WELCOME WEST TEXAS BOYS A. A. U.

TOURNAMENT PROMISES TO BE BIG SUCCESS AND COMPETITION IS KEEN

R. H. Schultze, Official A. A. U. Arrives Thursday Morning To Be In Charge, and Canton and Woody Are First Teams to Arrive. All Details of Meeting Have Been Completed and Seating and Heating of Gym Will Assure Comfort of Spectators.

The West Texas Boys' A. A. U. Basketball tournament which opens here today is the biggest athletic program ever staged in this section of the state, and we will have as our guests some sixteen teams from almost as many counties over West Texas, and one team (Canton) from East Texas. R. H. Schultze, official of the A. A. U., of Dallas, arrived in the city Thursday morning and will be in charge of the tournament, which is being held under the auspices of the Munday Chamber of Commerce.

Munday's welcome to the visiting teams and others is being made more festive on every side and arrangements have been made for entertaining them while in the city. Arrangements have been made to care for the teams at the hotels and at private homes and the citizens of Munday have given the fullest cooperation to the housing committee in this undertaking. The entertainment committee has been busy working out that feature of the program and one of the events that has been provided for the boys is a breakfast at the Masonic dining hall on Saturday morning. All visiting teams will be special guests of the Lions Club at their regular luncheon on Friday, the date for the luncheon having been set up one day in order that they might be guests.

The Munday High gym has been placed in fine condition for the meet, and all games will be held there. The seating arrangement has been completely changed so that all who attend the games may have a comfortable seat and enjoy the games. Additional stoves have been put up and the building can be kept comfortable under most any conditions that the weather man may see fit to give us and the Munday Chamber of Commerce Band, under the direction of Prof. John Hoffman will provide music for the evening program throughout the meet.

During the meet there will be some six or eight programs and season tickets have been provided for the event at a greatly reduced rate. These tickets may be purchased at any of the drug stores in Munday.

Thursday's Program
The tournament will open Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time O'Brien and Harrold will come to an understanding as to who's who. The fast O'Brien aggregation, coached by T. M. Moore, was the winners in the county championship tilt in Haskell county, and they will be opposed by the lively Harrold quintet, which is coached by S. P. Vick.

On the same program is scheduled the set-to between the fast Canton aggregation, which Supt. Rhodes tants as being a real team and the Woody boys, who hail from out in Lamessa country, and who have made some of the fastest organizations out that way sit up and know that Woody is on the map despite the fact that the map-makers hadn't heard of them when the maps were made. This game will begin at 4 o'clock.

The card for Thursday night is also a good one. Megargel and Haskell will decide some little matters in the opening tilt, and most every one roundabout knows that both are fast teams. Coach Herman K. Henry of Haskell and Coach G. L. Belcher of Megargel are coming to Munday to take home some of the honors, and just what they will do will be determined to some extent in the opening tilt Thursday evening at 7:30. And the closing tilt Thursday evening will be between our own Munday High Moguls and South Bend. While the Moguls will go into the battle greatly handicapped the boys are not down until they're out, and they are going after some of the honors for their own Munday High Moguls. Coach J. H. Bardwell, who knows who's who, is among the fastest in captivity, and if the Moguls get by the well here's hoping. This game starts at 8 o'clock. First round consolation games will

Terracing School On Munday Was Successful Despite the Rain

The terracing school held here on Monday by I. C. Wilson, county agent, and assisted by M. R. Bentley, terracing expert from A. and M. College, and A. K. (Dad) Short, soil specialist, with the Federal Land Bank of Houston, Texas, was a success despite the fact that the rain Sunday night threatened to make the demonstration impossible. In the morning the time was spent in a lecture course at the high school auditorium and during the afternoon the demonstration was held on the C. A. Eiland farm west of town, and there were about 150 interested farmers present to gather what information they could get on the subject of terracing and soil conservation.

While we are indeed glad to have had the good rain, we regret that it interfered to a great extent with the attendance of farmers at this demonstration and school of instruction, as we believe that the matter of terracing and soil conservation are subjects that need to be given serious consideration by the farmers of this section.

NICE RAIN FELL HERE DURING SUNDAY NIGHT

The Munday country received a very fine rain Sunday night, which amounted to .45 of an inch here, according to the gauge kept by A. E. Whittemore. However, it is said that the rain was much heavier west of town than in the immediate section of Munday, residents of the Gillespie community estimated that at least an inch fell there.

The rain will be somewhat local, however, as it did not rain as far south as Haskell and to the northwest it extended only a short distance beyond Benjamin.

The rain will be of great benefit to the farmers of this section as it will enable them to start their spring plowing and get their land in proper shape for planting.

Local Masons Observe Anniversary of Birth of George Washington

Washington's birthday, February 22nd, was observed by the Masonic fraternity in Munday in a very appropriate manner, and they had as their special guests on the occasion the Boy Scouts and the wives of the Masons.

A very interesting and instructive program was carried out, in which a most excellent talk was made by the Rev. E. B. Freeman on the early life of Washington, dealing with his early boyhood and on during the days when he served as a surveyor and through the Revolutionary war on to the Presidency.

Judge M. F. Billingsley gave a very interesting talk upon the early history of Masonry in Texas, stating that Stephen F. Austin, Captain Fannin and other immortal Texas patriots organized the first lodge in Texas at Brazoria in the turbulent days of Texas history. He told of the great accomplishments of the order in Texas since that time, and revealed that the order now owned institutions in Texas valued at more than $6,000,000.

Jerry Kethley gave a very appropriate reading, which was followed by a talk by Mr. Ben Parrish of the Quannah, Boy Scout executive of the Quannah Parker area. Mr. Parrish's talk was along Boy Scout work and was greatly enjoyed.

Following the program the guests and members were called to the dining room where a bounteous luncheon was served consisting of sandwiches, coffee, chocolate and cake. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Land of Childress are here for an extended visit with their son, R. T. Land, and the senior Mr. Land will be associated with his son in the automobile business. For a number of years Mr. Land was in the automobile business at Childress and will doubtless be a valuable asset to his son in the business here.

WELCOME TO A. A. U. BOYS!
It is a pleasure to the citizens of Munday to have as their guests the high school basketball boys of West Texas. We are glad to have you with us for we know that you represent the clean young manhood of West Texas, and enjoy clean sportsmanship.
We want your visit to Munday to be an enjoyable one and assure you that we shall do everything possible to make it so.

AAU NOTES
Among the early arrivals for the A. A. U. Tournament was the Canton team. They arrived in the city on Wednesday afternoon and are ready to match their skill with the best in the west, and from reports that have reached us from former Van Zaners, they're going to be hard competition for some team.
Editor Geo. F. Smith, editor of the Snyder Signal, together with Glenn Solens arrived Thursday afternoon for the tournament. Editor Smith is an enthusiastic basketball fan and has given the local committee very valuable assistance in laying plans for the boys tournament. Snyder recently entertained the West Texas A. A. U. girls' tournament, and from reports that we have received of the meet it was the best ever held in West Texas.

ATTENTION A. A. U. BOYS!
A free copy of the basketball edition of The Munday Times awaits every visitor to Munday during the tournament. None are for sale. They are yours for the asking and a genuine pleasure for us to have you carry home Knox county's leading newspaper.
May your visit here be one of complete enjoyment and a happy ending is the sincere wish of every Munday citizen.

J. W. DAVY SECURES AGENCY HUDSON-ESSEX AT TERRELL

The following item is taken from the Terrell Daily Tribune and concerns J. W. Davy, a former citizen of Munday and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davy of this city. He was formerly associated with various automobile concerns of this city and those who know his ability as a salesman will not be surprised at his success. J. W. Davy has secured the agency for the Hudson-Exsex cars for Terrell and is opening a modern showroom at the corner of Moore avenue and Delphine street.

Mr. Davy is well known to the people of Terrell and surrounding territory as a man of untiring energy, absolutely honest, and a real hustler in every sense of the word, and will make a valuable addition to Terrell's business circles.
He has been connected with the Ferguson Motor company of Dallas for over two years, therefore is thoroughly familiar with the line of cars he has chosen. During the past few months he has been with the Mayfield Motor company of this city and has not only made friends with the people at large, but particularly with the automobile dealers, his competitors.

