KNOX COUNTY GETS 3.7 MILES OF PAVING

Short Ballot For Run-Off Primary

Two State Races; One Precinct Race On The Ballot

Voters of Knox county will be greeted by the shortest election ballot in several years when they go to the polls next Saturday to vote in the August run-off primary.

Candidates for practically all of the state, district and county offices were nominated on the July 11st, thereby eliminating the necessity of a run-off.

In the state race these are only candidates to be filled, that of the commissioner and chief clerk of the supreme court. Candidates in these races are:

State commissioner: Olin Peterson and Pierce Brooks.

Justice: James P. Alexander and H. S. Lattimore.

That's all a majority of in Knox county will get to see Saturday!

Commissioner's Precinct One, voters will have a longer ballot than there is a run-off between candidates for commissioner.

On the ballot will be E. L. New and Wm. Griffith.

Interest has been shown in the run-off primary, and a light turnout is expected that was polled on July 27th election.

Line Broken by High Waters On The Brazos River

The other line was watched closely until the waters receded, and preparations had been made to place an emergency line across the bridge to continue gas service had the other line gone out.

These regular visits to Munday are made twice monthly, Surles explained, on the second and fourth Thursdays. Temporary office space is provided at the City Hall.

These visits are for the purpose of contacting employers and employees, potential beneficiaries, and others in connection with their problems relating to the Federal old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security Act.

During the latter part of last year, Hext coached at Talpa after completing his schooling at Howard Payne. He hails from Elorado, where he was a pupil of coach Cooper during his high school days and where he was quarterback for the Elorado Eagles for three years.

Hext is married, and is at present working in Clovis, New Mexico. He plans on being in Munday the week before school starts. Another science course recommended by the department of education to fuse both physics and chemistry is under consideration instead of physics.

Other fields of work in which Mr. Wright has had experience include Boy Scouts, science clubs, baseball plays and coaching basketball.

Mr. Wright with two years experience is a strong elementary school major, having almost completed her masters degree in this field. She has had special work in elementary literature, art, music, and penmanship. She is also capable of teaching plays, volleyball, activities and sponsoring clubs. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wright are reported active in community affairs.

Lunch Project May Be Placed In Local School

Much interest upon the part of several groups in the Munday area has become evident in the proposed lunch project for the local school. The project was fully discussed by Mrs. Mary P. Bowles, W.P.A. hot lunch supervisor, in a meeting Wednesday.

The proposed project for the Munday school would include feeding of all the school students at five or ten cents per plate. The meal would be a balanced diet of commodities furnished mostly by the federal government. The government furnishes all the workers and a supervisor who acts as dietician. All workers hold a food handlers health certificate.

Local authorities must furnish a place for the students to eat, all equipment, a business manager and part of the food. In addition to this, the government allows a gardening and canning project for the lunch room.

WHAT IS THE AMERICAN WAY?

Everybody is inclined to consider that his own opinions and prejudices about customs and institutions, principles and practices, represent the "American Way." The term is used to justify the most contradictory ideas. Nevertheless there are some principles and practices that are distinctively American and that are believed in by most Americans; especially a fundamental conception of freedom which is a part of our heritage.

We have built up our civilization here, and drawn our social pattern, on a basis of individual freedom. It includes freedom of worship, of speech and press and assembly, or residence and movement; liberty to pursue an occupation of one's own choice, to acquire and own property, and to enter into voluntary association with others in enterprise; and the right to participate in government through representatives whose arbitrary power is restricted by basic and statutory law and who are periodically accountable to the people. These rights do not constitute the whole range of American freedom, but are among the most fundamental.

It is true that these are not regarded as absolute rights. We impose limits by custom and by public authority. But we try to adhere to the pattern and we recur to it whenever it is temporarily disregarded. The conviction persists that this individual freedom must be maintained—limited only in order to preserve the maximum of it for all. For in the freest possible exercise of individual initiative and energy we see the mainspring of our past achievement and the guaranty of a greater future—the fulfillment of the promise of American life.

There is no other plan of human relations we know of that has produced or is producing a like result. Certainly the totalitarian systems now spreading over Europe—and not without their advocates here—bear no fruit that we crave. We believe in hard work—but in occupations of our own choice; in discipline—but in self-discipline; in individual duties and group duties—but not imposed by arbitrary power; in cooperation—but of a free people.

Free institutions, however, affording the maximum of individual opportunity are not an accident of nature, like the climate—nor do they persist like the sun, moon, and stars for whose existence and movements and continuance we feel no responsibility. Generations of vigorous, industrious, and adventurous people have established these institutions. Only people of the same sort can safeguard and maintain them. A corollary of individual freedom is individual responsibility; each generation must earn again, by hard work, devotion to duty, loyal cooperation, productive achievement, its right to be free.

Through all the changed conditions that our increasing mastery of nature creates, through all the adjustments and readjustments of human relations that such changes require, we are insistent on maintaining our heritage of freedom. Essentially, this ideal, interpreted in practice as well as our social experience and social intelligence permit, is the American way.

PRIZES FOR THE TRUTH

At a time when truth is shackled around the world and the freedom of public utterance muzzled on every hand, it is significant that America still offers prizes for digging up the facts.

These prizes are the annual Pulitzer awards, this year given to a Waterbury, Conn., newspaper for its expose of graft in city administration that resulted in conviction of several city officials, and to a New York reporter for his stories about a judge who accepted money from litigants before him.

There was also a prize for John Steinbeck's sensational novel, "The Grapes of Wrath," spotlighting one of the country's most difficult and symptomatic problems, that of the migratory worker.

You can't imagine anything like the Pulitzer awards in Germany or Italy or Russia today where the state is the press and the "truth" is whatever the state wants it to be. Can you conceive of a German newspaper exposing Nazi graft or a Russian sheet complaining about Soviet justice?

