Last Rites For DeWitt Lawless Held Thursday

DeWitt Lawless, well known rancher and stockman of the Goree area, died suddenly at his home in Goree on Wednesday, July 18.

Mr. Lawless was a native Texan, being born in Hill County on October 25, 1868. He was 76 years, 8 months and 23 days of age.

He moved to Baylor County in 1889 and became engaged in stock raising. At first he raised horses. He knew and loved horses. He lived there on his little ranch as a bachelor for several years and became a successful stockman.

On December 28, 1902, he married Miss Ethel Watts, and to this union was born two daughters and one son who died in infancy. His faithful companion passed to her reward January 13, 1943, and Mr. Lawless was alone most of the time since.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Flora Williams of Goree, and Mrs. Addye Dee Williamson of Abilene; five grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Cora Stingilly of Itasca and one brother, Dr. John Lawless of Waco. His friends were numbered by those who knew him. He was a faithful companion, a doting father, a true friend and a loyal citizen.

He was quiet and unassuming, but a straight-shooter. He joined the Presbyterian Church about 45 years ago, and was a consistent member. He was a good man, and he will be missed from the walks of men.

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist Church in Goree on Thursday, July 19, at 3 p. m., conducted by Rev. F. T. Johnson, assisted by Rev. Grady Adcock of Goree and Rev. Lee of Abilene.

Pallbearers were C. L. Patton, O. W. Lewis, Ben B. Hunt, Loyd Bradley, W. M. Mayo, and George Crouch.

"It is necessary that we do some repair work and remodeling in order to serve you as efficiently as we want to," Mr. King said, "and in order to carry on this work we must 'cease business' for the time. No tailor work will be accepted that cannot be completed by Saturday night until after our repairing is completed."

All persons having clothes in the shop are urged to get them by the closing date, as they may become soiled during the remodeling period.

Mr. King expects to have a smooth running shop when it is opened again—one that can be operated without any trouble for another twelve months.

Funeral For Mrs. Martha Booe Held On Sunday

Mrs. Martha Booe, well known resident of this county, passed away at 4:35 a. m. Saturday, July 21, at the Knox County Hospital, where she had been taken for treatment some ten days earlier. She had been in poor health for some time.

A native Texan, Mrs. Booe was born on August 18, 1871, and died at the age of 73 years, 11 months and three days. She had resided in Knox County for many years, rearing her family here. Her husband, M. D. Booe, passed away last November.

Surviving her are six children: Mrs. Stella Fought, Cleburne, Jim Booe, Goree; George Booe and Dan Booe, both of Munday; Mrs. Fannie Forrest, Goree, and Albert Booe, who are in the armed forces in Germany. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Fought of Clarksville; 19 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist Church in Munday at 3:30 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Don Davidson, pastor, who was assisted by Rev. J. R. Bateman. Interment was in the Goree Cemetery by the Mahan Funeral Home.

Cerveny Farm Shows Value of Good Seeding

The Knox County Pure Seed Farm, which is owned and operated by Frank Cerveny, of the Rhineland Community, is demonstrating the value and the increased production of field crops by the planting of good seed and contour farming.

Six improved varieties of grain sorghums, which include Early Hegari, Plainsman, Bonita, Chinch Bug Resistant Milo, Caprock and Sweet Sudan are all planted on the contour, and it is a very beautiful sight to see the uniformity of growth in each of these particular plots of grain sorghums.

Mr. Cerveny secured a small amount of pedigree seed of each of these varieties from the Chilli-cothe Experiment Station, and in order to maintain purity, he is bagging enough seed of each variety for his plantings in 1946.

A visit to the Cerveny farm will certainly be worth while for anyone who is interested in results obtained by plant breeders of the Experiment stations, and it will make anyone appreciate more fully the value of the work that Mr. Cerveny is doing to help increase the acre yields of grain sorghums in Knox County. In one field of caprock milo there is not more than 4 inches difference in the highest and the lowest stalk in the whole ten acres. This is also true of other varieties that are not quite as fully matured as the caprock.

Farmers of Knox County who know the value of good seed should visit the Cerveny farm and to observe, first hand, the great amount of work that is being done in order that Knox County farmers may have a good and reliable source of field seed.

T/Sgt. and Mrs. J. P. Groves have returned from a 10-day visit to Kerrville, San Antonio and Bandera. They are leaving on July 29 for a visit in Dallas and Little Rock, Ark. They will go to Temple on August 9, where J. P. will report to McCloskey hospital.

Richmond Opens Jewelry Store Here Last Week

A. E. Richmond, who was recently discharged from the U. S. Air Forces under the point system, has opened a new jewelry store in Munday. It is located in the building just north of Tiner Drug.

Mr. Richmond has done considerable work on the building in preparing it for his jewelry business, and he opened for business last Friday.

In addition to doing expert watch repairing, Mr. Richmond stated that his jewelry store will carry a complete stock of watches, rings, bracelets and other items in jewelry. More stock will be added as scarce items become available.

