

County Has Huge Job Ahead On Home Repair

More than $353,000 is expected to be spent during the next five years by Knox County home owners on remodeling and repair work.

The year 1946 promises to inaugurate one of the greatest eras in American history for home repairs and modernization, according to estimates released by the Tile Council of America. "Few developments will contribute more to employment and general prosperity in any community," according to R. E. Jordan, chairman of the council's Residential Construction Committee.

Because of lack of materials and manpower during the war, majority of the county's 2,820 dwelling units are in need of some kind of repair or remodeling work. Kitchen improvements and modernization of bathrooms, installation of tiled showers and in some homes addition of a second bath top the nation's list of most wanted major improvements, Jordan said.

Outside paint jobs are needed on more than 50 per cent of homes, and addition of rooms and construction of porches also rank high in remodeling plans, according to the report. New roofing and heating plants are required by many dwellings.

Home owners in Texas will spend an estimated $226,215,000 and those of the nation more than $5,500,000,000 for major repairs in the next five years, according to Jordan. Ample funds, at low interest charges, are available for such work through commercial banks, savings and loans associations, credit unions and mutual savings banks, he pointed out.

Benjamin 4-H Club Boys Slated To Conduct Hog Feeding Projects

The feeding experiment will determine what would happen, if hogs were fed all the salt they wanted, or got no salt at all.

Two Duroc Jersey pigs, litter mates, have been selected for the test and it is planned to start the feeding experiment beginning about January 1st.

Numerous hogs in Knox County suffer and die annually from vitamin deficiency diseases to say nothing of the losses in gains and growth and the losses in pigs due to weakness. One of the most common deficiency in pigs is leg weakness, down-in-the-back, paralysis of the rear parts, or rickets. Some people believe this trouble is caused by kidney worms. This is not at all the case. The trouble is purely deficiency disease and can be prevented entirely by proper feeding. The Benjamin 4-H Club boys are going to find out, if it is a good practice to keep a good mineral mixture before the hogs at all times. The cost of minerals are practically negligible because hogs eat only small amounts of this material. The small amount they do eat, however, does a great deal of good, and should reward the owner many fold. Almost all grain feeds are deficient in salt. Many of the grains contain a small supply of phosphorus, and most of the feeds high in protein have an abundance of phosphorus, but all except milk and tankage are very deficient in lime. Pigs require proper balance between lime and phosphorus. If a large amount of phosphorus and no lime is available it is just as bad as to have no mineral at all. If the pigs do not receive proper vitamins along with the minerals, they cannot completely assimilate the minerals; therefore, it is not only necessary to supply minerals in the proper proportions and amounts, but it is also necessary to see that hogs get needed vitamins. The county agent, R. O. Dunkle, who will supervise the feeding experiment explains that mineral mixture to be used in this feeding experiment will be 2 lbs. of lime stone, 2 lbs. of bone meal and 1 lb. salt. This mineral supplement will be fed in a separate mineral box where the pigs receiving the mineral mixture will have excess to it at all times. Alfalfa leaf meal will also be supplied free choice to furnish vitamins that are necessary for rapid growth and normal development.

AAA Program Has Changes For Year Of 1946

Due to a limited amount of funds available for soil building assistance in 1946, it will be necessary that all producers who expect any assistance for soil building work to be carried out, get prior approval from the County Committee before any work is started. By prior approval it is meant that a definite allocation of money to each farm must be made before the work is started or the farm will be ineligible for any A. A. A. payments.

In 1945 only a few special practices required the above prior approval, but in 1946 all practices require it.

There is available in Haskell County $121,000.00 for assistance so farmers who desire such assistance in carrying out approved soil building practices and by contacting the county office or any county or Community Committeeman, information may be secured as to how this money may be spent on any farm or ranch.

It is requested that all farmers contact some committeeman or the county office early in 1946 so that the assistance available to farmers of Haskell County will be most profitably utilized, and that no practices are carried out which can not be paid for.

Price Control On Tire Saes Is Still Effective

The removal of tire rationing on January 1 has no bearing whatever on price control over tires and other rubber goods. B. B. Campbell, Chairman of the Knox County Area Price Board, said today.