Of course, we take the Pulitzer awards for granted here, along with "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." But there are signs that we have been taking too much for granted. Recently, there have been attempts to limit the freedom of the press by courts and statutes. This is a warning of the sort of thing that can happen, even here. There are people here, too, who feel there is too much freedom.

That is something to remember every time you pick up your paper. The founding fathers didn't guarantee a free press as a mere gesture, and it will take more than gestures to keep these guarantees.

INDUSTRY SERVES THE FARMER

Industry and the farmer have a mutual relationship which is extremely important. Agriculture provides crops which are either sold to industrial workers as food or are bought by industry to turn into plastics or various other manufacturing products. It works both ways, and here's an example of how industry served the farmer: In 1930, there were 920,000 tractors in use on American farms. Now there are 1,500,000.

REAL FIREFIGHTERS

Six communities deserve the praise and emulation of all America.

Those communities are Cincinnati, Ohio; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Hartford, Connecticut; Lakewood, Ohio, Petersburg, West Virginia, and Ridgewood, New Jersey.

These are the towns which won the annual awards given by the United States Chamber of Commerce for outstanding work in the field of fire prevention during 1939. Cincinnati won the grand award, and the other communities were winners in their various population classes, ranging from under 20,000 to over 500,000. In the 1939 contest, some 295 cities, representing about 50 per cent of America's urban population, participated.

Those cities did far more than win awards. They saved an untold number of lives. They saved an untold amount of property from destruction. They saved jobs that would have been lost, opportunities that would have disappeared, taxes that would have vanished, purchasing power that would have gone up in smoke. And they did that by hard work—by getting down to cases, studying the origins of fires, and then rigorously applying the knowledge gained to the end that fire will be outlawed.

There's no luck in fire prevention. Knowledge, care, work—these are the cures to America's tragic and inextinguishable "fire disease." Everyone must do his share. There is no room for slackers in the war against fire.

All honor to the six American communities which fought fire to a standstill. Every community should work to win honors this year.

SOIL CONSERVATION ESSENTIAL

Folks sometimes wonder why it is necessary to practice soil conservation on our farms when now we have more land than is needed.

Maybe we do have more land than is needed right now. But what about the future? Erosion wastes no time. It is constantly at work. In the U.S. only 39 per cent of the land classed as crop land in 1935 can be definitely continued in cultivation under present farm practices. And even though the very best conservation practices are followed, not more than approximately 82 per cent of the crop land of the nation can be continuously cultivated.

In the western cotton area, which includes Texas and Oklahoma, the land is even less secure against erosion. Only about 28 per cent of the land now in cultivation is suitable for continuous cultivation under present practices. Another 50 per cent can be continued in cultivation indefinitely only if the best conservation practices are used. About 22 per cent of the crop land now in cultivation in the western cotton area is not suitable for cultivation and should be retired. To replace this land not suited to cultivation under any conditions, there is additional uncultivated land, equal to about 22 per cent of the present crop land, which is suitable for cultivation if good farming practices are used.

However, even if there is new land which can be used to replace that not suitable for cultivation, it is desirable to protect the land we are now farming. By so doing we shall save the cost of clearing and draining new land, avoid the necessity of moving farm people to new locations, and maintain the current acreages of hay and pasture. Much of the new land suitable for cultivation if handled carefully is now pasture land.—Progressive Farmer.

SHOE ON THE OTHER FOOT

Theorists in this country have from time to time taken some pretty vigorous whacks at advertising, intimating that it places an unfair burden on the consumer. And various high officials in Washington have declared publicly that they believe government should regulate advertising; that too much money is spent for advertising by manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers; and that the cost of such advertising raises the price of goods and services.

It will be news to many readers, therefore, to learn that a brand new advertiser has now appeared in the paper match-cover field. The new advertiser is a branch of the Federal government itself! Paper matches are now being distributed accompanied by this message: "Know your money. Beware of counterfeiters. Sound your coins. Examine your bills.—The U.S. Secret Service, Treasury Department."

And the cost—why, that's passed along to the taxpayer!

YOUR ATTENTION, PLEASE

WE'LL PRODUCE WHAT'S NEEDED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE, ALL RIGHT! BUT WE MUST HAVE COOPERATION. YOU CAN'T JUST APPROPRIATE A TANK OR PLANE, IT TAKES TIME TO RETOOL AND BUILD FOR NATIONAL PRODUCTION!

THEY SAY!

"The land and the people, and the flag—the land of a continent the people of every race, the flag a symbol of what humanity may aspire to when the wars are over and the barriers are down; to these each generation must be dedicated and consecrated anew, to defend with life itself, if need be, but, above all, in friendliness, in hope, in courage, to live for."—The New York Times.

Gems Of Thought

PRAYER

A prayer in its simplest definition is merely a wish turned Godward.—Phillips Brooks.

Practice in life whatever you pray for and God will give it to you more abundantly.—Pursey.

Prayer is the utilization of the love wherewith He loves us.—Mary Baker Eddy.

He prayeth best who loveth best.—Coleridge

THE PRAYER OF A MAN

Great God, make me decent orderly, appreciative, useful, courageous and in the work of this day.

Let me not weaken myself by anger, cheapen myself by boasting or play the fool by lying.

Give me to remember that there are others in the world besides myself and that they are men like unto me.

Teach me to observe the rules of the game; to come through defeat victorious and out of victory unspoiled.

Let me not be unkind of the gift of friend or foe, for both are much of my own making.

For my own sake and for the sake of my comrades keep me wholesome and cheerful, but if the devil or error should grip me at times grant me the good sense to go quietly alone until the impulse to act wrongly shall have passed.

And at the end of each day bring me to bed with a knowledge that greed and malice and envy and hatred have passed a lesser part in my thinking; that my weariness is the result of well doing. Amen.—Selected

Inspection Of Dwellings Means Of Fire Prevention

Austin, August 20, 1940—The inspection of all dwellings twice a year is a very important part of an adequate fire prevention program, and it is particularly desirable that rooming houses be checked frequently, according to Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner.

