PIGGLY WIGGLY WILL OPEN HERE ON SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 17

Victor Edwards of Goree Will Launch New Business in Munday. Refreshments For All and Souvenirs For The Little Folks Will Feature Event.

On Saturday morning, March 17th Piggly Wiggly store No. 2560 will open its doors for business in Munday under the able direction of Victor Edwards, who for a number of years has been engaged in business at Goree and who has had a number of years in the grocery business.

In opening a Piggly Wiggly store in Munday Mr. Edwards believes he has perfected a buying power that will be second to none in this section of the state, as he will have at his command the buying power of two of the largest chain store organizations that are to be found, and his policy will be to sell good things to eat at a minimum price.

For the opening of his store on Saturday Mr. Edwards has secured the services of a special demonstrator from Armour & Company, who will serve delicious sandwiches made of Armour products throughout the day. He has also secured a demonstrator for Brown's cakes and crackers who will give away samples of these products to all who visit the store on opening day and a representative of the M. J. B. Coffee will serve hot coffee.

The new store is located in the new building just completed by Fred Broach on the west side of the square, just north of the Times office, and he extends a most cordial invitation to all people of this trade territory to visit his store and see the large new stock of groceries he has assembled here and note the prices that will be placed on every item in the store. Note how easy it is to find just what you want and how convenient it is to buy groceries in the Piggly Wiggly way.

Souvenirs will be given to both young and old who visit the store on opening day, and Mr. Edwards is anxious that all who possibly can do so visit the store on this date, whether they wish to make purchases or not.

Local Markets Will Offer Baby Beef To Patrons This Week

Last week when the baby beef clubs of Knox county held their annual show here in Munday Raymond Jones decided that Munday folks would like to have some of the choice meats that are usually shipped to Fort Worth and sold through the packing plants of that city, so he negotiated for one of the year-old calves, and will on Thursday of this week offer meat from this choice specimen for sale through the E. B. Cash Market and the Joe McGraw market at McStay's Grocery.

Mr. Logan, our county agent, under whose supervision the feeding of the calves has been done, stated to a Times representative, "I'm proud to see a local market keep one of these calves, for it encourages the feeders and makes the breeders feel that the public is appreciative of their efforts toward producing quality meats, and those who get some of this meat at these markets on Saturday and Monday will realize more fully than ever that there is a real difference in meats."

While Mr. Jones paid a fancy price for this baby beef it will be sold by the above markets at the regular price.

Luther Hunter was among those who attended the Fat Stock Show at Ft. Worth first of the week and reported that he saw some of the finest Jersey cattle and Buff Orpington chickens that he has ever looked at, and since Luther was particularly interested in these two departments he spent much of his time looking them over.

W. G. Owsley Will Go To Stamford As Dist. Mgr. For W. T. U. Co.

Following the resignation of W. G. Kinsolving as traffic manager for the West Texas Utilities Company, several changes will be made in the circles of the company. P. W. Campbell will succeed Mr. Kinsolving as traffic manager, P. P. Sheppard will succeed P. W. Campbell as district manager at Cisco, W. G. Owsley will succeed P. P. Sheppard as district manager at Stamford, and Carl Mahan, who has been assistant district manager at Stamford, will come to Munday as district manager.

Mr. Owsley came here several months ago from Mason, and during the time he has been in Munday he has made a large host of friends, and it will be learned with deep regret that he and his estimable family are to leave Munday, but his many friends will be glad to know that the transfer comes to Mr. Owsley as a promotion in the official circles of the company.

At the regular safety meeting held at the local offices of the company on Tuesday evening many expressions of regret were heard among the employees upon the transfer of Mr. Owsley, but they were assured that Mr. Mahan, who is to succeed Mr. Owsley here, is a most excellent gentleman, and we are sure that he will find a warm welcome in Munday.

Mr. Marshall West of Haskell has been transferred from the offices of the West Texas Utilities Company at Haskell to the offices at Munday, and will serve in the capacity of district stockkeeper for this district. We welcome Mr. West to Munday.

He Means Business

Out of Jail Only 8 Days, Colored Check Artist Is In Again

After spending one hundred and thirty-three days in jail with a charge of passing a bad check here last fall, J. L. Wilson, an ebony hued son of Ham who boasts of what Tom Benge chooses to call a "cootie moustache" (the spelling is correct, gentle reader) is again languishing behind the merciless and relentless bars of the county bastille at Benjamin—after enjoying only eight short days of freedom.

Wilson—or Lambert—or whatever his name really is—was picked up last fall after using the name Lambert on a worthless check to extract some cold cash from a local business house. He contended that the check had been given him by a white man, and when the grand jury investigated the case they "no billed" him, and he was released from custody.

Coming over to Munday, Wilson requested Marshal C. R. Elliott to find him a job, and Mr. Elliott has assisted him in getting some work. On Monday "sour" checks began rolling in to local banks, three of which bore the name J. W. Melton, and which the banks readily recognized as forgeries, and before night several other checks had shown up that were also "sour," and Wilson was identified by some of those who had been victimized, and was placed under arrest by Marshal C. R. Elliott.

Sheriff Melton was notified and came over that afternoon after the negro and carried him to Benjamin and placed him behind the bars, where he will be away from all evil influences and may more easily resist those temptations that prove so irresistible out in the wide open spaces, and where he will be tenderly cared for by the sheriff whose name he chose to affix to perfectly innocent looking checks.

2,400 DOZEN EGGS ARE PURCHASED BY MUNDAY PRODUCE CO. SATURDAY

That the poultry industry is on the increase in the Munday country is evidenced by the fact that the Munday Produce Company on last Saturday purchased 2,400 dozen eggs from the poultry raisers of the Munday country. This number did not include the large number of eggs that were purchased by this firm from local merchants, and aside from the number that are sold through local merchants, there are many who ship through the association and still others who are using many for hatching purposes. The price paid by the produce company Saturday was 18 cents.

Texas Editors Are Stock Show Guests

Ft. Worth Entertains Scribes of Texas, Breaking Custom of Former Years

For a number of years the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show has sent out complimentary tickets to the newspaper publishers of Texas, but this year is the first time that this organization has provided a press day at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show, and if these occasions continue to be as enjoyable as was the one Saturday of last week it may be safely predicted that this will afford the publishers another day in the year that they may mark on their calendar.

Through the official publication of the Texas Press association and from the officials of the Stock Show came invitations from Ft. Worth to Texas editors to come and be guests of that city on the opening day, and that they gathered there on Saturday morning almost 300 strong.

