FARMERS UNION TO CONVENE HERE TUESDAY

8,000 Take In Short Course

Thirty Go From Knox County

Eight thousand farm people took in the annual Farmer's Short Course at Texas A. and M. College last week.

The thirty Knox county people attending the course were: J. W. Smith, chairman of county AAA committee, E. A. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Phillips and Hattie Ann and AAA Administrative Assistant Joe Harper. Representing the County Land Use Planning Committee were: Chairman August Schumacher and Mrs. Schumacher, H. A. Patterson and Mrs. Nolan Phillips. Peter Loran, state president of the Farmers' Union also attended. Misses Myrtle Munday and Cornie Hodges and Mrs. Verie Sullins were delegates to the Texas Home Demonstration Association. Mrs. J. Q. Cure, chairman of the County Home Demonstration Council was present also.

Knox county's 4-H Girls' Clubs were represented by Gloria Murock, Hegner; Roberta Ratliff, Goree; Lynette Chowning, Truscott; Leota Patterson, Vera, went as Knox county's Gold Star girl. Representing the boys' 4-H clubs were: Finis Bratcher, Vera; Charlie G. Hickman, Truscott; Wade McGuire, Vera; Bobby Roberson, Benjamin; Elton and Gaylon Scott, Vera, and Thomas Westbrook, Truscott.

The 8000 was made up of 3009 4-H club boys and girls who registered for the junior section during the first two days of the week and of that many farm men and farm women who registered for the adult section. In addition, it is estimated that 2,000 people from surrounding counties attended without registering for rooms.

Frozen food lockers, land use planning and conservation headlined the program with speakers divided about equally between men and women or national importance and farm people.

Special groups who made the short course the occasion for meetings included the Texas Home Demonstration Association, Texas Agricultural Writers, Texas Agricultural Workers, Master Farmers of Texas and Hereford Cattle Breeders Association.

County agricultural and home demonstration agents gathered for their annual conference, as did workers of the Agricultural Experiment Station. Several hundred members of land use planning committees and some 500 AAA county committeemen also attended. The Texas County Agricultural Agents held a business session.

Clover Farm Store Has Anniversary

Sebern Jones, owner of the Clover Farm Store, is celebrating the third anniversary of this firm this week end by announcing special prices on many items of merchandise in his store.

Sebern says: "I certainly appreciate the splendid patronage accorded me during the three years I have tried to serve you in the grocery business. During our third anniversary sale, we are trying to show our appreciation by giving you big values in groceries. Visit our store this week end and see the many items offered at savings during our anniversary sale."

WPA Application Made for Precinct Roads, Bridges

County Judge E. L. Covey announced Tuesday that Knox county has made application with the state W.P.A. for a $40,000 road works project for this precinct.

Practically all the work in the precinct will be rebuilding of culverts and bridges, making them permanent structures of reinforced concrete and rock, Covey said.

This work will be done later, as the county's W.P.A. quota of workmen and other conditions justify. This will be an improvement project for the entire precinct.

Mrs. Lillian Holt of Dallas visited friends and relatives here last Sunday.

Revival Opens Next Sunday At Baptist Church

Rochester Pastor To Conduct Revival

Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Munday, this week announced that the annual summer revival meeting will open at the local church next Sunday. The meeting will continue through Sunday, August 4th.

Rev. Aubrey Short of Rochester, well known pastor-evangelist of this section, will do the preaching during this meeting. He is an interesting and forceful preacher, and large crowds are expected to hear his message during these two weeks.

Rev. Finis A. Williams of Moran, Texas, will be in charge of the song services and music for the revival. All singers of the town and community are urged to come and help out in the music. Good preaching and good singing are promised at every service of the revival.

"An effort is being made for your comfort during the meeting," Rev. Albertson said. "We are planning open-air services each day, with weather permitting. We urge all Christian people to unite with us in these two weeks of special revival services. A cordial welcome is extended to all denominations to meet and worship and work with us."

Lois Prince Is Buried Here On Last Friday

Miss Lois Zelma Prince, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Prince of Munday, passed away at Abilene at ten o'clock Thursday morning, July 11. She had been employed in Abilene for some time.

Miss Prince was born July 23, 1916, and was 23 years, 11 months and 18 days of age.

Surviving her other than her parents are the following brothers and sisters: Ida Prince, Seymour; Mrs. Ita Hill, Dewey Prince, Melba Prince, Alva and Alta Prince all of Munday. She is also survived by her grandfathers, A. K. Prince of Westover, and W. P. Collins of Faxon, Okla.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist church in Munday at three o'clock last Friday afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor, and interment was in the Johnson cemetery by the Mahan Funeral Home.

Two Stores Are Air Conditioned

Two more Munday firms were added to the list of stores that are trying to make shopping cool and comfortable for their customers. Air-conditioning units were installed.

A unit was installed in the Book-out Bakery last Tuesday, and the boys say it's a lot more pleasant working in there.

Piggly Wiggly grocery had their air-conditioner installed Wednesday.

Trenton Youth Is Named Best Farmer

William H. Summers of Trenton, Fannin county, Texas, sun-tanned farm youth was acclaimed the leading young farmer of Texas.

He was selected as a Lone Star farmer of Texas by the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America, in session at Houston last week. Twenty-eight hundred farm youths of Texas took part in the event.

Young Summers is a grandson of the late W. H. Sheedy of Munday.

City Begins To Sue For Taxes

Filing of suit for collection of all delinquent taxes owed the City of Munday and the Munday Independent School District was started this week, M. F. Billingsley, attorney, announced this week.

In the opinion of city and school officials, ample time has been granted all property owners to make some disposition of delinquent taxes, and suits are being filed on all who have apparently made no effort to pay their city and school taxes which have become delinquent.

All citizens whose taxes are delinquent are warned to take care of these taxes immediately to avoid suit.

Ten Youths Of County Enroll In CCC Work

Assigned to Memphis For Preliminary Training

Ten Knox county youths were among the 76 from the Wichita Falls area who enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps last week. They enrolled at Wichita Falls and were assigned to begin preliminary training in Memphis, Texas, last Friday.

Following training at Memphis, the group will be assigned to permanent CCC camps.

Those enrolled from this county are as follows:

Thelton Durwood Brown, Alfred Braxton Chandler, Floyd Wilburn Feemster, Joseph Lawrence Herring, James Edgar Jobe, William Ewell McKinney, James Oliver Norville, Alvie Anderson Reynolds, Lloyd Edgar Walker and John Hamilton Cole.

Measurement Of Knox County Farms Now Under Way

The measurement of farms in Knox county under the AAA program is well started. Ten crews are at work measuring the entire county. Each crew measures about five farms per day.

The crews return the completed maps to the county agent's office at the end of each week, and the computations of crop acreages are completed as quickly as possible. Farmers are then notified of their crop measurements.

"A good many farmers are calling at the county agent's office before their maps are returned," County Agent Rice stated. "It will save them a trip if they will not call regarding their maps until notified."

Pruitt Infant Is Buried Thursday

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pruitt were held Thursday morning at ten o'clock from the Mahan Funeral Home. Services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Albertson, and burial was in the Johnson cemetery.

The infant was born Wednesday and lived only a few hours. He is survived by his parents.

ARTHUR MITCHELL HAS OPERATION SATURDAY AT TEMPLE, TEXAS, HOSPITAL

Employees of the local West Texas Utilities Co. office received a wire Saturday stating that A. H. Mitchell, local manager, underwent a major operation at a Temple hospital.

Mr. Mitchell had been at the clinic some ten days earlier for examination, and it was decided an operation was necessary.

Latest reports are that Mitchell is doing nicely, and his friends here wish him a complete and speedy recovery.

"Going, Going, Gone!"

With Mary Nell Porter, the National Cotton Council's 1940 Maid of Cotton, serving as auctioneer, members of the Houston Cotton Exchange joined in spirited bidding for a bale of cotton being sold for the Red Cross War relief fund. Purchaser W. L. Clayton (left), head of Anderson, Clayton and Co., smiles up at Miss Porter, with J. M. Locke standing in center. Miss Porter has just completed a 12,000-mile air tour of the United States.

Democrats Draft Roosevelt

Absentee Voting Now Under Way

Candidates Plan For Final Rounds Prior To Election

Absentee voting in the July 27 Democratic primary started last week in Knox county, and will continue until July 24th. Absentee ballots in Knox county will be sent to their respective voting boxes prior to the date of the election on Saturday, July 27.

Meanwhile candidates this week were looking forward to a furious finish. To win attention this week, they must vie with interest in the Democratic convention in Chicago and the impending assault by Hitler upon the British Isles.

