"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"

BUSINESSMEN AND POSTWAR INDUSTRY

Last Sunday, there appeared in the New York Times a letter to the editor, written by James G. MacDonald, now advisor on public relations to the Blue Network, who has also been chairman of the board of the Foreign Policy Association, high commissioner for refugees from Germany, member of the editorial staff of the N. Y. Times, president of the Brooklyn Institute, chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Political Refugees, and member of the Board of Education of New York. The contents of this letter, which in part appears below should be known to all Americans:

"To an extent which will surprise many people, American business is farsightedly and courageously planning to meet its postwar problems. The change-over to peacetime economy will involve problems more vast and intricate and difficult than those solved so brilliantly during the transition to an all-out war economy...."

"The task that American business is preparing to meet when the firing ceases will be colossal. As many as fifty-six million peacetime jobs may be needed for the men and women who will be released from wartime industry and from the armed services. To convert our factories and services back to normal purposes and simultaneously to develop a level of production high enough to absorb this number is a challenge. If it is not met successfully we may see here economic and social disturbances so serious as to impair or perhaps destroy our country's ability to play a worthy role abroad...."

"The National Association of Manufacturers' leadership in postwar planning can be roughly divided into two parts: its unwavering insistence on what it believes to be sound economic and political policies essential to success in readjustments of business to a peacetime footing, and the support it gives to the planning which is being done by individual establishments. In addition to fighting for those principles which it considers are basic to the maintenance of the free-enterprise system, the NAM is aiding individual business concerns to prepare for the postwar period...."

"Through its Postwar Problems Committee the NAM is continuing its studies of demobilization and postwar employment. In March of this year the committee published a report entitled 'Jobs, Freedom, Opportunity in the Postwar Years.' This outline is the NAM's ideas on the 'nature of the postwar problem' and on 'domestic and external requirements for prosperity.' In general it is a reaffirmation of the principles for which the NAM has consistently stood."

POSTWAR PRODUCTS

That improvements in industrial products will come out of this war is inevitable. However, it would be folly for us to delude ourselves into believing that radical dream-products will become realities immediately after the hostilities cease.

As was pointed out by T. J. Newcomb, Sales Manager of the Appliance Division of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., it would be a year, two years, and in some cases five years after the war before the housewife should expect to reap the profits of proven scientific advance.

Although we will undoubtedly see minor improvements immediately in some products, Mr. Newcomb pointed out, industry will get into production quickly when the war ends, "not only to serve a pent-up demand but, equally important, to maintain high employment. To do this means using tools, machines, materials, and 'know-how' that are in existence from prewar days."

In the meantime, we can rest assured that inventions are progressing at unheard-of paces, and that we shall reap the benefits in as little time as possible.

FROM PEASHOOTERS TO SHOTGUNS

A few years ago discussion of public debt and taxation revolved around the issues of administrative efficiency and good government. Except for a few taxpayers, no one evidenced much interest in those discussions. Today the situation is gravely different. Debt and taxation are not merely indicators of good or bad administration. Today debt and taxation may determine what kind of government this nation will have in the future—a republic or a bureaucracy which will rapidly degenerate into dictatorship.

As Business Week has pointed out: "The effects of government taxing and spending always tend to shift the balance in an economy. Inevitably they take income from one group and give it to another. As long as the government operates on a comparatively small scale, this shift passes unnoticed, but its importance grows with every increase in the state's share of national income. Fiscal policy is neutral only when it is negligible.

"At this stage of the game, it is impossible to tell much about the government's revenue requirements or the size of its debt after the war. One thing is certain, however. They won't be negligible."

The public debt is growing at the rate of sixty or seventy billion dollars a year. Taxation is at a rate many times greater than a few years ago. Both taxation and spending are being used in repeated attempts to level opportunity and to change the nature of our government. With every passing day these twin weapons become more potent in the hands of socialistic planners.

We can no longer afford the luxury of using taxation merely to "soak the rich," and spending, to socialize industry. Neither are the peashooters of days gone by. They are double-barreled shotguns now. If we allow prejudiced eyes to align the sights, principles of equality and justice for which this country stands will be wiped out along with freedom.

SUPER AVIATION REQUIREMENTS

A modern airliner can flash across a state in minutes and across the continent in hours. After the war there will be thousands of these liners operating, instead of a few hundred. Commercial air transport will be an international service industry. The Lea-Bailey Bill, now before Congress, would modernize Federal legislation affecting civil aeronautics. Unless air regulation is uniform, development of the aviation industry will be stunted.

Air lines, because of their interstate character, are already operating under Federal regulation in many respects. Commenting on the value of such regulation, the New York Times says there could be no more dramatic illustration of the need for it "than the major operation which had to be performed in our air transport system about a year ago. Due to the peculiar relationship of the system to the national defense it became necessary suddenly to mobilize the industry, to reduce by nearly 50 per cent the number of planes in common-carrier service, and to set up a nation-wide and even world-wide network of special operations for the Army. This required a drastic readjustment in common-carrier schedules throughout the nation, a change in routes, a reshuffling of stops, and even changes in rates. Yet it was accomplished smoothly... because the entire system was subject to only one law administered by only one agency."

In addition to regulation, the Lea-Bailey Bill provides for compensation for property, or for loss occasioned through Federal airport zoning, and for cooperation with local authorities, thus recognizing individual and states' rights in Federal legislation.