Tires are still short, Mr. Campbell said, and it is obvious that with so many people needing and trying to get scarce tires there will be a tendency to bid prices up.

This bidding up of prices on scarce commodities is the stuff of which inflation is made, the Price Chairman said, pointing out that ceiling prices on all goods must be adhered to until the supply becomes plentiful enough to remove the threat of inflation. For benefit of former 'A' gasoline book holders who have not been able to buy tires since the war started Mr. Campbell said that the top legal price for any 600x16 four-ply passenger tire is $16.05, and that a 650x16 four-ply tire is $19.50.

The Price Chairman also suggested that drivers take the best possible care of their tires remembering that it will still be several months before everybody who wants tires will be able to buy them.

Consumers, Mr. Campbell adds, should keep in mind that all dealers are required to supply a sales ticket or an invoice showing the size of the tires and the price per unit. Where doubt exists as to tire costs the sales 'receipt' may be submitted to local OPA Boards for examination.

LET THE SOLDIERS KNOW

A soldier landing in the United States from the South Pacific, after getting his discharge, found thousands of men waiting at the demobilization center to get on trains. It was hard for men who had been away from home two three and four years or longer, to understand why railroad cars were not immediately available. Most of them did not know that during the whole war period, railroads were promoted from buying new equipment. They did not know that the staggering war load which surpassed any transportation job in history, was moved much faster and with fewer cars and engines than was the transportation load during and after the first World War.

Few of the men knew that when the railroads were permitted to place orders for troop-carrying cars after this war ended, strikes held up deliveries. Neither did the men know that for such troop-carrying cars as the railroads have been able to get, strikes delayed the supplying of beds and equipment.

It is only fair to state that many of the causes which delay the movement of returning veterans are entirely beyond the control of the railroads.

In November troop movements across our country totaled 1,500,000, with the number expected to increase. The railroads had to provide 97 per cent of all transportation for military personnel traveling under orders. Their biggest job now is getting our soldiers and sailors back home. They hope that when congestion occurs, those who are inconvenienced will understand some of the reasons responsible for delays. And last but not least, the American people, including the families of our armed forces, are demanding traveling space as never before, which often adds to the problem of handling returning veterans promptly.

SENSIBLE OIL POLICY

For a long time oil men have said that rigid and artificial price policies toward the oil industry were a barrier to normal development. It has remained for Deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph Davies to jolt the Office of Price Administration by declaring that price ceilings on oil products are endangering the industry, and stating that oil supplies are large enough to warrant immediate removal of ceilings. He cited a threatened kerosene shortage as an example of how price ceilings may throw oil production out of balance. The low price of kerosene, he said, prompts companies to diminish kerosene production in favor of more profitable gasoline production.

Looking farther into the future, Mr. Davies said the industry should be assured of a good price for crude oil at all times. The price must be high enough he said, that even small discovery will produce more than a "moderate" return. He pointed out that the risks in oil investment are great and returns should be commensurate. When the time comes that American oil production needs protection from foreign oil producers, he said, import duties should be established high enough to assure a good crude price, but not so high as to allow American oil companies to become inefficient.

Mr. Davies' remarks are refreshing in their clarity and their soundness. If such policies were adopted by government toward oil and other industries, our nation would be on its road to reconversion and recovery from war demoralization before we knew it.

WHO IS CRAZY?

We now have so many regulators of business that one wonders how manufacturers and retailers ever managed to give the United States the highest living standard in the world before the professional doctors of economics took over during the war emergency which has been used to cover a multitude of sins.

Chain stores, which have been criticized for "low cost" selling, are now, according to the Retail Dry Goods Association, forced by law to sell nylon hosiery at prices under thousands of small independent retailers. They complain that under OPA orders they must charge the same price for nylon hosiery whether they obtain it directly from the mills or from wholesalers at a higher cost. On the other hand, they claim the OPA order allows non-chain stores a higher ceiling price on hosiery purchased from wholesalers. Not so many years ago chains were forced to forego "loss leaders" on the theory that it hurts independents. Now public authorities force chains to sell what amounts to "loss leaders."

Is it any wonder that business in the United States is confused, store shelves empty? Reconversion is still something talked about for the future. The nation's prosperity depends on production and retailing. How much longer can we stand political horseplay?