Locally, candidates are preparing for their final round of speaking dates next week, which will run through Wednesday, July 24. Three speaking dates remain on the calendar of county candidates. They are:

Gilliland July 22nd
Munday July 23rd
Sunset July 24th

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Melvin Bryan left the latter part of last week for Dallas, where he is undergoing medical treatment. A card from Mr. Bryan this week stated that he will likely be in Dallas quite a while, receiving hospitalization while there.

LEAVE ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hill, Everett Burton of Abilene, and Miss Christine Burton left last week for a two weeks vacation at Santa Fe, Toas, and points in northern New Mexico.

Road Project Changed To Letting For August

Excitement was caused in Knox county several days ago when an article appearing in the daily papers stated that the contract for paving a portion of the Munday-Knox City road had been withdrawn from the July letting of the Texas Highway Department. Some understood this to mean the letting had been definitely withdrawn, but assurance came to Judge E. L. Covey this week that the contract has only been delayed to the August letting.

The road is to be built with both state and Federal funds, and for this reason all plans and specifications must be approved by the State Highway Department and the Federal Public Roads administration. While specifications were being checked by both these agencies, and were finally approved, it was found the proper time could not be given for advertising the letting, therefore it was necessary to delay letting the contract until the August letting.

Original specifications required the portion of the road to be completed in 70 working days, but Judge Covey has received word that specifications will be changed requiring the work to be completed in 35 working days after the contract is let in August. Thus the delay in letting the contract won't mean a delay in completing the project, it was explained (Continued on Page Eight)

Mrs. Atkeison, Pioneer Citizen, Dies Thursday

A pall of sorrow was cast over citizens of this county this morning when news of the death of Mrs. V. H. Atkeison, beloved pioneer mother of Munday, was learned.

Although Mrs. Atkeison had been in ill health for a number of years, her death came as a shock to her many friends and loved ones. She died suddenly early Thursday morning.

Mrs. Atkeison had resided in Munday for many years, her husband being in the grocery business in Munday for over twenty-five years. She was a member of the Methodist church, and while in good health she faithfully attended services of the church.

Miss Clara Anderson Billingsley was born January 9, 1880, at Franklin, Arkansas. She moved to Chisholm, Texas, in Rockwall county, in 1896. She was married to W. H. Atkeison at Rockwall, Texas, in January, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkeison moved to Munday in 1906, where they have resided since. Mrs. Atkeison was 60 years, 6 months and 9 days of age.

Mrs. Atkeison is survived by her husband, W. H. Atkeison, and eight children, who are: R. D. Atkeison of Munday, Hollis or Spar and Henry Atkeison of Haskell, Miss Thelma Atkeison of Munday, Mrs. W. M. Huskinson of Munday, Mrs. E. M. Roberts of Amarillo, Mrs. J. L. Stall of Abilene and Miss Louise Atkeison of Munday.

She is survived by two brothers: A. L. Billingsley of Burbank, Calif., and M. F. Billingsley of Munday; six sisters, Mrs. E. S. Briggs, Rockwall; Mrs. Annie McCrummin, Burbank, Calif.; Mrs. E. A. Reinson, Fullerton, Calif.; Mrs. Lex Riggin, Fullerton, Calif.; Mrs. Cate Robinson and Mrs. Mary Porter of Ephrata, Washington. Grandchildren who survive her are: Agnes Ann and Dixie Nell Atkeison, Munday; Edwin Roberts, III, and Nancy Ann Roberts, Amarillo; Billy Marvin Huskinson, Munday, and Virginia Kay Stall, Abilene.

Funeral arrangements, which were incomplete at noon Thursday, are scheduled for Friday morning at 9 o'clock, with burial in Johnson cemetery. The Mahan Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Soil District For Conservation May Be Set Up

The State Soil Conservation Board has called a hearing in Benjamin on Tuesday morning, July 30 at ten o'clock to determine if an election should be held for the purpose of setting up a soil conservation district under the Texas law.

The proposed district will consist of the northern half of Haskell county and all of Knox county. The hearing will be open to anyone desiring to attend, and it should be attended by those wanting a soil conservation district created.

The hearing has been called in response to a petition sent in which was signed by 165 Knox county land owners and citizens. If a district is created, farmers of Knox and Haskell counties will become eligible for more assistance from other agencies. CCC camps are now being located in counties that have created districts.

A large attendance at the hearing will certainly show the state soil conservation board that Knox county farmers are interested in soil and water conservation work.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fitzgerald left last Tuesday for a ten-day vacation on Devils River.

Mrs. Bill Clarke of Knox City was a visitor in the city Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Haney of Wichita Falls were visitors here last Friday. They were accompanied home by their son, Jimmie Lee, who visited relatives here for several days.

Many To Attend Two-Days Session

Prominent Speakers

Local C. of C., Union Gin To Be Hosts At Banquet

The executive board of the Texas Farmers Union met here Tuesday in a short session, at which time the state convention was called and recessed until July 23 and 24. The meeting will convene at 8 a.m. Tuesday, July 23, when the Rhineland Lone Star Band will open the convention with appropriate music.

The convention will be called to order by Peter Loran, state president, at nine o'clock. The program will not be printed in full, as some changes are yet to be made.

Headlining speakers for the first day will be Hon. Harvey Solberg, state secretary of Colorado Farmers Union. Solberg is a student of cooperative economics and a crayon artist of much ability. He uses illustrations with his lecture, and no one can afford to miss this interesting lecture. C. E. Huff of Denver, former president of the National Grain Corporation, will speak the first day. He is probably the best informed man in organized agriculture today and has been both state and national president of the Farmers Union.

Word comes from Oklahoma that a carload of state and national Farmers Union men will be here for the convention.

A panel discussion in four sections will take place the first day, illustrating organization, cooperatives, legislation and public policy, and juniors and education.

The Munday Chamber of Commerce and Farmers Union Gin of Munday are sponsoring a banquet on the evening of July 23rd. Mr. George Mitchell from the Farm Security office at Washington will be the speaker. Mr. Mitchell knows the program the Federal government is offering, and he understands the relation the Farmers Union has to that program. He comes highly recommended and everyone is invited to hear Mr. Mitchell.

Ten local girls are needed as waitresses at the Chamber of Commerce banquet. Those who can serve are asked to get in touch with Wallace Reid.

Local Farmers Union members are also requesting that citizens open their homes to delegates on the night of July 23rd. Delegates will be here only one night, and those who have a bedroom available for them are asked to notify J. C. Rice or C. M. Matlock.

Mr. Dickson, president of the Arkansas Farmers Union and national board member, will make an address on the second day of the convention.

James G. Patton, Colorado Farmers Union president, will speak the second day. Mr. Patton is one of the recognized young agricultural leaders in the United States. He is frequently consulted by other national leaders, both in person and by phone. Many will be interested in hearing this speaker.

Judge Homer T. Bouldin of Albany, Texas, state president of the County Judges and Commissioners' Association of Texas, will assist as parliamentary adviser and impartial chairman.

This will be an educational convention, at which farmers will study farm problems. Every farmer who possibly can should attend both days of the convention. All farmers whether members of the organization or not, are cordially invited to sit in and hear this fine convention program.

KING COUNTY 4-H BOYS WIN PIG FEEDING CONTEST

A 4-H club pig feeding demonstration team from King county won first place in state competition at the Texas A. and M. short course which is now under way at College Station.

The team is composed of Cyril Holden, Lynn Futch and Billy Ray Harrison of the Finney community in King county. They were coached by R. O. Dunkle, county agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Blount of Paducah were business visitors in the city Tuesday.

FACING THE FACTS OF DEFENSE

In any sound defense program, the heavy responsibility of providing adequate arms and supplies must fall upon industry. It is no wonder, therefore, that the public is turning these days towards industry's leaders, anxious for their views on this number one problem.

It is encouraging on this account, to hear H. W. Prentiss, Jr., who because of the fact that he heads the National Association of Manufacturers express the attitude and the experience of thousands of industrialists, declare: "Just as American manufacturers have excelled the world in mass production in peace, they can also surpass the world in its use for defense."

Mr. Prentiss, however, adds a note of warning that should also be heeded. He points out that vast appropriations are not enough. We must have speed and surety and the part of government in deciding what is needed. And we must have a reasonable attitude—

"It will be damaging to real defense, disappointing to the nation, and unfair to industry," he warns, "to expect thousands of airplanes and tanks to roll off production lines in a week or two. Production lines of that magnitude simply do not exist in America today. You can't 'appropriate' a battleship, a tank, or an airplane—you can only appropriate the money..."

Mr. Prentiss drives home another point with needed force when he reminds us that "physical defense is not enough."

"The American people must rearm themselves spiritually and mentally. They must rededicate themselves to the institutions and the high principles they are preparing to defend. They must recognize that there is no substitute for personal toil and sacrifice and devotion. Only by firm adherence to our traditional American ideals, coupled with adequate military defense, can we be sure that the terrible price the democracies abroad are now paying will not be exacted from us."

