

Interest Increasing In Baptist Revival

With the revival services at the Baptist church well under way, Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor, reports a steady increase in attendance at both morning and evening services. Interest in the meeting is also steadily on the increase.

Rev. E. T. Miller, well known pastor-evangelist, is bringing some interesting messages in the services. Rev. Miller, who is pastor of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church of Wichita Falls, has a message of interest for all who attend the services, regardless of age.

Peter W. Fast, choir director of the First Baptist church of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, is in charge of the song service. Mr. Fast, who is a young man, is one of the best song leaders to be at the local church in some time, and the song services are adding much to the evangelistic movement.

Services are held at ten o'clock each morning and at 8:45 in the evening. Evening services are held in the open.

"We extend you all a cordial invitation to come and worship with us," Rev. Albertson said. "You need the revival services and we need your presence. With your cooperation this meeting can be made an evangelistic campaign which will last long in our memory. Come and be with us."

Does it Pay To Feed the Layers?

Many Knox county people question the profitability of feeding hens all the mash they will eat when feed prices are high. The county agent, R. O. Dunkle of the Extension Service, makes the comparison of two poultry records in Knox county for the month of July. The comparison is of 110 hens each. In flock No. 1 where hens had free access to mash, an average of 16 eggs per hen was laid. Pounds of feed consumed per dozen eggs was 5.4. Feed cost per dozen eggs was 15.9.

In flock No. 2 where only limited amount of mash was fed, an average of 9 eggs per hen was laid. Pounds of feed consumed per dozen eggs 6.8. Feed cost per dozen eggs 20.4.

Feed cost $3.00 per 100 pounds. Average egg price 25 cents per dozen.

The planes are single-motored advanced trainers.

Clock Board On Display Here

In the show window of Wm. Cameron & Co. of Munday is a most unusual display. It is a large, octagon-shaped clock board, showing the faces of ten electric clocks. The centre clock shows the Munday time and the others show the time of more than a dozen important cities in every part of the world. Flags of the various nations flank the clocks, and by a simple method of plus hours and minus hours painted on the clock board, it is easy to see which cities and nations are ahead of Munday time, and which are behind.

J. A. Caughran, manager of the Cameron Store urges everyone to see this world time-table, as it is most interesting and informative. Arrangements have been made to have the clock board on display in the Baker-McCarty show window during Friday and Saturday of this week.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

"FIDDLING WHILE ROME BURNS"

While "Rome burns" on many far-flung battlefronts and little encouraging war news filters in through the censors, masters of political strategy "fiddle" with fugitive "wage stabilization" and "price ceilings."

On the home front furor rages over the inflation spectre which hangs over the cost of the war, our standard of living, and the ultimate value of the billions we are pouring into war bonds. "Inflation must be curbed at all costs," say these captains of expediency; "everything possible must be done to remove its causes or control its growth." But what has actually been done to control inflation? What specific steps have been taken to prevent it?

Mr. Henderson's diluted OPA has been given a dull weapon indeed with which to clamp down price lids and police them. Wages, a major factor in price determination, are still on the loose under will-o'-the-wisp "stabilization."

Mr. Davis' pro-labor WLB wage decisions, always up, and under the now cost-of-living formula so continuing on a broad and expensive scale, now open up the whole inflation phantasmagoria to the "me too" wage-grab contingent.

Thus we have two emergency war agencies, the OPA and the WLB, set up to control prices and speed war production, respectively, toothless and ineffectual in the performance of their prescribed tasks. They have, thus far, not only failed of their purposes but actually obstructed the performance thereof. And why? Because neither has the power or the weight that such vital issues require in an emergency such as we face.

The obvious and crying need is for a definite national labor policy, one upon which both labor and management can hang their hats, one upon which wages and therefore costs can be based. For until costs are determined prices cannot be properly set. Until prices are properly set they cannot be controlled. And until prices are controlled inflation cannot be prevented.

