Funeral For W. W. Wilson Is Held Tuesday

W. W. Wilson, a resident of Knox county for 23 years, passed away at the family home in Munday last Saturday morning, succumbing to a heart attack.

Born in Tipton county, Tenn., on June 26, 1868, Mr. Wilson was 75 years, 2 months and 8 days of age. He was married on June 29, 1890 to Miss Elizabeth Wright, and to this union ten children were born, four of whom died in infancy and early childhood.

Mr. Wilson was converted and joined a Baptist church in Wise county in 1896. He was ordained to the full work of the gospel ministry by the Mt. Zion Baptist church in Wise county in 1903 and had a fruitful ministry in serving churches of that section for 17 years.

He moved to Knox county and settled in the Gillespie community in 1920, living there until about four years ago when he gave up farming and moved into Munday.

Surviving him are his wife and the following children: L. A. Wilson of Denton; O. V. Wilson, Denver, Colo.; Tom Wilson, Goree; Mrs. J. G. West, Lubbock; Mrs. Guy Rannels, Phoenix, Ariz.; and Orville A. Wilson, Fort Worth. He is also survived by 18 grandchildren, two great grandchildren, and a number of other relatives.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist church in Munday at 3:30 last Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor. Interment was in the Johnson cemetery by the Mahan Funeral Home.

Munday Is Now Without Lights

Old Street Lights Are Removed

The city of Munday was without street lights Wednesday night, and this condition will likely exist for some time, according to city officials.

Work of removing the street lights which have long decorated the center of Munday's streets, being securely fastened to concrete bases, was begun this week. The lights, the last word in up-to-dateness when they were erected many years ago, have become traffic hazards, and many motorists have had the sorrowful experience of bumping into them.

The lights are being removed to eliminate this hazard, and to prepare the streets for improvement of the paving. This street work is due to be done sometime in October.

New street lights will not likely be erected until the present shortage of materials has been eliminated.

Action Begins In County For Third War Loan

With all committees of the county organized and ready for action, Knox county is ready to begin her part to "help in the attack" during the third war loan drive. Committees were completed this week, and some of them started working today (Thursday) opening day of the drive.

The third war loan drive officially opened over the nation today. The government is asking 15 billion dollars in bonds, which is the nation's non-banking quota.

As was pointed out last week, each community quota is practically doubled that of the last war bond drive, and most of them are prepared to put their community over the top. This is a big quota, but it's asking no more of you than our nation is asking of your boys who are in the service—it's a minor detail compared with what they are giving to their country.

And the purchase of war bonds isn't giving—it's merely loaning your money to the government to help finance the attack against the aggressors.

Your money, every penny you can spare, is needed—and needed now—if we are to continue the all-out effort required to insure a speedy victory. But you aren't asked to give—only to lend, to invest your money at a generous rate of interest in the safest known securities—backed by the United States Government.

The Munday committee was named this week, and it was announced that Munday's quota in this bond drive will be around $165,000. The county's quota is $532,400.

The local committee is composed of M. F. Billingsley, W. R. Moore, Mrs. A. H. Mitchell, Lee Haymes, R. B. Davy, H. A. Pendleton, G. R. Eiland, Wallace Reid, J. M. Terry, Mrs. P. V. Williams, J. A. Wiggins, P. V. Williams, J. L. Brasher, Fred Broach, J. Walter Moore, Cecil Burton, Mrs. Nell Hardin and R. C. Partridge.

Mrs. W. A. Baker, chairman of the women's division, announced that the ladies would have charge of selling war stamps in the various stores and other places during the drive.

W. E. Braly, county chairman, said that he had visited all communities of the county. The committees are organized, and an effort will be made to contact every person in the county, giving him an opportunity to aid the government through the purchase of war bonds.

School Meeting Slated Saturday At Haskell

Mrs. Iva Palmer, county superintendent of Haskell county, has extended an invitation to Knox county people interested in better schools to attend a meeting at the Haskell school auditorium next Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

H. E. Robinson, director of equalization, an outstanding speaker from the State Department of Education, will be the principal speaker. Chas. Tenyson of the Texas State Teachers Association and L. R. Burkett, new deputy state superintendent, will also appear on the program.

Teachers are expected, board members are urged to attend and the public is cordially invited to this meeting.

Boy Scout Activity Being Revived Here

By "wiping the slate clean" and "beginning from scratch" again, a group of Munday businessmen met last Tuesday night and made plans for reorganizing the local Boy Scout troop into an active organization. The Munday Chamber of Commerce is sponsor of the local Scouts, with the American Legion as co-sponsors.

The organization was perfected Tuesday night under the supervision of C. E. Baker, district field man, and all of the committee members were elected at Wednesday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce committee is composed of W. E. Braly, A. H. Mitchell, Sebern Jones and R. L. Kirk.

Troup committee members are W. C. Cunningham, J. C. Borden, John Ed Jones, Sebern Jones and J. E. Reeves.

Riley B. Harrell was elected scoutmaster, succeeding E. E. Edwards, who recently resigned. He will have Joel W. Massey and Rev. Luther Kirk as his assistants.

Patrol leaders for the scouts are Joseph Borden, McKelvey Jones and Billy Bouldin. It was voted to send each Boy Scout a year's subscription to Boy's Life magazine, this expense to be paid by the Chamber of Commerce.

