

Last Rites For A. J. V. Johnson Held On Sunday

A. J. V. Johnson, one of the pioneer farmers of Knox County, passed away at the Knox County hospital on Friday, November 20, after an illness of several weeks.

"Uncle Andy," as he was familiarly known, was engaged in farming in Knox County for many years. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church since young manhood.

Andrew Jackson Vanburen Johnson was born in Madison County, Ark., on December 23, 1863, and passed away 23 days short of his eighty-second birthday. He moved with his parents to Johnson County, Texas, in 1878, and came to Knox County in 1889.

He was married to Miss Willie Mae Page on March 3, 1892, and seven children were born to this union. A daughter died February 8, 1901.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson lived on the same place, 2 miles northwest of Munday for 56 years. They lived in a half-dugout for 17 years, when there were no fences between their home and Benjamin. Their nearest neighbor was more than a mile away.

They got their first mail at Old Goree, where Lake Creek empties into the Brazos River. In 1890 or '91, the Kasoga post office was established, before either Munday or Knox City were established. Mail was carried from Benjamin to Haskell on horseback.

Surviving Mr. Johnson are his wife, three sons and three daughters, who are: J. J. Johnson, Kent, Wash.; W. B. and E. Y. Johnson, Munday; Mrs. Sue Scheadick, Wabeno, Wis. Mrs. Hattie Davis, Ranger; Mrs. Lola Hudson, Orange. He is also survived by a brother, J. K. Johnson of Munday, and three sisters, Mrs. Allie Campbell, Munday; Mrs. Mary Tompkins, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Etta Goin, Crosbyton.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist Church in Munday at three o'clock last Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor. Burial was in the Johnson cemetery.

Moguls Battle Throckmorton To Scoreless Tie

The Munday Moguls journeyed to Throckmorton last Friday night and battled the Greyhounds to a scoreless tie, in the last game of the season for both these District 11-A teams.

Throckmorton penetrated Munday's 20-yard line twice. In the opening period, the Greyhounds marched to the Munday 12 before losing the ball on downs. In the third quarter, a pass, Dover to Killman, carried from the 40 to the local's 5-yard marker. Here the Moguls again stiffened their defense, and four plays failed to gain through their line.

The Moguls took on new spirit in the last quarter and were driving toward "pay dirt" when the final whistle sounded. They reached the Throckmorton 15 when the game ended.

Thus the Moguls, with several of the first-stringers on the "flu" list, ended their season with a tie. They suffered only two conference defeats, at the hands of Anson and Stamford.

Hog Improvement Campaign Begun In County By Local Future Farmers

The Future Farmers have begun a hog improvement campaign for the community. They recently purchased thirteen registered gilts and will stand two registered boars in the community for public breeding purposes.

The Sears Roebuck Foundation made them a grant of $65.00 for circulating projects and the business men put up $344.00 to buy eight registered Durock Jersey Gilts of breeding age.

The Future Farmers then bought five Hampshire Gilts and a Boar out of their own fund. All of the gilts have been bred and distributed to members of the local chapter. Each boy and his dad signed a written contract to return a gilt of the same weight as he received. The weights range from two to three hundred pounds.

Bobby Howell will stand the Hampshire at his home, two and a half miles northwest of Munday. The red boar will not be delivered until about the first of May and notice will be given when he arrives and where he will be kept. All of the hogs are of the best breeding in the county. The Reds came from the Durock Breeders Sale at Lubbock and the 4-H Club boys near Floydada. The Hampshire came from the Trice Herd at Haskell whose breeding stock came from Bryan Kansas, and from a herd at Seymour whose original breeding stock came from the Bales Hampshire herd at Clarendon.

The boys intend to have a sow and litter show in the spring and a pig sale in order to get as many good hogs distributed through the county as possible. The boys getting red gilts were: Charles Hardin, Jessie George Smith, Ronald Foshee, Glen Brown, Kenneth Baker, Charles Roden, Billie Jay Lane, and D. G. Chamberlain. Those getting Hampshire gilts were Clifton Swain, Bobby Howell, Dick Swope, Delbert Montgomery and H. C. Claburn.

W. F. Pendleton, Dallas, Leader, Dies Nov. 30th

Dallas.—W. F. Pendleton, leader of the cotton oil industry for half a century who was widely known in the Munday area, died in Dallas on November 30. Services were held at the First Methodist Church in Dallas with interment in Farmersville.

Born at Farmersville, April 1, 1875, the second son of Eldridge H. and Sara Cassie Pendleton, he attended private and public schools at Farmersville and worked on his father's farm and ranch when not in school. He attended the A. and M. College of Texas, where he was a charter member of Ross Volunteers and student assistant to the commandant.

In 1892, he was employed as book keeper for the newly built Farmers Cotton Oil Company at Farmersville by the late J. J. Culbertson, and was continuously associated with the oil milling industry from that date until his retirement on Jan. 1, 1943.

During his career, he was interested in the building, purchase or operation of fifty two cotton oil mills and about three hundred gins in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida. He served as president of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association, Oklahoma Cottonseed Crushers Association and National Cottonseed Products Association, and was a leader in the establishment of the Educational Service which the cottonseed crushing industry has maintained since 1926.

Santa Claus Letters Coming In!

Children of Knox County are showing good response to our request last week for Santa Claus letters. Already, quite a number have written their letters to Santa Claus, and mailed them to the Munday Times.