The American people want to win this war and the peace that follows it. They are ready to do everything within reason and to make all the necessary sacrifices to win it. Small wonder then that they are becoming restive under the faltering, indecisive policies exhibited on wage freezing so necessary in present inflation. Small wonder that they are fed up with political "fiddling" on the home front while "Rome burns" on the land, in the air and on the sea.

MAKE IT A MOTTO

Because the security of this nation probably depends on air supremacy now more than on any other single agency, the government is utilizing every suitable airplane.

As a result, it has taken many of the commercial airline planes. Contrary to an erroneous report, however, it did not take over the airlines. They still operate with reduced equipment as private enterprises for public service.

Of necessity they must give preference to essential war travelers and cargoes, but private citizens are still accommodated subject to some inevitable priorities in emergencies.

As one airline aptly puts it in an advertisement, it seeks to maintain one fundamental of operation at all times—polite and efficient service to all—military and civilians alike.

That would be a good motto for all industries and all government departments to make a first rule of operation, for either is sunk without the other and both depend absolutely on civilian activity for existence.

CEILING ON WAGES LIKELY

Before long, definite action to impose a ceiling on wages is likely to be taken, either by Congress or by presidential directive. Washington is really worried about inflation. It is obviously impossible to control and fix prices so long as wages rise. In addition, wages must be limited if purchasing power is to be held down.

More and rigorous controls over the nation's man power in all directions is also to be anticipated. The time may come when workers will not be permitted to change jobs—and when employers will not be permitted to bid competitively for men. This isn't pleasant. But the exigencies of war may make it inevitable.

Fifteen spring and bumper companies have pooled their facilities to build $25,000,000 worth of armor plate a month.

NO FINANCIAL BOTTLENECK

A series of resolutions passed by the Washington Bankers Association at its recent annual meeting is illustrative of the attitude of banking in general.

The Association pointed out that 80 per cent of all the war bonds sold in its state had been sold through the banks, and pledged its continued aggressive support to the War Savings Program.

It then pledged itself to cooperate completely with the government in extending loans to war industries, in restricting loans for purposes that might compete with the war effort, and in assisting the various regulatory authorities, both state and national, in keeping banking operating with maximum soundness and efficiency.

Pledges of this kind are easy to make. In the case of banking, these and similar pledges have been kept to the letter. Banking has taken on a long list of new and difficult tasks created by the war effort. It has had to deal with problems for which there is little precedent, and it has had to blaze new trails. And, as government spokesmen have said, it has been outstandingly successful in meeting all the legitimate and necessary demands made upon it. That's one reason why there has been no financial bottleneck in preparing for and fighting this war.

PATENT CHANGES CAN WAIT

For some time Assistant District Attorney General Arnold, under the misapprehension that the patent system has impeded our war effort, has been agitating for fundamental changes in U.S. patent legislation.

Mr. Arnold, whose assistants have been cooperating with Senate Patent Committee Chairman Bone in drafting new patent legislation, has been accused by NAM special patent adviser George E. Folk of "either ignorantly or deliberately misleading Congress and the public in connection with patents and industry's war production."

"Enactment of the patent legislation now pending in the U.S. Senate," according to James D. Cunningham, vice chairman of the patent and research committee of the national association of Manufacturers, "would curb industrial research and jeopardize the American war effort."

In view of the fact that the government is free to use any patented article or process, regardless of interest or ownership, at any time, it seems illogical to lay any fancied war delay at the door of the U.S. patent system.

But entirely aside from this consideration is the fact that last December the President appointed the National Patent Planning Committee to make a comprehensive survey and study of the patent system: to determine whether it is providing the maximum service in encouraging inventions and whether its efficiency for that purpose can be increased.

Does it not seem odd for the self-imposed sponsors of this new legislation to endeavor to push new bills through the Senate before the President's personally appointed commission has had time to complete its study and submit its recommendations?