The new owner had several years of experience in watch repairing and other phases of the jewelry business before entering the air forces. He spent nine months overseas, flying missions over Nazi-occupied Europe. When he was discharged, he immediately began plans for opening his store here.

Mr. Richmond invites the public to visit his new business, and assures the people that all watch repair work brought to his place will be given prompt and efficient attention.

Activities include swimming, canoeing, commando training, horsemanship and any phase of first and second class scouting the boys want to take.

RETAILERS RETARD INFLATION

Retailers, on whom the public depends for all its purchases, have been the butt of claims of overcharging, combining to restrict competition, price cutting to eliminate a competitor, using pressure to buy goods cheap, etc., etc. That such charges are almost 100 per cent unfounded does not retard ambitious office-seekers who wish to curry favor with their constituents, from proposing laws which, in the case of chain stores, penalize the consumer by actually increasing costs of goods sold.

Both manufacturers and consumers realize that in the postwar period speedy and effective reconversion will depend largely on the retailer and his ability to transfer goods rapidly from the manufacturer to the consumer. Competition for business will probably be the keenest it has ever been. If either manufacturer or retailer is inclined to run up prices unnecessarily, the pressure from competition covering like goods and fields of operation, will equalize the price gouger.

Mass merchandisers in the retail field are the public's greatest ally in checking inflationary prices because their business life depends on volume, hence they must buy and sell on a low margin basis. From necessities to luxuries, they will stand as a bulwark against inflationary practices and any tendency of manufacturers to charge all the traffic will bear.

COMPULSION IS NOT FREEDOM

In the bill now before Congress to broaden the social security act to give everyone protection against "the slings and arrows to outrageous fortune" from childhood to the grave, the word "compulsory" is shunned like the odiferous aroma of the lowly skunk. Nowhere is that word used in any discussions by the promoter of the bill. The public is actually made to believe that everyone will have complete freedom in choice of a doctor, and that doctors will have complete freedom in choice of patients.

It is claimed that state medicine is not socialized medicine. This is about as logical as to say the bill is not compulsory, when the wording of the bill forces all employees drawing up to $3,600 a year to pay four percent of their earnings into the social security fund, and all employers to pay a like amount.

When the government goes into business, that is socialism, so when the Federal government establishes a system of insurance to which everyone must contribute, when it regulates the provisions of medical services through Washington headquarters when it regulates those fees that doctors are to receive when it regulates those who are to be consultants and when consultants are to be consulted, that is definitely socialized medicine. The doctors who are dissatisfied with the system can quit and turn their abilities to some other channel, but the people, once they are saddled with compulsory medical practices, are the losers, and they will definitely have to pay for socialized medicine even though they prefer a private doctor.

THE FARMER DOES IT AGAIN

If there is any farm problem which might stump the American farmer completely we, for one, won't undertake to say it might be.

Time and again, especially during the world emergency, he has faced "insoluble" problems. He has been called upon repeatedly to do things that, by the rules of logic, simply couldn't be done. Confronted with labor and man power shortages unparalleled, he has been asked to produce as farmers never have produced before. Yet he has done just that—a statement that applies to American farmers everywhere.

Thus, only because farmers have done the impossible so often before, it becomes less astonishing that the nation's wheat growers have refused to be licked by problems resulting from the biggest crop and the worst shortages of storage and transportation facilities in history. In one way or another, he is managing to hold to miraculously low levels the wheat losses that could easily have reached disaster proportions.

We don't pretend to know how he has done it—just as we don't know how he has done the "impossible" so often in the past. But it might be simply that the word "impossible" doesn't appear in the dictionary the American farmer uses.—Wichita Falls Record News.

YOU CAN HELP NOW

If you find it difficult to get on a train, remember that the railroads and the Pullman Company, by order of the Office of Defense Transportation, have withdrawn from service all sleeping cars operating between points 450 miles or less apart. The action was made necessary by unexpectedly heavy arrivals of troops from Europe.

This action makes available an additional 895 Pullman cars and gives the military the exclusive use of about half the sleeping cars operating in the United States. These cars afford a greater measure of comfort to our troops moving to the west coast prior to embarkation to the Pacific theatre.

It is interesting to note that in 1918, with a total of approximately 41,000 coaches and sleeping cars, the railroads performed 42,676,000,000 passenger-miles of service.

In 1944, with approximately 27,700 passenger-carrying cars, the railroads performed 95,575,000,000 passenger-miles and the 1945 passenger load is expected to mount 10 per cent, to more than 100,000,000 passenger-miles, or nearly two and one-half times the 1918 passenger load—to be moved in 30 per cent less passenger carrying equipment.

On account of wartime restrictions, the railroads have been unable to buy passenger carrying cars. The hauling job and the maintenance job they have done with the equipment at hand is almost beyond belief. They have rendered service more expeditiously, more courteously and with less waste than in 1918 when there was vastly more equipment, more engines and much more manpower.

You can do your part to help out in the greatest transportation job in history by traveling only when necessary for purposes other than pleasure.

