C. R. Elliott, local farmer-stockman and manager of the Munday office of the Stamford Production Credit Association, was elected president of the Munday Chamber of Commerce at its annual membership meeting last Friday night. Elliott succeeds W. R. Moore, who has completed a successful year as head of the Munday organization.

J. A. Caughran, manager of the Wm. Cameron & Co. yard at Munday, was elected vice president, succeeding Leland Hannah.

Elected as directors are T. G. Benge, C. P. Baker, W. R. Moore, Leland Hannah, P. V. Williams, Wallace Reid, J. C. Campbell, W. E. Braly, E. W. Harrell, Lee Haymes, W. V. Tiner and A. H. Mitchell. Members of last year's directors were retired from the board are Fred Broach, Emmett Partidge, J. A. Caughran and C. R. Elliott.

Despite the rather cool night, sickness and other activities which kept many away from this annual event, around 150 were in attendance.

Rev. Dick O'Brien of Stamford acted as toastmaster and directed the program in a manner typical only of Dick O'Brien. His part on the program was interspersed with humor and wit that gave lots of pep to the audience.

Rev. Luther Kirk, pastor of the Methodist church, pronounced the invocation, after which guests enjoyed a coffee hour. A feature of the program was splendid musical program rendered by Knox county talent. Bill Davis, saxophone, and Kenneth Frizzell, accordion, both of Knox City entertained during the coffee hour with delightful musical numbers. They are two of Knox county's most talented musicians and their part on the program was enjoyed by all in attendance.

Mr. Moore introduced all visiting guests, many of whom were from towns of Knox and surrounding counties. Following this, Mr. Moore made his annual report of the year's activities.

Featured on the program were the Hardin-Simmons University group, who entertained with musical numbers—vocal solos, the marimba trio and other enjoyable numbers. Joe Dean Propst, tenor, sang several numbers, and led the audience in the singing of "God Bless America."

The speaker, Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne College of Brownwood, brought an enjoyable message to his hearers, one which emphasized the spirit of neighborliness and helpfulness to those about us. Dr. Taylor dwelt on the importance of everyone spreading sunshine and happiness among his fellowmen, stating this was a practice which cost us nothing, yet it goes a long way toward helping the other fellow see the brighter side of life and to realize his own efforts are known and appreciated.

Dr. Taylor added humor and wit to his talk—that which is recognized as the type so successfully expounded by the late Will Rogers. This was Dr. Taylor's second visit to Munday on the occasion of the Chamber of Commerce's annual gathering.

The local organization did away with the old routine of having reports of all committees read at the regular meeting. These reports were printed on the attractive programs which emphasized the patriotic theme.

The local organization is looking forward to a successful year under the leadership of its new officers and directors.

After several weeks of preparation, the lunch room for colored school children was opened this week. The children were served their first hot lunch from the lunch room Wednesday.

The colored people have engaged in several activities in order to secure funds for this lunch room. The P.-T.A. realized $35.71 from the sale of tickets for a quilt. This amount was sufficient to pay in full all indebtedness on the lunch room.

Much credit has been given Alene Johnson and Simon Williams for selling the most tickets.

Everyone connected with the lunch room appreciate the splendid support given it by the citizens of Munday.

Garments For British Aid To Be Made Here

Work of making garments in Munday to be sent to the aid of Britain got under way this week when several ladies of Munday started knitting and sewing for this purpose.

Munday is to contribute 25 boys sweaters, which will be knitted. Several ladies met at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon and started the garments. Those who can knit for this purpose, or those who wish to learn, are asked to get in touch with Mrs. M. F. Billingsley.

In addition to the knitted garments, dresses will also be made for British women.

The ladies will meet at the Methodist church next Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Those who are interested are urged to be present.

Haskell Settler Dies on Saturday

Benjamin F. Pate, 70, a familiar figure in Haskell for many years, died at the Haskell county hospital early Saturday after a short illness.

He is survived by two other sons, Claude Pate of San Antonio, and Clyde Pate of Gilmer; four daughters, Mrs. Lillie Mayes, Mrs. Myrtle Cook and Mrs. Clare Hamilton of Haskell and Mrs. Louise Simpson of Denver.

60,229 Bales of Cotton Shipped From Munday During Fall of 1906

An interesting bit of statistics for Knox county was found last Saturday while The Times editor was looking through an old copy of The Munday Times which was brought in by Mrs. G. W. Redwine. Records of rainfall and cotton shipments for Knox county were given for a period of 20 years, beginning with the year 1886. According to these records Knox county's greatest cotton producing year was 1906. During that year there were 60,229 bales of cotton shipped out of the county.

The paper gave no record of cotton shipments for the period 1886 through 1889, and it is presumed cotton first began to gain prominence in the county in 1900, when 5,289 bales were shipped.

The following records will be of interest to many old timers and others who are interested in the

Williamson Gang Is Back in Texas

The Williamson Gang, notorious linen, fur and rug peddlers, are reported to be spending the winter in nearby Texas cities.

Last reported in Dallas by a garage where the gang had its automobiles serviced, the group is reported to be composed of about 18 families and is using about the same number of automobiles.

Members of the gang "invade" a city and, each specialist in foisting his own type of inferior junk off on gullible purchasers seeking bargains, proceed to "cover" the town before moving on to the next pasture of easy pickings.—Better Business Bureau Bulletin.

Chief of Police M. J. Franklin reports the arrest recently of two parties which are believed to be members of this gang. They were reported to be selling inferior furs in Munday. Franklin said it was through the cooperation of Munday citizens that these were apprehended, and in each instance fines were imposed, and the violators asked to leave the city.

The first arrest was on January 27, and the second on Monday, March 3rd.

Reviews Work Of Organization

Compares Camps Of Today With Those Of 1917-18

Ed Riedel of San Angelo, department commander of the American Legion of Texas, brought an interesting message on Americanism last Tuesday night when he spoke to a group of about 125 people at the Munday school auditorium.