Industrial research men are making an intensive study of phosphorescent materials for blackout lighting. Phosphorescent paint will store up energy while lights are shining, and then will glow when the lights go off. In that way such paint will help plant workers to find their way about in a sudden blackout.

A new type of gunpowder now being made is flashless, smokeless and unaffected by damp weather.

SUGGESTIONS FOR HARVESTING PEANUTS

College Station.—If the growing season was good, the time for digging peanuts will have arrived when the vines begin to turn slightly yellow and practically all of the nuts are mature. According to E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, maturity of the nut is indicated by a coloring on the inside of the shell with darkening veins showing.

Directing his counsel to inexperienced growers, Miller advises digging peanuts in fields afflicted with southern blight as soon as they mature. An ordinary wide-angle heavy sweep on a riding planter is considered a good digging implement. It should be run just deep enough to get all of the nuts, and not too fast to shake the nuts loose.

Vines may be stacked around a pole the day they are dug if the weather is clear. Poles three to four inches in diameter and six to seven feet long, sharpened at each end, with two cross pieces about 24 inches long nailed to the poles six to eight inches above the ground, should be used.

A few vines first are hung over the cross pieces for a foundation, and the stack then made by placing the vines around the pole, with the peanuts to the inside pressing the vines down. Occasionally a vine should be divided and hung around the pole to bind the stack together. Keep the center about a foot higher than the outside in order to shed water. When nearly completed, the stack should be drawn to a point and a few vines crowded down over the pointed end of the pole, and then capped with a small amount of grass or hay.

FEEDING PULLETS

Proper feeding of pullets aids in development of the profitable laying flock. A growing mash which contains protein largely of vegetable origin such as cotton seed meal and soy bean meal, with a small amount of animal protein such as meat and bone meal scrap, fish meal and milk, causes gradual development. Pullets fed such a mash have a tendency to become fully developed before they start to lay.

The protein percentage of the portion has a lot to do with influencing the rate of growth and sexual maturity, and the mash should consist of 14 to 16 per cent protein.

WORLD TIME-TABLE ON DISPLAY

The clock-board shown above is now on display in the show window of the local Wm. Cameron & Co. Store. Each of the clocks shows the time in one or more nations around the world. Comparison of the time between this city and the other nations is shown by arrows running from the local time clock to those showing the time of other nations. By indicating the difference in time through a system denoting plus hours or minus hours it is easily determined whether the compared time is ahead of, or behind, our local time.

HITLER WANTS BLOW AT CONSERVATION

A blow at conservation this year is a blow struck for Hitler, August Schumacher, chairman of the Knox county AAA committee, announced this week.
One of the war's big battles is agricultural production and the success with which this task is accomplished depends entirely upon the soil, he said.
Faced with shortages of labor, machinery and equipment, farmers not only are called upon to produce the greatest amount of food and feed the world has even known but to keep soils in condition for record output.
Comparing industrial and agricultural production, Mr. Schumacher said that industry is expanding and building new plants to provide for increased production of tanks, guns, planes and ships but that agriculture would be working with the same equipment for record output of milk, eggs, meats and other nourishing foods.
Under the 1941 AAA program, Knox county farmers were allowed $38,070.00 to invest in their soils but the amount has been increased to $85,800.00 under the 1942 program.

gram. From the two or three times more soil-building work must be carried out if all funds are to be utilized.
Practices which can be carried out between now and the close of the program year include terracing, contouring, listing and chiseling non-crop pasture, building earthen dams and reservoirs, eliminating destructive plants, and planting non-leguminous cover or green manure crops.

3 Kinds of Travel

MILITARY MOVEMENTS * CIVILIAN TRAVEL * VACATION TRAVEL

An Up-to-the-Minute Burlington Report on Each

MILITARY MOVEMENTS are being handled with speed and efficiency. The entire Burlington organization is geared to the current wartime pace.

CIVILIAN TRAVEL is important . . . much of it inseparable from wartime activity. Burlington trains, headed by its speedy Zephyr fleet, are conserving time, automobiles and rubber—all of them vitally important.