STORE CUSTOMERS AT FAULT

If you talk to the clerks in stores, you will find that a lot of supposedly good Americans give scant consideration to the truth in making purchases. As shortages of necessities grow more acute, many such stores have tried to carry out a voluntary rationing program so that all persons can get a share without the annoyance and compulsion of ration stamps. Clerks who are trained to be courteous are pushed around by customers who insist upon getting scarce articles of food, wearing apparel, smokes, etc.

"Some of our best people are the worst liars," said one clerk. "For example, we have tried to voluntarily apportion eggs, ladies hose, cigarettes, etc., to each customer. Many people who I know have received their allotment early in the week, come in the latter part of the week insisting they haven't made such a purchase. While we know they have received their quota, we get called down if we question their veracity."

Voluntary action by retailers, in which they must have the cooperation of the public, can avert much compulsory rationing which is so distasteful to the average citizen. But it must be a two-way proposition—the customer must cooperate with the store.

PRICE CONTROL

"I was active in drafting and securing the passage of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. I believe the price control is necessary during the war to prevent run-away inflation. I believe we will have to extend it for perhaps a year after the end of the war. Price and wage control, however, is the most extreme form of regimentation in which a government can indulge. The government's hand enters into millions of transactions every day, and a wide field of individual freedom is destroyed. We don't want it any longer than it is absolutely necessary."—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

To be sure you are on the right you must go ahead—and see if you are.

ARKANSAS and Mississippi both can have splendid public schools without accepting federal aid. I am prepared to prove this statement with authentic figures. Only one state has less income per person than Arkansas, providing less school money per student and pays its teachers less; that's Mississippi. If these states can do well without help, so can any of the other states.

Poor as these two states are, on a basis of income per capita, each of them has more net worth than the federal government. Our national debt probably will reach 300 billion dollars before the war is over. Mississippi had a cash surplus of 11 million dollars last year and Arkansas accumulated 45 million during recent years. Arkansas schools are inadequate due to politics, not poverty.

Wasting WHAT the school system in my home state needs is re-organizing, not subsidizing. For example: About a year ago there were 106 school districts in Arkansas with less than ten pupils apiece. There were 350 districts with assessed valuations below $10,000. Some districts couldn't raise $100 a year from local taxes. School districts varied in size from one square mile to 100 square miles.

There is one community in Arkansas which, although it has only 35 students all-told, is made up of six school districts and thus uses six buses to take the 35 students to school and back each day.

Transportation costs $600 a month when one bus might easily do the whole job at a cost of $150 a month. The saving of $450 would pay three teachers at the prevailing Arkansas scale.

Enough IT IS A local problem. Outlay More money for such an inefficient operation probably would tend to aggravate a bad situation and make it even harder to remedy. The federal government spent $30,000 for a WPA survey of Arkansas schools in 1937 and the analysis showed that the state could have a good school system for an outlay of 17 million dollars a year. The outlay was made promptly.

Arkansas' income per person has more than doubled since 1939, due to new industries. More than 20 million dollars were spent for education in Arkansas last year, and a recent legislature raised that figure considerably for the next biennium. Already about 25% more money is being spent on Arkansas schools than the government-supported survey called adequate in 1937.

This is not enough. Arkansas should have better schools; better financed. Arkansas teachers should be better paid. I'm for it when the system is re-organized and made efficient, but I oppose federal aid. Easy money would sacrifice state sovereignty on the altar of politics when we are able, really, to increase our school revenue as soon and as fast as conditions justify.

Labor Needed In Many Areas To Work Crops

COLLEGE STATION, — Mid-July signaled the virtual completion of the wheat harvest in the Panhandle area, with farmers turning attention to preparation of the soil for next year's crop. For this work tractor drivers were needed in Dallas, Hartley, Sherman, Hutchinson, Potter and Swisher counties, according to Caesar Hohn, Extension state farm labor supervisor. According to the estimate of the U. S. Department of Agriculture the 1945 wheat yield will be upwards of 36,000,000 bushels.

Meanwhile, cotton picking in Lower Rio Grande Valley counties was approaching its peak, and cotton was opening rapidly in the Coastal Bend area, Hohn said. Pickers will be progressively in demand for the Coastal region, but action already had been taken by the Extension farm labor office to assemble competent pickers in East Texas who will be at liberty after completion of the tomato harvest and other seasonal farm work. The reduced yield of cotton in the Valley will further ease the demand for labor in the Coastal Bend by releasing pickers when most needed, Hohn said.

Weather recently has been so favorable for the rice crop that harvesting was expected to begin generally at least 15 days earlier than in 1944, Hohn said. Present indications are for a yield equal to that of last year, or even larger. Prisoners of war already have been designated as the major labor supply for harvesting the rice crop.

Improved weather in areas of West Texas has created demand for laborers for cultivating seasonal crops and for general farm work. Cotton choppers were needed in Childress, Wheeler, Knox, Dickens, Mitchell, Nolan and Taylor counties; and a similar type of workers were in demand in Denton, Collin, Fannin, Rockwall and Limestone counties.

