Never Greater Need for Funds
Says Campaign Chairman
Urging Full Support

"The 1947 March of Dimes, annual fund-raising drive for Infantile Paralysis which sparkplugs the never ceasing battle against polio, will be held January 15 to 30, it was announced today by Claude E. Reed, chairman of the march of Dimes campaign committee for Knox County.

"The need for funds, Mr. Reed said, has never been greater, since the nation has just emerged from the worst epidemic of polio in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, founded in 1938 to spearhead and coordinate the battle against the disease.

"United States Public Health Service figures show," said Mr. Reed, "that the 1946 polio epidemic is second only in severity to the great epidemic of 1916, the worst in recorded history. This means that not only were the Foundation and its chapters called upon as never before to supply expensive material, personnel and every other

New Year Arrives Amid Winter's Fury

Broomcorn Makes Good Cash Crop

Broomcorn in the Panhandle is a real cash crop, as was demonstrated by Dallam County farmers this year.

Six farmers in the Stateline community in Dallam county planted 9955 acres in broomcorn this year, reports Dallam County Agricultural Agent Marvin J. Sims. The crop paid off a net profit of from $100 to $200 per acre.

Frank Davenport, Dallam county farmer harvested over 47 tons of broomcorn off 210 acres. Showing just how good a cash crop the broomcorn is, County Agent Sims says that Davenport sold the crop for $300 a ton, which, after deducting production and processing costs amounting to $100, gave him a net profit of approximately $200 on each ton.

How Davenport came out on the crop-rem arrangement is another success story concerning broomcorn, Sims says. Davenport bought a quarter section of Dallam county land last spring for $6 acre and rented it to be planted in broomcorn for one-sixth crop rent. The payoff on his rent amounts to approximately $10 an acre this year, covering the entire cost of the land plus $4 profit, from only one crop of broom corn.

Snow Blankets Much of County And The Nation

The mercury plummeted downward, and winter blew his icy blast as the new year was ushered in this week.

The sparsely-clad infant with the "1947" streamer soon found need for more clothes this year, as the county and all the nation has been experiencing some of the most severe winter weather in several seasons.

Coming on the heels of a stiff norther was the first snow of the season, which almost has traffic halted in this section Thursday. After a cold, dreary day Monday, the county was visited with snow Monday night. Snow fell intermittently during the day Tuesday.

The new year came in quietly in Munday, with very little activities except that quite a few football fans were completing final preparations to see the Cotton Bowl classic in Dallas. Despite hazards of icy roads and wet weather, several went to the game.

Late in the afternoon of the new year's first day, snow again started falling and continued through the night. By Thursday morning the area was blanketed to a depth of between six and eight inches.

The mercury stood at around 15 degrees several mornings this week.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce Starts Move To Cut Nation's Budget

Abilene — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce announced today it was urgently calling on the Texas delegation in the 80th Congress, convening Jan. 3, to "immediately and forthrightly start working for drastic reduction in federal expenditures, specifically for an over-all budget not exceeding $25,000,000,000 in the 1947-48 fiscal year."

The plea was contained in personal letters to the national legislators, signed by WTCC president H. C. Custard; Jas. D. Hamlin, Public Expenditures and Legislative Commission Chairman; and manager D. A. Bandeen. It was based on action taken by the regional chamber's annual assembly Nov. 8 following meetings by more than 100 taxpayer groups over the West Texas area during October. From these gatherings came the adoption of an 11-point "Taxpayer's Code of Ethics" declaring opposition to "big, wasteful, centralized and bureaucratic government as Public Enemy No. 1" and pledging individual and organizational effort in working for a law holding federal expenditures to no more than 25 percent of the national income. A copy of the code was sent to each member of the Congressional delegation.

fiscal year ending June 30 next is approximately $41,500,000,000 of which more than 18 billion has been earmarked for peacetime military purposes. The WTCC open appeal said: "We really need for stressing the importance of and continuing a program of military preparedness these disturbed times. But we must that equal stress should be on the financial preparation of the nation so that in case emergency production may be needed without costly delay, taxes may be paid and business equipped to do its full and untrammelled part in supporting and largely financing any program for keeping us continuously prepared."

