Dickey of Aspermont Is Winner In Old Fiddlers' Contest

Tom Dickey of Aspermont was declared winner in the old fiddlers contest held at the city hall auditorium on Monday evening of this week, at which time fiddlers from various points in West Texas competed for honors, and those who have attended these contests each year state that this was the best that has ever been held in Munday.

The contestants were confined to old-time tunes, such as "Ragtime Annie," "Eighth of January," "Wagner," "Sallie Gooden," "Soldier's Joy," "Tom and Jerry," "Arkansas Traveler," and other old-time numbers to which our forefathers have stepped lively, and if one is inclined to think that these old tunes have passed into the discard to make room for present-day jazz they certainly would have been disillusioned had they been present at the contest on Monday evening.

Entries came from both home fiddlers and from those residing at a distance, as will be seen from the list of entries, which were as follows: J. N. Morrow, Munday; Noah Tinker, Munday; Tom Dickey, Aspermont; A. N. Morrow, Munday; Elmo Morrow, Munday; Ab Murray, Dozier, Texas; J. T. Wills, Memphis, Texas; J. R. Wills, Memphis, Texas; Chas. Murray, Schall, Oklahoma, and U. R. Houser, Munday.

Judges selected to make the awards were the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, G. H. Beatty, C. L. Mayes, J. H. McAfee and W. H. Conger.

Preceding and following the contest several very beautiful numbers were given by the Morrow family, composed of A. N. Morrow and his six children—five sons and one daughter—all of whom are excellent musicians, and other numbers were rendered by Tinker brothers, J. T. and J. R. Wills, Ab Murray and other contestants, and those who attended the evening's entertainment state that it was the best of the kind ever held in Munday.

The judges' decision gave first place to Tom Dickey of Aspermont; second to Ab Murray of Dozier, Texas and third to Elmo Morrow of Munday, while J. T. Wills of Memphis, Texas, came in for favorable mention from the judges, in fact they stated that there were so many real good fiddlers in the contest that the making of the awards was indeed a difficult task.

MRS. RAMSEY, PRESIDENT REBECKAH LODGE, GUEST OF MUNDAY LODGE

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Ada Ramsey, president of the Rebeckah Lodge of Texas, whose home is at Wichita Falls, was a guest of the local lodge, and delivered a lecture to the membership at the hall, which was well received by a goodly number of members.

Mrs. Ramsey is on a tour of the entire state and is visiting at many of the smaller lodges as possible in order to stimulate interest, and she found the local organization in excellent condition with the exception that the attendance of the meetings is not what it should be. While in the city Mrs. Ramsey was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bunts.

SANTA CLAUS LETTERS

We wish to again call attention to our little friends to the fact that we will publish letters to Santa Claus in our issue next week, and we urge that they get them in to us at the earliest possible moment, as we are greatly rushed at this season and we certainly don't want to have to leave any of them out, so hurry up and write your letters to Santa.

Munday Merchants Are Ready For Holiday Shoppers; Big Stocks

Never before have the merchants of Munday been in better position to care for every conceivable need of the holiday shoppers, for their stores are full to the brim with new, crisp merchandise of the kind that appeals to the frugal buyer, and on every hand one finds the holiday spirit prevalent. Show windows are attractively decorated with holly leaves and wreaths in red and green, and merchants report that already the Christmas spirit has invaded the hearts of some and buying is brisk while many will, as usual, wait until near Christmas to do their shopping.

But nowhere will one find more attractive show windows than will be found in Munday, and especially is this true during the Yuletide season, for with their well selected stocks of merchandise coupled with their modern show windows, they are enabled to display their merchandise to the best advantage and especially is this true when they are permitted to use the beautiful decorative materials suitable for this season, and an evening spent at window shopping these evenings will be enjoyed.

Richard Dresser of Baylor County Out For District Attorney

The first candidate to shie his sombrero into the political arena in these parts is Hon. Richard Dresser of Seymour, who has announced his candidacy for the office of District Attorney of the 50th Judicial District of Texas, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries in July, and his announcement has been running in the Times and other newspapers over the district for some two week already, and Mr. Dresser is evidently the opinion that the early bird gets the worm.

Mr. Dresser has not favored us with material for a write-up, but we are informed that he has served Baylor county for a number of years in a very able and efficient manner as County Attorney, and in asking for the office of District Attorney he is seeking a promotion, and will in due time place his candidacy before the people of the district in a personal way.

RED TOP NEWS

The Red Top Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. E. B. Frazure on Monday afternoon for the purpose of getting the year's work finished and a report made out of all that had been done. There were eight members present, one new member and one visitor.

New officers for the ensuing year are: Mrs. Bill Henderson, president; Mrs. Tom Cluck, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. E. B. Frazure, reporter.

