Our Stake In The Future

"Please God—bring him back to me safely." That statement is being uttered by millions of mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers, and wives every day all over this country—yes it is being uttered daily by people of Knox county—they wait patiently for a whisper of assurance. The chances are that he will come back safely! He's the best equipped soldier in the world. Equipped with a courageous grin and a thinking head and clever hands. Equipped with thorough training by keen, alert officers. Equipped with dead-shot weapons, excellent medical care, good shelter, proper clothing and plenty of good nourishing food. The farmers of Knox county are doing their utmost to produce the things those boys need most—let it not be said that "the efforts of the farmers of Knox county were sufficient!"—but rather may it be said: "They did not shirk their responsibilities." In order to produce the fiber needed to produce the fiber needed to produce the food needed by them for proper nourishment, the farmers of Knox county do not begrudge the long hours and the hard work that are expected of him as he feels that this is his contribution to the war effort. Even those who have assumed burdens beyond their strength because their sons have gone to war are not complaining. They have a job to be done, and they are going to do it regardless of the cost, because the thing at stake is the most precious thing in our American heritage—human freedom.

As the typical farmer goes about his daily chores, he does a lot of thinking. He is buoyed up in his work by the conviction that he is doing his part to protect the freedom and independence of his country—for himself and for the generations that will come after him. Since the farmer realizes that his welfare and the welfare of his descendants depend on the land, he is concerned with the future that is in store for agriculture—for the people that live on the land. He has seen the rise of labor unions to positions of great power and influence in national affairs.

John L. Lewis the dictator of the United Mine Workers and trouble maker deluxe in the labor union field, is making big scale plans to organize dairy farmers and possibly others into a union as an entering wedge in the farm field, he should be willing and able to give the farmers some information on several important points. He should tell them why he would be willing to pour thousands of dollars of United Mine Worker's money into the organization of farmers without expecting much more in return. He should tell them why he didn't start trying to help them ten or twelve years ago when they were in the throes of the depression. Lewis should advise the farmers as to whether he would use their money to organize other groups, just as he is using the miner's money to organize the farmer.

He should also tell the farmers how the officers of the miners' union are elected and when the last election was held. Also what the total income of the Lewis family is, and where it came from.

But, Mr. Lewis won't give the farmers this information, simply because he cannot give reasonable, satisfactory answers to a farmer.

When the boys come home they must not be able to say, "the farmers did not do their full duty," which is something they will say about strikers in war industries. This war cannot be won without food, fibers, and fats, and no one can produce them but the farmer. This production must and will come despite the shortage of farm machinery and labor, despite the farmers need for more gasoline and tires for the truck and tractor, and their dislike of the 40-hour law for labor while they have to work 60 to 100 hours per week to meet their war production goals. However, these goals will be met because the farmers will not let our fighting men down. No other group or class will have a better right to criticize or give credit where credit is due than will our soldiers when they return.