Surely all Americans unite in the hope and the prayer that similar clear-headedness, similar understanding of our needs, will exist in the same measure in the minds of the responsible leaders of other groups in the nation!

FINDING MORE "PROJECTS"

Why are inventors so important? Why is there so much talk about the importance of industrial research in this country's welfare?

These aren't new questions, and they've been answered—more or less ably—by a number of people. But Charles F. Kettering, president of General Motors Research Corporation, came up recently with one of the clearest statements of the whole case that we have heard in some time.

Here's what Dr. Kettering, distinguished scientist and inventor in his own right, said:

"We are the only country in the world that ever had the peculiar kind of problem that we have got today. We have got excesses of men, money and materials. The only thing that means is that we haven't got any projects. We are one lap late, and everybody thinks we are ahead. In other words, we have got to broaden this industrial base of ours so that we supply new jobs, new projects to take up these excesses of men, money and materials."

There, in short and cogent words, the reason is offered why American industry is so actively engaged in research for new products and new ideas—"new projects" as Dr. Kettering calls them. Last year, $215,000,000 was spent on this type of work alone. And industry's enthusiasm in this cause, plus its proved ability, is one of the best auguries for the future we could possibly have!

BAHAMAS GOVERNOR

Divergent interpretations are being placed on the appointment of the Duke of Windsor as Governor of the Bahamas, a small group of islands between Florida and Cuba. The loss friendly view is that the Duke and his American-born wife are being exiled from England, to which they wished to return. The Duke's action in going to the Riviera for a vacation during France's most critical weeks, when he was supposed to be acting as a liaison officer between the British and French forces, is said to have alienated most of his remaining British friends and made his return to England impossible.

The other view is that the British want to attach more importance to the Bahamas post, which has been considered a minor appointment in the past and usually filled by some rising member of the Civil Service. The Bahamas, though of little economic value, have become a popular resort for wealthy Americans. It is virtually certain that the presence of the Duke of Windsor on the islands will spur the flow of American tourists in that direction. This outcome will have the double value of increasing Britain's dollars exchange for war purposes and of strengthening the bonds of friendship between the great English-speaking peoples.

At any rate, the people of the Bahamas seem jubilant over the appointment; and if wealthy Americans are attracted to the Bahamas as a result, this will offer a relatively painless way of helping the English in their desperate struggle against German aggression. Americans in general wish the Duke good fortune in his new job.—Dallas Morning News.

Practically seventy-one areas throughout the country are sharing in the Agricultural Department's surplus farm products.

TRIBUTE TO COOKS

There is no Legion of Honor title for ladies who give distinguished service in the kitchen, but any housewife who is discouraged by seeming lack of appreciation may find many literary records which should give her new inspiration.

One of the most sincere tributes to culinary achievement was made by Sir Thomas Lipton, the noted yachtsman, in his autobiography. Many years before he became famous as a tea merchant, he worked on a Virginia plantation where the life was hard. In fact, the only pleasant memory was the good taste of the griddlecakes which his landlady fried every morning.

Forty years later, when Sir Thomas was internationally famous as a good sportsman, he travelled 2,000 miles to get another taste of her griddlecakes, and give a banquet in her honor.

More men should follow Sir Thomas Lipton's example and express their appreciation of the queen cooks who serve them. Especially the wives whose skill is too often taken for granted without a word of praise.

"CHIEFLY U.S."

Vacations are a typically American activity. No other nation makes such a point of them. In fact, if you look in the dictionary at the word you'll find a little notation after one definition which reads simply: "Chiefly U.S."

Americans have built up a system where they can produce a lot of goods and services and still find time for the joys and pleasures of life. We now spend close to ten billion dollars a year just for amusement and recreation.

And we have the time as well as the opportunity to have holiday fun. In industry, for example, one out of every three working hours has become leisure time since 1890.

It makes an appealing picture in this, the "good old summer time"—millions of men, women and children at the beach, in the mountains, driving around in their cars exploring the country. It's something not matched in any other part of the world. And it's part of the American pattern—made possible by our business habits and abilities and based upon our traditional freedom—a pattern we'll do well to preserve!

LOSSES TOO

"We hear much about the profit motive. Some people speak of it as something sinister.

"Profits is the aim of the capitalistic system. Everybody understands that. But few understand, or acknowledge, that the capitalistic system also takes losses..."

"Under the capitalistic system the rewards or losses go to those who voluntarily assume the risk of a venture; but when the government puts its money into an undertaking, the profits or losses are distributed among all the citizens.

"An unprofitable private venture usually comes to a quick ending, but an unprofitable government venture may continue endlessly because, for political reasons, there may be no one to call a halt.

"For this reason private capitalism is the only system that has worked well in the long run. It isn't the perfect system, but it is the only one we know of that works."—From the William Feather Magazine.

Racing a train for a crossing is no fun when the race ends in a tie.

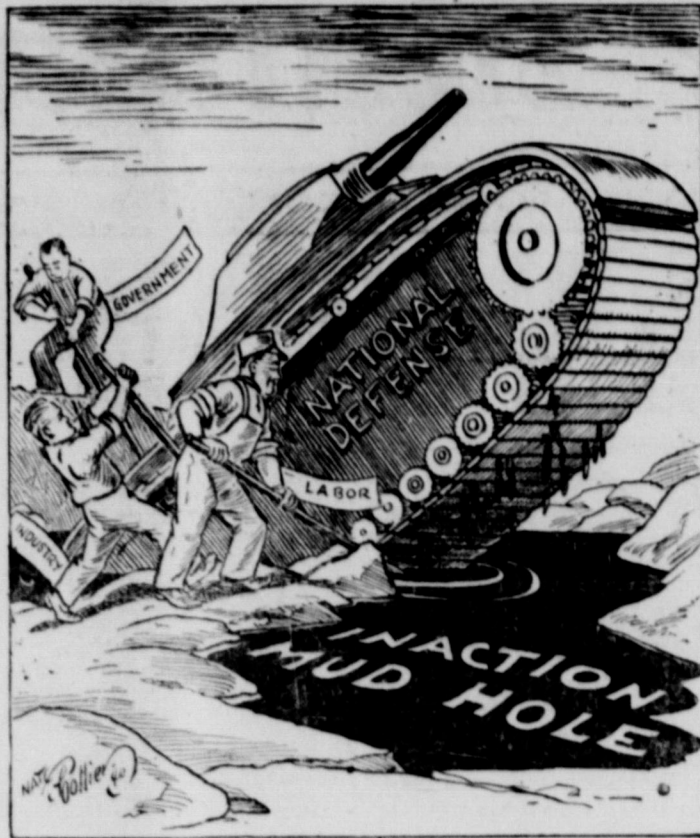

American medical associations were prosecuted as trusts within the meaning of the Sherman Act, and found guilty. A recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States refused to review a decision of the lower Court, and that means, according to law, that medicine is a "trade." Of course the medical profession will say that is wrong, but apparently their objection will go about as far as the objection against the dictionaries because those books spell so many words different from stenographers.

JOBS AND WAGES

Besides the new and useful services provided by this particular industry, it's predicted that by 1945 air conditioning activities in this country will have expanded 300 per cent.

Auto tires, costing less than half as much as in 1910, now last ten times as long.

TIME TO GET GOING!

THEY SAY!

Representative Rankin of Mississippi: "Communism and fascism are merely symptoms of the same disease. One is the chill and the other the fever of the dying liberties of mankind."

Howard Connely, chairman, Walworth Company: "We need government umpring of industry to protect individual rights but not government control; displacing or reducing to robots informed and experienced management."

"The issue of free speech is by no means confined to the interests of newspapers. The larger stake in the question is held by the American people. If the right of free speech is denied through suppression of the independent voice of newspapers, that of the people goes out also."—Charlotte (N.C.) Observer.

SCENIC BIG BEND ROAD ASSURED

Construction of an eight-mile highway through the scenic Big Bend was assured last week when the State Highway Department settled disputes over the right-of-way. Because of the disputes, building of the road had been delayed for about two years.

An appropriation of $56,000 has been made for the highway, which runs through the Davis Mountain State Park, from Fort Davis thru Limpia Canyon and to the Sawtooth mountain range. Construction on the road is scheduled to begin as soon as a contract award can be made.

NO WAR INTEREST

Austin, Tex.—Europe can keep her war. As far as reading goes, University of Texas students prefer the Civil War—and "Gone With the Wind."

According to library statistics released here today, Margaret Mitchell's Civil War romance is far ahead of its two nearest competitors on University popular reading shelves: John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath," and Prof. J. Frank Dobie's "Apache Gold and Yaqui Silver."