Riedel spoke again Wednesday morning at the Knox City school, was principal speaker at the Lions Club here at noon, and spoke at the school at one o'clock. He went from here to Throckmorton where he spoke Wednesday night.

Going directly to his task, Riedel reviewed briefly the work of the American Legion, stating this organization had an important task to perform. He reviewed the aid given to ex-service men and their widows on their disability and compensation claims, stating this senatorial district received better than $37,000 last year through the Legion. He also pointed out the important work done by the child welfare committees, the Legion auxiliaries, the Sons of the Legion, and other organizations which tend to create a greater spirit of Americanism within the nation.

Riedel gave some important information on the army camps of today, assuring all parents that their boys are taken care of. He visited the camp at San Antonio and also Camp Bowie at Brownwood. He said the boys had clothes that fit them and looked neat on them, had comfortable lodging, were given the best of foods, and were treated with the utmost courtesy and respect by their officers.

He compared army camp conditions today with those of 1917-18, when soldiers filled "gunny-sacks" with straw or their mattresses, were issued clothing that didn't fit and had their own mess kits to clean and take care of.

"Your boys are taken care of," he assured the parents, "and they like it. Most of them are not looking for the soft jobs, they want to drill, want to be out in the open and have the exercise that develops them into strong men."

Riedel reviewed the preparedness program, the support the American Legion has given the Dies committee and asserted that our greatest danger was within our own boundaries. He praised work of the home defense guard, and stated that when America was rid of the fifth column and every other "ism" except Americanism and when the true spirit of Americanism was instilled into the hearts and minds of Americans, he dared any aggressor to invade our shores.

Seated with Riedel on the platform were Howard Hutchens, of Vernon, commander of the 13th district; Ozzie Turner, commander of the Knox City post; C. A. Dawson, commander at Throckmorton; Lott Keffer, commander at Seymour; J. C. Harpham, local post commander; Don Ferris and Bert Nichols, post adjutant.

Approval Given Highway Job In Knox County

Estimated to cost $4,400, the project will consist of surface repairs and asphalt seal coat on U. S. Highway 82 extending from Benjamin to a point 7.7 miles east of Benjamin.

Highway engineers are preparing plans and specifications for the work, which is expected to be placed under contract during the early summer.

BILLINGSLEY RETURNS Robert Billingsley, a member of the March 3 quota of volunteers, returned last Thursday from Fort Bliss, where he took the physical examination, and was rejected.

Pat Propps of Knox City was a visitor here last Sunday.

DEFENSE IS ON THE AIR

When radio first began to become commercially practicable, one of the brightest prophecies made for its future was to the effect that through it the people of this country would be better informed on national affairs, and hence better able to exercise their free rights intelligently under our system of representative democracy.

More and more, as the years go by, the American radio, in contrast to that of other lands, is living up to its promise by giving the people the facts on things that are of importance to the national present and the national future.

Currently on the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Company early each Saturday evening is a program which probably illustrates the above point as thoroughly as any that has yet hit the air. It is called "Defense for America" and, as its name implies, it is devoted to informing the American public concerning the progress of the present rearmament effort.

Each week this broadcast series will move to a new city active in the defense effort, and will treat a new industry which is contributing to American security. First on the list was the key machine tool industry, which makes the "super-machines" on which all other mass-production manufacturing depends. Treated in ensuing programs will be aircraft, tanks, communications, submarines and many others. Commentators will actually go into the factories and while production is going on, you can hear from the lips of the skilled workmen of America themselves both the explanation of the jobs they are doing, and the heartening story of industry's progress in "making America strong."

In this program, the radio is giving a stirring example of its ability to keep all of America informed on matters vital to the country's welfare. And by listening in Saturday evenings to "Defense for America" you can both test the truth of this statement and gain a new measure of pride in the United States of America—one of the last free lands on the earth, and one of the few where finding out facts like these is possible.

INDUSTRIAL SURVEY

It is no idle statement, and the public no longer needs proof of the same, that American industry has cooperated magnificently in the defense program. Both the President and William Knudsen have praised the work of those who are at present cooperating and the spirit of those who have as yet found little they can do.

In particular regard to the latter, there is a current activity planned this long time and lately being brought into being by the National Association of Manufacturers which gives them a chance at aiding in defense activity.

The association has originated and asked each local aid in pushing a survey inventory of American industry. This survey may be of vital importance. The Office of Production Management counts heavily upon it. Its work will be to record every square inch of industrial capacity now in use and the possible maximum of that capacity.

Here is a real service on the part of industry and such gives an idea of the intelligent way they are going about their task. Nothing haphazard here, nothing left to chance. The survey gives ample indication why the problem of mass armament procurement is best left to the skilled hands of industry itself.

FAMOUS BOOK PEDDLERS

During the early history of America, and during most of the last century, books were sold to the public largely through the personal canvassing of itinerant salesmen. A number of noted persons were book peddlers in their early years, including at least three Presidents.

George Washington once canvassed for a book called "The American Savage; How He May Be Tamed by The Weapons of Civilization." He sold about 200 copies in Alexandria, Va., and vicinity. Ulysses S. Grant sold Irving's "Life and Voyages of Columbus" before the Civil War, and his successor as President, Rutherford B. Hayes, sold books in Ohio, including Baxter's "Lives of the Saints."

Henry W. Longfellow, Bret Harte, John Gould, and P. T. Barnum all peddled books before they rose to fame. One of the most aggressive of the early book sellers was Mark Twain, who was a publisher as well as an author. He published President Grant's "Memoirs" of which he sold about 320,000 sets in a single year, but he had plenty of help in his enterprise. His firm paid Grant's estate about $450,000, in royalties.

The foregoing notes on famous book salesmen is from data contained in a bulletin of the New York Public Library.

