Funeral For J. E. Edwards Is Held Tuesday

J. E. Edwards, well known pioneer of this section, died suddenly at his home at Bandera, Texas, on Sunday night, January 9. He had been in good health, and his death came as a shock to many residents of this county.

James Eddie Edwards was born in Mississippi on June 12, 1870, and was 73 years, 6 months and 27 days of age. He resided in Knox county for about 30 years, moving to Bandera about four years ago.

For many years, Mr. Edwards was engaged in farming, although he retired several years ago. Active in the Farmers Union in this section, he served as secretary-treasurer of the state organization for 16 years, giving up this position a short time before leaving this county. Mr. Edwards also served as secretary of the Munday local for several years.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Nancy Speck Edwards of Bandera; eight children, who are: A. B. Edwards, San Antonio; Mrs. Ernest King, Levelland; Mrs. Lela Zueleke, San Antonio; Mrs. T. R. Strange, Corpus Christi; Fayette Edwards, San Antonio; Mrs. Ted Carter, Dallas; O. C. Edwards, in the army and serving overseas, and Plummer Edwards, Abilene; two step-children: Mrs. Zeffere Berry of Holliday and Mrs. Sarah French, Mankins. He is also survived by a half-sister, 17 grandchildren, two step-grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

The body was returned to Munday, and funeral services were held from the First Baptist church at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. V. Sarrells of Abilene, assisted by Rev. W. H. Albertson of Munday. Burial was in the Johnson Cemetery, with the Mahan Funeral Home in charge of local arrangements.

Pallbearers were John Burns, Wallace Reid, Lee Haymes, Worth Gafford, Bob Speck of Rochester, and W. R. Moore. Honorary pallbearers were A. M. Reeves and J. F. Huges, Rochester; Emmett Partridge, J. L. McConkey of Byers, and A. L. Baker of Rockdale.

Mrs. Melton Is Named Chairman of Birthday Event

Mrs. Ruby Melton of Benjamin, Texas, has been appointed county chairman for the Celebration of the President's Birthday in the fight against infantile paralysis. This announcement comes from George Waverley Briggs, Dallas, vice chairman for the Texas State Committee. Definite plans for the celebration in this county are now being considered and will be made public immediately.

In making the selection of county chairman Mr. Briggs stated that because of the infantile paralysis epidemic which swept over Texas and many other states during the year of 1943 that a special effort must be made to raise funds to continue the battle against the dread crippler. He calls attention to the "all-out" request made by President Roosevelt for the support of this movement to protect the health of the people on the home front and is urging all local chapters throughout the state to bend every effort possible to make the 1944 celebration bigger and better than in any previous year. This year the celebrations are honoring the 62nd birthday of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Briggs assures his chairman and chapter members that fifty per cent of funds raised through the celebration will remain with the county chapter wherein the money is raised. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was called upon to spend heavily of its funds in the recent epidemic. It sent nurses trained in the Kenney treatment method to hospitals in population centers where the disease struck heaviest.

Misses Myrtle and Bessie Sue Munday of Fort Worth visited with relatives and friends here several days last week.

Stamford Memorial at McMurry Pledged

Munday Church Is Scene of Dist. Meeting

Representatives of Methodist churches of the Stamford district, meeting at Munday Friday, voted unanimously to assume as the district's project in McMurry college's endowment and expansion campaign the erection of a Stamford College Memorial building.

Ex-students and graduates of Stamford college, a Methodist institution which was the predecessor to McMurry, were asked to join in the campaign to provide the building for the college in Abilene. Stamford college, opened in 1907, was in operation until the end of the 1916-17 session. The main building burned in the spring of 1917 and the college did not reopen that autumn.

Attending the conference of Stamford district Methodist pastors and other leaders in Munday Friday were Dr. Harold G. Cooke, McMurry's president and Dr. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the St. Paul Methodist church here. They were finishing a tour on which they met with a group in each district of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference regarding the McMurry campaign.

Dr. O. P. Clark, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, Stamford, made the motion that the district make the memorial building its own project for McMurry. The motion was seconded by Dr. Sam H.

Among others are N. S. Holland, superintendent of the Goose Creek schools; R. W. Matthews, principal and acting superintendent of Lubbock high school; Wallace Hawkins, Dallas, general counsel of Magnolia Petroleum company; Stewart Slatton, distinguished jurist of Austin; Dr. Leone Thompson, Dallas; Cleo Thompson, prominent Dallas attorney; Dr. Boyd McKeown, former dean of McMurry and now with the Methodist general board of education, Nashville, and Dr. Culver Griswold, Houston physician, son of Dr. J. Dr. Jerome Duncan was president of Stamford college when it was opened, and Comer M. Woodward, later a pastor of St. Paul church in Abilene, was dean. Dr. J. T. Griswold was the next president and he was followed by the late Mr. J. W. Hunt, who became McMurry's first president when that college was opened in 1923. Dr. Griswold, incidentally, was the first donor to McMurry's current expansion and endowment campaign.—Abilene Reporter-News.

GERMAN BUSINESSMEN ARE OWNERS IN NAME ONLY

A German businessman needs permission from 30 agencies before he can construct an industrial plant. And while company officials have been retained and private ownership upheld, gradual strangulation has occurred through regimented trade associations which cover the entire German economy and in which membership is compulsory.

These findings of the Brookings Institute show that the German businessman, far from influencing or being protected by the state, has become a mere government agent in a complicated maze of official controls.

Earl Sams Asks For Re-Election As Tax Official

E. B. (Earl) Sams, Tax Assessor and Collector for Knox county, has authorized the Munday Times to announce his candidacy for re-election, subject to the action of Knox county voters in the Democratic primaries.

The only promise the present tax official is making in asking the voters to return him to this office is that he will continue to do his best in performing the duties of this office, making them the best assessor-collector possible at all times.

Sams has been an efficient and courteous official during the time he has served in this capacity, "going out of his way" many times to accommodate the voters. He is seeking re-election solely upon the basis of his merits and his past record in this office.

"I earnestly solicit your support and influence in the campaign," he said, "and if elected, I will continue to give you my best efforts, to the end that this office will be run in a courteous and efficient manner."

Attend Meeting Held In Austin

County Supt. Merick McGaughey, Supt. T. E. Holcomb of Knox City, and Supt. W. C. Cunningham of Monday attended the eleventh annual mid-winter conference of Texas school executives and teacher trainers in Austin the latter part of last week. Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent, was general chairman of the meeting.

The purpose of this conference was to provide opportunity and encouragement for leadership to re-think and re-shape the program of education in health, guidance and vocational training, conservation of our natural resources, prevention of juvenile delinquency, and inter-American relations to meet better general emergency and individual community needs. Special war films were shown at two of the meetings.