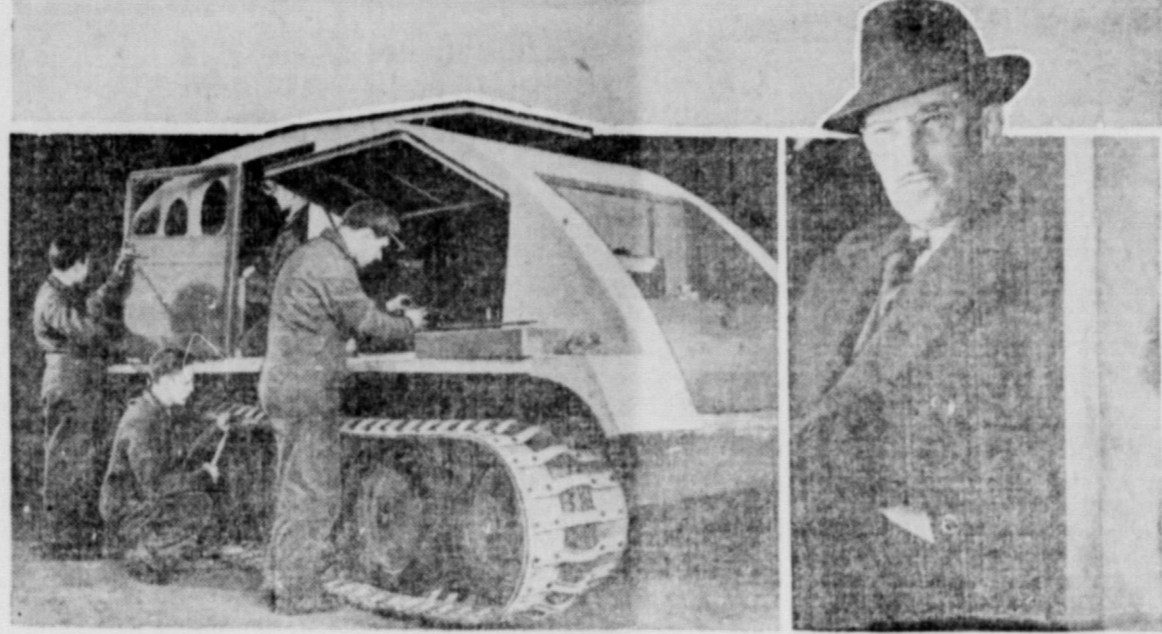

"... And Pass the Ammunition"

Each war has produced its own heroes and its own epic phrases and epic songs. The most popular song to come out of the present conflict is "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." It expresses the spirit necessary to win this war both on distant battlefronts and here on the home front.

Not all of us can man the guns of battle, but all of us certainly can "pass the ammunition" in the form of scrap metal in our homes and on our farms; ammunition in the form of waste fats, scrap iron and rubber, those precious waste materials, which our country is asking us to donate to the national salvage program.

These odds and ends are mighty important today to those kids half way around the world; important to a blue-clad sailor for his life and ours; important to a flier over the continent of Europe racing to reach his target before a knife merriment can find its mark; important to a marine or dough-boy wading in mud waist deep so as to drive the treacherous Jap out of stolen territory; important to a tank corps man who must de-

Canadian Invents Jeep On Snow Shoes Carries Six Fully-Equipped Soldiers

Old farmer had been shouting encouragement to the neighbour's boy. In a Rube Goldberg contraption, consisting of two sleds and an old engine, the lad had been vainly trying to climb a steep incline leading to the woods. Finally, one evening, the farmer rushed into the house crying to his wife: "He's made it! He's made it! I knew he'd do it!"

That was twenty years ago. Today, that boy, Armand Bombardier, now 35, is still turning out weird conveyances, but these are real snowmobiles and he is building them for the Canadian army. Experts in the Army Engineering Design Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply, agree that his invention is just the thing for personnel transport across the snowbound countryside, carrying as it does half a dozen fully equipped men over the deepest snow.

His featherweight snowmobile is a plywood vehicle mounted on wide snowshoe-like tracks. It is equipped with skis at the front and is propelled by a rugged 95 h.p. engine located at the back. With a speed of more than 25 miles an hour, it can go anywhere a skier or snowshoer can. The secret of its mobility lies in its extremely supple suspension. Its tracks are supported by specially designed pneumatic wheels, four on each side.

Armand Bombardier has lived all his life in the small Quebec settlement of Valcourt in the hilly Eastern Townships. Years ago, the village was completely isolated during the winter months and the idea struck the young inventor that he should devise some vehicle which would travel over the snow covered hills to the neighbouring towns.

Leaving school early—he had virtually no technical training—he opened a garage, making sure there would be plenty of space for his snowmobile experiments. He built scores of models, labouring late at night designing springs, improving motors. He tried every form of propulsion including propellers. These, however, he discarded when he became convinced that traction was his only solution.

Like most inventors, he was the butt of many jokes, and few took him seriously. They all changed their minds, however, when, in 1936 he succeeded in turning out a model which performed marvels in the deepest snow.

Mr. Ozbirn said, "This enables the buyer to make large repayments in good years and smaller payments in bad years. Most farmers prefer the plan to the fixed or equal payments schedule calling for payment at the rate of 4.326 percent annually to retire principal and interest."