A total of 3,759 books were circulated from the collection between January and June.

Carl Patterson Makes Statement

To the Voters of Knox County: During the week of February 5, 1940, my announcement for office appeared in this paper, and in such announcement, I stated publicly that I desired that my friends keep the campaign on a high level, in keeping with the office I was seeking, or that of a County Judge, and asked that they help me keep the race clean.

So far as has come to my attention this has been done, and I assure you that I have kept my part of that pledge.

Now in the closing days of the campaign, let me again call your attention to the fact that neither personalities nor vituperation has any part in my political makeup, and I would not want any of my friends dealing in such, as has been fully explained by me during the campaign, and this will be the last in print over my name during the present campaign.

Let me thank each and every one of you for the encouragement you have given me, and your continued support on through the remaining days will be greatly appreciated, and if elected to this office, let me assure you that I will do my utmost to see that your confidence has not been misplaced. Your vote for a promotion will be appreciated very much.

BULK OF WHEAT GOING UNDER LOAN

Indications are that more than 90 per cent of the 1940 wheat harvested in the major wheat counties of Texas will be placed under government loan.

Reports from county AAA offices and an inspection tour of the major counties indicate that nearly all the wheat producers in 123 counties will take advantage of the loan offered by the Commodity Credit Corporation, P. C. Colgin, state wheat loan supervisor, predicted. During June, the first month in which the loan was offered, 257 loans were made on a total of 205,436 bushels. The supervisor expects the amount of loan wheat to greatly exceed the 15,759,986 bushels, representing 10,807 loans, stored last year in both farm storage bins and warehouses.

Greater emphasis is being placed this year on the advantages of farm storage of loan wheat, and much of the wheat placed under the loan will be stored on the farm in counties eligible for that type of storage. Held over under the extension of the 1939 loan were 187,452 bushels of wheat in farm storage.

Three main reasons why the loan is attracting more wheat this year than last were listed by Colgin: (1) the loan rate is equal to or a little above the current market price; (2) producers who availed themselves of the loan last year netted a profit by holding their wheat for a better market; (3) the loan makes it possible for the producer to realize some cash return immediately and at the same time keep possession of his wheat while awaiting a market upturn.

Charlie Blount Reviews Record

Charlie Blount of Cottle county has been in the county the past several days working in behalf of his candidacy for the office of District Attorney. Charlie states that he has made an honest effort to personally contact each and every voter of Knox county, but those who he has missed he respectfully solicits your vote and will appreciate every consideration given him.

Mr. Blount is married and has two children, a girl ten years of age and a boy six years of age. He was born and reared on a farm in Cottle county, and attended the public schools of Paducah. He graduated from law school when but 18 years of age and being too young to receive his license he worked one year in a law office at Paducah and from there he went to the State of New Mexico, where, with the special permission of the Attorney General, he served two years as Assistant District Attorney. Upon reaching his majority he returned to his home at Paducah and entered the private practice of law. He is now serving his fifth year as county attorney of his home county. Charlie states that while serving as county attorney he has not only prosecuted the misdemeanor cases of the county as well as being legal adviser to the county officials but has worked with all of the grand juries and has assisted in the prosecution of all important felony cases tried in the county. He has practiced in the lower courts, the District Courts, the Courts of Civil Appeals, the Court of Criminal Appeals and the Supreme Court of Texas.

Charlie states that if the voters of this district see fit to honor him with this important office he has but one promise to make. That he will seriously and solemnly dedicate himself to the making of that confidence, to the making of an honest, fearless and upright officer, impartial and unbiased, with fear of favor to none, but with fairness and justice to all be he high and rich or lowly and poor. He invites the people to investigate his record as a man, husband and father, as a citizen and as a public official.

TEEN AGE TREATS

Impromptu parties are dearly loved by the teen age boys and girls—particularly parties where they can help themselves. The wise mother, therefore, who wishes to keep her youngsters from straying too far from home sees to it that the refrigerator, bread box and cookie jar are well-stocked against any sudden invasion by these hungry young hordes.

Toasted cheese sandwiches are always in high favor because they are hearty and can be quickly put together. So here are directions for making three different kinds of these sandwiches that will fit just about any occasion likely to arise in the affairs of these young people.

When ferocious appetites demand a regular meal after some strenuous fun, these hearty cheese and bacon sandwiches will just fill the bill.

OPEN CHEESE AND BACON SANDWICHES
2 eggs
2 cups grated or finely chopped cheese (about 1/2 lb.)
1 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
1/2 tsp. salt

Beat eggs well. Stir in the cheese, Worcestershire Sauce, salt, paprika, and cayenne pepper. Toast slices of bread on one side. Remove from toaster or broiler. Spread untoasted side of each slice with the cheese mixture. Cut slices of bacon the length of the bread slices, and lay 2 strips on top of the cheese mixture on each slice of bread. Broil about 8 to 10 minutes; or toast in a very hot oven (500° F.) until bacon is crisp and cheese is melted. This will make 6 or 8 sandwiches, depending on the size of the slices of bread.

FOR QUICK SNACKS
For a snack at midnight—or perhaps a mid-afternoon lurch around a backyard grill—these toasted sandwiches will be just right. They used to be called "cheese dreams," I believe.

TOASTED CHEESE SANDWICHES
Place thin slices of cheese between 2 thin slices of bread—having the cheese reach way to the edges. Sauté sandwiches in butter in a heavy frying pan until golden brown—first on one side, then on the other (having the pan hot, but cooking the sandwich slowly); or toast under the broiler until golden brown on each side.

STRICTLY FEMININE
If the girls are having a little party all to themselves on an afternoon, tricky little rolled cheese sandwiches will be exactly the thing to serve with a cup of tea or cocoa.

DAINTY CHEESE SANDWICHES
(For Afternoon Tea)
Remove crusts from very thin slices of bread. Butter lightly. Sprinkle grated yellow cheese over each slice. Roll up, and fasten securely with a wooden pick. Place rolls far apart in the baking pan and toast in a very hot oven (500° F.); or toast under the broiler until a delicate brown.

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

Lead in Game Projects

Austin, Tex.—Game restoration in Texas is moving at a more rapid rate than at any time in the history of the state. The Texas Game Commission is taking many steps to restock areas now depleted of game and too, by improving habitat, increase game on many other areas.

That Texas is among the leaders in game restoration is attested by a recent report of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which shows there are now 196 federal aid projects under way in 43 of the 48 states. That is an average of four to a state. Texas is using federal aid funds under terms of the Pittman-Robertson Act to finance six projects. Several others have been submitted to the federal bureau for approval and probably will be inaugurated soon, it is announced by the executive secretary of the Game Department.

Federal funds finance three-fourths of Pittman-Robertson projects and the state provides the other one-fourth. Texas, projects include state-wide survey of game, state wide-improvement of quail habitat areas, trapping and transplanting of antelope, turkey and deer trapping and transplanting. Javelina trapping and transplanting and a survey of the bighorn mountain sheep.

Whitewing Dove Strays
A whitewing dove is reported by F. L. Roark of Cleveland, Texas, as sighted in Liberty County near the Trinity River. That is a long way from the natural habitat of whitewings in Texas, which is the Rio Grande Valley. That bird strayed farther than any other reported to the State Game Department, but whitewings are being forced to increase their nesting areas primarily due to the fact that much of their nesting area in the Valley is being cleared of vegetation. Game Department biologists studying the birds believe.

Whitewings were observed last year nesting as far north as Medina County, which is near San Antonio. Hunting was good in that section last fall.

Due to the fact that much of the brush native to the valley is being uprooted to make way for agricultural practice whitewings are not only expanding their nesting areas, but many have taken to nesting in the citrus trees of the Valley. Some fruit growers have feared that the whitewings would damage their oranges, lemons and grapefruits by pecking holes in them. However, Game Department biologists point out that this would be difficult for doves due to the fact that they have extremely soft bills and weak feet. They are almost entirely ground feeders and it is not likely they could pierce the citrus fruit during its green stage, which is at the time when whitewings are in the Valley. The birds migrate in October and early November.

Hunters addicted to whitewing shooting will be glad to know that reports to the Game Department indicate a better nesting season for whitewings than at any time in several years.

Destroying Illegal Trotlines

Game wardens in many sections of Texas are campaigning vigorously against illegal trotlines and scores of them, 500 to 1,000 feet long and equipped with illegal hook and line traps, have been found and destroyed. Many game fish as well as catfish are caught on trotlines. One outfit found recently had 2,000 expensive, needle-point hooks on it and probably cost $50. The hooks were not baited, but the line was set in zig-zag style across a channel and hundreds of fish were hooked in the sides by these "daggers."