In them are requests for lots of things for Christmas, and Santa Claus is going to be a busy man during these remaining days.

There are other kiddies who will be writing to Santa Claus, and we want to urge you to get your letters in as early as possible. They will be published in our issue of Thursday, December 20, which will give them plenty of time to reach Santa before Christmas.

So hurry, kiddies. Don't get your letters in too late! Santa may have labor problems, too, and will need plenty of time to get your orders filled.

Write Santa today!

Quota Expected By Late Friday

All Business Firms Bond Salesmen In Final Drive

A number of business men met with the committee, and an organization was formed through which it is expected to raise Munday's quota before the Saturday deadline.

Business houses of the town accepted a quota to raise by Friday afternoon. They have agreed to devote time and effort toward raising the quota as assigned them, and by this means it is hoped that Munday will not fall short of her obligations in the Victory Loan.

This is the final effort, and your response as an individual citizen will determine whether the quota is raised. Knox County's boys did their full part in ending the war—let's do our part in ending the war loans. The Victory Loan is deemed the most important of all the seven war loans. We cannot afford to come up short of our full duty!

FOUR SHOTS, FOUR DEER! THAT'S GOOD HUNTING

They just wanted to make one trip to the deer country this year, so they made every shot count. Four shots, four deer—and two local hunters returned home with their kill.

They are O. V. Milstead and George Corwell, who went to Mason county. They returned home last week with a 4-point buck, two 8-pointers and one 10-pointer. "And we only shot four times," they declared, "twice each!"

Which reminds us of the hunter's shortest duck story. "Bang, bang—plop, plop!" he says, when another guy allows as how he can tell a shorter one. His story: "Bang, Bang!"

Anyway, the boys at the Times Office have been promised a mess of venison!

Miss Stone of Greenville was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Bengel several days last week.

NO TIME FOR BLIND OPTIMISM

The much publicized management-labor conference in Washington, called at the invitation of the President, is working under dismaying handicaps. The participants do not meet on equal ground. The gigantic labor unions have the power of unrestrained monopoly—they do not need to bow to any conference except for the sake of appearances. After all is said and done, when the meeting is over, or before, powerful labor leaders can call strikes that will paralyze every major industry, regardless of the public welfare. Hundreds of thousands of people can be thrown out of work by the decree of a single labor boss. The law is on his side—a different law than rules industry. Public officials who raise their voices in protest are crudely threatened with reprisal. Political activity, like everything else about national and international labor unions, is unrestrained and merciless. Millions of union members can be assessed to support measures and candidates, irrespective of their own personal convictions. If they refuse to submit, they lose their union membership card and the right to work.

It has even reached the point where companies whose employe relations have been amicable for years, suddenly find themselves subjected to mob attacks. Workers who have no desire to strike, along with members of management are threatened and driven away from a besieged plant. Property is destroyed and production interrupted as part of the overall strategy to win demands at all costs.

Let us hope that the labor management conference can make headway in the face of such fundamental obstacles which only Congress can correct.

INCENTIVE, PRODUCTION, AND PROFIT EQUAL ABUNDANCE

Often those who have the most, do the most kicking. Apparently that is as true of nations as of individuals. The uproar in this country over prices, wages, production, purchasing power and living standards, ignores the great advantages we enjoy.

The only possible way of measuring America's material abundance is by cutting undramatic figures. Although our country includes about seven per cent of the world's land area and seven per cent of the world's population, it has, for example, been producing and using more than two-thirds of the world's motor vehicles and consuming more than one-half of the world's rubber supply. Our per capita consumption of oil is thirty times the average of the rest of the world. The energy content of this oil is equivalent to the work of fifty slaves for every individual in the United States—and it is in such convenient form that no number of slaves—or of horses—could do what it does for the average American, particularly in the field of transportation.

If we do not get the things that they prosper in the postwar era, it will be no one's fault but our own. The great benefits derived by all the people from peraleum were not brought about because thousands of persons worked hard, from management down to the lowliest roustabout.

The tragic fact is that in the midst of our abundance, we seem to have forgotten that it did not come easily. Oil is but one illustration. In proportion, as we kill incentive, limit production, and destroy profit, we will lose our abundance.

SWEDEN NO SHINING EXAMPLE

A brief news item from Stockholm, Sweden, states that government monopolies in tobacco and liquor as a means of levying higher taxes, have caused these items to almost vanish from legitimate trade channels, with the result that higher prices prevail. Sweden is considerably farther along the road toward state socialism than either England or the United States. We should profit from her experience.

Here in our country government monopoly is casting its shadow. But it has not yet reached generally into retail distribution, as in Sweden. Competition still enables the consumer to favor those merchants who serve most efficiently.

If people can but realize the latter fact, a tremendous step will have been taken to insure the permanence of a healthy distribution industry in this country. Only then will end the old political habit the more enterprising retailers with punitive laws, in an effort to level off competition to the advantage of the less efficient.

It was competition that fostered the modern mass distribution philosophy. It was competition that awakened distributors to the fact that the interests of consumers and retailers are one. If the consumer is satisfied, the retailer prospers.

DON'T REACH TOO FAST

Labor unions excesses are being carried to fantastic extremes. Oil, coal, steel, and auto production have been ruthlessly disrupted. One top coal mine union official is now reported to have said: "After the CIO gets its 30 per cent demands, if it does, we'll go out and get 50 per cent for our men."