SHARKEY GETS DECISION IN MIAMI BEACH RING

Many radio fans listened in on the Sharkey-Stirling fight Wednesday evening, in which Sharkey was given a decision by Referee Lou Marnolia. The fight was a listless affair and spectators were displeased with the lack of aggressive fighting on both sides.

G. W. Sully Will Give Talk Here Tuesday Evening

"The time has come when merchants must set aside their petty jealousies and look at the problems of community and of modern merchandising as a whole. Through meetings of all merchants and business men in the community, bankers, etc., a community can discover not only where the need for improvement exists, but also the means by which those improvements can be accomplished. As a result of the increased confidence in one another, the discussion of problems and the exchange of ideas, many of the baffling problems which confront the merchant of today can be removed.

This statement, made a short time ago by Mr. G. W. Sully, of the Merchants Service Division of the National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio, is the outgrowth of years of study and observation of the business conditions of the various communities throughout the United States and Canada.

Mr. Sully will speak in Munday on Tuesday, March 5, before the Retail Merchants Association. The address will be given at the City Hall at 7:30 p. m.

The Dayton man has been brought to this city through the cooperation of the National Cash Register Company's Sales agent in this district. An interesting feature of the talk will be the graphic presentation of each point made by the speaker by means of charts and illustrations which he will sketch as he carries on the discussion. Every angle of the lecture will be illustrated with practical examples.

From files of The Munday Times, February 12, 1909.

"The Goree Bomber" is the name of the new Goree paper which made its first appearance last week. Z. Monroe, formerly of Munday, is at the helm.

News reached here yesterday of the marriage of Killian Homer to Miss Mary Morath. The wedding took place at St. Joseph's Catholic church at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Bob Reeves took an auto ride Wednesday from Munday to Haskell via Knox City and Rule, returning on the 11 o'clock train. There is a probability of an auto line being established over this route in the near future.

Thursday noon the last brick on the new $10,000 Methodist church was laid. When the trimmings and entrance are completed, which will require only a few days, the exterior work will be done. Contractor Huskinson said this morning: "As soon as the windows arrive the finishing touches will be hurriedly made."
Cullum Campbell and Clarence Eiland went to Seymour last night to see Black Patti.

Miss Dora Osuley of Haskell is visiting in the home of her brother, P. H. Broach and family here this week.
With this issue the Times bids farewell to the old home south of the concrete block, and hereafter will be found in her new home one block west of First National Bank, fronting Main street.
A. S. Reddick returned Sunday from a visit to relatives in Wichita Falls. In speaking of that place he says: "It is destined to become a city in a very short time; a hundred residences are now under construction and every one is rented. Fifteen new business houses are nearing completion, miles of concrete sidewalks are being laid and a street car line is to be installed in the near future."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

We have been happy to note the good increase in Sunday school and church attendance the past two Sundays. The Sunday school has pepped up some distance beyond the 250 mark. The renewed interest and cooperation and general work of our teachers and officers is very encouraging.

Next Sunday morning at the close of the preaching service we will observe the Lord's Supper. In the preaching service we will discuss the question of Baptists and, so called, "Close Communion." If you have a question on this subject feel free to ask it, either during the service or before the service. Come Sunday morning and let's get our minds straight on this question. Shall we follow the Bible, or tradition? Shall we get our bearings from God's word, or from some musty prayer-book?

Let us keep in mind that Mr. G. S. Hopkins, our State Sunday School Secretary, will be with us Sunday morning, March 10th. This is quite a distinction for the Munday church. With only 52 Sundays in the year and so many schools in the state for him to give us one Sunday from a visit to relatives in Wichita Falls. In speaking of that place he means much. We should give him a rousing, enthusiastic crowd. He will also be the main speaker in the Association! Rally held at our church that afternoon.

Special music is being prepared for both services Sunday.
Come to church where everybody is somebody.
The church with a welcome.

The newest thing in sportswear is perhaps the two-piece costume of heavy knitted silk with drawn work motifs and embroidery done in colored chenille.

This is quite aside from the futuristic tendencies of the jerseys and gives a delightfully feminine touch that will be welcome to many who are a bit conservative.

ETHEL HARRYMORE (now playing in "The Kingdom of God") illustrates the model for us. Here the ground of the costume is a rich beige shade with motifs embroidered in beige, orange and brown tones. The kerchief is pale brown and beige checked silk with a dark brown border.

While not so practical for all types and complexions, certain raspberry and green shades in this model are made particularly effective through the colors introduced in the embroidery.

Ginghams?

They are a long way off, perhaps—but prepare yourself. We hear that ginghams will compete with prints and linens for summer wear and that shops are wondering how we will "take" their simple checks and plaids and stripes after so much that is geometrical and flowered. We've an idea we'll extend them a hearty greeting!

Contrasting Colors For Coat Suits
You are perhaps speculating upon the color of the blouse for your new spring suit. Well, you need not be all-of-a-tone this time. The forecast runs somewhat as follows: A yellow blouse with the wood brown suit; red beige or white with navy blue; gray prints with black; light green and so on. We should be able to work out some very charming effects in this way.

The Leaf Motif New

Swinging away from rosy-posy patterns, we find the leaf motif an outstanding feature of new printed chiffons. And these designs are far from naturalistic—sometimes but a mere outline of the leaf splashed or speckled with varied colors; again the design is of the highly idealized type.

Your beauty's a flower, in the morning that blows
And withers the faster, the faster it grows.
—BURNS.

Earlier in the month, in speaking of the different types of skin, I likened the thin skin to a fine piece of silk. I also told you that the thin skin possesses a transparent delicacy and a clear inner tone, and that the lack of natural oil in the system of the thin-skinned woman makes the pore structure less apparent.

This is the type of skin that really requires the greatest amount of care. And it is more delicate in texture and does not have the resistance of the heavier or thicker skin which can more easily throw off the effects of the elements. The thin or dry skin will chap, redden and peel much more quickly than one that is thick or oily.

Therefore, in the daily care of such a skin it is very important to use preparations that will replace some of the oil which is lacking naturally. And for that reason, I advocate only the occasional use of water for cleansing the dry skin. After the extreme dry condition has been corrected by frequent applications of rich feeding creams that will help to build up the starved skin texture, water can be used more frequently, but not daily. The action of water on the dry skin is to dry still further any of the natural oil that might remain in the skin, and make the skin almost arid, so to speak. Whereas the frequent application of rich, nourishing and feeding creams will give some of the oils that it lacks naturally.

The essential steps to beauty for the dry skin are: Cleansing, stimulating, nourishing and toning.

The cleansing should consist of an application of good cleansing cream worked in lightly with the finger tips. Be sure in applying your creams not to stretch or pull the skin, but work them in gently.

The stimulation should consist of a mild stimulating lotion that will whip up the circulation and bring the blood to the surface. The nourishment should be in the form of a feeding massage cream, rich in consistency.

Your daily beauty treatment should be finished with the application of a skin-toning lotion that is especially prepared for dry skins and which is only slightly astringent, as the majority of women who possess thin skins do not have a great amount of fleshy tissue.

Those who have dry skins should give very special attention to the flesh surrounding the eyes, as this oftentimes is more dry than the rest of the face, and unless it is fed generously with a rich anti-wrinkle cream (if possible left on overnight), you will soon see the approach of fine lines and wrinkles below and at the sides of the eyes.

BANKERS BROUGHT TOGETHER DAIRY DEVELOPMENT AT MURFREESBORO, TENN.

By M. R. Oates

At our conference with the three bankers at Murfreesboro, one of them stated in the presence of the others that the rivalry between them used to be so keen that they would not work together, scarcely ever called on each other on any sort of business and never cooperated on anything. The presence of all of them at our conference is evidence of the good feeling that exists at present. In developing the dairy industry of Rutherford county, they said the bankers got together and every banker and every merchant gave his united support. Then they got the schools of the county behind the dairy movement and sentiment for the dairy business has continued to grow. One of the bankers said "Every business man is a field man" for the condensation and the creamery.