Several good addresses were given by leaders in Texas education and government.

To the People of this Community

THINK IT OVER

How about doing a little cold turkey thinking after you lay aside this newspaper tonight? You've got a good job. The chances are there is someone else in your family, perhaps two or three, working. Your son or your brother—may be away at war.

This war must end sometime. Your whole family, your neighbors, are praying it ends soon and those fighting boys of yours will come home safely.

But will you be ready for whatever happens when peace comes? Will you have something laid away? We're all hoping there'll be jobs aplenty, jobs which mean making something for somebody's happiness and not for somebody's sorrow.

That's where your War Bonds come into the picture. Sure, Americans own billions of dollars of War Bonds now; and before this 4th War Loan ends they will have put away billions more. But how about you? You're the one that counts. The bigger the pile of War Bonds you have when peace comes, the bigger chance you'll have to slip right into the post-war world you're dreaming about tonight. So "Let's All Back the Attack!"

Soldiers Required To Pay Poll Taxes

The following telegram which the Times received Tuesday from Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe explains the soldier vote situation in this district:

"Much misunderstanding about soldier voting has been removed by Attorney General's ruling which properly holds that those in service can vote just as other citizens can.

"However, the people voted poll tax requirements into constitution over 40 years ago, and it can be removed only by another vote of the people. Therefore, those in the service and out will have to pay it until repealed.

"I hope those in the service will pay their poll tax, or that relatives will do so for them. Remittances by mail, even from foreign shores, are legally acceptable if postmarked this month."

WHEEL ALIGNER IS INSTALLED AT LOCAL SERVICE STATION

Don L. Ratliff, operator of the Magnolia Service Station, announced this week that he has installed the Bear wheel aligner as a further service to motorists of this area.

This new machine is especially valuable in alignment of wheels to save unnecessary wear on tires. It is one of the few alignment machines in operation in this section.

COUNTY COUNCIL HAS MEETING AT BENJAMIN

The Knox county council of Home Demonstration Clubs met on Friday afternoon, January 7, at the court house at Benjamin. Mrs. J. C. Patterson presided in the absence of the chairman.

Committees met as far as was possible and made plans for the year. The 4-H Clubs were also represented. Bad weather hindered a full attendance.

DANCE AT RHINELAND ON TUESDAY NIGHT

A community dance will be held at the Rhineland community hall on Tuesday night of next week, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, it was announced this week. Music will be furnished by Jack Propps and his band of Seymour. The public is cordially invited to attend.

County Quota Is Set At $434,000

With the announcement of Knox county's quota of $434,000 in government securities during the Fourth War Loan Drive, W. E. Braly, county chairman, said Wednesday that plans are now under way to make one of the most concerted drives ever made in this county.

The county's over-all quota is set at $434,000, of which amount the Series E Bond quota is $209,000. The remainder may be purchased in other government securities.

Each community which is to be given a quota, will have one person as a member of the county's executive committee, Mr. Braly said. The executive committee plans to meet in the near future and set the community quotas.

The committee is composed of W. R. Moore, Munday; Bruce Campbell, Knox City; J. C. Patterson, Benjamin; H. D. Arnold, Goree; E. A. Beck, Vera; J. O. Cure, Gilliland, and C. C. Browning, Truscott.

The Fourth War Loan drive will open on Tuesday, January 18, and a more personal solicitation than ever before done will be necessary to put the county over in this drive. Citizens are urged to cooperate with their committeemen in every way possible in this enormous task.

Culling Flock Big Measure In Conservation

Much interest is being shown in the Community Conservative programs that are being held throughout the county according to R. O. Dunkle, county agent.

The greatest conservation measure that can be put into effect now is the culling of the poultry flocks and getting rid of the unprofitable poultry. Mr. Dunkle explains that there is a great waste of the wanted feed supply when fed to unprofitable livestock.

Some of the points that are discussed in poultry production at the community meetings are as follows:

1. Furnish plenty of good laying mash.
2. Keep a clean supply of water and oyster shell before laying hens.
3. If possible let hens run out on green feed or supply bright green leafy alfalfa hay.
4. Look your birds over at least once a month for lice and treat them if necessary.

Drivers Licenses Are Now Expiring

AUSTIN—Approximately 450,000 operators licenses of the current issue have recently expired, State Police Director Homer Garrison said today. These licenses bear serial numbers from one to 300,000 and 1,000,000 to 1,150,000.

Garrison urged drivers to check their licenses, which expire two years from date of issue, so that the licenses can be renewed prior to expiration.

When a person's license expires, the law considers him as a new driver, and he must take a driving test.

Assistance Rolls Continue To Decline

AUSTIN—The Old Age Assistance rolls continued to decline during December, 179,645 persons being certified for January checks, which is 866 fewer than received aid in December. Payments in January are $2.30 below the authorized grant. This compares with the $2.44 cut effective in December.

The blind rolls sustained a net loss of one recipient during December, $114,528 being distributed to 4,680 recipients in average grants of $24.47.

The Aid to Dependent Children rolls lost 216 families, representing 470 children. In January, $216,279 will be paid to 10,173 families representing 22,530 children in an average grant of 21.26 per family.

FAITH PRODUCES MIRACLES

It is rumored that the Germans are about to spring a miraculous secret weapon upon the world capable of obliterating cities at a single blow. Far fetched as the idea may sound, Allied leaders long ago ceased underestimating German resourcefulness. They are driving to knock out the Nazis before they can come forth with any more death-dealing surprises. Our bombers are reaching with growing force into the industrial vitals of Europe. They are carrying loads of explosives that dwarf previous efforts of the Luftwaffe.

The average layman has little conception of the miracles taking place right here in our own country which make possible two-thousand-ton air raids on Berlin. One of those miracles is 100 octane gasoline. Two years ago daily capacity for the manufacturers of 100 octane was only about 40,000 barrels—enough to fuel a single five-hour raid engaging 1000 4-motored bombers, similar to recent Berlin attacks. Now it is approximately 200,000 barrels daily, more than five times as much, and before many months it will double again. Without 100 octane gasoline, our bombers would be unable to carry out their missions.

A significant fact about the 100 octane miracle is that it has been financed principally by the oil industry. The oil companies have spent hundreds of millions of dollars perfecting this high test fuel and building production facilities. All of which means the oil industry has faith in the future of private enterprise. It is endeavoring to demonstrate in action rather than words that industry operated by private citizens, if given a fair chance, has the resourcefulness and flexibility to lick any problem confronting it.

POWER TO DESTROY

Federal income taxes have increased 700 per cent since Pearl Harbor, says Paul Mallon, with the brunt of the burden falling on already overtaxed sources of revenue. Taxes have now reached the point where it is no longer likely that extensive new industries will develop from accumulated savings. Neither the money nor the incentive is left for such purposes after the tax bills are paid.