VACATIONS—Defense Transportation Director Eastman says: "Vacations are desirable from the standpoint of public health, efficiency and morale . . ."

Colorado, Glacier Park, Yellowstone, the Black Hills and the Dude Ranches of Wyoming, Colorado and Montana—all served by Burlington Lines are welcoming vacationists. Regular bus service is available from railroad gateways to and through these recreational areas.

THE KEYNOTE IS COOPERATION

If you are planning a trip, business or vacation, here are some specific things you can do to increase travel enjoyment:

- * Depart and return during mid-week.
- * When reservations are required, make them well in advance and secure cancel reservations immediately.
- * Travel light. Luggage not needed on route can be checked through.
- * When planning any trip, consult your local ticket agent, travel agency or nearest Burlington representative. Now, more than ever, you can profit by the counsel of travel experts.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Essential in the equipment of every Soldier, Sailor, Marine or Flyer is a first aid kit, consisting of bandages and antiseptics for instantaneous use. These materials are packed into a compact box and cost about $1.50 each.

We need millions of these first aid kits for emergency treatment. They are also used by Red Cross workers, in field hospitals and wherever needed until hospital treatment may be obtained. Even a child could buy one or more of these kits through purchase of War Stamps. Buy War Bonds and Stamps every pay day and invest at least ten percent of your income in these government securities. U. S. Treasury Department

Winter flying jackets for both the Army and Navy Air Corps are regular equipment for our aviators. They cost from $12 to $18 and are made of horsehide leather lined with sheep shearing.

Purchase of one $18.75 War Bond, for which you receive $25 in 10 years, will pay for one of these jackets so necessary for our airmen flying at high altitudes and in northern climes. So you and your neighbors can do your bit by investing at least 10 percent of your salary every pay day in War Bonds to help pay the cost of this equipment for intrepid American flyers. Join the parade, and help top the War Bond Quota in your county. U. S. Treasury Department

Pity the man who has no time for the best things in life. There are many who seem to have no time but for the things of the present age. Taking this view of things many lives are out of balance and should they so continue to live they shall pass from this life unbalanced. "Weighed in the balances, and art found wanting," will be the answer to so many lives and souls. "Well done, good and faithful servant," will be the answer to many. As you are living today what can you expect?

Your presence is always welcomed in every service, and when you are absent you are missed.

I hope to see you in the services Sunday.

Allocation of Sugar Fixed

Domestic sugar cane, grown in Louisiana and Florida, is brought under WPB's allocation program under a supplementary order to M-98-A. Under the order the entire year's allocation of raw cane sugar to American refiners is provided for. The WPB Sugar Section announced that a hearing for sugar cane producers and growers will be held at New Orleans late in August to discuss problems arising out of the order including domestic cane under the allocation program.

Students Study Price Control, Rationing

Two thousand students of North Texas State Teachers College at Denton were enrolled in an intensive four-day course to study wartime rationing of scarce commodities and price control. The course, given last week, was the first of its kind in a Texas college. Dr. Robert H. Lawrence, Texas OPA consumer executive, told the students that this war is being fought not only with bombs and bullets but also with rumor, fear and doubt. "We are now fighting inflation," he said, "Congress and the President have given us the weapon, but only individual consumers can make this weapon one hundred per cent effective."

Bicycle Sellers Warned

All new adult bicycles are subject to rationing regulations, even though they may have been altered, disassembled, or the parts changed. OPA stated, in a definition of "new adult bicycle" contained in amendment 1 to the rationing program. Reports to OPA indicate that some sellers have been cutting the seat-post, waste to make the measurement fall within the definition of children's bicycles, which are not rationed.

ODT Launches Survey

The Office of Defense Transportation now is making a survey to determine to what extent state governments have complied with President Roosevelt's request that automobile speeds be limited to 40 miles per hour to conserve vehicles and tires. The records indicate that many states have not responded to the President's request, made March 14.