GOVERNORS OPPOSE CENTRALIZATION

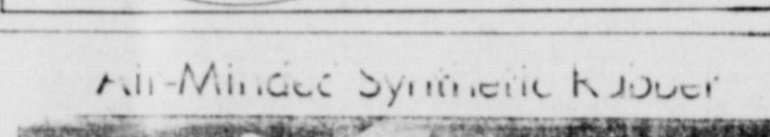

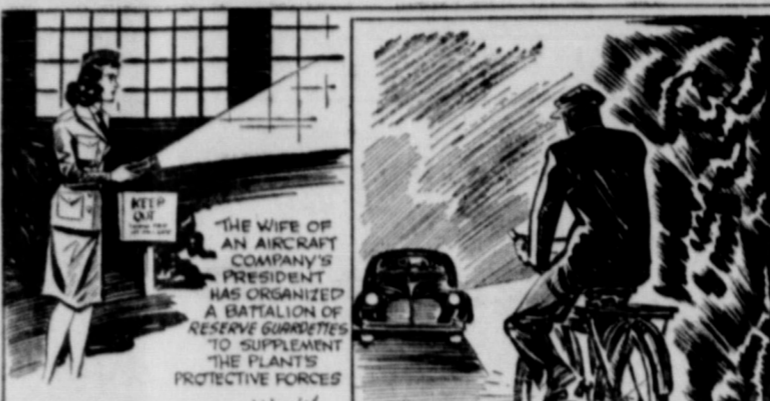

The nation's governors, meeting at the thirty-fifth annual National Governor's Conference in Columbus, have launched a nonpartisan attack on the encroachment of Federal bureaus on the powers of state and local government which has not been matched in militancy since the Civil War.

The governors not only assailed the increasing centralization of power in Washington, but voted unanimously to set up actual machinery to insure that the rights and functions of the states which they have ceded to the national government in the interests of victory will be restored to them after the war.

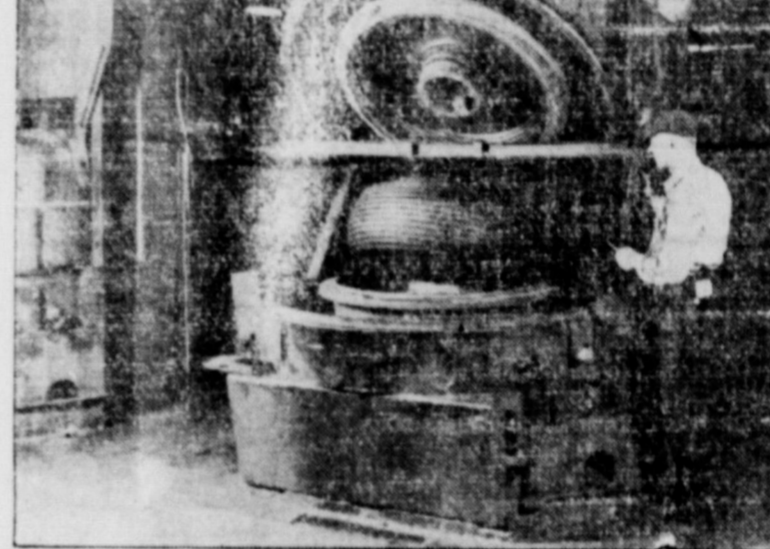

Action has long been necessary to stop this growing centralization of government in the hands of bureaus or at least to gain assurance that such powers as were assumed for the emergency will be returned after it.

Such action could come from no more appropriate source than a body of United States governors who are of unanimous opinion regardless of party.

All-Minded Synthetic Rubber

Evidence of the way synthetic rubber already is taking over even the toughest assignments formerly handled by natural rubber is this scene at a B. F. Goodrich plant showing one of the new synthetic tires for airline planes coming out of the mold. The air-mindedness of Texas is expected to help make this state an outstanding market for the synthetic rubber made in Texas plants in the coming postwar era of "personalized aviation." Recently the Civil Aeronautics Administration granted, for the first time, approval for use of synthetic tires on commercial transport planes, on the basis of extensive tests the B. F. Goodrich company had made, along with performance records of its Ameripol auto tires, first put on general sale in June, 1940.

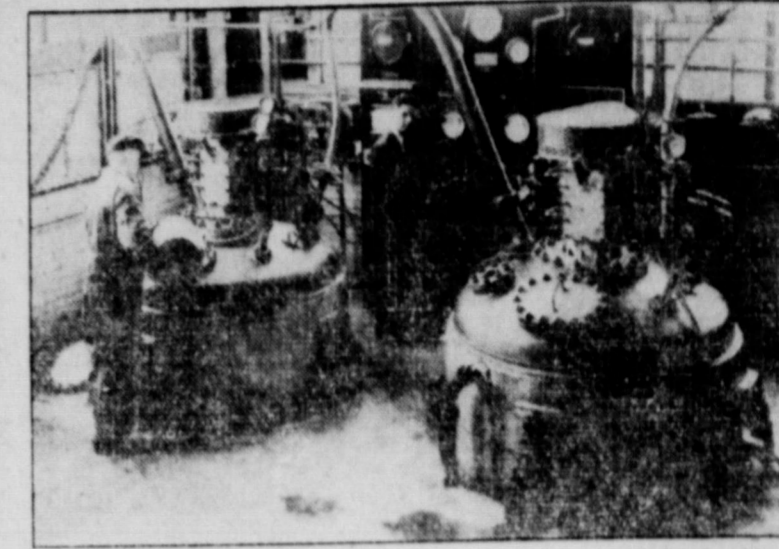

DREW PEARSON PRAISES BOARDS

Copyright laws being what they are, we don't feel at liberty to quote Drew Pearson's "Washington Merry-Go-Round" of Monday, July 5, as we would like, but the popular capitol columnist struck a blow in behalf of more than 5,000 local OPA boards when he said they "are standing up valiantly to their job," describing it as "one very real tribute to the American system of government"

Pearson reviewed the trials and troubles of the boards from the inception of the tire-rationing program and declared that while many members resent government methods, "there is remarkable loyalty to the programs they administer." He added: "Their loyalty under the terrific pounding they get is inspiring." In conclusion, the columnist stated that "as various elements fight OPA, the board members stand up and carry on. Whatever

Birthplace of Tire-Type Synthetic

The polymerization tanks in which Texas plants will mix up hundreds of thousands of tons of synthetic rubber latex under the government program dwarf these two units operating in Akron. But these tanks, in a plant operated by B. F. AAA NEWS

By MARVIN ALLEN, Administrative Officer
Knox County Agricultural Conservation Association

Post-War Possibility

Many of our most far-sighted national leaders today are predicting that soil conservation will receive tremendous impetus after the war. It is to be hoped that they are right.