The gravity of the tax situation brings the American people face to face with a serious choice. As Harley L. Lutz, eminent authority on tax matters, observes: "Concretely and in terms of an historical parallel, it is the choice between the Ford fortune and the Ford automobile. If they (the people) should decide that there shall be no more fortunes, they will also thereby decide that there shall be no commodities of mass comfort and enjoyment other than those now known. A few large fortunes would appear to be a small price to pay to gain the full benefit for all of the creative and productive capacity which can be stimulated most effectively and most certainly by allowing those who succeed to keep the fruits of their success."

Fifteen state legislatures have resolved for a constitutional amendment limiting Federal income taxes in peacetime to 25 per cent. The instinct of self preservation should stimulate other states to similar action. Unrestricted Federal taxing power in the hands of a strong central government has become a menace to the sovereignty of the states, as well as to the freedom of the individual.

IS IT NOT "BIG" BUSINESS?

From Illinois, with a true Midwest concept of people and of business, comes the 1944 president of the National Association of Manufacturers, representing American industrial management.

He is Robert M. Gaylord, Minnesota-born head of the Ingersoll Milling Machine Co., of Rockford, Ill., with which he has been associated for the last 26 years.

The right kind of top leadership for business was never more important. And, long-time disciple of Abe Lincoln's philosophies, Mr. Gaylord holds that "People are more important than either business or labor."

"People built America," says the N. A. M.'s new president. "Given intelligent leadership, they will continue to further its progress and well-being."

Head of a company that, with some 900 workers, was one of the first to win the coveted U. S. Navy Bureau of Ordnance "E" for excellence, that has had since 1919 a plan for sharing profits with its employees, and that has had neither slow-down nor time loss in two decades, Mr. Gaylord contends that business need not be big to be among the best.

Three-fourths of all jobs in our manufacturing industries come from firms employing 1,000 or less workers. The top spokesman for American business proves in his own plant that our country's small businesses constitute its strength, and its future.

INK OR IODINE FOR DOCTORS?

Most doctors are heartily opposed to Federal compulsory health insurance. They are opposed to it because experience in other nations has shown that it undermines medical progress and the quality of medical care, both of which have advanced rapidly in this country. For these reasons they are against the Wagner-Murray Bill now before Congress.

As Representative Miller of Nebraska points out, under this bill, "the resulting regimentation would first hamper the physician and then break down his morale, his initiative, and his effectiveness. The director of Public Health Service would be a czar over physicians. In him would be the power to direct where and when, and finally how to practice his art. Rules and directives would be promulgated in the central office that would progressively put the practice of medicine in a straightjacket. The patient could be told to what physician he must report. If you do not believe this, just pay a visit to any social security board and see how those who are compelled to come to it for help are herded around and made to fill out endless forms. The physicians' fingers would be stained with ink instead of iodine."

Doctors are often called reactionary for condemning socialistic medical schemes. The record of medical progress during the last 150 years certainly does not justify that charge. The medical profession is working constantly to broaden and improve medical care. Plans are in the making even now to reach the avowed objective of the Wagner Bill without destroying the independence of American medicine.

FOR A "BETTER AMERICA"

Certainly the vision of a "Better America" sustains our fighters in their suffering, and us homefronters in the irritations of bungling bureaucracy. It is important, then, that in the midst of war there is formed a broad and workable basis for making that vision real.

The "Better America" platform adopted by the National Association of Manufacturers, representing more than 80 per cent of the employers in industry, is such a basis. Its firm planks are: "Work Together—Make Government One of Laws and Not of Men—Develop New Frontiers—Reward Accomplishment—Restore Constitutional Government—Establish and Maintain Peace."

To make the transition from all-out war production into an economic environment in which it will be possible to achieve post-war production and jobs—vital to a "Better America," the employers declare:

"Employment in industry will be speeded up if wartime controls are ended as soon as possible after hostilities cease, if wartime taxes are then reduced, and if government pays its debts promptly when it cancels contracts."

A NATURAL REACTION

OPA officials in New York City should be nearly convinced that housewives have no desire to play detective. In reply to four thousand personal letters in quest of price checkers, the Manhattan War Price and Rationing Board managed to secure eleven women volunteers. Eleven out of four thousand is a pretty poor batting average. According to the OPA, a New York housewife simply does not want to be a "policewoman."

Housewives have always had their own way of dealing with merchants who seek to exploit consumers. Their methods are effective. They just quit patronizing stores that arouse their ire. As a result, this country has perhaps the most efficient retail distribution system in the world. Housewives are satisfied that it is treating them fairly, and that retailers on the whole are doing the best job they can under difficult circumstances. Therefore, why make their task harder?

Political Calendar Bristles With Dates Of Importance To The Voters

The 1944 political calendar bristles with more than 100 dates of importance either to the electorate or candidates, but there is no need to circle with your red pencil more than a dozen of them.

Chronologically first on this list is Jan. 31, which is the deadline for payment of poll taxes. Here are some others you should try to remember:

May 6—Both Democrats and Republicans hold precinct conventions to name delegates for county conventions. For both parties, these county conventions are held to select delegates to state conventions at which delegates to national presidential-nominating sessions are named.

County, State Conventions
May 9—County conventions of both parties, for the purpose described above.

May 23—State conventions to select national convention delegates. (Grass-roots or organized sentiments which will take their first form at precinct and county conventions take final shape.)

July 22—First Democratic primary.

July 22—Both parties again hold precinct conventions, this time to select delegates for county conventions July 29. At these county conventions, delegates to the state office nominating conventions Aug. 8 will be named by Republicans; Democrats name delegates to the state convention at which nominees are certified for the general election.

Democratic Primary
July 29—County conventions for the purpose noted above.

Aug. 8—Republican convention to select state ticket. (The Republicans will nominate by the convention method this year because the party failed to poll the minimum of 100,000 votes in the 1942 general election.)

Aug. 26—Second Democratic primary.
Sept. 12—State Democratic convention to certify candidates for general election ballot. (One state statute sets this date at Sept. 5, but the second date—also set by law—will be followed. This is one of the many confusions and conflicts in Texas' election laws.)

Possible Change
Dates for absentee balloting may be amended to facilitate soldier voting, when and if this question is resolved by the national Congress. Should Congress vote to give the states the responsibility, a special session of the legislature would be necessary to change the statutes. The legislature might at the same time remove some of the conflicts in the present laws governing absentee voting.

The dates now are:
July 1—First day for absentee voting in the first Democratic primary.

July 18—Last day for absentee voting.

Aug. 5—First day for absentee voting in the second Democratic primary. (However, since the law sets Aug. 7 as the date for the State Democratic Executive committee to meet to certify names for the ballot in the second primary, there would be no one to vote for or against on Aug. 5, therefore a later date is set.)