Farmers Prepare for Scrap Harvest

Farmers in Oklahoma and Arkansas who have completed their crop harvest are among the first in the nation to join in the country-wide scrap harvest, WPB's conservation division announced. Aim of the national scrap harvest is to salvage about 2,500,000 tons of scrap metal from the country's six million farms. State and local salvage committees are directing the drive, which is part of the new intensive national salvage program.

Waste Fats Pouring In

Reports to date from rendering companies in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana indicate that about 37,000 pounds of waste fat will be collected weekly in the Southwest region. Daily collections now are averaging above 1,000 pounds in Fort Worth, 500 pounds in Dallas, 254 pounds in Beaumont, 200 pounds in Waco and 100 pounds in Amarillo. A quota of one to two pounds a month has been set in the nation-wide campaign for sal-

nounced, despite reductions in the new quota allotments for the month. No new quotas were assigned in some states because the unused carryover from preceding months is sufficient to meet the demand. Quotas for the Southwest OPA region are: Arkansas, 191; Kansas, 0; Louisiana, 353; Missouri, 414; Oklahoma, 0, and Texas, 1340.

Some Motor Carriers Exempted

Motor carriers engaged in certain special operations have been exempted from various provisions of General Order ODT 17, which became effective on August 1 and governs operations of contract and private motor carriers. The permits cover trucks engaged in the delivery of solid fuels, newspapers, supplies and materials to vessels, mine products, ice, rubber and metal scrap, prepared food to restaurants, bakery products and certain materials used in connection with printing and duplicating.

New Method of Fighting Fire Bombs Given

New instructions in fighting fire bombs have been announced as a result of extensive research by technicians in the United States and England, it is reported by Marvin Hall, State Fire Defense Coordinator.

In a communication to Fire Chief H. C. Hawes, Mr. Hall stated, "All civilians should become familiar with the new and safer method of fighting incendiary bombs, described in the latest instructions released by OGD. These are the result of extensive experiments by OGD technicians and the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army. The new method has already been adopted in England and New Zealand."

Chief Hawes said that the most important change in technique is that which calls for the use of a jet of water instead of a spray. A speedy attack on the bomb with a jet of water will knock the bomb out in less than one minute, thus saving valuable time which can be used in attacking other bombs nearby before they can start serious fires. Sand is not to be used except where water is not available or where the glare of the bomb can be seen by enemy flyers, he said.

Briefly, the latest instructions are:

1. Bring your firefighting equipment to the scene at once.
2. Shoot a jet of water at the bomb without delay, to put it out of action quickly.
3. Then use the jet, quickly, to quench the fragments and the remains of the bombs, and any fires that might have been started.
4. Be absolutely sure all of the fire is out before you leave the scene.
5. Use a coarse spray only where scattering of metal must be avoided.
6. Use sand only where it is not likely to start a fire, or if water is not available.

Chief Hawes pointed out that the desirable jet of water can be obtained from a garden hose, any type of water extinguisher, a pump-tank extinguisher, or a stirrup pump.

Winged Warriors Finish Training

At the seven advanced flying schools of the Gulf Coast Air Force Training Center, another "largest class in history" graduate this week and pilots from Texas will receive the silver wings of the Army Air Force.

Graduation day marks the end of 27 weeks of thorough, intensive flight training for this record class of the Gulf Coast Training Center, which includes the center one-third of the United States. As the insignia are pinned on the young flyers, miniature wings will be mailed to "honorary members" of the class—the mothers and girl friends of the graduates back home.

Munday's new army air force pilot is Jack W. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams of Munday, who graduated from Ellington Field.