It was voted to meet twice a month for the ensuing year—on the second and fourth Wednesday afternoons. The fourth Wednesday will be our regular meeting with the Home Demonstration Agent, and on the second Wednesday we will meet in a review of what we have had and a social hour, and to exchange books and magazines.

We will pay 10 cents a month dues and 10 cents when absent without a cause. All club members' names were written on slips of paper and drawn to see to whom each member would give a Christmas present. The council meets with us the first Saturday in January at the home of Mrs. Cluck, and everyone is invited to come and be with us.

Big Business By Albert T. Reid

The Publisher, "SAM, DID YOU READ THAT? HE PROBABLY MEANT THE DINKY BUSINESS OF PRINTING ENVELOPES, TOO. DON'T YOU THINK?"

.. With Our Subscribers..

Carl Kisinger came in this week and shoved his date up a year for which he has our sincere thanks.

Mr. W. C. Hill is one of our most loyal friends, for each year he not only renews well before his expiration date, but sends The Times to his two sons, W. R. Hill, at Burk Burnett, and Standley Hill at Houston, and we are sure that the sons derive much pleasure out of reading news items concerning friends of by-gone days in Munday—their old home town. Arthur Brisbane, the noted writer who contributes weekly to these columns, recently stated that no papers were more eagerly read than were the little papers from their old home town, and many have told us that they appreciate the paper more when they are away than they do when they are at home, and we are indeed grateful to Mr. Hill for his support and loyalty to this paper.

From Rogers, Arkansas, comes a renewal from E. P. Dodson, who also added the small sum of 25c and will receive the Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News for a year. This is the lowest rate that has ever been made on The Munday Times and The Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News, and represents the best newspaper bargain we have on our list, and we extend our sincere thanks to Mr. Dodson.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to Mr. R. S. Langford, residing on Munday, route 2, for a renewal to The Times.

Ex-Mayor, Grover Cleveland Jones of Ronton City handed us his check the other day for another year's subscription to this great moral guide, and also made the check large enough to include a year's subscription to the Star-Telegram, which should suffice to substantiate our contention that Grover reads only uplift literature.

W. W. Wilson renews for The Times and takes the Wichita Record-News, and will therefore receive all the home news and the news in general for only $4.00 per year, which represents a substantial saving on the price of both papers, and we wish to thank Mr. Wilson.

We are also indebted to Mr. C. L. Mayes for his renewal to The Times and Star-Telegram. We make a lower rate on these two papers than anywhere else in the United States, and if you wish both papers why not save that fifty cents by subscribing or renewing through The Times?

Miss Elizabeth Hodge of Liverpool, who lives although her neck was broken in an automobile wreck, was given a verdict for $2,720 against the publisher of the newspaper which she had subscribed to. This is another one of our old friends.

THE HOUSE WHERE LOVE ABIDES

I turned an ancient poet's book And found upon a page: "Stone walls do not a prison make, Nor iron bars a cage."

Yes, that is true, and something more, You'll find wher'er you roam, That marble floors and gilded walls Can never make a home.

But every house where Love abides And Friendship is the guest Is surely home, and home, sweet home, For there the heart can rest.

—Henry Van Dike.

More Than $6,000 Is Invested In Livestock Here On First Monday

That prosperity has returned to Munday country is indicated by the revival of First Monday here, which for the past year has meant little more than any other day on the calendar, but on Monday the crowds that came not only filled the trading yards, but business houses of the city reported a most excellent business on that day.

This revival in business on First Monday is largely due to the efforts of C. R. Elliott, who conducts a general livestock business here, and it matters not whether the farmers of this section have something to sell or want to buy, they always find a hearty welcome awaiting them, and are given the fullest co-operation in selling their stock by Mr. Elliott.

The fact that these sales have been held here throughout years gone by has created a desire on the part of stockmen and farmers who have stock to sell, or those in the market for livestock, to come to Munday on First Monday, and we believe it would be well in the future for our business concerns to join in and make the day a still greater day by offering special bargains on that one day each month.

work the country women and the farm girls are doing. They are. Practically every paper recognizes this work, every week along with everything else they must put into their paper. But this is a day of specialization and concentration.

And one whole paper devoted entirely to the work of the farm women with even every advertisement, thanking them for what they are doing for the whole county and the town in developing better products for all the markets and making more money for the whole country to spend with the home merchants, building up their own bank accounts and paying cash for most everything they need. Well, it not only builds up the business interests of the whole county but best of all it is building up the morale of every farm home in that county.

You have to do something to be proud of and then somebody must recognize it before it helps your spirits much. The women in Collingsworth county are doing something to be proud of. And the Wellington Leader is recognizing it and broadcasting their good works all over the country. Do you think those girls and women will lay down on their job in 1928? They are already planning what they are going to do to put in that "special" club edition next year.

