"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"

THE SIGNS ARE CLEAR

During the decade of peace preceding the war, the Federal government was going deeper and deeper into debt. The public was beleaguered by bitter arguments from two schools of thought concerning government borrowing and government spending.

The "we-owe-it-to-ourselves" school claimed that it made no difference how high the debt goes because with proper "planned economy," debt is an asset rather than a liability.

A second school of thought argued that inordinate government borrowing leads to bankruptcy and loss of individual freedom.

A generation of voters has now reached maturity never knowing any other than a "borrowing" government. The country to all outward appearances is prosperous and the citizen is still free. However, in spite of appearances, the philosophy of wasteful spending has been proven wrong.

No one will longer claim that our public debt is a burden whose weight is barely felt. And government officials themselves cry that "easy money" government borrowing has made necessary a mountain of regulations to save the nation from "inflation."

The extent to which these regulations threaten individual liberty is not yet generally realized. Recently a Massachusetts meat wholesaler was accused of selling cuts of beef above OPA ceiling prices. He was convicted of criminal violation of the Emergency Price Control Act. The case was carried through the United States Supreme Court, which held that a person so convicted could not challenge the constitutionality of the Act except within a limited period of time, and then only before an emergency court.

Thus does the grim result of the "owing it to ourselves" theory make itself felt in inflation and in arbitrary, freedom-destroying regulations. As the Portland Oregonian observes: "... For the first time in the history of America, a citizen can be haled into court on a criminal charge and told that his denial of the constitutionality of the law is no defense."

"... Surely it will be patent upon reflection that if the citizen can be refused the protection of the Constitution in this instance, he can be refused it in any and all cases. Nor does it matter how worthy the OPA aim may be, inflation would be preferable to a return to that slavery from which the blood of our forefathers rescued us."

This is a portent of national bankruptcy. It is still not too late to turn back if the fallacy of believing that unlimited debt does no harm, is abandoned, and government borrowing brought under control at the wars end.

KICK OR BE KICKED

There has been general acceptance of the idea of rationing and reasonable price control as a war measure. Everyone understands that the problems of the OPA are multitudinous. But the public cannot understand why price and rationing control is allowed to develop into a method of oppression in many cases.

Take a ruling like the "highest price line limitation," adopted two years ago. It has been unworkable on a basis of fairness and equality. It is therefore heartening to read that at last certain adjustments will be made, although the public now takes such promises with a "spoonful" of salt.

Another practice of the price control program which is shaking public confidence, is denial of court appeal on OPA rulings. No satisfactory answer has yet been given for shutting a man out of regular courts when he objects to a ruling of the OPA, and forcing him to go before an OPA "emergency court" where a complaint can be put to interminable delays.

While the war makes some restrictive measures necessary, it still remains highly important to seek correction of rulings which, if unchallenged, leave the citizen outside the courts and at the mercy of political forces beyond his control.

THE SPIRIT THAT WINS

"Farmers know that the greatest catastrophe which can befall our war-torn nation is a shortage of food. To this end we pledge ourselves to the utmost of our ability to produce food. We shall not hesitate to work 80 hours a week. Our wives and children will help us to plant and harvest our crops, to feed and milk our cows. The nation at war need fear no strike by farmers."—Statement of the Northeastern Dairy Conference.

SHRINKING THE COUNTRY

No individuals in the world are such users of railroads, airplanes and automobiles as are the inhabitants of the United States. Every corner of our 3,000,000 square miles is reached by rapid transportation of some kind.

No matter in which of the 48 states we live, we want the products of each of the 47 other states on hand when our desire dictates, whether it be a fresh gardenia or a carload of wheat.

It is interesting to read of the postwar plans of the Railway Express Agency to give increasingly fast service for many products and commodities via the airline. Mr. L. O. Head, president of the company, says: "The aviation industry, airplane builders and operators alike, are planning exhaustively for the future. That planning is being done by thoughtful and experienced men, well versed in the problems of air transport, and possessing competent technical knowledge." He points out that plans for Air Express service will be coordinated with the plans of the air transport industry with relation to communities to be served, type of service to be rendered, size and capacity of planes, facilities for loading, and other related factors.

Combination of air-rail movements, coordinated through a single agency, have been a big factor in the development of Air Express, and will be outstanding in making the products of all communities quickly available to consumers in every town in the nation.