Freshman Report

The Freshman class has been reviewing for six-weeks tests and mid-term exams. These tests roll around very regular we think but we realize that they are necessary. We do our best and hope... keep our fingers crossed.

We all enjoyed the snow last Friday. The snowball fights were exciting and we all had fun imitating people by making snowmen. But now the pleasure is all gone as we tramp through the melting snow.

The Home Economics girls are going to have a luncheon Thursday. We are going to serve our teachers. Perhaps we should tell them to get their alkaseltzer ready.

Sophomore News

The Sophomores are all here except Ed, who has the flu. We hope you are up soon, Ed.

Six-weeks tests are going to be a day early because of the District Youth Fellowship meeting at Haskell Friday.

The Homemaking girls are all rushing around trying to get in all their reports. They are more important than we thought.

In English, we are trying to recall a little of that English we forgot during the first of the term.

Our world history is about the progress of civilization and we can't possibly see how it has gotten this far.

Junior Report

With six-weeks and mid-term exams coming up soon, the Juniors have at least decided to start studying. (Or is that possible?) We're going to have a ten minute speech for our mid-term exam in speech and an impromptu speech for our six-weeks test. Don't be surprised if a famous orator comes from our class.

Senior Life

Another of our Senior classmates, Harold Payne, arrived at the Gene Payne home on August 15, 1926, in the Hood community. He received his first six years education at the elementary school in Hefner, moved to Goree and went to school until he was a Sophomore. Moving to Munday, he stayed there until the middle of his Junior year, but in the last run he is at good ole G. H. S., which will have the pleasure of his graduation.

"Streaky," as he is called by everyone, is a popular member of the younger set in Goree, having quite a bit of interest a few miles north of town, just about on the Warren farm. Besides his interest for girls he plays basketball and softball.

Some of his favorites are:
 1. Sport—Football.
 2. Teacher—"Preacher."
 3. Subject—Chemistry.
 4. Pastime—Loafing—how true.
 5. Girls—"Blondes" preferred.

After his graduation, Harold plans to major in some field of chemistry and from the Senior class of '44, we, the classmates, wish him the best of luck.

Senior Report

Those muchly dreaded six weeks exams are back again in a flash, and with the unmistakable flash "Seniors Need Help Badly! Any Assistance Will Be Greatly Appreciated." Indeed, the Seniors are busy and really need to learn something "right quick like."

In Bookkeeping, we have been brooding over the Walker Practice Set. From all the complaining, it doesn't appear very fascinating, in fact, some of it is very complicated.

We have been trying to finish our Grammar book by mid-term, therefore, we have been very busy taking Mastery tests and Practice

Civilian Meat Supply

About two-thirds (67 per cent) of the United States supplies of meat available for all needs in 1944 has been allocated to U. S. civilians, according to the War Food Administration. This allocation will allow about the same per capita civilian meat consumption in 1944 as in 1943. On a dressed weight basis, it is equivalent to approximately 132 pounds per capita for the year compared with the pre-war 1935-39 average of about 126 pounds.

Pork and Beans Released

About 440,000 cases (approximately 20 million pounds) of canned pork and beans will be released to civilian consumers within the next few weeks.

Price Rise in '43 Was Small

At the end of 1943, the general level of prices in wholesale markets was two per cent higher than at the close of 1942, and the prices of staples that families buy in retail markets for everyday living were up by about three and one-half per cent. This price rise was smaller than in any year since 1940, according to Frances Perkins, secretary of labor.

Opportunity For Veterans

Returning war veterans may enter virtually any of the 30,207 apprentice training programs in the United States. Age restrictions and other limitations have been especially lifted for veterans in many apprenticeship standards so they may obtain training for skilled work, according to the War Manpower Commission.

More Tea For Civilians

About 76 million pounds of tea will be available to civilian consumers in 1944—wartime limitations on shipping space permitting. This is about 16 million pounds more than civilians got in 1943.

Lend-Lease Farm Machinery

Less than 3 per cent of the United States production of farm machinery went for Lend-Lease between March 11, 1941, and November 1, 1943, according to the President's thirteenth report to Congress on Lend-Lease operations. Allied need for farm machinery was increased because of military demands. American flying fortresses now use airfields which four years ago were among Britain's best farms, thus necessitating reclamation of marshes and rough hill land for farm acreages. When Australia was threatened by Japanese invasion early in 1942, thousands of Australian farm tractors were conscripted for construction of military roads and airfields. Moreover, British and Australian farm machinery manufacturing facilities early in the war had been converted to ordnance production.

British Farmers Are Grateful

The three United States farmers who returned recently from a two-month survey of agriculture in the British Isles reported that British farmers are very grateful for the assistance Lend-Lease farm machinery has given them in attaining maximum food production. The U. S. farmers, whose trip was sponsored by the Foreign Economic Administration, were Oscar Helme, Marcus, Iowa; Robert J. Howard, Sherburne, N. Y.; and Earl Robinson, Mondovi, Wis.

Our class has also been trying to finish our Government book, and we seem to be doing an excellent job too, even if we are having to skip over several pages.

In Chemistry we have been studying sulphur, phosphorus, and many other elements. We have been trying to learn all about their properties, preparations, characteristics, and uses.

Today the Seniors were very excited over the fact that we were measured for our caps and gowns. This gives us a very sensational feeling, because it makes graduation days seem much closer. After all it won't be very long, however, the time will seem longer than it really is.

Egg Shipments For Out of State

AUSTIN — Texas poultry-raisers sent 1,099 carloads of eggs to out-of-state markets during November, compared to only 605 cars in November, 1942, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Bulk of the shipments went to New York—401 carloads—and to New Jersey—224 carloads. Several other states, however, took substantial shipments—California 124 cars, Illinois 90 cars, Washington and Oregon 56 each, and Massachusetts 50.

New Food Price Adjustments

To allow food processors upward adjustments of their maximum prices because of wage increases, the Office of Price Administration has amended food regulations covering canned fruits and vegetables, frozen fruits, berries, and vegetables, jams, jellies, pickles, and pickled products, and apple products. OPA estimated that increases at retail will not run more than one cent a can or, in the case of frozen fruits, one cent a pound. There will be no increases in prices civilians pay for tomatoes, peas, snap beans, corn, peaches, and pears.

Activities Of Women's Clubs Of County Summarized

A summary of projects completed and work accomplished during the past year was detailed this week by Miss Lucile King, county home demonstration agent, in her annual report on home demonstration activities in Knox county during 1943.

Major objectives for the clubs were food production, preservation, and conservation for health. More than 500 rural women and girls worked with Miss King in various organizations.