Every Sunday we see pictures of society women and women of national renown. But for the farm women to actually see her own picture and the picture of her own club in the home paper thrills her more than to see Aimee's once more. And in the last week's Wellington Leader there were the pictures of twenty-three Women's and Girls Clubs. Beside the County Commissioners got their picture in the paper also. Because they are the fellows that make this great work possible in the county. If they say "NO!" Then all this fine work which brings joy and comfort and beauty and a bigger, better life to every farm

V. M. Ehlers, State Sanitary Engineer Pays Munday Visit

V. M. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer, working in conjunction with the State Health Department, was here on Friday and Saturday of last week working with city officials in an effort to solve the problems that have confronted local city dads since the installation of the sewage plant in this city, and with the recommendations made by Mr. Ehlers carried out it is hoped that the matter may be satisfactorily rectified.

After viewing the disposal plant and observing conditions as they existed Mr. Ehlers stated that those citizens who had entered a protest against conditions were entirely justifiable in their complaints, but it was his belief that under proper care that plant could be put in an entirely sanitary condition and would care for the sewage of the town without discomfort to anyone.

With a view of bringing about a better understanding between the complainants and the city officials a meeting was held on Friday evening at the city hall, at which time some twenty citizens and representatives of the city council were present, and in his talk Mr. Ehlers pointed out the many advantages that accrue to a community served by a modern sewage system and urged that every citizen connect with the system and that outdoor closets be entirely eliminated, but he also stressed the importance of the responsibility resting upon the city officials in keeping the disposal plant in such condition as to properly care for the sewage. His talk was along health promoting lines and was well worth while and we regret that the entire citizenship was not present to hear his message, for we believe that a better understanding of the responsibilities resting both upon the citizens and the city officials would have resulted from hearing his address.

Mr. Ehlers spent the entire two days here in supervising work at the disposal plant with a view of removing the objectionable features, and spent some time in giving instructions to city employees as to how the plant should be operated to render the best service, and while he was not positive that the carrying out of his plans would remove all the objectionable features, he believes that conditions will be improved to such an extent that it will offer no hazard to those residing in that section of the city near which the plant is located.

Many View Charts Showing New Ford At Land Motor Co.

Over one thousand people visited the local Ford agency Friday and Saturday and learned the details of Henry Ford's sensational car, which is to succeed the famous Model "T". Ford after more than nineteen years leadership in the low price, light car field. Full details were given in photograph and charts.

Many orders were booked and are still being accepted for the new car, although the local dealers have not received a car, but expect one within a few days. Over fifty orders are on file here.

Ford factories at Detroit and branch plants in other sections of the country are now preparing for capacity production and it is expected that all dealers will be able to meet the demand in full within the next few weeks.

In the meantime Henry Ford has announced that manufacture of replacement parts for the Model "T" Ford cars will continue to be an important part of the Ford business. It is estimated that there are still more than nine million Model T Ford cars in operation and the policy of the Ford Motor Company, it is said, will be to continue supplying parts for these cars as long as there is any demand for them.

Official introduction is to be continued for a week to enable everybody to get full details of the new Model A, also Mr. Land expects a new car to arrive at any time.

Munday School Spirit

Beyond the Alps lies Italy, and beyond Munday's School Spirit lies success. No surer road to success can any school take than the road of Good Spirit. Munday school, through sagacity, has chosen that road.

Some schools think that success lies in athletics, others say that it lies in scholarship, and still others say that to be successful, a wonderful faculty housed in the majestic building must be maintained. But we say that success lies in only two words: "Good Spirit," for from this the rest will follow.

You may wonder what the writer means by "Good Spirit." The answer is simple—just a kind, mutual feeling among all members of the school from the little Mary and James in the first grade up to the superintendent of the school.

Not everyone can play football; not everyone can yell loud enough to be heard all over grid-iron field when Munday is victor; nor is everyone capable of making A grades on every subject. But when all work the hardest and smile the broadest success is inevitable.

Our school has always been complimented more on its splendid spirit than on its other merit. This year the enrollment is larger than that of any previous year, and since the enrollment is larger, the spirit is stronger. Everyone in school knows that there has been some unpleasant things between the Juniors and Seniors, but the two classes have formed a peace treaty, so to speak, and the spirit of Munday school again prevails. So with this wonderful spirit of ours, our school has nine chances to win against one to lose.

But, whether we are winners or losers (and losers we are seldom going to be) we will remain close together. Thus the Munday school and the Purple and Gold we will always reverence.

Football Boys Entertained

Saturday evening at the Masonic hall the pep squad entertained the football boys with an informal banquet. As the guests arrived they were ushered into the banquet hall where tables were set for about forty persons.

After dinner, which was served by some of the Freshmen girls, a very interesting and profitable program was given. It was as follows:

Toastmaster—J. E. Rhodes.
 Invocation—P. D. O'Brien.

Music.
 Reading—Lillian Aycock.