Special emphasis is now being placed on farm enlargement loans made to owners whose land is so small as to be unprofitable to them. Increasing acreage and improving soil and buildings enables these farm units to greatly boost output of war crops as well as raise the standard of living of the owners.

FSA officials anticipate an even greater need for tenant purchase and farm development and enlargement loans after the war when thousands of farm people will leave factory jobs and return to rural areas. FSA points with pride not only to the remarkable payments borrowers are making on loans but food production records and increased net worth reflected in machinery and livestock inventories on their farms.

Mrs. Ruby Kethley of Abilene visited her sister, Mrs. P. V. Williams, and other relatives and friends here over the week end.

Mrs. James Dyke and Mrs. Glenna Dyke of Walters, Okla., came in the latter part of last week for several days visit with Mrs. James Dyke's parents Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Tiner.

M. B. Caughran, son of J. A. Caughran, was among the Knox county group which left on Wednesday of last week for service in the army. He was inducted at Abilene and sent to the induction center at Camp Wolters.

Mrs. C. K. Mosby and Mrs. Boddie and her son and nieces, all of Wichita Falls, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green last Sunday.

Farmers To Get Citations For Loan Payments

Farmers are making such big payments on Farm Security Administration farm ownership loans that E. Lee Ozbirn, director of the region comprising Oklahoma and the eastern two-thirds of Texas, has just announced in Dallas plans for awarding many of them special citations. One hundred and ninety-three of these farmers have repaid $1,000 or more this year, winning coveted membership in the "1000 Club."

"Many of the more than 3,400 Texas and Oklahoma farmers who have purchased farms with money borrowed from FSA under provisions of the Bankhead-Jones tenant purchase act, are two years ahead on repayment schedules and some are as much as eight and nine years ahead," the director said, "many others fall only a few dollars short of paying $1,000 this year."

Of the 193 farmers in the $1,000 payment group, 98 are in Texas and 95 in Oklahoma. Haskell county, Texas, leads the region with 15 such farmers and Kiowa county leads in Oklahoma with 12.

The farmer ownership division, only one phase of the FSA program, has loaned 2,273 Texas and 1,803 Oklahoma tenant farmers and sharecroppers some $24,000,000 in the past five years for purchasing, enlarging or developing their farms, loans in the region so far this fiscal year number 465, and FSA officials say funds allocated to Texas still are available for tenant purchase and farm enlargement. Money still is available in Oklahoma for farm enlargement loans and many families have taken options on farms with the expectancy of purchasing them with an FSA loan if Congress approves a new appropriation.

Loans run 40 years, bear three percent interest, range from $2,500 to $12,000 with an average of $6,500.

First step in obtaining FSA tenant purchase, farm enlargement and farm development money is by making application with the FSA supervisor in the respective county. A local committee of "dirt farmers" reviews the application, and, upon judging the applicant dependable and industrious, notifies him to take an option on the land he wishes to buy.

Size of farms averages 180 acres, though they vary according to location and the type of farming enterprise adapted to the soil and climate. Size and value of the farm is based on family requirements for a decent living and sufficient additional income to make orderly debt retirement. Price paid for land is limited to the average value of farms of 30 acres and over within that county according to the 1940 census.

"Repayments may be made on the variable payment plan, which allows repayments at a rate based on annual income after deductions for living and operating expenses."

FISH OR FOWL

MEAT RATIONING WILL MEAN FEWER COMPANY DINNERS. So we read in newspaper headlines a few weeks ago. As the story indicated, your company can't bring you points nor is it easy for them to bring you a little meat the way they can coffee or sugar to replace your supply. One solution is for your company to go to the store with you, each pay their points for meat and then ask the butcher to leave the meat in one piece, but that is highly impractical.

A more logical solution is a meat dish that requires only a few points like Italian Spaghetti, American Chop Suey, Scalloped Potatoes with Ham or Chili Con Carne. Or another solution is to serve either fresh fish or poultry. Neither of these is included in meat rationing and both make grand company dinners. Here's how to stretch a chicken to serve — dinner for eight.