Two wardens had a terrific battle with a 43-pound catfish caught on one of these "dagger-point hook" equipped lines, but finally subdued the cat and took it to an orphanage. All illegal game and fish confiscated by the Game Department representatives is donated to charitable organizations in various parts of the state.

About Fish Sanctuaries
Waters which have been declared fish sanctuaries by the State Game Department are closed to all activities connected with fishing, the executive secretary of the Department warns and pointed out specifically that it is illegal to seine for minnows in the sanctuaries.

It is unlawful for any person to fish in any sanctuary with nets, trotlines, seines, hooks and lines, artificial bait or otherwise in any manner take or catch or remove any fish from any sanctuary under penalty of a minimum fine of $25, and a maximum fine of $200.

HOME FROM SCHOOL
Hal Pendleton, who has been attending A. and M. College during the first six weeks of summer school, came in last week to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pendleton.

County Agent W. W. Rice of Benjamin was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Utter Smartness

The vogue for big pockets is smartly carried out in this play suit worn by Lucile Fairbanks, Warner Bros. player. Of rose-colored cotton zigzag in white, the play suit has a flared skirt with one large pocket of rose or the right hip and with the yoke and sleeves of the same fabric. Cotton play suits have gained in popularity throughout the nation this year the National Cotton Council reports.

Bridge Party Is Held Wednesday In Edgar Home

Mrs. Aaron Edgar entertained with two tables of bridge at her home on Wednesday morning. High score at the games went to Mrs. Carl Jungman.

The hostess served a delicious refreshment plate to Mesdames Carl Jungman, Grady Roberts, Jack Mayes, W. E. Braly, T. G. Bengel, Don Ferris, Earl Keese of Stamford, and Miss Cloe Mayo.

Weekly Health

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M.D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin, Texas, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, states that infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur during any month of the year, over half the total cases occur during July, August, September and October. Through June 30, fifty-three cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) had been reported to the State Health Department.

Direct contact between persons is the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been demonstrated. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to a minimum of human contact during any outbreak of the disease.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, bowel disorder, drowsiness and irritability, followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures.

After the acute stage of the disease has been passed and walking is permitted the patient, un-

Knox County's Gold Star Girl Does Bedroom Improvement As Her Project

Leota Patterson of Vera who recently received her award for being the Gold Star Club Girl, is working on bedroom improvement again this year. The results of last year's work were so gratifying that Leota plans to continue adding to her improvements each year.

Among the changes made were the rearrangement of furniture, addition of a closet and shades and curtains to the windows. A dressing table stool was made from a nail keg and pictures were rehung and some new ones added.

After learning something of the correct arrangement of furniture Leota saw improvements which she could make by placing her bed where it gets more air and by giving more light to her dressing table. No piece of furniture was left across a corner. After being reminded that pictures should not be hung so as to necessitate throwing one's head back to see them, the pictures were rehung and some replaced by more appropriate ones.

Study of good care of the bedroom revealed to Leota that she had not been caring for her bed in the best possible manner. She is now making slip covers to keep the dust from her springs and protect her mattress and practices correct bedmaking each day. A blanket and washable bedspreads were added to the bed also.

Records which Leota has kept of other work as well as bedroom improvement have done a great deal to show other club girls the value of making long time plans and keeping records.

At The Churches

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
We greatly appreciate the space that the editor of this paper is giving us in this issue concerning our meeting. We wish to extend a cordial invitation to those of other churches to attend the services. If you sing we will be happy to have you in the choir. Come and be at home in the services. You will enjoy the music and the preaching. Bro. Williams is reputed to be a very excellent song director. Bro. Short did the preaching in two meetings in this vicinity last year—Knox City and Rochester. They are still talking about those meetings. We will be happy to welcome everyone, of whatever faith, to the services.

THE METHODIST CHURCH
Rev. T. M. Johnston, our District Superintendent, will preach for us this next Sunday at eleven o'clock. Those who have heard Rev. Johnston know that he has a message and delivers it well. You will be interested in hearing him at this time. The Quarterly Conference will be held in connection with this service.

Because of the beginning of the revival at the Baptist church we will not hold our evening services as usual. It is customary and we are glad to abide the custom and hear Rev. Short in their evening services at 8:15. It is my hope that our people will hear him often during this series of services.

Many have been asking about the date of our revival this summer. We are beginning the 4th of August but in such a way as not to interfere with the closing of the revival preceding. Detailed information will be given next week in The Munday Times.

This has been a year of advances in material things by way of working our church property over and making it more beautiful and usable than our fondest hopes would admit earlier in the year. Now our revival season brings us results beyond our fondest expectations. I think God is ready to fulfill his part toward a great revival in Munday, if you and I can qualify great things will take place; God grant that they may!

Thanks for the slight increase in Sunday School attendance last Sunday. eB with us again, won't you?

Candidate For District Judge

It is a pleasure for The Munday Times to publish this short article in behalf of a Knox county man who is a candidate for the office of Judge of the 50th Judicial District of Texas. Knox county's own son, our present District Attorney, Lewis Williams.

More than 38 years ago Lewis, parents brought him while he was still a small boy, to a farm about 8 miles from Munday where he resided until he completed his education. In 1926, Lewis moved from Munday to Benjamin, Texas, and in 1934 was elected County Attorney of this county, and served in that capacity until 1936. In 1936 Mr. Williams was elected by one of the biggest majorities any man ever polled in a district race. And for the past four years Mr. Williams has served this District as District Attorney, and during that time he has continued to reside in Benjamin, Knox county, and we might say that he is the only District Attorney ever elected from Knox county, and the only District Attorney of this District to ever reside in Knox county during his tenure of office. It goes without saying that his experience in the private practice of law and as County Attorney of Knox county and his four years experience as District Attorney will be invaluable to him if you elect him your District Judge, and that this experience has amply qualified him in every way to fill that high office.

Mr. Williams was married in 1922, and has one son 16 years of age, who expects to enter the State University next year to begin his study of law. Mr. Williams for more than 30 years has been an active member of the church, has served as Sunday School Superintendent, and for many years taught a large Bible Class. Mr. Williams has stated in his speeches and to his friends that for many years he had had an ambition to be District Judge and that during the four years he has served as District Attorney he has made a close and careful study of the office and duties of the District Judge that he might be better prepared to fill the office.

It might be proper to state here that that it has often been remarked, that the bitterest foes and the strongest critics of Lewis Williams admit that he has made a real District Attorney and one of the best the District has ever had.

So in closing may we say that we are glad to give this little writeup to a home county man, we believe he possesses all the qualifications and equipment needed to fill the office he is asking for—and that a vote to promote Lewis Williams from the District Attorney to the District Judge's office will not be misplaced.

Voters Backing National Leaders

Washington, D.C., July 15, 1940—All recent primaries indicate the re-election of all member of Congress from the Southern States. Thus far not a sitting member from the Southern States has been defeated for re-election.

The Oklahoma primaries occurring on July 9 returned all sitting members with large majorities even though none of such members were able to return to their district for any speeches or campaigns of any kind.

Opinion in Washington is that the folks back home feel that Congress is doing its best to prepare our country against attack and to deal adequately with the problems of National Defense, and that members who have worked hard and familiarized themselves with the situation should be re-elected.

Texas Firemen Wage Fight On Insurance Hike

Texas volunteer firemen who obtained a $2,500,000 annual saving last year to Texans on residential and other fire insurance, this week appealed to farmers, ginners and others to assist in preventing unreasonable increases in rural insurance rates which have been proposed by insurance companies before the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners.

In an article released today, Bayne Satterfield, editor of the Texas Fireman, stated that much of the saving obtained by the ten per cent reduction on dwellings, and other rates last year would be wiped out if the proposals to increase gin, farm, cotton while ginning and other rural insurance went into effect.

The Texas Fireman's editor gave much credit for the savings effected last year to Olin Culberson, rate expert and executive secretary of the fireman's organization for the past 22 years. Culberson, former chief of the Gas Utilities division of the Texas Railroad Commission, has been following volunteer fire fighting and prevention work as a serious hobby for more than 25 years.

Proposals before the insurance commission include an increase on farm risks of 25 cents for non-standard fires; a new charge of 25 cents for the use of kerosene or gasoline unapproved cook stoves and heaters and an increase of 10 cents on the tenant charge. The firemen of Texas are opposing all increases, Satterfield's article said, on the grounds they are unreasonable; that the earnings of fire insurance companies are already beyond the rate allowed by law and would far exceed the limit if the increases were allowed and on the grounds that automatic additional penalties assessed this year by reason of bad fire records would take care of the heavier losses last year.

"The tremendous saving resulting from our efforts last year was due largely to Olin Culberson's rate making experience, and with outside help from the farmers, the ginners' association, and other affected, increases in the rate can be forestalled," Satterfield said. "We appeal to farmers and owners of farm risk property to join with Texas firemen to urge Senators and Representatives to protest the unreasonable proposals."