IT LOOKS FISHY

A great many people were astonished by the proposal of the Secretary of the Interior to give the government's $20,000,000,000 worth of war industries to the returning soldiers. Of course this would involve a gigantic government-controlled holding company.

Giving away industries "would be a revised edition of the Homestead Act and the land provisions of the Reclamation Law," said the Secretary, although he admitted that perhaps the first directors of the experiment would have to be appointed by the government.

It is hard to see any similarity between such a proposal and the homestead law under which a man got a piece of land of which he was absolute owner, free from government interference or directors. The homesteader became an independent citizen owning a piece of property in fee simple, which he could dispose of as he wished, and for any price he wished.

All a returned service man would own in this proposed giant company, would be a paper stock certificate. The assets of the company would be made up of war industries, most of which could not be applied to peacetime pursuits without heavy re-conversion investments. It is probable the service man would even be prohibited from selling his stock, in order to assure continued government monopoly and operation of the properties.

It looks like this proposal to "give" the service man something, is a blind to keep the government in business, using the service man as a tool to accomplish that end.

THE NEW ORDER?

"The percentage of our adult population on the Federal payroll is the greatest in history. Notwithstanding the widespread benefits resulting from free enterprise, there are now persons, some in high government positions, clamoring for a new order; but they refrain from stating exactly what this new order is to be. Their acts, however, speak louder than words. Their acts show that as a substitute for free enterprise, they propose to establish a plan, directed and controlled by government officials."—John D. Miller, Susquehanna, Pa., President Emeritus of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

My riches consist not in the extent of my possessions, but in the fewness of my wants.—Joseph Brotherton.

Household Hints Worth Remembering

Handle With Care
Because strawberries bruise so easily—and lose some of their vitamins in the bruising.—Mrs. Julia Kiene, director of the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, takes these precautions: Wash carefully, a few at a time, in a colander or sieve under running water. Don't remove until after you've washed them—prevents water-logging as well as vitamin-loss. And don't ever wash berries before storing them. They keep best if spread on a plate or flat pan, with stems on, placed on the middle or lowest shelf of the refrigerator where the cold is moderate.

Good Polish
When washing windows, Westinghouse home economists polish them with crumpled newspapers and are enthusiastic about the results.

Give Cords A Break
During Spring cleaning remove those lamp cords from under rugs and carpets. Not only do they cause an unsightly bulge, but Miss Myrtle Fahselder, director of Home Lighting for Westinghouse, explains that if electric cords are walked on, or if furniture is moved over them, the tiny wires inside may be broken and can cause a short circuit.

Buy It Tender
If asparagus tips spread or the stalks are stinky, buy some other vegetable, advise Westinghouse home economists. Tender asparagus will have close, compact heads and brittle stalks, green all the way down.

Cinderella Foods
Young, tender, dandelion greens are exceedingly rich in vitamins and minerals, and at the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, they're cooked like spinach and served with hard-cooked egg garnish. Can also be served raw with hot vinegar, bacon or hot-slaw dressing. You'll find the best of them in lush green grass—they're apt to be sweeter than the short, scrubby kind. Gather them before they blossom.

Little girls like to sew. Don't deny them the opportunity of developing their initiative because of scarcity of material—give them the soft, white material from laundered cotton flour, sugar, and feed bags. With a little encouragement, a bit of assistance, and some experience, they can make their own party gifts. For their own use, they can dress up their favorite dolls or practice embroidery. Basic sewing and embroidery stitches are illustrated in the new booklet, "Bag of Tricks for Home Sewing," which gives scores of ideas on how to make the home more attractive by utilizing materials from cotton bags. Texas Short On Fats Salvage, More Effort Is Needed

AUSTIN — Texas has failed by 34 per cent of attaining its quota of salvaging household fats, Governor Coke Stevenson was advised today by the War Production board. "A greater effort in this direction must be made," the communication stated.

"A large source of our supply of fats was cut off with the Japanese occupation of the Philippines and Dutch East Indies which stopped imports from the Far East. This has presented a crucial problem in the manufacturing of explosives for the Allied Nations, and the public will have to salvage almost two billion pounds of grease annually to make up for the deficit in that amount caused by the Japanese conquests," the WPB statement continued.

"In behalf of this vital problem I urge every Texas housewife to save at least one tablespoon of fat daily. I urge every butcher to accept the fats and to see that they reach the nearest renderer," Governor Stevenson said. "In every community there should be a local salvage chairman to answer any questions regarding this collection. In the event there is none, your county judge or mayor can give you the necessary information," he continued.