Among other matters discussed at Wednesday's meeting were the removal of street lights and proposed street improvement, further details regarding the honor roll of service men to be erected in Munday, and further discussion of the proposed hard surfaced road from Munday to Throckmorton.

Eighteen members and guests attended the luncheon.

Service Awards Will Be Worn By County Group

By order of the Commanding General of the III Fighter Command and in recognition of faithful service, approximately 5,000 Texas citizens will be awarded gold wings for service in the U. S. Army Air Forces, Ground Observer Corps. This award will be made by the office of the Regional Commander, San Antonio Air Region, in behalf of the Commanding General, to volunteer civilians who have faithfully served as Ground Observers in the network of Observation Posts reporting aircraft to the Army Air Forces.

These men and women who serve in this capacity have given their time and effort for the security of our shores and the safety of our homes. Their praises in official Army circles run high, but they are little known to the public. They are doing a tremendous job and they are doing it well. These are the people who can say, "Although we cannot fight, we are doing our bit toward the defense of our Nation."

Observers in Knox county who will receive the award initially, are:

H. P. Hill, chief observer; D. D. Clough, Mrs. W. W. Bouldin, Virgil Stephens, chief observer; Anell Waldrup, Walter Thonpas, Otto Lawson, Horace Finley, Guy Robinson and Lee Snailum, chief observer.

Revival Progresses At Church of God

The Church of God revival is now in progress, one block west of the oil mill. Sister Icie Mae Dill is the evangelist.

"We are expecting Bro. T. W. Godwin and Bro. L. M. Bloomington, district and state overseers, to be here Friday night, September 10," members of the church said.

Pastor H. H. Webb extends a cordial invitation for everyone to come to the revival and enjoy the soul inspiring messages of these devout men.

Carriers Of Livestock Will Meet In Lubbock

A meeting has been scheduled for all producers, carriers, dealers and processors of livestock domiciled within the Lubbock District area to be held at 2:00 p. m. Friday, September 17th, at the Lubbock Hotel, Lubbock, Texas, at which time an area livestock industry transportation advisory committee will be elected or selected. ODT District Manager Richard E. Wood announced today.

This committee, when approved by the Office of Defense Transportation, will advise and assist the ODT in directing the movement of motor trucks used in the transportation of livestock to or from points in this area.

Producers, carriers, dealers and processors who raise, buy, sell, transport or deal in any manner with livestock within this area are urgently requested to attend this meeting and at that time elect or select representatives from their particular field of operation to serve on this committee.

It is the consensus of opinion of all concerned that there exists some possibility of further conservation of the type of equipment used in transporting livestock and it will be the purpose of a committee, when selected, to work with the accredited representatives of the Lubbock District Office in promoting this conservation.

Mrs. Grady Weaver and daughter of Wellington are visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Back the Attack With an Extra War Bond

Farmers' War Bond Quota

Farmers have a war bond quota of 1 1/2 billion dollars in the 15 billion dollar third war loan drive which begins September 9 and continues through the month. During the campaign, canvassers expect to call upon at least 3,600,000 of the nation's 6 million farm homes. Farmers' income figures point to big bond subscriptions. It is estimated that their cash income from marketings will be 19 billion dollars this year.

To Start Using Ration Book III

The first brown "point stamp" in War Ration Book III will become valid September 12. This stamp, A, is good for 16 points through October 2. Brown stamps will become valid on successive Sundays and will always expire on the Saturday nearest the end of a month. They will be used for rationing meats, fats, oils, canned fish, cheese, canned milk, and all other commodities now rationed with red stamps in War Ration Book II. The small stamps bearing pictures of field guns, tanks, ships and airplanes are not yet in use. Anyone who has not received Book III may obtain one by applying to his local ration board.

Nurse Corps Funds Approved

Funds have been approved to provide complete tuition, fees, stipends, maintenance and uniforms for an anticipated 10,175 student members of the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps. Over 500 state accredited schools of nursing have applied to the U. S. Public Health Service for participation in the program. To date, 67 have been approved.

More Lumber From Farms

A program to increase sharply the production of forest products from farm-owned woodlands as part of the nationwide drive to meet wartime military and essential civilian needs for lumber was announced recently by the War Food Administration. It is estimated that 3 1/2 million farms have woodlands, most of which can yield marketable products. Minimum national requirements for lumber in 1943 total 36 billion board feet. Of this amount, 2 1/2 billion board feet are needed for boxing and crating agricultural products.

Although more than 1,500 Chaplains now serve the Navy, the Coast Guard, and the Marine Corps, more must be added. "Global war," explained Captain Robert D. Workman, Chief of Chaplains, U. S. N., "means a global service of religion to the fighting forces—from Alaska and Sicily to the South Pacific, and aboard the ships of the fleet on all the oceans. We must minister to more men under a greater variety of difficult situations than ever before."

Add to Navy Chaplains' Corps

Dried and dehydrated prunes and raisins were restored to rationing September 5. Values were placed at four points per pound. Allocations of dried prunes and raisins to Government agencies will be large. However, the balance of raisins and dried prunes available from the year's production for civilian distribution is expected to be over 90 percent of the average annual civilian supply for a five-year period preceding rationing.