INDUSTRY CHECKS UP CAREFULLY

During production, the average automobile made in an American factory is subject to at least 2,000 approvals by various inspectors before it receives a final, thorough "O.K." and is ready to be sold.

Growth of Munday in 20 Months

THE PHENOMENAL GROWTH OF THIS CITY—
IT NUMEROUS ADVANTAGES TOLD
(Taken from the August 23, 1907, edition of The Munday Times)

While the country surrounding Munday has had such a remarkable growth during the past few years, it has not been developed as rapidly as the town itself. Two years ago the town had a population of about 400 and had no positive assurance of a railroad. All merchandise was freighted from Stamford and Seymour, 42 and 35 miles away, respectively.

All business and residence houses in Munday were cheaply built on account of the high prices of building material and partly on account of an idea that a railroad might some day be built near here and the town moved to it. At that time there were three general merchandise stores, two small drug stores and a few smaller mercantile establishments, a small unpretentious bank building, one gin and three blacksmith shops. Such, in brief, is a description of the town the newcomer who came to Munday two years ago would see, after covering that long distance of 42 miles from Stamford by stage.

But the Munday of today is quite different. The coming of the railroad put new life and vigor into the town. Her advantages and resources up to the time had been but little known, but that time had passed and her citizens went to work to make them both known and appreciated. The light of a grander day was falling full and fair upon the minds of the intelligent citizenship of the town. The town advantages were advertised and soon prospectors from various points began to flock here and invest in town and farm property and Munday and surrounding territory flourished as never before.

The prospector who comes to Munday now is confronted by quite different conditions from the weary, travel-worn prospector who experienced traveling 42 miles by stage before reaching here, to find only a small village which only constituted a small speck on the broad prairie. The newcomer who now visits Munday comes on the splendid passenger train of the Wichita Valley Railway, which makes a daily round trip from Abilene to Wichita Falls. He finds Munday to be a town of 1,500 to 2,000 inhabitants with several brick and stone buildings and graded streets. He will not be slow to observe the splendid residences and the handsome three-story school building in the west part of town. All this change has come within about 20 months.

SAFE—MAYBE!

It is only human nature to think that our property and our lives are in small danger from fire, the great killer and destroyer. So many of us defer taking simple "anti-fire" precautions. In this case, putting off until tomorrow what should be done today, is safe—maybe, and that's a very important "maybe" indeed. Fire isn't considerate enough to warn us of an impending visit. It mails no advance notices. It strikes when we least expect it—and often strikes at night. It finds us ill prepared, it enjoys a grim field day of destruction.

Perhaps you've seen homes and factories burn. You've seen walls fall in an inferno of smoke and flames. You've seen costly possessions and irreplaceable keepsakes reduced to worthless ash in a few minutes. Possibly you've seen helpless people trapped floors above the ground, waiting for aid that may or may not come.

You're lucky if that hasn't happened to you. But there's no guarantee that luck will go on indefinitely. You and yours may be next on fire's long list, unless you take those precautions that will make your property safe. Nothing offers greater potential dividends than fire prevention.

The New Hampshire legislature decided recently to repeal some old ordinances, including one providing a jail term for "a stubborn child, a stubborn servant, or a common fiddler."

Many industries contribute to the production of the various products we need for national defense. In spite of the fact that a modern battleship is 93 per cent steel, these other materials are among those needed in considerable quantities for its construction; copper, lead, zinc, aluminum, cork, wood, asbestos, cement and glass.

INELIGIBLE FAMILIES DEFAULT

College Station—A ruling regarding the amount to be paid to the government by an ineligible family receiving a mattress or a comfort under the 1940 or 1941 cotton mattress program has been announced by R. T. Price, state administrative director for the Triple-A. He says, where a family received a mattress or a comfort and was later found to be ineligible, the family will be required to pay to the Treasurer of the United States $6.55 for the mattress and/or $1.35 for the comfort. If the mattress and comfort have not been used by the ineligible family, both may be returned to the government, and without penalty.

CLUB ENROLLMENT GAINS

College Station—Enrollment in home demonstration and girls 4-H clubs show a steady upward trend for the past three years. The aggregate in both girls' and adults' clubs has increased from 72,969 in 1938 to 85,108 in 1940. This represents a gain of 14 per cent for the past three-year period, says Helen H. Swift, sociologist working with rural women's organizations for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

In 1938 there were 32,258 4-H club girls enrolled in 180 counties; in 1940 there were 38,851 in 191 counties, representing an increase of nearly 17 per cent. Increase in enrollment of club women was computed at 13 per cent. The figure rose from 40,611 in 1938 to 46,257 in 1940.

From 1939 to 1940 there was an increase of more than 8 per cent in the aggregate enrollment of women and girls, Miss Swift adds.

Newspapers of Texas Give Views Of Traffic Safety Needs in State

The Senate of Texas has an opportunity to promote the safety of every person using Texas roads and highways, and to cut down materially the frightful loss of life and the terrible toll of property damage occurring annually from motor traffic accidents. * * * By enacting the measure, Texas will join the lengthening list of states placing in effect a uniform traffic safety code. * * * As the Bill was approved by the House, the fee for drivers of privately owned and operated vehicles would be only 75 cents. This is the equivalent of five gallons, or less, of gasoline, and cannot fairly be construed as a tax upon the poor. * * *—Austin Daily Tribune.

"If the Texas Senate will just follow through now that the House has passed the more stringent drivers' license law, and if both Houses will do something about giving the Highway Patrol enough money and men to do its gigantic job properly, then this state will be getting somewhere at long last in the matter of traffic safety."—Waco Times Herald.

—s-a-f-e-t-y—
"One of the state's primary safety needs is enlargement of the Texas highway patrol. In recent years, accidents on Texas roads have shown a close relationship with the size of this force. When the number of patrolmen was increased, serious accidents were lessened; when the force was cut, accidents mounted. If the legislators place a high value on Texas lives, they will have to double the patrol from its present reduced strength."—Dallas Morning News.