The graduate flyers make up only one part of the lethal air force combat team. Throughout the year-round schedule navigators, bombardiers, and gunners are also being graduated and receiving wings to make their actual commencement of active flying duty. With the pilot, these men complete the working force of the warplane. The navigator plots the course of the ship, the bombardier aims the course of the bomb and the gunner protects the entire team from the fire of enemy aircraft.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Moore and family of Wellington spent last Friday night here visiting with Mr. Moore's sister, Mrs. A. C. Brock, and Mr. Brock. They were enroute to San Antonio to attend the graduation exercises of their son, Glen, who received his wings in the U. S. Air Corps.

Memories of a visit to St. Paul: In a sporting goods store you can buy self-heating cans of coffee, beans and spaghetti. You just turn the can upside down, punch four holes in it, wait ten minutes, and the contents are piping hot—or so I was told . . . and there's a bit of the romantic even connected with the blankets they sell. Pointing to the design, a friend said, "This is a 3-12 point blanket," and explained that—in the 1700's—Indians swapped furs for blankets and a "3-12 point" one meant it was priced at three large beaver skins and one small skin.

More proverbs from the French: Wisdom is on the lips of those about to die. Cowardice is the mother of cruelty. He who lives without folly is not so wise as he thinks.

Contrary to general belief, real poets are not long-haired dreamers but are men of action. Byron swam the Hellespont—no mean achievement—and he died while aiding the Greeks in their fight for freedom. Those are not empty words he wrote:

"The Isles of Greece, the isles of Greece!
Where burning Sappho loved and sung . . .
Eternal summer gilds them yet,
But all except their sun is set,
The mountains look on Marathon,
And Marathon looks on the sea;
And musing there an hour alone,
I dreamed that Greece might still be free,
Far sailing on the Persian's grave
I could not deem myself a slave.

And now for something in a lighter mood, written no doubt by a sour old bachelor.
"The knot was tied; the pair were wed,
And then the smiling bridegroom said
Unto the preacher, "Shall I pay
To you the usual fee today,
Or would you have me wait a year
And give you then a hundred clear
If I should find the marriage state
As happy as I estimate?"
The preacher lost no time in thought
To his reply no study brought,

There were no wrinkles on his brow.
Said he, "I'll take three dollars now."

Really expressing the deep reverence that all men truly feel for womanhood are these lines.
"They talk about a woman's sphere
As though it had a limit;
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not a task to mankind given,
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered yes or no,
There's not a life, a death, or birth
That has a feather's weight of worth—
Without a woman in it."

Loss of Fertility In Soil Threat To Food Production

Loss of soil fertility and reduced yields are major threats to wartime food production, E. A. Beck, vice-chairman, Knox county AAA committee, has announced.
Citing tremendous amounts of food and feed at which farmers are aiming in the Food for Freedom program, he said the battle of production could be lost by lack of efficient conservation since meeting goals for 1943 would depend on how soils are cared for this year.

Knox county farmers have approximately 2 1/2 times more soil-building payments to invest in soils than ever before and are being urged to utilize maximum funds in carrying out intensive soil-conservation work. Shifting a portion of the AAA payments from acreage allotment crops to soil-building assistance accounts for the increase.
"Food is one of the most powerful war weapons we have and more conservation this year is a pledge to our fighting forces that they'll have enough to eat," the AAA official said.

Already, 1952 farms have been measured for compliance under the 1942 program and individual notices, which show acreage devoted to each crop, are being mailed to producers. Extent of soil-building practices also are shown on the notices.

Farmers, who have not earned maximum payments, are being asked to confer with community committees, county committees or personnel of the AAA office and work out worthwhile soil-building practices for their farms through which maximum payments can be earned before closing date.