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Some people find it difficult to understand why it should make any difference whether government or private enterprises operates industry, so long as pay comes regularly.

Well, in the first place, if government were at the helm politics would be mixed up with jobs. The right to work would inevitably depend upon "going along" with the political group in power—which would lead straight to oppression of the worst sort. In the second place, if government were at the helm there would probably be few industries of any kind. This is indicated by the fact while other nations have great resources, no other nation has enjoyed development comparable to the United States, and only in this country has the individual always been free to go as far as his capabilities permit.

If you think freedom and progress in the United States are a mere coincidence, look about you at any major industry. You will see the most strenuous effort to build for the future. You will see new ideas galore. You will see the most ingenious devices to encourage the public to try out these new ideas.

The coal industry, for example, is now promoting the construction of larger chimneys in new homes—chimneys big enough for the installation of coal-burning heating plants. The slogan is, "Don't build coal out." Sure it's advertising! Back of it is the desire to teach consumers new uses for coal. This process of creating demand is used by all industry. From it has come our American standard of living. Had it not been for such continual pushing, present day luxuries and conveniences would still be buried in the ground. The public would never know anything better than the cave-man era, had it waited for uninspired officeholders to pioneer the untried.

Don't dismiss the controversy between public and private ownership as academic eyewash.

ONE REASON FOR ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT

A common-sense declaration of why the retail distribution industry, or any industry for that matter, works for sane tax and spending policies in government, is voiced by the treasurer of a representative chain store company.

Retailers today are one of the largest groups of employers and are in a field where competitive enterprises still functions without government, is voiced by the treasurer of a representative chain store company:

"Retailers today are one of the largest group of employers and are in a field where competitive enterprise still functions without governmental subsidy. We have a great duty to perform in broadening the market for the products of our factories. We have a duty to fight for conditions under which adequate merchandise is produced and sold at fair prices. The expenditures of government must be paid through reduction in the purchasing power of our customers or an increase in the selling price of our merchandise. We must, therefore, actively support those people in government who work for the reduction of government expenditures and the development of government policies which encourage free competitive enterprise."

"In the United States, public sentiment is not only overwhelmingly opposed to government ownership of railroads, banks and electric power companies, but it is even less in favor of the idea now than a few years ago. Here are the figures:

"Government ownership of the railroads—77 per cent disapprove, 23 per cent approve. Government ownership of banks—69 per cent disapprove, 31 per cent approve. Government ownership of electric power companies—63 per cent disapprove." George Gallup, Director of the American Institute of Public Opinion.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

by BOYCE HOUSE

Visiting Ranger, this observer noted that the old T.&P. station had been torn down. The building was used throughout the oil boom as a combined passenger and freight depot. Several thousand persons passed through the station in a day and it was from this depot to the opposite sidewalk during muddy weather that many persons paid a dime for a ride on the "ferry"—a sled drawn by a mule. (You can buy a postcard of the sled at drug stores in Ranger).

Of course, Ranger still has a railroad station—the beautiful brick structure that was erected after the oil rush had ended.

And the steel derrick just a stone's throw from the station still stands. The derrick was erected to lend color when the tenth anniversary of the discovery of the field was celebrated and it has remained there during the intervening 18 years. In 1947, the Ranger field will be 30 years old. Many wells continue to produce their modest few barrels a day, year after year, and new wells are drilled, from time to time.

Oil activity and business in general have held on remarkably well. A three-story hotel recently sold for a reported consideration of $70,000 or more. In a recent transaction, 30,000 acres sold for a price said to have been in the neighborhood of half a million dollars. Brann Garner said the picture show business is the best in his 15 years there. Jim Ingram was so busy with his taxicabs that he couldn't sit down and reminisce a little about some of the boom day happenings when he was a police officer. There was not a parking space along Main Street and lots of folks were shopping. Joe Dennis declared it had been years since the Times has had as good a volume of business.

Willard Swaney took off from filling prescriptions and selling hair tonic (he has even less hair than your columnist) to attend the Rotary luncheon and hear "I Give You Texas" man and so did Hall Walker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, former mayor, vice president of the bank and dynamo in general. The speaking invitation was extended by Dr. G. C. Boswell, School Superintendent.