—s-a-f-e-t-y—
"A number of reasons can be given for this tremendous casualty list in Texas but the underlying cause is the antiquity of our traffic regulations. * * * Texans are paying for the refusal of its legislators to correct this situation with broken bodies and caskets. * * * Texas needs a standard drivers' license law with teeth in it. A license law which will sort out the unfit from the fit to drive and one that can be enforced. * * * At least 200 additional patrolmen are needed in the state to assure anywhere near adequate enforcement of highway laws. Twice that many are needed to bring the Texas highway patrol personnel on a par with those of other states."—Howe Messenger.

"Some of the members of the Legislature apparently believe that the protection of the reckless, carelessness, incompetent and drunken drivers from punishment for their acts is of more importance than the protection of the careful, capable and sober drivers from death and injury at the hands of the other kinds. * * * Unless the people themselves take a hand in the matter and demand of their Representatives and Senators the enactment of a traffic law that has teeth in it, it begins to appear that for at least another biennium we shall be struggling along with the old law under which in 1936 any moron could obtain a driver's license with a court conviction the only possible means of revoking it. * * * By and large, the pending bill, drafted by those whose single interest in the matter is increasing safety, will meet that need."—Odessa American.

"Something must be done. Too much blood is being spilled on the highways and streets of Texas as a result of accidents involving persons who drink and drive. * * * If the new law being considered by the legislators is potentially one that will reduce highway fatalities, place a tighter curb on drinking and driving and bring about more rigid enforcement, then it should be enacted, and quickly."—Greenville Banner.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. Do You Believe That . . .
 We never know the love of the parent until we become parents ourselves. When we first bend over the cradle of our child, God throws back the temple door and reveals to us the sacredness and mystery of a father's and a mother's love to ourselves. And in later years, when they have gone from us, there is always a certain sorrow, that we cannot tell them we have found it out.—One of the deepest experiences of a noble nature that have passed beyond this world, is the thought of what he might have been to them, and done for them, if he had known, while they were living, what he has learned since they died.—H. W. Beecher.

Senior Report
 The Seniors are very proud of the great volume of new books which were added to our school's library.

The Seniors considered the opportunity of going to Munday Friday to watch the soldier boys and the artillery pass through, a great privilege.

Mr. Hoffman seems to think that the devil has a hard time keeping track of all that the Seniors do.

Richard says that if he committed a crime and the judge would tell him to go to some big city and sit on a flag pole for six days, he would say: "Listen here, judge: I can't do that, it will ruin my good name."

Junior Report
 The Juniors are now passing the hardest part of their junior year in geometry; namely, locus and proportion. It is becoming more difficult to work and to understand, and they are dreading the examination in geometry already. The Juniors have finished checking all the books in the library. It was not an easy task to get them in line.

Here are some of the favorites of the Juniors:

Texas Twentieth in Licenses
 Austin, Texas, March — Texas, sixth in population, fifth among the states in big game population, and sixth in duck hunters, according to figures of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, is twentieth in the sale of hunting licenses, according to a summary of license data assembled by the federal service and received here by the executive secretary of the Texas Game Fish and Oyster Commission.

Game census figures disclose Texas has a large supply of many species of game, but the lack of universal hunting and fishing licenses bring the state down in the total number of licenses sold, and, consequently, in the amount of money made available to the Game Department with which to restore game. The Department is self-supporting, drawing no funds from the general revenues of the state.

All of the leading states, such as Michigan, which sold 711,723 licenses for 1939, the last year for which figures are available; Pennsylvania, which is second with 661,330 licenses, and New York, which is third with 591,946 licenses, have the universal hunting license, as sportsmen who have long advocated a universal license for Texas point out. The total sale of licenses in Texas in 1939 amounted to 123,355. In the Lone Star State it is not necessary to purchase a license if one hunts in the county of his residence.

It is interesting to note that the ranks of the hunters are increasing annually. From 1935 to 1938 the increase was at the rate of a half million a year. The 1937 tabulation for the United States showed 6,860,000 licenses sold and the 1938 tabulation was 7,524,000. In 1939 the increase was 122,000, making a total of 7,646,193 persons who had purchased licenses to hunt.

The Lone Star State continues to rank high in duck hunting. The latest figures assembled by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service show that in 1939 a total of 63,460 federal duck stamps were sold in Texas. That places the state sixth, the same as it was in 1938. Minnesota continues to lead with a sale of 120,034 stamps. Michigan was second with 86,064. Wisconsin placed third with 84,075; California was fourth with 74,644 and Illinois was fifth with 66,434.

A total of 1,111,561 duck stamps were sold in 1939. The federal Service uses money derived from the sale to purchase areas and maintain refuges for migratory fowl. Refuges are a big factor in helping increase ducks each year.

Planting White Bass
 While the season on bass and crappie fishing is now closed and the Texas Game Department will be unable to start stocking the streams with fish from its hatcheries for several months, the Department is now stocking a number of lakes with white bass, the most prolific sport fish which has grown in the waters of the Lone Star State.

White bass need a lake into which run waters of a large creek or river. The fish migrate upstream each spring to spawn. They will spawn very seldom in lakes proper.

Thus it is impossible for the Game Department to raise these fish in hatcheries. However, during the last few years many white bass have been seined when they start upstream and used to stock other lakes. More than a dozen suitable lakes were stocked last spring and reports to the executive secretary of the Department show the fish are thriving wherever planted.

While the Game Department has a limited supply of white bass, it is hoped there will be a sufficient number seined this spring to stock all of the remaining lakes in the state which are suitable for the raising of this member of the finny family.

White bass are so prolific that they spawn as many as 500,000 eggs. In comparison, black bass and many other species of game fish spawn as few as 20,000 eggs.