Texas Constitutional Amendments

H. J. R. No. 1 A JOINT RESOLUTION

proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding a new section thereto to be known as Section 49a, requiring all bills passed by the Legislature on and after January 1, 1945, appropriating money for any purpose, to be sent to the Comptroller of Public Accounts for his approval, and fixing the duties of the Comptroller with reference thereto; authorizing the Legislature to provide for the issuance, sale and retirement of serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding, valid, and approved obligations owing by the General Revenue Fund on September 1, 1943; providing for the submission of this amendment to the voters of this State; prescribing the form of ballot; providing for the proclamation and publication thereof; and providing for the necessary appropriation to defray necessary expenses for the submission of this amendment.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto, immediately after Section 49, a section to be known as Section 49a, to read as follows:

"Section 49a. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of Public Accounts in advance of each regular session of the Legislature to prepare and submit to the Governor and to the Legislature upon its convening a statement under oath showing fully the financial condition of the State Treasury at the close of the last fiscal period and an estimate of the probable receipts and disbursements for the then current fiscal year. There shall also be contained in said statement an itemized estimate of the anticipated revenue based on the laws then in effect that will be received by and for the State from all sources showing the fund accounts to be credited during the succeeding biennium and said statement shall contain such other information as may be required by law. Supplemental statements shall be submitted at any Special Session of the Legislature and at such other times as may be necessary to show probable changes.
"From and after January 1, 1945, in the case of emergency and imperative public necessity and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each House, no appropriation in excess of the cash and anticipated revenue of the State from which such appropriation is to be made shall be valid. From and after January 1, 1945, no bill containing an appropriation shall be considered as passed or be sent to the Governor for consideration until and unless the Comptroller of Public Accounts endorses his certificate thereon showing that the amount appropriated is within the amount estimated to be available in the affected funds. When the Comptroller finds an appropriation bill exceeds the estimated revenue he shall endorse such findings thereon and return to the House in which same originated. Such information shall be immediately made known to both the House of Representatives and the Senate and the necessary steps shall be taken to bring such appropriation to within the revenue, either by providing additional revenue or reducing the appropriation.
"For the purpose of financing the outstanding obligations of the General Revenue Fund of the State and placing its current accounts on a cash basis the Legislature of the State of Texas is hereby authorized to provide for the issuance, sale, and retirement of serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding, valid, and approved obligations owing by said fund on September 1, 1943, provided such bonds shall not draw interest in excess of two (2) per cent per annum and shall mature within twenty (20) years from date."
Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State of Texas, at the next general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1942, being November 3, 1942, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots, the words:

From said Fund, the Treasurer shall pay the interest on said bonds as it comes due, to the credit of the Available School Fund; and shall pay off said bonds as they become due and deposit the amounts so paid to the credit of the Permanent School Fund. The power hereby granted to issue bonds is expressly limited to the amount stated and to five (5) years from and after the adoption of this grant by the people."

Factory is Designed For Women Workers as More Enter Industry

New York.—With manpower spread over vastly expanded war industries, the gentle sex is filling in the ranks to release men for key positions, particularly skilled occupations and tasks requiring more strength than most of them can muster.

At first women were used mostly as inspectors, messengers, guides, mail clerks and stock chasers. But an extensive combination of newly designed tools and new training methods now has made it possible to employ women on a larger scale.

A machine tool company has solved the problem of absorbing women into industry by adapting its machines to fit the and plant processes and redesigning its machines especially to fit feminine requirements.

When this factory was in the planning stage last year, management saw the handwriting on the wall and designed its plant to start up with women operators instead of depending on a then adequate supply of men. Every machine in the plant, except for the male jobs of heavy roughing, machine shop, and heat-treating, was selected, adapted, or specifically equipped for use by women operators.

Objectives sought in machine design for this purpose were: (1) easy operation; (2) seated position for operator; (3) minimum skill requirement; (4) clean operation; (5) safety. Another method they used to whittle a job down for women was reducing its weight.

These women in slacks and overalls are ex-shopgirls, former school teachers, housewives, stenographers, farm girls, youngsters just out of school, and even grandmothers.

At first some antagonism was reported on the part of men employees in many plants. Some feared that the women were planning to come in and take over their jobs.