Music.
 Talk—P. D. O'Brien.
 Remarks—J. E. Elliott.
 Announcement of Letter Men—L. M. Palmer.

Response—Joe Aycock.
 Election of Captain—Football Boys.

Remarks from other boys on the football squad, members of the pep squad, and faculty members followed.

The reading by Miss Aycock was a story of a 'possum hunt told by a negro who attended the hunt. It was very amusing and splendidly given.

The talk by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien was on "Life". In this he compared life to a football game. He showed us that the things which were characteristic of a successful life were the things that characterize a victorious football game. In order to more forcefully prove to us his illustrations, most of which were very humorous. Everyone who heard him speak must have drawn lessons from it that could easily be applied to our everyday living.

Mr. Elliott paid the boys a compliment by saying they were Munday had ever had on the football team. No one is in a better position to know whether or not this is true than Mr. Elliott, for he played on Munday's football team for three years, has been personally acquainted with most of the boys that played the next three years, and has been assistant coach to the team this year. Mr. Elliott, like most of those who attended the games, feels that the boys have done some wonderful playing this year, in spite of the fact that they had only one letter man from last year on the team, and that our boys were light in weight.

Mr. Palmer announced the letter men for "this year" and gave a few words about each. We are all sorry that every boy that played on the team could not be lettered but this was impossible. The ones who were lettered are Joe Aycock, Otis Burnett, Elton Busby, "Preacher" White, Earl Pruitt, Chandler Hughes, "Runt" LeBetter, Gilbert Myers, Paul Pruitt, Howard Kyle, Fayette Edwards, Victor Jungman and Elmo Wilson.

Joe Aycock spoke for the football boys and expressed their appreciation for the faithfulness of Mr. Palmer and Mr. Elliott in coaching them. He also expressed the boys' appreciation for the "swell feel" the pep squad gave them.

As captain for the team next year Paul Pruitt, half-back for this year, was elected.

As a toastmaster, the pep squad could not have selected a better one than Mr. Rhodes. He told jokes and kept everyone laughing throughout the evening.

Last but not least were the talks by some of the boys. Two of the Senior boys, who are not expected to be here next year, made farewell speeches.

The floor has been put in the gymnasium, and it is now ready for use. The floor certainly adds much to the appearance of the building, and I am sure those who had any part in paying for it will be only too glad that they did when they see it. With the floor in we are now looking forward to the time when the stage will be completed and ready for any program the school sponsors.

Athletic Notes

Football season is over and we now turn to the winter sport—basketball. Practice began Monday night in earnest and the prospects show that Munday will have a real team.

Two games were reported matched for Friday night. One with the Moguls playing Gillespie and the "Mogulets" playing the Gillespie girls. Gillespie is reported to have a very strong team and each game should be a good one.

With the gym. floored the basketball games should improve at least 75 per cent. This makes quite a bit of difference and it gives the boys a greater desire to get to play on it.

The football boys enjoyed a very pleasant evening Saturday with the pep-squad as the hostess. The football boys banquet is going to become a custom in the Munday high school and no football boy will regret it either! Three cheers for the pep-squad!

Seniors

Well, examinations are over, and some of the Seniors are complaining of not feeling normal. When the report cards come out some of the students are going to have a nervous breakdown, and some of the seniors will be a recipient of this dreadful malady.

Dolphine Hendrix is an orphan this week, and this pitiful scene reached a climax when she decided to take up lodging with Annie Matt Tate.

Three of the boys of our class became lettered men in football this year. They are Otis Burnett, Truman White and Elton Busby. Those boys will be greatly missed in the athletic field next year, that is, if they graduate.

The Seniors had a picnic a few weeks ago, and when naming the guest I failed to name one of the important ones. I owe this person an apology, who is none other than the honorable Hearsill Hardegreer.

Juniors

"Less Quantity and More Quality."

The Juniors were well represented at the "Haskell vs. Sweetwater" football game Friday, December 2. Sebern Jones, Earl Pruitt, Madge Smith and Francis Atkinson were all there. They had a real time as Juniors always do.

Coila Lawrence started back to school Monday. We are very glad to have her back and hope she will stay with us from now on.

Earl Pruitt was absent from school last Thursday. Earl journeyed to Anson with several other boys, and we are sure that he had a good time.

"Icky" Everitt Pruitt was also absent last Thursday, but he showed up at 1:45 o'clock. Icky had to go shopping, so he decided to do it right. We know he went shopping because Mouryse Smith helped to get the tags off of a new sweater he wore.

Sebern was not contented Victor was left guard on the team, Runt was full-back and Chandler was right tackle. All three of these boys will be back next year, if nothing happens.

Nearly everyone in our class made 100 in the six weeks Algebra examination. What do you know about that?

We think Mr. Standley's mustache surely is becoming, and we boys may ask him some questions about that line of business. Of course, the girls will not be interested.