CHICKEN LOAF

1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms (or one 4-oz. can) 2 eggs
1 tsp. butter 1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup soft bread crumbs 1/4 tsp. paprika
1 cup milk 1/4 cup chopped pimiento
1 cup chicken broth (seasoned) 3 cups diced cooked chicken

Wash fresh mushrooms, remove stems, and peel. Cut stems and caps into pieces. If canned mushrooms are used, drain well and slice thin. Cook in butter 20 min. Mix all ingredients well. Pour into greased loaf pan lined with paper. Steam-bake (that is, set pan of chicken loaf in another pan containing a little hot water, in oven) for 1 1/2 hours in mod. oven (350°). Turn out on platter and serve with hot mushroom sauce. 8 servings.

OUR FINNY FRIENDS

Even inland markets are well stocked with many fresh and frozen fish. Get acquainted with these finny friends. Select a whole fish; stuff it with a well seasoned bread dressing and bake in a fairly hot oven. Or put sliced soft cheese and chopped onion in it and over the top, then pour milk with a little Worcestershire sauce over it; bake an hour and you'll have a delectable dish even self-imagined fish haters will like. Remember fish has no connective tissue like meat so cooks in much less time. It broils in 15 to 20 minutes and a whole fish bakes in from 30 to 60 minutes. You can tell when it is done by flaking off a piece with a fork.

Dress up a fish dish with special seasoning and extra taste appeal and you'll have no trouble selling it to your family or company. Try this pretty casserole of fish filets for your next company dinner.

BAKED CREAM FISH FILLETS

2 lb. fish filets (cod, sole, had-dock or halibut), fresh or frozen 2 tsp. all-purpose flour
1/4 tsp. salt 1 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. paprika 1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper 1/4 tsp. pepper
1 cup top milk 1 cup top milk
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs 1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs
1 tsp. minced parsley 1 tsp. minced parsley

Cut filets in serving pieces. Place in greased, shallow baking dish; sprinkle with salt, pepper, paprika and lemon juice. Make a white sauce as follows: melt butter in small saucepan, blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Return to heat and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour over filets. Sprinkle with crumbs and parsley. Bake in mod. oven (350°) for 35 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Help Stop Thefts and Forgeries

To safeguard dependents and others who regularly receive government checks the following procedure is urged by the U. S. Secret Service—to help stop thieves and forgers—(1) some member of the family should always be at home when checks are due to be delivered; (2) all mail boxes should be equipped with a lock, and the individual's name should be printed clearly on the outside of the box; (3) checks should be cashed in the same place each month, making identification easier; (4) checks should not be endorsed until you are in the presence of the person who is to cash it.

Service Bars for Civilians

For the first time, civilians may earn an official service bar similar to the campaign bars of the armed services, according to a recent announcement of the Civilian Defense Director. Six distinctive bars for service ranging from 500 to 5,000 hours will be given to Civilian Defense Volunteers. All volunteers may qualify for the awards.

Prosecute Poultry Racketeers

New court actions—78 of them—against violators of price ceilings on poultry were started between April 15 and April 30, in OPA's intensified drive to stamp out black markets. In addition, the enforcement division issued statutory warnings—first step toward license revocation—to 15 other poultry sellers.

Maximum Prices on Poultry

Poultry raisers who sell live birds at their farms must observe the maximum prices OPA has set for the nearest city, town, or village. Ceiling prices for 56 representative cities were recently issued. For broilers, fryers, roasters, and light capons the prices range from 27.5 cents per pound for Chicago, to 29.51 cents per pound for Miami, Florida.

More Cotton Cloth

Cotton fabric production will be increased by about 220 million yards annually without the use of additional facilities or raw materials, as the result of a recent WPB order. Fabrics will be lighter and less tightly woven, but serviceable and capable of meeting all military and essential civilian needs.

Luggage Restricted to 7 Types

Luggage will be made only in seven basic types and will be drastically limited in size and design after July 1 by a recent order of WPR. All-leather luggage is out for the duration. Canvas, cotton duck, ether fabrics, and wood will be used as substitutes when they are available.