No one should object to payment of the highest possible wages. Increases granted as a result of productive work and without undermining the solvency of industry, are greatly to be desired. But when such increases are secured by threat of forces, regardless of justification, the penalty will be rising unemployment.

It should be emphasized again and again that those who work in American industry have reached a peak of living standards, in employe-employe relations, and in working conditions that was never before attained here or elsewhere.

The coal industry is an excellent example. Within the last generation changes have taken place in methods of operation that give the American miner a measure of security still considered impossible in other nations. Many of these changes have been brought about because coal mining is a private industry, subject to stiff competition. The miners as private citizens can meet the owners of the mines who are also private citizens, on equal ground. They can settle their differences as equals—something that cannot be done in the case of government-owned enterprises.

Let us not throw away our gains by trying to reach for too much too fast.

YOUR INTEREST IN FIRE

One of the principal railroad companies has released some fire loss figures showing what fire means in terms of unemployment and lost wages. In this particular company, fires since January 1, 1945, have cost enough to pay the full salary of a locomotive engineer for the next 40 years. The company's insurance manager said that most of this loss could have been prevented by a little forethought, and added that "the railroad's loss usually is protected by insurance, but when a fire wipes out jobs, as it often does, its toll to the employe. And when it brings injury, as so many fires do, there is no insurance that can compensate for the pain and lost time."

He cited a single shop fire that occurred on December 20, 1943, leaving a number of workers without jobs at Christmas. The loss was $80,000 and it could have been prevented. Employes using acetylene torches to strip cars failed to douse the wood satisfactorily. That evening the car blazed beyond control and the shop was a total loss. Among other instances cited were those of a careless smoker who dropped a cigarette and started a fire that resulted in a $700 loss, and of sparks from a chimney starting a $3,236 fire.

This is the fire history of one company. Multiply it several thousand times and the reason why fire prevention is important to workers, becomes apparent.

"Today 19 per cent of the electric industry's output comes from public utilities owned or operated by public agencies or tax-free cooperatives which escape Federal taxes. This unfair distribution of the tax burden must sooner or later be dealt with by Congress if our American system of property is to continue. All agencies and companies engaged in the public utility business should be taxed on a comparable basis."—Justin R. Whiting, President, Commonwealth & Southern Corporation.

"Goodness," said the young lady as she inspected her grandmother's wedding ring, "what heavy and unwieldy things those were 50 years ago!"

"Yes, dear," said grandma, "but you must remember that in my day they were made to last a lifetime."

To the People of this Community

Take a tip from your favorite retail merchant. His Christmas counters are stocked for the first time since 1939 with commodities you dreamed about in the darkness of war. And yet he and his employes will go the limit today in telling you for your own good to buy "something else" first. As a war-wise thrifty American you need not be told that the name of this product is Victory Bond. That it can never be worth less than you pay for it, that it will return $4 for every $3 invested when held to maturity 10 years hence, that it is your personal servant at the same time it is serving your country's current needs, that it will assure you not only a merry Christmas this year but help to make Christmas merry in the years to come. Your merchant knows a great product. That's why he is putting every effort to stuff the Christmas stockings of this community with extra Victory Bonds.

Texas And Her Annexation

By Dr. E. C. Barker, Professor of American History, The University of Texas

Throughout the period of Texan independence American statesmen were uneasy about British designs in Texas, and their fears leaked out to the newspapers and aroused the people.

Webster and Calhoun Warn of England
As early as May, 1836, a debate in the United States senate brought out warnings of Britain's plans for Texas. The debate was started by the introduction of numerous petitions asking Congress to recognize Texan independence. Daniel Webster, of Massachusetts, declared that Texas ought to be recognized as soon as the American government had official information of the fact that Texas was independent and possessed resources to maintain independence. He was convinced that a "European power" was greatly interested in Texas and might take action that would injure the interest of the United States. John C. Calhoun said that he was ready then to vote not only for recognition, but for annexation.

The Texas Question in Parliament

A little later, in August, 1836, Texas was the subject of a question in the House of Commons. A speaker of the opposition wanted to know what the government was doing to safeguard British interests in Texas, his meaning being that Mexico's ability to pay British creditors would be lessened if Texas became independent. Mr. Henry G. Ward, who had been the first British minister to Mexico, asked: "Shall we let the United States pursue a policy of aggrandisement and annex Texas, thereby shutting us out on the Gulf and trade with Mexico? Shall we let Texas be annexed and perpetuate slavery in the United States?" Lord Palmerston replied for the government that action was not then necessary, and the question was withdrawn.

Newspapers Charged British Backing for Mexican Invasion of 1842

Influential newspapers in New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, and New York repeated charges that the Mexican invasions during 1842 were financed by British loans. For example, the Washington Globe, quoting the New Orleans Bee in April, 1842, declared that British capitalists advanced money to Santa Anna for the invasions, that the British government guaranteed the loans, and that Santa Anna had given the government a mortgage on Church property in Mexico for security. Some papers thought the rumor ridiculous and asked why England should want control of Texas. To this question a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger replied that British possessions already surrounded the United States, Canada in the north, the Bermudas and Bahamas on the east, islands

Shelled Unconscious

WHILE FLYING over Germany, AAF Sergeant Alfred D. Reckley, Pittsburgh, Pa., a radio operator, was knocked unconscious by flack and didn't know what hit him until he awoke back at his air field. in the Pacific and Oregon on the west, and now England wanted a nearer approach to the United States in Texas. Later the Ledger said that England had always taken everything she could get and held what she took.