If you see us drinking strong drinks and medicines this week you will know that we are stimulating ourselves to overcome the shock that we will get when we get our six weeks grades, this week.

Freshmen

The Freshmen are grieving over the loss of their very efficient president, Elmo Wilson, who has moved to McKinney. We gave him a farewell party last Monday night at the home of Mrs. John Rankins. We had a jolly good time but we were all sorry that it was the last party our president would attend with our class. We played the following games: bunco, dominoes, forty-two, eighty-four, old maids and truth. Loys Wilson, Elmo's brother, was a welcomed guest. Miss Mills was our chaperon.

Blanche Newsome went to Haskell to see an old class mate of ours, Jamie Lyle Marlin. We do not suppose this is news to anyone, for it is all Blanche has talked about since she came back. Her report of the good time she had, has made all of us want to go this week-end.

We overlooked a very important news item last week. Bessie Womble went to De Leon to visit on her grandmother's farm Thanksgiving. If you are in need of any information concerning farm life, see her.

Louise Aycock went to Wainwright this week-end. She was not accustomed to being in such a large city and forgot to look for the red lights. She was also lost several times.

Paul Pruitt went to Haskell Friday to see the new Ford. However, the Ford did not arrive so he went to a football game between Haskell and Sweetwater.

From all reports Mr. Standley has a frog that holds the record for long distance jumping in the school laboratory.

When Mr. J. C. Elliott was called on for a speech at the banquet for the football boys given by the pep-squad, there were two who knew what he had to say. The Lord and Mr. Elliott. After he got up, there was only one who knew and that wasn't Mr. Elliott.

Grade 7-A

Our room had a candy breaking at the Baptist annex Friday night. We all owned up to having enough candy but Mr. Palmer. We were very glad to have had Ray Worthington from the sixth grade, John E. Rayburn and Charles McGlothline. Mr. Palmer and Mrs. Rice were our chaperons. Boy, howdy! We sure did have a good time. Our legs were sore from playing "knock." Mr. Palmer made us go home at ten-thirty although we did not want to go.

Paris is soon to have several temperance hotels and restaurants in which no alcoholic drinks will be sold.

Have you made the triple test?

GASOLINE must do more than one thing well if it's to be classified as good gasoline. If it gives you only extra-quick starting but is slow on the getaway and lacks power, it's a very wasteful fuel.

So be sure that your gasoline passes the triple test for (1) starting, (2) acceleration and (3) power and mileage. You can be absolutely sure that it will if you insist upon Conoco—because Conoco is the triple-test fuel that is always dependable. It's the quality gasoline that starts you off and keeps you moving in all kinds of weather.

BANDIT DEATH FUND

By Phebe K. Warner

"I see by the papers" that the hundred Texas bankers have contributed $5.00 each to build a "bandit death fund." And furthermore the entire 1,600 members of the Texas Bankers Association are expected to join the movement and raise the death fund to $8,000.

Much as we hate this man-killing business, this action of the Texas bankers is a tragic but good movement. If any body has to be killed it better be the bandits than the bankers.

Then aside from the bankers' determination to protect themselves and the people's money entrusted to their care, there are several other valuable lessons to be deduced from the action of the Texas bankers.

First of all it proves beyond a doubt that the Texas bankers believe in cooperation. They believe in pooling their power for the protection of their lives, their rights and their property. Emphatically they believe in eliminating the unnecessary middlemen who operate between the bankers and the people.

The Texas bankers also prove by their combined action that no one bank working alone would ever be big enough to catch all the bandits and kill them. It will take the cooperation of all the banks in the state to protect any or every bank.

The Texas bankers don't believe in either daylight or moonshine holdups. But they do believe that any man or bunch of men who boldly or otherwise walk into a bank and shove the cashier and all his force in the vault and walks off with the people's money should be shot dead on the spot and the fellow who shoots them should be given a reward for his service to humanity.

Now, Mr. Farmer, what do you think of this plan of our bankers? Do you think it is right? Do you think it is just for the bankers to try to protect themselves against the men who are trying to make their living by breaking into banks and stealing the people's money they have entrusted to the bank until they need it some later day?

If you do you believe in the principle of self-preservation. You believe in the principle of eliminating waste and loss of cold cash that properly belongs to the people who have made that money and put it in the bank for safe keeping.

And if you believe in these principles, then you believe in the principle of cooperation. You believe in the principle of pooling your power for the protection of your lives, your rights and your property. You believe in the principle of eliminating the unnecessary middlemen who operate between the bankers and the people.

the farmers to bring co-operative marketing to the top and make it the success it should be. It is going to take even more than this. If the home banks and the home merchants all over this country really want to stop this wholesale bandit business and build up their own home business, the safest and sanest and most human way to do it is to get solidly behind the farmers and help them in their fight for economic justice in the market places of the world. If you want to build up your business and your town, get behind the farmer who is the greatest producer of new wealth every year in this nation and help him get a living profit for his time and toil and his products of the farm and then this new wealth will be dropped first of all into the home banks and the business tills of your own home town.