Within the next few weeks thousands of Texas youngsters will be returning to college, the Commissioner said, pointing out that all rooming or boarding houses should have two means of exit, front and rear stairs, halls open and unobstructed, all buildings over two stories to be equipped with standard fire escapes, and attics permanently inaccessible.

Hall said many students in college towns throughout the state have been living in virtual fire traps, and that the operators of these places should seek the aid of the local fire marshal to eliminate hazards which might escape attention of the layman.

Other recommendations were for rigid gas stove connections, the testing of all gas piping, space heaters to be closed type and vented vertically through heat insulated flues whose tops are two feet above roof, all hot water heaters to be vented same as space heaters above and not into attic, approved chemical extinguishers in kitchen and upper hall available to all sleeping quarters.

Commissioner Hall also reminded that state law delegates to city councils the authority to establish such regulations for the prevention of fires as the councils may deem expedient.

AN AMERICAN

The following is reprinted from a recent issue of the New York Sun:

He is an American.
He hears an airplane overhead, and if he looks up at all, does so in curiosity, neither in fear nor in the hope of seeing a protector.

His wife goes marketing, and her purchases are limited by her needs, her tastes, her budget, but not by decree.

He comes home of an evening through streets which are well lighted, not dimly blue.

He reads his newspaper and knows what it says it not concocted by bureau, but an honest untrammeled effort to present the truth.

He has never had a gas mask on.

He has never been in a bomb-proof shelter.

His military training, an ROTC course in college, he took because it excused him from a gym course.

He belongs to the fraternal organizations and clubs as he wishes.

He converses with friends, expressing freely his opinion on any subject without fear.

He does not expect his mail to be opened before posting and receipt, nor his telephone to be tapped.

He changes his place of dwelling, and does not report so doing to the police.

He carries an identification card only in case he should be the victim of a traffic accident.

He thinks of his neighbors across the international borders—of those to the north as though they were across a state line rather than as foreigners—of those to the south more as strangers since they speak a language different from his and with the knowledge that there are now matters of difference between his government and theirs but of neither with an expectancy of war.

He worships God in the fashion of his choice.

His children are with him in his home, neither removed to a place of greater safety, if young, nor if older, ordered ready to serve the state with sacrifice of limb and life.

He has problems, his troubles his uncertainties, but all others are not overshadowed by the imminence of battle and sudden death.

He is a fortunate man.
He is an American.

Roosevelt, democrat, for president.
Wallace, republican, for vice-president.
If this line up isn't correct, look up the records and see how the four of them have been voting in the past.

A group of colored folks were holding a revival meeting and converts had been many, but to the dismay of the colored preacher one of the hard-boiled "brethren" just would not repent of his sins.

The Parson finally announced from the pulpit—"We is going to sing one more song, read one more chapter from the Bible, and pray one more prayer, and then if Brother Jones does not repent of his sins he can just go to hell!"

Commodity Credit Corporation Loans Available On 1940 AAA Cotton Crops

College Station.—All Texas farmers cooperating with the AAA will be eligible to obtain Commodity Credit Corporation loans at the full loan rates of their 1940 cotton crops.

No definite time has yet been available so that loan applications can be accepted, George Slaughter chairman of the state AAA Committee, said but the material is now being printed and will be shipped to the loan agencies as soon as possible.

The loan rate will be based on 15-16th inch middling cotton, net weight basis, with differentials for grade, staple, and location instead of on 7 8th inch middling as was the case last year, the chairman pointed out. The rate in Texas for 15 16th inch middling, net weight basis, will range from 9.16 cents in West Texas to 9.80 cents at all gulf ports. As in 1939, the net weight loan rate is placed 40 points above that for the gross weight bale to compensate for the smaller number of pounds on the loan is extended.

The full loan rate will be available only to cooperating cotton producers who have not any farm knowingly planted or permitted the planting of cotton in 1940 in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm for the 1940 and 1941 marketing year. As required by law, non-cooperators will be eligible to receive a loan at 60 per cent of the rate applicable to cooperating producers, and only on that part of their production in excess of their farm marketing quotas. Non-cooperators must have their loan documents approved by the AAA county committee.

Loans will be made directly by the Commodity Credit Corporation and by banks and other local lending agencies under arrangements similar to those pertaining to previous cotton loans. The loans will bear three percent interest and will be callable on demand with the maturity date fixed for July 31, 1941. Loans will be available until May 1, 1941. All cotton to be eligible for the loan must be classed by board of Cotton Examiners of the Agricultural Marketing Service of the Department of Agriculture. Few loans were made in Texas in 1939, Slaughter said, because the loan was not announced until most Texas cotton had been sold.

Miss Dora Bannister of Crowell visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burrow over the week end.

Already one week has passed, although we can hardly realize it. The students of Rhineland high school have been progressing very rapidly in their new course of studies, and, "Where there's a will, there's a way."

Everyone was happy to see the county superintendent, Mr. McCaughey, visit with us Monday.

If you feel as though all the troubles of life fall your way just think of this poem that is worth memorizing:

If times are hard and you are blue,
Think of the others worrying,
too;
Just because your trials are many,
Don't think the rest of us haven't any.

Life is made up of smiles and tears,
Joys and sorrows, mixed with fears,
And though to us it seems one-sided,
Trouble is pretty well divided.

If we could look in every heart,
We'd find that each one has its part,
And those who travel fortune's road,
Sometimes carry the biggest load.

Senior Report
The Seniors are glad to say that they have a nice start in book-keeping and hope to keep going right through the year.

Our class enjoyed the visit of our former classmate, Wayne Thompson, last Friday.