The chamber pointed out that in the 20-year period of 1926-46 the national debt has risen from $167 per capita to more than $2,000, "and now, even after World War II's end, the combined burden of public expenditures is consuming 40 percent of the national income. This reckless spending policy is gravely menacing the people's welfare and if continued will put an end to what we have been proud to call the American Way of Life. It will leave nothing for risk capital and savings with which to expand business and give employment."

A DREARY RECORD

The election should assure the defeat of the Wagner-Murray-Dingell public health bill when it reappears in the next Congress. By and large, the members of both major parties who were elected seem opposed to further governmental flirting with socialist doctrines.

If that proves to be the case, it will be all to the good for the country. The Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill is a monumental attempt to give the Federal bureaucracy complete control over the practice of medicine, including doctors, hospitals and clinics. Its cost would be at least $4,000,000,000 a year and perhaps $6,000,000,000 or more—at a time when the public demand for relief from swollen governmental overhead is reaching climactic proportions. It would dip into the pay check of every working person—thus further reducing their take-home wages.

Making Federal health insurance compulsory would endanger, and probably eventually destroy, the many progressive and rapidly expanding voluntary, prepaid health plans.

Worst of all, in the long view, it would have a detrimental effect on medical experiments and discoveries. Regimented doctors, living on what would amount to Federal patronage and dependent for at least part of their livelihood on bureaucratic favor, would hardly in other nations is evidence of that.

PRICE AND QUALITY

It is obvious that the cost of a product, important as that is does not entirely determine its value. Quality is a very vital factor. To take a fictional example, a shirt which costs three dollars and will last a year in normal use is a much better buy than a shirt which costs two dollars and comes back in tatters after a few launderings.

During recent years, we have been forced to accept a very definite decline in the quality of thousands of commodities. Reputable manufacturers and retailers did not want to produce and sell poorer products. But war shortages and substitutions left them no other course. And the now defunct OPA, through some of the most misguided regulations and policies in the history of government, also made the production of inferior goods unavoidable in a long list of instances.

Now, according to reliable reports, this situation is rapidly changing for the better. And the retail merchants of America will deserve much of the credit due. Led by the big chain systems, they are specifying standards for goods which will assure the buyer the best possible value per dollar spent. Retail associations are urging their members to stress quality, and to prepare for the return to the time when a "buyers' market" will once more exist.

This will come as no surprise to anyone familiar with the history of retailing in America. Its policy has always been maximum value plus maximum service. It pursues that policy in good times and bad, in times of low prices and in times of high prices. That is typical of all free, competitive enterprise.

FIRE IN NEW YORK

Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle of New York recently described the alarming increase in fire waste over a national Sunday radio hook-up arranged by the National Board of Fire Underwriters for winter months when fire destruction is heaviest.

In his city, said the Commissioner, the number of fires increased by nearly a third in the first nine months of this year as compared with last. And that occurred, he said, in spite of the constant efforts of 10,000 officers and firemen and one of the world's best equipped fire departments.

"The main cause of fire in New York City," he continued, "are much the same as . . . in every other town and city."

"Careless smoking habits caused 5,300 fires in New York last year. Careless use of kerosene and petroleum products was second. Defective electric wiring and short circuits was third.

"The seriousness of this situation compels all of us to use every precaution against the hazard of fire."

New York city is different from other communities only in size so far as fire waste is concerned. Destruction by fire is increasing on a national scale, and in every state. The responsibility for preventing fire is a duty that rests heavily on

RETAILING ACCEPTS ITS RESPONSIBILITIES

The attitude of the progressive retail industry toward the public is well illustrated in a report made by a committee of the National Association of Food Chains. It recommended that all its members consumer and adopt a series of suggestions, of which the most important are:

1. The responsibility of public service goes with operating a business.
 2. Food chains should know and understand other retailers of all types, and compete fairly with all.
 3. Close cooperation should be maintained with farmers and their organizations.
 4. Employees should receive good pay for a reasonable work week, and be given security against old age and unexpected emergencies.
 5. Retailers should regard veterans as an opportunity—not a problem.
 6. Good new products should be considered and encouraged.
 7. The industry should work with newspapers and radio stations to the end that news concerning retailing developments be better presented to the public.
 8. The store should be part of the community, and play its part in all community-betterment work.
- Food chains are certainly not alone in practicing programs such as this. Thousands of stores, independents as well as chains, operate on ideals of service to the community and to the consumer. This is sound business philosophy of which the country can be proud.