Economists estimate that we will spend at least 200 billion dollars to protect our land and our people from the Nazi and Japanese gangsters. No one hesitates to see this expenditure made. Its necessity is admitted by all.

Then, when this war is over, why should we not be willing for our government to spend a like amount if necessary, to protect our soil from the ravages of an equally destructive domestic enemy—erosion. Doubtless much less than that amount would be required to do a complete job, but even if it were, it would be money well spent. When peace comes, much of the manpower and machinery now engaged in war might profitably be utilized in an expanded program of soil conservation for the benefit of generations of Americans to come.

Some of our most valuable top soil in America has already gone "down the river." Should it all go, life would be impossible on this continent. Our soil must be saved, regardless of the cost in terms of money and effort.

An Open Letter to the Citizenship Of Knox County

I have passed my physical examination and have received orders to report for active military service July 13. Since it will be impossible for me to personally contact everyone for the purpose of saying so-long, I shall attempt to do so in this letter.

I have worked in this county now a little over two years and have in that time met a large number of mighty fine people. I might be conceited in having this thought, but I do think that I have a large number of very good friends in Knox county. I have tried to make and maintain friends and have tried to conduct myself in just such a way that I could leave this county with a feeling of pride and with the thought in mind that I have been of service to the farm operators.

I am leaving my job as Secretary and Treasurer of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Association to take up duties with the greatest army in the world. It makes a fellow's chest swell with pride to know that he will soon be a member of "Uncle Sam's" ever growing army—a member of "Uncle Sam's" soon to be victorious army—may we all here resolve to do our part each day to keep the "Stars and Stripes" proudly waving over our land of the free. Few of us seldom stop to think just how lucky we really are—bombs do not fall on our cities and towns to kill us or our friends and neighbors—we have plenty of neigh-thing to eat, plenty of clothes to wear, can think and say what we please and can worship God according to his divine scriptures without fear of molestation—we have something worth fighting for—yes, something worth dying for. The cooperation received during the past two years from the citizenship of Knox county has been splendid. Knowing and working with the good people of this county has been a real pleasure and I sincerely hope that some day I shall have that privilege again. The conditions under which I have worked while in Knox county have made the last two years the happiest and most successful years of my life.

I sincerely hope that my successor, Mr. J. E. Thompson, will find the same pleasure in his work, and will receive the same cooperation from the citizenship of this county as I have.

I should also like to publicly extend thanks to the editors of The Munday Times for their help and cooperation in our efforts to better acquaint every individual with the functions of the AAA program, and in our effort to enlist every farmer operator of Knox county in our National Food for Freedom program.

My work has been a real pleasure and I feel, with the whole hearted support of those left at home that we will be able to draw this war to a quick and successful conclusion.

With best wishes, I say so-long to everyone.

MARVIN ALLEN.

MARKET NEWS FOR ONE VARIETY COTTON GROUPS

COLLEGE STATION — Free cotton classification and market news service for the 1943 crop will be available to organized improvement groups in Texas if applications are filed within fixed time limits. According to M. C. Jaynes, cotton work specialist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, applications from counties lying east of the one hundredth meridian must be filed by August 1, and for the remainder of the Texas counties by August 15. This information comes from the office of L. J. Cappleman, regional administrator of the Food Distribution Administration.

Jaynes quotes J. R. Kennedy, regional chief of FDA's cotton and fiber division, that more applications already have been received for this service than ever before. Last year samples were classified for 117,841 members of more than 1,276 organized improvement groups in the state. Total applications this year are expected to exceed those of 1942.

The classing and market service began under the Smith-Doxey act in 1938. Since then the increasing demand for it from farmers has caused the service to spread progressively throughout the cotton producing states, Jaynes said. Reasons for the popularity of the service are attributed to increased production per acre and higher prices per pound for the cotton produced. Some cotton improvement areas in Texas have reported increases in return of more than $7 an acre.

Application forms for the free classing and market news service may be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the regional office of the Food Distribution Administration at Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Patton of Goree and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patton left the first of this week for Oklahoma City, to visit their son and brother, Floyd Patton, who is in training there.

Sheriff L. C. Floyd of Benjamin was a business visitor here last Saturday.

Discussion Of Post War Farmer Problems Made

War production and postwar problems of farmers and ranchmen were discussed at the annual conference of production credit association directors from four North and West Texas associations in Abilene on July 8 and 9, according to C. G. Burson of Haskell, director of the Stamford Production Credit Association.

The group recommended "maximum and efficient production for the war, making use of today's markets to get debts in better shape and building up War Bond reserves to help tide over the strain of readjustment after the war," Mr. Burson said.

Problems discussed included shortage of labor, feed, supplies, machinery and replacements. He said that it was felt by the farmer-stockman leaders from over 31 north and west Texas counties that "although credit today for responsible and capable producers is as abundant as water after a rain, the fundamental need of agriculture is a source of credit that will not dry up. The thing that breaks a lot of good farmers is having good, sound, but 'slow' loans called at the bottom of hard times."