Commercial Rivalry

As the population of Texas increased, its trade came to be appreciated by chambers of commerce in the east, and petitions went to Congress urging members to bring about more advantageous arrangements for American merchants. A petition from Merchants and Traders of New York quoted statistics from the New York Journal of Commerce in February, 1844, showing the decline of trade with Texas since it was recognized by European powers, in spite of the rapid increase of population. Down to 1839, it was said that exports to Texas steadily increased to a total of $1,687,000. By the end of 1843, the value of export had declined to $99,004. The accuracy of the figures cannot be established perhaps, but they indicate that ports of the United States were becoming trade-conscious concerning Texas.

The same article quoted a sea captain who said that he saw in the port of Galveston in January, 1844, fourteen vessels, only one of which was American. Seven were British, he said, five German, and one Belgian.

What were the British Designs?
It seems evident that England never wanted to annex Texas, but equally evident that it was anxious to prevent annexation by the United States. In furtherance of this design, it did all that it could during 1843-1845 to induce Mexico to recognize Texan independence, hoping thereby to lessen the desire of the Texans for annexation.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin.—Reports coming in from various sections of the State indicate that the number of influenza cases appears to be increasing with the advance of the fall season.

Commenting on this situation today, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said that most of these cases are mild and lend themselves to treatment rapidly. He pointed out that two cooperative factors are essential to victims of this disease: First, to call the family physician promptly when suspicious symptoms manifest themselves; and second, to take it easy for a reasonable length of time after the acute stage has subsided.

"It is essential to realize that influenza, no matter how mild the attack, calls for a period of convalescence," Dr. Cox said, "since serious complications can occur if this important fact is ignored. Influenza is not mass-controllable. However, those persons who maintain the highest possible health level at all times, increasing their resistance to communicable disease germs, will have a protective advantage over those more careless persons who can abuse their health."

The State Health Officer declared that living by the laws of nature, securing plenty of sleep, daily exercise in the open, nourishing foods and good personal hygiene offers the best known bulwark against all respiratory diseases and added that avoiding habits of any and all kinds detrimental to maximum well being is a wise course to take in the pursuit of good health.

Mrs. A. J. V. Johnson accompanied her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Hudson of Orange, Texas, home this week. She will spend the winter months there.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy McFarland of Bonarton were business visitors here last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Barnett of Benjamin were here Tuesday for a visit with relatives and friends.

HOW WAR BONDS GROW IN VALUE YEARLY

Yrs.	Increase in Value	Total Value	% of Worth the Yr. Before
1	$ 5.00	$ 755	.67%
2	10.00	765	1.32
3	15.00	780	1.96
4	20.00	800	2.56
5	20.00	820	2.50
6	20.00	840	2.44
7	40.00	880	4.76
8	40.00	920	4.55
9	40.00	960	4.35
10	40.00	1,000	4.17

IT'S SURPRISING—how War Bonds grow in value each year. If held until maturity they earn 3 1/2 per cent and they have a yearly added value. The chart tells its own story for a $100 Series E Bond. The scale to the left shows how a $1,000 Series E Bond grows. The chart shows that the increase in value is greatest in the later years of the bond's life. Note how the rate of interest goes up in the second three years of the bond's life. Study the increase in the $1,000 bond. Holders of bonds the last few years, considering the above, would literally be throwing money away to cash them prior to maturity. The New York Stock Exchange in the more than 150 years of its existence has never recommended other bonds than those of the United States.

Senior Class News

The Thanksgiving holidays are now things of the past and the Seniors are anxiously looking forward to the Christmas holidays. Most of us have decided to be good little boys and girls so that Santa will not forget us when he visits Rhineland this year. Clarence is trying to decide whether he wants Santa Claus to bring him a new set of brains or a teddy bear. Clarence, we really think you'd enjoy the teddy bear more than the brains.

We Wonder Why

Thanksgiving had such a lasting after-effects on Alvin. You really missed something in Literature class Monday, Alvin.
 Clarence was so happy Monday morning. Could it have been the week end trip of Fort Worth in the company of his sister and a certain junior girl?

Marvin likes to visit Seymour so often. Could it be a certain Sophomore girl in Seymour high?

Mary Ann seems to think that pulling bolts is more fun than going to school. Who is the new attraction, in the boll patch, Mary Ann?
 La Verne can hardly wait until she is graduated in May. What do you have in mind, La Verne? Anything we should know about?
 Veronica seems to enjoy the dances so much lately.

Junior Class News

In geometry the juniors are studying about parallel lines. Since some of us missed last six weeks, we went over several of the theorems we had. We have battled with them and we sincerely believe we have won. Come on, Juniors, let's do our best while we can!

Our literature class is very interesting; anyway the boys seem to think so. We all seem to enjoy taking that subject with the Seniors.

Some of the Juniors think typing is a brain wrecker, while others think it their favorite subject. Several of us prove to be much interested in it, but we wish our teacher wouldn't be so liberal with her tests, Juniors, can we do anything about it?

Sophomore Class News

It was hard to get down to work this week after a two day holiday. We all reported a good time—so we did!