Some miscellaneous labor needs also had developed, Hohn said. The best broomcorn crop in several years had created a demand for harvest workers in Lampasas County. At the same time, an acute shortage of daily workers had developed in San Patricio County.

KITCHEN SAFETY

COLLEGE STATION — Farm Safety Week has been set for July 22-28, and since more accidents occur in the kitchen than in any other room in the house, good design and safe practices should be considered. There are sharp knives to guard, boiling liquids to handle and hot fats to beware of if one is to avoid injury.

Constant care always should be the kitchen motto.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Morgan of Calhoun City, Miss., came in last week for a visit with their son, Erie Morgan and his family, and with their daughter, Mrs. George Hammack, and with other relatives. They are also visiting relatives in Clarendon while in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rutherford and children, John and Gretta

Anne, of San Angelo visited with relatives and friends here several days last week. Jackie Mayes accompanied them home for several days visit.

Farmers Urged To Produce Pork For Consumption

During these times of extreme meat and lard shortage farmers of Knox County should do all that is possible to produce enough pork for their home use, according to R. O. Dunkle, County Agent.

Pigs excel all other farm animals in the economy with which they convert feed into flesh requiring but from 4 to 5 pounds of dry matter to produce a pound of gain, while fattening cattle requires from 10 to 12 pounds. The pig yields from 70 to 80 per cent of his live weight as dressed carcass; the steer only 50 to 60 per cent; however, pigs will profitably utilize many by products of the farm often otherwise lost, such as milk, kitchen slop and garden waste, as well as grains that cannot otherwise be disposed of profitably. No other lines of stock farming can be so quickly brought to profitable production with limited capital invested in stock and equipment as can the making of meat from the pig. Due to this efficiency in producing human food, pigs steadily increase in importance as our meat and lard rationing become more restricted.

Practically ever farmer should raise and fatten pigs for family consumption, if not for market, in order to save feed that would otherwise be wasted. In many cases the farmers should not only fatten his pigs, but also slaughter them and market the cured products, obtaining increased profits even though the undertaking would be a small one.

Mrs. Sied Waheed and twin sons returned home the latter part of last week from Lubbock, where they spent about two months. The boys attended school there.

Mrs. D. B. Bowen of Abilene is here for a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Homer Lain, and her family.

L. LETSON S. BALLIETT, Reno, Nev., awarded a silver star medal, showed conspicuous gallantry in holding a submarine at bay in the Atlantic. As pilot of a Navy torpedo bomber that War Bonds helped to supply, Lt. Balliett, on routine patrol, sighted the German undersea craft fully surfaced and immediately went into action. He let go depth charges across its stern, bracketing and damaging the ship. In the face of anti-aircraft fire, he returned to strafe the submarine and then kept it constantly under surveillance.

MAKE EVERY EGG COUNT

Eggs are perishable food and should be handled as such, says L. D. Parnell, poultry husbandman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, in a plea to "make every egg count this summer." The demand for eggs currently is abnormally high and maintenance of high quality is equivalent to conserving the largest number possible to supply consumer needs. Eggs lose quality and even edibility very quickly unless they are properly handled.

For example, fertile eggs exposed for two days to July heat may develop blood rings and thus be lost as food, Parnell says. On the other hand, infertile eggs exposed to heat remain edible much longer. If electric refrigeration is not available to producers he recommends that they obtain plane refrigeration from the county agricultural agent.

Parnell suggests the following practices as efficient eggs: (2)—Gather eggs two to three times a day in wire baskets and cool them before placing them in cases; (3)—Refrigerate eggs until delivered to market; (4)—Provide one nest for each four to five hens and renew nest little frequently; (5)—Place broody hens in special broody coops as soon as they are discovered. Feed and water them well, and in 10 days they should be laying again; (6)—Keep houses well ventilated and clean; (7)—Green feed, good mash, and free-choice oyster shells insures strong shells and good egg quality.

Sugar Saving Methods Given By H. D. Agent

The sugar shortage is a fact of which all homemakers are definitely aware these days, but when we stop to consider that our present sugar allotment actually amounts to only 1 1/3 tablespoon of sugar per person each day, we realize the homemaker faces a real problem when the family continues to demand dessert.

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration agent, suggests several sugar saving methods which will still give the family dessert, at least part of the time.

In fresh fruit season, it is easier to solve the dessert problem, she suggests, since a fruit salad topped by a dressing mixed with fruit juice double duty, as a refreshing salad and a dessert.

The familiar 1-2-3-4 Butter Cake can be made by using part corn syrup or honey. Although it is usually made by the conventional method, it can also be made by the quicker muffin method. The texture will be different, but still desirable. If honey is used for part of the sugar, a lower baking temperature is necessary, and a more moist product is obtained.

The recipe includes: 1 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup corn syrup, 3 cups flour, 4 eggs, 3/4 cup milk, 2 t. baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 t. vanilla, 1 t. lemon flavoring.