"Our conference urged that we assist farmers in getting the most out of their operations, study to eliminate lost motion, and produce the most possible for war needs. All believed that after debts are cut to a safe level, savings out of earnings should go into War Bonds to help finance the war and to be used after the war to buy replacements and improvements that cannot be purchased today."

Mr. Burson said that the PCAs are making "Good progress toward a full ownership of the cooperatives by the members. These four associations have a combined member stock investment of $396,230 and an earned surplus of $223,659 already. We must build now, both strong associations for the future and strong individual operations to provide for the time when our boys will come home from war."

J. D. Mounce of Archer City was a business visitor here last Monday.

Howard and Helen Thomas of New Castle are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jarvis this week.

Mrs. Doris Rogers spent a few days last week in San Angelo, where she was called to attend the funeral of a little niece.

Meat-Drippings Make Fine-flavored Dishes

Use fats carefully and thriftily; give left-over fats to the government to make ammunition

Frying:

Use drippings or rendered fats from pork, beef, or chicken. Fry chicken in bacon drippings.

Shortening:

Here are some of the dishes that thrive on home-rendered meat fats: Chocolate cakes, and Spice cakes (pork, beef, or chicken). Biscuits and Muffins (pork). Molasses Cookies, Gingerbread, and Meat Pie Pastry (beef). Delicate Pastry (chicken).

Seasoning:

Creole Sauce for cabbage or turnips (beef drippings). Meat Sauces, Meat Stuffings, Scalloped Potatoes, Croquettes, and Vegetables (chicken). Split Pea Soup, Potato Soup, Vegetables, and Dried Beans (pork, especially ham drippings).

Your butcher pays you the government price for your salvaged fats.

To Measure Victory Fats

Use two tablespoons less per cup than of ordinary fat called for.

To Clarify Fats:

Use potato slices to "take up the slack" . . . to one cup of fat, use half of medium-sized potato cut in one-quarter-inch slices, added to the cool fat. Heat gradually until fat stops bubbling. Strain through cheesecloth or a fine sieve. If strained and stored in refrigerator, and NOT SCORCHED, fat can be clarified again, even after frying fish. (SCORCHED fat is not good enough for dynamite, even.) Keep in gas refrigerator.

To Render Raw Fats:

Cut suet and other fats in small pieces. Boil in water. Let chill, and lift the white cake to store in refrigerator.

This advertisement is a part of Lone Star's wartime service, and to remind you to use your natural gas wisely; do not waste it, even though it is cheap and rich. And please take care of your gas range and refrigerator, to make them last till we win this war.

Fats for Ammunition:

One pound fat = 1 1/2 lbs. gunpowder
Two pounds fat = 1 pound dynamite
Two pounds fat = five 37-mm. shells

Good Refrigeration Important Factor In Food Conservation

In one year America wastes enough food to supply the armed forces for a year or Greece for two years, Albertine Berry, home economics director for Lone Star Gas Company, said in urging homemakers to prevent food spoilage through proper refrigeration.

Food conservation hints given by Miss Berry include wise use of leftovers, planning market lists and menus carefully, and serving moderate size helpings. She has the following suggestions about storage of food in the Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator:

Don't cut down circulation of air by covering shelves with paper or oil cloth. Remove bulky wrappings from all foods. Don't overcrowd shelves. Don't place food on top of freezing unit. All liquids and mist foods should be covered before they are put in refrigerator.

Place milk and cream near chilling unit on upper shelves. Keep butter and cheese wrapped in waxed paper or in a covered dish on top shelf near chilling unit.

Meat and poultry should be wiped off and stored in the meat keeper under the chilling unit. If there is no special meat tray, wrap meat lightly in waxed paper and place in defrosting pan under freezing unit. Cooked meat can be stored on any convenient shelf in a covered container. Fish should be wrapped lightly and stored in freezing compartment or evaporator.

Remove eggs from carton and store in wire basket or open bowl. Don't place near strongly scented foods.

Wash vegetables, shake off excess water and store in deep storage tray or covered vegetable freshener. Oranges, lemons, limes and grapefruit should be chilled just before serving. Cantaloupes and other strongly flavored foods should be wrapped in waxed paper.

Frozen foods should be stored only in freezing compartment. Never try to refreeze frozen food which has thawed.

Place cooked leftovers in covered containers, or wrap securely in waxed paper and place on any convenient shelf in refrigerator.