And Jack Urban told a story about a dry goods merchant who knew nothing about oil but was induced to help finance a wildcat. Among other things, the merchant outfitted the drilling crew with work clothes. As they were climbing into the truck to head for the lease to begin drilling, he ran out and yelled, "Boys, be sure and get high-gravity oil."

Which, by the way, they did.

S. D. Jones Plants Winter Peas For Improvement Crop

Mr. S. D. Jones, cooperater in the East Knox City Conservation Group, has planted 7 acres of Austrian Winter Peas for a soil improvement crop. On 2 acres peas he applied 10 lbs. of 19% Superphosphate fertilizer to the acres.

The peas still are small but the difference can be seen already. The peas where phosphate was applied are larger and have a darker color than those that doesn't have the Phosphate. Several farmers are trying this practice and results of these trail plots are being closely observed.

Mr. Jones also planted several acres of Weeping Love Grass last Spring in his field. When he harvested his crop from the field he let his cows in. They have grazed the love grass until it is only about two inches high. This has given a lot of information on this question as it was not known in this locality how livestock was going to take this grass.

Practices like the two above are part of the Coordinated Soil Conservation Plan which Mr. Jones worked out with the assistance of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, and the Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Miss Dixie Atkeison who is X-ray technician in a hospital at Colorado Springs, Colo., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Atkeison during the holidays.

Texas And Her Annexation

By Dr. E. C. Barker, Professor of American History, The University of Texas

Texas Insists On Protection

Before signing the annexation treaty, the Texan representatives, Van Zandt and Henderson, received from Calhoun President Tyler's pledge that he would order a strong naval force to the Gulf of Mexico and strengthen the military forces on the Texas frontier. President Houston did not consider this guarantee of protection altogether adequate, but it went as far as Tyler's constitutional authority permitted. Tyler thought that the army and navy dispositions might defer Mexico from attempting an invasion of Texas.

In the same letter that expressed his dissatisfaction to Van Zandt and Henderson, Houston declared: "If from any cause we should be rejected, we must redouble our energies. Texas can be sovereign and independent, founded upon her own incalculable advantages of situation, and sustained by European influences without the slightest compromittal of her nationality. I again declare to you that every day which passes only convinces me more clearly that it is the last effort at annexation that Texas will ever make." After rejection by the Senate, the Texas government directed a continuous correspondence to its agents in Washington and to the American representative in Texas demanding fulfillment of the pledge of protection. At the same time, Houston redoubled his efforts to convince the British agent in Texas, by suggestion and implication, that he was done with annexation; and in that endeavor he succeeded, thereby increasing the anxiety of friends of annexation in the United States. In effect the American government reiterated many times its more or less guarded promise of protection.

Houston's Attitude Deceived His Secretary Of State

Toward the end of September, 1844, Houston wrote a short memorandum to Anson Jones, who was then Secretary of State and president-elect of Texas. It instructed Jones to order Ashbel Smith, minister of Texas in London and

Questions Answered For Farmers And Ranchers on Income Tax Problems

More than 800 Knox County farmers and ranchers during the next two and one half months will file final income tax return for 1945.

Here are a few of the answers to questions farmers will need to know between now and March 15, 1946.

1. How does a farmer know he must file an income tax return?

a. A farmer, regardless of whether he is single or married, must file an income tax return, if his 1945 gross income was $500.00 or more.

2. What is Gross Income?

a. Gross income in general means total receipts from personal services income derived from use of investment items such as land, building, livestock, work stock, equipment and the like.

3. What is Gross Farm Income?

a. A farmer who receives at least two thirds of his income from farming will want to be sure that gross for his income is computed correctly. Generally gross farm income includes (1.) Receipts from sale of livestock and produce raised on the farm. (2.) Profits from purchased livestock and produce sold. (3.) Other income such as tractor rent, pasture leases, etc. Remember in figuring gross farm income you can deduct the purchase price from the sales price of livestock previously purchased.

4. When must a farmer file his 1945 return?

a. Farmers with a gross income of $500.00 or more are required to file a declaration of estimated net income for 1945 by January 15, 1946 but he can file a final return on this date instead of a declaration and be through with his reporting.