Further evidence of the get-together spirit was manifest in the representative group of business men who attended the banquet given us by the Chamber of Commerce. They gave us a welcome that made us feel like we had arrived. We were extended courtesies so generously that we were reluctant to leave the next morning. But we were pleased because we had seen the largest Carnation Condensery of the south according to the field representative of the Carnation Company and we had visited the largest cooperative creamery in the world according to local citizens. Certainly the creamery was much larger than any seen on our trip. Both of these big plants are located in Murfreesboro, a town of only 5500 population. The county, however, has 5286 farms and dairy farmers have an average of 10 cows which average 150 pounds of butterfat per year. There are 25,000 dairy cows in the county.

The creamery was started in 1914 at a cost of $5000, every penny of the money being borrowed. Thirty-five patrons signed up for 400 cows. The first year the creamery lost money but has been successful every year since. In 1926 the creamery made 1,422,000 pounds of butter. Then on July 1, 1927, the Carnation Condensery opened for business, but the condensation seemed to help the creamery because in 1927 the output of butter from the creamery increased 450,000 pounds over the previous year bringing the 1927 creamery production up to 1,882,000 pounds of butter and the manager of the creamery told us in August that the production for 1928 would pass 2,000,000 pounds. This creamery now has 2100 patrons who supply milk from 15,000 cows. The creamery did a business of $350,000 in 1927. The plant is now worth $100,000. The creamery makes sour cream butter scoring from 90 to 92 and selling on the markets of the world. Fifty percent of the butter is sold retail.

The Carnation Condensery has a $250,000 investment at Murfreesboro. The condensery has 1500 patrons and is now receiving 156,000 pounds of milk daily. The enormous volume of dairy business done around Murfreesboro is shown by the amounts paid out by these two milk plants on July 1, 1927. The creamery paid out on this date $98,000 and the condensery paid out $102,000 making a total of $200,000, paid out in one day for dairy products, produced in one month. There are also three cream stations in the county paying out $15,000 per month. Cream bought by them goes to Nashville which is only about forty miles to the north.

This large volume of dairy business required a large number of cows. The policy of the bankers has been an important factor in the large dairy development of the county. The usual custom is to take notes and mortgages which provide for monthly payment on the cows. It is agreed in the body of the mortgage to pay half

What Happened Before

Palermo is the scene. There an exile Leonardo di Marioni has come for love of Adrienne Cartuccio, who spurns him. He meets an Englishman, Lord St. Maurice, who falls in love with Adrienne on sight. Leonardo sees his sister Margharita, who tells him his love for Adrienne is hopeless. But he pleads with her to arrange an accidental meeting, to say farewell, between Adrienne and him.

She consents. That night the Englishman is informed of an attempt being made to carry off Signorina Cartuccio, and Margharita, who are walking by brigands employed by a rejected suitor on a lonely road. He rushes to the scene, and proves able to rescue the ladies.

Inflamed by the failure of his scheme, Leonardo sees Margharita who shows him she knows that he was the instigator of the attempted attack. The Englishman, sitting in the hotel, finds a dagger at his feet, looking up, he sees the Sicilian, and seems trouble. "We sat here a week ago," recalls Leonardo. Lord St. Maurice nods.

Leonardo and the Englishman quarrel. The Englishman at first refused to accept a challenge to duel, then when the Italian slaps him consents. The two men face each other ready to fight to the death.

New Gun On With The Story
It was a fair spot which their two seconds had chosen to stain with bloodshed. Close almost to their feet, the blue waters of the Mediterranean, glistening in the early morning sunlight, broke in tiny, rippling waves upon the firm white sand. Inland was a semi-circle of steep cliffs, at the base of which there were great boulders of rock, fern-covered and with hyacinths of many colors growing out of the crevices, and lending a sweet fragrance to the fresh morning air. It was a spot shut off from the world, for the towering cliffs ran out into the sea on either side, completely enclosing the little cove. There was only one possible approach to it, save by boat, and that a difficult and tedious one, and, looking upward from the shore, hard to discover. But on the northward side the cliffs suddenly dropped, and in the cleft was a thick plantation of aloe through which a winding path led down to the beach.

Perhaps of all the little group gathered down there to witness and take part in the coming tragedy, Signor Prucio, Lord St. Maurice's second, was looking the most disturbed and anxious. His man, he knew, must fall, and an ugly winking dread was in his heart. It was so like a murder. He pictured to himself that fair boyish face—and in the clear morning sunlight the young Englishman's face showed marvelously few signs of the night of agony which he had passed—ghastly and livid, with the stamp of death upon the forehead, and the deep blue eyes glazed and dull. It was an awful thing, yet what could he do? What hope was there? Leonardo di Marioni he knew to be a famous swordsman; Lord St. Maurice had never fenced since he had left Eton, and scarcely remembered the positions. It was doubtful even whether he had ever held a rapier. But what Signor Prucio feared most was the pale, unflinching hate in the Sicilian's white face. He loathed it, and yet it fascinated him. He knew, alas how easily, by one swift turn of the wrist, he would be able to pass his sword through the Englishman's body, mocking at his unskilled defense. He fancied that he could see the arms thrown up to heaven, the fixed, wild eyes, the red blood spurting out from the wound and staining the virgin earth; almost he fancied that he could hear the death-cry break from those agonized white lips. Horrible effort of the imagination! What evil chance had made him offer his services to this young English lord, and dragged him into assisting at a duel which could be but a farce—worse than a farce, a murder? He would have given half his fortune for an earthquake to have come and swallowed up that merciless Sicilian.

Signor Prucio had delayed the duel as long as he could, under the pretext of waiting for the doctor who had been instructed to follow them, but who had not yet arrived. He had pleaded that they might wait for a few minutes longer. To enter upon a duel a fortuance, save in the presence of a medical man, was a thing unheard of, he declared. But at last this respite was exhausted, and the opposing second, with a pleasant smile, had remarked that he himself was skilled in surgery, and would be happy to officiate should any necessity arise. There was no longer any excuse. Lord St. Maurice himself insisted upon the signal being given. Sadly therefore he prepared to give it. Already both men had fallen into position. The word trembled upon his lips.

A flock of sea-birds flew screaming over their heads, and he waited a moment until they should have passed. Then he raised his hand. "Stop!"

The cry was a woman's. They all looked round. Only a few yards away from them stood Adrienne, her fair hair streaming loose in the morning breeze, and her gown torn and soiled. She had just issued from the sloping aloe plantation, and was trembling in every limb from the speed of her descent.

The clout on the Sicilian's face grew black as night.

"This is no sight for you to look upon!" he cried, between his teeth. "You will not save your lover by waiting. You had better go, or I will kill him before your eyes!"

She walked calmly between them, and looked from one to the other.

"Lord St. Maurice, I need not ask you, I know! This duel is not of your seeking?"

"It is not!" he answered, lowering his sword. "The fellow insulted me, and I punished him publicly in the restaurant of the Hotel de l'Europe last night. In my opinion, that squared matters, but he demanded satisfaction, and from his point of view, I suppose he has a right to it. I am quite ready to give it to him."

The seconds had fallen back. They three were alone. She went up to the Sicilian and laid her hand upon his arm.

"Leonardo, we have been friends, have we not? Why should you seek to do that which will make us enemies for ever? I never gave you one word of hope; I never loved you; I never could have loved you! Why should you seek to murder the man whom I do love, and make me miserable for ever?"

His face was ghastly, but he showed no sign of being moved by her words.

"Bah! You talk as you feel—just now!" he said quickly. "I tell you that I do not believe one word. If he had not come between us, you would have been mine some day. Love like mine would have conquered in the end. Away! away!" he cried, pushing her back in growing excitement, and stamping on the ground with his feet. "The sight of you only maddens me, and nerves my arm to kill! Though you beg on your knees for his life, that man shall die!"