We have elected our officers for the following year:

President, Genevieve Herring.
Vice President, Cletus Wilde.
Sec'y-Treasurer, Geneva Wilde.
Reporter, Florine Williamson.

Patient—"I didn't need the money until last week."

We Wonder Why . . .
Geneva unpinned her hair so fast Sunday night. (For further information see Richard.)

Genevieve started primping when a certain boy walked into the room the other day.

Cletus thought he was getting more appendicitis.

Albert was so sleepy Monday morning? (Could the night before have had some effect?)

No report this week due to the illness of the reporter.

Sophomore News
Monday morning when we came to school we found we had lost another student for a time. It is Urban Bellinghausen, who underwent an operation late Saturday evening. He is reported to be doing nicely. We wish him a speedy recovery for we will miss him in class.

This past week in biology we studied the life cycle of grasshoppers. We boys, who did all the chasing, will confess nature has given them good protection. Catching the insects is not easy as judged by the repetition of the words, "Aw, he got away!" At times we felt like hopping right behind them. And, as for killing the pests—well, there's more to it than meets the eye.

What Puzzles Us Is . . .
Why Weldon thinks old wells can be drilled through "whales." And his interest in the subject, "Does it pay to bluff?"

Helen's fear of grasshoppers. Calvin's belief that railroads could be built across the ocean.

Why Francis always sits sideways at his desk?
How Urban can make an 'A' on 'being forgetful.'

Freshman Report

The Freshmen have been making experiments in science. We have learned that air takes up space and that it has weight.

History is also interesting to us, but a little hard to understand. We are studying how the people in olden days lived, how they started fire, and how they used tools.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simpson and son of Walnut Springs, Mrs. J. M. Williford and children and Mrs. M. H. Frances of Anson visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Simpson the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Edgar visited Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bridge and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers in Quanah over the week end.

Wade T. Mahan and Sheffy Mahan were visitors in Dallas last Saturday.

Walter Farmer of Megargel was a business visitor here last Monday.

Dawn That Yawn By Godfrey

The crack of dawn must be the wisecrack of dawn for Arthur Godfrey, the friendly Washington mickeman. His broadcasting duties begin at six a. m. and frequently when nighttime airings keep him at the studio late, he just curls up on an improvised bed in his office so he won't be late for the next ayem session. The office is only a hop, skip and jump down the corridor from his Washington studio. The cameraman got him just after a porter had roused him with, "Hey, Mista Godfrey, wake up. Yo fav'te boss hab jes had pups agin." Godfrey loves horses so much he even feeds sugar to his nightmares.

Interest High In Fair Movie Making Contest

Dallas.—Interest is high in the Movie Making Contest to be held at the 1940 State Fair of Texas, the first moving making contest ever to be held in the Southwest. The contest is being directed by C. R. Reagan of the Texas Visual Education Co., of Austin, and Arthur Maberry, Deputy State Superintendent of Schools at Tyler.

The Movie Making Contest is attracting nationwide interest, as one national magazine has already carried publicity on same, and entries in the contest have been received from as far away as Buffalo, New York.

Cash awards will be given the winners of the seven classifications, and in addition to these awards, film strips announcing awards will be given the winners. The three winners in each of the seven classifications will compete for the sweepstake prizes to be awarded the three best films shown.

Seven classifications are listed for both 8 mm and 16 mm films, the first six are open only to films made in Texas. The seventh classification is an open class in which films made anywhere in the world may be entered. Travel pictures already entered will take the audience on a trans-continental tour from coast to coast and from Mexico to Canada. Following are the classifications in the Movie Making Contest: Agricultural and Live-stock films; Historical films; films of Texas Cities and Scenic films; Flower and Wildlife films; films of Educational Activities including Sports and recreation; Miscellaneous which includes films of family life and natural resources; and an open class for films made outside of Texas.

Advertisers Live in GLASS HOUSES

WHAT they promise in their advertisements, and what they deliver in their merchandise, are right there for all to see.

If they deliver what they promise, they make friends and steady customers. If not they make enemies, lose patronage and finally go out of business.

Those are the cold, hard reasons why honesty is the best policy—especially in advertising.

But the real fact is that advertisers as a class are humanly, jealous of their good names. The trade-marks of manufacturers and the published recommendations of merchants are only accorded to products which they can offer you with confidence and pride.

You can trust the ads to lead you to sound values.

Virgil O. Stamps Dies at Dallas

Virgil O. Stamps, known over the southwest as a leader of the Stamps quartet, died Monday of a heart ailment. Stamps, who was 48 years old, entered a hospital for treatment about a week before his death.

He was born in Upshur county in 1892. His father, W. O. Stamps, was a farmer and saw-miller, and later became a member of the Texas legislature and state prison board.

In his early boyhood Virgil O. Stamps, attending a singing convention, heard a quartet for the first time. He resolved to learn to sing. That resolution was later to make his name one of the most widely known among lovers of quartet singing.

Scarcity of music teachers forced the youth to study singing from books he might pick up in his native piney woods section of Texas.

In 1924 he published a book of his songs which is still in print. In 1926 he took as a partner one of the country's outstanding musicians, J. R. Baxter. They formed the Stamps-Baxter Music company.

Maintaining a staff of well-known composers and publishing more than 50 song books of their own, the company's songs are for interdenominational faith and have been translated into many foreign languages.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Neil Cooper of Gilmer; a son, O. W. Stamps of Jasper; four brothers, Dr. C. M. Stamps of Teague, Frank H., of Shreveport, Fred C. of Dallas, and one grandchild, Marjorie Anne Cooper of Gilmer.

Approaching Marriage of Miss Mildred Burnett Announced at Tea on Tuesday

The approaching marriage of Miss Mildred Burnett to Mr. Raymond O. Howard of Abilene was formally announced at a tea given in her honor at the home of Mrs. A. L. Smith last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Ben Guinn, mother of the bride-to-be, assisted in the entertainment.