Of course, if he does file only a declaration on January 15, 1946, he must make a final return on or before March 15, 1946.

5. What forms does a farmer need?

a. Ninety eight percent of Knox County farmers and ranchers report on the cash basis each one of these farmers will need a minimum of two forms. One is form Schedule 1040 F for reporting farm income and expenses, the other is 1040.

6. Why is the use of schedule D so important to many farmers?

a. Schedule D is for reporting sale of dairy or beef breeding cattle as a sale of capital assets. This provision in the law is of tremendous importance to many farmers and ranchers as it means only 50 per cent of the gain from such sales are taxable. However, these animals must have been held on the farm for more than six months.

Later Jones himself was charged with desiring to prevent annexation. This endorsement on Houston's note became an alibi.

Vaccinating Trough

VACCINATION of hogs, so essential to disease control, decreased mortality and increased production, can be greatly simplified by constructing a vaccinating trough. Not only does such a trough make vaccinating more convenient, but it helps to prevent injury to the hogs. An injured hog usually brings a lower price on the market.

A sturdy trough can be constructed of lumber at low cost. A good size is four feet long and two feet high. The supports at either end are made of 2x4's braced at the bottom with 1x4's. The trough is made of one piece of 2x12 four feet long and one piece of 2x10 four feet long.

A fairly efficient hog oiler can be made cheaply by wrapping burlap around a post and binding the burlap with rope or heavy cord. If the post is grooved the burlap will absorb oil more readily. Best results are obtained by frequent applications of oil.

must make a final return on or before March 15, 1946.

NEW RAT KILLER

Scientists of United States Fish and Wildlife Service has announced a new weapon to use against rats, designated as 10-80. It is described as a deadly killer, so powerful that a small amount is capable of killing a man, and for this reason it will not be made available until further developments are required to make it reasonable fool proof.

When 10-80 is made available, the scientists claim it will enable man to wage a really effective war against rodents.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

STEVE: "How was the hospital dinner, Judge? Sorry I couldn't get there."

OLD JUDGE: "Very interesting, Steve. One of the doctors on the staff read a paper on the research work that is going on at one of the big universities where they are studying chronic alcoholism."

STEVE: "I'd like to have heard that, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "He pointed out that approximately 95% of the people who drink do so sensibly. Only 5% abuse the privilege oc-asionally and included in that 5% is the very small number known as alcoholics. Then he quoted a doctor from a famous university who said 'Alcoholics are sick persons and, if treated as such, may be cured.' Alcoholism, he said, is not caused by alcohol but by deep-rooted emotional derangements which can be prevented by education and often cured through modern psychology!"

STEVE: "That's the most sensible approach to the problem I've heard."

FEDERAL LAND BANK LOANS . . .

What does a Land Bank loan cost? What does low cost mean to the borrower? Its the complete price the farmer or rancher pays for his long-term credit...the cost of his trip toward debt-free ownership.

The supreme cost all borrowers want to avoid is the loss of one's property...one's home. Assurance that Land Bank Loans are not "overloaned" and that proper collection policies will be followed are a protection against such a catastrophe.

Some other factors that determine the worth as well as the cost of Land Bank loan services are the value of having a low rate of interest tied down, no renewals, a loan that can be repaid from earnings...and the right to pay off in part or in full at any time with funds from any source without penalties or restrictions.

At a cost of $1.25 Mrs. Eula Knox Hayes of the Sunny Hill community in Randall County has re-seated a hickory chair which is 79 years old, and which she now regards as priceless. Using hickory splints and following a method taught her by Lou Ella Patterson, her county home demonstration agent, Mrs. Hayes did a renovating job which is the envy of her neighbors.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Just before Congress recessed for the holidays it made several important amendments to the G. I. Bill of Rights which liberalize the loan and educational provisions.

Heretofore, a veteran has been allowed $50 per month living allowances for educational purposes and $75 if he has dependents. Hereafter, $65 will be allowed for single veterans and $90 for those with dependents.