These Goree Men Know Gardening

Two Goree men have evidence of the fact that their territory can produce garden vegetables of a superior quality.

Mack Tynes, Goree ice dealer, and home gardener, exhibited a cabbage last week which weighed 15 1/2 pounds, which he had grown in his garden. It was of the early Wakefield variety, the seed being planted in January.

Another successful gardener is E. N. Miller, whose tomato crop compared favorably with those grown in any other section of the state. He has counted 186 tomatoes on one vine.

Report of the state auditor shows that Knox county received $22,425 rural aid last fiscal year, out of a total of $5,386,825 distributed over Texas, Supt. S. R. LeMay of Athens pointed out this week.

LeMay has proposed distribution of rural aid funds by an automatic method, free of political pressure, so that schools may know in advance how to plan their budgets. He is a candidate for state superintendent.

"Lacking confidence in the present administration of the Department of Education, the Legislature several years ago created a joint legislative committee to supervise rural aid," LeMay said. "I intend to restore confidence of the public and the legislature in the Department."

A graduate of both A. and M. and the University of Texas, holding four college degrees, LeMay has served in the Texas public school system for more than 25 years.

Marketing One-variety Cotton Co-operatively

In 1939, about 100,000 cotton farmers in 1,500 one-variety communities scattered throughout the Cotton Belt planted more than 2 3-4 million acres of cotton of improved quality. Despite improvements in the quality of their cotton, farmers in many of these communities failed to realize full benefits from their one-variety cotton programs because of unsatisfactory marketing practices in local markets where they sell their cotton.

It was for the purpose of improving such marketing practices that the Classified Cotton Marketing Association was established at Munday, Texas, last year by the members of eight one-variety communities located in Baylor, Knox, Haskell, and Stonewall counties. Almost 1,350 farmers are members of these one-variety communities. The total acreage in 1939 was about 65,000 acres. About three-fourths of this acreage was planted to Acala cotton. Three of the communities planted Mebane, Delta Pine Land, and Northern Star varieties. All these varieties produce cotton with a staple length of around 1 inch or longer.

In many of the local markets in this area—as in a number of other areas in the Cotton Belt—it is customary for buyers to purchase cotton from farmers on an average or "hog-round" basis. That is, buyers pay farmers the same price for cotton irrespective of its grade and staple length. The prices paid are based on the average quality of the cotton sold. Since a large amount of short-staple cotton may also be sold in the same local markets as the better-quality cotton produced by one-variety community farmers, the hog-round system of buying obviously fails to reward farmers for producing the higher-quality cotton.

Another defect of many farmers' local markets is the lack of effective competition in maintaining the proper level of prices in the market. Evidence of this is the small number of buyers in some of the local markets—a condition due primarily to the small volume of cotton sold. Obviously, an adequate price level as well as premiums for the higher quality must be reflected in prices received by the one-variety producers if they are to obtain maximum benefits from their improvement in quality.

The marketing association at Munday, like the one-variety communities, is unincorporated and is set up on an informal cooperative basis. Membership is confined to those producers who use the services of the association. The business affairs of the association are under the general supervision of a board of 5 directors. In order that the farmers in each county may be assured representation on the board of directors, the bylaws provide that the members in each county shall select one of their number to serve on the board. The four directors thus elected select the other board members. In the selection of directors and in all other matters each member of the association have one and only one vote. The day-to-day operations of the association are carried on by a manager hired by the board of directors. The by-laws specify that the manager must be a U.S. Government licensed classifier.

The directors selected Munday as the location for the association's office because this town is centrally located and could best serve all the one-variety communities. The Chamber of Commerce and the Farmers Union Cooperative Gin provided suitable office space free of charge. The office is centrally located in the downtown business section and is equipped with skylights to facilitate the accurate classing of cotton.

Operating Methods
The association operates on a brokerage or commission basis. For each bale sold, the manager collects 42 cents. The association keeps 2 cents of this amount for incidental expenses and pays the manager the other 40 cents. For this fee the contract between the manager and board of directors provides that the manager shall pay all expenses of operating the business. In addition to the commission paid the manager, he also obtains the income from the sale of loose cotton. By operating in this manner it is not necessary for the farmers to furnish any capital and the only expense to them for selling cotton through the association is the 42 cents per bale.

All cotton is sold on the basis of samples. Upon instructions from the farmer, the ginner arranges for the sampling of the cotton and for the delivery of the samples to the sales office at Munday. If the farmer's cotton is at a gin point from which it is customary for the cotton to move to a local or nearby compress, the farmer's bale is trucked from the gin to the compress. Upon delivery at the press, a warehouse receipt is issued and the bale sampled. This receipt, which is a negotiable instrument, shows the name of the producer, the bonded gin number, bale weight, number of the bale, and type of bagging (jute or cotton). The compress sample is cut from both sides of the bale and contains a coupon showing the name and location of the compress and the bale number. If the farmer's cotton is at a gin point from which the cotton moves by railroad to a press, the ginner samples the cotton and inserts a coupon showing the number and weight of the bale and type of bagging. The name of the owner of the cotton is also furnished by the ginner. The samples, together with the warehouse receipts, are either brought to the office of the association by the ginner or sent to him express, c.o.d.

On the morning of the sale, the manager classes all samples that have been received and puts them up in lots of the same quality. Each lot is assigned a number for purposes of identification.

Representatives of cotton firms operating in the territory are notified when sales are to be held. The buyers generally come to the sales office around 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning and class the cotton on a basis of bidding. All bids are based on the close of New York futures contracts on the date of the sale. The cotton from compress points is sold on the basis of compress weights. If the cotton is at a gin point, sales are made on the basis of gin weights guaranteed by the gin.

Sealed Bids
Soon after the close of the New York futures market, the buyers submit sealed bids on the various lots of cotton which they wish to buy. The bids are then opened in the presence of the buyers and the cotton is sold to the highest bidder. The manager, however, may reject the bids on any particular lot, if, in his judgment the bid prices are not as high as he thinks they should be. The market manager receives the daily market news letter of the Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. This market news letter, together with price information obtained from other sources, enables him to keep well informed on cotton values.

After the sale, the buyers give shipping instructions on the cotton they have bought. On the basis of these instructions, the necessary shipping documents are prepared. A bill of lading is then obtained and a draft drawn on the buyer.

The sales proceeds from each lot, less the association's commission, compress charge, if any, and bank exchange are then prorated among the farmers having cotton in that lot. Checks are made out to the farmers and sent to the farmers' gin for distribution. In order that the farmer may know the quality of his cotton and have a record of the sale, an invoice is attached to each check. This invoice or sales receipt shows the name of the farmer, bale number, weight of bale, grade and staple of the cotton, gross amount, itemized list of all deductions (42 cents commission, compress charges, if any, and bank exchange), and the net amount. If an allowance was obtained for cotton bagging, the amount of this allowance—usually around 60 cents per bale—is also shown on the sales slip.

During the first week or so of the 1939 marketing season, sales were made on the average of three times a week. As the volume of ginning increased, sales were held daily. Daily sales ranged from around 100 bales to as much as 300 bales. There were usually 10 or more cotton firms represented at each sale, the number including some of the largest cotton firms in the United States, many of which have world-wide outlets. The names of some of the cotton firms represented at the sales indicate the type of buyers who patronize the association. They were as fol-

During the first session (1939-40) more than 4,500 bales of cotton, with a total sales value of over $200,000 were sold through the Classified Cotton Marketing Association. According to County Agent Walter W. Rice, prices received by farmers were much higher than if they had marketed their cotton individually. Furthermore, every bale was sold on the basis of its merits. Prices received by growers for cotton sold through the association averaged 8.83 cents per pound, which was only 0.06 cents per pound below Government quotations for cotton of the same description in the Dallas markets. In this connection it should be pointed out that the freight rate on cotton from Dallas to Texas ports is 0.43 cents per pound, or 0.16 cent per pound lower than the freight rate from Munday and nearby points to the port. Allowing the difference in freight rates, the average price at Munday was 0.10 cent a pound, or 50 cents a bale higher than prices at Dallas, which is one of the largest spot-cotton markets in the country.

Some of the more important factors contributing to the success of the marketing association were:

1. A definite need on the part of the one-variety producers for an organization through which they could sell their cotton on the basis of quality and at the highest possible price.
2. A volume of cotton sufficient to attract a large number of buyers and thereby create a highly competitive market.
3. The providing, through the association, of a convenient means whereby farmers for a small per-bale fee could have their cotton sold by their own representative, an experienced cotton salesman. Such an arrangement obviously farmers in a stronger bargaining position than would have been the case if they had sold their cotton individually.
4. An organization set-up simple and easily understood by the farmer. The member is not required to make an investment in the association, since settlements are not made until after the cotton is sold, and all operating costs are paid by the manager for a stipulated per-bale fee deducted from sales proceeds.