SIDE LIGHTS

By Marcy Darnall

Uncle Jimmy Bates of Columbus, Ky., is one old Confederate who has never been "reconstructed." When he lost his belongings in the flood this summer and the Red Cross furnished him clothing, including several pairs of nice blue socks he remarked: "I ain't no Yankee; I never wore the blue and never will." So they rummaged around and found his some gray socks.

In a bridge game at the Cavendish hotel in Bedford, Eng., after the cards had been regularly shuffled, the four players each drew a complete suit in the deal. A mathematical shark has figured that the chances against such an occurrence are 2,235,197,406,895,366,368,201,559,999 to 1. It may possibly happen again about the year 9999, we imagine.

Those of us who were old enough to follow the sporting pages in the '90's were often thrilled by the plots of "Mummy" Taylor, famed deaf and dumb pitcher of the New York Giants. We had almost forgotten him altogether until he was recalled by a press dispatch which gave an account of his death a few days ago at Galesburg, Ill., at the age of 58.

While often the cause of reproach, a thick skull sometimes has its advantages. Such was the case when Charles D. B. King, negro President of the Republic of Liberia, was struck by a low bridge while yachting on the Thames near London recently. Although the impact of the bridge against his head fell ed him to the deck, he arose smiling and without serious injury.

One of those "believe it or not" stories which go the rounds of the press is reported from Kansas. The Kansas City Star is responsible for its circulation, and reports: "Mrs. Albert Tremain, wife of a Salina grocer, has a cat that on the Fourth of July gave birth to three kittens, one red, one white and one blue."

Some timely advice is contained in an editorial recently published in Galley Proof, a printers' periodical, which included this sentence: "The time has come to take our loss on a big bunch of worthless mental junk and dump it into the rubbish heap where it belongs."

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ON SEYMOUR ROAD

Harold F. Hanes, 36, Wichita Falls oil operator, was instantly killed, and J. D. C. Atkins, Jr., 33, prominent attorney of Paris, Tenn., who for the last year has been special counsel for the Street and Dillard Oil company, died in the Hargrave-Walker hospital at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening from injuries received when the automobile in which the two men were riding crashed into a ditch and overturned about eight and one-half miles out on the Seymour road late Saturday afternoon.

The car supposedly driven by Hanes, was going at a high rate of speed, and in an attempt to pass a second automobile on the road encountered a stretch of loose dirt, causing the car to lose its balance, according to Paul S. Oles, of 1722 Huff, who described the accident to officials of the Burris-Shepherd mortuary. Reaching the scene of the tragedy, the driver of the ambulance said he found the car turned over on the right side in a four-foot ditch, headed in the direction of Wichita Falls. However, Mr. Oles said the car overturned and skidded for about 40 feet, completely reversing its position before landing in the ditch. Parts of the automobile were found scattered along the highway, it was said.

Hanes was found in the debris of wreckage, his head mangled beyond recognition even by close personal friends. Atkinson was placed in the ambulance and rushed to the Hargrave-Walker hospital, where attending physicians said the man apparently sustained a fracture at the base of the brain, although his condition was such, that an X-ray examination would have been fatal. Several ribs were fractured, a finger was broken, a long gash was inflicted in the right leg, and internal injuries were sustained, physicians said.—Wichita Times.

WHAT'S NEW?

A new fire engine used in New York pumps a stream of 1,000 gallons of water a minute to the top of the highest skyscrapers.

Hats treated with chemicals to make them luminous in the dark have been introduced in England to be used by pedestrians on highways at night.

A new safe has been invented in Germany which gives off poison gases when chemicals placed between the steel walls are touched by a burglar's drill or blow-torch.

Anti-aircraft searchlights now used by the United States Army are said to be the most powerful ever manufactured, with 800 million candlepower, capable of projecting a beam 35 miles.

A newly designed French airplane has a body which can be instantly converted into parachute if the engine should go dead.

By means of a new device an automobile is automatically locked when the ignition is switched off.

ABOUT WOMEN

Lady Melville Richmond Brown, intrepid British woman explorer, who traversed the wildest portions of Central America last year, is preparing for another similar experience. She is 40 years old, a noted beauty, a crack shot and an all-around sportswoman.

The practice of buying and selling wives among the primitive and patriarchal people of the Caucasus region has recently been strictly forbidden.

The Dowager Duchess of Bedford, an English society leader, frequently pilots her own airplane across the Channel on shopping trips to Paris.

Fraulein Van Alten, a niece of President Van Hindenburg of Germany, is now a popular actress in Paris.

Leading women physicians of New York are planning to build a great hospital, where persons of moderate means may be treated at minimum expense.