The most amusing thing happened Monday morning while the girls were cleaning the room. They found a slip of paper under Eugene's desk, and it read:
 Dear Santa,
 I am a sophomore in high school and am fifteen years old. I have blonde hair, blue eyes, and a few freckles.

I always like to play dolls with my sisters, so I thought you might bring me one of my own. I also want a lot of candy and nuts. I have been a very good little boy this year, and I hope you won't mind bringing me these things. I hope to see you at Christmas.
 Love,
 Eugene Kuehler.

Finding this letter shows that the sophomores are really in the Christmas spirit!

We are planning to have a Christmas tree in our room, and are hoping to have a party to assure some of us of Christmas gifts just in case we haven't been good enough to merit a visit from Santa Claus.

Besides all of these Christmas plans, we are eagerly looking forward to presenting a Christmas play entitled 'Elmer Clears Up.' Pats have not yet been assigned, but we hope the play will be a success!

Freshman Class News

Everyone reported to have had a good time on Thanksgiving day, especially since school was out Thursday and Friday.

The picnic started in the afternoon. The citizens played bingo and won some very nice prizes.

It seems as though everyone had too much of the dance, however.

We Wonder Why

Betsy never misses a dance. Would a certain boy know why?
 Catherine loves to dance with Louis?

Gertrude likes to dance cheek to cheek with a certain guy, huh?
 Wynell doesn't like to go to Munday anymore.

Virgie Mae finally became interested in these dances?

8th Grade News

Turkeys, pumpkin pies, and pilgrim stories are all minor things now that we are back in school again. After two days off for Thanksgiving plus Saturday and Sunday we are wishing that we had holidays all the time and the turkey's wish bone didn't help much.
 We've been wondering why Adrain always buys a sack of pecans before school begins every #### morning.

We also wonder why Doralene is so busy going to the waste basket. Our Christmas play for this year is another "Wildcat Willie" plays called, "Wildcat Willie Takes a Tumble". We hope it will be successful.

Grain Crops Of Texas Take Weather Rap

Texas' 1945 grain crops took a beating from drought and harvest-time rains, and cotton production fell to a half-century low. The Bureau of Agriculture Economics, Austin, quotes the latest survey by the Crop Reporting Board of the P. S. Department of Agriculture that early fall estimates of cotton, corn and peanuts yields declined materially during October. At the same time, however, rice showed an increase, and the earlier estimate of grain sorghum yields remained unchanged.

Giving production totals, the BAE said that the present estimate of 1,880,000 bales for the 1945 cotton harvest represented a decline of 120,000 bales during October. This estimate compared with 2,646,000 bales in 1944 and 3,112,000 the average for the 1934-1943 period. Early October rains reduced the rate of harvest and lowered both the quality and quantity of production.

The corn crop was estimated at 66,048,000 bushels, a drop of about 2,000,000 bushels from the October 1 estimate. There was some damage from heavy rains during October. The 1944 crop was 69,622,000 bushels and the 10-year average 77,427,000 bushels.

The November 1 estimated production of 68,130,00 bushels of grain sorghums represented an acreage yield of 15 bushels. This, the BAE said was "only average." Continuing, the BAE said that the season was unfavorable on the high plains but "favorable enough elsewhere." Harvesting on November 1 was about complete except on the high plains.

The rice crop was indicated at 17,600,000 bushels, an increase of 400,000 bushels over the October 1 estimate. Heavy rains caused widespread losses in the peanut crop. The current estimate of 358,200,000 pounds, although about 10 per cent below the October 1 estimate, tops the 1944 yield of 325,800,000 pounds in 1944.

No changes were indicated in other fields. The white potato crop at 5,020,000 bushels compares with the average of 3,940,000 bushels, and sweet potatoes at 4,350,000 bushels is about the average, the BAE said. All hay at 1,772,000 tons is about the same as the 1944 crop, but about one-third above average.

VICTORY LOAN BONDS PROVE SOUND ECONOMY

By TED R. GAMBLE
 National Director, War Finance Division, U. S. Treasury

The Victory Loan, now under way, is the crucial test of our war finance program. We must not only raise the $11 billion required by the Treasury but we must do it in such a manner as to avoid the danger of inflation and to make secure the Peace for which over a quarter of a million of our men have given their lives. That is why we are asking for $4 billion from individuals, $2 billion of it from the sale of Series E bonds.

Why is this money needed? Briefly, the reasons may be summarized as follows: to bring our veterans home and give them their mustering-out pay, to maintain our armies of occupation, to take care of our sick and wounded veterans, to make prompt settlement of our cancelled war contracts, and for other necessary governmental expenditures during the next few months.

The Budget Bureau recently estimated total Federal Expenditures for the 1946 fiscal year at $68.4 billion, or $33.7 billion below 1945. Receipts were estimated at $36 billion, but these may be reduced somewhat by the new tax bill. This leaves a deficit of $30.4 billion, which must be met by Treasury borrowing. It is in order to help meet this deficit that the Treasury decided on the Victory Loan, the last big public drive for funds.

As we enter this Victory Loan, I'd like to review briefly the accomplishments of our war financing program. From May 1, 1941, when the program started, to October 1, 1945, we raised the huge sum of $207 billion. Furthermore, we raised this money through a plan of voluntary savings at the lowest interest cost of any nation engaged in the war, and at the lowest selling expense ever recorded.