Mix and sift dry ingredients together. Beat eggs and add syrup, milk, extracts, and melted butter. Mix well. Add liquids to dry ingredients and beat until well blended. Bake in loaf pan in moderate oven (about 350 degrees) approximately 35-40 minutes.

You can save sugar to, by not frosting your cake, or frosting just the top. Honey may replace sugar cup for cup, but use half the quantity of other liquid called for in original recipe—and keep baking temperature moderate. Best results come in substituting only a part of the sugar with honey or syrup.

Navy Personnel To Get Leaves

DALLAS, — Commanding officers of ships and stations outside the continental limits of the United States are now permitted to grant leave of 30 days in the United States to officers and men of the Navy who have not been in the United States for 24 months, in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary of the Navy.

Whether or not leaves are granted will depend upon the personnel needs of the individual ship or station. Granting of leaves is solely within the discretion of commanding officers. The degree to which this policy may be carried out will depend upon whether or not eligible personnel may be spared from their duties.

The instructions stipulate that the number of personnel absent on leave from any ship or station at any one time shall not exceed five percent of total personnel, and that replacements for men on leave will not be furnished.

Travel time will be allowed in addition to the thirty days of leave.

It is estimated that between 8,000 and 12,000 officers and men may receive leaves monthly as the result of this policy.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer
of Texas

Austin, Texas, — Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged 10 to 14, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages 15 to 25. Despite the importance of this disease its epidemiology is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox, and whooping cough has yet been developed for its prevention or control. We do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physicians accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results of the disease may be prevented.

Exposure to frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows or wrists. The pain usually is felt in one of these centers and spreads it to others. Oftentimes a child will get irritable and cross without any visible signs of a good reason for this attitude; he may cry easily or develop habits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever.

According to Dr. Cox the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child examined at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kind of food and plenty rest. When the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once, and if he prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be implicitly followed.

"Why must we raise so much money this year as in 1944? Why, with the European war over, can't the National War Fund budget for the coming year be cut?"

Those are natural questions—questions which every good business man and war chest worker can be expected to ask. They are simple but important questions and, fortunately, can be answered simply and directly.

Here, briefly, are the answers:

With more than two million American troops left on duty in occupied zones, USO has doubled the number of USO-Camp Show Units, to entertain men now idle who formerly were sustained by the excitement of battle action. Similarly, more USO-Camp Show units are being sent to the Pacific, where constantly-increasing numbers of men are fighting on lonely, uncivilized islands.

USO-Camp Shows now entertain more than two million American fighting men each week.

With more and more wounded men being returned to U. S. military hospitals, USO also has increased the number of units playing the "Hospital Circuit," staging shows in hospital wards, among the beds and cots of our wounded heroes.

USO also has expanded another service to the wounded, through USO recreation centers established at all military and naval hospitals.

The Pacific War is a shipping war. Thousands of merchant ships, and increasing numbers of merchant seamen, carry the munitions, equipment and men required for the war against the Japs. Still others continue to serve the European front, carrying supplies and transporting troops home or to new battle areas.

United Seamen's Service follows the ships to all parts of the world, to provide off-duty recreation for the millions of seamen at the end of their voyages through battle zones. Submarines, bombs and suicide plane are forgotten, at least for a few hours, as the heroic seamen relax in facilities provided by this great National War Fund agency.

In the Pacific, the needs of relief agencies are constantly increasing, as new islands and new lands are liberated. The people of the Philippines, who fought the Japanese throughout the years of occupation, are in pitiful condition, as are Chinese in areas newly liberated from the invader. Thousands of children and helplessly aged people must be fed and clothed—and quickly.

The people of the Philippines are loyal Americans. China has suffered

by T. T. Holden*

Bombarding Guam, Official U. S. Navy photograph shown at the 4th Edition of "Grafex Sees The War."

PHOTOGRAPHY SERVES AS THE EYES OF THE NAVY

Reconnaissance pictures, news photographs for the civilians back home, picture series to help speed up training of sailors in specialized jobs, these are all in the day's work of the photographers of the U. S. Navy who fight with their cameras as skillfully and effectively as their comrades who man ships and dive bombers and guns.

Navy photographers are always in the thick of things. Not a single bombing plane can leave its carrier for a Pacific island attack until planes have brought back a complete photographic report on the installations, defenses and concentration of forces on the target. And only the camera's swift-recording eye can establish all the important details which tell the success or failure of a mission. A lone scouting pilot winging speedily over an armada of enemy ships has little time to stop and count the enemy's strength—and return alive with his vital information. Yet in a fraction of a second his camera can record the full details, which may be studied at leisure when the pilot returns to his ship.

Some of the finest photography to come out of this war is by the Navy men whose job is to report the war in all its phases for the folks back home. In the heat of a mighty sea battle they brave bombs, torpedoes and gunfire to capture on film the rapid progress of the conflict. And many of these men are wounded or killed so that we may have the latest news pictures in our daily newspapers.