O'Possum Got the Blame
 O'Possums got the blame, but it really was a big bobcat which was getting the chickens of Arthur Kraetz of Heckenburg, (Fayette County) he found recently. Kraetz had been missing chickens and suspected o'possums. He was rather surprised when he killed a bobcat in the chicken house. The predator weighed 17 pounds and measured 26 inches. The cat killed five chickens the night it was slain by Mr. Kraetz.

Juniors

The Juniors are all enthusiastic over their play, No Bride For the Groom, which has proved to be a knockout after reading it over. They urge each and every one of you to be thinking of this play—and to keep watching this column and elsewhere for the time, date, and admission.

The Home Economics III girls are still making pastries and will soon start preparing the dinners, which are being eagerly looked forward to.

Keep watching for No Bride for the Groom.

Volleyball Report

Since the Sunset girls were defeated by Knox City Friday night they are more willing and ready to fight, and what I mean they are determined to win. The girls are playing volleyball as they never played before, and you have heard "Practice makes perfect."

Out of 20 games the girls are happy to say they have lost only three games, therefore, they do not intend to break this record. They have won two first places and one third place from the three tournaments they have entered. Here is hoping to see the rest of our volleyball friends next Saturday.

Sixth Grade

Best citizens for last week were Denzil Davis and John Voss.

Barbara Jane Almanrode, Margie Lowrey, John Voss, J. B. Walling and F. A. Johnston were on the honor roll for this six weeks.

The police report this week did not include a single charge against anyone.

Club meeting sounded less like a magpie convention and more like a congress session, if there is any difference in the two.

First Grade

The first grade is glad to have Cleon Watson as a new pupil. There were seven on our honor roll this time. We have learned to 'carry' in numbers. We are enjoying our flowers in our room. We are expecting one of our pansies to bloom in a few days.

Third Grade

There were three on our honor roll this time—Druella Frost, Patsy Matthews and Weldon Mansfield. Patsy and Druella have been on the honor roll each time this school year. We made some new rules this morning, that our room may be a better place to live in.

persons in the Selective Service System has jurisdiction until the local board has classified him.

Employers and dependents of the prospective trainees who are submitting pleas for deferments in advance of the time when they come up for classification by their local boards, Director Page said, "are merely complicating the work of the local boards, without service to the interested parties."

Under Selective Service Regulations, local boards must classify registrants according to their order numbers, he pointed out, and said that when the time comes for classification of a registrant, he, his employer and his dependents must be given every opportunity to substantiate deferment claims. Any information submitted before a registrant receives his questionnaire from his local board, he added, is apt to become obsolete and valueless.

Employers in doubt as to the likelihood of their employees being called for Selective Service training, should communicate with Col. Dwight Horton or Major James B. Arthur, State Advisors on Occupational Deferments at State Headquarters, Austin, Texas, who will give them all possible information, Director Page said.

RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

By EARLE FERRIS

for a return engagement with Eddie Cantor soon on his Wednesday laugh opus on NBC.

War-torn England now enjoys the weekly Jack Benny broadcasts by means of special electrical transcriptions which are made during Jack's NBC programs in America and then air-mailed to the British Broadcasting Corporation for re-broadcast in Britain. Sir Cedric Hardwicke, British-born Hollywood star, arranged for the special recordings in order to bring cheer to his countrymen.

Amateur song writers have found that it is so much easier to mail their compositions to Tommy Dorsey than it is to get in to see a music publisher. And, if Dorsey picks their tunes, they are sure of being broadcast on the "Fame and Fortune" programs over the NBC-Blue network Thursday nights. Dorsey, pictured here, also gives winners $100 advance royalty.

Phil Spitalny, whose "Hour of Charm" is heard over the NBC-Red network Sunday nights at 10 p.m., e.s.t., will tour Texas in April, making several theatre stops. On their way back to New York he'll break the journey with a visit to

New Orleans from where the April 20th broadcast will originate.

Even the movie stars aren't immune to the fascination of watching Bob Hawk's "Take It Or Leave It" program in action. Although Hawk isn't due to take the show to Hollywood until the end of March, he's already received numerous requests from film favorites for tickets.

Powers models are acknowledged to be the world's prettiest girls and some are also good actresses. Pictured here is Mary Reid, popular model, who has just joined the cast of "Crime Doctor" over CBS Sundays at 8:30 p.m., e.s.t.

Latest of the many honors won by Madeline Gray's "Bright Idea Club" over the NBC-Red network is the official stamp of approval from the Association of New York City Schools. Juvenile correction organizations in 23 states have also praised the series.

No one, not even the script writer, has ever given a last name to radio's "Mr. District Attorney."

who is heard over the NBC-Red network Wednesdays at 9:30 p.m., e.s.t. However, in real life he is Jay Jostyn, pictured here, recently voted the handsomest actor in radio by the students of Hunter College.

Munday Times of 1907 is Booster for Knox County

A prized possession of Mrs. G. W. Redwine is a copy of The Munday Times that is almost 34 years old. Although the paper is yellowed with age and is rotten and easily torn, it is in pretty fair state of preservation.

The special edition, boosting Munday and Knox county, consisted of 36 pages. It was well filled with advertising of Munday business men and carried 96 cuts—pictures of Munday pioneers, business and farming scenes in Munday and Knox county.

The Munday Times was hardly two years old when this special edition was printed by Durham and Broach, publishers. It gave special attention to the growth and prosperity of Munday and famous Knox Prairie since the advent of the railroad, which was about a year earlier. The paper was published on August 23, 1907.

The edition pictured The Munday Times force at that time. They were Stanley T. Switzer, Clarence D. Knight, Thomas Durham, M. Clendenin and Clifton Branham.