The wedding will be at the home of the bride's mother in Munday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of September 8th.

Receiving the guests as they arrived were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Guinn, Miss Burnett, and Mrs. W. E. Lowe of Abilene. Bouquets of asters, mingled with Peruvian lilies, roses, and a varied assortment of summer flowers decked the rooms in a most effective illusion.

Highlighting all other points of interest was the dining room. A lace table cloth covering a delicate pink was centered with two cakes shaped in the form of wedding bells, iced in pink, and decorated with candied orange blossoms. On either cake was the name, "Mildred" and "Ray." Linking the two cakes was a spray of pink gladioli and encircling them was a garland of asters and Peruvian lilies.

Miss Mary Moore presided at the punch bowl, and Misses Billie Swain, Joan Williams and Sue Stodghill assisted in serving the guests punch, individual cake squares iced in the pink and candied orange blossoms, mints and cookies.

Favors tied in scroll fashion with fern and orange blossoms were on each plate. The scroll, a miniature marriage license, gave the date and place of the coming wedding. The document was signed by the ever-faithful Dan Cupid.

Mrs. Cadenhead, talented pianist of Weinert, provided musical selections throughout the tea, and at various intervals whistled "At Dawning" and "Indian Love Call." Mrs. Fred Broach, Jr., of Knox City entertained with two readings: "My Homely Man" and "Cupid." Vocal numbers sung by Miss Louise Ingram, guest singer, were "I Love Thee," and "The Things You Are."

Miss Doris Casle of Abilene, former roommate of Miss Burnett at Hardin-Simmons University, read "How Do I Love Thee" by Elizabeth Barret Browning, "A Parody on 'If For Brides,'" and "Three Wishes for a Bride." Mrs. Ed Brown of Abilene was a special guest.

At The Churches

MUNDAY METHODIST CHURCH

We are grateful for the co-operation manifested in our meeting. This spirit is essential to the success of any enterprise and it certainly is an important item in the progress of the church life of any community. The Baptists were very gracious in furnishing us with some of their benches, the Cameron Lumber Co., with planks for the platform for the choir, and the depot for added platform arrangement. We especially appreciated the cooperation in the song service by those of other churches as well as our own people. In trying to cut down the expense we did not invite someone in to direct the music, and you were very gracious to Mrs. Longino in taking your part so readily in responding to her leadership with the piano. Now that the special meeting is over and a large number of persons have been enlisted in the church and its work, may we not count on you for the continuation of this fine spirit?

Sunday School next Sunday at 10:00 a.m. Church worship 11:00 a.m. In my absence Bro. Butler will either return to us for this service or send someone from McMurry College. You will please be present to encourage and carry the work on for the Kingdom. There will be no evening services held until September 8th. The League, Sunday School and morning services will be held at their appointed hours each Sunday.

The fall months are now crowding upon us and September will be our month for reorganization of the work for the winter. On returning from the meeting at Lake View with Rev. Frank Story, this work will be taken in hand. In the meantime our minds will be

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

If you were not in the services last Sunday you certainly missed something. Sunday School attendance was 209, a house-full for the preaching service, and above 80 for the Training Service and we are expecting over 100 next Sunday evening. There is fine competitive Christian spirit being exemplified between various classes and departments in the Sunday School. The young married folks class and the young peoples class are still taking account of each other's record. Come along Sunday and you will not want to miss any more.

All regular services Sunday. Sunday School at 10:00, preaching at 11:00, then the Training Service at 7:00 in the evening and preaching at 8:00. Baptizing following the evening preaching service.

How grateful we are for the good rains, the excellent prospects for a crop. God's wonderful goodness to us should arouse the deepest springs of gratitude.

David said, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits toward me?" Read Psalms 116:12-14.

working.

Your prayers for the work, both at home and in the meeting, are earnestly desired. From here on it is not retreating but advancing for God and humanity.

Haskell Golfer Wins Tri-County Golf Tourney

Munday Player Loses In Finals Played Last Sunday

Par golf was not good enough for Sheffy Mahan, Munday golfer, last Sunday as he went the 36-hole route with C. E. Boyd of Haskell for the championship of the tri-county tournament played at Seymour.

Mahan was 4 down at one time on the morning 18, but he managed to win three holes before completing the 18, and finished the morning play only one down. Boyd shot a bunch of birdies Sunday afternoon to defeat Mahan 7-5 on the 31st hole of the match.

On Saturday, Boyd beat Maurice Orr of Seymour in the first flight semi-finals, 6-5, to go into the championship match. Mahan downed J. B. Eubanks of Truscott, 3-2 in Saturday's semi-finals.

Jim Goode of Munday won the second flight consolation 3-2 over A. F. McMinn, of Truscott. Lindley Carter of Seymour defeated N. T. Underwood of Munday, 3-2, for first flight consolation.

Some of the latter matches in the tourney are as follows:

In the first flight consolation O. C. Harrison of Seymour beat Charles Richmond, 1 up; Lindley Carter of Seymour beat Gene Campbell of Haskell, 7-6; T. E. Craddock of Seymour defaulted to N. T. Underwood of Munday, and Raul English of Haskell defaulted to L. T. Kaffer of Seymour. Carter beat Harrison, 1 up; and Underwood beat Kaffer 6-5.

In the second flight, Raymond Black of Truscott took out B. M. Whitteker of Haskell, 2-1; and Harold Eubank of Truscott won over Pete Frierson of Haskell, by default.

Pendleton Gin Installs "Split Rib" in Plant

H. A. Pendleton, owner of the Pendleton Gin Co., announced this week that the "Split Rib Huller" has been installed in the ginning machinery of his plant, which is designed to give greater service to partons of this gin. Some of the features of the split rib are:

It makes a smoother sample, due to absence of congestion in the huller breasts and less tendency to pre-gin and mat or tangle the fibres.