Free instruction and demonstrations on the care of gardens, home canning, use and repair of canning equipment, selecting and brooding baby chicks, culling chickens and feeding for egg production and other projects relating to food and its conservation and use were given by the home demonstration club in addition to the enormous quantities of food conserved through these demonstrations farm women and girls throughout the county worked in an effort to alleviate the labor shortage. The women reported canning 33,103 quarts of fruits and vegetables, 3,498 quarts of meat, with an additional 13,900 pounds meat cured and stored for winter use.

In addition to the main objectives of producing and conserving food, the clubs have made 1,061 garments of wearing apparel and remodeled 140 garments.

Not all the projects undertaken by Miss King and her home demonstration groups were purely practical. Every club member has completed at least one project to beautify either the outside or inside of her home. Shrubs were planted and rose bushes were rooted. Individual improvements in interiors number among the thousands, including improved closets, refinished woodwork, homemade rugs, repaired and refinished furniture. There were 179 chairs and sofas reupholstered, 47 sewing machines cleaned, oiled and adjusted and 157 pressure cookers tested and repaired.

Miss King conducted a total of 217 meetings during the year and wrote 1,180 individual letters in helping her groups complete their projects. One hundred and twelve news articles were prepared and 2,900 farm and home bulletins were distributed from the government and other organization headquarters.

"You mean I don't need any coupons for electricity?"

Reddy: That's exactly right, Mrs. Higgins! No points, no coupons—no rationing of electricity!

Mrs. Higgins: But, Reddy: I thought Electricity was essential to the war effort, so I supposed there would be a shortage just like there is in food and fuels.

Reddy: Right again, Mrs. Higgins! Electricity is essential! It has been rightly called the life-blood of war production! Your electric company is now serving Army Training Camps and war-time industries, in addition to the many jobs it does for millions of people like you.

Mrs. Higgins: That's a remarkable record, Reddy. But tell me, how do you account for the fact that there's no shortage?

Reddy: Because private, business-managed companies like ours were ready for the transition that changed our country from one of peace-time requirements to one capable of meeting the demands of war! We were ready for production. Working under the system of individual initiative—business enterprise—we move the wheels behind 80% of all electrical energy needed for the war effort.

Mrs. Higgins: Does that mean electricity is an item that can be wasted?

Reddy: Indeed, not! It's a crime to waste anything, whatever, in war time, including government funds and payrolls. Even though there is no shortage of electric service in sight be thrifty and save on everything to encourage others to get back on a firm foundation. Be as careful with electricity as you are with your coupons. Use all you need, but need all you use!

New Simplified Plan Offered By "Token" System

On February 27, 1944, the Office of Price Administration will simplify food rationing. All red and blue point stamps in War Ration Book Four will have the same point value: 10 points each. Tokens valued at one point each will be given as "change."

The new simplified plan is especially beneficial to merchants. It will reduce the number of stamps they have to handle by at least 60 per cent. Under the present system, stamps have point values of 8, 5, 2 and 1 points. Thus, the average value of each stamp is 4 points. Under the new system, each stamp will have a value of 10 points.

It will speed up the checking of points on merchandise and remove considerable congestion for the merchant during busy hours.

It will mean a saving of thousands of hours for all persons handling ration currency.

Tokens are made in two colors—red and blue to correspond with the red and blue stamps in War Ration Book Four so that there will be no confusion in the tokens given for change.

How Merchants Get Tokens

On or before January 8, 1944, all merchants dealing in rationed foods must take an estimate of the tokens he will need and file this estimate with his local bank. This estimate should be filled out on a Token Request Form, obtainable from any supplier (wholesaler or manufacturer.)

Practically all banks in the United States are cooperating in this program and will have a sufficient supply of tokens on hand

NOTICE

As in prior years, interest on consumer's deposit at the rate required by law has been accrued and set aside for payment.

Customers, who so desire, may secure payment of such interest upon presenting their deposit receipt at the Company's nearest district office at Seymour, or if this is not convenient, by mailing their receipt to the Company. Receipt will be returned with remittance for the interest.

for distribution to the merchants. Merchants will receive notice as to the time they are to go to the banks for their tokens. Since the tokens will be boxed 250 to the box and will be issued by the banks in these quantities, the merchant must estimate his initial supply in units of 250. He will pay in ration points for all the tokens he gets—250 points for each box of 250. They will start using tokens for change on February 27, 1944.

Merchants will be supplied with posters showing the consumer how to shop with tokens. By displaying these posters in prominent places as soon as they are received merchants will find customers will soon learn how to shop with stamps and tokens.

Before this new phase of point rationing goes into use, local War Price and Rationing Boards will have a supply of gummed sheets and envelopes for use in depositing point stamps in ration bank accounts. Retailers should obtain a supply of them from their local Rationing Boards.

Each gummed sheet has places for 25 stamps. When filled, this will total 250 points. The envelopes are the same as those now being used. Each envelope should contain one hundred or more stamps when taken to the bank. The quantity in each envelope must be plainly marked on the outside in the space provided.

If a merchant wishes to deposit extra ration tokens he has taken in as change, he must do so in boxes of 250. He may also get additional tokens in boxes of 250 if he needs them.

Only retailers who are registered with their War Price and Rationing Boards will be eligible to receive tokens. All merchants dealing in processed foods must register under Ration Order 13. All merchants dealing in meats, fats and oils must register under Ration Order 16.

Senior Report

This week is mid-term examinations week and everyone of the Seniors is either busy with his notebooks or with his book reports. To add to the already heaping stack of work we have to do, we have to get in an additional fifteen lines of poetry for Wednesday. I don't think you will find any loafing seniors hanging around the study hall or elsewhere.

We are finishing our literature books and are glad of it. However, we found the latter part of the book very interesting because it was a study of the novel and there were extracts from four very interesting novels included in it. We are not too eager to begin the study of grammar because we have not forgotten how difficult our workbooks in this subject were last year.

We are all hoping to pass but if a number of us expect to be able to, a lot of last minute cramming is going to have to take place. I have always wondered why it is that a person will leave everything until the last minute.

Junior Report

When walking down the aisle in the study hall one can just smell those mid-term exams in the air. Another enlightening fact is that the juniors are all drooped over slinging ink up one page and down another in their history workbooks. Everyone has been extra busy and they all express their deep relief that mid-term exams don't come very often.

We junior boys have a very interesting time in Economics. We find the subject not a difficult one and also that Mr. Hitchcock is an able instructor.

Sophomore Report

We are glad to report that J. B. Booe is back in school with us after an absence of about six days. We are very glad to have him with us again.

The study hall is fairly buzzing with activity nowadays. Everyone must be studying for those terrible mid-term exams. Our only wish is that we are able to slide over the line.

Our volleyball girls have a game scheduled for Tuesday night with Munday. We hope that we will win this game.