"I shall not beg upon my knees," she answered proudly. "Yet, Leonardo, for your own sake, for the sake of your own happiness, bid you once more consider. You would stain your hand with the blood of the man who is more to me than you can ever be. Is this what you call love? Leonardo, beware! I am not a woman to be lightly robbed of what is dear to me. Put up your sword, or you will repent it to your dying day."

The Sicilian was unmoved. The sight of the woman he loved championing his foe seemed to madden him.

"Out of my way!" he cried, grasping his sword firmly. "Lord St. Maurice, are you not weary of skulking behind a woman's petticoats? On guard! I say. On guard!"

She suddenly flung her hands above her head, and there was what seemed to be a miraculous increase in the little group. Three men in plain, dark clothes sprang from behind a sloping aloe plantation, and in an instant, the Sicilian was seized from behind.

He looked around at his captors, pale and furious. They were strangers to him. As yet, he did not realize what had happened.

"What does this mean?" he cried furiously. "Who dares to lay hands upon me? We are upon free ground!"

She shook her head.

"Leonardo, you have brought this upon yourself," she said, firmly but compassionately. "You plotted to murder the man I love. I warned you that, to protect him, there was nothing which I would not dare. Only a moment ago I gave you another chance. One word from you and I would have thrown these papers into the sea," producing a packet from her bosom, "rather than have placed them where I do now!"

A fourth man had strolled out of the aloe grove, smoking a long cigarette. Into his hands Adrienne had placed the little packet of letters which he accepted with a low bow.

Even now the Sicilian felt bewildered; but as his eyes fell upon the fourth man he started and trembled violently, gazing at him as though fascinated.

"I do not understand!" he faltered. The fourth man removed his cigarette from his teeth and produced a paper.

"Permit me to explain," he said politely. "I have here a warrant for your arrest, Count di Marioni, alias Leonardo di Cortegi, on two counts; first, that you, being an exile, have returned to Italian soil; and secondly, on a further and separate charge of conspiracy against the Italian Government, in collusion with a secret society, calling themselves 'Members of the Order of the White Hyacinth.' The proofs of the latter conspiracy, which were wanting at your first trial, have now been furnished."

He touched the little roll of papers which he has just received, and, with a low, full back. There was an ominous silence.

At the mention of his first name a deathlike pallor had swept in upon the Sicilian's face. His manner suddenly became quite quiet and free from excitement. But there was a look in his dark eyes more awful than had been previous fury.

"You have done a brave thing indeed, Adrienne!" he said slowly. "You have saved your lover. You have betrayed the man who would have given his life to serve you. Listen to me! As I loved you before, so do I hate you now! As my love for you in the past has governed my life, and brought me always to your side, so in the days to come shall my undying hate for you and that man shape my actions and mold my life, and bring me over sea and land to the farthest corners of the earth to wreak my vengeance upon you. Be it ten, or twenty, or thirty years, they keep me rotting in their prisons, the time will come when I shall be free again; and then, beware! Search your memory for the legends of our race! Was ever a hate forgotten, or an oath broken? Hear me swear, he cried, raising his clasped hands above his head with a sudden passionate gesture, "by the sun, and the sky, and the sea, and the earth, I swear that, as they continue unchanged and unchanging, so shall my hate for you remain! Ah! you can take your lover's hand, traitress, and think to find protection there. But in your heart I read your fear. The day shall come when you shall kneel at my feet for mercy, and there shall be no mercy. Gentlemen, my sword. I am at your service."

PART TWO
Twenty-five Years Later

For three days Count Leonardo di Marioni abode in his sitting-room at the Hotel Continental, living the life of a man in a dream. So far as the outside world was concerned, it was a complete case of suspended animation. Of all that passed around him he was only dimly conscious. The faces of his fellow creatures were strange to him. He had lost touch with the world, and the light of his reason was flickering; almost it seemed as though it would go out indeed, and leave him groping in the chasm of insanity. Mechanically he rose late in the morning, ate what was brought to him, or ordered what was suggested. All day long he sat in a sort of dreamless apathy, living still the life of the last five and twenty years of imprisonment, and finding no change, save that the chair in which he sat was softer, and the fire over which he stretched his withered palms was a new experience to him. There were things even which he missed in the freedom—if freedom it could be called. He missed the warm dancing sunlight which, day by day, had filled the shabby sitting-room of his confinement. He missed that patch of deep blue sky seen through his high, barred window, and the fragrant scents of the outside world which, day by day, had floated through it. He missed the kindly greeting of his pitying gaoler, and the simple food—the macaroni, the black coffee, and the fruit—which had been served to him; and above all, there was something else which he missed.

Methodist Missionary Society Entertains With Colonial Tea

One of the loveliest affairs of the past week was the colonial silver tea, sponsored by members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. E. E. Akers, Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The reception suite was attractively decorated with spring flowers, while in the dining room small American flags were used in the decorations. The dining table was centered with a bowl of lovely flowers with a spread carrying the red, white and blue colors and held lovely silver tea services which were presided over by Mrs. S. E. McStay, Mrs. W. H. Chapman and Mrs. R. D. Atkinson, cleverly dressed in colonial costumes.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by Mrs. D. E. Holder, who introduced them to those forming the receiving line, Mrs. John Lane, costumed as President George Washington; Mrs. P. V. Williams, as Martha Washington and Mrs. R. B. Freeman as Betsy Ross. A very interesting program was given, which included a reading by Mrs. R. G. Eiland telling of the meeting, courtship and married life of George and Martha Washington giving intimate bits of information concerning these two which seemed to rekindle the fire of patriotism in the hearts of those present; a piano solo by Miss Thornton; a solo by Mrs. Adrin Mason, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. F. Billingsley; a solo by Mrs. E. F. Kunkel, accompanied by Miss Thornton at the piano and readings by Louise Ringer and Junior Eiland. A school by eight young ladies in colonial costumes was very prettily given, which included Messrs. Fern Hogan, Lillian McGlothlin, Louise Atkinson, Madeline Craig, Frances McLeod, Louise Aycock, Hazel Dean, Eiland and Margie Harris. Old fashioned music featured the entertainment with Mrs. M. F. Billingsley playing the piano, Mrs. Adrin Mason, violin and Mrs. J. A. Kennedy cornet.

A dainty refreshment plate was served to about fifty guests. Favors were George Washington hatches.

Red Top 4-H Club Elects Officers

The Red Top Girls 4-H club met Friday afternoon of last week and perfected a new organization. In the election of officers, Ella Young was elected president; Edith Wardlow, secretary; Iva Dell Frausier, reporter. Other members are Lola Bowen, Ara Flood, Jimmie Rister, Jimmie Lois Frausier. Meetings will be held on first and third Thursdays of each month. An invitation is extended to those interested to attend.

Mrs. Alexander Thursday Club Hostess

Mrs. Robert E. Alexander entertained members of the Thursday Luncheon club and a few guests at her home Thursday with a prettily appointed luncheon. Tallies suggestive of colonial days were used in the games of progressive "42" enjoyed throughout the afternoon. Those present were Mrs. W. H. Atkinson, Mrs. T. G. Bengel, Mrs. S. E. McStay, Mrs. A. A. Smith, Mrs. Fred Warren, Mrs. H. C. Fritz, Mrs. H. C. Arbuckle, Mrs. G. H. Craig, Mrs. R. T. Land, Mrs. M. H. Reeves, and Miss Grace Nelson.

EDWARDS-CARTER

On Monday, February 11, Miss Faye Edwards and Mr. Ted Carter, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hammock, motored to Seymour, where they were united in marriage by the Rev. J. R. Balch, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Miss Edwards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Edwards of this city and is one of the most popular young ladies of Munday.

Mr. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carter of this city. Mr. Carter is manager of the Maytag Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter and their young people are to make their home in Munday and we join their many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous married life.

We are in receipt of a pretty blue-bordered announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Williams of Lorraine, which conveys the information that little Martha Jo Williams arrived on the scene of action February 22—and should grow up to be a very truthful little girl.