The noted German woman aviator, Then Rasch, will shortly make a tour of the United States, giving exhibitions in her airplane.

Miss Evelyn Smith, candidate for mayor of Binghamton, N. Y., in making her appointment declares that if elected she will office.

WHY NOT A COUNTY NURSE?

V. M. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer, who was here on official business last week, called attention of The Times to the fact that many counties have been provided with county nurses, whose duty it is to visit the homes of the county, make inspection of sanitary conditions and render professional services wherever her services are needed.

To the average citizen who has never investigated the merit of such an arrangement it would seem off-hand that such a move would only have the effect of creating another job for someone, but when one delves into the humanitarian side of the problem, it seems that this work is well worth the price to any county.

According to Mr. Ehlers, these nurses are provided by the State Health Department on a fifty-fifty basis, the county paying one-half the salary and the State one-half, and according to Mr. Ehlers the expense would be approximately $1,500 to each.

The duties of such a nurse are numerous. She, like the family physician, is a messenger of mercy, ready to answer the call of duty at any moment. She would impart helpful and beneficial information to expectant mothers, render aid upon the arrival of babe, and see to it that everything was well. She would likely be the means of saving the lives of many mothers and babies in Knox county each year, and aside from the direct work accomplished there is no means of estimating the value of such a work in the way of creating more sanitary conditions over the county as a whole.

With a modern county hospital now going on a paying basis it seems that our county officials would do well to look into the merits of this proposition, and invest something for the protection of the health of the county, which after all, is the greatest asset.

AN OLD-TIME CONQUEROR

Nine hundred years ago, in 1027, (some say 1028) there was born in France an illegitimate child who was destined to play an important part in the world's history.

He was the son of Robert, duke of Normandy, and Herleva Fulbert, daughter of a tanner Falaise. He is known to history as William the Conqueror, and was the leader of the epochal struggle known as the Norman Conquest, which made him master of England.

Claiming succession to the English throne by virtue of a former compact with Harold, earl of Wessex, William invaded England when Harold himself accepted the English crown. At the famous battle of Hastings, October 14, 1066, William was victorious through a brilliant strategem and Harold was killed. Within five years William had conquered all England, and although numerous insurrections against his authority afterward occurred, he maintained his mastery with a firm hand as William I.

Both before and after the conquest of England William had to fight many battles to hold his original territory in Normandy, being pitted at times against his own son, Robert.

In 1087, while at war with the French, he invaded the district of Vexen and burned the town of Mantes. His horse, plunging into burning cinders, inflicted wounds from which William the Conqueror died on September 9, 1087.

William was stern, self-reliant and unscrupulous, but less cruel than many other warriors of his time, although he did wreak terrible vengeance upon a French district whose inhabitants had taunted him with his birth.

His 900th anniversary is being celebrated this year with elaborate ceremonies, both in England and in parts of France.

NEW WONDERS PROMISED

Scientific progress continues at a marvelous pace, so that we never know what new wonder tomorrow may bring forth. Two new marvels are promised soon, according to a dispatch, which tells of airplane power by wireless, and a motor fuel formed by dissolving a chemical capsule in water.

Nicola Tesla, famed inventor of electrical and radio appliances, predicts that aircraft will be driven by light electric motors receiving their power from generating stations on the ground. He claims that he has demonstrated that power by wireless can be transmitted half way around the earth without losing as much as one percent of its energy.

R. Rex Renee, wartime aviator, declares that he is having built an airplane capable of making 375 miles an hour, in which he expects to make a round trip between New York and Paris in September, requiring but 24 hours. He claims to have the secret of the new chemical fuel which will make this speed possible.

Whether these two revolutionary innovations shall materialize remains to be seen, but their announcement in any event indicates the daring ideas which men are employing in their further conquests of the air.

PICTURES IN SCHOOL

In the adoption of motion pictures for teaching purposes in public schools Ohio is declared to have made advances beyond other states, and it is predicted that before many years have passed the motion picture will be considered as necessary as the blackboard in its schools.

There has recently been created a division of visual instruction in the Ohio department of education, with Prof. B. A. Aughinbaugh as supervisor. The means employed under his direction include not only motion pictures, but maps, photographs, stereoscopes and other devices for conveying impressions through sight.

In reply to certain critics of the visual method, Prof. Aughinbaugh has issued an informative pamphlet in which the methods employed are fully explained. In his discussion of the subject he says:

"Whether visual instruction methods are more effective than others depends on whether we understand and retain more from what we see than from what we hear. Perhaps this question may be answered by the apparently unanimous appreciation of eyesight as the quickest means of securing impressions. Visual education recognizes the worth of this means above the others and makes of it."

One of the problems of education today is how to cover the great amount of ground considered necessary during school years. While pictures alone can not supply all educational needs, they are certainly a most valuable adjunct to other means of instruction in many branches of learning. That their use will ultimately become general in American schools can not be doubted.