There is less tendency to break or cut and shorten the fibres, and a better maintenance of the original staple lengths.

There is a higher percentage of line turnout of spinnable fibres instead of less through cut or broken fibre ends left on the seed.

More effective cleaning is done in the huller breasts, due to the small flanged roller which acts as a stripper cylinder, throwing back sticks, pieces of burs, and loose trash.

It gives higher capacity results when the cotton goes into the roll box freely and none of the saws are put out of action by choking of the huller breasts.

Pendleton says the new machinery insures better turnouts and gives greater protection of the staple. This is an improvement he has made in an effort to give his customers the best possible ginning service.

Bridge, forty-two, dominoes and eating formed the diversion of the three days at the W. H. Burton home. What little sleeping was done was managed in between the mischievous pranks of the family. ## HATCHERY NEARS COMPLETION

Austin Texas, Aug. 22—Improvements on the Huntsville state fish hatchery will be ready to produce its share of the at least 10,000,000 fish for the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission expects to raise next season. The cost of improving the hatchery was nearly $10,000. It was a WPA project.

The hatchery has been increased in size from 32 to 38 ponds which will total more than 33 surface acres of water. In addition, all of the ponds have been deepened and the water inlet and outlets on half of the ponds have been altered for more efficient handling. Pond drain fixtures have been improved by lining them with rock and cement. The hatchery is being beautified.

While work is nearing completion on the Huntsville Hatchery, the Game Department, according to an announcement by the executive secretary, is preparing to enlarge the Jasper hatchery by thirty ponds, which will nearly double the capacity of that southeast hatchery. Considerable work will also be done on the Olmito hatchery near Olmito the executive secretary said.

BASS HANGED ITSELF

Two years ago a state game warden at Del Rio found a five-pound bass which had hanged itself by leaping into the air and becoming stuck to a limb which went thru its gills. The warden now believes that the large bass was trying to catch a bird perched in the tree, because he saw just that occur recently. The bass made one futile leap for the bird, but succeeded upon its second trial in grabbing the bird. The bass then disappeared into the depths of Devils River while the warden sat helpless to interfere in this drama enacted by Dame Nature's children.

"Wings Over Texas" Is Prospectus Published By Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel

"Wings over Texas" is the title of a prospectus sent this week by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to 178 aircraft manufacturers throughout the United States.

Project of the Texas Industrialization Program, the prospectus was compiled from the data supplied by the University of Texas, the Texas A. and M. College, Texas Technological College, The Executive Department, The Texas State Parks Board, The Texas Aeronautics Advisory Committee, National Defense Aviation Committee for Texas, State Health Department, Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Texas State Employment Service, and Office of Government Reports.

The prospectus contains 31 pages of text, supplemented by eleven pages of maps and charts.

The Governor addressed a personal letter to each of the aircraft companies receiving the chart. Copies also went to local industrialization committees throughout the state and federal and state governmental agencies; industrial commissioners of transportation, gas, power and light and water companies serving Texas chambers of commerce; and other interested groups.

In an introduction to the report, the major points are summarized as follows: "Texas is first among the states in recognition given by the Federal government to conditions favorable for aviation."

"Geographically, Texas is the gateway to Latin-America and is strategically located for the commerce with every section of the United States."

"The great expanses of level land add much to the safety of flying and make possible an almost unlimited field for the section and development of airports. The Texas coast and inland lakes provide excellent facilities for seaplanes and amphibians."

"Among the significant advantages which Texas offers is a year-round outdoor climate. Range of temperature and rainfall between sections of the state gives the manufacturer wide choice of weather conditions."

"Fuel reserves exist in vast quantities. Natural gas and oil is easily accessible at low rates, and the largest lignite deposits in the world are to be found in Texas."

"Water from surface and underground sources is sufficient for any industrial requirement and is so widespread that danger of interference with steady supply is eliminated."

"Machine shops, textile mills, paint plants, tool factories, iron works, machine repair shops, and other similar plants are now in operation and are prepared to produce machine tools, parts, and accessories needed in the aircraft industry."

"Quick transportation between sections is possible. A network of railroads, highways, and airlines blankets the state, and thirteen gulf ports provide access to the sea."

"The supply of skilled and unskilled labor is adequate. Of the gainfully employed in Texas, 97 per cent are native born."

"Recognition already given by public authorities and private interests is indicative of promising future for the aircraft industry in this area," the report concludes.

Industries To Meet Challenge Of Texas Trade

Austin, Texas, Aug. 15—Development of Texas industries to process Texas agricultural surpluses—meat, wool, wheat, cotton—is the only road by which Texas can share in rather than compete with South America in what is left of the world trade.

Thus advises Elmer H. Johnson, University of Texas expert on agricultural and natural resources, and their development on the basis of natural geographical regions.

The surplus commodities of Texas are largely the same as those of the countries south of the Rio Grande, Mr. Johnson pointed out. Coffee and such tropical fruits as bananas are about the only agricultural products South America produces that Texas cannot, he said.

On the other hand, cattle, wool, wheat and cotton—all major Texas crops—are all produced on a large scale in Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay produces a surplus of wool.

The wool is not critical, he explained, since the United States consumes more wool than is grown in Texas and other wool producing states.

Texas finds no competitor in South America for production of mohair, lumber, pulp and paper, he added.

Among minerals, petroleum in Venezuela and Colombia competes with Texas crude, he said, but the Latin-American supply of antimony is of importance to the United States national defence. The only antimony smelter in the New world, located at Laredo, Texas, now obtains its supply of ore from Mexico but could import some from Bolivia, especially in view of hampered shipments of the metal from China, the world's chief antimony source.

"The challenge of Texas in the trade of tomorrow will come thru the development of its industries," Mr. Johnson predicted. "If Texas can become industrialized, a market for manufactured goods can be developed in South America."