Little Miss Rowan Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Russell, was stricken seriously with appendicitis on Sunday morning and was carried to the Knox County Hospital at Knox City for an operation, which was successfully performed, and word from there is to the effect that she is getting along nicely, which will be pleasing to her many friends. Mr. Russell called at this office Wednesday and asked that we convey his sincere thanks to Rowan and other members of the family to Class 7 A of the Munday public school for the beautiful bouquet of flowers that they sent and to say that nothing could have been appreciated more than their thoughtfulness.

A number of members of the Farmers Union in this county will go to Longview, Texas, on Thursday night to attend a joint meeting of the Farmers Union of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, and at which meeting a reorganization of the union will likely be perfected. Those who will go from this section are J. D. Henderson, J. E. Edwards, Peter Loran and Joe Koenig, and possibly others.

Beginning at midnight Tuesday night the American Railway Express Co., the Wells Fargo and all other express companies ceased to exist, all express business having been taken over by the railroad companies and will be operated by the Railway Express, Inc., a gigantic corporation owned by the various railway systems of the country. Many changes will likely be made in the handling of express and it is predicted by some that the new concern will take some drastic step against the strengthening of motor transportation, and it is believed that the public can be better served by the new management.

THE FUMBLE FAMILY

By Dunkel

A BRAVE MAN DEAD. INHERITED GENEROSITY. HUMAN SACRIFICES. USEFUL WARNINGS.

Those that pity themselves because their health is not quite what it ought to be may consider Baron von Humfeld, who died on the operating table, undergoing his thirteenth operation...

Suffering hopelessly, knowing that he could not live long and must endure many operations, von Humfeld planned and carried out the German flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

J. Pierpont Morgan gives New York Hospital two buildings worth $5,000,000. Giving seems to be inherited, as illustrated also in the case of the Rockefeller family.

Mr. Morgan's father gave to New York one of its finest institutions, a great living in hospital.

Serious rotting in India is caused by a report that Mohammedan kidnaped Hindu children and sacrificed them in connection with the construction of a new bridge.

Once important words were mostly accompanied by human sacrifices. Somebody was killed and buried under the corner of a new building.

Madame Bell's Pollack died in Rumania, aged 118, leaving twenty-one children, the oldest eighty-five, and a fiancé who would have been her third husband.

Men often live long when the danger wills them that they will soon die. A strong mind may control a weak body.

The famous Luigi Corrao became interested in his health when doctors told him at forty that he must soon die.

Only twenty-seven, and his name is known wherever men are civilized.

Only twenty-seven, and already he has conquered the ocean, and, what is more important, the respect of every man and woman.

This young American's history makes millions of others feel as Alexander did when he read the life of Alexander the Great and suddenly burst into tears, realizing that Alexander had conquered the world when he was younger than Caesar was then.

Herbert Hoover may find important aviation work for Lindbergh. Nothing more probable. An engineer knows that somebody who knows how to do what you want done is valuable.

Mr. Hoover understands the engineering part of flying and all its importance, from mail carrying to national defense.

Colonel Lindbergh understands the flying part. A fine combination.

SPITTING

At best a vulgar habit, which can be done away with if we would devote a little time and attention to the task. There is no superior remedy as I write this. I believe in the practice of what I preach.

The saliva is a very necessary digestive fluid. It was not provided as a luxury, but as a necessity. To waste it is to disturb the normal balance in our adjustment. The habit of spitting is a symptom indicating disease.

Sputum may contain many forms of bacteria; in fact, the "spitter" usually has an infected throat, causing increased secretion. To expectorate on the sidewalk, or on the ground about the home, is to smear the premises with germs which, after drying, are ready to avenge into some innocent respiratory tract.

To sneeze in your neighbor's face, exhibits idiocy of course. To expectorate where it will dry and be carried to the throat of an unsuspecting victim, is equally ignorant, if not positively criminal.

Mr. Hoover understands the engineering part of flying and all its importance, from mail carrying to national defense. Colonel Lindbergh understands the flying part. A fine combination.

NURSES know, and doctors have declared there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin for all sorts of aches and pains, but be sure it's genuine Bayer; that name must be on the package, and on every tablet. Methodist Missionary Society Entertains With Colonial Tea

One of the loveliest affairs of the past week was the colonial silver tea, sponsored by members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. E. E. Akers, Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The reception suite was attractively decorated with spring flowers, while in the dining room small American flags were used in the decorations. The dining table was centered with a bowl of lovely flowers with a spread carrying the red, white and blue colors and held lovely silver tea services which were presided over by Mrs. S. E. McStay, Mrs. W. H. Chapman and Mrs. R. D. Atkinson, cleverly dressed in colonial costumes.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by Mrs. D. E. Holder, who introduced them to those forming the receiving line, Mrs. John Lane, costumed as President George Washington; Mrs. P. V. Williams, as Martha Washington and Mrs. E. B. Freeman as Betsy Ross. A very interesting program was given, which included a reading by Mrs. R. G. Eiland telling of the meeting, courtship and married life of George and Martha Washington giving intimate bits of information concerning these two which seemed to rekindle the fire of patriotism in the hearts of those present; a piano solo by Miss Thornton; a solo by Mrs. Adrin Macon, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. F. Billingsley; a solo by Mrs. E. F. Kunkel, accompanied by Miss Thornton at the piano and readings by Lucile Bauger and Junior Eiland. A duet by eight young ladies in colonial costumes was very prettily given, which included Misses Fern Hogan, Lillian McGlothlin, Louise Atkinson, Madeline Craig, Frances McCord, Louise Aycock, Hazel Dean Eiland and Margie Harris. Old fashioned music featured the entertainment with Mrs. M. F. Billingsley playing the piano, Mrs. Adrin Macon, violin and Mrs. J. A. Kennedy cornet.

A dainty refreshment plate was served to about fifty guests. Favors were George Washington hatchets.

Red Top 4-H Club Elects Officers

The Red Top Girls 4-H club met Friday afternoon of last week and perfected a new organization. In the election of officers, Ella Young was elected president; Edith Wardlow, secretary; Iva Dell Frasure, reporter. Other members are Lola Bowen, Ara Floyd, Jimmie Hester, Jimmie Lois Frasure. Meetings will be held on first and third Thursdays of each month. An invitation is extended to those interested to attend.

Mrs. Alexander Thursday Club Hostess

Mrs. Robert E. Alexander entertained members of the Thursday Luncheon club and a few guests at her home Thursday with a prettily appointed luncheon. Tallies suggestive of colonial days were used in the games of progressive "42" enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

Those present were Mrs. W. H. Atkinson, Mrs. T. G. Bengel, Mrs. S. E. McStay, Mrs. A. A. Smith, Mrs. Fred Warren, Mrs. D. C. Fritz, Mrs. H. C. Arbuckle, Mrs. G. H. Craig, Mrs. R. T. Land, Mrs. M. H. Reeves, and Miss Grace Nelson.

EDWARDS-CARTER

On Monday, February 11, Miss Faye Edwards and Mr. Ted Carter, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hammock, motored to Seymour, where they were united in marriage by the Rev. J. R. Balch, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Miss Edwards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Edwards of this city and is one of the most popular young ladies of Munday.

Mr. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carter of this city. Mr. Carter is manager of the Maytag Shop.

We understand these young people are to make their home in Munday and we join their many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous married life.

We are in receipt of a pretty blue-bordered announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Williams of Lorraine, which conveys the information that little Martha Jo Williams arrived on the scene of action February 22—and should grow up to be a very truthful little girl.

Little Miss Rowena Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Russell, was stricken seriously with appendicitis on Sunday morning and was carried to the Knox County Hospital at Knox City for an operation, which was successfully performed, and word from there is to the effect that she is getting along nicely, which will be pleasing to her many friends. Mr. Russell called at this office Wednesday and asked that we convey the sincere thanks of Rowena and other members of the family to Class 7 A of the Munday public school for the beautiful bouquet of flowers that they sent and to say that nothing could have been appreciated more than their thoughtfulness.