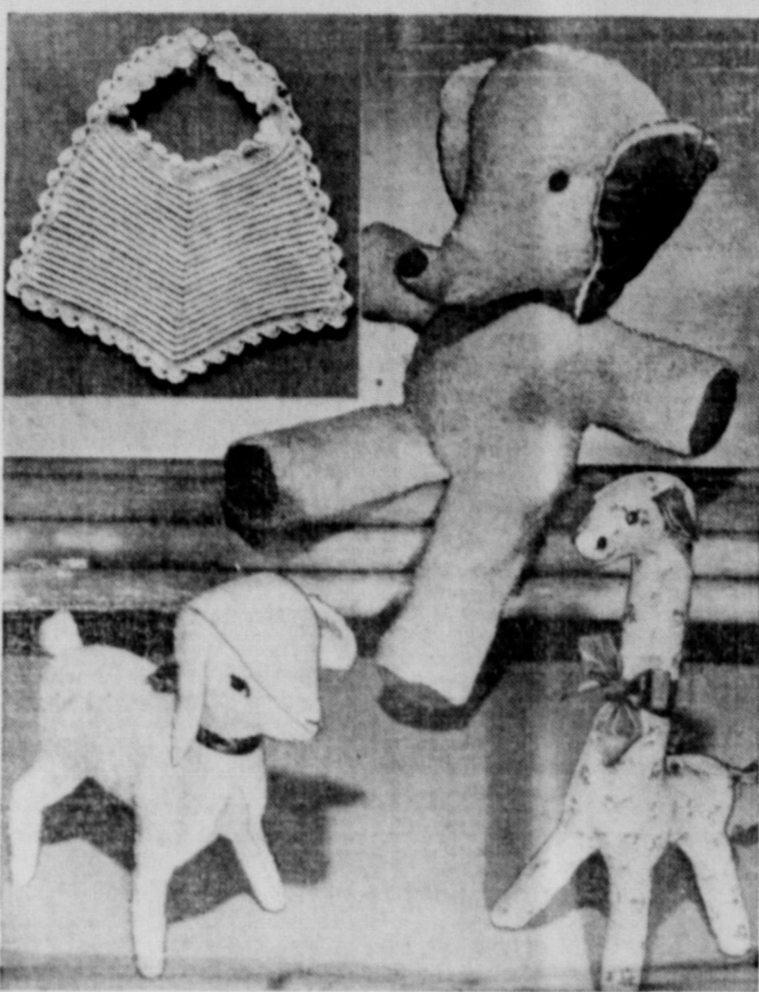

Don't soak prepared vegetables in cold water. Clean them, and place in the refrigerator until ready to cook.

In hot weather, store bread, well wrapped, in refrigerator to prevent molding.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH Luther Kirk

It seems that every human generation dreams of creating a better world. We rush to the task, but how often we fail. Could it be that we fail because we do not take time to learn the way to succeed? We are like the man who wanted to build a bomber and fly, but he didn't want to bother with blueprints and rivets and precision instruments. He just wanted to build a bomber. Jesus took time to learn how to do his task. And he did not fail.

Jesus was born a peasant; He was taken into Egypt as a refugee; He had little organization and no army to help him; He was betrayed by a disciple, forsaken by His friends, crucified by His enemies; yet we all confess that Jesus did more to change the course of history than any other man. History shines with the names of noted men, but not one compares with Jesus who slashed history into two periods—before and after Christ. How did He do it? He tells us, "I am the way."

So we ask, how did Jesus accomplish so much? What way did He use? and we notice, first of all, that He attacked evil and sought to overcome it with good. Let's follow His example. In Him and by His example only can we build a better world.

Hear the gospel messages being brought by Rev. Kenneth Copeland at 10:00 a. m. and 8:45 p. m. daily with the exception of Saturday. Every message is a challenge to righteousness and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Sunday services: Sunday school 10:00 a. m.; morning worship 11:00 a. m.; Youth Fellowship services 8:15 p. m.; Evening Service 8:45.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

All services at the regular hours next Sunday except the evening preaching, which will not be had on account of the meeting in progress at the Methodist church. Bro. Copeland is bringing some messages that should cause us to stop and think, and tighten our spiritual belts.

The boys and girls camps which were to be had at Leuders next week have been postponed.

Vera Canning Center Operates

The canning center is now in operation in the Vera community, being located in the school building. This program has been secured through the cooperation of federal agencies and the state department of Vocational Agriculture.

The school operated for five days last week, canning 694 quarts of vegetables. Citizens of the community are urged to save all available foods. If you wish to can either vegetables, fruits, or meats, let Mrs. C. C. Allen, supervisor, know when you wish to can. Bring your freshly gathered produce with containers and lids. Everything else is furnished at the center. Bring as many people to assist you as you wish.

No Gas To Go To Gardens

Special rations of gasoline for travel to Victory gardens were discontinued July 12, although rations already issued for this purpose may be used as long as valid. This action was taken by OPA upon advice of the Department of Agriculture that gardens planted after that date would be too late to produce enough food to warrant extra use of tires and gasoline in cultivating them.

Co-ops Can Replace Stocks

Farmers' cooperatives and any other dealers who sell farm supplies at cost or at a markup of not more than three percent, are permitted to replenish stocks on farmers' certificates on a dollar-for-dollar basis, under a recent amendment of Priorities Regulation No. 19. Previously, the dealer could use the farmer's certificate to get supplies only up to 75 percent of his sales. The amendment enables farmers' cooperatives which sell approximately at cost to make full replacement of their stock.

Can't Send Recording Overseas

Disks or recordings containing personal messages cannot be sent to soldiers stationed outside the continental limits of the U. S., the War Department has announced. There is no objection to sending disks of personal messages within the continental United States.

Vacation Trip for Motorists

Motorists in the Northwestern gasoline restricted area may use their "A" rations, beginning July 15, for one round trip to a summer home or other vacation place, in the absence of adequate alternative transportation, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown has announced. Before making a trip, motorists must apply to their ration board for written authorization stating the starting point and destination of the trip and dates on which it will be made. Authorization does not give the motorist an extra ration of gasoline.

Agricultural Jobs Filled

During May, the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission filled 1,005,489 jobs in industry and agriculture, an increase of 11.2 percent over April. Of these jobs, 297,725 were in farm work or food processing, an increase of 38.3 over April and 63.6 over May 1942. For January through May, the total placements were 739,044, an increase of 128.4 over the same months in 1942.

Rations For Sick

Although the need to conserve rationed foods is great, no hospital patient's health need suffer, the OPA has announced. Local rationing boards have been given authority to provide supplementary allotments to meet the dietary requirements of patients in hospitals—whether or not such patients are on special diets.

Mileage For Air Raid Wardens

Air raid wardens, while not eligible for "C" ration books, may continue to get "B" books, according to OPA. Volunteers regularly performing work contributing to the war effort or public welfare who need supplemental mileage should have applications certified by some authorized representative of the agency for which the work is being performed.