The heat of battle is no place to train men, but many skills can be learned only through "seeing" them. Navy photographers have done a superb job of making photographic stories to aid in the training of sailors in every subject from anti-aircraft defense and fire-fighting to first aid, cooking, navigation and sanitation. There is virtually no subject that cannot be simplified and taught faster through the use of pictures and the Navy has saved months and years in their rapid expansion with the aid of the invaluable camera.

The value of photography to the Navy, and the heroism of Navy combat photographers are subjects that could fill books, but the full story must wait till the war is over before it can be adequately told.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer
of Texas

Austin.—A serviceman's wife may apply for maternity care and care for her baby, under the emergency maternity and infant care program, even after her husband has been honorably discharged, promoted, or demoted, provided she was pregnant during the period when he was in one of the four lowest pay grades of the services or was serving as an aviation cadet. On the same basis, she may apply if the husband and father is a prisoner of war, missing in action, or dead.

This clarification as to who is entitled to care under the Government's emergency maternity and infant care program was made today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The State Department of Health administers the program of Texas.

Heretofore the application for care had to be made while the serviceman was in one of the eligible grades. Now all that is required to establish eligibility is proof that the wife was pregnant while he was in one of the eligible grades. The infant in these cases is also eligible for full care during his first year of life. Similarly, if the father of an infant whose mother did not receive care under the program was in one of those grades at any time during the infant's first year of life, the infant's eligibility for care under the program is established.

The greatest effort of the new policy, which is retroactive to January, 1945, will be in bringing infants of discharged servicemen under the program for the full year in which the infant is entitled to care. The new regulations also clear up a matter about which some confusion has existed, that is whether widows and their infants are eligible. Under this interpretation they are without question eligible.

The procedures to be followed in establishing eligibility is simple. The wife has only to show to her physician or other authorized person assisting her in filling out the application form an envelope or V-mail letter from her husband, her allowance card or other official communication dated at a time when he was in one of the eligible grades. If she does not have such evidence, the State Health Department can make inquiry of the appropriate armed service.

U. S. D. A. Issues Statement About Canadian Meat

In response to numerous inquiries recently as to why meat cannot be imported into the United States from Canada the U. S. Department of Agriculture issued the following statement:

"Canada has made commitments to ship its exportable surplus of meat to the United Kingdom and to liberated areas. Most of the meat shipped to the United Kingdom is supplied under the Mutual Aid (Free contribution) program and most of that shipped to liberated areas is a part of Canada's contribution to UNRRA.

"The Canadian export commitment to the United Kingdom is a minimum of 500,000,000 pounds annually (about 20 percent of Canada's total estimated production in 1945). However, efforts are being made, as in 1944, to exceed this figure substantially, although hog production is down about 35 percent from last year. The Canadians have already this year shipped to the United Kingdom slightly more meat than the United States. This availability to the United Kingdom from Canada entered into the decision to allocate no United States meat to the United Kingdom for the July-September quarter of 1945.

"It is estimated that in addition to the foregoing the shipments by Canada to liberated area in 1945 may reach about 110,000,000 pounds of canned meat. Canada also is continuing to assume the responsibility of providing meat for certain areas, such as Newfoundland, and British West Indies. Altogether, exports may be 30 to 35 percent of this year's total meat production in Canada.

"To obtain meat for export and to restrict domestic consumption, Canada utilizes a system of Government requisitioning at inspected packing plants. This is similar to the 'set-aside' system employed in the United States to procure supplies for lend-lease and the military services. Slaughter plants in Canada are required to reserve for overseas delivery all Grade A hogs everywhere, all Grade B hogs in Western Canada and 65 percent of Grade B hogs in Ontario and other eastern provinces. These two grades comprise the bulk of the hog marketing. "Canadian consumption of meat is at a lower per capita rate than last year and canned meat has been withdrawn from civilian consumption except for certain priority users. Per capita consumption of meat in Canada this year is expected to be about 10 pounds higher than in the United States.

"To import meat into the United States and export license must be obtained from the Canadian Government and no permits for export to the United States are being used at the present time. Some meat from Canada, however, is being furnished to the U. S. Military forces.

"In addition to its contribution of meat, Canada has made available to the United Kingdom and the British armed forces substantial amounts of dairy products. Almost 75 percent of all the cheese produced in Canada is now being sent to the British, also under Mutual Aid. Civilian consumption of butter in Canada is considerably higher than in the United States but butter has always made up a considerably larger proportion of Canadian fats and oils supplies than is true in the United States, and consumption of other fats and oils is lower in Canada than here.

"Canada now rations butter, sugar, canned fruits, preserves and evaporated milk. While consumption of some foods such as meats is a little higher in Canada than in the United States, consumption of other foods, particularly sugar and canned fruits is lower.

From 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds of poultry are being furnished this year to the war services of the United States by Canada. Poultry may be imported from Canada by private importers in the United States by obtaining an export license from Canada and an import license from the United States.