A number of members of the Farmers Union in this county will go to Longview, Texas, on Thursday night to attend a joint meeting of the Farmers Union of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, and at which meeting a reorganization of the union will likely be perfected. Those who will go from this section are J. D. Henderson, J. E. Edwards, Peter Loran and Joe Koenig, and possibly others.

Beginning at midnight Tuesday night the American Railway Express Co., the Wells Fargo and all other express companies ceased to exist, all express business having been taken over by the railroad companies and will be operated by the Railway Express, Inc., a gigantic corporation owned by the various railway systems of the country. Many changes will likely be made in the handling of express and it is predicted by some that the new concern will take some drastic step toward protecting their business against the encroachment of motor transportation, and it is believed that the public can be better served by the new management.

THE FUMBLE FAMILY

By Dunkel

A BRAVE MAN DEAD. INHERITED GENEROSITY. HUMAN SACRIFICES. USEFUL WARRIORS.

Those that pity themselves because their health is "not quite what it ought to be" may consider Baron von Huenefeld, who died on the operating table, undergoing his thirteenth operation for an incurable disease of the stomach that had afflicted him for years.

Suffering hopelessly, knowing that he could not live long and must endure many operations, von Huenefeld planned and carried out the German-Look flight across the Atlantic Ocean. Such courage and will power should make others ashamed to complain.

J. Pierpont Morgan gives New York Hospital two buildings worth $2,500,000. Giving seems to be inherited, as illustrated also in the case of the Rockefeller.

Mr. Morgan's father gave to New York one of its finest institutions, a great long-in hospital.

Serious rioting in India is caused by a report that the Shamandans kidnapped Hindu children and sacrificed them in connection with the construction of a new bridge. The report probably is not true.

Once important works were usually accompanied by human sacrifices. Somebody was killed and buried under the corner of a new building. A child or adult was often killed and buried in a shallow hole in a field newly planted. Knowledge of modern scientific theories observed with "religious awe" that the grass grew greener where the corpse was buried.

Madame Bella Pollack died in Rumana, aged 118, leaving twenty-one children, the oldest eighty-five, and a fiancé who would have been her third husband. Madame Pollack ate two and one-half pounds of black bread and a pound of sugar every day, and was very fat.

Men often live long when the doctor tells them they will soon die. A warning notice from a doctor. James McInerney, twice Lord Mayor of York, England, is dead, aged one hundred. Insurance company refused him as a bad risk twenty years ago.

The famous Luigi Corcoran became interested in his health when doctors told him at forty that he must soon die. He ate only twice a course of cold food, drank fitness courses of red wine daily, died at one hundred and four.

Lindbergh, on his way from Miami to Panama, "tapped off" on his twenty-seventh birthday.

Only twenty-seven, and his name is known wherever men are civilized. Only twenty-seven, and already he has conquered the ocean, and, what is more important, the respect of every man and woman.

This young American's history makes millions of others feel as Caesar did when he read the life of Alexander the Great and suddenly burst into tears, realizing that Alexander had conquered the world when he was younger than Caesar was then.

"Herbert Hoover may find important aviation work for Lindbergh." Nothing more probable. An engineer knows that somebody who knows how to do what you want done is valuable.

Mr. Hoover understands the engineering part of flying and all its importance, from mail carrying to national defense.

Colese Lindbergh understands the flying part. A fine combination.

SAME PRESCRIPTION
HE WROTE IN 1892

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as today. People lived longer lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air. But even that early there were drastic physical and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings. The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe bowel stimulant.

This prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative. It has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulences, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds, fevers. At your druggist or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. 33, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

SPITTING
At least a vulgar habit, which can be done away with if we would devote a little time and attention to the task. There is no cuspidor near my desk as I write this. I believe in the practice of what I preach.

The saliva is a very necessary digestive fluid. It was not provided as a luxury, but as a necessity. To waste it is to disturb the normal balance in our adjustment. The habit of spitting is a symptom indicating disease. We should be more considerate of our fellow-men than to wilfully expose them to our throat and nose infections.

Sputum may contain many forms of bacteria; in fact, the "spitter" usually has an infected throat, causing increased secretion. To expectorate on the sidewalk, or on the ground about the home, is to smear the premises with germs which, after drying, are ready to a voyage into some innocent respiratory tract. This is the way in which the dreaded "T.B." finds access to many lungs. In the same manner, influenza, diphtheria, pneumonia, scarlet fever, and many other ugly processes are started. To withhold your expectation, or if you cannot, then to deposit it on a cloth, piece of paper—something you can burn—is to be a humanitarian on a small but very noble scale.

To sneeze in your neighbor's face, exhibits idiocy of course. To expectorate where it will dry and be carried to the throat of an unsuspecting victim, is equally ignorant, if not positively criminal. I dislike to arouse resentment on part of my friends, but I know I'm exactly right about this matter. Now for an anti-spitters' club in the new year 1929.

It seems as though the "flu" is again free and flying about, giving the students this terrible disease. This demon of disease is taking its subjects from the basket ball squad as well as other student members.

We are proud of our neighbors, Goree. Did you hear about the way they worn in the district meet? Three and worn out they went into the State Saturday night only to lose to a team that could substitute fresh players. We speak of Athlete. We can say that the Goree basket ball team is a real team, and a fighting one. They play hard but show real sportsmanship in their dealings with other teams.

Everything is in a "hum-dum" for the A. A. U. Meet that is to be held this week end. Do not fail to get there early and get a good seat. You are going to see some real games. Be there on time.

SENIORS

Folks, our editor is ill this week. We are sorry to say that we have nothing to offer only that the flu has visited Frank, Joe, Earl, Elton and we expect it to find its way to Lcky soon for he is not in school at the present time.

We will have our section up next week with lots of news to tell you. Maurysse will tell you all about the way you feel when you get the flu.

JUNIOR FLASHES

The members of the Junior class are very enthusiastic over the A. A. U. Meet, and each junior is ready and willing to do his bit to make the meet a success. And we're backing the Moguls!

One of our class mates, Faye Edwards, was married to Mr. Ted Carter, Monday, February 11. We surely hate to lose Faye, but we all wish for her and Ted much happiness and prosperity.

English III has written some editorials on "Appreciation", and the following, written by Vivian, was judged as the one to be printed:

AN APPRECIATION

Captain Paul Pruitt, lauded far and wide as Moguls' best athlete man, is an excellent example of intellectual vitality.

Pruitt entered high school in 1926, and has proved to be a wonderful student, as well as a great athlete. He should be given much praise, for he has overcome many obstacles that would have hindered many high school boys from obtaining the esteem that he now holds in the eyes of the people.

Captain Pruitt has done many great things to be remembered by the student body, but most of all is the grand way he plays foot ball—always playing a clean and straight game, and never thinking of the honor for himself. I dare say that there is not a student in Munday high school that will not admit when Pruitt made touch down in the foot ball game Armistice day, that he also made a touchdown in his heart. This one act put his name high in the respect of everyone, and many honors, medals and acts of appreciation were bestowed upon him—and yet, he is still the same "ole kid". Right here is where the greatest point of my appreciation is brought out, and that Pruitt is immune to popularity!

To some Pruitt is ideal, and others he has influenced and inspired greatly. Keep on going, Pruitt, for we expect to appreciate you even more, if such is possible.

SOPHOMORES

We wouldn't be conceited for anything, but we surely think our Soph boys look "swell" in their overalls that carry out the Soph colors, with the orange SOPHS' '28-'29 on the back of them. If you haven't seen 'em we'll tell you now, they're keen!

By the time this paper is published, the A. A. U. will be going good, (we hope). We can put it over and we will! All the Soph's will be there and we'll yell for our Moguls.

Too bad we didn't win county championship, but since it was almost impossible, we wish the Goree Wildcats the best of luck, and it seems they had it—until the last game, but we were with you 'till the last minute, Goree!

Do You Ever Think?

What are you doing today that will benefit you and help you in some way to be of material assistance to the human race as a whole?

Do you ever consider that there are other items of much more importance than those which confront you as an individual?