WHAT MAKES BLACK MARKET?

The Sautrday Evening Post recently ran an extraordinarily graphic article entitled "Confessions of a Black-Market Butcher." The dodges used to circumvent the law are described in detail. In one instance, a local undertaking establishment and the undertaker's hearse were used to collect and handle illegal beef. The profits were enormous. To quote the anonymous author's own words, "I've cleared more in the last three years than my father, who owned the shop, made in thirty-five years. . . I've been stocking it away where the income-tax boys won't find it."

Legitimate meat dealers, he observes, such as honest independent merchants, and the old established packing houses sold meat at ceiling prices—when they could get meat. But their supply was nothing in the light of the demand. The black market was siphoning off the bulk of it. And in this connection the writer makes this extremely important observation: "You got a black market because the government didn't enforce price ceilings, and braintrusts who knew nothing about the business made dumb rules that encouraged breeders, packers, farmers and dealers like me to cheat."

That's worth thinking about, now that OPA ceilings on meat prices have been restored. The purpose of this article isn't to discuss the extremely intricate problem of what meat should and should not cost. It should be clear to everyone, however, that artificially low prices will result only in the emergence of the black market on its old-time scale. You can't police every store, every farmer, every village slaughterhouse. During the period when OPA meat controls were off, meat of all kinds appeared in abundance in legitimate outlets. Prices went up—at least in part because of the elimination of government subsidies—but buyer resistance was gradually controlling the rise. So was competition, with stores honestly competing against each other, one more for consumer business.

The logical cure for the black market is adequate production and open competition among retailers, and the normal processes of supply and demand, backed by Federal economy and debt reduction.

Milestone Car "Sealed in Cellophane"

An "orchid" among motor cars is this milestone model, the 19,000,000th Chevrolet built in the 35 years of the division's history. Production of this car early in December highlights the endeavor of automotive manufacturers of America to supply a car-hungry nation within the limits imposed upon the industry by current business conditions. Top-ranking executives of Chevrolet who "delivered" this welcome souvenir "wrapped in cellophane" are Nicholas Dreystadt (left), general manager, and T. H. Keating, general sales manager.

Veterans' News

The Veterans Administration has announced that special consideration will be given to disability claims filed by veterans who were in enemy prison camps during World War II.

The announcement was based on a thorough study of the effects of malnutrition on former American prisoners of war.

More than 125,000 servicemen were repatriated from "PW" camps during the war. Most received special treatment and care after they were freed and apparently regained their health. But some still may be suffering from the after effects of their confinements and thus might be entitled to disability compensation.

The after effects of malnutrition vary and, in certain cases, do not show up until long after the prisoners of war have been released from confinement. Therefore, former prisoners of war who have any reason to believe they are suffering from a disability as a result of their confinement may file a claim with their nearest VA office.

Former prisoners of war who already have filed disability claims and whose claims have been denied, also may get in touch with their nearest VA office and have their cases reopened.

The Veterans Administration is reminding World War II veterans of important deadlines for benefits to which they are entitled.

Approximately 10,000,000 veterans who let their G. I. term in insurance lapse, may reinstate this insurance on or before February 1, 1947, without a physical examination by signing a statement that their health is as good as when their policies lapsed, and by paying premiums for only two months.

Deadlines for several other benefits will be set automatically when the President or Congress officially declares World War II ended.

Questions and Answers
Q. Does the name "United States Government Life Insurance" include "National Service Life Insurance"?

A. No; "United States Government Life Insurance" is one type of Government insurance and "National Service Life Insurance" is another. However, both are administered by the Veterans Administration under authority granted by acts of Congress.

Q. Do the premiums increase as the insurance grows older?

A. No. The premiums to be paid on any form of the insurance are established according to the age of the person insured at the effective date of the insurance; that is, a person 30 years old will pay a higher premium than a person 25 for the same plan of insurance.

Q. Are there any restrictions in Government insurance on the type of work I do?

A. No. The insured may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, live where he likes, and travel any way he chooses, without effecting the value or cost of his insurance policy.