There were 28 pictures of Knox pioneers, which included the following: W. G. Sherrod, M. S. Ruff, E. L. Reeves, Dr. J. T. Lee, N. L. Newsom, A. J. Glasgow, T. E. Wayde, J. J. Switzer, Dr. T. G. Easley, B. H. Howard, City Marshal R. T. Bickers, J. P. Howard, Dr. D. C. Wylie, Dr. J. R. Smith, Dr. W. M. Crume, R. C. Rogers, R. E. Bell, R. P. Munday, Thos. A. Layne, Wm. P. Farrington, John S. Fisher, Rev. L. W. Carleton, R. B. Wilson, Rev. R. G. M. Eiland, Dr. A. A. Smith, Mac Castles, Orville Bullington and W. S. Ledbetter.

A group picture of employees of Baker-Bryant, Co. shows P. H. Campbell, E. E. Akers, W. S. Britton, C. B. Goodwin, Hugh Layne, S. L. Conn, Miss Ada Baker, and W. A. Baker. Another group of five of Munday's pioneers includes Chas. L. Mayes, Walter H. Cousins, W. G. Sherrod, F. J. McLendon, and W. A. Earnest.

Munday's cornet band, Thos. A. Layne, manager, is also shown. Some of the individual members are easily recognized by those who know them.

Churches pictured in the edition are the Methodist Church, which is the building just recently torn down by the Presbyterian congregation; the Baptist Church and the Christian Church. A picture of the Gillespie school is also shown.

Other photos are of threshing and farming operations on Knox county farms, the Wichita Valley passenger train, two street scenes, the two banks, and several store interiors, including Cousins Drug Store, J. M. Terry's confectionery, and the interior of Beatty Bros. Store, showing a display of buggies, saddles, harness, etc.

Residences pictured in the edition included those of W. A. Ear-

At The Churches

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Luther Kirk
Did you ever think about it? Some folks stay home from church because they have company. Some go visiting and therefore the people they visit can't attend church because they have company. While others are going to be detained and as it appears to us; miss heaven because of their company. It is a funny world, but how could it be different with so many funny people living in it? Take this thing of sympathy for instance. If I do not get sympathy from you I will sympathize with myself. I will get sympathy. And then there is that thing known as a compliment. If you don't brag on me a little, I will brag on myself. I will get the complement. This seems to be a human characteristic. But hear me, my friend, I am persuaded that a time will come when my sympathy and compliments along with all other human characteristics, will be of little value. It will be the sympathy and compliment of the Heavenly Father that will be desired at that hour. Let's incorporate in our lives the essential things for eternal life. Let us accept the graces of God. You are invited to be with us Sunday.
Sunday School 10:00 a.m.
Morning Worship 11 a.m.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The services last Sunday were well attended and the general interest was good, and the offering was up. Read again Deut. 33:27; 2 Chron. 7:14; Malachi 3:10; Luke 11:9 and then ask yourself if you have faith enough to believe what the Bible says.
The following attended the District 17 convention in Stamford last Thursday and give a glowing report of the meeting: J. E. Reeves, Jean Reeves, Sue Stodghill, Bonnie Jones, Patsy Hannah, Juracy Jones, Wayne Blacklock, Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Hathaway, Mrs. A. J. Beatty, Phil Lowry, Mrs. M. H. Reeves, Mrs. Leland Hannah, Mrs. R. B. Harrell, Joyce Speice, Joan Harrell, Miss Clara May, Rev. and Mrs. Albertson.
We urge you to find your place in the work of the church. There is a place for everyone. We are expecting the Training Union attendance next Sunday evening to run over 100.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Worlow, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Stewart and daughter, Margaret, of Sweetwater, Okla., were guests of Mrs. J. R. Rawlins of Goree over the week end. Mrs. Worlow is a sister of Mrs. Rawlins and Mrs. Stewart is her niece.

Cooperative Gin At O'Brien Issues Annual Dividend

At the annual stockholders meeting on Saturday March 8, the O'Brien Cooperative Gin Co. paid out $15,511.98 in dividends on 4,365 bales which have been ginned up to date. At the close of the season a check in the amount of $3.50 per bale will be mailed to each patron for cotton ginned since that date. It is expected to make the total dividend for this year's operation amount to $16,000.
This gin is now one of the outstanding cooperative gins in Texas, and for the past 5 years it has maintained a splendid record. The O'Brien community has 4,000 acres of fine one-variety cotton that is attracting buyers from various sections of the state.
The same board of directors that has served for the past 5 years was re-elected by acclamation. B. Walters of Rule brought a very inspirational talk, and everyone went away well pleased.
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tuttle, Mrs. Billy Seavy, Mrs. Maryna Williams, all of Lawton, Okla., were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips this week end.

Make friends through acquainting the general public of your desire to do business with them.

Persistent newspaper advertising will bring your business to the fore as no other medium can possibly do. Your Buying Public Will Read Your Ad In This Paper

The home newspaper is read because it contains all the news of your home and community. Each member of the family finds time each week to read their local paper. The advertisements of local concerns have their appeal to every reader. With the undisputed fact that home news is always best news, your sales message thus attains the reader's interest which is necessary to return profitable sales from money spent for advertising.

Your home newspaper has the confidence of its readers. It is a part of the community. It is looked forward to weekly to bring its readers the news, the local happenings about local people which all of us know as neighbors and friends. Such interest cannot help but stimulate the value of advertising space.

At the low cost of advertising space in this newspaper, plus the local reader interest, your advertising dollar is worth much more than it would be if applied to any other medium to acquaint the public with what you have to sell.

KNOX COUNTY'S LEADING NEWSPAPER

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

The top av the mornin' to yez— and how about a joke or two in the St. Patrick's Day spirit?

This is one about two Irishmen named Mike and Pat, instead of Pat and Mike, for a change. Mike fell into a gulch and Pat yelled, "Are ye killed? If ye are, speak to me." Mike replied, "I ain't killed but I'm speechless."