Let us beware of the little learning which is "a dangerous thing"; and learn to enlarge our viewpoint and our scope of reason; let us not be one of the "great American averages"; to consider nobody but himself.

THE OPTIMIST.

FRESHMEN BLAZERS

The Freshmen class is having a party tonight (Monday) at the tabernacle. We are planning to have some fun. Oh! Boy! I'll say!

RESULTS OF THINKING

Benefits from never wasting anything are clearly emphasized if we, as a scientist would think, about the matter, consider our condition and possibilities of "arriving" if we are prudent. Just notice how people who save regularly do succeed.

THE FIRST STATE BANK

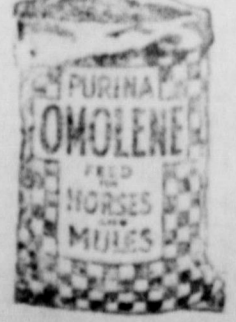

No Colic or Overheating

NO NEED to fear digestive disorders and layoffs if you feed your mules on Omolene. You can work them steady—and hard—and in the hottest weather. The cuts in Omolene are crimped, and the corn is cracked, to make them more digestible. The molasses and floured meal are good regulators and keep the system open. Even if a mule should bolt a few mouthfuls of Omolene without chewing it, he would digest it and get the good out of it. That's why Omolene is safe, and keeps mules on the job all through cultivation. And it's economical to feed.

Did you ask if the Freshmen class went to Sunday school? Well, I should say we do! There were thirty-one of the Freshmen who attended Sunday school last Sunday.

The A. A. U. will meet this week end, and we are certainly planning to go to every game of the season. Come on Freshmen! Let's help make this A. A. U. the biggest thing that Munday has had, and make the A. A. U. teams feel at home! Are you coming?

Some people just will "over do" things. Listen to this:
Height of Modesty
 The Old Maid—"Has the canary had its bath, yet?"
 The Maid—"Yes, he has, ma'am, you can come in now."

Timely Advice
 "Stop and let the train go by— It hardly takes a minute. You can start out again intact. And, better still, you're in it!"

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB
 The Home Economics club met February 20th in a regular meeting. During this period our study of etiquette was completed by Hazel Deane Eiland. She reported on "Etiquette at Funerals."

A study of interior decoration, which will continue until the end of school, was begun. Lillian McGothlin gave a very interesting and informative report on "Interior Decoration in the Home."

In the business meeting, the club voted to use the money made in the bazaar by buying table linen and a rug for the breakfast room. By so doing our club members feel that we will be making a worthy contribution to the home economics department.

Life Worth Living Now, He Declares

Wichita Falls Man Gains Seven Pounds On Orgatone and Strength and Energy Returns

"I've gained seven pounds on Orgatone already and feel better than I have in two years," said J. W. Beasley, a well known painter and paper-hanger residing at 506 Adams St., Wichita Falls, Texas, a few days ago, in a conversation with the Orgatone representative.

"I was bothered almost constantly with my stomach for about two years," Mr. Beasley continued, "and I would have severe sick headaches almost all the time. Sometimes I could hardly bear to stand up, I suffered so, and even when I would lie down it didn't seem like I could get any relief. I felt dull and listless and without any strength or energy and I was so racked by the pain that I kept on falling off in weight and my nerves started going to pieces so that I couldn't sleep hardly any. Then on top of all these troubles I suffered from gas formation, which just made life miserable for me and he matter what I did or what treatments I took, nothing seemed to do me any good, but I just kept going down hill and getting worse from day to day."

"I read a lot of statements in the papers about Orgatone from Wichita Falls people that I knew or had heard of and some of them described their troubles just like mine, so I decided to try the medicine, too. Well, sir, it did me a lot more good than I ever hoped it would. After the first few doses my stomach eased so I could eat without suffering and afterwards I began feeling better every day. The pain stopped and my nerves didn't seem to be on edge like they had been and I could sleep in peace once more. I have just finished my first bottle and I can truthfully say I am feeling one hundred percent better and I have gained seven pounds in weight and my strength and energy is coming back and I feel fine—like life is worth living again. All those pains in my head, which I have been trying to get rid of for two long years, are gone and my stomach seems all right now. It didn't take me long to see that Orgatone was the right medicine and was just the thing I had been looking for all the time, and I am always ready to use the good word on and let others know what Orgatone will do."

Orgatone is not a so-called patent remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no false stimulating drugs and may be obtained in Munday, Texas, at Eiland's Drug Store.

TEXAS SENATORS IN U. S. CONGRESS

James Winright Flanagan—1870-175

(Copyright 1928 by Alva O. Hearne)

James Winright Flanagan was born in Gordonsville, Orange county, Virginia, on September 5, 1805. In 1814 he moved with his parents to Cloverport, Breckenridge county, Kentucky, where he received a limited education, and engaged in mercantile pursuits. He was justice of the peace from 1823 to 1833, during which time he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He practiced in the circuit court of Breckenridge county, Kentucky from 1833 to 1843, when he removed to Harrison county, Kentucky. After spending one year there he settled in Henderson, Rusk county, Texas, where it is reported he was the first to sell merchandise. He also interested himself in cotton planting.

Mr. Flanagan was a member of the State house of representatives in 1851-1852, and served in the State senate in 1855-1856. He was a presidential elector on the Fillmore ticket in 1857. In 1866-1868 he was a member of the State constitutional convention, and in 1869 he served as lieutenant-governor of the State.

He was elected to the Forty-first Congress from the State at large, but did not take his seat in the House of Representatives. He was elected as a Republican to the United States Senate on the reconstruction of Texas, and took his seat on March 21, 1870. He served as chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, besides acting as a member of the Committee on Mines and Mining and Post Offices.

When his term of office in the United States Senate expired, on March 3, 1875, Senator Flanagan retired to his farm near Longview, Texas, and occasionally appeared in court notwithstanding his advanced age of eighty years. He was an "old-line Whig" before he united with the Republican Party.

Senator Flanagan died September 28, 1887.

Webster, a son of Senator Flanagan, was born in Cloverport, Kentucky on June 9, 1832, received a liberal education, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1851. Webster Flanagan became a prominent politician. In 1856, he was made judge of the 5th judicial district of Texas. He was elected to the State constitutional convention in 1859, and in 1871 he became lieutenant-governor of the State, an office which his father had held in 1869.

Webster Flanagan was chairman of the Republican convention which met in Philadelphia in 1872. He served as a member of the Texas Senate until 1875. In 1880 he was a Texas member of the "Grant guard" at the Chicago convention. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1884 and supported General Arthur, who appointed him collector of internal revenue for the 4th district of Texas in 1884, which office he held for a year, and thereafter devoted himself to his stock farm, introducing fine horses and Jersey cattle into the State. From 1876 to 1880 Webster Flanagan was president of the Henderson and Overton railroad.

THE ENTIRE WORLD WILL HEAR THE VOICE OF HERBERT HOOVER

Broadcast of Inauguration Ceremonies To Be On An Unprecedented Scale

The voice of Herbert Hoover, delivering his inaugural address March 4, will be heard around the globe.

A detailed description of the proceedings including an eye-witness story of the inaugural parade four miles long will be heard by fifty million listeners in the United States, and millions of others in foreign countries.

"Recently we have had a striking demonstration of international broadcasting," says M. H. Aylesworth of the National Broadcasting Company. "A speech by the President of the United States, heard all over this country, was followed, within a few seconds, by a program coming to us from England.

"American programs are heard with regularity in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, New Zealand and South America. We have arrived at the point where radio communication to the masses of other nations is an accomplished fact.

"Frequently British programs are heard here with almost the clarity of a local station. These programs are received here in the late afternoon, although they are produced in England five hours later in the evening—London time.

"On March 4, the next President and Vice President of the United States will be inducted into office. A detailed description of the proceedings will be sent to virtually every station in the civilized world, and the voice of our chief executive will be heard around the north, through re-broadcasts by powerful foreign stations.

"As a part of the inaugural ceremonies there will be a parade, four miles long, in which representatives will participate. Every state in the Union will have a delegation among the 20,000 persons who will participate.