Football injury insurance paying up to $100 for a $1.50 premium per player has been made available to the 700 Texas high schools with grid squads. Arrangements were completed by the University of Texas Interscholastic League.

Milk, Claret and whiskey were more common beverages than water in early Texas, University of Texas historical records show.

A copy of the original 1611 edition of the King James Bible, the first version of the Bible in "modern" English and even now considered the standard version, is in the Rare Book Collections of the University of Texas Library.

Essential war-time minerals—nickel, chromite and magnetite—in undetermined quantities have been discovered by University of Texas geologists in Gillespie and Blanco Counties, Texas.

AN EXTRA $100

Twenty Floyd county farm families will realize an average of $100 a year extra income through the organization of an egg marketing association.

The association, according to the Floyd county agricultural and home demonstration agents, D. F. Bredthauer and Edith Lois Wilson, is the outgrowth of work by the local land use planning committee.

A subcommittee authorized to develop local markets reported, among other things, that farm eggs were being penalized because of their low grade.

The 20 families agreed to form a demonstration association. A committee visited the farm of each member, inspected the flock and equipment and made recommendations for increasing the production and marketing of infertile eggs.

A sales committee contacted a local buyer and agreed to deliver 1,000 dozen infertile, high quality eggs each week at price 4 cents a dozen above the local market. After a 30 day period of improvement the members began delivery of the eggs. Extra income to date has averaged $40 per week.

Ralph Bennett of Plains, Texas, was a visitor in Munday the latter part of last week.

Archie Scott of Midland, former farmer of Knox county, was here last week renting land and making preparations for moving his family back to this county next fall.

WHAT HOPS DO FOR BEER AND ALE

Hops are for flavor. They give to good beer and ale their lively, appetizing flavor, their pleasant, aromatic tang.

Brewers select and blend their hops with extreme care. In fact, every step in making beer and ale is conducted with masterly skill—to give you better-tasting, more wholesome beverages.

Now the brewing industry wants to do one thing more. It wants to protect your right to drink good beer and ale—by keeping the places where beer and ale are sold wholesome, too.

We want undesirable, anti-social establishments "cleaned-up or closed-up." A plan of action has already been put into effect in a number of states. This plan is being extended. We'd like you to know about it. Send for interesting free booklet.

BEER... a beverage of moderation

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

The suggestion for a "Grandmothers day", advanced in this column sometime ago, has met with an enthusiastic response as, indeed, it should because many of the golden memories of everyone's childhood center around grandmother.

My grandmother—as I am sure yours is or was—is a remarkable woman. Her husband died and she was left with the responsibility of providing for four girls, two small sons and an infant daughter on a rocky farm in the hills. That she succeeded is a great tribute to her energy, courage, and intelligence.

The earliest remembrance of my life pertains to her. There was going to be a "cemetery working" and the oldest grandchild, then 4 begged to be taken along. Grandma yielded but, as she tells it, no sooner were we there than I began pleading to be taken back home. After all, a four year old feels a little embarrassed when folks surround him like they do a calf at a country fair and say, "So that's Maggie's boy, is it?"

A few weeks later the same grandson was punished by being locked up in a smokehouse. Rummaging around, I came across a tattered copy of "Abraham Lincoln's Jokes" and when the relighting time granparent soon opened the door, the "prisoner" declared, "I don't wanna come out; I'm readin' a book". Probably those Abe Lincoln stories started me off on a lifetime of fondness for good, robust, human jokes.

My grandma has always had difficulty in hearing, but when we "young uns" were plotting to slip away from the tasks around the log cabin in order to slide down Rocky Hill or swing on the grapevine swing, she had a way of sensing the conspiracy if the word "Grandma" was mentioned.

One day, she and I were climbing up a big hill from the big road after going to the mail box and when the crest was reached, she turned and, looking back over the valleys with their waving wheat, said to herself, "The fields of golden grain." Grandma had kept burning on the hearth of her heart a love for the beautiful.

Another day rammaging through old papers, I came across a scrapbook in which there were some poems written by Richard O'Brien and two of them were entitled "To Mary". He was my grandfather; my grandmother was Mary. The poems were quite pretty.

The memory that I carried away from my last visit to grandma's was the sight of her sitting in the lamplight chucking as she read a little joke book of which I was the author. My grandmother has never grown old.

Most unusual rain story recently is the one by Carl Roeme in the Turkey Enterprise. It seems that a citizen rejoicing in the nickname of "Double Denver" was standing in front of a store when a rain arrived without any warning and the citizen was so shocked that he fainted. But the storekeeper knew what to do, he grabbed a handful of sand, threw it in Denver's face and he revived immediately!

Nine-Day Sale Of Tires Is Aid To Safe Roads

Local Goodyear Dealer Says Plan Should Help Reduce Accidents

Announced this week nationally by Goodyear dealers in every city and town is an unusual tire merchandising event, centering around the product of a large manufacturer, in the opinion of J. E. Reeves, local dealer, who says that for nine days, starting August 22, Goodyear G-3 All-Weather Tread tires are being offered at new, low prices in an out-of-the-ordinary type plan.

"Few people need an introduction to the tire, which for years has been used by thousands, appeared as original equipment on many cars and has wide acceptance among car owners, who for years have been familiar with its tractive qualities and long wearing abilities," Mr. Reeves said. "That's why this opportunity it all the more interesting to motorists."

Asked about the price of a 6.00-16, the size tire which 70 per cent of the cars now in service use, Mr. Reeves said this would be $9.99 for the nine days of the sale, adding that it would be the only time this year the tire would be sold for that figure.

Pressed for a reason as to why the tires are being offered at the price, Mr. Reeves said:

"All of the G-3 All-Weather tires are affected during the sale, with prices varying from $9.99, but at considerable saving. Reason for this sale is to contribute to the safety of the highways, to give motorists a break in buying tires with treads that will really stop a car."