Soldiers Get Lots of Mail

United States soldiers overseas receive over 20,000,000 pieces of mail a week, or an average of fourteen pieces per soldier. This is four times as much as the A. E. F. got at the peak of the World War. Twenty percent of the mail sent overseas is V-mail.

Revised Feed Prices

Savings to farmers are expected to result from OPA's revision of retail prices of animal and poultry feeds. Previously, the retailer has been allowed a fixed mark-up of $7.50 a ton on all kinds of feeds. Now, feeds have been classified, and there is a schedule or mark-

New Labor Law Now Effective In This Area

The regional labor stabilization plan adopted by the Regional Office of the War Manpower Commission and made effective at midnight April 28 is now in full force throughout Texas according to Mr. S. H. Southall, manager of the United States Employment Service office at Vernon, Texas.

The new plan affects all workers and employers in this area except workers in lumbering and non-ferrous metal mining activities, and every worker who contemplates changing his employment should first consult his present employer and learn what he must do to comply with the regulations before he quits his job. If the employer is unable to furnish the information, either workers or employers may get full information from the Employment Service office. It is especially important, said Mr. Southall, that all workers learn the facts about the regulations if they plan to seek work in another community or another state because in many cases it is necessary for workers to establish clearance with their last employers before they can be given a new job, either locally or elsewhere.

Under the new stabilization plan any employer in essential activity may hire any new employee who for the preceding 90 days was not engaged in essential activity. Employers not in essential activity are forbidden to hire any new employees who during the preceding 90 days was engaged in essential activity, if the new wage rate would exceed the rate most recently received by the new employee.

Employers engaged in essential activity may hire workers from other essential employers without regard to wage rate, but only if the worker presents a "statement of availability" from his former employer or from the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission. Workers in essential activity shall be issued a statement of availability by his employer, or by the United States Employment Service, (if the employer refuses to issue it), if the worker is discharged, laid off for an indefinite period or for seven days or more, or can establish that his present employment does not utilize him at his highest skill, or that he is employed at less than full time. Employers may also issue certificates of availability for other reasons than those listed, if they desire to do so. In addition, the United States Employment Service may issue a certificate of availability to a worker when it is established that separation from his present employment would further the war program.

No restriction is placed on the movement of workers from one job not in essential industry to another job that is not essential. The regulations apply to farm workers, as they are essential. "Essential work" means employment in any of the thirty-six activities listed by the War Manpower Commission as essential to the war effort, and a copy of this list is on file in every United States Employment Service office. The regulations also make provisions for appeal by either worker or an employer, if either is dissatisfied by the ruling of the United States Employment Service on any case where a "certificate of availability" is requested, said Mr. Southall.

Ceiling On Sausage
Frankfurters, bologna, and fresh and smoked sausage, which make up about 60 percent of all sausage sold in this country, are now under wholesale ceiling prices fixed by OPA. Cents-per-pound retail prices will be established by OPA in the near future.

Butter, Cheese Orders
Fifty percent of all butter and 70 percent of all cheddar cheese produced in May, June, and July must be held for government uses, the WFA has announced. Thirty percent of butter and 50 percent of cheese has been required for government use since February.

Hospitals For Civilians
Despite increasing military demands for hospital equipment and medical supplies, substantial efforts are being made to maintain the health of civilians. Since January 1, 1942, construction of 260 new hospitals, or extensive additions to existing hospitals has been approved by WPR. Beds will be increased by 7,000 leaving an estimated shortage for civilian use in war areas of about 14,000 beds.

No Quota on Used Truck Tires
An eligible truck operator who is unable to get rationing certificates for new tires because his rationing board has exhausted its quota can obtain certificates for used tires instead, according to OPA. Local boards have been authorized to issue used truck tire certificates without regard to quota restrictions.

Chicory For Coffee
Consumers who like chicory in their coffee are assured of a supply by a recent order of the War Food Administration. Because demands for this product has increased since coffee rationing, processors are now allowed to put 25 percent of their bulk chicory in packages for individual consumers.