"The radio audience in the United States and abroad, will hear descriptions of the parts that their representatives have in the celebration. They will hear the bands, the hurrahs and the life drama come as they pass

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for March 3. THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH Mark 4:26-32; Ephesians 1:22, 23; 4:4-6, 11, 16. Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D. Jesus laid down very few rules. He did announce principles which would determine right action under varying circumstances.

LADY'S BEAUTY SECRETS. You changed complexions are to me a mirror Which shows me mine changed, too.

BEAUTY SECRETS—You changed complexions are to me a mirror Which shows me mine changed, too. —SHAKESPEARE. Treatment for Thick Skins

Furthermore, on account of the sting of the pores, small particles of coarse powder and old makeup become very easily embedded, and if a thorough cleansing is neglected for any length of time, the pores will become stretched and further enlarged. This is something which should most certainly be guarded against, and the thorough daily cleansing will do it.

These washing preparations do more than merely cleanse the pores. They have a certain irritant action on the skin which eliminates all the poison and waste material.

I also recommend the occasional use of a penetrating washing preparation for any skin of heavy texture, even though the pores are not enlarged and there is little tendency to oiliness and blackheads.

After the skin has been thoroughly cleansed, the next step is to apply your cream with a purpose. By this I mean a cream that best suits your skin's condition; one that will correct a condition that is not normal. And that cream will depend on the individual condition of your skin.

Then the application of your muscle tightening preparation should follow, and this should be applied with firm upward motions that tone and brace, followed by a gentle patting in fleshy spots that will stir up the circulation and help to distribute the fatty tissues.

Regardless of one's features, nothing is so charming as a soft, velvety complexion that radiates health and vitality; nothing is so detrimental to beauty as the clouded, sallow skin. Indeed, the first draws from an involuntary exclamation of delight which turns itself inward and makes us realize how beautiful even the least regular features seem against the background of a lovely complexion.

And what a mission lies before those of us who have not now a beautiful skin! With each day's improvement under proper care do we send out a message of hope to others, for, as the line above suggests—our changed complexions are to them a mirror which shows them theirs changed, too. —HELENA RUBENSTEIN.

CHEVROLET DURING 1929 1,250,000 CARS IS GOAL OF

With the demand for its cars at the highest level in the history of the company, the Chevrolet Motor Company is preparing for the greatest year in its history with its sixteen giant factories now busy on a 1,250,000 car production program for 1929.

This statement was issued here last week by W. R. Moore, local Chevrolet dealer, who recently returned from Dallas, where he attended to twenty-sixth of a series of 40 national-wide sales meetings that are being sponsored by the company this winter.

Through the medium of these meetings the company hopes to bring the 1929 Chevrolet sales message directly to every Chevrolet dealer in the United States. The day's program which embraced a graphic sales presentation in the Showhouse in the afternoon and a banquet, was one of the most elaborate ever attempted by an automobile manufacturer.

Talks were illustrated in the form of playlets, depicting the motor industry to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business. More than a critical of scenery, dress and special features were used to stage the afternoon meeting.

By Farmer Smith. The Rabbit who should be kept shut up in his cage in February 21st and Miss Rabbit who should be kept shut up in her cage in February 22nd. This is a little bit of advice for the farmer and his wife to keep their stock in good health.

"Please write 'cat'." Bobbie wrote CAT. "Pretty good," said Miss Rabbit. "Pretty good nothing—it's PERFECT!" snapped Bobbie. "That's correct, my dear, you must stand up for what you know is right in this world."

Familly Miss Rabbit ring the bell. "We will have our George Washington hour," she said. "Theophilus Rabbit, you may come up and say a few words about George Washington."

"My dear children," began Miss Rabbit, "this should be a lesson for you all. George Washington laughed at difficulties as people laughed at him. When he fell down, he got up and kept on going. Come, Theophilus, and let's hear what you have to say."

The Rabbit began: "When George Washington wanted to make the flag of the United States of America he went to Betty Ross and asked her to help him. He said we should have a six pointed star on our flag, but she said we could make a five pointed star with one out of the corners. There was a loud clapping as the speaker stepped from the platform. 'Of course you know, dear children,' said Miss Rabbit, 'that the stars and the blue on our flag come from the stars in a blue heaven, and the bars from the beautiful rainbow. It is indeed a wonderful and very beautiful flag. Can any one tell us more about it?' 'It has never been defeated,' said Billie Rabbit. 'Fine!' exclaimed Miss Rabbit.

THIS ARTICLE SUGGESTS A WAY TO ADD 20,000 MILES TO THE LIFE OF YOUR CAR

When your motor begins to lose its original quick pick-up and pulling power on hills, and the gas consumption per mile increases, you have a definite indication that the cylinders need to be restored to their original accurate condition.

Worn cylinders are expensive. They waste fuel and, what is even more serious, they permit the unburned gases to leak past the compression rings and down into the crank case. This causes rapid wear of bearings and all moving parts.

Stormizing is the name given to an accurate process which stops this waste. We have installed the cylinder Stormizing machine and equipment with which we can restore the cylinders of your motor to their original true and accurate condition. The Stormizing process is mechanically the same as the original process used by car manufacturers in first boring then honing cylinders. It is the modern method of restoring full power and adding twenty thousand miles to the life of a motor.

The savings of gas and oil effected will pay the cost of Stormizing your cylinders and the cost of new pistons, pins and rings.

Every car owner can afford to have his motor given this Stormizing treatment because it puts gasoline money back into his purse which worn cylinders exhaust "Unused." Excessive depreciation that results from worn cylinders is stopped by Stormizing.

Come in and let us show you how this valuable service can be applied to save you money and prolong the life of your car.

Yours for Longer Motor Life, Chrysler Sales and Service Stations A. J. Bunt, Prop.

Dairy Development in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

of each month's cream or milk check on the cow notes. This policy has proved safe. The bankers told us they did not have a single bad cow note.

The dairy business has had the usual effect on town business observed elsewhere on the tour. In 1927, 80 percent of the town's business was on credit. It is now 60 percent cash, and the balance in thirty days which, in the commercial world, is considered cash. Before the advent of dairying the merchants did a regular supply business. The three banks here have $5,000,000 on deposit. Such has been the effect on business.

Other effects are noted among the farmers. Most farmers are now producing their hay and grain. Also they are building up their soil fertility although the soils of Rutherford county are naturally good. This county is located in the blue grass region of Middle Tennessee. One farmer who had only 400 pounds of lint on 5 acres of land before he began dairying has built up his soil to a production of 1800 pounds of lint on the same five acre field.

It is said that 60 percent of the farmers now use manure spreaders. Farmers who have never been able to get ahead often find that the dairy cow can put them ahead in a short time. A negro tenant had owned one of the local banks a $60 note for six long years, never having made a payment on it. After dairying was established the banker offered to buy the note for five months and also to advance for the cow. To the negro and the banker's eyes both saved by the dairy cow; and this action was taken on the initiative of the banker, which suggests that many Texas farmers might be able to pay off notes of long standing if they could just get an additional loan to buy some dairy cows. I am sure our farmers could do as well as this negro tenant.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Col. Dick McCarty, who has presided over the destinies of the Albany News for 35 years, has leased his paper for a term of fifteen months to Thomas Durham, who some months ago sold the Market Mail. Uncle Dick states that he wants a breathing spell and will likely spend a good portion of his fifteen months' vacation in sunny California, where he and Mrs. McCarty may enjoy a rest from their many years of toil and worry. Tom Durham is a good newspaper man and will keep the Albany News going along in such a manner that their many readers will be most welcome visitors to the homes of the Albany section, and during his vacation Uncle Dick will contribute special articles to its columns.

Haskell is getting real "cittified," as the Haskell Free Press makes announcement that the Texas theater in that city will within the next few weeks have talking pictures. The moving picture industry has undergone many changes during the past few years and despite the prediction of many of the wiseacres that the "talkies" would prove a failure, theaters over the country are installing equipment for their use, and within a very few years the silent drama will have been relegated into the realm of things that used to be.