The Times man and family drove through to Fort Worth on Friday afternoon, and were there bright and early to enjoy the full hospitality of Fort Worth and mix and mingle with members of the fraternity, and it is needless for us to say that we greatly enjoyed shaking hands and talking shop with members of the craft from all sections of the state, and especially did we enjoy meeting and talking with many friends of by-gone days.

The entertainment features of the occasion included a noonday luncheon in the Lone Star dining room at the Texas Hotel, a dinner at the same place in the evening, a trip through the big packing plant of Swift & Co., and tickets were provided for the exposition grounds and coliseum in the afternoon, and the badges provided for the fraternity admitted them to all the shows and attractions on the midway, also tickets were provided for both the Majestic and Worth theatres, and the editors were given a wide choice of entertainment.

At the noon day luncheon the editors heard a most interesting and instructive talk by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, famous ace of the World War, who is now engaged in the automotive industry, and who told of some of the wonderful achievements of the automotive world that had already become a reality and others that would be realized in the future. At the evening dinner Amos G. Carter of the Star-Telegram served as toastmaster, and told of some of the difficulties through which he had passed in his early newspaper experience, and talks were made by Editor Ed Carlock, of the Paducah Post, president of the Texas Press

Knox City Robbers Get Total of 77 Years in Five Cases

The five men whose cases came up in district court during the past few days in connection with the overpowering and tying of the nightwatchman at Knox City and the subsequent robbery of several stores and business houses of that city have received a total of 77 years in the penitentiary, their terms being as follows: Dave Hawthorn 5-15; Rush, Tell 20-5; Raymond Wright 10; and Armstrong and Tillman 12 and 10 years, respectively.

The cases against these men and their subsequent conviction was largely responsible to the effective work of City Marshal G. T. Hardberger of Knox City and Deputy Sheriff Sam Favors, who did some excellent work in running down those connected with the crime and assembled the evidence that resulted in their conviction.

Dr. D. J. Lowery Dies At Weatherford Home On Thursday Evening

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. D. J. Lowery of Weatherford advising us of Dr. Lowery's death, which occurred at Weatherford on Thursday evening, March 6th at 9:30 o'clock following a prolonged illness during which time he had undergone a number of operations in the hope of regaining his health.

Mr. Lowery was well known in Munday, having resided here for a number of years, during which time he practiced his profession, that of veterinarian, and his many friends here will learn of his death with deep regret.

J. C. Campbell and family and John Spain and family were visitors to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth during the week end.

C. A. Eiland and H. A. Pendleton left the latter part of last week for Hot Springs, Ark., where they will spend some days, and where Mr. Pendleton went for the benefit of his health.

R. E. Alexander was a visitor to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth the past week end.

Three Day Short Course To Be Held

Women's Demonstration Clubs Will Hold Sessions at Munday Vera and Gilliland.

Miss Grace Nelson, county home economics agent, has announced that a three-day short course will be held by the Women's Home Demonstration Clubs of the county on March 19, 20 and 21, at Gilliland, Vera and Munday, and Miss Nelson will be assisted in the holding of these courses over the county by Miss Myrtle Murry, district home demonstration agent, with headquarters at College Station, and Mrs. McGintie, of Abilene, who will talk on the uses of electricity in the home.

The schedule that has been arranged by Miss Nelson calls for the session at Gilliland on March 19th to be held at the Baptist church, beginning at 10:30 a. m., and at Vera on the following day at the Baptist church, beginning at the same hour, and the meeting at Munday on Wednesday, March 21st will be held at the city hall.

Following is the program that has been outlined for the series of meetings:

1. Livable Living Room—Miss Murray.
2. Wood and Floor Finishes—Miss Nelson.
3. Walls and Window Drapes—Miss Nelson.
4. Braided Rugs and their Uses—Miss Murray.
5. Dietary Value of Gardens—Miss Nelson.
6. Household Linens—Miss Murray.
7. Use of Electricity in the Home—Mrs. McGintie.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Dunlap Isbell Is Called By Death

Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Dunlap Isbell, pioneer resident of Knox county, passed away at her home in this city on last Thursday evening after a very brief illness, and her death came as a severe shock to her many friends, many of whom had not heard of her illness when it became known that she had passed away.

Deceased was born August 2, 1852 near Knoxville, Tennessee, and came to Texas with her parents at the age of four. In June, 1869 she was married to George Henry Isbell near Weatherford, Parker county, came to Knox county with her husband in 1886—the year before the county was organized, and at a time when there were but very few people residing within the boundaries of the county. Her husband preceded her in death on April 12, 1913 and was laid to rest in the Benjamin cemetery, and following the funeral services here on last Friday afternoon her remains were conveyed to Benjamin and laid to rest beside that of her husband. To this happy union ten children were born, all of whom survive, as follows: Mrs. F. G. McClain, Benjamin, Mrs. W. E. Browder, Truscott, Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Oklahoma City, Mrs. E. O. Layne, George, J. F. T. L., and W. A. Isbell of Munday, C. C. Isbell of O'Donnell and A. O. Isbell of Greenville, all of whom were present at the funeral services.

Early in life she was converted and became a member of the Presbyterian church, and throughout her long and useful life she lived a devoted Christian.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church here on Friday afternoon of last week and were conducted by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. R. B. Freeman.

We join the entire community in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rigsby of Thurber came in on Tuesday of this week for a visit with their son, Tom Rigsby, and family. Mr. Rigsby is manager for the M. & M. Gin plant at Thurber and has been engaged in the business for more than forty years, and has visited here a number of times in former years and is a great believer in the Munday country.

H. H. Hardin Will Open Yard Here

Lots Purchased South of Mason-Hall and Materials For Sheds Being Shipped

J. R. Fielder, of Abilene, district manager for the H. H. Hardin Lumber Company, with headquarters in Fort Worth, was here the latter part of last week and negotiated for several lots just south of the Masonic hall, and before leaving for his home at Abilene announced that his company would open a yard here within the next few weeks and stated that materials for sheds would begin to arrive within the next ten days.

This company operates in a large number of West Texas towns and cities, and those who are familiar with the policies of the company state that they have proven a real asset to every community in which they operate, and we know that they will receive a warm welcome in Munday and hope that they may be instrumental in the future development of this city to no small degree.

The addition of this yard will give Munday four big yards, and we are sure that Munday will make some rapid strides in building in the near future.

Barry Hardware Co. Purchases Stock of Johnson & Heard Co.