DEFEND YOUR CLOTHING

Now that spring is here, a moth would like nothing better than to set up housekeeping in a wool dress at the back of your clothes closet.

This number one enemy of your valuable woollens is likely to be in almost any house at any time of year. And right now, moths are hunting food, warns Lucile King, county home demonstration agent.

She explains that ordinarily moths don't bother the clothes you wear frequently. But if a wool dress, suit and coat hang unused in your closet for long, the moths will seek them out. The best prevention for moth damage is to store your woollens properly through the summer months.

Frequent airing and brushing, of course, will help. But for a period of several months it's wiser to have your winter woollens dry cleaned. That kills not only the moths but the eggs and larvae as well. So does washing with a strong solution of neutral soap, if your clothes require that kind of treatment. Then store your woollens in a dust-proof and moth-proof bag or box. You can buy these bags and boxes, or perhaps you can make them yourself.

Another important thing is to store your woollens in a dry place... and as cool a place as your house affords.

Now for some clothing-conservation reminders that will be good anytime... Miss King advises buying a good stiff-bristle clothes brush if you haven't one already. Brush your clothes both on the inside and out. Air your clothing frequently, and don't overcrowd things in your clothes closet, for fresh air gives life to wearing apparel. Finally, it's a good idea to give your clothes frequent rests. A 24-hour rest adds life to a suit or dress and reduces the amount of necessary pressing.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN — Contrary to the popular belief that pyorrhea is incurable, this is only true in the most advanced cases. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises those persons who even suspect the presence of pyorrhea to take time by the forelock and seek an early diagnosis so that proper treatment can be instituted while the disease is still curable.

"Early detection and proper treatment represent the formula for a successful cure. This means that the dentist must have an opportunity to discover the presence of pyorrhea at the earliest possible moment since the symptoms are often so vague that the patient is unaware of its existence," Dr. Cox said. "Regular visits to the family dentist are therefore extremely important."

The treatment of pyorrhea is not an involved procedure. In the average early case one of the main therapeutic features is the proper hygienic care of teeth and gums as outlined by any reputable dentist. Carelessness regarding mouth hygiene is usually the basic cause for the condition.

The family dentist can usually remove the cause of the trouble, Dr. Cox said, and when this has been done intelligent routine home-care of the mouth by the patient will effect a cure in the majority of early case.

Concern regarding pyorrhea should not be based upon the misguided notion of its incurability, according to the State Health

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Did you hear that Tom is going to be inducted into the Army next week, Judge?"

"Yes, Frank told me this morning down at the barber shop. Our town's got a lot of men in the service now, Jim. In fact, all towns have. I was just reading in the paper where there are more than 10,000,000 men away from their homes in the armed forces. And, from all reports, they're doing a grand job bringing victory closer every day."

"We folks at home have a mighty big obligation to those 10,000,000 fighting men. We've got to produce the food to keep them well fed. We've got to keep them supplied with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. We've got to help the Government pay for all these supplies our men need by buying more and more War Bonds. We'll have another big chance to do that by helping to put the 5th War Loan drive over the top, Jim."

"And, in addition, we must be sure that, while they're away and can't express their opinions, we don't go voting on and deciding any things that will displease them when they come back."

Proper Methods To Can Pineapple

Prepare For Canning

Here is how to prepare the fruit for canning. Cut off the stem and twist out the top. Place the pineapple on its side on a table and slice crosswise. Peel each slice. Cut out the core and shape the slice with a sharp round cutter or cut in pieces of any desired shape.

Juice or syrup for canning the fruit in is best made from cooking the outer trimmings of the meat of the fruit, as the best flavor is the part next to the skin. Add cores and enough water to cover. Simmer until the fruit is clear, then strain the juice. Make a medium syrup with one measure of sugar to one syrup with one-half cup of sugar to one cup of juice.

Precook This Way

Cook slices or pieces of fruit in medium syrup eight to ten minutes. Pack in jars and seal.

Or, if packing raw fruit in the container is preferred, pour hot syrup over the fruit and steam for five minutes. Then seal the container.

Process Like This

After sealing the jars, process in a water bath for 15 minutes for No. 2 cans; 25 minutes for No. 3 cans and pint glass jars; 30 minutes for quart glass jars. Use plain tin cans.

Cool quickly to prevent overheating as this affects the flavor and color.