Heretofore, all veterans were presumed to have had their education interrupted if they were under 25 years of age when they entered the service. This new bill removes that limit so that now any veteran can get a year's training plus as many years as he was in service, with a maximum of four years. Short, intense courses are also approved in the amendment, as are recognized correspondence courses, cost not to exceed $500.

Heretofore, the veterans was required to start to school within two years after discharge or the end of the war, whichever is later; this is changed to four years, and instead of being compelled to complete his course of study in seven years, this has been extended to nine years after the end of the war.

Under the old law, a veteran could not get a guaranteed loan after two years. This is extended to ten years after the war, and the period of amortization is extended from twenty to twenty-five years on real estate and from twenty to forty years on farm.

Maturity of all non-real estate loans is set at ten years. The term "reasonable normal value" has necessarily kept appraisals low and the number of loans low. Under the new law, the term "reasonable value" is substituted, which will liberalize the act.

The maximum guarantee on real estate loans is raised from $2,000 to $4,000. However, guarantees are still limited to fifty per cent of loan, and guarantees on non-real estate remain at $2,000.

These are the principal provisions of the changes in the Act. The provisions of the original Act concerning unemployment and other benefits remain unchanged.

BRITISH LOAN

One of the first problems to be taken up in the Second Session of the Seventy-ninth Congress convening on January 14 will be the question of approving the British loan. The details of the proposal loan have been worked out by the State and Treasury Departments. Roughly, the proposal does three things: It settles the old World War I debt owed us by the British; it settles the balance on Lend-Lease during World War II; and then loans the British Three-and-three-quarter Billions of Dollars to be paid over a period of fifty years.

State Department officials with whom I have discussed this loan say it is an over-all settlement of our financial dealings with the British. Between April 1917 and June 1919, we loaned the British $4,227,000,000. They paid on this loan until the Hoover Moratorium or until high tariff walls virtually stopped our trading with them, and all debtors began defaulting (with exception of Finland) in 1933. The total amount paid on this loan was $2,024,000. We advanced the British $29 billion dollars worth of materials, equipment, and supplies (no money) under Lend-Lease. We received about $4 1/2 Billion Dollars worth back in Lend-Lease. All Lend-Lease is now settled, including certain surplus material still in the British Isles, for $850 Million Dollars. State Department officials say this unexpected portion of material and equipment advanced under Lend-Lease is not worth that amount; they justify this settlement on the grounds of benefits re-American lives and in shortening the war. The Three-and-three-quarter Billion Dollar loan is justified, they say, because it is necessary to keep Britain on her feet as a going concern and as a customer. They say it is a line of credit that will be spent in this country largely for raw materials such as corn, cotton, wheat, tobacco, and so on, and that it will mean many times this amount of money to us in trade and in aiding reconversion.

Incidentally, our Export-Import Bank is just concluding a loan to Finland of several millions of Dollars earmarked for the purchase of American cotton.

Cameron Employees Receive Bonuses

A letter from E. R. Bolton, president of Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., to 863 of the firm's employees advised them of a Christmas bonus equal to one and one half months salary. This marks the sixth consecutive year that the company's bonuses were based on that method. Sharing in the bonus distributions are 76 ex-service men who have returned to their places in the Cameron organization.

Sloping Floors Save New-Born Pigs

Use of a sloping floor in a farrowing house saves newborn pigs, says J. S. Robinson, Extension swine specialist of the University of Tennessee, from being crushed to death. On 49 farms where sloping floors were used and records of 355 litters were kept, an average of only one pig out of 50 farrowed was smashed, while on level floors on the same farms, nearly one pig out of four was mashed, he states.

Blocking up a floor about one foot at front for a standard 8-8 foot house he states, serves the purposes.

An important part of the farrowing house, Mr. Robinson states in an Extension news release is the pig hover (protection board) along the lower wall. The hover, he states, should be 12 inches wide and 10 inches off of the floor. The floor sloping toward the hover, encourages pigs to rest under its shelter.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Baker during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Baker, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Baker, Jr., of Lockney; Dr. and Mrs. G. V. Smith, Mrs. E. C. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ginn, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Henry and son, R. C., Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Henry, all of Floydada, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Henry of Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Warren of Wink, Texas, spent the holidays here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Warren, and Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Athol Wood of Lubbock spent the holidays with relatives and friends here and at Goree.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Claburn visited with relatives in Fort Worth several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tonn of Haskell visited with Mrs. Tonn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Lee, during the holidays.

