VOLUME XXIII MUNDAY, KNOX COUNTY, TEXAS, OCTOBER 27, 1928. Number 30.

Copeland Bros. Coming Next Week

The Copeland Brothers Company will play Munday for one week, starting Monday, October 31, playing under the auspices of the Munday Fire Department. The opening play will be what is considered the greatest of all home plays, "The Tie That Binds," featuring little five-year-old Baby Barbara in the principal role of "The Little Mother."

E. R. Eulady, Swine Specialist, A. & M. College Visits Farms

E. R. Eulady, swine husbandman of the extension service, A. & M. College, was here first of the week making a tour over Knox County looking over the hog situation with County Agent W. O. Logan. He states that he finds small litters, undersized pigs, and lots of runts, which is caused by feeding unbalanced rations. He found that most of the hogs are being fed kitch slop or water and mulo maize or corn.

Rankins Service Station Takes On Chrysler Dealership

Rankin's Service Station has taken over the agency in Munday and the Munday territory for the Chrysler automobile and has moved his automobile repair shop into the Bunts buildings formerly occupied by the Chevrolet Garage, where he will have on display various models of the Chrysler cars from time to time, and will service them, as well as all other makes.

Speaking of words of the inconsistencies of the English language in matters of tense are interesting.

We have swim, swam, swum; why not skim, skam, skum? If we may say speak, spoke, spoken, why not speek, spok, spoken? Or if get, gotten, why not let, lot, lotten? And if see, saw, seen, flie, flew, fleen?

Midnight Matinee On Hallowe'en At The Peoples Theatre

Manager P. V. Williams has announced that a midnight matinee will be given on Hallowe'en, Monday night, October 31st, for the entertainment of those who have a desire to sit up on that night and watch the spooks, and the public is cautioned to look out for the spooks, but not to become too frightened at them to be present for the fine program he has arranged for that occasion.

Fast Motorcycle Ride Saves Life Of Weinert Child

(Wichita Daily Times) For the third time in the past three months mechanical inventions have aided medical science in saving the life of a resident of Northwest Texas suffering from snake bite.

THE CLAW FEATURES FIERCE BATTLE WITH AFRICAN VOODOO MEN

One of the fiercest battle ever enacted before the camera was staged in "The Claw," the Universal-Jewel which will be the entertainment at the Peoples Theatre beginning Wednesday, Claire Windsor and Norman Kerry are the stars.

Called to view a man living apparently dead on a San Francisco sidewalk.

Coroner Leland looked at him and went to call an undertaker. Returning, the coroner found that he had disappeared. By-standers said he had come to and walked away. The coroner and undertaker thought they had been victims of a practical joke.

With the Utilities Folks Down at Albany

On Saturday morning of last week the Times man accepted an invitation from Superintendent W. G. Ousley of the West Texas Utilities Company to attend the quarterly party of the employees of that company at Albany. Mr. Carroll Neely, the general chief clerk in the local district, we departed at six o'clock and arrived in the beautiful little city of Albany shortly after nine.

It having been a number of years since we had visited Albany, we were amazed at the wonderful growth and development of that city. In years gone by Albany was, or at least impressed us as being, a sleepy little village nestled in a valley among the hills of Shackelford county, but recent years have wrought a wonderful transformation, and today Albany is one of the most modern little cities to be found in West Texas.

Naturally we began to wonder what had brought about this great transformation, and it required only a short while to arrive at a conclusion. Shackelford county was one of the first counties in this section of the state to catch the good roads movement, and today a system of hard-surfaced roads stretch out over the hills and through the valleys of that county like endless ribbons—all leading to and through Albany.

After dinner, which was served at the McLemore Hotel, one of the beauty spots of the city, the employees formed in parade formation and drove to the polo grounds on the outskirts of the city, where a most thrilling and evenly matched game was staged between the team of the West Texas Utilities Company of Abilene and the Woodson team. The score of the game was tied at the end of the eighth period, 6-6, and by agreement the game continued until the tie had been broken, with the result that the Utilities team was victor 7-6.

This was the first polo game we had ever witnessed, and we'll have to admit that we then and there became an enthusiastic polo fan, and were convinced furthermore that in coming years polo will become one of the most popular sports, for it is indeed a fascinating game and its return will bring about a return of the almost lost art of horsemanship. It is one of the oldest games in history, and will become popular in this modern age.

Football Today, Moguls vs. Stamford

Thursday, the Munday High School football team will tackle what is probably to be the toughest assignment of the year when they attempt to tame the Stamford High School aggregation. Stamford always has good football teams and has always beaten Munday. Last year, however, the Moguls threw a scare in to them by scoring early in the game and succeeded in holding them to the closest score in history.