Clean and label containers before storing them in cool, dry place.

Pineapple Juice

Scrub pineapple, slice and remove the peel but not "eyes." Grind through food chopper. Add one-half as much water as pineapple and simmer until the fruit is tender. Strain through several layers of cheesecloth. Add one-half cup sugar to a gallon of juice. Heat to simmering again and pour in hot container. Process in water bath in quarts, or pints for 20 minutes. A plain can is satisfactory but glass is preferred.

Mrs. J. C. Harpham left last Tuesday for Brownwood to spend the remainder of the week with relatives. She will attend the graduating exercises next Sunday in which her sister, Miss Dorothy Clement, will receive her diploma.

TOWN and FARM in WARTIME

Prepared by OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

Plentiful Foods

Eggs, white potatoes, canned peas and canned green and wax beans will be in plentiful supply throughout most of the country during June, the War Food Administration reports. Other plentiful foods now include—oranges; frozen vegetables; frozen baked beans; peanut butter; citrus marmalade; raisins; dried prunes; dry-mix and dehydrated soups; soya flour, eggs and flakes; wheat flour and bread; macaroni, spaghetti; noodles; oatmeal; and rye breakfast foods.

Sugar For Home Canning

Sugar consumers may apply for their 1944 home canning allotments in two periods, the Office of Price Administration reports. In each period, users may obtain up to 10 pounds of sugar per person in addition to five pounds available with sugar stamp 40 in War Ration Book 4. Persons not applying in the first period, but who need sugar in the second period, may obtain up to their full 20-pounds-per-person allowance if the application justifies that total.

Wheat Loans To Average $1.28

Wheat loans that will average $1.28 a bushel at the farm will be made on the 1944 crop by the Commodity Credit Corporation of WFA. The average last year was $1.23. Loans will vary from the basic national rate of $1.28 to take into account location, grade and quality. Loans on farm-stored and warehouse-stored wheat will mature on demand, but not later than April 30, 1945. Any loan may be liquidated by payment in full, plus three per cent interest from date of note. Loans will be administered in counties by County Agricultural Adjustment Agency Committees under the supervision of the state committees.

More Telephones Coming

Resumption of manufacture of civilian-type telephones to the extent of 200,000 sets per quarter has been authorized by the War Production Board. First deliveries are expected by fall. Approximately 100,000 new orders for telephones that cannot be filled because of lack of equipment are accumulating each month.

Proper Methods For Home Canning

The "open kettle" method and the "oven" method of home canning cannot be depended on to kill harmful bacteria in food, say canning specialists in the Department of Agriculture, and in addition oven canning has caused serious accidents when jars explode. The specialists recommend that fruits, tomatoes, and pickled vegetables be precooked and packed boiling hot in hot jars, with lids adjusted correctly, then processed in a boiling water bath canner with sufficient water to cover the jars. Peas, beans and other non-acid vegetables should be packed in the same way, but processed in a steam pressure canner. Some of the 400,000 new steam pressure canners authorized by WPA for the canning season are now available in certain areas in the South and others should be available throughout the country before long. Many community food preservation centers provide local home canners with equipment and supervised instructions on proper canning.

and 17 1-2 years may enlist, with their parents' consent, for training for service in the U. S. Merchant Marine, the War Shipping Administration announces. Thirteen weeks of training is required for service in the deck and engine departments and six weeks for service as messmen and utility men in the stewards' department. Volunteers will be assigned to merchant vessels within a few weeks after completion of training. Men 18 to 26 years old may apply only if they have F or L draft classifications, or are 1-C. Qualified men 26 and less than 35 1-2 are being accepted for deck and engine training and men less than 50 1-2 for duty in the stewards' department. For information, applicants may write to the Commandant of the U. S. Maritime Service, Training Organization, War Shipping Administration, National Theatre Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Fuel Will Be Scarce This Winter

All fuel—coal, oil, gas and wood—will be scarce this coming winter, the Solid Fuels Administration for War says. There will be a deficit of about 38 million tons of coal. Consumers should order their coal now, during the summer season, and store whatever kind the dealer recommends. Household users using fuel oil should order their supply as soon as their new ration coupons become valid—probably, within the next month. By filling consumers' fuel orders early, dealers will be able to re-fill their own oil tanks or coal stockpiles and thus add to the total storage capacity of the rationed area for use later in the winter. The Solid Fuels Administration urges all fuel users to help conserve fuel next winter by weatherstripping, insulating and getting heating equipment in good shape now during the summer.