A deal was consummated last week whereby the Barry Hardware Co. of this city purchased the stock of hardware and implements of Johnson & Heard of Goree, and the stock has been moved from Goree and consolidated with that of the Barry Hardware Co. here, giving this concern a very full and complete line of hardware and implements.

Mr. Barry states that the purchase of the stock at Goree has increased his stock by something like $10,000 and that in the future he will be far better prepared to care for the wants of his patrons than ever before and until he has materially reduced the stock that he now has he will make some very attractive prices on many items.

Robert Darr Seriously Injured In Cutting Affray Near Knox City

Robert Darr of Knox City is in the sanitarium at that place in a serious condition as a result of a fight which took place on Saturday night at a dance on the Dunham farm eight miles west of Knox City. Edgar Wilson is suffering from a cut on his arm and Roy Gore, Jim Wilson and Leonard Houston are suffering from bruises received in what is said to have been a free-for-all fight that is alleged to have taken place at the dance.

Victims of Father

Edgar Chisholm, aged six, and George Chisholm, Jr., aged nine, who were found in the Indian Harbor Ship Canal. Their father has confessed to slaying them because there were too many mouths to feed. Mr. Chisholm's original statement, in his first confession, that both boys were drowned contradicted a coroner's report that no water was found in the lungs of the two boys.

Qui Non Proficat, Deficit

This Latin phrase, which means "He who does not advance, falls behind," has been chosen by the Senior class of '28 for their motto. These words contain more than one would think. What does advance really mean? What is the meaning of "falls behind?"

To advance means to climb higher in the things that tend to make a life successful. But what things are these that make up a successful life? Is it money, power, and influence? No. A successful life probably will have money, power, and influence, but these things must be gained through honest means. One's life must be spent in useful service, rather than in one's selfish behalf. So we may say that we are advancing when we step from the grammar school into high school, and from high school into college. Every step in education is a strong rung in the ladder of success, provided we put a sincere effort into our school life. If we do not, the rung may break some day and let us fall to the next one.

If we do not make our school life count for something, and if we soon drop out, we are going to fall behind those who push ahead. We will exist, but not five. Our life's work will amount to little if anything.

Some say that one is able to advance without a high school and college education. Of course, this is possible, but the things that are taught in schools must be taught in this person somewhere else. They are essential to success.

A senior class could hardly have done better in selecting a motto, for they are soon going to embark on the sea of life. They will have no one to go to for advice in later years, so, if they remember their senior motto, "He who does not advance, falls behind," they will be encouraged to push on toward the unattainable goal.

Mrs. Mann, one of the grade teachers, was absent the latter part of last week, on account of illness. Bro. O'Brien was substitute teacher for her Friday. We are very glad to report that she was back in school Monday morning.

Miss Mills spent the week-end in Haskell visiting her mother and her sister, who is a teacher in the public schools of Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes were very busy last Saturday. They moved from Mrs. Donnell's house to one of the new houses of Foy Easley. We are sure they had a very pleasant day.

The "Merry-whirl" is the newest attraction on the school campus. It was put up Saturday, and has been in almost constant use since then. The grade children have almost deserted the see-saws and swings. When the novelty wears off for the pupils of the grammar grades, the high school pupils expect to take charge.

Seniors

—Otis Burnett—

Otis Burnett came to Munday from Douglas, Arizona, in 1919. He entered the Munday Public School when he was in the second grade, and has come all the way through high school with us. He represented Munday in both county and district declamation in his Soph. and Junior year. Until this year he has not taken an active part in athletics. This year he proved a valuable asset to the football team, in fact, he was one of our best players. Otis makes above average grades, is a leader among the boys of the school, and is a general favorite with everyone, especially, the girls. We seniors feel that our class would not be so near perfect had he belonged to some other graduating class.

Last, but for from the least, Otis, as president, has steered the senior ship through many dangers and trials, and will leave us safe on the shore of life. Occupation — Arguing with Mrs. Warkentin.

—Oneita Blanton—

Oneita came to Munday in 1919 from New Mexico. Oneita ranks high in literary work. Last year she served on the "Roundhouse," as Junior class reporter. This year Oneita was honored by being elected editor-in-chief of the Roundhouse, and it is useless to say that she has capably filled this position. Oneita is a brilliant student, and she is a valuable addition to our class. She is going to C. I. A. next year. Oneita tells everyone that she is going to be an old maid school teacher, but she is just like any other girl—so don't worry boys. She is a good sport always and ready for a party. Occupation—Talking.

On last Thursday evening the Seniors entertained the faculty with a theatre party. After the show, which was enjoyed by everyone, we went to Eiland's Drug Store. Delicious refreshments consisting of dainty cones filled with ice cream was served to about forty. We wish to thank Mr. Hannah for the cute little dolls he gave us.

Juniors

"The Old New Hampshire Home" is going to be a "wow!" Each character is practicing regularly and hard in order to make the play go over big.

Earl has gone to the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth and we are missing "Luke" too. He is expected back sometime this week.

"Icky" tried to cremate himself Saturday, but with the help of his companions, he soon extinguished the fire that was quickly destroying his trousers.

This sand is certainly disagreeable today (Monday) but some of the teachers that are not accustomed to it say it is refreshing to them.

Sophomore News!

Chandler Hughes, our absent reporter, is visiting in Ft. Worth this week, and Vivian Rogers is attempting to fill his place.

We are indeed glad to hear of the improvement of our classmate, J. C. Nelson and sincerely hope he will continue to do well. However, we are terribly sorry to hear that he will be unable to attend school anymore this year.

One of our classmates is absent from school on account of illness. Freddy Hutchens has the mumps. Here's to a speedy recovery, and we hope to see her in soon soon.

We are glad to see our classmate, Dorothy Hendrix back in school again.

We regret to hear of the death of Henrietta Isbell's grandmother and extend to her our sincere sympathy.

Our classmate, Clara Tillinghast, really moved to Haskell last week. Clara was a good sport and student, so we are going to miss her immensely.

Latin Club News

The Patricians of the Roman Republic met in regular session Thursday, March 8th. A very good program on mythology was rendered.

A citizen is awarded with a certain number of points each time he is on the program and each time he displays original work in constructing a Roman article or in performing any task relating to Roman life.

At the end of this school term a blue ribbon stamped with the club motto and symbol will be given as a reward to those making three hundred points. A silver pin will be given to those making five hundred points, and a gold pin to those making one thousand points.

We are hoping each citizen will show himself worthy of these rewards.

Joe: "Where do you come from?"