PROGRAM OF FEDERATED MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR MONDAY OCTOBER 31

The following program will be rendered by the Federated Missionary Society at the Presbyterian church, Monday, October 31, at 3:00 p. m. Leader—Mrs. S. E. McStay. Song service led by Mrs. Fred Broach. Devotional—Mrs. E. M. Ammons. The Wonderful Story of Life—Mrs. H. F. Barnes. Conquering an Old Enemy—Led by Mrs. J. O. Bowden. 2. In the Home—Mrs. G. R. Eiland. 3. In the School—Mrs. W. A. Campbell. Special music—Mrs. C. A. Eiland. Benediction. Readers of a well-known Polish magazine recently were surprised, and some offended, by the portrait of Golda Gray on its cover. But perhaps they should have applauded instead. Daughter of a Polish immigrant laborer, she came to America from her native Poland when a child. Later she married a bartender; left him to make her own way as a performer in cheap dance halls; once contemplated suicide. Now she is one of the world's most highly paid dancers. Naturally, the tariff on rubber should be flexible.

Pupils of Mesdames Barnes and Davis To Be Presented

On Friday evening the pupils of Mesdames H. F. Barnes and Joe Davis will be presented in recital at the city hall, and the public is cordially invited to attend, and parents are urged to be present. The program is as follows: Action songs—Mary Moore, Wanda June Williams, Mattie Marie Isbell, Opha Pruitt, Laverna Eiland, Opal Brannan, Laverna Pentecuff, Sylva Barnes, Gordon James Barnes, Lucille Neff, Florene Kendall, Virginia Bess Atkinson, Inez Campbell, Bonnie Scott, Ruth Tillinghast, Roseland Houser.

Houston Sweatt Is No Longer Eligible For Bachelor Club

The many friends, and even members of the Sweatt family, were not aware of the fact that Houston Sweatt had deserted the ranks of bachelorhood until recently, when he tied himself over to Dallas to meet the young lady he had led to the altar of matrimony on May 21st.

The nuptial knot was tied in Bowling Green, Kentucky.

On the above date, and upon his return home he mentioned it to no one, while the bride who was Miss Nell Ellis of Nashville, Tennessee, continued her duties at the school she was teaching, and their marriage only became known when Houston went to Dallas some days ago to meet her. They have located in Munday and have living quarters at the Frank Burnison home in the west part of the city, and we join their many friends in wishing for them a long and happy married life.

Your Fortune At Home

Americans are flocking to the cities. It is an unprofitable move. Cities are burdened with crowds that increase municipal expense. Thousands of Home Towns are losing their brightest men who could render such great service building better, more livable towns. Since the days of the Prodigal Son—and long before—it has been inherent in men to seek "a far country" where fame and fortune awaits them. Those that win are remembered. The far greater number who become atoms in a great sea of humanity, are forgotten.

A half dozen families in the desert of Sahara, with the American "pep and push" and enterprise, with a community spirit working together, could make that spot on which they had settled a little brighter, more beautiful, more comfortable.

The enterprise faith and far-sightedness of a half dozen families, that settled where Chicago now is, make that the center around which was built the second city of the United States. At the time these families settled at the site of Chicago, it appeared that the greater center would be located elsewhere. It was their work in the early days that turned the tide and placed Chicago near the top of the list of cities.

Today's competition is between communities. It is a struggle between communities and towns to win industries and trade.

Farms and factories create business; but business travels to the town it likes best. When people like your town, they may learn to like your store; but a good store in a poor town is always handicapped. Your prosperity is wrapped up in the prosperity of your town—more, perhaps, than you ever dreamed of.

Yesterday's competition was between man and man. Today it is between community and community.

You cannot draw aside from your neighbors and say you're looking after yourself and your wife, your son and his wife, your four and no more.

There is a little bit of God Almighty's justice running through modern business, and man can't truly succeed by selfishness. Let's all succeed together as a community.

We go through life but once. Most of us will spend our time on earth right here in Our Town. Whatever the hereafter may be, our record on earth is going to be made right here in Our Town; not in New York, nor in San Francisco, nor London, nor Paris, but right here.

You may think you could do greater things if you lived somewhere else. As Walt Mason says: "If you, fair reader, where you are (can't hitch your wagon to a star, you couldn't do the trick in Cork, in Boston, Joplin or New York.

Here in this community develop the talents you have.

Know the joy of constructive citizenship. Work with your Chamber of Commerce. Let's help make this community so attractive that men will enjoy building lives and fortunes right here.