"Wet weather is just ahead, you know, and slippery roads demand tires that will stop, for safety's sake. Skids are the first cause of a majority of accidents.

"We are interested in putting good tires on cars now, when they can be seasoned well, so in cool weather they will provide up to 25 per cent more mileage than if they had been applied during the extremely hot weather."

"We are ready and willing to make inspections of anyone's tires to be sure they are highway safe. And there is no obligation involved. America's motoring death toll can be cut drastically by adoption of safety measures and good tire equipment is a logical place at which to start."

Survey Shows Fluctuation in Cattle Industry of Texas Over 20-Year Period

Austin, Tex.—The Texas range is witnessing a hardpressed cattle industry, a leveled-off production of hogs, large gains in milk cows, and a phenomenal increase in sheep.

This picture of the State's live stock industry comes from a 20-year survey just published by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Since 1920 more than a million head of cattle have vanished—at least the 1940 herd of 6,677,000 head is that much smaller than the one of 1920, though there have been wide fluctuations from one year to the next during the last two decades.

Low point of the 20 years was in 1928, when there were only 5,950,000 head of cattle in the State. The peak was reached in 1934 with 8,410,000 head.

It is possible, declares Dr. F. A. Buechel, the Bureau's livestock expert, that the decline in cattle since 1937 is simply a "dip that may curve upward again in the next few years."

Cattle marketings for the last 15 years have ranged between 1,819,775 head in 1932 and 2,917,109 in 1939. Average annual marketing for the 15-year period were estimated at 2,298,509.

Dairy cattle, however, have been on a steady upgrade with only two years of retardation—both slight in effect—1925 and 1935. The number of milk cows have increased from 930,000 head in 1920 to 1,443,000 head in 1940.

The swine industry for the last two decades has experienced a succession of surges and recessions, with the number declining from 2,580,000 head in 1920 to 2,293,000 in 1940. The droves increased almost a hundred thousand in 1921, but the following year started a slump that carried them to only 1,460,000 head in 1925. Improvement in 1927 and 1928 was followed by another decline for several years. By 1933 the number had risen to 2,260,000 head, dropping almost immediately to a new low of 1,399,000 head in 1935. Since then gains have been fairly regular. Average annual market disappearance of hogs has been 1,401,527 head.

Sheep-raising, however, is apparently the "white hope" of the livestock industry in Texas—with flocks tripling in the last two decades. From 3,360,000 head in 1920, these animals have increased to 10,069,000 head in 1940. The only halt in this upswing was in 1935 and 1936 when the number dropped nearly a million head from 1934 and totaled only a little over 7,000,000 head.

Sheep marketings, too, have shown a relatively steady increase—from 680,439 head in 1925 to 3,023,794 head in 1938 and 2,634,095 in 1939. Low points were in 1930 and 1935, both followed by large gains the next year. Average marketings for the 15-year period were 1,529,206 head.

Without any Reflection on the Opposing Candidate or his Supporters, the Friends of

H. S. Lattimore

... of Tarrant County

Request that you vote for him for CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS in the run-off primary, to be held this coming Saturday.

We offer you Hal Lattimore for these very sound reasons:

He is an able judge, having held some of the most important posts in the state from the judgeships the voters can confer.

He is an experienced lawyer and business man, with a fine common sense, which qualifies any man to better serve in a judgeship.

He owns and operates considerable farm lands in West Texas, which he and the late Judge O. S. Lattimore, his father, acquired in Hal's boyhood. He has the rare quality through this experience, of understanding the problems of West Texas as well as East Texas. Not all candidates for state offices do understand them.

He is a man of middle age, in excellent health, and entirely willing to serve his State and its people as a PUBLIC SERVANT, and in no other sense.

WE'RE READY

...and big enough to do the Job!

AMERICA is busily engaged in building a defense of her freedom.

This freedom of ours—freedom of action, freedom of thought, freedom from fear and oppression, freedom of enterprise—is the most precious thing in the world to protect.

Electric service will play a big part in this great program of strengthening our defenses. Your electric company is ready NOW to do its full share in any task this community may be called upon to perform.

We're ready because for years we have planned far in advance in order to meet your ever-increasing demands for electrical service.

Because of this we have built power capacity in advance of any demands in the community.

To assure constant power under all conditions our several sources of electricity are linked together so that the switch at your finger-tip controls power from many sources. If one should fail, it is but a split second until a new source of power is at your bidding.

The highly skilled and trained staff of people who have built up your electric service, and who are serving you from day to day, are eager for any new task.

It is through these people, and this marvelous system of interconnected power plants and distribution lines they have built, that we are ready to do our part.

Meanwhile, we have not forgotten that our job in the future, as in the past, is to improve our service and its usefulness to you, and bring more of the good things of life to more people at less cost.

Munday Drops 2-0 Game Sunday To Rhineland

The Rhineland softball team bid adieu to Munday for the 1940 season last Sunday by administering to them their fourth consecutive defeat, 2 and 0.

It was a real pitcher's battle until the eighth, when the Raiders registered their two runs and required approximately two hours to reel off.

The real hero of the contest was Decker, mound ace for the winners, who permitted only two safeties and issued no free passes to first base, and also drove in the first run of the game with a long fly to right field. He faced only two extra men in turning in this brilliant performance. Strickland pitched well for Munday, allowing only five hits, but his mates, who at times turned in spectacular ball, were unable to solve the offerings of the Raider tosser.

Although they lost, Munday held the Rhineland team with power through this encounter, and the team turned in a good game.

In what will be the final tilt of the regular season, Rhineland will meet Knox City at Rhineland next Sunday. And let this be a reminder—it will be your last opportunity to see the potential champions of the Knox county softball league in action, except in the playoff. The series to decide the championship is but a mere formality, for after two short contests they will have the flag in their proud possession.