Fern: "I'll have you to know I come from a city where they got rid of hayseeds long ago—New York."

Joe: "And what big city is that near?"

Miss Mills: "Who was that laughing?"

Truman: "Please, mam, I couldn't help it. I was laughing up my sleeve and forgot that I had a whole at the elbow."

Cavalry Lieutenant: "Did you receive orders to dismount?"

Rooky: "Yes, sir."

"Where from?"

Hindquarters, sir."

Mrs. Rhodes: "Jesse, you just missed hitting that man!"

Mr. Rhodes: "Well, how did I know he was going to jump?"

Maybe you have a High Compression Motor—RIGHT NOW!

THERE are two kinds of high-compression motors. In one the compression ratio has been raised purposefully by the car manufacturer to produce more power; the other is a high-compression condition caused by the natural formation of carbon in the combustion chamber. This condition exists, to some extent, in every motor.

But in either case there is one best fuel to release the full power caused by high compression. That fuel is Winter Conoco Ethyl Gasoline, the super-gasoline that knocks out the "knock," turns carbon into power and assures a smooth-running motor at any speed and under practically all operating conditions. It gives the extra pull you need for snow and slush and muddy roads. It is the last word in motor fuels.

Drive up to a Conoco Ethyl pump—and convince yourself.

CHAPTER IV

Daylight made clear two facts: The Rainbow had struck in such a way that it would be impossible to get her off; the island was uninhabited.

As the exploratory boat rounded a spur of reef that covered the passage into the lagoon, opened out the largest island from the sea, Palmyra burst into an exclamation of delight.

She turned to John and Van. "It is pretty," she said, "but—cruel." She felt a first little shiver of realization. "There is nothing upon it. No shelter no food."

Van gave her a haggard look. "And," he said, "there's not one drop of water. When we've used what we bring ashore."

Thurston whirled upon him. "Don't!" he cried. "Don't dare tell them that. We'll filter salt water through this sand or rig a condenser with jung from the wreck."

Palmyra had not been consciously aware of Thurston's leadership until hours after the catastrophe, her attitude was typical of them all, perhaps even of Thurston himself. There had been something to do; the stronger nature had asserted itself. And the ship's company, with scarcely any registered sense of change, paid him its highest compliment.

She had not thought to wonder why Thurston, rather than her finance, had been chosen. He had a reputation for efficiency in handling men. Van had had neither occasion nor opportunity.

Here spoke her good common sense.

And, being unaware of Mrs. Crawford's original plot, she could hardly be expected to note that the wreck had reversed the situation; that where, before, John had been put to disadvantage, now Van had been given the role he could not play.

The inevitable had occurred between these men. As Thurston had risen to leadership, so Van—had sunk to his place as a private in the ranks Palmyra did not see, suspect.

They were easily cheered that first day. True, the island bore no sign of native visitation. But with their launch they could easily reach the nearest inhabited lagoon, or they could even build a seaworthy craft from material of the wreck, were they not certain some passing sail would soon take them off.

Thus the first day. But when the second came and went and the third dawned upon an empty ocean, they began to despond. At night a beacon fire had blazed forth its appeal—they must soon turn to the Rainbow for fuel—and by day the launch waited to overhaul any passerby. But of what avail these upon a sea where no one seemed to venture.

And then, a midday, from the wreck across the lagoon, there boomed out a signal gun. A sail!—a sail!!—a sail!!!

Rapidly the deliverer rose from the sea. A vessel of no great tonnage, she sailed with noticeable speed.

As the schooner bore down upon them she broke out the American colors. When she was abreast of their position she came about and then dove to in lee of the reef. A boat was lowered.

Palmyra, through her glasses, saw that three men got into this boat. Two of them were undoubtedly native seamen. The third, who had been reconnoitering from the cross-trees, appeared to be a white man.

She watched them as they pulled rapidly through the passage and across the lagoon. Then in astonishment, she lowered the binoculars to stare at Van Buren Rutger.

He was now dancing over the coral clinkers like a musical comedy buffoon.

"By the Great God Cash!" he cried. "If it isn't lil' old Pirate Burke!"

Almost from the moment Ponape Burke came running up the sands Palmyra perceived a difference.

Was it that the ridiculous habiliments of the Rainbow had given way to the starched white of the tropical ship's master?

Or was it that she missed the obtrusive humanity? No longer a stowaway, he spoke to Mrs. Crawford as one master of craft to another; a full note of equality.

Perhaps, after all, the fact might be no more than a juvenile sort of vanity in himself as master of that swift sail; a vanity bubbling over at unexpectedly finding its audience.

And he must have had some vague hope of such a reunion as this. For he was saying now that, on the Rainbow, he'd withheld the fact he had a vessel of his own lying-up at Honolulu; with held it on the chance of "surprising 'em somewhere out here."

There could be no question of his fond pride in that fast craft. And had they seen.

He interrupted himself with that oddly un-adult mirth of his.

Had they seen her name? Oh, they'd laugh when they did see. They'd never guess in a thousand years. Pigeon of Noah.

Van seized his hand with impulsive warmth. "Why then this must be—Why, Mr. Noah, I didn't recognize you now you've shaved."

Burke guffawed delightedly. "I sure will feel like Noah," he said, "a taking you all on the Ark, two by two."

He turned, presently, to the pile of salvaged stores and gear. The Pigeon, as was evident, could stow only the more valuable part. The rest must be left under canvas and sent for.

Details were arranged. Burke would get back aboard at once to take charge on the schooner.

The yacht's launch, with three of her own men, would tow Burke's boat out, both loaded with stores. While there were unloading at the Lupe-a-Noah, Thurston would get his other boats into the water, sort over the supplies.

"We'll stow the very best first," said Burke in conclusion, "and then see what space we got left for second rate cargo."

The launch hove a line to the Pigeon's boat and one of the native boys stood ready to carry his master out.

Now, however, Palmyra, unable to satisfy a youthfully poignant curiosity at long distance through her binoculars, spoke up eagerly. "Oh, Captain Burke, do please take me with you! I'd just love to be first aboard."

"Me, too," cried Constance. The man was pleased, flattered.

"But—" he hesitated awkwardly—"the boat's heavy loaded and there won't be no room aboard while we're taking cargo. So I better invite only one this trip." He winked at Thurston.

"And Miss Tree she asked first, and seeing as how she was the best student I had for my South Sea lectures, seems as if she had ought t' be first t' lay aboard a genuine South Sea trader."

Thurston acquiesced. But as Burke was being carried down to the boats, John turned to Johannsen, acting mate, and said: "You yourself be one of our three men to go aboard and—stay."