Senior Class News
 The Seniors are trying very hard to settle down and resume their studies after those wonderful Christmas holidays. The fun that all of us had during the holidays is still the main topic under discussion in the class room. Some of the boys had some rather amusing incidents to tell.

We Seniors are looking forward to the New Year 1946 with happy hearts. We have all resolved to do our best to make these last five months the happiest of our Senior year.

Junior Class News
 It doesn't seem just right for the Juniors to settle down once more for the rest of the school term. The holidays have made the Juniors very absent minded about their studies. Too much Christmas and all of its goodies has put the blunt Juniors in a drowsy humor. Everyone seems to think Santa was very good this year. We all had a very Merry Christmas.

Since the New Year has begun, the Juniors have realized that they ought to settle down and show what their craniums have in store. We

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
 M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin.—All children should be immunized against diphtheria at a very early age, according to a statement on the subject released this week by the Texas State Department of Health, explaining that toxoid which can be administered easily and without danger can safeguard youngsters against this serious and killing disease of childhood.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges all Texas parents to have their children, who are not already protected, immunized at once.

"The administration of toxoid can save a child from serious illness or even death and those who have not been safeguarded against this danger should be inoculated immediately," Dr. Cox said.

"Babies should be immunized by the age of eight or nine months," Dr. Cox advised. "A first dose of toxoid is recommended by authorities on the care of infants by the age of eight or nine months, and sometimes as early as six months. A second dose is usually given later."

To maintain immunity at a high level, Dr. Cox emphasized that a reinforcing dose of toxoid is advised when a child is old enough to enter school or have a school test made. Children who enter school or kindergarten this year without this additional safeguard or without ever having been immunized certainly should be protected without any further delay, the State Health Officer declared.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brock of Fort Worth came in Sunday for a visit with Mrs. Brock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Jarvis, and with other relatives. Clifford has just received his discharge from the Navy.

COMPLETE BUILDING SERVICE

Plans to Suit Your Needs

For greatest satisfaction, pleasure and convenience, your new home should be planned to fit the needs and desires of your particular family. Our Home Planning Department will plan and design your home to suit your individual requirements.

Construction Value in Advance

Good construction is the most important thing in building a home. Don't be short-changed with skimpy, unsound construction. Anyone can easily see the difference in types of construction with Cameron's Home X-Ray Chart. Get the facts on construction before you build; avoid regrets and expenses afterwards.

Supervision of Construction

To be certain your home is built exactly to your specifications, supervision of construction by skilled builders is necessary. CAMERON-BUILT homes are closely supervised during every phase of construction. This is a Cameron "no-cost-to-you" service.

Like Paying Rent to Yourself Every Month

Pay for your home just like you pay rent . . . except, you take the money out of one pocket and put it in another. Cameron men are fully informed and experienced in home financing.

January 31 THE LAST DAY FOR MEN NOW IN THE ARMY TO RETAIN THEIR PRESENT GRADES BY REENLISTING . . .

Men now in the Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in their present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in the grade they held at the time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE NEW ENLISTMENT PROGRAM

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in Army with 6 months' service.)
2. Enlistment age from 17 to 34 years inclusive, except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age.
3. Men reenlisting retain present grades, if they reenlist within 20 days after discharge and before February 1, 1946.
4. The best pay scale, medical care, food, quarters and clothing in Army history.
5. An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.
6. Up to 90 days' paid furlough, depending on length of service, with furlough travel paid to home and return, for men now in Army who enlist.
7. A 30-day furlough every year at full pay.
8. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.
9. Option to retire at half pay for life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
10. Benefits under the GI Bill of Rights.
11. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist before July 1, 1946.
12. Opportunity to learn one or more of 200 skills and trades.
13. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater in the Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.

There's a long list of attractive reenlistment privileges in the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945. The ability to keep your present grade is only one of them, but this privilege expires on January 31.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. If you'll read them carefully, you'll know why a job in the new peacetime Regular Army is being regarded today as "The Best Job in the World."