Southern Workers Help Save Wheat

More than 3,500 domestic agricultural workers have been transported to the mid-west and spring wheat area since August 1. This is part of the Government's Farm Labor Program, the War Food Administration said, and was done to help meet emergency harvest needs and save vitally-important war crops. The workers were recruited in four southern states with the assistance of county agricultural agents. During the past few weeks, the WFA said, 1,650 workers were moved from Arkansas to North Dakota; 1,200 from Oklahoma to Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota; 650 from Mississippi to North Dakota; and 200 from Alabama to Ohio. The workers will be returned to their home states in time to help with the cotton harvest, which gets well under way in September.

"Home Front Pledge" Drive On

A nation-wide, cooperative campaign by homemakers and merchants to hold down the cost of living and combat black markets is being conducted by volunteer civic committees in more than 100 communities through local drives to secure signers for a "Home Front" pledge. Nearly one million pledges have been signed already. Those signing agree (1) "I will pay no more than top legal prices" and (2) "I will accept no rationed goods without giving up ration stamps."

Texas Livestock Shipments Drop

AUSTIN — Through July shipments of Texas livestock to interstate markets and to Fort Worth stockyards sagged below those of a year ago, this state's total shipments for the first seven months of 1943 are still about 10 per cent above the like period of 1942, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

A total of 5,937 cars moved in July, compared with 6,136 in July a year ago. Cattle and calf shipments declined, while those of hogs and sheep rose.

For the first seven months of 1943 shipments totaled 56,838 cars compared with 51,846 for the same period of 1942. Cattle and hogs accounted for the entire gain, since sheep shipments remained the same and those of calves declined more than a thousand carloads.

Lieut. Jimmie Rosedale of Camp Barkeley spent last week end here, visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Beaty and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stodghill.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

U. S. destroyers and other anti-aircraft vessels of the Navy are equipped with quadruple tubes, meaning they are capable of firing four torpedoes simultaneously, making it more difficult for the target to escape.

Modern warfare is the most expensive destruction the world has ever experienced both for the destroyed and the destroyer. There is no point where we can stop in this war this side of peace so all of us will be required to buy an extra $100 Bond in the 3rd War Loan.

Democracy

What does Democracy mean to us? That question can be answered in many ways but it has only one root—freedom. Freedom of what? Freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of press, freedom from tyranny. We have so many free privileges and rights we more or less take them for granted. Until the question is pressed we seldom take our privileges and rights to heart, unless they are threatened to be taken away. Well now we will have a chance to study each one of our many great things—things such as Patrick Henry put forth in one sentence that shows us how much liberty and democracy meant to him: "Give me Liberty or give me DEATH!" Not only was he willing to give his life so that our nation might remain a free place to live but thousands of our boys are doing the same today. IF Democracy is worth Fighting and dying for it is certainly worth more time and thoughts by more Americans. Let's keep Democracy on a pedestal and serve it rather than our enemy—the Axis!

Senior Report

This week is exam week and you should just see all these "busy little seniors." With all those note-books to hand in, and the crowding of five weeks work into one, how could one of us be other than busy?

That is, everyone's busy studying except Keith, and he is very busy with his mail route and is seldom seen studying. Don't let that worry you, Mr. Postman, you'll get by somehow. Maybe she will even lend you a helping hand. Instead of conquering this week in literature, we are preparing to assassinate Julius Caesar. Ah—what I wouldn't give to assassinate every author in our book. That is, were they living, and such were possible.

Eighth Grade

The eighth graders are surely missing Dorris Wayne Phillips and Billy J. Lain. We are sure they will make very good students at Manday school.

We had a new student from Munday. Her name is Mozelle Eice.

Our six weeks tests are coming up this week. We think we can make very good on them.

Freshman News

After having our three weeks tests (and they were plenty hard) last week most of us think we know how we stand. Some of us are going to send our brains to the workshop or do something so we can absorb a little algebra.

We Wonder...

Why Jo Ann likes to talk to Mary Lou so much. Is it by any chance the cause of the person who sits behind her.

Why Mr. Wilson is able to give us such good advice on how to keep our 'School girl complexions.' Does experience always teach.

If Miss Albertson thinks we really like to make speeches or does she think practice makes perfect.

If it is really necessary for us to keep our book covered or is that just something else to do.

Seventh Grade

Most of the seventh graders came to school last Monday with coats. Quite a surprise! Going to bed hot and waking up very cold. Almost everyone reported that he awoke with cold feet.

Some are out pulling bolls. That one job we all really dread. (Of course we dread all jobs...)

In history and health we intend to have an exhibit on the work we have done. We will do this after our "wonderful vacation" is over.

Sixth Grade

We had four pupils absent in our class last Monday.

Jerry Dickens' cousin, Charles Ray Jordan, visited him last Sunday and they played on stilts.

We are writing letters in English. Jack Lowrey wrote the best friendly letter. Monday we wrote business letters.

Betty Matthews and Leo Hill were best citizens of last week.

Fifth Grade

We are very sorry to lose one of our pupils, Orville Davis, who went to Hobart, Oklahoma. However, in his place, we have a new pupil, Flossie Shurtart. We hope she enjoys going to Sunset.

Doris Walling brought some pretty little goldfish for our room. We are very proud of them.

Fourth Grade

The fourth grade has only three pupils this year. They are Lynwood Frost, Roy Dykes, and Paul Walker. They have their home room with the seventh grade.

