during the afternoons, can be rather certain that it is the lack of air in the water which is killing the fishy fellows.

There are two methods of assisting in remedying the situation, the aquatic biologist says. Small lakes can sometimes be drained about half and fresh waters, well aerated, used to refill them. If this is not possible, the running of a motorboat or outboard motor on the lake for several hours, with the propeller set partially out of the water, will cause the water to pick up dissolved oxygen by agitation.

Hawk Robs Hunter

L. T. Burns of Yoakum, Texas, is already looking forward to the winter quail season—to see if any more miracles will happen.

Last December, he related recently, he shot a bowwren on the wing. Down it started, and Burns began to imagine consuming a few more delicious morsels at dinner that night. But before the dead quail could reach the ground a Cooper's hawk swooped down and caught the quail in mid-air, then sailed off to have a fine meal himself.

Burns was so amazed he couldn't get his gun to his shoulder in time to kill the hawk.

The Cooper's hawk, commonly known as the blue darter, is one of the four kinds of hawks unprotected in Texas. The others, and there are many of them, are regarded as highly valuable birds because their diet consists largely of insects and rodents.

Beaver Making Comeback?

The Game Department has not planted any beaver in Rusk county, but one was found there during the hunting season. As far as is known, it is the first beaver seen in that section in more than 30 years. The Department is making an investigation to determine if there are additional beaver in that section. The beaver was found in Marten Creek, which runs into the Sabine River.

Urges Educational Program

More practical application of the research work done by game and fish commissions and an educational program to teach conservation to the youth of the land were urged by the Outdoor Writers Association of America at its recent annual meeting in Washington.

The association pointed out conservation of natural resources was far more important to the welfare of the United States than, for example, art and music. You can't eat art and music and you can't hunt them, the association pointed out.

John M. Phillips, former president of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, in an address to the writers and the National Wildlife Federation, urged practical educational activities for the youth of high school age, both in town and country. "You can't teach an old dog new tricks and we must depend upon the older sportsmen to complete the program for them. It is also necessary to teach the teachers and instruct the instructors, not by fanciful theory, but by practical application of game management."

TO SEYMOUR MEETING

M. F. Billingsley and Don Ferris went to Seymour on Wednesday of last week, where they attended the regular meeting of the Seymour Lions Club. Judge Billingsley made an interesting talk on "Development of Personality."

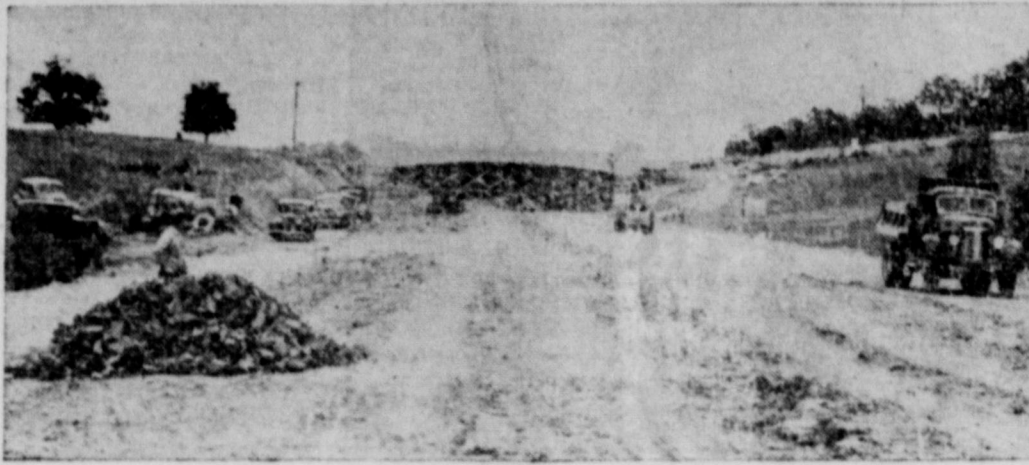

Porter Bryan, who was recently transferred from Seymour to San Angelo, visited friends here for a while Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Curtis Coates and baby daughter, Bellida Joyce, were brought home on Thursday of last week. They are reported to be doing nicely at their home in Munday.

Tax Assessor-Collector E. B. Sams of Benjamin was here Saturday in official business.

Modern Trail Blazing Puts Men To Work

As many as 15,000 workers have been employed at one time on the four-lane superhighway between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, which is producing an estimated 3,000,000 man-hours of work. The construction of the highway is being financed by a loan of $10,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and a grant of $29,250,000 from the Public Works Administration. Providing low grades and easy curves through the Appalachian Mountains, the turnpike will extend about 162 miles. A typical highway bridge crossing over the Pennsylvania highway is shown above.