In the first seven war loan drives, we set total quotas of $95 billion for all investors, and sold $135,749,000 in war loan bonds. Every loan was oversubscribed. Billions more were sold in the interim periods between drives. We have sold these bonds to more than 85,000,000 Americans. By the time this loan is over, we will have sold one billion individual pieces of the popular Series E bonds alone.

Where did this money come from? Our figures show that individuals provided the Treasury with $49 billion net out of the $98 billion in new funds that has become available to them since May 1, 1941—and most of the remainder went into cash savings or commercial bank accounts. Insurance companies and savings banks invested all of the $22 billion in new funds that they received. State and local governments invested $5 billion of the $6 billion available. Private corporations had $39 billion of new funds from current surpluses and we obtained $28 billion of it. Most of the remainder was needed by them for expanded wartime operations. Federal agencies and trust funds invested all of their $17 billion of new funds in government securities.

In short, up to the end of the Seventh War Loan, non-bank investors provided the government with $121 billion net of the $207 billion it had to borrow since May 1, 1941, the balance of $85 billion being absorbed by commercial Federal Reserve banks, most of it in open market purchases. Except for the investment of a limited portion of their savings deposits, we have not permitted the banks to subscribe directly to war loan securities in the last five war bond drives, nor in the current Victory Loan.

One of the most significant achievements of our program is the widespread distribution of the public debt. Millions of people who never before saved a penny in their lives, now own savings bonds. It is estimated that three-quarters of the Series E bonds sold to individuals were acquired by persons earning $3000 a year or less. Today, individuals hold almost one-fourth of the total Federal debt outstanding. An even larger proportion of the interest paid out on this debt will go to individuals. Obviously, this will have a tremendous impact on post-war purchasing power.

Investing in Victory Bonds will build a second economy for the future. We cannot afford to slump back into indifference and selfishness if we are to keep faith with those who have paid most dearly so that we could live in a free and peaceful world. We can and should buy Victory Bonds to the limit of our ability if for no other reason than to express our gratitude to our fighting men. They have done their job, and have done it well. It is up to us to finish ours, so that they may come back to the kind of an America they dreamed about—a land of opportunity with full employment, full production and high income. The Victory Loan is our opportunity to express again our faith in America.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Hill and sons, Leo and Donald, have moved to Boerne, Texas, to make their home.

The nuptial high mass and double ring ceremony were performed by Rev. Thomas Buegler in front of the altar, which was beautifully decorated with orchid, white and gold chrysanthemums.

The bride was lovely dressed in a beautiful gown of white satin and silk marquisette. Her finger tip veil was fastened to a wreath of white, wax covered orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a two-strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

To the People of this Community

Thanksgiving is in the air. The spirit of the Good Provider hugs you warmly. What better time or reason to buy another extra Victory Bond, the good provider of the future? As you sit around the festive table this year, first year of world peace since 1939, remember the millions of men and women still in uniform in strange lands. In Germany about 2,500,000 Americans will be separated on this family holiday from fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, wives, sweethearts and children. Every extra Victory Bond is a link between home and the Tokyo or Berlin patrol.

There's self-interest in your purchase of any extra bond today but there's service to your country too. You have most to gain by ownership of as many Victory Bonds as you can possibly buy. You guarantee yourself a better chance for personal peace and prosperity. You also help your government to pay the war costs and return home of men and women who will be badly missed Thanksgiving Day in your own home and your neighbor's home.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

November 29.—Return of American troops from overseas and demobilization continues to be a serious and vexing problem. Nearly every Congressman calls the War and Navy Departments dozens of times each day about these matters. The War Department now assures that in December a total of 730,000 soldiers will arrive from overseas. To do this the Army is utilizing troop transports of all kinds, including captured German ships and many converted cargo vessels. A total of 551 ships are now in this service. To this will soon be added 23 hospital ships converted to troop transportation as most of the disabled soldiers will have been returned. The Navy has turned over 111 combat vessels for this purpose. 219 Liberty Ships and 97 Victory hertofore used for cargo only have been converted to troop carriers.

Recent statistics give the population of New York City as 7 million 677 thousand persons. This is more than the population of any one of 41 nations. There are 70 nations in the world at last count. Sometimes New York City is referred to as a foreign city. Hundreds of foreign languages are spoken there. There are more Italians in New York City than in Rome. There are more Jews in New York City than in Jerusalem. Perhaps there are almost as many Irish as in Ireland. Speaking of Irish, they seem to be the best politicians. A few years ago I dug up figures with the help of the Congressional Library on distinguished citizens of foreign birth. At that time there were 16 foreign members of Congress. I learned that since the creation of this government, approximately ten thousand men have served in the Congress. Of this number 392 have been of foreign birth. Of these 392, five had come from Denmark, 5 from Sweden, 9 from Norway, 9 from France, 40 from Scotland, 42 from Germany, 48 from Canada, 65 from England, and 123 had been born in Ireland.

Contrary to fears and predictions, many of the small countries in Europe, as a result of free elections, are repudiating Communism. The report some time ago from Hungary showed only 17 per cent voted the Communist ticket. This week a report from Austria shows only five per cent voted Communist. These countries were supposed to be under Russian influence. Perhaps the Allied promises of self determination for small nations may yet be realized.