Lynwood is leading this small class in writing but Paul and Roy are doing much better.

Second and Third Grades

Barbara Jo Johnston's cousin, Marjorie Ann is moving to Altus, Oklahoma. Barbara Jo surely hates to see her move.

Faye reported a good time at her mother's birthday party Sunday. Nineteen of her friends attended.

Kay Leon visited his grandparents at Rochester Sunday.

Barbara Jo Phillips' grandmother, Mrs. Tom Clarke, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Strickland visited in her home over the week end.

Elaine's grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Crouch is here for a visit. She also has a new baby sister at her home.

Emogene is glad to have her mother and Howard home from their visit to San Antonio.

Sue Ann visited Johnnie Mae Berryhill at Rochester on Sunday.

Charles Parker went to a reunion at his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Holder over the week end.

Fifth Grade

Larry Walling visited in our room last Thursday.

Sylvia Brewer visited her grandmother in Fort Worth last week.

Johnnie Marie Hutchens spent Sunday at Goree with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchens.

Peggy Joyce Lain's grandmother has moved to Harlingen.

Donald Hill's mother went away over the week end to visit in New Castle, leaving Donald, his brother Leo, and their father at home. But Donald did not mind it.

Loretta Floyd visited her uncle Willy at Weinert on Sunday and came back by her grandfather Floyd's and ate watermelon.

"THANK GOODNESS!
Here's one thing that hasn't changed!"

REDDY: You're exactly right, Lady! Every other civilian service has been affected because of the war, but electricity! It's still on hand every moment to make life easier and more pleasant for you!

Lady: Did you say, "easier"?

REDDY: Yes, that's what I said. You see, Lady, we realize what an important and patriotic person you are, with your Red Cross work, the Motor Corps, besides that very vital job out in the kitchen.

Lady: But it's the least I can do for the war effort.

REDDY: Of course, it is, and your electric company is now serving Army Training Camps and war-time industries, but it has also pledged itself to go right on serving you. Electric refrigeration keeps the food for your family safe and healthful; electric cookery retains vitamins and other valuable food elements essential to good health. Then there is your sweeper, iron, washer, and many other electric appliances, all at your finger tips to save your time and lessen the labor.

Lady: Whee, that's a big job!

REDDY: You bet it is, but it's our contribution to the War and to you. All of it adds up to friendly, dependable service at low cost.

Lady: And that sounds mighty good to me and my budget—and it's more than you can say about most items, since the war began.

Our church is located on the Main street of Munday and has an attractive auditorium with added Sunday school facilities. The Auxiliary meets on Mondays and is accomplishing a good work. All Presbyterians living in Munday and surrounding country are urged to attend our services. A very hearty invitation is extended to all visitors, especially those who have no regular church home.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

"Back to school" seems to be the slogan. The parents as well as the children are realizing that vacation time is over and that all must settle down to work. Let's make "Back to Sunday school" our slogan, and may it be not only a slogan but a reality to the citizenship of the Munday community. The Munday community is one of the best to be found anywhere and let's make it the Sunday school going community that it should. You go to your church and I will go to mine, let's swell the attendance and make it grow, let's make the S. S. Supt. smile and the teacher happy by being on time for the lesson Sunday.

Remember the time is 10:00 a. m. and we worship at 11:00 a. m. If you do not attend services elsewhere come and worship with us.

Movie Stars Coming Here

One of Hollywood's most famous teams of Western stars will appear in Munday, when Dave (Tex) O'Brien, Jim Newill, and Guy Wilkerson, known on the screen as "The Texas Rangers," for Producers Releasing Corporation's pictures, for the "Stars Over Texas" bond rally to be staged here on Sept. 17.

O'Brien and Newill play the leading men in the Western series which have caught the public fancy by stern Wilkerson, their buddy in the picture, plays the eccentric cowboy comic who has caused so many laughs, with his funny screen characterizations. He is a native, by the way, of Katy, Texas, where his sister still operates a 5,200 acre rice plantation. Newill and O'Brien have just finished making a series of radio shows for the Special Services Division of the U. S. Army! For short-wave rebroadcast to our armed forces throughout the far reaches of our every fighting fronts.

Some of the pictures the trio have recently made as "The Texas Rangers" are "The Fighting Valley," "The Border Buckaroos," "The Rangers Take Over," and "West of Texas." They will start on a new production upon their return to Hollywood, immediately after their tour of Texas selling bonds.

"The Texas Rangers" compose one group of eight different units of film stars and starlets who are visiting more than 200 towns in Texas during the 3rd War Loan.

FARMERS ASKED TO CONTINUE GOOD FARMING

COLLEGE STATION—Produce more wheat but not at the expense of sound farming was the message sent to Texas' 40,000 wheat farmers this week by B. F. Vance, administrative officer of the AAA in Texas.

Citing years of conservation work in which farmers have rebuilt their soils, he said they could easily meet next year's 5-million acre goal while continuing sound soil management.

"Through wise land use we can get a big wheat crop next year and be all set to come back with another big crop the following year," he said.

He explained that although increased wheat acreage is being called for, special importance should be given to other war crops such as flax, dry beans and peas, potatoes and feed crops in areas where these crops are adapted.