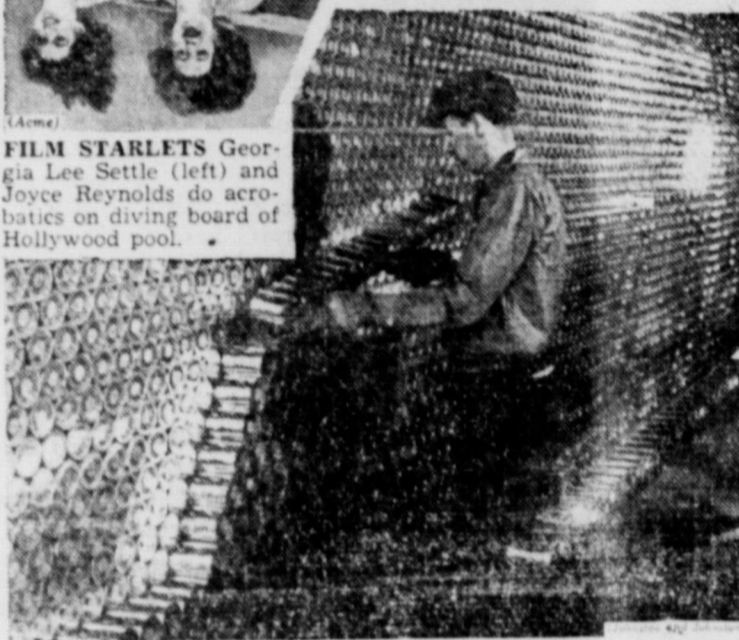

Fuel For Incubators

Fuel oil for incubators, brooders, and other equipment used in raising poultry, livestock, or other agricultural products can now be obtained regardless of the age of the equipment. OPA has recently removed these items from the list of equipment for which no fuel oil rations were previously allowed.

Coal Production Lags

Coal production for the first half of 1943 was an estimated 1,729,000 tons less than for the same period in 1942. Solid Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes has reported. "The gravity of this loss of production is emphasized by the fact that the Nation will need an estimated 25,000,000 tons of coal more this year than last," he said.

NO TIN CANS?—Revision of government requirements for canned food—recently announced—will release additional 30,000,000 cases for civilian use from 1943 pack. And the cans will be ready. Here they come from one American Can Company production line at the rate of 400 per minute.

Casualties of War

Casualties of the United States Armed Forces from the outbreak of the war to July 8 total 91,644. This total, based on War and Navy Department reports, includes: dead, 16,696; wounded, 21,828; missing 31,579; prisoners of war, 21,541. Of these, Army casualties total 64,621; Navy, 27,023.

Traffic Decreases in Rural Areas

Traffic on rural roads in the East decreased from December through May to less than half of pre-war normal, according to the Public Roads Administration of the FWA. A minor exception is March when eastern traffic was 52 percent of normal. Traffic in the "western" area, rationed since December 1, 1942, has settled down to less than two-thirds of prewar normal.

Winter Cover Crop Seed

Large supplies of winter cover crop seeds, acquired by the Government in stabilizing prices for the 1942 crop, will be released for planting this summer and fall. AAA will release about 20 million pounds of Austrian winter pea seed for sale by the CCC to dealers at $5.65 per hundredweight. F. O. B. Oregon points. Cover crops, which are a soil conservation measure, increase the nitrogen in the soil when plowed under and thereby reduce the amount of fertilizer required and release nitrates needed for munitions.

Farm Supplies Pro-Rated

A distributor of farm supplies is now authorized to pro-rate deliveries on the basis of normal shipments in cases where the amount of farm supplies set aside by him does not completely cover all the orders he receives. Before this recent amendment to General Preference Order M-330, a distributor was required to fill orders solely on the basis of preference ratings.

Local Poultry Prices

Regional Administrators of the OPA now can adjust local processors' prices for dressed poultry. Regional Administrators also have the power to change definitions of sellers and types of sales. They are not empowered to change the farmers' selling price for live poultry, however, and may not increase the selling price of poultry at retail, or to any ultimate consumer.

More Fertilizer to Be Available

From 5 to 10 percent more chemical fertilizer will be available in the year ahead according to WFA officials. It is estimated that U. S. farmers used about 10 million tons of chemical fertilizer during the 12 months beginning July 1, 1942. Although the supply of nitrogen and phosphates will be greater, potash is expected to be less plentiful.

Many Ships Launched

The Nation's shipyards delivered 168 cargo vessels totaling 1,676,500 deadweight tons in June, the Maritime Commission has announced. This may be compared with the record total of 175 for May and 157 in April. The June figures brought production for the first half of 1943 to 879 ships totaling 8,818,622 deadweight tons. In the entire year 1942 the yards produced 746 vessels totaling 8,089,732 deadweight tons.

on a tax-free basis for reconversion to peacetime pursuits.

Mr. Sloan predicted that a let-down will come when the pent-up buying power of the first few years of peace has been exhausted, unless private enterprise is able to draw blueprints for "winning the peace."

He asked that the government reveal now what it expects to do with its investment of $9,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 in war plants scattered throughout the country.

"If the government intends to operate these plants and compete with private industry, the free enterprise system in this country is doomed," he said.

Two types of postwar planners were described by Mr. Sloan: "those who operate in the stratosphere, the spenders, and those who operate at sea level, the producers."

Women Leading In Campaign To Buy War Bonds

AUSTIN — Free-working women of Texas already are actively engaged in a campaign to put their state's quota of War Bond sales to individuals over the top, Frank Scofield, Texas War Bond Administrator, emphasized today.