Texas Contributes $83,000 To Finnish Relief Fund In Drive

Dallas.—Texas contributed $83,302.87 to Finnish relief aside from corporation contributions made direct to Herbert Hoover's committee by the home offices by many concerns having branches in this state. These figures were released by Capt. J. F. Lucey, Texas director for the Finnish Relief Fund, this week from his office in Dallas. At the same time Capt. Lucey said the state headquarters and the state organization are being discontinued.

The Texas director was profuse in his compliments of the subscription campaign conducted by Texas newspapers. "If we had not had the marvelous cooperation of Texas newspapers," Captain Lucey said, "we never could have got the job done." He also paid his respects to workers at state headquarters and the local committees over the state.

While Texas donations were not the largest nor did Texas lead the states in number of donations, Capt. Lucey said, yet it was one of the ranking states. Only New York, Illinois, California and one or two other states are credited with a greater total in contributions.

In a recent communication from Herbert Hoover, national director of the fund, a request was made that the newspapers continue to keep their columns open for subscriptions and that local committees continue their organization. In this request Capt. Lucey concurs and is asking these agencies to keep their facilities open for further contributions.

"Finland needs help now as badly as ever," Capt. Lucey said. "Rehabilitation must be carried on. Hundreds of thousands of the Finnish people must seek new homes in different localities because their former homes are now a part of Russia. This means starting from scratch as their household effects were destroyed in the war. They are penniless and without equipment."

According to information from national headquarters in New York, the Hoover organization has been skeletonized to a few workers. The volunteer workers and Mr. Hoover are returning to private life and business, although

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS TO MEET IN DALLAS

The Future Homemakers of Texas will hold their twenty-first annual State Rally in Dallas, April 24-27, with headquarters at the Baker and Adolphus Hotels. The meeting is under the direction of the Homemaking Division of the State Board for Vocational Education, of which Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of Public Instruction, is the executive officer. Miss Ruth Huey, State Director of Homemaking Education, and Miss Josephine Pasdral, State Supervisor, are in charge. Mr. Walter J. E. Schiebel, principal of Dallas Technical High School, is local chairman of arrangements.

Mr. Hoover will keep in touch with the New York office, it is said. Because of the new setup all donations should be mailed direct to the national offices in New York.

Texas fulfilled her pledge, Capt. Lucey said, in that every cent of the collected funds went 100 per cent to Finnish relief. Expenses of the campaign were taken care of by private donations made by friends of the cause—largely the membership of the committees.

"The people of Texas responded magnificently," said Capt. Lucey. "They stepped to the side of a stricken people who were fighting against overwhelming odds and gave liberally of their wealth and sympathy. I am proud of Texas and her people and am glad to be one of this great family. I cannot say more."

243 TEXAS YOUTH GO FROM NYA JOBS INTO PRIVATE EMPLOYMENT

Austin.—Nurse, soda-jerker, advertising writer, apprentice mechanic, stenographer—these were some of the jobs entered by Texas youth from the National Youth Administration Work Projects over the state during March, according to J. Clerical work took the largest number of the youth placed, with sales work running it a close second.

When it comes to literature that will last it is doubtful that any other American writer can match Mark Twain's creations. His characters "live" as do few personages in fiction.

Mark Twain wrote humorously of travel. He could write entertaining biography, as in his "Joan of Arc." Strangest of all, he could write, with the deep seriousness of a philosopher, about life and man, and man's religion. And lastly, he could write in "homely and unpretending English," with great craftsmanship.

Mark Twain's real name was Samuel Clemens, and he was born at Florida, Missouri. At the age of four he went with his family to Hannibal, Missouri, on the Mississippi River, where he shared the vivid river life of his time. When he was twelve his father died, and young Clemens was forced to shift for himself. He learned the printer's trade and worked on newspapers in many cities, traveling as far east as New York. In 1851 he returned to the Mississippi and became a pilot, acquiring at this time his pen name, Mark Twain, a nautical term used in sounding.

Throughout his life, Mark Twain traveled and lectured and wrote almost constantly. He became nearly as popular in England as in his own country. Although involved in several disastrous financial ventures, he made enough above his losses to enjoy a good income until his death.

A few of his important works are "Tom Sawyer," "Life on the Mississippi," "Huckleberry Finn," and his "Autobiography."