'Round About School

In the "Tomahawk" of last week's Grand Saline Sun we noted with pride that a special feature HARKYS BARBER was dedicated to the "Roundhouse." We enjoy the Tomahawk each week and wish that it might be our privilege to know personally its editor.

On entering the High School building Monday morning students were at a loss to know where to hang their hats and coats. The cloak racks had been moved and a similar arrangement placed in the landing of each stair way. This will, no doubt, be a marked improvement as we can now wear our good coats and hats to school without fear of having them continually blown on the floor and ruined. This arrangement will also give us lots more room in the hall as well as improving the interior appearance of the building.

The volley ball bunch was elated Monday morning to find a perfectly new ball inflated and ready for use. The game is as popular as ever and it is difficult to tell who is more interested, teachers or pupils.

The "Dallas Morning News" has been added to our list of library reading material. Aside from the several hundred books we receive regularly the following papers and periodicals: Literary Digest, Scientific American, Popular Science, The Daily Texan, The Optimist, The Hygiene, Texas Outlook, Inter-scholastic League, Grand Saline Sun, Popular Mechanics, The Golden Books and perhaps others.

The High School feels real proud of the part we played in raising money for the sidewalks. Our contribution amounted to nearly fifty dollars and of this amount the Juniors gave $14.14. Hurray for the Juniors, they just deserve the half holiday Mr. Rhodes gave them in recognition of their services. The third grade also won the half holiday prize for giving more than any of the other grades.

Mrs. Rhodes, who was absent last Thursday on account of illness, is back in school "looking good" and we hope her feeling good.

Last Thursday afternoon the Junior and Senior girls met at Mrs. Barnes' home to organize a junior study club. Their club will meet on the second Tuesday of each month. All Junior and Senior girls who were not present are invited and urged to come to the next meeting.

Seniors

The contest sponsored by the P. T. A. closed Wednesday and the winner was announced. We seniors have got to hand it to the Juniors for raising the most money. The average was one dollar and five cents per student.
 "If you are a loser be a good loser as well as a good winner," this is an old motto which we try to follow.

Like other high school students we finished our first six weeks semester last week, but we have not received our grades yet. Here's hoping they are all A's, but there is a shadow of doubt lingering in the back ground.

Ora Lee Parks visited her mother in Breckenridge this past week-end.

The Seniors are boosting the "High School Carnival" that is to be given soon, and will do everything in their power to make it a success.

In order to better teach us election procedure and how to vote, Mr. Rhodes organized our Civics class into a mock election last Friday. It proved to be a very interesting experiment and each member of the class feels that they could not only vote intelligently if called on to do so, but could conduct an election as well.

Juniors

"Less Quantity but More Quality."
 The Juniors are not for such sportsmanship as the Seniors showed in last week's paper. As for the Juniors being good citizens, they will do their part. We recommend "practice what you preach," to the Seniors. As for keeping this "paper warfare" up we do it only to uphold the junior rights. According to the Seniors, you would think we were a class without any "getup" in it. We forgave the Seniors for their "little doings," and we do it again Seniors. Now as for keeping this grudge up, it is for you to decide. We hold no hard feelings against you and if you wish to continue this, you are welcome—the Juniors decline to "get back" in such a way. We are for M. H. S. and will do our best as has already displayed.

The Juniors were given a half holiday as a reward for "putting over" our part of the sidewalk fund in such a masterly fashion. Not only did we excel all classes in percentage but also in the amount of money given. We are the smallest class but as our motto says—"more quality." This will not be our only time to show our quality. Watch us step through our Junior year and be the best Senior class of all time in the history of old M. H. S. in '29.

We are planning two social events for this week-end but have not definitely decided on them yet. We will report on them next week.

Why do higher and lower classes envy the Junior class? None other than that we are the peppiest class, put things over in such a masterly form, are more democratic as a class, and conduct ourselves better. That is the reason teachers are glad to have us in a class.

Football boys, the Juniors are going to help you. "Remember the Alamo" on November 11. We are behind you 100 per cent and will stand up for the Purple and Gold. Let's go!

Sophomors

We had Miss Christina Richards from Henrietta, Texas, to enroll Monday morning as a member of our class. We extend a hearty welcome to her and sincerely hope that she will enjoy working with our class throughout the year.

Juniors, we will give you applause for the winning of the P. T. A. race, and hope that you enjoyed your prize. We were a little short on ready change or we would have capped the first prize, but as it was, we only took third place.

The Sophomore Algebra class of '27 hasn't as high a standard as we are capable of having and want to have. The grades this semester ranged from 20 to 75, however our daily grades will raise some of our grades. Mr. Stanley, our teacher, seems to be totally disgusted with us, but we will surprise him next time with our "A's". Just watch our smoke.