Freshman Report

Various and sundry are the questions which are running thru our freshman heads but they all seem to center around the main topic of discussion these days which is, of course, our impending exams.

In English we are learning to write straight news stories and feature stories and we have about reached the conclusions that a reporter's life isn't a bed of roses even if they do possess numerous thorns. Take it from me who is just a class reporter, it certainly isn't!

Eighth Grade

Monday marked the first day that we began seriously preparing for those dreadful things which never fail to make their appearance in January. These dreadful things, of course, are none other than the mid-term exams. However, if we review as much as our teachers want us to we shouldn't have too much trouble with them.

We have a new pupil in our room whose name is Billy J. Lain. He isn't exactly new, either, for he was a member of our class last year. He attended Munday school before coming here this year. We are very glad to have him, and hope that he will be with us the remainder of the school year.

Seventh Grade

Glenna Bradley has been absent from school because of her mother's illness. We have missed her very much and hope that she can soon return. We are hoping that Mrs. Bradley recovers rapidly so that she can return home.

Joan, Audrey, and Patsy prepared and presented a play. It was "The Arkansas Traveler." Weldon and Margie Lee assisted them in presenting it. It was very comical and was greatly enjoyed by every one.

In music we are learning a new song, "Londonderry Air." We all like the song and it is very pretty.

Sixth Grade

We had a snow ball fight at recess on Monday morning but by noon the snow had melted and was too sloppy for us to play.

June Lowry has written a play for our English class and we are anxious to act it out. She doesn't have a name for it.

Helen Sue Parker visited at Goree Sunday.

We are too busy reviewing this week to write much news. We all want to make the honor roll.

Fourth and Fifth Grade

Santos Navoretta has started to school again. He has been out pulling boils. We are glad to have him.

Shirley Yost was absent Monday. She went to Abilene.

Doris June Walling's dady went hunting and killed twenty-six ducks and some geese.

This is mid-term examination week and we haven't time to think much about news.

Second and Third Grade

Kay Frances went to Plainview for a visit Friday.

We are very sorry that Barbara Jo Phillips has moved to Munday. We hope she likes her new school.

Jimmy Burl's cousins, Aleno, Lloyd, and Marybeth, visited him Sunday.

Louise visited her grandmother at Knox City Sunday.

Donald went to Sheppard Field to visit his brother, J. C. He saw some bombers that had been sent back from the front.

All our boys had fun playing in the snow and making snow men.

David went to Mullins, Texas to visit his grandparents.

We are sorry that Barbara Jo Johnson has the flu.

Kay Leon is glad his aunt has come to stay with them.

First Grade

Ted Bradley's brother, Paul, who is in service is home because of the serious illness of their mother who is in the Knox City hospital. We sincerely hope Mrs. Bradley will soon be home with the family again.

Nell Johnson is back with us again for the first time since before Christmas. We hope Nell doesn't have to miss school any more.

We are glad to welcome Jeanette Draper and Glenn Bruce into our class. We hope they like our school.

Paul Navaretta, Spanish American, entered our class this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Floyd and baby, Carol, visited in Loretta Floyd's home on Sunday.

Grace Evelyn Posey is enjoying the new radio in her home.

Dean Bowman who was out last week because of a cold is with us

SCENTS MAKE SENSE

STUNNING Helen Bennett, from the Broadway hit show "Early to Bed," has a new slant on what puts the "amour" in glamour. "Perfume," says the famous cover girl, "has played a magic part in many a romance. On the stage or in front of the camera, eye-appeal is all that counts. But in everyday life, the right perfume adds the allure that makes a woman more than just another pretty face."

How can you tell which is the right perfume? Experiment until you find a fragrance you like so much you'd wear it even when you're alone. Be consistent wear your perfume all the time, not just for special occasions. And, particularly nowadays, choose one that's gay, spirit-lifting and, above all, feminine. Renoir's "Chichi," which Helen holds in her hand, is just such a blend. . . . even its heart-and-dart bottle spells romance.

"On and off the stage," concludes Miss Bennett, "I try to please my audience. Choose and use a perfume wisely, and you'll be sure to capture the hearts of yours."

On board ship and in the artillery their buddies call them "powder monkeys." Not disrespectful, just a personal, intimate term between friends. Civilians call them gun crews. During a battle the crews of "powder monkeys" must work like trojans bringing the ammunition to the guns.

The gun may fire an anti aircraft .50 calibre shell or a broadside from the 16 inch guns of a great battleship, but in either event the "powder monkey" must pass millions of dollars' worth of ammunition to make the gun effective, and your savings in War Bonds are necessary to supply the financial ammunition that provides the shells.

Dairy Production Payment Extended

The War Food Administration has announced the continuance of dairy production payment through January to help farmers maintain the output of milk and other dairy products at high wartime levels. The payments, in effect since October, are designed to offset the rising production cost since September 1942, and to effect a more favorable price ration for the production of milk and dairy products.

The dairy payments on October production started November 1. Through December 18 Texas producers have received $475,130 for a total production of 93,944,600 pounds of milk and 1,067,595 pounds of butter fat. The number of producers who received payments totaled 34,015.

County Tripple-A offices began accepting applications for payments on November and December production on January 1, 1944. Additional applications for payments on October production may be filed in conjunction with November and December applications.

For January some adjustments were made in the rates in effect during October, November and December. The rates for January in all Texas counties are 50 cents per hundred weight of milk delivered and 6 cents per pound of butter fat delivered. The rates for some Texas counties during October, November, and December was 40 cents per hundred weight of milk delivered and 5 cents per pound of butter fat delivered.

Producers of dairy products should keep an accurate record of all sales so as to be able to submit evidence of sales to the county Tripple-A office beginning February 1 for January sales. If the evidence is satisfactory to the county Tripple-A committee producers will be issued a draft immediately. The same restrictions of satisfactory evidence used during October, November, and December will be used for January.

Is This Education for Leadership?

The New York Herald-Tribune on April the 6th reported the launching in the Hunter College Elementary school, under the authorization of the board of higher education of the city, of an experimental program in education for leadership. The experiment is to begin at the kindergarten level with five-year-old children of "proved superior intelligence."

The launching of this experiment raises a number of questions. Much attention has been given in recent years to the problem of proper education for gifted children. One school of thought holds that it is wise to segregate the gifted. The argument is that the curriculum of our schools or less ability and that the gifted are neglected. The abilities of those gifted children are regarded as so precious a social asset that a special program of instruction should be provided for them. These bright children should not be held back. They require a rich curriculum that will provide every opportunity for the development of their great abilities and gifts.

All of us agree that the school should be sensitive to the needs and capacities of every individual. Education should be adapted to individual abilities and capacities. The bright should not be held back but they should be challenged.