Senior Class News

The Seniors have finally come to the conclusion that they are not old maids, even if their teacher does think so. The can still beat the Sophs and Freshies at indoor ball.

We have been studying hard for exams which are on their way again. We hope to make good grades for this is the last exam before final exams.

We are expecting to receive our invitations soon.

Junior Report

Some of the Juniors were arguing about who they thought should have won the fight between Joe Louis and Godoy. Finally one student, who didn't pay much attention to what was in the papers or what was said about the fight, asked, "Well, who won the fight, anyway?"

We gave Albert and Richard the nicknames of Mutt and Jeff. The other day a certain Junior girl was talking to Mutt and the teacher said, "Quit talking to Mutt or you'll make Jeff jealous."

We hate to say that the Seniors have had their lessons fed to them with a spoon. It even goes so far that the teacher has to ask them if they have their bibs along.

The seventh month exam will be completed after this week, and then we have only four weeks to go.

Some will be happy, some may be sad, but I don't think that any of the Juniors will cry.

Too Much Service

"An elderly man was having lunch in our grill," said the hotel manager, "and as was customary, when his water glass showed evidence of use, a passing waiter or bus boy refilled it. After the fifth or sixth refilling the diner let out a roar.

"Stop," he cried, "I've been trying to get that water glass to the proper level ever since I came to this table. My doctor ordered me to take a pill in a third of a glass of water. Now I feel like an overloaded water wagon, and I still have the pill to take."

Sophomore Report

In case you want to know the Sophs are still as studios as ever. Next month vacation begins. Really this fact is the silver lining in the dark cloud.

Your reporter wishes to recommend the following poem for your consideration:

— Strengthening the Will —
 Here are twelve exercises for strengthening the will:

Smile when you would rather frown.
 Say a gentle word when you would rather speak unkindly.

Do a kind deed, be it ever so simple, when you would rather take your ease.

Think a good thought when you would rather do no thinking at all.

See something beautiful in every ugly thing.

Find something interesting in every disagreeable task.

Speak only the good words about those who cross your path.

Deny yourself some little thing each day.

Deny not some love even to that brother who has offended you.

Be patient in those moments when the soul is sore beset.

Be joyful even in the face of sorrow and misfortune.

Give thanks to God even for those things which try your soul.

SCIENCE GOES TO SEA

Designed by Mr. J. E. Williamson, noted marine explorer, the Williamson Photosphere, stationed at Nassau, the Bahamas, is equipped with a huge flexible tube which lowers the large photosphere down through the great well of the flat-bottomed craft for observation of undersea life, seen through the five-foot window. A special camera takes motion pictures of the varied types of fish and undersea vegetation. Close by the photosphere is one of the giant Pan American Airways flying clippers which this winter are operating on a daily schedule between Miami and Nassau.

A Modern Linerider

on the Range

"...for he's a jolly good fellow"

HE'S no softie, this Modern Linerider. Like the old-time cowboy, his work calls for plenty of nerve. His face is sunburned. His muscles are hardened by many hours out-of-doors, climbing 50-foot poles and clinging tenaciously to cross-arms while dodging "hot" wires that might otherwise send him hurtling to the ground—and sudden death.

He works under tremendous pressure. Many of his jobs are like that at Clyde, struck by a tornado on June 10, 1938, in which 12 persons were killed and communications completely disrupted. Linemen rushed to the stricken area and had light and power service restored just 32 minutes after the tornado hit. Sometimes it is an immediate need for electric power, such as occurred in the McCamey area when oil first was discovered. A hundred miles of line were built and put in operation in the world's record time of exactly 60 days.

Some are college graduates. Others have the equivalent in actual experience. All are highly-trained and skilled workmen. They work hard—and play hard. They are good citizens, loyal to their communities and supporting civic enterprise. They are among the hundreds of men and women working "behind the scenes" to make Electric Service efficient, dependable and economical here. On them we bestow a title of honor—"Modern Lineriders."

Man Wins Strange Fight For Life When Storm Overtakes Boat

Friend, 200 Yards Away, Aids Dramatic Rescue with Light

A SUDDEN squall that overturned his boat during a night fishing trip on Lake Erie marked the beginning of a strange accident that brought C. J. Latimer, of Warren, Ohio, close to death in the stormy waves. Plunged into the lake when his boat upset, Latimer was dragged down in the water by a heavy trot-line that tangled about his leg and prevented him from swimming ashore, and he probably would have died there had it not been for a companion on shore, 200 yards away, who helped rescue him with a flash light.