But now the women are coming in and taking over their jobs. They are doing the work that men have done for years. They are doing it better and faster than men.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

1 INCH TALLER - 10 LBS. HEAVIER!

...and ELECTRIC POWER, too, has grown to Meet the Wartime Needs of 1942!

Plenty of Electricity on Hand

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—J. A. Krug, chief of the power branch of the War Production Board, expressed confidence today that war production would not be crippled by a shortage of electric power. "We have sufficient electric power," he said, "to meet all the requirements of war production and for essential civilian needs, if used wisely—as far as we can see ahead."

WAR DEPARTMENT figures show that today's average soldier is nearly an inch taller and ten pounds heavier than in 1917—a great gain for one generation and a real tribute to the men of science and the men of industry who helped build Bill's husky frame.

We're glad electric service had a hand in it.

Food experts discovered new vitamins and better diets for Bill; doctors developed new serums, drugs and healing techniques; and electric research worked out new and better ways to refrigerate . . . preserve . . . his food so it would be fresher, safer, cheaper.

Even before Bill was born, electric servants freed his mother of much household drudgery —so that she and her children might be healthier and happier.

At the same time that the electric industry was helping Bill to develop into a stronger, healthier man than his dad, it also was expanding to provide the power vitally needed in 1942. In back of Bill today is plenty of electricity for building tanks and planes, guns and ships . . . power to run the factories making weapons with which Bill will win the war!

Actually, this country now has five times more electric power than we had in 1917.

And over 90 per cent of ALL the nation's commercially generated electricity is being provided by companies like this institution . . . companies that developed the American way, free to work and create things that men and women want and need for everybody's benefit.

This company "grew up" that way—organized by a few men with foresight to see West Texas' great need for ample, cheap electric power. Today it represents the savings of thousands of small stockholders, operating under good business management, regulated by the government, paying taxes, and providing excellent service at low cost.

Motorist Shown to be His Own Worst Enemy

Drivers have only themselves to blame for most automobile accidents. In 1941 that fact was even more clearly evident than usual. More than 92 per cent of the 46,700 cars involved in fatalities on the nation's highways last year were in apparently good condition when the accidents occurred.

Human rather than mechanical failure was the principal cause of motor vehicle mishaps. It revealed itself chiefly in excess speed, carelessness, and inattention, according to "The Wreckord," a new booklet of street and highway accident data published by The Travelers Insurance Company as a contribution to the cause of street and highway safety.

One bright spot in what is otherwise the darkest picture of automobile accidents in history was a sharp and gratifying drop in the number of fatalities and injuries caused by glaring head-lights. There was no significant change in the totals of accidents caused by defective brakes or steering mechanism, tail-lights which were obscured or had gone out, punctures or blowouts, unlighted headlights, and other defects. Altogether, though, accidents from these causes amounted to less than seven per cent of the 1,589,000 analyzed.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The 50-caliber Browning machine gun is one of the most efficient short range weapons used by U. S. Fighting forces. It is effective at ranges up to 2,000 yards and fires about 600 forty-five caliber bullets per minute.

One of these guns costs about $1,500, while a thirty-caliber machine gun costs approximately $600. Our fighting forces need thousands of these rapid-fire guns. Even a small town or community can buy many of them by uniting in the purchase of War Bonds. At least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day will do the trick.

TIME MEANS Everything

TO A HOG, THIS YEAR

Department of Agriculture and War Production Board officials have urged every farmer to get hogs ready for market EARLIER this year if possible. They urge you to market before the December-January peak, to avoid "swamping" transportation and market facilities.

Saving of corn and other grains by balanced feeding, using more protein concentrates, also is being urged by Department of Agriculture officials.

Cottonseed Meal Saves You TIME and GRAIN

Cottonseed Meal saves you both time and grain in swine feeding. It is a dependable, efficient and economical source of needed protein in balanced rations for pigs. Use Cottonseed Meal in a protein supplement mixture to feed with grain in a self-feeder, or in a complete mixture with grain.

See us for practical, proved rations for efficient, economical pork production.