The big sailor gave him a look to see if the order had more than routine significance, then lumbered after Burke.

In the boat the girl's mind was gradually brought back to the something in Burke's manner which she had not been able to analyze. For now it was so noticeably upon him that he was, either constrained, absent or too painstakingly voluble.

"And how is Olive?" she asked in an awkward interval.

"He's with you, of course?" Ponape Burke assented. "Sort of in charge aboard," he explained. "I ain't got a mate. Still talking about you; yer name and yer—red hair."

The boat rounded the stern and then the girl looked up to find—as if his eyes had never ceased to follow—the grinning stare of the man Olive fixed upon her just as it had faded out at Honolulu.

His great naked body rose above the rail and a thick bare arm came extending itself down toward her, inexorably.

The square fingers closed and her own hand was swallowed, disappeared in the grip clear to the wrist. There came a pull, as if the arm were to follow the hand in, and then Palmyra found herself on deck and standing free.

Johannsen had already clambered to the deck. "We got t' keep four boats moving," Burke explained. "One pulling ashore empty, one loading there, one coming out with cargo, one discharging here. Each o'yer boats' crew'll bring me a load and take back an empty at once. I'll clear the boat y'leave. So now, you Rainbow boys, t'start her off, pass up the stuff in my own boat and take her ashore, while my kanakas tackle the launch."

The girl's voice rose in surprise: "Oh, but they're not going already?"

Burke looked, grinned, from her to the naked savages of his crew. "Sort o' wild like, eh?" he asked.

But Johannsen reassured her: "I'm ordered to stay, miss."

Burke shot him a glance. "Sure." Then to the other two: "Johannsen'll tinker up the motor so, next trip, the launch won't have to be pulled in."

A minute later the boat had cast off and the sailors were settling to their work. Johannsen, watching them, stood negligently at the rail. "Handle her gently, boys," called Burke. "She's getting old."

The boat was now clear by perhaps ten fathoms.

Suddenly Ponape Burke, with an agility unexpected in that plump body, leaped forward and lunged at the unsuspected Johannsen's back. The next second the sailor was in the water.

Burke whirled, whipped out an order, sprang to the wheel. The kanakas worked like mad. Another order and the sails filled, the deck listed down and the Pigeon of Noah was under way.

The man at the wheel burst into that tittering laugh of his, now strained, false, sharp-edged with excitement, exaltation. "Remember, girl!" he cried. "Below on the Rainbow—black? Want'ed t'scare 'em a bit says you? Pirates, bucket o' blood?" his laugh rose into a crow of triumph. "Well, kid, what about this here? Give 'em a hell of a startle, eh Palmyre?"

As a Lupe-a-Noa filled away, the girl ran to the rail and sent over the water a frantic cry.

In the boat the two sailors sat, rigid, their oars poised. The red face of Johannsen emerged from the sea, dripping, blank with incredulity, convulsed with anger. Ponape Burke's strategy had deprived them of the launch in which they could have overhauled the schooner.

Ashore, the castaways stood perplexed alarmed. Palmyra's action, rather than her voice, threw them into panic. They pointed, shouted, ran here and there, futile, absurd.

To Van Buren Rutger rushed the girl's mother with something in her hands. It was a rifle. As one of his accomplishments, Van had won trophies on the range. But now, confronted by that violence his training had taught him never touched the life of a gentleman, he faltered, pained in a fear of wounding the girl herself.

Then John Thurston snatched the rifle. There was a flash and a bullet struck the Lupe-a-Noa, shattering the glass on the binocular. A second flash, and Burke himself staggered back.

But before the schooner could fall off, he clutched the wheel again with one hand. As his left arm hung, the spot of blood, spreading slowly on the white cotton, was like some brilliant blossom.

Burke bellowed his rage. He had swung the vessel over so that Palmyra, all unaware, stood in the line of fire. Thurston could not shoot again.

At this triumph, Burke regained his good humor. The would have proved unimportant. "John's the only man in that bunch," he conceded amiably. "If he was stealing my girl I'd give him more than sore arm."

Palmyra was desperate. Behind her, her hand closed on an iron belaying pin. "You—you brute!" she cried. "Turn—this—vessel—back. Turn it back instantly!"

She jerked the pin from its socket; took a step toward him, her eyes aflame. "You go back to the island."

From behind, a hand closed on her wrist. Olive, grinning, took the belaying pin from her fingers, as if they had been a baby's, and returned it to the rack.

Palmyra sank against the cabin, helpless.

Not by accident had the Pigeon of Noah risen from the upon the scene of their disaster. Back in the days before Honolulu this spider of a Burke had spun his web. He had talked of the atolls in the terms of a paradise until the voyagers were eager to behold. He had convinced Pedersen that to take advantage of prevailing winds and current, he must lay his course ern Gilberts—Butaritari or from Honolulu first to the northern Gilberts—Butaritari or Apaiangi—and thence make north and west into the Marshalls and the Carolines.

Burke had followed, then, holding back the fast sailing Lupe-a-Noa to match the yacht's pace. Fortune had favored.

Informed as to the lagoons they would make, their order, he had meant to outvail them to an anchorage and, lying there unsuspected, to seize the girl at some favorable moment ashore.

And then, the fleet Pigeon away with none in all those wild seas save the fat old Rainbow to pursue, what could have been more easy?

A sob of self-pity shook the girl, though even now she did not, in her innocence, comprehend the depth of his infamy.

The man himself, leaning over the wheel, sought, with an honest concern, to soothe her. Even she realized that he was moved by a real earnestness of emotion, conviction.

He gripped his hands upon the wheel in an excess of disdain.

"Cry yer eyes out for yer mother, that can't be helped. But the rest o' them dicky birds?" He snorted in derision.

"Why, they—Y'think now you'll miss 'em. But wait. To—"

Are You a Spendthrift?

Take—for example—the case of young Mr. Spendthrift! You all know him—he's a gay spender—irresponsible when it comes to money—spending every cent he earns—then borrowing from his friends "to tide him over 'til payday."

His motto is "Live today—I may be dead tomorrow."

But suppose he lives to a ripe old age—can you see any future for him?

The moral of the story is—"Save a little of your salary every week. Spend less than you earn—bank the difference!" Protect your future.