His announcement was made following conferences with Miss Harriet Elliott of Washington, the U. S. Treasury's War Bond Saleswoman-in-Chief, who has been in Texas mapping War Bond drive plans with women leaders.

A goal of 18 billion dollars has been set by the Treasury for bond sales to individuals during the remainder of this year, and both the men's and women's War Bond Divisions of the Nation have received a challenge from Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to meet it. The Treasury Department is laying full stress on the importance of bond purchases by individuals.

Mr. Scofield pointed out to Miss Elliott that Texas led the Nation in sales to individuals in the recent Second War Loan Drive.

"And they'll do their share, and more, in this particular drive," he said.

To do it, Mr. Scofield and Miss Elliott agreed, the home front must sacrifice in dead earnest.

"The goal can be attained, but not by wishing," Miss Elliott said. "It can be attained only if each of us buckles down to a very serious job of doing without a lot of things to which we grew accustomed in days of ease and plenty."

"Wearing last year's clothes, shrinking household budgets, giving up pleasure trips, doing with less spending money—these are the sort of sacrifices we are going to have to make, and I'm sure every woman in Texas will be proud to make them."

Miss Elliott, well known educator, has served for more than a year at Washington in her present capacity. She is on leave from the post of Dean of Women and Professor of History and Political Science at Women's College of the University of North Carolina.

"Every bond purchase by an individual serves a double purpose," Miss Elliott asserted. "It helps provide our soldiers with the equipment they must have, and turning the money over to war purposes instead of spending it on supposed personal needs and luxuries helps stem the tide of inflation."

Sloan Asks That Government Reveal Disposition of Federal War Plants

Indicates Need for Adequate Tax-Free Postwar Funds For Reconversion to Peace Needs

CHICAGO, Ill. (IPS)—Expressing confidence in the immediate postwar era, but doubts for the more distant future, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the General Motors Corp., called on the government to make clear its policy on the disposition of its vast war plants and contracts when peace comes.

Mr. Sloan told 500 businessmen and Army and Navy officers here that this nation faces a postwar period in which it will take at least five years to catch up with the accumulated consumer demand for goods. His own corporation, he added, anticipated that its former capacity of 10,000 automobiles a day would be increased to 15,000 a day.

However, he pointed out, industry is carrying heavy inventories of war materials. It should be advised of government intentions regarding cancellation of war contracts when peace comes, and should be allowed a proper reserve

(The lifting force of the wooden blade overhead is sufficient to hold the plane almost stockstill for a while, then it starts easing toward the ground unless the pilot puts it back in gear.)

And the third trip that was memorable because of the method of transportation was aboard a private railroad car. Yes, sir, a journey on a private car for a fellow who had never known anything on the rails more sumptuous than the rather restricted space of a berth.

There were three railroad officials and a combination cook-valet-waiter-porter aboard. It was an inspection journey over the Childress-Pampa line, which was practically completed but not yet opened to regular traffic, and this

Of all the trips your columnist has made, three stand out because of the means of transportation.

One occurred when I was a young police reporter and stood on the back step of a bouncing, swaying police patrol that was going 50 miles an hour through city streets.

Another was in an auto-gyro, piloted by Captain Yancey, who was co-pilot on a plane that spanned the Atlantic in the days when successful flights across the ocean were so rare that they were front-page "streamer" material. An auto-gyro has its propeller on top and this queer-looking contrivance "takes off" after going along the ground only a few feet, and it can come almost straight down.

Have you ever looked at a vulture hanging motionless against a brilliant blue sky and wondered how it would feel to stand still in mid-air? Well, you can do that in an auto-gyro.

We were over the business section.

"I would like to see every woman in Texas draw up a chart of the things for which she is now spending money, or for which she is planning to spend money, and then see how many items she can blue pencil in favor of bond purchases. Call it a "sacrifice chart," and preserve it among your souvenirs of the war—for it surely will deserve preservation."

Trench Silos Grain Savers In The County

Indications are that twelve more trench silos will be added to the sixty-two that are now in use in Knox county according to R. O. Dunkle, county agent.

Many farmers are beginning to plan for a cheaper way of wintering their livestock, since grain prices have advanced more than 100 percent since last year. There is no question as to the value of a trench silo in saving at least 50 percent in wintering range cattle and a saving of at least 25 percent of grain in the feed lot.

In the next thirty days would be a good time to dig a trench silo. Any man who can drive a tractor or team can dig a trench silo. It is the cheapest storage for any kind of roughage feed. It is cheap to build, easily filled, and the silage is easily taken out for feeding.

Mr. Guinn Hickman of Truscott who fed out 400 lambs last year, and did not fill his three trench silos said that "I am certainly not going to let that happen to me again as I could have saved $400.00 in a feed bill if I had filled my three trench silos." Mr. Hickman is now making plans to clean out his trench silo and to make them larger.

Mr. Jack Idol of the League ranch thinks after eight years of experience that it is better for the grain sorghums and sweet sorghums to be in a stiff dough stage to make quality silage. It is better to have the grain getting hard provided the majority of the leaves are still green. When leaves are burned up they contain no Vitamin A, likewise, if the leaves are green and the grain in the milk stage these have no Vitamin content.

Whether chopped silage or bundles are used, the trench should be filled one foot above the level of the ground for each four feet of depth in order to prevent the contents from setting below the level of the ground.

Darlan Disclaimed Personal Ambitions In His Only Statement To Americans

THE late Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, High Commissioner for French North and West Africa, disclaimed all personal ambitions and expressed an unyielding determination to help in the destruction of the Nazis, and professed a desire to recover French liberty, "complete and absolute." This is revealed in a most unusual article written by Darlan shortly before his assassination.