FREEZE ALL YOUR SURPLUS FRYERS

COLLEGE STATION, July—Fried chicken is always a favorite American delicacy, and with modern freezing methods, it is a dish we can now enjoy the year round. Too, with meat shortages an ever-present problem, and costs of chicken feed high, freezing the surplus fryers for family use is a good way to add to the meat supply and insure your family fried chicken later in the season.

There are a few points to remember in preparing your fryers for quick freezing, suggests Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, specialist in food preservation of the A. and M. College Extension Service. The first of these is proper dressing, with emphasis on getting a good bleed. Care in dressing the fryer will go a long way in preventing any off-flavor, and will keep the frozen fowl fresh. A quick chill is also important in this process as bacterial changes can take place rapidly in the moist, warm body cavity. Cut the chicken into pieces ready for frying before freezing.

Proper packaging is the next important step in freezing your fryers. Of course cellophane bags, sealed with hot iron are best, but cellophane paper may be used as second best. In case neither of these is available, a heavy waxed carton may be used. The chickens, cut and chilled, may also be packed tightly in tin cans and sealed. Glass jars are not recommended, as they are easily broken and hard to pack into the storage locker.

The packages should then be stored at zero degrees temperature, and the temperature should not be allowed to fluctuate more than 3 degrees. Some locker plants are allowed to run at higher temperatures, even up to 10 or 15 degrees, and this practice cuts down the length of time the food will keep without getting rancid. Under the best conditions—proper preparation, packaging and temperature, food may keep from 8 months to a year, but the temperature in the locker should be carefully checked at intervals.

If conditions are not such that you can be assured of airtight packaging and zero degree temperature, some people prefer to place the chicken in a leak-proof container and cover with a brine solution made with 1 teaspoon salt dissolved in 1 cup water.

Since the chickens are thoroughly cleaned, and already cut before freezing, the only preparation necessary when you get ready to cook them is to let them thaw slightly, salt, flour, and fry.

Science Laboratory Backed By Leading Men Of Industry

Austin—If the proposal of Texas legislators from the Gulf coast district that the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission build a marine science laboratory to be operated by the University of Texas materializes, it will open the way for a vast oceanographic study for the whole Southwest, University officials believe.

This project has been advocated for many years by scientists of the University, Rice Institute, A. and M. College, other state colleges, the Texas Academy of Science, and other groups, such as the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, shrimp canneries, oystermen, and fishermen.

Of vital concern to the fish industry of the Gulf area, since it would provide significant scientific information leading to more extension economic development of this industry, such a laboratory is also backed by other far-reaching interests.

Scientists—biologists, chemists, geologists, paleontologists, geophysicists, meteorologists, and food preservation engineers—regard the proposed laboratory as desirable to explore the unique features of the coastal waters.

The oil industry keenly interested in the proposed laboratory, for, according to Monroe G. Cheney, president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, Inc., the Gulf of Mexico region is "particularly suited to research work which will be of great value to the petroleum industry which is such a vital part of the economy of Texas."

W. Armstrong Price, consulting geologist at Corpus Christi, urges that the laboratory, if established, provide for research in geodesy, or the science of earth measurement, declaring that "There is no better place for such observations."

It is proposed by University officials that the laboratory would be available for oceanographic research by scientists from other colleges, and other individuals and agencies such as the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, as well as teaching purposes for students in all phases of oceanography.

The University already has a $25,000 grant from the General Education Board to assist in constructing and equipping the laboratory, plus a 10-acre site donated by Port Aransas Properties, Inc.

Preliminary estimates indicate it would require at least $75,000 to construct the building now contemplated—a main laboratory, a dock and supplementary laboratory, a dormitory for students, and two investigators' cottages.

Former County Boy Serves On Fleet Oiler

Douglas L. Burgess, S. K. 2/c, who is serving in the Pacific, is willing to admit that there are many good oilers in the U. S. Navy, but he insists that his ship, the USS Platte, is the best.

The Platte is a veteran member of the Big Five, the first group of fast fleet oilers of the service force, Pacific Fleet. Until a great armada of oilers could be assembled, the Big Five bore the brunt of fueling the fleet during the early stages of the war. Crew members of the Platte maintain they are usually called upon for more important missions, a tribute to their battle experience.

The Platte's record includes fueling support for the naval battles of the Coral Sea and Midway, most of the engagements in the South Pacific area, the battle of the Philippine Sea and the battle of Leyte Gulf. She has backed up landings at Guadalcanal, the Aleutians, Tarawa, Kwajalein, Eniwetok, Siapan, Guam, Peleiu, Leyte and Iwo Jima.

She supported numerous carrier plane strikes against the Marshalls, and Gilberts, Rabaul, Truk, and Formosa, and the recent attacks on Tokyo.

Many of the Platte's cruises were through sub-infested waters, and often within reach of enemy planes, but despite these hazards she has come through without a scratch. Some call it luck, but the crew rightly believe good seamanship played an important role.

Farm Safety Is Essential In War Time Era

The week commencing July 22, 1945 has been proclaimed by the President as National Farm Safety Week.