The Sophs. are coming out with more men on the ball team

Victor Jungman came out last week and made left guard. As he is rather heavy, he will be a great asset to the team.

The Sophomores went over "big" at the game Friday. As you know it is a rather long distance to Throckmorton you could not expect too much from second year high school students. Those that attended the game were: Velma Phillips, Fern Hogan, Vivian Rogers and the team representatives: Chandler Hughes, Cleo Ledbetter and Victor Jungman.

Freshmen

Oh! my, but our grades are incomparable to what they were last year. Until we received our report cards we had thought high school rather easy, but we have changed our minds. But we can not grow discouraged over little things like this, but only make up our minds to do better next month.

Freshmen who played in the ball game last Friday were: Paul Pruitt, Elmo Wilson, Howard Kyle, Gilbert Myers and Alford Collins. John R. Rayburn and Aristel Thompson went with them. Paul Pruitt made more yardage than anyone else.

Theda Brewer trying to sell tickets to Freshmen: "Everyone, please, buy your tickets from me! Oh, Miss Compton! Buy one, you get in on a student ticket."

Elmo: "Oh! my, it'll take two for her to get in."

Lillian McGlothlin spent the week-end in Bomarton and liked to have had to stay a longer period of time as her brother and daddy went off and left her there.

Mr. Stanley: "John R., why is it you act so feminine at times and at other times so masculine?"

John R.: "Hereditary causes that."

Mr. Stanley: "Explain just what you mean by that."

John R.: "Well, you see, half of my ancestors are feminine and half of them were masculine."

Rex: "It is a London."

Grade 7

Miss Mills: "Levi, what is the electoral college?"
 Levi: "A school of electricity."

Thursday of last week we elected our class officers. Fayette Edwards was elected president, Hazel Webb, vice-president, Annie Mae West, secretary.

TELLING THE WORLD

Records compiled by the American Newspapers Publishers' Association show the enormous amounts spent last year for the advertising of well-known products.

The sum of $4,995,000 was expended in advertising the Chevrolet car alone, which heads the list of big appropriations. Other large expenditures in order of size were:

Camel cigarettes and Prince Albert tobacco, $4,034,000; Postum and Grape Nuts, $3,527,000; Listerine, $3,484,000; American Tobacco Company, $3,325,000; Ivory Soap and Crisco, $3,051,000; Dodge automobile, $3,028,000.

It is reported that these will appear moderate in comparison with the amount to be used in advertising the new Ford car during the next year.

All of which, in view of the great prosperity experienced by the concerns manufacturing the products named, once more gives a practical illustration of the trite but true saying: "It pays to advertise."

FARM FIRE LOSSES

In connection with the observance of Fire Prevention Week, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine issued a statement urging farmers to give greater attention to fire protection, not only one week, but every week in the year.

He declared that last year fire took a toll of about 3,500 lives and caused loss of property estimated at $150,000,000 in rural districts alone.

Principal causes of farm fires, in the order of their importance, are said to be lighting, defective chimneys, carelessness with matches by smokers and others, wooden roofs, spontaneous combustion, improper handling of kerosene and gasoline, and faulty wiring of houses.

Aid in educating the rural population to give more serious thought to this problem is urged upon county agents, rural school teachers and community leaders.

WINTER FASHIONS OF 1868

Winters must have been more severe 60 years ago, or else the modern woman and girl can stand more cold, judging from a comparison of what they wore then and what they wear now.

Someone recently dug up a copy of a New Hampshire paper published in 1868, in which women's clothing for the approaching winter was discussed. Here are some of the recommendations:

A waist of canton flannel, with long sleeves; underwear of the same material to reach to top of the bootee; hoopskirts, and over these a warm skirt, then the dress of woolen material, with long sleeves, the waist and sleeves lined with strong cotton. Heavy shoes and thick woolen stockings completed the outfit for indoor wear, but outside a warm saque, mittens, muffs and the like were to be added.

Imagine a present day miss rigged up like that!

135 WEEKS A YEAR

Being a patriotic individual with a lively sense of civic duty, Guy E. Marion of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has been checking up on the various special "weeks" which good Americans are urged to celebrate, so that he might not miss any of them.

As a result of his researches he finds that we have 135 of these "weeks" to observe during the year, although the regulation calendar only shows 52. The busiest months for the conscientious observer of special weeks are April and November with nine each; October has seven.

In the November list we find Better Speech Week, Book Week, Education Week, Canned Foods Week, Children's Book Week, Father and Son Week, War on T. B. Week, Thanksgiving Week and Red Cross Roll Call Week.