Q. For how long can I carry the World War II National Service Life Insurance that I bought while in service?

A. National Service Life Insurance is issued originally upon the 5-year level plan, which was extended three years for all policies issued before January 1, 1946. However, veterans have the privilege of conversion after one year from date of issue to permanent plans. The law provides that all level premium term policies shall terminate

When your columnist was the one-man news department of a small town daily and, therefore, was sports editor along with other duties, I had a feud with the sports editor of a large city daily and he rather scornfully referred to small town writers and said that they "ought to come in out of the sticks, once in a while." This drew a retort from yours truly: "The size of a man's town doesn't have anything to do with his greatness, or the lack of it. If a cat has kittens in an oven, that wouldn't make them biscuits."

Governor or O. M. Roberts (the Old Alcalde) uttered two of the most striking statements ever made in the history of Texas. The first was, "Civilization begins and ends with the plow." The other was "Texas may go to hell but if she does, she will go according to law."

A frequently-quoted declaration is that of Mirabeau B. Lamar. The statement is usually given as, "Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy. . . It is the only dictator that freemen acknowledge and the only security which freemen desire." The omitted part is, however, highly important for it qualifies the statement. Here the first part of the quotation is, including the part usually left out:

"Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy and, while guided and controlled by virtue, the noblest attribute of man."

Napoleon had a cultivated mind—and plunged the world into war and untold suffering. Education

Now that the Holiday season is over, let us pause to reflect on the value of these and other pleasant holidays to civilization. Holidays—you know—were originally, and still remain, days to be set apart for exemption from hard labor.

And there is where Reddy Kilowatt shines—freeing housewives everywhere from many hard tasks. A few of Reddy's holiday contributions to the homemaker are:

Washing machines instead of the wash board

Refrigerators replacing window milk boxes

Ranges in the place of smoking hot cook stoves

Air conditioners supplanting palmetto fans

Blankets superseding the mountains of fatigue producing bed covering

Reddy Kilowatt's electric service is available to make every day a holiday—by lessening the housewife's hard tasks.

How to Wrap Christmas Packages NOTHING brightens up the Christmas scene quite as much as a wide variety of colorfully wrapped gift packages. If you save, during the year, bits of ribbon and unusual pieces of bright paper, your holiday gifts will cause a great deal of comment. One quick and easy source of colorful wrappings is wall paper. If you have no roll ends of paper saved from house refurbishing, start a "bank" of wrapping material by purchasing several rolls of inexpensive wall paper at the local paint shop.

Some years ago we had a waxing seal made for use at Christmas. It carries a holiday greeting and our names. After wrapping a package we put a piece of red ribbon around the center and held it in place with a dab of hot green sealing wax carrying the seal impression.

Don't be afraid to do the unusual when wrapping gifts. Sometimes it's fun to camouflage the contents to keep the recipient guessing until the last minute. A narrow package can be rolled in paper that extends several inches beyond the ends, then pull the excess together at each end like the top of a sack, with a bright bow of ribbon. The same technique can be used with a square squat package, by wrapping the bottom in regular fashion, then putting a "sack top" on it with ribbon or cord.

In a double-ring ceremony read by Rev. Frank Johnson, Miss Virginia Nell Kirk became the bride of Mr. Marcus Anderson on December 15 at high noon. The wedding was in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Johnson in Goree, in a setting of poinsettias and seasonal flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kirk of Harrold, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson of Tyler. They were attended by Mrs. Howard McCaleb of Vernon as matron of honor, and Eldon Smith of Fort Worth as best man.

Pre-nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Orb Coffman, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, and "Because" by d'Hardelet.

The bride was attired in a nut brown suit, accented with soft blue. She wore brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of orchids.

For something old she carried a linen, tatted-edged handkerchief made by her mother in 1914. For something borrowed she wore a hand-made blouse belonging to Mrs. S. K. Kirk, her sister-in-law.

Mrs. Anderson is a graduate of West Texas State Teachers college, and was employed as a teacher for several years. She was last employed by the Lone Star Gas Co. in Vernon.

Mr. Anderson attended East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce, where he received his degree.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a week's wedding trip, later establishing residence in Fort Worth, where Mr. Anderson is employed in the regional office of the War Assets Agency.