Since the war has taken all surplus farm labor, it is essential that these left, work under safe conditions. This will not only safeguard the individual and the farm operators, but will aid in the continued essential production of food and other farm products so badly needed by the whole world.

Farm accidents in 1943 totaled more than any other major industry and amounted to 25 per cent of all occupational deaths. More farm people were killed by accidents in the first two years of the war than the number of fighting men killed in the war itself.

In 1943, accidents killed 17,200 farm people and injured 1,500,000. Of the injured, approximately 15,000 were crippled for life.

Farm machinery is the chief cause of farm accidents and livestock. Falls and fires ranking next in line.

Below are a few items which would cut down farm accidents. Farm machinery should be operated by experienced operators. Belts, gears, an etc. should be well guarded.

Stop equipment before adjusting, refilling, etc. Keep children from dangerous equipment.

Mrs. Ruby Kethley of Abilene, Capt. Joe Lynn Kethley, who is stationed in Florida, and Lieut. and Mrs. Jerry Kethley were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams over the week end.

There are ten men aboard who have been on the Platte since her commissioning in December, 1939.

Hard work and long hours are commonplace for the oiler's crew, but at times the duty is enjoyable. Their chow is the envy of the fleet. Months away from home port is the biggest hardship, and like on all ships, mail call is the most popular event.

The commanding officer, Capt. Francis S. Gibson of San Francisco, is an academy graduate. He spent five and one-half years at sea before resigning to enter private business. He rejoined the navy in March, 1941.

Young Burgess is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Burgess of Sayre, Okla., former residents of this county, and is a nephew of Mrs. John Cure. He is now under treatment in a hospital somewhere in the Marianas Islands.

Cream Parlor Now At Anchor In The Pacific

DALLAS—Navy men in the Pacific who have dreamed of an ice cream stand at anchor in the ocean will have their dreams come true.

This ice cream stand will be a concrete barge at an unidentified point in the Western Pacific, ready to serve principally all ships smaller than a destroyer, which will include destroyer escorts, small minesweepers, submarine chasers, patrol craft, LCI's LSM's, tugs and other small craft.

The barge is equipped with a commercial type forty quart ice cream freezer which is capable of manufacturing 10 gallons of ice cream every seven minutes. The ice cream hardening room has a capacity of 2,000 gallons storage at a temperature of 16 to 20 degrees below zero.

Russell S. Griswold of Marshall, Texas, is the Chief Engineer.

Before this concrete, floating ice cream parlor came to the Pacific men on the smaller ships didn't have much ice cream—none, in fact, for many.

For instance, when one auxiliary cargo ship recently took on ice cream, it was the first time in 18 months that the crew had even seen it.

"The barge reminds you of a stateside drive in stand, with hoast substituted for the steady flow of automobiles," said Lieutenant (junior grade) M. G. Emiler, president of the Quality Ice Cream Company, Logansport, Indiana, who has been supply officer of the auxiliary cargo ship since she went to the Pacific in October, 1943.

Most battleships, cruisers, aircrafts, transports, tenders and other large ships have small ice cream department aboard. These departments ordinarily include a 10 or 20 quart counter type freezer and a small fountain. Men aboard these ships are privileged to buy ice cream, sundaes, sodas or 'cokes' every day, just about like they did back home at the corner drug

Club Library Grows Rapidly; Books Added

The Knox County Home Demonstration Memorial Free Library is continuing to grow by leaps and bounds. Fifty seven books were added to our library on council day. There are quite a few of these that are children's books added the past month are as follows:

The Soong Sisters, by Emily Hann; The Lasting Peace, by Herbert Hoover; Washington City and Capitol; Heidi, by Spyrri; Indian Tales, by Kipling; Rebecca, by Daphne du Maurier; When A Man's A Man, by Harold Bell Wright; A Texan In England, by J. Frank Dobie; The Longhorn, by J. Frank Dobie.

The Texas Longhorn made more history than any other breed of cattle the world has ever known. The Longhorns were more than a breed—they were a race. Gaunt, wiry, intractable, they were themselves pioneers in a hard, strange land.

This is their story, told by a born teller of tales, who knows that legend and folklore are proper parts of history. It is the story, too, of the men the Longhorn brought into being the Texas cowboys who rode over the rim with all the energy, insolence and pride of the booming west.

Mr. Dobie tells of the Spanish conquistadores, who brought their cattle with them; of ranching in turbulent Colonial times; of "Maverick and Maverick" riders; and the abrupt justice of the rope. He catches the terrible excitement of the stampede, the poetry of the play of lightning on a sea of seething horns. He writes absorbingly of titanic bull fights on the range, "ghosts" steers, fabulous treks and Indian torture.

We would like for everyone to pay the Knox County Home Demonstration Memorial Free Library a visit each Friday from 2:00—6:00 P. M.

New books will be added each month. We hope to have some of the latest books in the library in the near future. The Home Demonstration Club Women are doing everything they can to further the