NEW USES FOR CORN

Just as the by-products of manufacturing processes have enormously increased the value of many other raw materials, the better utilization of the corn plant may in future greatly add to the farmer's income, according to Dr. O. R. Sweeney of Iowa State College.

During seven years of experimenting Dr. Sweeney and his assistants have developed from corn and corn stalks a wide variety of materials, including new forms of foodstuffs, artificial silk, paper, building boards and blocks, insulation board, imitation maple syrup, various preservative chemicals and other useful products.

Particular attention has been given to the utilization of cornstalks, which in the past have been considered of little or no value. It is estimated that if the 200,000,000 tons of cornstalks which now go to waste every year were converted into materials of commercial value they would add a billion dollars to the value of the nation's corn crop.

Especially interesting is the possibility of making lumber substitutes by grinding cornstalks into a flour, beating it into a jelly and allowing it to harden in molds. Such a process makes a smooth board that will not warp, with great strength and capable of being produced, it is claimed, at a price lower than that of wood lumber.

The saving of raw materials heretofore considered valueless and converting them into commercially valuable products may prove to be an important factor in solving the farmer's problem, as it has already aided in solving many of the problems of industry.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE

Human bodies are frequently referred to as machines. In a certain sense they are machines, but they possess properties not usually found in machines fabricated from inanimate materials.

In the first place, the human machine, and that of other animals as well, has the peculiar faculty of repairing and renewing itself if nature is given a fair chance. In the second place, these living machines can function even though many of their parts are entirely missing.

Just how far they may go in this respect is hardly appreciated by the layman who has not given thought to the subject. Dr. J. F. Erdman of New York recently gave some illuminating information along this line by enumerating a few of the parts which may be spared without entirely destroying one's usefulness. He reminds us that one "may go about his work minus a leg, an arm, an eye, his tonsils, appendix, gall bladder, one kidney, part of his lungs and brain and as much as 12 feet of his intestines."

Recent developments in surgery have made possible operations on the heart, the entire removal of one lobe of the lungs and modifications of other organs formerly thought indispensable in their intact state.

In some cases science has been able to fit us up with spare parts which function almost as well as the original ones.

LADY LORD MAYOR

In the United States we have had many lady mayors, several lady Congressmen, two lady governors and one lady United States Senator, even though she served only one day through a complimentary appointment.

But it remained for Liverpool, England, to give to the world the first lady Lord Mayor in the person of Miss Margaret Beavan, who is now the chief executive of that great city. The title seems a trifle odd for a lady, but Lord Mayor she is.

The selection of Miss Beavan was not made through any freak of politics, either. It was made because of her demonstrated ability in public affairs, after six years as a member of the Liverpool city council. Besides her official record she has to her credit years of devoted service in behalf of the needy children of her city—a service so distinguished as to win for her the title of "Little Mother of Liverpool," by which she is affectionately known.

With a mind trained in the management of municipal affairs and a heart filled with love for humanity, the new Lord Mayor may be expected to perform the duties of her high office with uncommon zeal and efficiency.

Priscilla Moran, 8-year-old orphan and film star, will not be permitted to appear in motion pictures for the present by order of a Los Angeles court, which placed her in custody of an aunt.

Michael I. Roumanian's 5-year-old boy king, after the ceremony of ascending the throne a few days ago, whispered to his mother, "Let's go home, mamma, I'm hungry."

JUST LOOK AT COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY

(Continued from page one) home in the county is lost to the home, the county and the state. And all that talent goes to waste. But if they say "YES" then the whole county begins to grow.

And in those group pictures more than two hundred Collingsworth county girls and women could see themselves. Then there was the picture of the County Council of the 4-H Club boys and girls and also the pictures of the county, district and state dedicated to Mrs. J. D. Wilson past demonstrator, who had been the guiding spirit through many trying months. It's the compact, concentrated efforts of all the women in the county recorded in one publication with no other outside interests to detract your thoughts for one brief minute from it, that counts. You see the whole story of the development of one county at a glance. And the picture STICKS!

Dear Children:

Well, I am mighty pleased with my work this year. I have had many happy days because I had time to make many new and clever toys. Every time I finished some particularly good job—I couldn't keep from chuckling to think how much fun you were going to have with it—when you found it in your stocking or 'neath the tree on Christmas morning.

Now all of my work is done—and from now to Christmas, I am going to visit with all of my friends. Why don't you ask mother or dad to come with you down to The Leader where they will be waiting to show you all of the nice things I have made.

At that time you might tell them what you want—and I will look up your record in the big book—and if I find you have been good—why I 'spect you'll get what you want. Better come down this week.

Your Loving Friend,
SANTA CLAUS.

P. S. Old Blitzen, that lead deer, hurt his foot last week in a race with Vixen—but he's all right now and we'll be on time.