A variant:
After Mike had fallen, his friend asked, "Are ye killed?" to which Mike replied, "That I am." Pat said, "You're such a liar I don't know whether to believe ye or not." And Mike rejoined, "That proves I'm dead, because if I wuz alive, ye wouldn't dare call me a liar!"

The Irishman speaks in amusing contradictions as shown by his remark about the flea, "When ye put yer finger on him, he ain't there," or his description of a frog, "When he walks, he jumps and when he stands up he sits down."

Thomas Jefferson once remarked that no system will work of itself—that it's efficiency depends upon the individuals who administer it. With this observation of the founder of the Democratic Party in mind, an independent oil man comments on the proposal to get three appointive commissioners better qualified by experience than the three members of the State Railroad Commission? Leaders of the move do not deny that Col. Ernest O. Thompson is one of the best-informed men on oil in the world nor can they deny that Jerry Sadler learned the industry "the hard way," as a worker on the derrick floor, in laying pipelines and a refinery worker before becoming a successful independent operator.

And Judge Olin Culberson, admittedly an authority on gas, is also fully conversant with oil. So here you have three men, who know the oil industry up one side and down the other, and they are working in harmony for the good of Texas. It's an old baseball maxim. Don't break up a winning team.

An Irish philosopher said, "Single misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all possible misfortunes is generally followed by a greater." A salesman said of some window sashes: "These sashes will last you forever; and after that, if you have no further use for them, you can sell them as old iron." A lover said, "It's a great comfort to be alone, especially when yer sweetheart is wid ye." A debater, upholding ancient architecture as compared with the modern, demanded, "Show me a single modern building that has lasted as long as the ancient ones?"

Then there was the Irishman who enlisted in the 33rd regiment because he wanted to be near his brother, who was in the 34th. And there was the inlander who visited a port and stood for hours looking at a ship's anchor because "I want to see the feller who swings that pick." And there was an Irishman who saw a hunter shoot a duck high overhead and the bird spun over and plunged to the ground, whereupon Pat said, "Ye wasted yer powder, the fall would have killed it." And an Irish jury brought in this verdict, "We find that the man who stole the mare is not guilty." Hearing that a man had bought a marble coffin, Mike exclaimed, "Sure and a marble coffin would last a man a lifetime." Some son of the Emerald Isle summed it up with, "No more than half the lies they tell about the Irish are true."

Here and there:
In a brilliant speech recently, Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas pointed out that the United States has become "the great arsenal of Democracy" and that the lend-lease bill "enables us to gain the time necessary for the development of our own defensive armament. The struggling democracies need aid; we need time. Under it, Congress retains the power of the purse."

One witness at a recent hearing in Austin on the scientific load limit bill pounded the desk and yelled that the trucks don't belong on the roads, the press reports. The United States Postal Service uses 14,000 trucks; should they be put off the highway and the farmer receive his mail twice a week by horse-and-buggy? The railroads themselves have 63,000 trucks and the Railway Express (controlled by the railroads) has 10,000 trucks. Probably one-half the pupils in the school system of which the witness is the head are brought to school each morning in buses, which are just a form of trucks.

Marine Corps To Reach Peak Of Enlistments

Enlistments in the U.S. Marine Corps are expected to reach a new peak during the month of March, Major John D. O'Leary, officer in charge of the Dallas Recruiting Office announced today. It was only a week or two ago that the lid was lifted from recruiting in the Marines and since that time a steady stream of men have been passing through the District Recruiting Office in Dallas. These men are enlisted in Dallas and sent by train to San Diego, California, for their initial training.

An opportunity to enlist in the Marines with active duty only during the present national emergency is being offered now for those young men between the ages of 18 and 30 years, who are single, and who have not yet been called for selective service. These men may enlist in Class III (c) of the Marine Corps Reserve, with immediate assignment to active duty in the regular service. Men enlisting in the Marine Corps Reserve will receive the same pay, allowances and privileges, while on active duty as the regular Marines. Major O'Leary stated, "They will not be subject to call for selective service while serving in the Reserve. In the event the Marine Corps is enlarged, they will have an opportunity to transfer to the regular service."

When asked how the youths of Texas responded to the call for volunteer enlistments, Major O'Leary said, "When the Marines have landed and have the situation well in hand, you may rest assured that Texas will be represented there."

Young men desiring information may apply or write to the U.S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 400 U.S. Terminal Annex Building, Dallas, Texas. Other Marine Corps Recruiting Stations in Texas are located in Austin, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mahan of Abilene were week end visitors here in the home of Mrs. Mahan's mother, Mrs. E. M. Wilson.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

No. 24 of a Series

A few weeds grow in every garden

Among the thousands of decent law-abiding beer retail establishments in America there may be a few disreputable "joints."

While it is the brewers' responsibility to brew good beer and the retailers' responsibility to sell beer under wholesome conditions, nevertheless the brewing industry is concerned about these undesirable places and wants them cleaned up.

We want them cleaned up because they endanger your right to enjoy good beer... and our right to make it.

We want them cleaned up because they endanger the 31,165 jobs and $22,076,182 payroll created by beer in Texas since re-legalization. Beer contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in taxes in this state.

These benefits are worth preserving. You can help us, if you will, by (1) patronizing only the reputable, legal places that sell beer and by (2) reporting any law violations to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

Price of Liberty

Edited by S. Vidal Colley
The peace of the world was broken last September when legions of Germans trampled beneath them the free people of Poland. In silence the nations of the earth wailed and pleaded. Again the rubble of German stuka dive-bombers, tanks and airplanes drove over the wretched forms of the low countries of Denmark, Belgium, and the Netherlands. It couldn't be-pen again—yet it had. Treaties had been ignored—Munich again pronounced to the world that a German dictator would cause legions to die—that greed and desire might be satisfied.