Although the next marketing season is still several months away, arrangements are already being made to inform farmers who did not patronize the association last year of the results obtained and the advantages to be gained

Texas War Games Damage Highways In East Texas

Austin, Texas.—Recent war maneuvers in East Texas damaged the State Highway System to the extent that the Commission at its July 1st meeting authorized the Department to make immediate repairs to the following highways:

State Highway 87, Newton county: 16.0 miles from Newton to a point 2.2 miles north of Burkeville; strengthen base, apply asphaltic prime and seal coat.

U.S. Highway 190, Newton county: 7.4 miles from Jasper County line to Newton, strengthen base, apply asphaltic prime and seal coat.

U.S. Highway 190, Newton county: 12.7 miles from Newton to the Sabine river bridge; apply asphaltic seal coat.

U.S. Highway 190, Jasper county: 7.3 miles from Jasper to the Newton county line; strengthen base, apply asphaltic seal and prime coat.

Since the maneuvers are to be continued, the repairs authorized are necessarily of a temporary nature and work will begin at once.

WHAT IS MALT?..

and how is it used in making beer and ale?

BARLEY

Answer: Brewers' malt is barley that has had its starches modified. The barley is first permitted to "sprout" by the addition of moisture. At the right instant, the growth is checked by heat and the sprouts are removed.

What remains is malt . . . the essential base of all good beer and ale.

Every step in the brewing of good beer and ale has been taught by centuries of experience. Today, amazingly expert brewers—using only the purest ingredients—make beer and ale the mild, tasty, wholesome beverages that they are.

Now the brewing industry is taking action to keep the retailing of beer as wholesome as beer itself. A plan to eliminate abuses is already in effect in a number of states. It is being extended. Ask us for an interesting free booklet.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

Like a figure from the pages of history, he stood at the attorney's table in federal court in Fort Worth—his snowy hair carefully brushed and his form erect despite his four-score year.

His long, black coat and the stiff collar with the black string tie suggested the days "befo' de wah" when Alexander H. Stephens practiced in the courts of Georgia.

As the judge turned to him, he inclined his head with the deference of the Old South, and handed up a copy of his petition—no typewritten manuscript, but page after page in pen and ink.

Beginning to state his case, the aged man—in spite of valiant efforts—found his voice quavering and occasionally he paused, for the words did not come as readily as they had, half a century ago.

In a kindly tone, the judge inquired: "Do you have a license to practice law?"

"Yes, your honor," and he drew from his pocket a faded document, almost worn in two at the creases—his license to appear before Supreme Court of the United States.

In response to another question, he admitted the defendants had not been cited and the judge explained that they must be given notice before the matter could be heard.

The lawyer stood silent and there was no sound in the old courtroom except the ticking of the clock, unnaturally loud in the stillness.

Then the bailiff, himself a man whose hair was tinged with gray, gently touched the lawyer on the sleeve.

Rousing as if from a dream, the attorney donned his long, black overcoat, and, after bowing with a courtly grace that included everyone in the room, walked down the corridor and out into the twilight of a winter's day.

Jerry Sadler favors a tax on oil, gas and sulphur to pay the pensions and he makes this comment on W. Lee ODaniel, who favors a transaction tax, "The Governor wants to save the poor men's souls and the rich men's money."

More jokes for the contest:

When accused of being afraid of work, a darkey denied it: "I ain't scared of work; just show me the 'ardest job you can find an' I can say right down by it and go to sleep."

It was said of another darkey, "He ain't got no stomach for work, he throws up every job he gets."

Two men were in a car and one of them, getting out at a farm house to ask about the road, stopped when a barking dog came rushing toward him. The man in the auto said, "Go ahead; you know a barking dog never bites." His friend answered, "Yes, I know it and you know it, but the question

Eastland memory:

Of all those who sat around in the shade of the trees in the courthouse yard, Aleck (let's call him) was the best on getting a "sell." He would put in ten minutes of rambling, innocent remarks just to disarm suspicion so that the victim would ask the fatal question, the answer to which sent the group into guffaws.

And he was the champion knife-swapper. His greatest achievement in this line began on a Monday morning when a friend gave him an old knife as being absolutely worthless. Aleck cleaned it up and sharpened it and then he began swapping, each time getting a little more "to boot." On Saturday afternoon he sold the knife that he then had for a whole dollar in cash, and to the very man who had given him the one he had started the week with. Of course, the same amount of effort and ingenuity in the realm of business would have brought a lot more money, but not as much fun.

Aleck ran a little hotel down near the county jail. One evening, the jailer discovered—in making his rounds—that a cell was empty; the occupant had escaped during the afternoon. A little questioning developed that the hotel-man had seen the prisoner climb out the second story of the jail and drop to the ground but had given no alarm. His explanation was "I was afraid it would hurt my business."

It is a pleasure for the Banner to have this opportunity to speak a word in behalf of a candidate for the office of Judge of the 50th Judicial District—J. Donnell Dickson. This pleasure is enhanced by the fact that Mr. Dickson has made the community one of its best citizens, with many public services performed, and all without self-seeking or desire for praise.

Mr. Dickson's parents, Judge and Mrs. Jo A. P. Dickson, came to Seymour at a time when the town and county were in a formative stage, and they have had no small influence in shaping the destiny of the place. They were here when living conditions were not easy, and when nothing was thought of the sacrifices that were incident to pioneer life.

J. Donnell was born in Seymour, received his early training in the schools of the city, and came back here after he had finished his college education. After graduating from Seymour High School, he attended the University of Texas and Cumberland University. After receiving his license to practice law he was appointed county attorney of Baylor county in 1923 and served until 1926, when he engaged in the private practice of law, becoming associated with his father in the latter's extensive practice.

In 1932 Mr. Dickson was elected district attorney, for the same district which he now seeks to serve as judge, and was in that position until 1936, when he again retired to his private practice. It would hardly be necessary to say that the experience that was gained in the position of attorney would be invaluable to Mr. Dickson in the office of judge. And the experience he had gained as district attorney and in his private practice is such as would qualify him in every way for the office he now seeks.

Mr. Dickson married the daughter of O. P. Caldwell, and they have one son, living at a nice home in the suburbs of Seymour. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson are active in church work and in other community activities.

This, in brief, is history of this candidate for Judge. Should the record be given in full it might prove embarrassing to Mr. Dickson, as he himself may not realize how valuable a man he has been to this town and to this part of the state. He has served two terms as secretary of the local chamber of commerce, and his cheerful and faithful work there would have fully proved his worth, if any proof of that had been needed. Donnell, as he is still familiarly known by many warm friends, not only at this place but over the district, has been ready and willing whenever he has been called upon, for any service along the line of his practice, or at any other place where he felt that he might be of service. And it may confidentially be said that he had never yet launched upon an undertaking of any kind that he has not carried to its successful conclusion.

And what Mr. Dickson has been able to do has been with a becoming modesty that has endeared him to all who have known him. Should he be favored with the office of district judge, then the duties of that office would be carried out as perfectly as it would be possible for any man to carry them out; and it would be done in a quiet and unassuming way that would make you like him, even though he might have to oppose you in his official capacity.

But the chances are that Mr. Dickson would not oppose you unless you were wrong. He has a deep sense of fairness, and no consideration of money or friendship or political preference could impel him to take a stand that would not be justified by the circumstances and facts and the law in the case.

In fact, while making this little mention of Donnell's candidacy, it would be hard to think of a qualification for this office, or a single qualification for good citizenship that J. Donnell Dickson does not have, and if this district should see fit to choose him for this important place, then no uneasiness need be felt over the fact that the district is losing a judge who has served as one of the most able in the state. A vote for this candidate would not be misplaced.—The Baylor County Banner.

Why we Should Return W. D. McFARLANE TO Congress

We Need McFarlane in Congress:—

Because we need a dependable worker and fighter like him in our National Congress now, in the most critical period of American history.

Because we should not let sentiment or custom or anything else determine selection of men for our National Defense program. The important thing is to have a man on duty who knows how and will get the job done.

Because his long experience and fine record of DILIGENT SERVICE qualifies him for that responsible job.

Because this district, the state, and the nation can use to our best advantage his seniority and place on the powerful Naval Affairs and Appropriations Committees where he was given great responsibility.

Because when he is in Washington he does not forget his promises and does not forget his constituents. A letter, a telegram or request for any assistance or service, regardless of how small, always got definite, prompt action.

Because as a close friend the President knows he can depend on McFarlane in our present National Defense Program. As a man who actually served in the last war, he has our defense problems at heart.