Explaining why increases in wheat are needed for 1944, Vance said that during the last 12 months about one-third of last year's crop had been fed to livestock, that the use of wheat for synthetic rubber and explosives has increased to 150-million bushels per year, and that additional millions of bushels of wheat will be needed to feed Europe in the future.

Under the 1944 program, the national wheat acreage has been increased to 68-million acres compared to 54-million acres planted this year. Texas farmers planted 3,416,674 acres for harvest during 1943.

Pictures of trainer flights, bombing flights and flights by fighters are all a part of the routine for our student pilots and must be drilled into them just as it is necessary for us to remind ourselves daily of the necessity to buy an extra $100 Bond in September.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him— What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"

WHY THE OIL SHORTAGE?

Oil men and responsible public authorities have pointed out that rationing of fuel oil and gasoline is in no sense attributable to any failure on the part of oil companies.

The facts are simple. To run a mechanized war requires literally billions of barrels of oil. No other nation was as well equipped to produce oil either by nature or by the enterprise of its citizens as this nation was when war came. We had huge oil reserves in the ground and, equally important, we had an efficient private industry operating under competent management which knew how to get that oil out of the ground. And it got it out in astronomical quantities upon very short notice.

Moreover, this is not all the oil industry had to do upon short notice. A thousand bombers during a single four hundred mile raid over Germany burn approximately 1,000,000 gallons of 100-octane gasoline. The oil companies had to develop refineries to produce such high-test gas, in itself a staggering job. Before the war, 100-octane gasoline was not produced in quantity. Suddenly the whole war effort depended upon getting it in quantity quickly. It was up to the oil companies to get it. They got it—and in time.

Many months ago oil men began warning that the nation's oil reserves were being used faster than the rate of discovery. The discovery rate of new oil reserves has not stepped up to meet increased demands for the simple reason the cost of "wildcatting" is far too high in relation to the price of oil which is set by government decree. Until the price is adjusted, oil will continue to become more scarce.

Continued government-imposed handicaps on oil production will cost our nation dearly.

THE MAN BECOMES THE LAW

Whether the coal mines are to remain in the hands of government or be returned to the private citizens who developed them, is apparently viewed as a question to be decided not upon a basis of simple justice, but rather upon Hitler's maxim that the end justifies the means. In this case, the alleged end is approximately 13,000,000 tons of coal a week. Until that end is achieved, property rights, as written into the law of the land, are mere scraps of paper—the same kind of scraps that governments have been tearing up for years.

As a matter of fact, even total war is a shabby excuse for evading laws which if properly administered would in no way hinder the war effort. The laws of this nation were designed to guard the life, liberty and property of every citizen. But we have torn up the laws relating to one class of property to appease one class of workers. Tomorrow, in the name of another emergency, the government may tear up more laws because the bureaucrats have found that it is far easier and more popular to tear them up than enforce them. The process will continue just as long as the people permit it. Eventually we will lean, as the Germans have, that when a law is torn up, a man takes its place—the man becomes the law.

MORE DOCTORS IN UNIFORM

Representatives of the medical profession in conference with military authorities, have announced that 6,000 more doctors are needed in the immediate future to serve the armed forces. The American Medical Journal, in explanation of the demand for more doctors, says: "As the war continues and intensifies, new needs for the services of the medical profession become apparent. An army in motion and one engaged in the kind of aggressive combat that now concerns our armed needs physicians in even greater numbers than have heretofore been demanded. Many thousands of interned aliens and prisoners are now the burden of the United States and must be given medical care."

It is up to civilians more than ever before to cooperate with the remaining medical men to the end that everyone will receive the best that can be given to them under the circumstances. If this cooperation is given there need be little hardship. Remember, if you want to consult your doctor—first do it by telephone, and follow his advice to the letter.

"I believe that in this country our political leaders have too long discounted and discredited the profit incentive as an instrument of human progress. In the postwar world our government will have to nourish, rather than merely tolerate, the profit motive. And I have no doubt that it will do so."—Emil Schram, Pres., New York Stock Exchange.

POSTWAR INCENTIVE

With the airing of many postwar rehabilitation recommendations, it becomes increasingly evident that there is a certain unanimity of belief among our various economic camps.

In the confused aftermath of any such mass conflagration there are bound to be differences in judgment concerning the disposition of government owned properties and materials, the wholesale creation of jobs, payment of the war debt, and other major considerations.

But, it is encouraging to note the consensus of opinion concerning the need for a "stop-gap" or "made work" program, but a release of the economic forces that will correct the many dislocations of war if allowed to function at maximum efficiency.

At a recent meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor a recommendation was made that the War Production Board "be directed to begin plans now for reconversion, industry by industry and plant by plant so that we can all be set for action the moment the war ends."

In the revitalization of industry for peace, the first step, the Council maintained, "is to make advance plans for rapid conversion from a wartime to a peacetime basis.

"The second major step must be the encouragement of capital investment and industrial expansion for peacetime production. The Council believes that the government should not only permit, but stimulate opportunities to make a reasonable and fair profit for firms that are willing to increase production and employment. Furthermore, these business firms must be given assistance that they will not be taxed to death."

In the long run, the best incentive for bigger and better business under our free enterprise system is a chance to make a profit. No better way can be found to promote confidence and stimulate business activity.