Piggly Wiggly Stores Cut Cost of Living

Customers Shop at Piggly Wiggly Stores With Pleasure, Profit and Satisfaction

The first Piggly Wiggly store was established in Memphis, Tenn., in September, 1916. Today there are in operation 2675 Piggly Wiggly grocery stores in the United States and Canada. Piggly Wiggly is a "help-yourself" store. The customers enter a turnstile, picks up a basket and moves up and down the three aisles lined with shelves containing the goods offered for sale and market with swinging price tags, makes his own selection, reaches the checking counter where the goods are wrapped and the amount due paid and passes out through another turnstile. By this system the number of clerks required is lessened, delivery cost and credit costs are eliminated.

Piggly Wiggly stores all carry the same standard equipment and the arrangement of merchandise is the same in every store. The corporation has patented several parts of their equipment—the lighting system invention, the self-serving store invention, the swinging price-tag invention, the checking desk invention, the special type adding machine and cash register and the cast receipt records and the store chart system. The employees used in this type of store are checkers and stock men. The home office requires in every case when an operator opens his first store that he not undertake the opening of a store or the placing of merchandise in the display cabinets except under the supervision and general direction and instructions of an experienced man.

The policy of Piggly Wiggly calls for advertising in the local papers, cleanliness and courtesy. Souvenirs will be given out to all visitors to the new store. All are invited to inspect the store on its opening day.

Piggly Wiggly is a "help-yourself store" with the advantage of chain store operation and chain store buying developed to the highest degree of efficiency and economy for its customers and profitable returns for its operators.

Piggly Wiggly Stores have succeeded because they appeal to the thrift, the taste, the comfort and convenience of the housewife.

The Piggly Wiggly System cuts the family food bill from 5 to 25 per cent.

Customers shop at Piggly Wiggly with pleasure, profit and satisfaction.

Piggly Wiggly Stores have succeeded because of the low operating cost which is obtained by the customers helping themselves, bringing their purchase to the checking counter, paying cash and taking their purchases with them—unnecessary clerks, bad debts and delivery cost are eliminated.

One hundred people can help themselves at Piggly Wiggly in the same time as ten people can be waited upon at the ordinary grocery store.

Piggly Wiggly Stores have succeeded because the volume of business, by reason of the patented fixtures and the labor saving instrumentalities used, is from two to five times as large as in an ordinary grocery store, location and floor space being the same. The larger volume—the faster the turnover which means more profits. The cost of operating the

"LET YOUR DOCTOR DECIDE" CAMPG. SLOGAN

Austin, Texas, March 12—The Texas Public Health Association is sponsoring a special educational campaign on the early diagnosis of tuberculosis, during the month of March and has distributed a large amount of literature and posters on this subject.

"The most easily cured of all chronic diseases when discovered early," stated Dr. Z. T. Scott, executive secretary of the association, "tuberculosis is so insidious in its stealthy onslaught on the human bodies that most victims do not know they are in danger until the disease has progressed so far that chances of affecting a cure are greatly lessened."

"Let Your Doctor Decide," is to be the slogan of the Campaign. Posters, public speeches, printed literature and motion pictures are being used. The public is to be fully informed of the earliest symptoms which are: Too easily tired, loss of weight, indigestion and a cough that hangs on.

Of the hundreds of persons who died of tuberculosis in Texas last year, fully 85 per cent would still be living if their condition had been discovered in time. Texas is not alone in this campaign. It is being waged all over the country by the Tuberculosis Association, 1400 in number, which conduct the Christmas Seal Sale at the holiday season.

average retail grocery store is from seventeen to twenty per cent, according to the United States government figures. The cost of operating a Piggly Wiggly Store is from eight to twelve per cent, according to statements rendered by Piggly Wiggly Operators from every part of the country who have been operating Piggly Wiggly Stores from one to seven years.

Great Change Made In Retailing Foods

Government Figures Indicate One-Tenth Time Required As Was Case With Old System

Many changes have materialized in grocery retailing. The day of the open cracker barrel is gone as well as the necessity for waiting your turn to be waited upon, of paying top prices, of taking what is offered, of substitution, etc. The new idea of standardized self service high grade grocery stores system has changed all that. You will find in any Piggly Wiggly store only the highest grade, nationally known merchandise, the brands you know represent quality, for there are no salesmen in these stores. The goods themselves are the only salesman. You pick out the exact article you desire—just the size you wish—as many as you wish.

One trip through a Piggly Wiggly store will delight you. The merchandise arrangement is most convenient, and identical in all stores.

You will find a new pleasure and interest in personally attending to the securing of your family food supplies. Government figures indicate that one tenth the ordinary time is required in this type store by the average customer.

This method of store operation also saves over one-half the clerk hire, which is one of the largest retail expenses.

The volume of business is multiplied from two and a half to four times the salesman operated store.

Delivery charges are eliminated. Stores maintaining this service must pay for it by charging slightly higher prices. There are no bad debts, so this loss is not apportioned among paying customers.

Savings Are Evident
The tremendous savings are evident to you upon your first trip to a Piggly Wiggly store. One of the basic reasons for their success lies in the fact that a substantial part of these savings are passed on to the customers in the form of lower prices. Best of all, you are enabled to secure the pick and choice of the market's offering, in the exact quantity you desire and at a great saving of time. You will be surprised to note the increased purchasing power of your dollar at a Piggly Wiggly store. The convenient merchandising arrangement of a Piggly Wiggly store is the result of years of experience in actual store operation in various parts of the country.

More than 2,675 of these stores are today serving the best neighborhoods in various cities located from coast to coast, and each store is identical with every other Piggly Wiggly store.

WHEN PROMOTERS USE "CHARITY" TO DECOY TRUSTFUL CONTRIBUTORS

Investigations of Various Schemes for Defrauding Public Out of Money Disclosed by Bankers Association—Many Kinds of Fake Industrial Promotions Used as Bait.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE

Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

MILLIONS of dollars raised under the disguise of charity go to line the pockets of promoters. Ticket sales on raffles are commonly used, and while the loss to any one person who buys a ticket is small the aggregate loss for the United States runs into millions of dollars. Usually the promoters of these schemes first make a contract with some charitable institution to conduct a campaign for funds on behalf of the institution. They are to run the campaign in the name of the institution and share the proceeds. The whole scheme is often one of deception. To those who have been led to believe that their contributions go practically 100 per cent to charity, the following case we investigated should prove illuminating.

A number of promoters recently contracted with a charitable institution to put on a campaign to raise funds by the raffle of a new automobile. So far as the public could tell from the banners used in displaying the automobile, the full amount of the sale price of the tickets went to the institution. There was nothing to convey any other impression. Apparently it was open and above board and was being conducted by men who were contributing their time gratuitously.