New Agency for Civilians
The Office of Civilian Requirements, empowered to provide civilians with essential goods and services, has been set up in WPR. The new agency supercedes the Office of Civilian Supply. "It shall be the objective of the War Production Board," the order states, "to provide consumer goods and services adequate to maintain essential civilian life and the highest productive efficiency."

Traffic Declines
Traffic on rural roads in the eastern rationed area was 48 percent less in March than the same month of 1941. It was about 37 percent less than in the rest of the country, according to the Public Roads Administration of the Federal Works Agency. Traffic in February was off 52 percent in the east and 35 percent elsewhere, compared with February, 1941.

THE EVENT OF 1943

Saturday night, April 24, 1943, the juniors presented to the seniors of Sunset School a splendid banquet. Since our theme was Hawaiian, the gymnasium was very attractively decorated with palm trees, a moon, grass, rocks and everything that goes with Hawaii (except the hula-hula dance. This we couldn't very well do). The waitresses wore grass skirts.

Of course, the highlight of the evening was the attractive and palatable food prepared by the girls of the Homemaking Department.

As each guest entered through an archway, a beautiful corsage was pinned on him. After each one had found his place, Bill Burton gave the toast to the seniors. After this, Bonnie Ely gave the welcome address. Then Glyndalin Frost gave the response. The quartet composed of Virginia Tankersley, Sue Partridge, Wynelle Cluck, and Nelda Matthews, then sang "Blue Hawaii" accompanied by Virginia on the piano.

Edna Hardin gave the senior will.

Next, Virginia and Sue sang "Lover's Thoughts" accompanied by Virginia.

Mr. F. L. Wilson presented our after-dinner speech. (Perhaps it would have been better if he hadn't been sitting by his wife.)

We were very honored to have Mr. T. W. Harber, from Wichita Falls, speak to us.

We then had a very interesting speech made by Mr. R. I. McLeroy. (I had often wondered why he was bald-headed, until he made his speech. He should watch where he goes to sleep when Mrs. McLeroy is moving the lawn.)

We closed our program with the singing of "To You Sweetheart, Aloha" by Virginia, Sue, and Wynelle. (How could we help it if we got tickled?) That's o. k. Keith, the cleaners will clean your suit. We enjoyed the evening very much, and wish the seniors good luck wherever they may go. Until we see each other again we say ALOHA. . . .

SENIOR REPORT

Since the Sunset Glow has not been in the paper for some weeks now, it would perhaps not be amiss to mention the banquet which the juniors gave the seniors. George has described it eloquently elsewhere, BUT it still needs the senior version.

To begin with, everyone had a very good time. We were pleased with the after-dinner speeches. . . . three of them! Mr. Harber was an honored guest, handing out "blarney" in his old manner. (Wonder if his ancestors came from Ireland?)

The other speeches were by Mr. Wilson and Mr. McLeroy, who managed to give very satisfactory accounts of themselves. Now if they would only conceive the idea of telling such jokes in the classroom!

The decorations were very beautiful, being Hawaiian style, with a huge lamp impersonating the moon. All very romantic, etc. All we needed was a storm for a true tropical atmosphere, and it looked for awhile as though the elements were willing to oblige.

The senior will was a masterpiece, but no one seems to know where it is, so the outside world will never get even a glimpse of what it contained. What if a similar fate had overtaken the Declaration of Independence?

Our Baccalaureate services were held May 9 in the high school auditorium. Rev. W. H. Albertson of the First Baptist Church preached the baccalaureate sermon.

Look! Listen! Live!

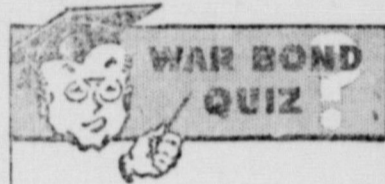

"That crossing is harmless," he thought. He had crossed it hundreds of times as a youngster as he walked to and from school. He had crossed hundreds of additional times as the driver of a delivery truck. He had watched scores of trains rumble over that crossing.