ADMIRAL DARLAN

The only statement Admiral Darlan ever made for publication on the North African situation was in the form of a message to America and was written exclusively for the May issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Posthumous publication of the much discussed Darlan's views reveal his hatred of Nazi Germany and his determination to aid in the destruction of German domination.

In the same issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine a wide divergence of thought regarding Admiral Darlan's statement is expressed by prominent Americans and Frenchmen to whom the historic statement of Admiral Darlan was sent with the request for their frank opinions. This group includes Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States; Andre Maurois, novelist and biographer; Louis Bromfield, famous American novelist; Maurice Lévy, lawyer and writer; Raymond Clapper, columnist and commentator; Lowell Thomas, author and commentator; J. C. Oestreich, foreign editor, International News Service, and Benjamin DeCastres, columnist.

Hitler made his first blunder at Compiègne, according to Darlan's statement.

"In getting Hitler to sign the armistice," Darlan's article states, "France at least succeeded in making him commit the first and possibly the most serious of his military blunders. I sincerely believe that but for the armistice the troops of the Axis would immediately have proceeded to occupy North Africa and other French possessions such as Dakar, whence it would have been difficult to dislodge them. It was also to avoid giving the Axis a pretext for such occupation that the French Navy and French troops, in compli-

"GRAB BAG" AMENDMENT EXPLAINED BY OPA

Shoe retailers all over the country are preparing to get rid of their odds and ends of broken stock and obsolete odd-lot shoes under OPA's so-called "grab bag" amendment between July 19 and 31.

A limited amount of dealers' shoe stocks to be thus disposed of will be sold to the public at a reduced price without transfer of a ration stamp. Dealers are required to use the words "OPA odd-lot release" in all announcements and advertising in connection with these sales.

The maximum percentage allowed retailers for the number of shoes released from rationing during the period must be based on the number of rationable shoes in stock as of April 10 minus certain types such as baseball shoes, evening slippers and such which were released from rationing on July 7.

Allied Attack Brings Slogan For War Bonds

AUSTIN — "Back the Attack with War Bonds!"

That, Secretary Morgenthau, Jr., of the U. S. Treasury notified Frank Scofield, Texas War Bond Administrator, will be the stirring slogan for the Third War Loan Drive in September.

Secretary Morgenthau, Jr., telegraphed Mr. Scofield that this trumpet call to Texans to invest more millions in War Bonds for our fighting forces was inspired by the march of United Nations forces against Fortress Europe and Japanese bastions in the Pacific.

"Thousands of Texas volunteers, men, women and children, who daily back our attacks on the enemy by constant sales of War Bonds and Stamps readily will rally to the Secretary's war cry for the Third War Loan Drive," Mr. Scofield declared.

"The United Nations are on the march," Secretary Morgenthau said. "The first rumblings of the big offensive are being heard in all the axis nations. Thousands of our men are storming Sicily. Tens upon tens of bombs are dropping on Germany. We are attacking Jap-held territory as never before. This is a great day for us."

Asserting this means the time has come for us to really tighten our belts on the home front, Secretary Morgenthau continued:

"We have come to a most crucial period in the war. The success that we will have on the fighting fronts will depend to a considerable extent upon the degree to which we here at home are willing to work and sacrifice for ultimate victory."

He emphasized that victory is going to be costly. Billions of dollars more must be spent to keep the material of war going to our men at the fronts. Your government must call upon you, the American people, for that money.

"The real war has now only begun. Everything is at stake."

Sunset Canning Center Is Busy

The Sunset community's canning center has been a busy place since opening on Wednesday of last week. Nine hundred and ninety-six containers have been filled in the four days it has been in operation.

Anyone who wants to can is urged to bring vegetables and jars to the center. All other facilities are there, no tables are required, and the latest methods in canning are used.

Wednesday has been set aside as Sunset school day, and all patrons are urged to cooperate in every way so the lunch room can operate at the lowest cost rate possible for another year.

If you have anything to can, please bring it to the center and help prepare the foods. All help possible, as well as pressure cookers are needed.

If you have nothing to donate to the school, please give one day a week to the work if possible. Wednesday, July 21, is the next canning day. Plan to come and help that day.

Those who desire to do their own canning should notify those in charge as to what day they want to use the kitchen.

EASTMAN URGES CIVILIAN TRAVEL EASEMENT

"Everyone must realize that the appeal to refrain from unnecessary travel 'means me' and applies today as well as tomorrow," Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of Defense Transportation, asserts. "The type of travel represented by trips home for the week-end, trips to other cities to visit friends and other trips for purely social or pleasure purposes, is strictly non-essential and should cease. In every town and city in the country the people ask—every day—'what can I do to help win the war?' One of the ways is to cut out unnecessary travel. And—remember—that applies to you as well as the other fellow."

Harry Holt of Abilene, conductor of the "Chousing Around" column in the Abilene Reporter-News which is of interest to farmers and stockmen of this area, was a business visitor here last Monday afternoon.

And Shoes, Under Rationing

We were fortunate in having a large stock of merchandise when items became hard to get, even before rationing. Because of this stock, we have been able to supply you with many items, even when stores in larger towns were out.

You have as good a chance of getting needed items in dry goods right here in Munday as you have in other places.

We appreciate the splendid patronage you have given us, and the patience you have shown us when you come here to buy. It's not as easy to buy, nor as easy to wait on a customer, at it was in pre-war days. Your patronage and cooperation in the future will be appreciated.

Buy Your School Needs As Early As Possible!

We suggest that you buy your children's school shoes and school clothes early. We received a big shipment of shoes just this week. If you wait until the last minute to buy, you may be disappointed.