Besides the imposing array of weeks, there are also 80 special days to be celebrated, either by the country as a whole or by certain states and groups—national holidays, birthdays, religious festivals and what not.

If Mr. Marion participates in all these observances he will be kept more than busy. In fact, he will have to lead a double life most of the time.

DISCARDS GEAR SHIFT

Automobiles of the future may be operated without the necessity of shifting gears, according to reports of a new French invention, furnished by the American consul at Paris.

With the new mechanism, which displaces the gear box and differential and takes the place of the cogs between the motor and wheels, the speed of the car from the moment the ignition is turned on is regulated exclusively by the accelerator.

Tests recently made demonstrated the success of the invention attached to a 10-horsepower car carrying 11 passengers. On a hill with a 20 per cent grade the car was stopped and started again at will.

It is said that the present cost of installing the new device is approximately $300, but this will doubtless be reduced when it reaches production in quantity. It is said that manufacture will soon be begun in France and other countries, including the United States.

The necessity for shifting of gears is one of the chief annoyances, as well as one of the dangers, of motoring, and the perfection of a device whereby these may be eliminated will be welcomed by automobile owners everywhere.

IT PAYS THE FARMER

Credit for establishing the first rural electrification project in the United States is claimed by the University of Minnesota, which established a station for experimental purposes at Red Wing four years ago.

A recent report by Prof. E. A. Stewart director of the project, gives an account of the remarkable progress of the work, which has not only brought electricity to many farmers in his state, but has spread to more than half of the states of the Union and is rapidly growing.

The most encouraging feature of the report is that which shows that the use of electricity is not only lessening the hardships of farm labor, but that it is also being found a profitable investment for the farmer.

Commenting on Prof. Stewart's report, a Christian Science Monitor in a recent editorial said:

"The lightning of the severities of farm labor by increasing the use of machinery and electric power, with the consequent improvement in the comfort of rural life, may well have a considerable influence also in checking the drift of farm folk away from the country to the cities."

WORKERS AS DIRECTORS

One of the phenomena of American industrial life which is attracting world-wide attention is the extent to which employees of great corporations are participating in the affairs of their companies as stockholders.

Recently a survey of industrial conditions in this country by the Labor Office of the League of Nations revealed what is perhaps the most remarkable example of the active participation of employees in management in the world.

It is shown that in the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company 10,000 employees already hold more than $10,000,000 of the $30,000,000 capital stock of the corporation, which gives them two of the eight members of the board of management. The survey report commends this participation of employees in ownership and management in the most liberal terms and concludes:

"The general experience has been that the communication of information to workers' councils and the sharing with them of some of the anxieties of management have led to a better understanding of problems of industry by the workers."

It is safe to say that advocates of communism will find little sympathy among the employees of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit.

WASTE ON FARMS

In this age of machinery on the farm it is surprising that so many farmers fail to take proper care of their valuable machines and tools, but leave them exposed to the weather with consequent deterioration and loss.

If a manufacturer were to pay as little attention to the preservation of his machinery as some farmers do, he would be headed for bankruptcy in short order. While many farmers do care for their equipment in a proper way, it is the testimony of many observers that these are rather the exception than the rule. Describing conditions on a middle west farm, a writer recently said:

"I walked through the grove and orchard and found more than 30 pieces of machinery exposed to the weather. The hog house leaked and the corn-crib was full of holes, yet there was an abandoned barn nearby the lumber in which would have made the necessary repairs and covered all the machinery."

It is estimated that the waste through lack of care for farm machinery amounts to $100,000,000 a year in the United States. There are other instances of waste almost as appalling. Is it any wonder that some farmers never appear to be able to get along?

Julius Caesar of Boston was arraigned for non-support of Mrs. Julius Caesar and young Julius Caesar, Jr., the family being negroes.

Cakes made of pastry flour, pecans, germ wheat, oat meal, olive oil, baking powder and water are declared to be an almost perfect substitute for meat.

Captain Kidd would turn in his grave if he knew what kind of aggregations pass for Pirates nowadays.

As Clan Smith of Edinburgh fell from a tall chimney his shoe caught on a spike and he escaped with slight bruises.

A radio outfit has been installed for the benefit of prisoners in the workhouse at Southwark, Eng.

Bob, a setter dog belonging to the cashier of a Chicago factory, distributes pay envelopes each week to the employees, all of whom he knows by name.

To prevent over-inflation of automobile tires, a new valve has been devised which releases air after a certain pressure has been reached.

The Hogg revival will continue for four weeks in Abilene and Mr. Bailey states that notwithstanding the immense tent has a capacity for caring for thousands of people, they were forced to turn away hundreds who were unable to find room, and the over-flow crowds were being addressed by the Rev. S. J. T. Williams, who was with the Rev. Hogg here. He states that Rev. Hogg is in much better physical condition than he was at the time he held the meeting here.