UNFINISHED CHAPTER

More than twenty million troops and more than eighty million tons of freight and express were moved by the railroads for the Army during the first eighteen months of the war. In handling these troop movements, the railroads performed a total of 17,100,000,000 passenger miles of transportation and more than 12,000,000 miles of freight transport. These orders called for the special handling of more than 12,000,000 troops and involved the use of 72,368 coaches, 214,881 sleeping cars, 49,987 baggage and kitchen cars, and 101,881 refrigerators, box, flat and gondola cars.

It is doubtful if any person of this generation who has actually lived to see a transportation miracle can ever appreciate what the railroads have done. It is a mortal certainty that if the advisers of the dictators could have seen a preview of this miracle, they would have revised their estimates of the decadent democracies.

The big question now in the minds of railroad men is how will the next chapter read in the history of rail transportation? The miracle of the past eighteen months was accomplished at great cost to plant and equipment. There was no sleight of hand about it. Under expert management, trains have moved without rest, and ceaseless operation has exacted its toll of rails and rolling stock. As the next eighteen months of transportation roll into history, it can become another miracle or a debacle, depending on what the railroads are allowed to buy in the shape of new equipment.

The railroads have asked for material based on minimum needs, which government authorities who control the nation's resources have not seen fit to give them. The authorities undoubtedly know they are risking a transportation disaster.

"FLYING SCOTSMEN"

PARADING in front of a twin-engine training aircraft, these "Flying Scotsmen" from No. 9 Service Flying Training School at Centralia, Ont., are the first pipe band in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The band traces its origin to a Burns Night dinner at which Air Force officers of Scottish descent voiced regret that the Land o' the Heather and the Haggis had no representation in the R.C.A.F., although there were many Highland regiments in the Army. Present was Group Captain E. G. Fullerton, who conceived the idea of adding three pipers, Corporal Jimmy Ross, Leading Aircraftman P. H. Ince and Leading Aircraftman W. J. Mutch, to the station band. Later, when No. 9 S.F.T.S. was transferred from Summerside, P.E.I., to Centralia, the pipe section was considerably augmented by the addition of several pipers and drummers from the Cameron Cadets of Winnipeg. Now, 14 strong, it is a separate musical organization but its members still do their regular air force jobs.

Their tartan, woven from the official R.C.A.F. colors of azure blue, navy blue and cardinal red, was specially created for the Air Force by Group Captain Fullerton. The design was approved by the Air Council and registered in the archives of the Court of Lord Lyon at Edinburgh, Scotland, official repository of the weaves of the Scottish clans. The costume is that of the traditional Highland regiments, translated into R.C.A.F. colors. They wear Glengarry caps of navy blue, with checked "flashings" of light blue, dark blue and red, a feather cockade and silver R.C.A.F. cap badge. Their tunics are of Air Force blue, but of special cloth and design, cut away in front to accommodate their sporrans. Buttons are of silver and the silk epaulettes are also in Air Force colors. Hose tops are the same color as the cap "flashings".

SILENCE: ITS VIRTUE
Silence never shows itself to so great an advantage as when it is made the reply to calumny and defamation.—Addison.

There is an eloquent silence; it serves sometimes to approve, sometimes to condemn; there is a mocking silence; there is a respectful silence.—La Rochefoucauld.

Silence is the safest respondent for all the contradiction that arises from impertinence, vulgarity, or envy.—Zimmermann.

Silence is the element in which great things fashion themselves together; that at length they may emerge, full-formed and majestic, into the delights of life, which they are thenceforth to rule.—Carlyle.

YOUR ARMY NEEDS UNIFORM QUALITY COTTON

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M.D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—"Texas health officials are making every effort to improve the sanitary conditions of public eating places, and in addition schools are conducted to instruct foodhandlers. Moreover there are laws, rules and regulations requiring the use of approved equipment and methods in such establishments. Nevertheless, one of the most forceful influences for sanitation is not being used and that is the public's unfavorable reaction toward dirty and insanitary places," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The public cannot do the job entirely, nor can health departments bring about desirable and essential practices without the help of the public. As for hygienic practices, persons serving food and drink should be clean; should not cough and sneeze over the utensils and material served; should keep their hands away from their mouth and nose, hair and face; should handle all utensils by the outside instead of putting their fingers on the inside of service utensils. These are conditions a person can see, and unless these safeguards are practiced, disease may result."

Also milk served can be appraised by the patron. Texas law requires that a milk bottle cap state grade of milk and whether it is raw or pasteurized. However, if milk is brought to a patron in a glass, he cannot know whether it is from a graded supply or whether it is raw or pasteurized, but if served properly in its original container, with covered cap and legal label, the patron can secure from the label the information he should have before ever being willing to drink strange milk.

The patron should note sanitation conditions in food establishments. Are the floors, walls, ceiling clean? Are tables and counters clean? Are pies and other ready-to-serve foods protected from dust, dirt, and flies? Are flies prevalent?

"Be assured that what can be seen as a patron at the table or counter, usually will be many times better, cleaner, and safer than conditions in the kitchen and other places out of sight of the patrons," Dr. Cox warns.

Sgt. Paul Pendleton of Shepard Field spent a 10-day furlough here with Mrs. Pendleton and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pendleton. Mrs. Pendleton returned to Wichita Falls with Paul, and they will make their home there.

IGIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

While in San Antonio a while back for the South Texas' oil men's dinner to make the principal address at the invitation of Col. Ray Leeman, your columnist heard an old-time oil field story.

It used to be that, instead of cable, a Manila rope was used in drilling. One morning, a swarm of bees settled on the rope and stung it so severely that it swelled to 20 times its normal size. In fact, the rope was so swollen that it wouldn't go down into the well.

But a driller remembered the bottle of Sloan's liniment that was always kept handy. He poured some on the rope and, in a little while, the swelling had gone down and drilling could be resumed!

While American soldiers and sailors are fighting on foreign fronts to preserve our freedom, the criminals are trying to take over on the home front. In a Texas city recently, a couple weren't satisfied just with robbing an autoist but forced him to drive them to a place which they then held up; they didn't care if this peaceful citizen got killed—(fortunately, he did not, but no thanks to this ruthless pair.)

Then, soon after that, another thug drew a pistol on officers and endangered the lives of everyone in a crowded eating-place; in an effort to prevent arrest, he even seized a little boy and used him as a shield.

Juries should get tough; thieves and hi-jackers are potential murderers; they are enemies of our country and should be treated as such. Let's end the coddling of crooks in this country and have a belligerent sentiment against criminals and for the safety of human life and of the property we have worked to earn.

The prettiest business section in Magic Valley—mind you, I didn't say the biggest or busiest but the most beautiful—is that of Weslaco. The Main Street looks like a scene on the stage. Nearly all the buildings are of the same height; nearly all are white; they are of stucco exterior, of a Spanish type of architecture, and the signs harmonize with the setting. The principal street is wide and is dominated by the beautiful Cortez Hotel, which is at one end.

A block away from Main is the city hall, a touch of old Toledo, ornately sculptured, the front and dome of colored tile. Yes, Weslaco is a lovely, little city.

Synthetic Rubber Plant To Produce Over 120,000 Tons

(IPS)—Latest example of the war as an impetus to invention came this week with the opening here of the largest plant in the nation's synthetic rubber program: annual capacity, 120,000 tons.

Synthetic rubber production is not likely to end with the war since, as one industrialist of the company pointed out, rubber will probably be consumed the world over in greater quantities than ever before. Instead of a rubber surplus there is actually the possibility of a world scarcity as a long-range prospect.

Simply increasing the consumption of rubber in China, India, and Russia by a pound a person would create a postwar market for an additional 500,000 tons of rubber.

China and India had a per capita consumption of only three one-hundredths of a pound of rubber before the war. Russia used only one-third of a pound. Contrast this with pre-war America where consumption was ten pounds per capita.

When markets open after the war, and heretofore backward countries consume more and more rubber, this war-inspired American industry will have the material on hand.

AMERICAN HEROES

Thirty-four days were spent on the open sea in a rubber boat by three U. S. Navy men, Harold F. Dixon, Gene Aldrich, and Anthony Pastula. After enduring torturous days under the blazing sun, and freezing nights, these American heroes were finally rescued. In effect, they were kept afloat by a WAR BOND.

We need lots of these rubber boats, so buy as many War Bonds as you can. You've done your bit; now do your best!

Government Should Not Dominate Economy Except During Emergency

N.A.M. Postwar Committee Chairman Points to Industry's Ability To Solve Postwar Problems

SEATTLE, Wash. (IPS)—Calling attention to the need for a practical approach to postwar adjustment, Wilfred Sykes, National Vice President and Chairman of the Postwar Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, told the N. A. M. Washington Postwar Conference that "it is not the duty of government to dominate enterprise except in a national emergency."

And after the national emergency it is the duty of the government immediately to set enterprise free, Mr. Sykes who is president of the Inland Steel Company, declared.

Public Should Know

"The normal domestic powers of government are police powers. It should set up and enforce rules for fair competition and free movement of prices for safe investment of savings, for collective bargaining between labor and management based on equal rights and equal responsibilities as corporate entities.

"The government should use its tax power only for the support of government and not to effect round-about social changes. Such changes as any government administration considers desirable should be stated openly and debated and decided by the voting public at the polls. It is essential that the public understand and demand these things in order that the government may be brought to do them," Mr. Sykes said.

American System

"If you will raise your voice in favor of these things to the Congress and to the public, I am convinced you will find a ready echo among the workers who are now fighting for what they recall as the American system. When they get out of uniform and are on their own again, they will not want to be wards of the state."

To justify restoration of the system of free competitive enterprise we have two main arguments Mr. Sykes contended, one being that "we come into court with clean hands—see our war achievements," and "the other will be the effectiveness of our postwar policies.

"There can be no question of the effectiveness of the managers of free enterprise when the war broke on us and our major competition became Hitler, with Tojo as his subsidiary. The effectiveness with which free enterprise accommodated itself to the situation did not come out of Washington. It was brought to Washington," the speaker said, "by the top-notch private businessmen whom the government called in from their competitive occupations."

War's End Uncertain

Indicating the uncertainty as to the time when hostilities will cease and the fact that reconversion may be spread out, Mr. Sykes held that the problem of reemploying some ten million veterans, in addition to a working population increased by some five million, is still a serious problem.

There is one inescapable difficulty which individual enterprises must face while a plant is being physically reconverted to peace—"It takes time to install new machines, new assembly lines, and new plant layouts; and it takes only a part of the payroll to do it.