Mighty England and the famed army of France teamed to stem the tide of the mighty avalanche of machinery devouring Europe. Sons of the armies depending on towering guns and forts to stop the monster that threatened all who called themselves free men. Relentlessly the totalitarian beast revoled men, forts, even armies in its onslaught over the French land bought by the blood of the glorious French Revolution. Two other countries felt the sting of the German invisible army that sprung within its midst to join hands with the invaders of the countries that have for centuries remained at peace—Finland, Norway and Sweden. Thousands of Englishmen, once on the European continent fighting shoulder to shoulder with French comrades were shoved bodily into the English channel losing lives and much material.

The mechanized hordes drove around the Maginot Line, into the heart of France. The fifth column, the invisible Hun, was doing his deadly work—when France needed help—its own men, compromisingly, yielded day after day until Paris fell—only after the Italian horde struck France when its sons had their backs to the wall.

America has tried peace conciliation. Its peace efforts have been drummed into dull ears. The last war taught us the horrors of war.

We have tried entreaty. Men who saw and felt the pangs of war have asked for defense. Many Americans say that Hitler has no intention of invading America. They say it is too far away. They mention that if we leave him alone he will leave us alone. Was this not the policy of Poland, Denmark, Hungary, Rumania, Sweden, and others? The time for appeasement is past. The time for false hopes that he will not strike both with an invisible army and a visible army and Navy is over. We need action. Our brethren are already in the field. Why stand we here idle? Is peace so sweet or war too deadly as to be purchased by the chains of slavery? The gentlemen may cry isolation—Isolation when there is no isolation. The next gale that comes from the Atlantic will bring to our eyes the headlines of more English towns torn asunder and the numbers of ships being sunk. Every ship that goes down with its gallant crew trying to reach England with food and war material is another that brings the German horde closer to our shore. Every English boy that breathes his last on the ground after having been bombed or shot from the skies is one less between us and the beast that would take our liberties, our freedoms and our God-given constitution.

For America must be ready—the farthing resources at our command must be molded into instruments of defensive war. To do this every gun, every ship, every airplane that can go to our first line of defense, the sons of England, must be sent immediately. But this is not all. Every worker, every man, woman and child should be told and taught that we at home must do our part. Our country must, yes, must be nursed of those who love it not. We offer freedom of speech, press, assembly, vote and pursuit of happiness to those who have come here to make their homes. Our constitution, written by the blood of free men, offers this. But we do not offer these to him who would destroy the government that has made it possible for them to eat our food, live in our peaceful land, partake of our rights—then devour the hand that has fed them. This is ingratitude. Every person who thinks otherwise should be sent to the country that will agree with his doctrine and there he may find the freedom and the form of government he wants—with war in its midst, with the supreme, where starvation is stalking and where individuals are lost in obedience to a dictator.

With Patrick Henry we may say we may be weak in arms now. But when shall we be stronger? Will it be when we are totally disarmed and a German guard is stationed at every house? Shall we acquire the effectual means of resistance by lying supinely on our back and hold the delusive phantom of hope until the enemies shall have bound us hand and foot? I know not what others may choose but as for me and mine—we will defend, we will save, we will volunteer, we will bear the tax burden, our country will be ready, it must be ready.

Social Science News
The history department has been making an extensive study of the various changes in the maps of the world today. We have also been keeping posted on current events and happenings of the United States and Europe as well as that of the Far East.

Mr. A. U. Hathaway told both sections of the fifth grade stories of the Civil War days. These children enjoyed "Uncle Happy's" talk very much as it paralleled a study of the Civil War in their history.

News From the English Department

The Seventh Grade finished their letter books in English last week. Some very interesting and attractive books were handed in. In 7-B Helen Haymes made a red, white and blue book that took all eyes. Janie Sue Haynie made an attractive book and blanket-stitched it in blue wool. Others who handed in colorful books were Maxine Yeager and Bobby Henson. In 7-A Bobby Broach had a beautiful book with red, white and blue letters cut out and pasted on the front. Benson Broach was a "close-up" for Bobby. Benson made his book attractive with red thread, sewed it all himself, too. The most complete books in 7-A were: Latreace Johnson, McCelvey Jones, and Bernice Douglas. Some of the Seventh Graders are a wee bit slow in handing in their letter books. We hope to see more complete and attractive books later on in the week.

The fifth grade English class is working still on verbs. Goodness, they didn't know one word could do so many things. Subjects and predicates have just been conquered now. It won't be long until they will be able to write long interesting paragraphs about their daily experiences. Miss Burnett says it won't be long until we try our skill at poetry writing. You know, "In the spring a young man's fancy . . ."

The Second Grade Chirp

The children in the second grade decided to name their news section "The Second Grade Chirp." Every week the news will be brought in on Monday morning.

Dividend Paid To Members Of Farmers Union

At a meeting on Saturday of last week, more than $18,000.00 was returned by the Farmers Union Gin to the growers here as a rebate on their ginning and a profit on their seed sales of the past season. This was in addition to the 50c for each bale put into the government one-variety program which was returned to the farmers December 21.

A large number of the members were present for the meeting, at which time a report of the earnings and expenditures of the gin was made. It was shown that the earnings for the year had been about $2.50 per bale, but that part of the year's profits had been invested in new machinery.

During the past season the Farmers Union also started a seed producing program which is bringing an income, through their gin, to the farmers. They have made a profit from the use of better seed and the better cotton produced from it, and are almost unanimously supporting this movement.

The cotton growers of this area this year for their cotton because have received a much higher price this year for their cotton because of this one-variety program and have made a saving, due to the fact that, through this, they were able to get their cotton graded here instead of going to the expense of sending it elsewhere. These savings, together with the higher prices received, have helped to make the past season one of the most profitable crop years for some time. (Much good has been accomplished by the farmers working in cooperation to raise this better cotton and to sell it at the best possible price with the least possible expense, and it was with a feeling of real accomplishment that these farmers received their checks that were a dividend returned to them from their own business firm.