But does it follow that segregation of the gifted is a defensible procedure? We question it. This question becomes particularly pertinent when we begin to talk about education for leadership. Can leaders for our democratic community and national life be educated in a social vacuum? Such a scheme might work very well if we were not thinking in terms of a democracy. Is not the thesis that leadership emerges in a democracy a much more defensible thesis? If we are not careful, we shall be setting up in these such instruction may find, when they are thrown into the rough and tumble of life, that there are many lessons that they did not learn. They may find, in fact, that much they did "learn" was not true.

We will agree that more attention should be given to these gifted children that programs should be adjusted to their needs, but the social consequences, in a democracy, of segregation have got to be considered. Besides, there is doubtless much that we do not know about intelligence. A controversy is raging about intelligence quotients, about the methods employed for selecting children to go into these classes for bright pupils. The performance of Terman's of his contentions relative to the superior native potentialities of these gifted individuals.

It is possible that experimentation with special classes for gifted children may teach us something about the education watched. It is imperative that it be subjected to criticism from much larger social and educational frame of reference than we believe the frame of reference of many of the experiments to be.

Junior News

It's here again. And the students are still a long way from being prepared. Most of the notebooks are in but that was accomplished by either copying or bluffing. Those text books still have to be digested before the Juniors can even expect to take a test. From the rumors going around they had better start digging—but fast and hard. These mid-term exams are certainly not to be guessed at. Either you know it or you don't know it. Those typewriters haven't learned to "spell yet and it's giving the students plenty of misery.

They had a game with Rochester last night and they beat them.

The Seniors have been worrying their teachers about being exempt from the mid-term exams if they have a B average. However, it seems that their wishes won't come true. Still the Civics class may have the privilege because Civics is only a half year subject.

Rumors of socials are already getting aired by the boys of the class. It seems that as soon as they recover from exams they wish to start the next semester by a party.

"IDEA FARM" AIDS YOUTHFUL FARMERS

It all started during the last war when a large rubber company had to buy some 35,000 acres of land in Arizona on which to grow long staple cotton for tires when the foreign supply was cut off. After the war the land was put to use as a testing laboratory for the firm's products, and as an experimental farm.

At the laboratory, where the accent now is on postwar ideas, industrial engineers are tinkering with such things as a mechanical cotton picker; ploffilm plastic containers; a pre-fabricated portable house; and "balloon" storage bins, made by inflating a half-balloon, applying plaster, hradening it, and removing the balloon. The rest of the land—17,000 acres of it—has been devoted since 1937 to an "apprentice farmer" project, established by the firm's president whose belief it was that more individuals should become owners of American land. Under the project, young men, mostly farm-born, are selected on the basis of their interest in agriculture and desire to own a farm to work patches of the land. Company employees, at first, they become renters as soon as they have accumulated a stake toward livestock and equipment. And when their net worth represents about 20 per cent of the purchase price they can buy an 80-acre irrigated tract.

"Ships are essential to Victory, and we shall continue our job of building them at record pace in 1944." — E. G. GRACE, president, Bethlehem Steel Company

SHIPS FOR VICTORY

A WORLD'S RECORD IN SIZE AND DIVERSITY

Bethlehem in '43 built 380 fighting and cargo ships.

Value of the year's program equivalent to 1,000 Liberty ships.

"A SHIP A DAY," with a number to spare, was the record production delivered by Bethlehem in 1943 to the United States Navy, the British Navy and the U. S. Maritime Commission. This program was the greatest in magnitude and diversity ever accomplished by a private builder in the world's history. It marked the fulfillment of a promise made by Bethlehem a year ago to build in 1943 average of "a ship a day" of major fighting and cargo craft.

The list of ships includes aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers, virtually every type of fighting craft, as well as a large number of Liberty ships and other cargo vessels. In addition, Bethlehem ship repair yards converted, repaired, and serviced over 7,000 vessels, a vital contribution toward keeping the Allied fleets in fighting trim.

Measuring the program by Liberty ships, a battleship is equal to forty Liberty ships; and the value of the year's work in Bethlehem's shipbuilding division was the equivalent of over 1,000 Liberty ships.

Part of National Program—Bethlehem is permitted to publish these facts as part of our country's total program. Led by the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Maritime Commission, America's shipbuilding in 1943 has been a national triumph of production.

We salute our fellow shipbuilders and their distinguished records.

We thank our thousands of suppliers whose efforts have been essential to our contribution.

We congratulate the men and women in the Bethlehem organization, in shipyards, steel plants, factories, mines, and in every division, all of whom have had a part in this effort.

Harder Task Ahead—The year's work in Bethlehem's shipyards, steel mills and other departments has been done by 300,000 men and women. More will be needed. Already a larger shipbuilding task has been assigned to us for 1944. We shall undertake that job with the knowledge that it must be done, at maximum pace, to hasten the day of Victory.

Local Workers Help Bethlehem Exceed Promise Of Ship-A-Day

300,000 men and women from all parts of the country are sharing the company's honors in having achieved the greatest ship-building record in history during the year 1943—380 fighting and cargo ships.

The government has permitted Bethlehem to reveal the fact that it exceeded in output its promise, which seemed fantastic when made at the beginning of 1943, that it would turn out a ship a day of major fighting and cargo craft.

The remarkable program carried out by Bethlehem included a 35,000-ton battleship, 27,000-ton aircraft carriers, 14,700-ton aircraft carriers, 13,000-ton heavy cruisers, 10,000-ton light cruisers, 6,000-ton light cruisers, 2,100-ton destroyers, 1,600-ton destroyers, destroyer escorts, tank landing craft, infantry landing craft, and many types of cargo ships including a large number of Liberty ships and Victory ships.

The value of the year's work was equivalent to over 1,000 Liberty ships and, in terms of man-hours, the company estimates the 1943 program was equivalent to the construction of 22 battleships. Approximately 70 per cent of the ships built were fighting craft and 30 per cent cargo vessels.

In addition to the amazing production record of new ships, Bethlehem yards also repaired, converted and serviced over 7,000 vessels, thus playing a major role in keeping our fighting fleets in trim.

Approximately 300,000 men and women were employed by Bethlehem in its shipyards, steel mills and other divisions to accomplish this program. But because the company has set its sights still higher for 1944 it will be necessary to add still more to its present army of employees.

Pressure Cookers Now Unrationed

Anyone who wants to buy a pressure cooker for home canning this year may do so without bothering to apply for a certificate from the local ration board, the War Food Administration has announced. Pressure cookers were officially removed from rationing the last week of the old year, but only for use in food preservation.

The wartime models of pressure cookers now in stock have bodies of steel coated with colored porcelain enamel and covers of steel plated with tin. Two sizes are on the market. The large size holds 14 glass quart jars, the small size 7 glass quart jars.