But on the day of the accident illustrated here his familiarity with the railroad grade crossing was his death trap. A fast train roared in his small truck, tossed the motor through the air to crash against a nearby hotel. The driver and his helper were killed.

The driver, a local resident, was thoroughly familiar with the crossing—too familiar.

The National Safety Council is conducting a special campaign to stop these accidents, which every day delay an average of 38 trains a total of 22 hours—a damaging blow to the nation's war transportation effort. Driver carelessness is the cause of almost all grade crossing accidents. To help win the war—to save yourself and others needless suffering—the Council says, "be sure the track is clear before you start to cross."

WAR BOND QUIZ

Q. How many owners of a Bond can there be?

A. War Bonds may be issued in the names of only two individuals as owners, and the registration must be in the alternative, such as "John X. Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith," without any qualifying words or phrases.

Q. If a person who already holds War Savings Bonds up to the limit for the current year should inherit additional Bonds, could they be registered in his name?

A. Yes.

Q. How can I be sure that I can get my money back if I buy a War Savings Bond?

A. The full faith and credit of the United States Government are pledged for payment of both principal and interest. Your Bond is just as sound as the Government itself.

Q. If the owner of a War Savings Bond dies, how is collection made?

A. In the absence of a co-owner or beneficiary in the registration, the bond will form a part of the registered owner's estate, and will be paid to persons entitled to share in the estate under local laws as provided in the regulations.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

IGIVE YOU TEXAS

by BOYCE HOUSE

"Come into office, prepared to leave" for Arkansas.

So read the telegram from the managing editor of the old Fort Worth Record of which I was staff correspondent, with headquarters in West Texas.

And that was the beginning of probably the most enjoyable trip your columnist ever made—back in February, 1925. First stop was Texarkana, the city that sits astride the boundary of Texas and Arkansas, where I was told the intriguing story of a man who was "wanted" in one state and was arrested in the other. Extradition would be slow and expensive, so he was taken for a walk along State Line Avenue and was given a sudden shove, which landed him in the other state where two officers "happened" to be right on the spot and he was grabbed before he could scramble back across the line!—(or so I was told.)

Next place visited was El Dorado where an oil boom was in progress. Then a trip up the mountainous western side of Arkansas in the course of which the train made a 15-minute supper stop. Not wanting to miss the train, I pitched in and hastily ate a salad, soup, half a fried chicken with potatoes and corn, and was just starting on a dish of ice cream when the conductor poked his head in the door of the Harvey House and said, "You have now been eating five minutes." (No doubt I had set some sort of mark for devouring nine-tenths of a full course dinner.)

Visited Fort Smith and was told

Foxhole Mike Knows When To Take To Cover

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—First Lieut. Frank Thomas, who made his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Thomas, of Port Lavaca, Texas, before becoming a Marine fighter pilot, tells this story about a dog—Foxhole Mike.

Mike followed a leatherneck sergeant into a hamburger joint when the latter was on liberty in San Diego. The canine enjoyed a taste of the Jumbo Special so much that he waited all night outside the Y. M. C. A. where the sergeant slept.

A friendship blossomed and Mike eventually was smuggled on shipboard by the sergeant and wound up in Guadalcanal.

It did not take Mike long to learn the meaning of shells and bombs and the minute an enemy air raid began Mike would put his tail between his legs and scurry for the nearest foxhole. Invariably Mike beat everyone else to cover.

"I know Mike was the first in the foxhole everytime," said Lieut. Thomas, "because I was always the second one there."

Aaron Edgar and Wade Mahan spent a while Saturday night in Wellington, where they visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Edgar and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mahan.

Paul Pendleton of Sheppard Field spent the week end here with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pendleton.

Move To Halt Black Market In Gasoline Made

Arrangements have been made by the Office of Price Administration and the Office of Defense Transportation to remove a possible source of black market gasoline operations, officials said today. Hereafter, commercial vehicle operators whose mileage is reduced will be required to give up excess T coupons immediately to the ODT when operations are reviewed or the Certificate of War Necessity is revised for less mileage.