Another man had been in the boat with him when it capsized and was also thrown into the water. He worked frantically to set Latimer free, but could not see in the darkness to untie the knots in the line.

As the minutes passed and the line tangled more tightly about Latimer, his plight grew increasingly desperate. He continued his struggle to keep his head above the waves, however, and at last the man on shore, playing a flashlight over the water, located him and his friend in the darkness, thus giving them the light they needed to untangle the trot-line and save his life.

In telling about the accident, Latimer said that the storm broke suddenly while they were on the lake setting their lines. "There was a sigh wind," he said, "which whipped up some pretty heavy waves. We started to row for shore as fast as we could, when one of the oars fell into the water. As it bobbed past me, I grabbed for it. A wave struck us broadside, and over we went.

"Somehow we both managed to hang on to the boat. When I tried to swim away, though, I found I was caught. The harder I struggled to get loose, the heavier the line dragged me down. The water was getting rougher all the time. I began to think I'd never come out of it alive.

"If it hadn't been for the fellow on land, I probably never would have either. Suspecting trouble, he tried to locate us with his flashlight. Though we were pretty far out, he had fresh batteries in the light, and the beam was strong enough to reach us. Without it, we never could have seen to set me free."

As soon as the line was untangled, Latimer and his friend were able to swim safely to shore. Although he had been in the water about half an hour, after he rested and dried his clothes he was none the worse for his experience.

Wheat Parity Payments Have Been Certified

College Station—Running nearly a month ahead of last year's schedule, the state AAA office already has certified the first wheat parity payments under the 1940 program.

First county to get applications into the state office was Fisher county, closely followed by Nolan. The applications were audited, certified and sent to the General Accounting office in Dallas from which point the checks will be mailed to the counties.

All wheat parity payments should be completed by June 1, B. Vance, assistant state administrator, predicted. In Texas approximately 50,000 checks amounting to $2,500,000, will be paid to wheat producers cooperating with the program. The payments are computed at the rate of 10 cents per bushel of the normal yield of a farm. Premiums on 1940 crop insurance contracts have been deducted from the payments.

Parity payments are made by the AAA, the official explained, to provide farmers with a return for their crop as nearly equal to parity prices as possible and thus to place the farmer's income in a more equal footing with the incomes of non-farm people.

Mistress: "I've asked Mr. and Mrs. Smith to dinner at seven-quarter of an hour's grace."
Mary: "Well, ma'am, I'm selfless myself, but I think that's rather overdoing it."

Mrs. Jones: "What did the bride wear?"
Mrs. Brown: "A pretty dress and a look of triumph."

Soy Bean Rated As 8th U. S. Crop

New Uses Found for "Miracle Bean" Boosts it to Major Rank in Agriculture

Washington.—The lowly soy bean, thanks to scientists and industrial research chemists who have found many new uses for it, has risen to the eighth position among American crops, latest figures of the U. S. Department of Agriculture reveal.

Now known as the "miracle bean," it was introduced into the United States in 1804, but only in the last 10 years—since science found so many uses for it—has the American farmer cultivated the soy bean extensively. It is estimated that export of the product this year alone will represent about 15,000,000 bushels and bring to producers a return of over $10,000,000.

Largest new industrial field opened to the soy bean is plastics. In that form it is being used in the manufacture of automobile parts (a fifth of a bushel, it has been estimated, goes into every small car); in furniture, wall panels, ash trays, clocks, light switches, lamps, buttons, buckles and many other everyday appliances. It is now used extensively in paints and varnishes, oilcloth and linoleum, printers' ink, celluloid, soap and rubber substitutes.

Food products from the soy bean include salad oil, diabetic foods, soups, flour, substitutes for lard and bread. In all, this bean in which industrial research found such versatility, appears today in no fewer than 200 manufactured products.

On the farm the "miracle bean" is fed to cows, hogs and poultry. Its flour contains 12 times as much calcium as wheat flour.

Texas Stands Behind John Garner

Texas State Democratic Executive Committee gave a ringing endorsement to the presidential aspirations of John Garner, despite some protests which were not warranted.

Mr. Garner is of high ability and probity. He has won great distinction. He aspires to the presidency. Above all, he is a Texan. He has a right to go to the national convention with the solid backing of his state, just as every other state's favorite son may have a right to expect his state's support.

This implies no party split, no discrediting of President Roosevelt or anybody else. It is just pro-Garner, that's all. Entirely proper.