The United States Employment Service placed more than 74,000 veterans of the current war in civilian jobs during February and March. Use of mineral oil in salad dressings and in foods has harmful effects such as causing loss of vitamins, which, the Department of Agriculture says, far outweight its advantages and may lead to deficiency ills. Onions, now back in plentiful supply, according to WFA, are, if eaten raw, a source of vitamin C, and Thiamine. U. S. shipyard employment increased from 63,000 in January, 1935, to 1,722,000 in December, 1943, and the 1943 merchant ship tonnage delivered was 16 times the amount delivered in 1941, according to the Secretary of Labor. WPA reports that housewives will have to get along with short supplies of oilcloth for some time to come because of the war need for critical materials used in its manufacture.

COTTON BRIEFS

Grade Improvement

Washington, D. C. — Plans for an even more intensive cotton grade improvement campaign than the program conducted jointly by the National Cotton Council and the War Food Administration in 1943 have been laid in conferences between Council representatives and WFA officials. An even larger percentage of high grade cotton will be sought in this year's program. It is pointed out that higher grades not only help meet war demands, but also bring the farmer premium prices.

Study OPA Ceilings

Memphis, Tenn. — A comprehensive study of cotton textile ceilings is being made by the National Cotton Council with a view of determining whether or not these prices should be adjusted. Council representatives have held a series of conferences on the subject with representatives of the producers and manufacturers, and with OPA officials. If the study reveals that current textile ceilings are not reflecting parity prices to cotton farmers, an effort will be made to secure proper adjustments by OPA.

International Project

Acapulco, Mexico — Seed from the test crop of cotton grown on a plot here during the winter season by the National Cotton Council in cooperation with the Mexican Department of Agriculture will be planted on experimental plots near Dallas, Texas, and Las Cruces, N. Mexico, this spring. The winter planting in this country and the summer planting in the United States enable members of the Council's Research Division to speed up their seed breeding project, developing desired strains in half the normal time by growing two crops each year.

Ginning Improvement

Atlanta, Ga. — The 1944 Cotton Ginning Improvement program, being carried out by the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is in charge of three Extension Service cotton ginning specialists. They are J. C. Oglesbee for the Southeastern area, F. P. Johnson for the Central area, and Alfred M. Pendleton for the Western area. Representatives of the National Cotton Council are cooperating with the USDA in pushing the campaign.

Dirty Milk Pails May Cause Trouble

Families who still cling to the old practice of using syrup or lard buckets as milk pails are inviting trouble, for these are difficult to clean and furnish hiding places for bacteria. In addition, these buckets with a rim around the top rust easily.

A seamless, small-topped or hooded milk pail is recommended by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. If a hooded pail is not available, a seamless straight-edge one certainly should be provided, says Lucile King, Home Demonstration agent.

Another important piece of equipment necessary to clean milk is the strainer. Select one which can be cleaned easily and which is large enough to take care of the milk produced, Miss King advises. She considers preferably the strainer in which a cotton filter pad can be used. The pad should be used only once, then discarded.

Use of chlorine water to act as a sterilizer also is essential to the proper handling of milk. Following their use, milk utensils first should be rinsed with cool or lukewarm water, Miss King explains. Using hot water cooks the casein in the milk and makes the containers hard to clean. Next, wash the buckets, strainers, and bottles with hot water and an alkaline washing powder. Use a stiff brush, for it will clean much better than a dish rag and soap. After the bucket, strainer, and milk containers have been washed they should be rinsed with boiling water and turned wrong side up to dry. They should not be wiped. Just before starting to milk, rinse the utensils in the chlorine solution to sterilize them. This practice cost only about a half cent a day, Miss King estimates.

ELECTRIC POWER-

Magic Wand of America

You, as an American, come under the spell of this magic wand! Nearly everything you do is governed by electricity, a magic power that you have begun to take for granted like the clouds in the sky. In our nation's victory program, perhaps electric power is the most vital force. It is essential in producing bombs, shells, aluminum, and other war materials... essential in producing the elements needed to win the war on land, on and under the sea, and in the air. At the flip of a switch, the world's finest electric service is all yours, war or no war. You are the one who really operates the power plant and its facilities... as you and others like you control how much electricity it makes, and when it makes it. The whole system is there to respond to your touch, to your demand. That is what we really have to sell... Service with courtesy that is not rationed.