I have been greatly concerned with Associated Press reports from Australia to the effect that the American Army is destroying much equipment and supplies. One report from Finschhafen states that pontoons loaded with jeeps were put to sea with a bulldozer aboard to push the jeeps into the ocean, that mobile radio outfits in four-wheeled caravans were dropped into the sea, that small vessels were burned in the harbor and that huge stocks of clothing including windproof jackets were burned. I was the author of an amendment to the Surplus Property Act which sought to prohibit the destruction of any property. The amendment provides it must first be offered for sale, and if not sold then offered for gift. I have called on the War Department to give me the facts concerning the reports of destruction of property aboard. Certainly it would be inconsistent to spend billions on relief to foreign countries and ship them food and clothing and permit the Army to destroy vast stores of supplies in its possession. Such destruction could serve no useful purpose.

From some of my friends who represent big city districts in Congress, I have obtained additional supplies of the latest and best agricultural yearbook, entitled "Keeping Livestock Healthy." This book is an encyclopedia on livestock diseases and care. I shall be glad to send a copy to any person who may have use for it upon request.

This week we have mailed out farm bulletin lists and I hope folks at home will feel free to order any bulletins they may need or can use to advantage.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of trying to thank our many friends who called and helped during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, A. J. V. Johnson.

Especially do we want to thank the faithful doctors and nurses, Rev. W. H. Albertson, and the kind neighbors who brought lunch, and those who gave the beautiful flowers.

May God richly bless each of you and give you kind friends like ours.
Mrs. A. J. V. Johnson and children.

Former Goree Man Received Award For Work During War

Col. Tech Student Three Years Born in Knox County 32 years ago, Colonel Thornton was graduated from Haskell high school and moved to Lubbock with his mother, Mrs. A. J. Lewis, wife of Dr. Lewis, 2008 Ave. V, and attended Texas Tech in 1931-33. Leaving here, he attended George Washington university at Washington.

While attending Texas Tech, Colonel Thornton met Miss Flora Laney, of Fort Worth, also enrolled at Tech, whom he married seven years ago in Washington. They have two children.

He worked under Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as housing statistician, meanwhile attending War College at night. Upon completing his studies, he was commissioned a second lieutenant and entered active duty when he was 28 years old. In 11 days he was promoted to first lieutenant, to captain three weeks later, became a major one month later, a lieutenant colonel three months later, and was a full colonel at the end of his first year in the Army.

Headed Big Setup Colonel Thornton was given his main job—that of establishing modern business principles on a world-wide basis in the Army Air force—while he was a lieutenant. Starting with himself and a stenographer, he built an organization which finally totaled more than 15,000 persons, located in every theater of operations and the United States.

For his work on the fighting fronts, Colonel Thornton received commendations from Generals Doolittle, Giles, Spatz, Eaker and others.—Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

Thornton is the grandson of the late Charles W. Bates of Goree and the late Mrs. Annie B. Thornton, also of Goree.

- 5 "All of us who are reenlisting are going to have from 30 to 90 days' furlough at home with full pay and our travel paid both ways. And we'll have 30 days' furlough every year with pay."

6 "Any time after 20 years I can retire at half pay increasing year by year to three-quarters retirement pay after 30 years of service. And the time I've already served in active military or naval service counts toward my retirement time. Added up—reenlistment seems pretty sound to me!"

Veterans Told Of Dangers That Go In Farming

A warning to "look carefully and go slowly" was addressed today to veterans seeking a place in agriculture by Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

"While agricultural workers are always hoping for more farmers who are sold on farming as a mode of life, we are not interested in encouraging veterans to engage in agriculture unless they have a good chance of making a go of it," he said.

Dr. Trotter cited estimates recently released by the National Planning Association which stated that more than a million veterans want to own or operate full-time farms while another half million want part-time farms. An additional three hundred thousand war workers left full or part-time farms for the factories and now want to go back to farming.

It is also estimated that not more than 750,000 farms will go on the market during the next five years. Many farms, it is believed, will be combined to form larger or more mechanized units. The anticipated results is that inflated values for farm land will continue.

The Texas Extension Service director laid down a three-point program to veterans:

"If you have no farming experience, get some before you take a chance on your own farm.

"If you haven't money to buy a farm big enough to pay out at present inflated land values, rent a place until you have.

"If you have both the experience and the money, consult the county agricultural agent in the county where your prospective buy is located to check its worth and to get estimates on your probable yield and income."

TIPS ON WASHING MACHINE CARE

It's simple and wise to keep washing machines in good repair. Many housewives will be buying new machines and they should start off right from the first giving their new machines the care they deserve, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, specialist in home improvement of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Here are tips on washing machine care:

First, know your machine by studying the manufacturer's printed directions. Avoid overloading the machine. Too many clothes in the machine at one time will cut down on efficiency.

Keep the drains clear of lint, and keep surfaces clean and dry. Take special care of all rubber parts, drain hose, keeping rubber free of oil at all times. Oil should be applied to moving parts when necessary, and bolts and screws must be kept tight.

Give the machine regular check-overs to avoid trouble and unnecessary expense. Proper attention and care at all times will give longer life to the machine and more efficient service while the machine is in operation, says Mrs. Claytor.

Knox County Agent Gives Hints On How To Cook The "Holiday Bird"

If your family has not had a holiday turkey for the past few years, you may be a bit rusty on how to select and cook the 1945 turkey. This year, most families can have the traditional holiday birds if they want them, says Lucile King, County Home Demonstration agent.

If it's roast turkey you want, get a bird that's young and tender with plenty of fat under the skin. The body should be well rounded and the breast full-fleshed. Blemishes and pinfeathers should be few.