Keep the Home Fires Burning

By Phebe K. Warner
Now that Fire Prevention Week is over for another year, it is time to go on with our burning or put into practice some of the manifold lessons we were all taught last week. As a rule most of us women observe Fire Prevention Week very religiously. But we soon forget after the special meetings are over. Our conversations and convictions don't seem to last long. But there is one thing going on in America that is bound some day to reduce our crime of fire in the United States. And that is the fire lessons that are being taught to the million and a quarter school children. There is only one sure way to bring about any great reform and that is to put it into our schools and drill it into the children.

Looking over the fire records for the past year that came into my hands last week, I see that as usual, we women are blamed for most of the fire waste and most of our fire tragedies. It seems that of the $355,000,000 worth of property that the people of the United States burned last year, 60 per cent or $336,000,000 worth of HOMES were burned. It seems that from the viewpoint of FIRE, the home is about the most dangerous place you can get into. And that the most dangerous place in the home is the kitchen. And that's where most of us women stay. And that's why we get the credit for burning up more property than anybody else.

Well, if facts and the records say they are, then there must be a reason, for I'm a firm believer in the law of Cause and Effect. So, let's see if we can discover any reasons why women burn up more property than anybody else. In the first place there are about 27,000,000 kitchens in the U. S. A. This would mean that we average about $12.50 per kitchen which is usually the smallest room in the house, what goes on? Practically all the food that is required to feed 115,000,000 people three times a day is prepared there. This means 345 million meals a day or 125,925 millions meals year must be cooked in those kitchens. Is there another industry, another industry in the whole world that turns out such an output of work? Then in millions of those kitchens all the water is heated to do the family laundry. In millions of homes the kitchen is the playroom for the children and the mice through the long winter months. The children play in it by day and the mice by night. And often times for lack of a better place and for convenience the kitchen is the abiding place for the match box, the kerosene and gasoline can, the wood box and the trash box, the oil mop, the gasoline iron, the kerosene lamps. And most kitchens have a chimney and a flue that are in use every day of the year and never expected to get out of fix. Yes, sir! The kitchen seems to be the most essential room in the home, the most crowded room in the home, the most neglected room in the home; yet that is where Mother and the babies spend most of their time.

And we are wondering whether this tragic waste of life and property that is generated in the kitchen and the home is all due to Mother's carelessness? I wonder how many fathers are at their shop and factory, the bank and the store, the office and the barn than they are in their own kitchens where their wives and children's lives are at stake? It's a serious piece of destructive business, this burning of 1,431,400 homes, every year. But that's the least of the loss. The mothers and little children that are sacrificed on these altars of fire are the tragic heartbreaking losses. And the chief reasons for this terrible loss of life and property are first because there are more homes in America than any other one institution. And second because most of us are more careless about our homes than any other building we own. Don't blame it all onto our mothers.

How many of us realize that when we sing so enthusiastically and cheerfully "Keeping the Home Fires Burning" that the American home furnishes the fuel for the greatest bonfire of our nation and no matter when or where we sing this beautiful song somebody is piling another home on this great American bonfire every four minutes.

Suppose we all take more interest in the safety of our kitchens this year. Both men and women. If the American kitchen is the most dangerous place for the family then why not concentrate our efforts this 1927-28 year on making our kitchens safe for women and little children? Are the chimney and the flue ready for the hot winter fires? Are the matches in a safe place beyond the reach of the children and the mice? Can't the trash box and the oil cans and the oil mop all be kept on the outside of the kitchen? And the oil lamps placed on a safe shelf where there is no danger of knocking them over? Suppose we resolve to sing this year "Stop the Home Fires Burning."

Some presidential timber is not only wet, but waterlogged.

WADLINGTON-HOGAN

Miss Opal Wadlington and Mr. Hilton Hogan were united in marriage at the home of Mrs. M. H. Reeves, sister of the bride, on Saturday evening, October 22, at 8:00 o'clock. The ceremony held in the beautiful reception room, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion, was witnessed by a number of relatives of the bride and groom, and a few close friends. Miss Opal entered, attended by Miss Margaret Hogan, sister of the groom, and Mr. Hogan by Mr. Glenn McGlothlin, where the beautiful ring ceremony was spoken by Rev. P. D. O'Brien. The young couple presented a beautiful picture as they stood through the ceremony under the dimmed lights, with a background of ferns, in the midst of their admiring relatives and friends as soft strains of "O Promise Me", filled the room. The bride appeared at her best in a gown of two-toned brown georgette and velvet, with accessories harmonizing. The bride is the daughter of D. M. Wadlington, an old and respected citizen of the Munday community. Miss Opal has lived here since childhood. She is a graduate of the Munday high school, and was employed a number of years by the E. E. Akers exclusive Dry Goods firm, as sales-lady. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hogan, also of this community. He too, graduated from the local high school, and has spent several years in the cotton compress business. He is at present foreman in the cotton compress at Rule, where they will make their home. The many friends of this popular young couple regret to lose them from our community, but wish for them much happiness and suc-