One of the resolutions that American housewives may well make this new year is to put up food only by scientifically approved canning methods. Lucile King, Knox county home demonstration agent, says that for safety from spoilage, all non-acid foods—that is, meats and most vegetables except tomatoes—must be canned under pressure. Now that pressure cookers are no longer rationed, no one should be tempted to take a chance on putting up foods by risky methods like oven canning. Last year's output of pressure cookers was 315,000, this year's will be about 400,000.

BUSINESSMEN LAUD WAR WORKER, 95

Three thousand leading industrialists, gathered in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, rose to a man to applaud as 95-year-old Henry M. Roe walked onto the stage.

The man who carried messages for President Abe Lincoln and who is now carrying messages for a large aircraft corporation, was one of 12 "honor workers" receiving industry's tribute as representatives of millions of workers who left their usual employment to speed the flow of war materials to many fronts.

and graduate of Texas.

The far-reaching tentacles of the usury business in Texas are revealed by the fact that one company has no less than 38 offices in 23 counties, according to Assistant Attorney General Fred Isely, who has been active in fighting the loan shark evil. There are other companies with nearly as many offices and most of these concerns are owned out-of-state and it is extremely difficult, if not impossible, to get service on them in case a victim wants to bring suit. The sharks take in millions of dollars in extortionate interest but immediately siphon most of it out of Texas so there won't be a substantial amount of assets on hand to levy on, in case of a suit—and also so they won't have to pay taxes to our cities, counties and State on their huge "take."

Then there was the citizen who read that there was a surplus in the State's Confederate fund—so he sent in for redemption, $1,000,000 in Confederate money!

Allen Loving Is Cited For Bravery

The following story of a deed which caused Allen Loving, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Loving of Munday, to be cited for bravery appeared in a paper published by Loving's naval construction battalion:

Bravery Lauded
Two of our men have been cited for bravery and in justice to Third Class Cook Dever and Seaman Loving, here are the details:

On a recent evening at about 2100 with a strong wind blowing and vision limited to the tip of one's nose, Dever and Loving with that 'animal instinct' developed since arrival, were conscious of a figure some ten paces ahead of them preparing to drop from one of the docks to a craft below. Through some mishap the man lost his grip on the ladder and in falling into the water, struck his head on some object and lost consciousness.

Although dressed in full winter regalia, Walt Loving, without hesitating long enough to even pull off his arctic, jumped blindly into the black void and upon arising to the surface of the frigid waters was fortunate enough to grasp the clothing of the yet unidentified man.

George Dever, with more forethought, shouted to a nearby hut for a light, and upon seeing figures emerging with a flash, followed his friend into the black chill waters. Between the two, they were able to hold the victim's head above water and with their combined efforts successfully towed him against an outgoing tide to the dock. Willing hands had by this time arrived, and the unconscious man was hauled to the dock and immediately hurried to the warm hut. Then the added task of pulling George and Walt from the Arctic waters by the few remaining spectators, they by this time being thoroughly exhausted and numbed from exposure and the strenuous effort involved.

In turn, our two men were rushed to another hut where they were

INCOME TAX SERVICE POPULAR

COLLEGE STATION — Income tax service offered to farmers recently on their December "Declaration," by the local unit of a national farm organization in close cooperation with the county Extension Service and Internal Revenue Service, was considered highly successful in Matagorda county, says F. O. Montague, county agricultural agent.

Business in the county income tax service office for the 1943 Declaration trebled the service for 1942 returns, Montague has reported. T. R. Timm, economist in farm management for the A. and M. College Extension Service. The representative handled the office details. Paid-up members of the farm organization got the service free, while non-members were charged a fee of $3. County Extension agents provided general educational information to farm-given dry clothing by the unfortunate's grateful companions, and in due course taken home with the assurance of the other branch of the service that the deed would not be forgotten.

Subsequently, it developed that the drowning man, Lloyd Rider, cook on the Yard Craft, was unconscious for a period of eight hours, but is now fully recovered and as the result of the unhesitating valor of George and Walt. The only ill effects either suffered were minor lacerations on their hands from ice-splitters floating in the water.

These two men are deserving of our admiration for their courage, and the credit it reflects on the 85th N. C. B. No more apt commendation can be given them, than the word of the Lord, who said, "No braver man than he who willingly lays down his life for that of his fellowman."

ers of the county.
Prior to filing returns on March 15, 1943, 29 counties set up somewhat similar offices with local farm groups, cooperating with the Extension Service and the office of Internal Revenue to assist with the big task. Timm says that if local farm groups desire this service for the final 1943 return due not later than March 15, they might consult with their county Extension agents and nearest representative of the Internal Revenue Service.

Sign in a crate factory in Mercedes: "No smoking—this includes big shots."

Most magnificent sight in Texas: the State Capitol seen from a distance, its dome above the long archway of trees, whose boughs are bare and gaunt in December or verdantly effulgent in May—or rare sight—loaded with sparkling white in February.

Sometimes, the dome can be seen softly through a veil of mist or, uncertainly, through a fog.

Most awesome of all is the view from the second story porch of the Plaza Hotel at night. There is no long approachway of trees and one stands close to the vast structure, bathed in light (in a happier time than this). It is as though the plunge of Niagara had been frozen to granite. Mightier even than the greatest cliff in the eternal silence of the Big Bend, is this miracle of man, this symbol of the strength

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN — The fact that dental decay is likely to occur in the mouth of the average person, despite proper home care given the teeth, does not lessen the importance of brushing the teeth and massaging the gums daily, nor does it minimize the need for a cleaning and inspection of the teeth twice a year by the family dentist. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, says that the lack of these measures gives added power to germs that attack the enamel of the teeth and gum tissues.

"If, despite the proper application of such procedures, decay is suspected or teeth are injured in any way, the thoughtful person will seek the dentist's office promptly for the necessary corrective work," Dr. Cox said.

"It is surprising, though, even in these days of comparatively painless dentistry, that so many persons neglect to make good their dental defects, inevitable or otherwise, because they foolishly fear the discomfort they might experience in the dentist's chair," said the State Health Officer. "There are others who having lost a tooth or several teeth, make no effort to obtain replacements. Apparently they believe they can get along without them. Reduced masticating power, the annoyance and sometimes actual discomfort of chewing hard substances on the exposed gums, and crooked teeth are some of the possible consequences of gaps in the teeth."

Dr. Cox advised those who are interested in experiencing the best dental and bodily health possible, to give daily attention to their mouth and visit the dentist twice each year, and promptly seek the dentist's services should decay or other suspicious conditions arise between the periodic visits.

"In short," Dr. Cox declared, "successful mouth hygiene means not only intelligent personal daily application of prophylaxis but complete and timely cooperation with the family dentist as well."

Mrs. J. H. Saunders of Cross Plains is here this week, visiting with her brother, C. O. Scott.