All Certificates issued in this district are now being reviewed by ODT, Richard E. Wood, Lubbock district manager said, to discover and correct certificates which allow operators more gasoline than essential operations require. Some operators have excess coupons due to changes in their business since first application was made. Others have cut their mileage through joint action plans and other conservation methods, since their present certificates were issued.

Many allowances for gasoline have already been cut, Mr. Wood said, after a review of the first quarter year's operations. But until this amendment by OPA to the rationing regulations, there was considerable time lapse between revision of certificates and recall of excess coupons.

CAMP RUSTON, La.—One of the first enrollees of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps to arrive for training at Branch A of the Fifth WAAC Training Center at Camp Ruston, La., is Gene B. Watson of Munday, Texas.

Branch B of the Fifth WAAC Training Center is at Camp Monticello, Ark., and Branch C is at Camp Polk, La. All three branches are under the command of Col. John A. Hoag, former commandant of the First WAAC Training Center at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa. Recruits will take the intensive WAAC basic training course at the Fifth WAAC Training Center before being assigned to the non-combatant Army jobs for which their civilian experience and Army technical training have best adapted them.

Bakers and Cooks is the only section of the WAAC specialist school that will be in operation at Camp Ruston. Additional training at other specialist schools (motor transport, administration, radio technicians and operators, and photographic laboratory technicians) will be taken at other WAAC training centers. Upon completing the basic course, auxiliaries will also be eligible for officer candidate school at Ft. Des Moines.

In Memory Of Danny Max Lain

The Master was walking in His garden one day, Picking the blossoms that were blooming so fair, To make a beautiful heavenly bouquet.

Of flowers so wonderfully rare. He gathered one here and gathered one there.

The ones that he most admired, Of His flowers that grin in beauty rare.

He gathered all that his heart desired.

Then he laid his flowers at his feet.

To arrange in a beautiful vase; But, alas, to make his bouquet complete,

A bud was needed in a vacant place.

So the Master arose and went to find, A bud, a jewel of light.

The most precious of its kind, To complete the bouquet so bright.

"Ah!" said the Master as he searched everywhere.

"There is not one here like I seek, I will have to go elsewhere to look, To find it and make my bouquet complete."

So the Master came to this old world,

To search for a beauty rare. He looked this wide world over, For the most precious bud there.

Till at last he came to a beautiful tree,

On which bloomed a bud so grand. Said the Master, "I'll take it with me,

To bloom in a heavenly land." So now the bud blooms in the Master's bouquet.

In a land of eternal delight. We'll see our bud blooming again some day

In the garden of Heavenly Delight.

—By one who loved him.

FIRST CANNERS CERTIFIED

COLLEGE STATION — Three canners already have signed contracts for processing this year's vegetable crop in Texas.

Approved and certified by the State USDA War Board, the Henderson Pickle and Canning Company, Henderson; Delta Canning Company, Raymondville; and the Eagle Pass Canning Company, Eagle Pass, have agreed to cooperate with growers in canning the 1943 vegetable pack.

Under terms of the contract, the companies will pay growers a rate equal to or in excess of the base prices established recently by the Department of Agriculture. Vegetables for canning on which floor prices have been set on a per ton basis are as follows: snap beans, $80; lima beans $90; beets, $19; carrots, $20; cabbage for kraut, $12; sweet corn, $17; green peas, $77.50 and tomatoes, $22.

Under the processing program, canners will contract with growers sufficient acreage to operate processing plants at full capacity during the 1943 season. The contractual relationship is required in order that supplies of the commodities will be available to processors, that supplies will be produced in areas where processing facilities are available and to prevent unnecessary waste.

Growers' only assurance of receiving price supports is through a contract with certified processors, the board said in explaining that the Department does not guarantee the specified prices to individual producers.

County USDA war boards in vegetable producing areas are cooperating with producers and processors in contracting for the acreage needed this year. After canners have contracted to make purchases at the announced support prices, they are certified by the state USDA War Board for participation under this year's program.

Approximately 46 Texas canners participated under the 1942 program, which assured growers the minimum price.