Prepare, draw and groom the turkey, then sprinkle the inside with salt. Next put the stuffing in not too tightly, since it expands as it absorbs juices that cook out of the bird. Slip a large crust of bread into the opening. This holds the stuffing in place. Next tuck the legs under the band at the tail. It's easy to put one stitch at the end of the breastbone and wrap the cord around the legs and under the tail to secure the legs.

Now put some more stuffing in at the base of the neck, fold the neck skin toward the back of the bird and fasten with skewers, poultry pins or a few stitches. After you have rubbed the bird all over with fat and added salt and pepper, it's all ready to cook, says Miss King.

A shallow uncovered pan is best for cooking a young turkey. Start by placing the bird in the pan breast down—and if the bird is young, don't put water in the bottom of the pan. Just place a rack under the bird to keep it from sticking and to allow hot air to circulate. Use moderate temperature for the bird—usually the larger the bird the lower the temperature. For example a 10 to 13 pound bird will take about 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours at 300 degrees F. A larger bird—14 to 17 pounds—takes about 5 to 6 hours at 275 degrees F.

Don't forget to baste frequently, turning the bird every time it is basted. This turning keeps parts standing high in the oven from cooking faster than others.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

Your columnist has composed a song—well, not exactly, for I still need the tune and also the words but how's this for a lifting title. "I'll Build You a Palace, Sweet Alice, in Dallas!"

And on the subject of rhyme, one of the most unusual newspaper headlines I ever heard of appeared in the Austin paper the day after the famous knight of the six-shooter, Ben Thompson, and his almost equally celebrated companion, King Fisher, were slain in San Antonio:

"Ben Thompson, hero of many a bloody fight,
Has fought his last and died last night;

King Fisher, faithful to the end,
Yielded up his life to 'save his friends."

We are indebted to the good memory of Dave Pena of Tyler, who spent his boyhood in Austin, for this headline.

Here's another bit of verse that is an old-time favorite, author unknown—called "One Step at a time:"

One step at a time, and that well placed,
We reach the grandest height;
One stroke at a time, earth's hidden stores
Will slowly come to light.
One seed at a time, and the forest grows,

One drop at a time and the river flows
Into the boundless sea.
One word at a time, and the greatest book
Is written and is read;
One stone at a time, and a palace rears
Aloft its stately head.
One blow at a time, and the tree's cleft through
And a city will stand where the forest grew
A few short years before.
One foe at a time, and he subdued,
And the conflict will be won;
One grain at a time, and the sands of life
Will slowly all be run.
One minute, another, the hours thus fly
One day at a time, and our lives speed by
Into eternity:

Keith Cartwright, Ph. M. 3/c in the Navy, who is stationed at New Orleans, La., is spending a 15-day leave here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cartwright.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin, Texas.—With the hunting season now open, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is urging that all hunters or other persons spending time in wooded areas use all possible precautions against being bitten by ticks which may infect the victim with relapsing fever. He further advises that when a tick is found, it be removed from the body as soon as possible and that care be taken not to crush the ticks in handling them.

"Tick-bite fever is contracted," Dr. Cox explained, "either from the bite of infected ticks or by absorbing the infectious material through breaks or scratches in the skin." According to Dr. Cox, the disease does not spread from person to person by direct contact but only through the bite of an infected tick or body louse. Prompt removal of the insect is of the utmost importance.

Relapsing fever is characterized by sudden onset, intense headache located in the front part of the head and pains in the back and limbs. The fever lasts from three to five days before slowly declining. The temperature will then remain normal for about a week when the fever repeats itself. There may be three, four or even more such relapses, which accounts for the name of the disease.

Dr. Cox said that the wearing of suitable clothing so as to prevent ticks getting next to the skin is of importance in the prevention of this disease. The insects may be removed with the fingers but the use of tweezers is recommended since this helps to prevent leaving the head embedded in the skin. After removing or handling a tick, the hands should be washed carefully with soap and warm water.

Newest member of the Terrell Taylor family is a baby girl who arrived at the Knox County hospital on Sunday, November 25. Reports are that the little girl and her mother are doing fine.

Enlistment Time For Leathernecks Being Reduced

Dallas.—In line with the new streamlined recruiting program currently launched by the United States Marine Corps was the announcement today that prospective Leathernecks may now enlist for a period of two years.

The announcement, made by Colonel John R. Lanigan, Officer in Charge of the Southern Recruiting Division of the Marine Corps, also provided that discharged Marines can re-enlist for a period of two years.

Prior to the new provision, which becomes effective on Saturday, December 1, Marines were required to enlist or re-enlist for periods of three or four years.

A boost in enlistments was anticipated by Marine Corps recruiting officers as a result of the new plan.

NEW IDEA IN TRENCH SILOS COLLEGE STATION.

Hay bales will buttress the 1945 silage crop of a Childress County ranchman. J. M. Crews had planned to concrete the sides of his six trench silos which are located on sandy soil. But forms not being available he sought the advice of County Agricultural Agent V. E. Hafner for another method of housing.

Taking the most convenient material, they walled in an above-ground space with baled hay, and through October Mr. Crews had placed 300 tons into this space. Hafner says he will have about 1,000 tons by the end of the season.

The silage placed between the hay-bale walls is not covered as is the practice with feed stored in under-ground trenches. Mr. Crews