For several days a new automobile, mounted on a truck, was driven up and down the streets, with banners telling about the drive for funds for the charitable institution. One day the truck would go by displaying one of the popular makes of automobiles. A few days later it would parade by displaying some other popular make. Periodically the truck would pull into the curb where it would park for several hours while the promoters pleaded with passersby to take tickets on the raffle and thereby help a deserving charitable institution to meet its bills.

Thousands "Touched"
Thousands of people, touched by the appeal for help, bought tickets, the total sale running into the thousands of dollars. Contrary to the belief of the ticket buyers their contributions did not go 100 per cent to charity. Instead the charitable institution received but 26 cents on the dollar, the promoters getting 52 cents on the dollar as their net profit, or twice the amount received by charity, while the remainder of 22 cents on each dollar represented the amount charged against gross sales by the promoters as expenses.

In other words, every person who bought a 50 cent ticket for the sake of charity, contributed but 13 cents to charity and 37 cents to those promoting the scheme. Whether you give to charity or make an investment it will pay you to get the facts!

Unfortunately there is a general impression abroad that wildcat promotions are confined to oil, mining and new inventions. The truth is, many stock selling promotions are operated under the name of other industries.

False Claims
A certain group of promoters investigated offered for sale stock in a proposed woolen mill. In order to sell the stock they resorted to the use of misrepresentation and false claims. After renting space on the ground floor of an office building fronting on a busy street they began their campaign. Orally and by printed advertisements extravagant claims were made for the proposed corporation which were grossly false.

ARMY BUDDIES MEET AGAIN IN LAPLANTE FILM

Eight years ago Frank J. Irwin and Henry D. Ross parted the best of friends in New York after spending over two years together as buddies in the army.

They again soldiered together in "Finder Keepers," Laura La Plante's latest starring vehicle for Universal, which will start at the Peoples Theatre on Wednesday.

Just to prove they are top notchers, in their own lines of endeavor, Wesley Ruggles, the director, cast them in roles equal to their respective ranks when leaving the army.

Ross, who declined an appointment to West Point in order to enlist as a private, and who was awarded the French and Belgian Croix de Guerre for bravery under fire, holds his position as sergeant bugler. Irwin, who wears the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry, also carries his rank as sergeant. He was recently retired as National Commander of Disabled Veterans of the World War.

The supporting cast of this Universal epic of the World War embraces such players as John Harron, who plays opposite Miss La Plante, Edmund Groom, Arthur Rankin, William Gorman, Eddie Phillips, and Joe Mack.

"Finder Keepers" was filmed from the story of the same by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, one of America's premier women writers. It ran in the Saturday Evening Post where millions of persons read it. The great enthusiasm it aroused induced Carl Laemmle, head of Universal, to purchase the film rights, so that screen audiences might have the opportunity of seeing it.

Edward Montagne, head of the scenario department, personally supervised the scenario.

METHODIST CHURCH

Don't forget Sunday School 10 a. m. We had a great crowd last Sunday, an increase of 20 odd over last Sunday.

Preaching by pastor. Subject 11 a. m.: "Is Christianity Real, or Imaginary?" Subject 8 p. m.: "The Call of God."

You are always welcome with us. You owe it to God, yourself and loved ones to attend church. The churches are your most loyal friends.

R. B. FREEMAN, Pastor.

We Get Peeved

Nothing makes a druggist madder and meaner than to read an ad for some Cough Remedy or Headache Pill which ends up with "INSIST THAT THE DRUGGIST GIVE YOU THE GENUINE?" It reads like we folks were in the habit of cheating our customers and the manufacturer was WARNING you! Any time you come in here and ASK for a certain brand, BELIEVE ME, YOU'RE going to GET IT! Such ads give me a handsome pain.

Our platform is to AVOID substitutions. We aim to have just what our customers WANT—and if it's in the drug line we most always generally have it, and in many instances we sell it for less than you're accustomed to paying, and our business is growing—thank you!

motors had not been connected with any mills for over twenty years and they had attempted at different times to promote mills, all of which had failed. One of the promoters represented that formerly he was president and general manager of one of the largest woolen mills in Canada. The fact was the mill referred to had gone into bankruptcy and he had been caretaker of the plant.

Our attendance is growing, and the interest was never better, for there is much to be accomplished yet. We need you and are counting on you next Sunday, and on and on.

Look For the Red "O. K." Tag

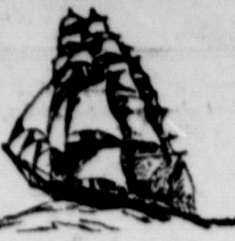

After we have thoroughly reconditioned a used car, we attach a red "O. K." tag to the radiator cap. This tag certifies that the vital units of the car have been gone over completely by expert mechanics and put in condition to give thousands of miles of additional service. It takes all the "guess-work" out of used car buying.

Look for this tag when you buy a used car—for it is your guarantee of quality and value!

He leered at her humorously. Her hands clenched until the sharp nails brought the blood.

"Don't blame me!" he cried in a sudden flare of emotion. "Don't blame me. Blame yourself. I fought again it—right along. Didn't I warn you? Warn you how you'd set a poor starved devil like me a-fire? But you? You just had 't keep hanging around. You who was like God's daughter. Hanging around and hanging around 'till y'had me fair wild."

The flame of that fire leaped into his eyes. "I swore then I'd have you. Lucky for yer folks I saw how 't'ray y'on here. For, if need was, I'd of killed every soul of 'em in cold blood."

She shrank in loathing. Burke was silent, conquering that evil flame of passion. Then, shortly: "Original Noah," the man peered; "he went it blind. But me—I know our mountain top, every inch o'it. And, girl," he warned, "when the Ark does hit dry land, make no mistake. You'll never see arey one o'yer folks again. For you, they've perished off the face o'the earth. The floods made a clean sweep. In all creation there's only you—and me."

Exaltation was in his gaze; obscure, intimidating. "Come, girl, y'shall be a queen."

Mrs. H. H. Langford has gone to Dallas to spend a few days visiting with her daughter, Miss Winnie Langford, who is teaching in the Oak Cliff High School.

Misses Bertha and Ruby Manuel, Lucille Harris, Mr. Haggard Harrison and Cleo Ledbetter visited in Jayton and Spurr last week end.

Lloyd Bowden and friend Tommy Thomas of Abilene, spent the week-end here with Lloyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bowden.