"The number of employees involved and the length of the reconversion layoff depends on the degree of mechanization of the individual company and the extent to which it has taken on entirely new lines of goods in its war work.

Transition Employment

"It seems quite likely that an employee, if laid off—since the procession of war industries back to peacetime operations may well extend over three or four years—at any moment can be given transition employment without recourse to any huge federal program of 'made' public works.

"Due to the spread-out end of the war and the spread-out reconversion of industry, we might count on assurance on getting out of the war into full peacetime operations without any abrupt or large unemployment, were it not for certain bottlenecks under government control through which we must pass," Mr. Sykes said.

Bottleneck Billions

These bottlenecks, he pointed out are (1) the termination of such war contracts as happen to be current when hostilities end—at least fifty billion dollars, (2) the disposal of surplus materials and equipment in the hands of the government—estimated at another fifty billion dollars, and (3) the disposal of government-owned plants which are now approaching a total investment of fifteen billion dollars.

While the proposed legislation set up to dispose of these problems needs some corrective amendment, it provides evidence of a Congressional intention to deal soundly with these important wartime commitments.

Controls and Taxes

"There still remain two bottlenecks, however," Mr. Sykes declared, "which are even more liable to cause trouble. One is the continuation of wartime controls of materials, jobs, prices, and rations. The other trouble-maker is the government's tax policy.

"It is evident that the test for the elimination of war controls is not a date but a condition. It is probably a condition in which there would be no considerable damaged up demand for materials, finished goods, or employment. When the level of supply in any of these fields has been brought close to the top of the dam, the gates may be opened without a flood.

"In a general way, the controls cannot be rubbed out of our calculation until we have so readjusted ourselves against inflation that they become unnecessary and meaningless.

Power to Destroy

"Even if the release of wartime controls were negotiated in an orderly and cooperative fashion with the government, the administration would still have the power to destroy free enterprise through the government's tax policy.

"It takes money to reconvert a plant to peacetime operations, and it takes money to operate it thereafter. Yet the government is taxing this money away from the employer almost as fast as he takes it in.

"That sort of thing can go too far," Mr. Sykes warned, "and it has gone so far that it is not an idle warning to say that you cannot have employment unless you have employers.

The Public Debt

"A private employer cannot employ a man, postwar or otherwise, until he has first employed capital. He cannot assemble risk capital when taxes are mopping up earnings—and when the investors don't know what is going to be done to the currency or to the public debt.

"As for the Treasury and its taxation plan," Mr. Sykes said, "I think if the government deliberately planned inflation for the postwar period, it could not do a more certain job than it is doing. The way to mitigate inflation, of course, if you have turned loose too much money, is to make as much goods as you can as soon as possible. But how can this be done while the Treasury is draining away corporate earnings needed for reconversion and the service departments are taking them away in renegotiation?"

Increasing Taxes

"Even now," he added, "the Treasury is talking of increasing the corporate taxation instead of easing it. If that continues, our otherwise prompt return to peacetime operations may be crippled. We would have wage and job freezing, material priorities, price ceilings, and ration books definitely. And we would also have with us massive unemployment and 'made' postwar public works to increase the money seeking goods that are not there and aggravating the inflation threat."

Ever think about Running a Factory ?

If you've ever run a farm or dairy or store, there are a lot of things about running a factory that you'd find pretty familiar. Things like working any and all hours, training green help, planning for months ahead without letting the planning interfere with the job of the moment.

These are the responsibilities of management. And the peculiar American ability to meet and lick these problems means a lot today, both on the food-producing and weapon-producing fronts.

Ability to manage isn't picked up overnight. For good management is a skill just as much as good workmanship—learned the hard way.

It won't be forgotten overnight, either. For it is these men who, on farm and in factory, have actually produced the things from which our high living standard is derived, who can and will, by working together, give every American a more abundant life in the peacetime years to come. Destroy Cotton Stalks Gets Rid Of Boll Weevils

Recent experimental evidence according to R. O. Dunkle has shown that the early destruction of cotton stalks (at least four weeks before frost) is effective and profitable in reducing the number of boll weevils that survive the winter to attack the cotton crop the following spring. Boll weevils feed only on growing cotton, and when cotton is harvested as early as possible and all green stalks destroyed, the boll weevil is left to starve until he is forced to seek winter quarters just before the first frost. Stalk destruction also prevents the development of tremendous numbers of weevils during the fall that would otherwise be ready to attack next year's crop.

Experimental data from different sections of the cotton belt have shown that from 19 to 24 times as many weevils survive the winter in or near cotton fields where stalks are left growing until killed by frost as compared to fields where stalks were destroyed by October 15.

Considering the fact that one pair of weevils that survives the winter is capable, under favorable conditions, of adding 12,000,000 weevils to next year's population, any farming practice as simple and inexpensive as stalk destruction that will destroy 18 out of 19 weevils will pay for itself many times over.

These experimental data are being borne out by practical experience. Those farmers who destroy cotton stalks early in the fall, particularly where there is community cooperation in the matter, have less boll weevil damage the next season.

Any practical means of completely stopping the growth of cotton stalks is satisfactory, such as plowing, disking, or cutting. The earlier stalks can be destroyed the better. Sixty days before frost is much better than thirty.