Because he will be diligent in consideration to moral and other issues, the same as he has been active at home in church, school, lodge and civic affairs. We know his sincerity and diligence in moral, religious, and civic affairs. In office or out, he works with and for the common people and all alike.

Because he was not too dignified to give attention to the humblest man, woman, boy, or girl, whether in Washington or back here in the district. He is a real man and a man's man.

We need him back in Congress now.

"...I've had my electric range only a short time...but never before have I had such perfect results. My kitchen is several degrees cooler than in previous summers and I've done less scrubbing than ever before in my life!"—MRS. W. E. HARDIN, Clarendon.

"My electric range is so easy to clean, so dependable, and, above all, so very safe. It's the last word in cooking economy!"—MRS. T. B. KLEPPER, Crowell.

"I like my new electric range even better than my old one. It makes my kitchen look nicer...and it cooks faster. Then, too, I like the flat, highly cleaned surface which is so convenient for holding dishes until ready to serve."—MRS. T. C. PRICE, Bronie.

"... Since getting our electric range, I have to clean less than I ever did before in my kitchen work. It is always ready to use—just flip a switch. I find it quite economical and I know that I am doing the best and easiest cooking I have ever done."—MRS. AUSTIN A. DOAK, Vernon.

IF Electric Cookery had no other virtue, its cleanliness alone would make it far superior to all other methods. Pots and pans stay bright as a new dollar, your kitchen neat and clean as a pin. No streaked walls. No smoke. No soot. No excess steam to condense on surfaces where dust accumulates. You can cook—and stay fresh. Before you buy any range, see the modern Electric Range. plained, since it must be completed within 35 days instead of 70 days. Judge Covey stated the contract is now definitely on the August letting, and the road project has not been withdrawn from the highway department's program, as local citizens thought.

The following telegram from G. A. Bracher of Childress, district engineer, to W. E. Braly, chairman of the road committee for the Chamber of Commerce, explains the delay:

"Construction of the projects on Highway 222 from 1.2 miles west of Munday to intersection with present road south of Sunset school and in the city of Knox City will be delayed because it is impossible to receive bids this month as planned. This does not mean that projects are withdrawn from construction program, but only that date of receiving bids will be postponed from July to August."

Miss Maxine Eiland, who has been attending summer school at Texas Tech, came in last Monday to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Eiland.

Sam Rob Davis of Throckmorton and Miss Glenn Hall of Longview were guests Tuesday night of Mr. and Mrs. Sebern Jones and family.

Best Sale In Several Weeks Held Tuesday

500 Head of Cattle Are Sold; Good Run Of Hogs Reported

The Munday Livestock Commission Co. had its largest sale in several weeks last Tuesday. About 500 head of cattle were offered for sale, and 200 head of hogs were sold. Hogs moved out at prices well in line with the major markets. Cows and plain cattle sold a little cheaper than a week earlier, due to the drop in the markets, while fat calves and yearlings sold fully steady with last week's market. Some of the prices paid were:

Good bulls, $60 to $80; good cows, $47.50 to $58; good butcher cows, $40 to $47.50; canner and cutter cows, $25 to $40; good fat yearlings, $47.50 to $64; plain yearlings, $37.50 to $45; good fat calves, $30 to $42.50; plain fat calves, $27.50 to $35; common calves, $18 to $25.

Some good whiteface cows with small calves sold for $65, while some plain cows and calves sold from $47.50 to $57.50.

"We have a good hog market and will buy your hogs every day in the week at 50 cents under the Fort Worth packers top," Ratliff Bros. said. "We have good buyers for your fat cattle every Tuesday."

People, Spots In The News

'PEOPLE'S CHOICE' . . . Winner of Republican presidential nomination by popular acclaim, though opposed by old-line politicians, Wendell Wilkie was hailed as uniquely entitled to time-worn label of "people's choice." A native of Indiana, he has been farmhand, teacher, lawyer and utilities president.

BABE'S BACK . . . Mrs. Mildred Zaharias, who as Babe Didrikson won international fame as track star, drove "like a man" to win Women's Western golf title at Milwaukee, 5 and 4, over Mrs. Russell Mann, Wisconsin champion, in final. She set state record with a 73.

TO SPEED DEFENSE . . . Aircraft engineering's newest ally in national defense speed-up is process shown being used in Glenn L. Martin plant by which drawings for parts are photographed, full size, and printed directly on large sheets of aluminum alloys with sensitized surface. Parts can be cut directly from material itself, or full-size parts built, as above, just by following lines on giant photo-print.

LANDS BIG BASS
Mr. and Mrs. Sebern Jones and children visited friends and relatives in Throckmorton last Sunday. Sebern put in some of the time fishing, and brought home a big bass as a result of his efforts. The fish weighed five and one-half pounds, and Seb is proud of his catch.

William H. Summers and Jim H. Bell of Trenton, Texas, were business visitors here a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lee returned home the first of this week from their vacation, which they spent visiting relatives in Wichita Falls.

Raiders Share Top Position By Downing Locals

At full strength for the first time in the second half of Knox county softball schedule, the Red Raiders from Rhineland succeeded in knocking Munday from the top position into sharing the place with Rhineland last Sunday. It was a 11 to 8 triumph for Rhineland.

The game was rather loosely played, slowed down by bush league activities, detrimental to the game, a subsidiary of baseball, our national pastime. Whether it be threatened sit-downs or other discrediting influences, they add little to the sport which serves to make this troubled country closer in thought now—when it is needed most.

Decker, Rhineland's flinger, lacked control, an important asset to any pitcher, but he had sufficient speed on the ball to withstand desperate threatening Munday rallies.

C. Wilde, the elongated crack first-sacker, collected three hits to drive in important tallies. Cude, also with three hits, led the Munday offensive.

Next Sunday comes Knox City, which has always been a thorn in the side of Rhineland in baseball as well as softball. The Raiders, however, feel confident that this spell will be broken next Sunday.

Cards Downed By Bakers Last Friday Night

Last Friday night, the Munday Cardinals lost to the Mother's Bread team of Wichita Falls in a softball game which ended with a score of 4 to 7.

The Cards held the lead most of the way; but after playing two extra innings, the Bakers scored three runs on as many errors and two walks to take the game. J. B. King, with a round trip and a double, and Montgomery with two singles, led the hitting.

Len Kuehler and Bill King were the sparks of the infield, while Rayburn and R. Kuehler were making impossible catches in the pasture. Don Ratliff, Cards ace, out-pitched "Cannon Ball" Scott of the Bakers by allowing only four hits while the Cards were collecting seven from Scott.

Next Sunday the Cards will meet the Goree club at Goree. This should prove to be a top-notch battle, for the Goree boys defeated Munday the last time they were tangled. The Cards will be in there trying to even the score.

POINTERS FOR TEXAS AGRICULTURE

More than one-tenth of all the people in the United States depend directly on cotton for their living.

A new variety of rice known as Zenith, which is said to possess better table quality and to be much more resistant to leaf spot diseases, will be generally available within the next three or four years following a three-year test at a Louisiana Rice Experiment Station.

It is difficult for a human being to live with more than one-fourth of his skin area seriously damaged. That is why sunburn can be so dangerous.

Arthur Kitchens Out For Constable Of Precinct Six

Arthur A. Kitchens announced for constable of the Munday precinct, No. 6, this week.

Arthur has lived in Munday 24 years. He made the race for county treasurer in 1926, and was defeated by one of the best old settlers of Knox county, J. T. (Trav) House. Arthur says they wanted the House instead of the Kitchens.

Now Arthur is asking the voters of this precinct for their vote and influence in the coming election. He promises the people, that, if elected, he will do all in his power to enforce the law and that he will show no partiality to anyone and will treat each and everyone alike.

Arthur says if he had any other job he would not ask for this office, but he has five children all in school, two in high school and three in grammar school, and he wants the voters to consider this one thing seriously before casting their vote. He says if elected, with other little odd jobs he has in view, he will do his best to put all his children through high school so they may make better citizens in this community.

He asks the voters to please consider him when they vote and that their vote and influence in the July 27th election will be greatly appreciated.

Sixty years ago three out of every four farmers in the United States owned the land they farmed, but today nearly half of our farmers are tenants or sharecroppers.

Contour farming and high-speed highways have put curves into fence building. A straight fence dividing a pasture and a field farmed on the contour wastes either a great deal of pasture or farm land. The mechanics of building fences on the contour is explained in a new publication, "Farm Fences," Farmers' Bulletin No. 1832, which may be secured from county agricultural agents or by writing either the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., or the Extension Service, Texas A. and M. College, College Station.

Mrs. LeRoy Johnson and children, Judy and Roy Briley, of San Angelo spent several days here this week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bowden.