B. F. Hughes of Vera was here on business Tuesday and stated that the people of that community were laying plans for a big chautauqua there in April. Mr. Hughes is in the garage business in Vera.

J. W. Cowan of the Grass-hopper community was here Tuesday in company with the Rev. Cecil Fox, pastor of the Methodist churches at Weiner and Prairie View. They were soliciting funds for the erection of a new church building to be erected midway between the Prairie View church and the Brushy church, and which will bring about a consolidation of these two churches, giving them half time pastorate, and we are informed that the business people of Munday contributed liberally to the fund.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

I am in the lumber game, located on the south half of my lots on Main street, and am selling anything that I have in stock. I will soon be open and will have a complete stock of building materials and builder's hardware. No job too big, or none too small. I will give the same courteous treatment to the man who spends a nickel as to the man who spends the hundreds, and will appreciate a part of my friend's business. My friends have made me every dollar that I have in Munday. I try to make each customer some money and at the same time make myself a little. I am here to stay and will be glad to serve you in any way I can. Yours for service.—E. B. Tull.

W. H. Chapman, president of the Munday Chamber of Commerce, and the Rev. R. B. Freeman were visitors to Seymour on last Friday night, where they attended the annual banquet of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Hunt, president of McMurry College at Abilene, was the principal speaker of the occasion, and we are informed that it was a most elaborate and enjoyable affair.

There will be a spelling match at Red Top school house on Tuesday night of next week and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith and children were visitors to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth first of the week.

Mrs. Cassie Lansford is adding an annex to her apartment house which will give her added rooms to rent, there being a constant demand for more rooms and houses in Munday.

Study Club Members Enjoy Theatre Party.

On Thursday of last week the members of the Munday Study club were entertained with a theatre party, with Mesdames W. R. Moore, H. F.

Barnes, R. D. Atkinson and J. O. Bowden as hostesses.

After the merry party had witnessed the picture at the Peoples Theatre they went to the Loveless Drug Company, where dainty refreshments were served to about forty guests.

Recent Bride Honored At Lovely Party.

Mrs. Frank Decker, assisted by Mrs. M. H. Reeves and Misses Mary Brown and Margaret Ann Keele entertained with a party on Tuesday evening at her home honoring Mrs. Irene Isbell McKinney, who was recently married. Tables were arranged for "84", each having a score pad with a note of a bride on it and the guests upon arriving were passed tally cards with notiffs of brides.

After an enjoyable hour of "84" was spent, a wagon decorated in pink and white, filled with many lovely gifts, drawn by a little bride and groom passed among the guests and found its harbor at the feet of the recent bride, Mrs. McKinney. The little bride and groom were Patsy Hannah and Jimmie Earl Loveless.

Plates of angel cake and cream, the center of which was a pink heart, with favors miniature umbrellas as favors were passed to the sixty guests.

HOOD CLUB MEETS

Miss Grace Nelson, home demonstration agent, met with the Hood club girls Friday afternoon, March 9, at the Hood school house. At this meeting the first year club girls worked on their aprons and the second year girls worked on their sewing bags and aprons.

The members present at this meeting were: Christine Norman, Syble Swain, Grace Polson, Dorothy Norman, Marie Booe, Balma Swain, Jewel Brown, Hazel Booe and the local leader, Mayme Cannon.

BAPTIST CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENT

There is a special reason why every member of the M. H. R. Bible class should be present next Sunday morning. We hope to have full classes in all departments of the Sunday school.

The subject for the morning sermon will be: "The Cause and Cure for Worry." There will be special music for this service.

At night we will continue our services on "The Second Coming of Christ." The theme will be, "The Time of His Second Coming." The following questions will be discussed: 1. What is the Millenium? 2. Will Christ come before or after the Millenium? Will there be definite signs before His coming that will help us to know the time is near? 4. Will people be saved after He comes back? Visitors welcome.

—P. D. O'Brien, Pastor.

P. T. A. MARCH 21, 4 P. M. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Talk on topic of special interest to parents and teachers—Bro. O'Brien.

TEXAS EDITORS ARE STOCK SHOW GUESTS

But before we use too much space let us say a word about the big event—the Fat Stock Show. To our mind this is the greatest show of its kind in the world, for in the exhibit halls the very cream of the livestock world was assembled for exhibition, there being blue-blood cattle, hogs, horses, sheep goats and every conceivable kind of livestock assembled from all sections of the United States, and while time did not permit us to visit all of the exhibits, we were amazed at the wonderful animals that were on exhibition, not having visited the Stock Show before, we were like the little boy who saw the giraffe in the circus for the first time, just didn't believe there was any such animals.

We found the Knox County baby beef club exhibit in charge of I. E. Day, who was giving the calves his undivided attention while the boys who had accompanied the exhibit were out seeing the sights of the exhibition grounds, and we were pleased indeed at the exhibit from Knox county when we compared it with like exhibits from other counties, and let us say for the boys and girls who have been feeding calves, that they have nothing to regret, for their exhibit compared very favorably with those of other counties, regardless of what the outcome of the judging may be.

As we have stated before, this is the first time that the Fat Stock Show management has provided a press day at the show, and it was the unanimous hope of the members of the press fraternity at Ft. Worth on Saturday that the occasion be made an annual affair and words were simply inadequate to express the gratitude of the editors for the courtesies shown on that occasion.

Frigidaire saves average of $105³⁶ a year over ice refrigeration

Amazing facts reported by FRIGIDAIRE users. Low cost of operation an achievement of FRIGIDAIRE engineering

Saves $105.36 per Year

The answers were startling. They indicated savings even greater than we anticipated. According to carefully tabulated records, an average of $105.36 per year—over and above all operating costs! These amazing economies are due to two things: (1) No ice bills. (2) No food waste.

A Scientific Achievement

Frigidaire represents years of research and development on the part of Frigidaire Engineers, and the Research Department of General Motors—the largest organization of electrical, chemical and mechanical engineers in the world. In Frigidaire modern science has incorporated elements that the entire of the cabinet can't reveal.

New, Low Prices

To the wealth of evidence in favor of Frigidaire, add the new low prices—the lowest in Frigidaire history. A complete model with Union-made enamel-lined steel cabinet—all ready to attach and operate from any convenient electric outlet—for the amazing price of only $180.00. Daytime.

Few Dollars Puts It in Your Home

Frigidaire is used each day in your home. The whole family enjoys it. And it pays for itself with the money it saves, as proved by the signed reports of users. Visit our display room and see the new models. A small deposit puts one in your home. Then pay a little each month under liberal General Motors terms. Come in today.