ARTICLE No. 2

What does a bid of one club indicate? A bid of one club is a contract to take in the two combined hands seven of the thirteen tricks. Of these seven tricks the club bidder should have the expectancy of at least four. As there are thirteen tricks in all, and as the club bidder has indicated by his bid that he expects to take four tricks in his own hand if clubs are trumps, there are nine tricks remaining to be won by the three other players. Each of these three players is, on average, entitled to one-third thereof, or to three tricks. These three tricks are the so-called "Average Expectancy of Support" and constitute the basis of every modern bid.

Every original bid should include two elements: First, two quick tricks against any bid the opponents may make; second, the possibility of at least four tricks provided trumps is the suit named in the original bid. These two elements are important for two reasons: First, when a bid is made, the bidder never knows whether or not he and his partner will win the final declaration. For that reason he must be just as well prepared to defend as to attack. Hence the necessity for sure tricks, that is, tricks which will win against any declaration. Second, the bidder must always be prepared to play the declaration at the bid first named by him. He must, therefore, have a suit that will take at least four tricks if it is trump, for he can, on the average, expect only three tricks from his partner. For that reason he must have length (at least four cards) as well as high cards to justify an original bid.

When a player as dealer bids one club, he tells his partner that he either has two sure tricks in the club suit (at least four cards) or one trick in the club suit and one trick in an outside suit. See examples:

Spades—10, 9, 2

Hearts—A, 7, 2

Clubs—K, Q, 7, 6, 3
Diamonds—J, 4
Spades—10, 9, 2

In the first example, there are two sure tricks in clubs, the ace and the king. In the second example there is one sure trick in hearts, the ace; and one sure trick in clubs, the king (queen). By sure tricks is meant the tricks that will win against any declaration, and on the first or second round of the suit. If clubs are trumps, both of these example hands should win four tricks in the bidder's hand and three from the partner's hand, a total of seven.

Here is an interesting hand that came up recently at one of the New York Clubs:

The Livestock Situation

Early predictions of smaller fall marketings of cattle are being born out by the decreasing supplies reaching the markets following the clean-up of the grass cattle run. A well sustained demand indicates that a continuation of the general upward trend in price or at least the maintenance of a strong position may be looked forward to. This being, of course, a continuation of the general cycle which we have been passing through in the past three years.

The demand for feeder cattle is reported about the same as a year ago with somewhat prices higher but the situation is different in that heavy cattle to go in for short feeding periods are in broader demand than light weight cattle. The price levels prevailing for heavy cattle should increase the marketing of short fed offerings but on the other hand the good ranges this season will have a tendency to hold back larger numbers of well bred cattle for re-stocking.

There seems to be no question but that the number of cattle marketed this fall will be smaller than for this season during the past five years and it is even now being predicted that marketing next year will show a further decline. This situation, of course, will balance itself up to a certain extent, as when beef prices reach a certain level other beef stuffs come in direct competition with beef and through the switching of the demand to other commodities a reaction in the market is brought about. It was recently pointed out in this connection by a close observer that it is not a satisfactory condition to allow beef animal prices to reach the point where the price of the finished product is out of line with other commodities which are more or less competitive.

There is always danger in a situation like this in two ways. One is that the high price levels will encourage too great an expansion in production and by the same token the price levels might discourage consumer demand so that the producer might be confronted by the situation of having an ample supply of cattle with a decreased demand, as when the taste of the consumer swings from one food stuff to another some times it is not so easy to bring back the per capita consumption to normal.

It is evident that more Canadian cattle will be marketed in the United States within the next few months than in preceding years, attracted to these markets by higher price levels.

There doesn't seem to be anything alarming in the trend toward a reasonably increased beef cattle production as the bulk of the expansion is taking place in the hands of producers who are re-stocking their herds to make up the substantial decreases resulting from the Post War liquidation period.

However, two items worthy of consideration from the producer's standpoint are that every effort should be made to gauge production reasonably to meet the requirements of the consumer and that price levels, above a certain point, do not represent a permanent healthy situation as the reaction is likely to be bad on the per capita consumption of beef which after all represents the consumer demand which plays so important a part in the production of meat food animals.

tary, Edith Harrell, treasurer; Eleanor Jungman, reporter. The president appointed a social committee consisting of Ruth Rice, Irene Martin and Cecil Parker.

A large number of the pupils of our seventh grade were at the football game last Friday. We are proud of the football boys, and we hope that some of the boys out of our room will help make up the team next year.

We have several new pupils this year and are very glad to have them. The ones who have entered are as follows: Mary Weyer from Pampa, Ella V. Young from DelLeon, Blanch Marlow from Guthrie and Mary Elizabeth Shannon from Gillespie, however Mary Elizabeth came to this school part of last year. We are also very glad to have Bessie and Nellie McGraw back with us, as they moved to Sherman the beginning of last year's school term. We hope they can remain with us this year.

Last Friday when a fire drill was given Edith Harrell was the first to get down the steps. As she reached the bottom of the second flight of stairs she accidentally fell, or someone pushed her against the post, and broke her nose. She was taken immediately to the doctor to have her nose set in place. She was then taken home because the medicine the doctor gave her made her sick. We were made happy over her coming back to school Monday morning.

Throckmorton 18—Moguls 0

The game started with the Moguls defending the east goal. Throckmorton kicked off to the Moguls, the ball went over the goal line, and the playing started with the ball on the 20-yard line. Throckmorton was penalized 15 yards for holding. The Moguls made a first down in the first few minutes of the play, and Aycock punted to Throckmorton's 35-yard line. Throckmorton ripped 35 yards off over right tackle and Joe Aycock presented his skill as safety man in making a flying tackle on Mogul's 15-yard line. The ball went over and Aycock punted 50 yards. Throckmorton then made five first downs, and circled right end for a touchdown. The whistle blew for a quarter.

Then at the beginning of the second quarter the Moguls began defending the west goal. Throckmorton kicked to the Moguls, but the Moguls failed to make a first down, and Aycock punted to Throckmorton's 20-yard line. Time was called out for Throckmorton. Throckmorton dashed through right tackle for 15 yards. Throckmorton fumbled the ball and the Moguls covered it. Aycock punted to Throckmorton's 37-yard line. Throckmorton made another first down, and dashed off across the field for a touchdown, but failed to kick goal. Throckmorton kicked off to Moguls' 10-yard line and the play started on their 20-yard line. The Moguls failed to make a first down before the whistle blew for a half.

The Moguls changed goals and the ball went over to Throckmorton. Throckmorton punted to the Moguls' 10-yard line, and play started on the 20-yard line. Moguls failed to make a first down and Aycock punted to Throckmorton's 25-yard line. Throckmorton then began to make successful gains, and made 3 first downs and bucked the line for a touchdown. They were successful in ripping off another point over left tackle. Throckmorton kicked off to the Moguls' 10-yard line, and Ledbetter made a splendid run for 25 yards, just as the whistle blew for a quarter. Aycock completed a 20-yard pass to Pruitt. Moguls failed make further gains and Aycock punted to Throckmorton's 10-yard line. Time was called out for Munday. Throckmorton punted to Mogul's 30-yard line. Aycock failed to complete a pass to P. Pruitt. Throckmorton was penalized 15 yards for holding. Aycock punted to Throckmorton's 10-yard line after failing to make a first down.

Throckmorton punted to Mogul's 30-yard line. Moguls failed to make first down before the final whistle blew.

Athletic Notes

The Moguls suffered their third successive defeat at Throckmorton last Friday. The game was played in Throckmorton and only a small representation of Mogul rooters were able to attend. This might have had something to do with the defeat but it was very evident that the Moguls were clearly outplayed. The old fighting spirit that characterized the Knox City game was not there. If it had been we believe that the result would have been quite different. At any rate the Moguls have a chance to redeem themselves November 4th when we take on Throckmorton again here at home. We confidently expect a different story when that game is over.

The Moguls suffered a severe loss Friday when E. R. Pruitt was injured to the extent that he will probably not be able to play for the remainder of the season. On a close line scrimmage play he received a severe lick in the back that tore one or more muscles. His place will be hard to fill and it is earnestly hoped that he will be able to play again before the season closes.

From the point of good sportsmanship the game Friday was one of the best played this season. All of the players and fans are commenting on the good treatment they received at the hands of Throckmorton. Of course, we hate to lose a game but if we have to we much prefer to lose it to good sportsmen than some other teams we know of.

It is not known at this time whether the Moguls will be in action this week or not. Should they play it will probably be on Thursday as the school will be given a holiday Friday on account of Teachers Institute at Haskell.

Stay in there Moguls. Don't give up.