Wedding guests included the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kirk of Harrold; Miss Clifford Anderson of Dallas, sister of the groom; Mrs. Close of Harrold and Mrs. E. F. Heard of Goree.

Miss Juarcy Jones, Jack McCall Wed In Church Rites Here

The First Baptist church in Munday was the scene of a double ring ceremony at 3 p. m. Sunday, December 22, uniting Miss Juarcy Jones, daughter of Mrs. Rose Jones of Denton, and Mr. Jack McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall of the same city.

Before an improvised background of fern, flanked by tall baskets of gladioli and bandolera, the marriage rites were read by Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Louise Ingram as pianist played the traditional wedding marches accompanied Miss Virginia Ruth Albertson, who sang "Because" and "Oh! Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, wore a white sateen gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and a sweetheart neckline, outlined with seed pearls. The long sleeves, ending in points at the hands, were trimmed with seed pearls, and the skirt extended in a train and was outlined at the hem with lace. The full length veil was attached to a tiara of white satin and seed pearls.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible, topped with orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Lola Jones, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of yellow net with matching shoulder veil, and carried white gladioli.

Little Miss Judy Reid, flower girl, was dressed in white net and carried a basket of cut flowers.

Miss Thelma Wirges of Fort Worth, wearing pink net, and Miss Dixie Atkinson of Munday, wearing powder blue chiffon, were candle lighters.

Mr. Harold Kerr of Denton, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man, and Messrs. Dick Harrell, Willard Reeves and Wayne Blacklock, all of Munday, were ushers.

MRS. JACK McCALL

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Reid, where the three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Miss Lola Jones, and Mrs. H. P. Bowen, cousin of the bride presided at the punch bowl.

Following the reception, the couple left for a short wedding trip to South Texas. Mrs. McCall wore for traveling a Chinese blue wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Returning to their home at 500 1-2 W. Hickory Street in Denton, Mrs. McCall will continue in her work as bookkeeper for the Stratton Motor Co., and Mr. McCall will resume his studies at N. T. S. T. C. He was recently discharged from the engineering corps of the regular army.

Annual Christmas Party Held For Bank Employees

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braly entertained employees of the First National Bank with their annual Christmas party on Saturday evening, December 21, in their home.

The annual Christmas presents were presented to the employees at this time. All who had been employed at the bank for a year received their annual Christmas bonus of one month's salary, while others received the equivalent of a month's salary.

Mr. and Mrs. Braly also served lovely refreshments to the group.

Mrs. G. R. Eiland Directs Program For Study Club

The Munday Study Club rooms were resplendent in holiday decorations on Friday, December 20, at 3 p. m., when a beautiful and impressive program was given with Mrs. G. R. Eiland as director. Mrs. J. R. Smith was a most gracious hostess and planned the decorations.

In each corner of the reception room, facing the guests, tall red candles burned in silver holders on pedestals. Between the pedestals was the desk, fringed with cedar and mistletoe, and in its center a holiday wreath of flowers with a vari-colored light shedding a glow overhead.

In front of all, a large white candle flanked by taller candles was the setting for the program.

To the right of this arrangement was a large bowl of poinsettias, surrounded by cedar, mistletoe and holly.

Mrs. G. R. Eiland read the beautiful and ever-lovely story of Christ's nativity, and lighted the large candle which represented that light through all the world.

Mrs. S. E. McStay then told the origin and the beautiful faith in Santa Clause and lighted a candle to represent the light in every day life.

Mrs. D. E. Holder gave a version of the Yuletide in England and lighted a candle for our American custom taken from them and to light a flame in every country.

Mrs. A. E. Richmond gave a beautiful portrayal of the lovely Christmas flowers and spoke of their ability to lift our spirits at Christmastime, then lighted a candle to shine for them.

Following, Mrs. R. D. Atkinson discussed the Christmas carols, their origin and inspiration, and lighted a candle to represent the immortality of spiritual song in worship at the holiday season.

The club as a group, with Mrs. Earl Nichols as pianist and Mrs. Jerry Kane as leader, then sang the carols, and Miss Maud Isbell offered the prayer closing this lovely program.

After the program, a refreshment plate of tea and fruit cake with holly favors was served.

Jim Reeves was a business visitor in Knox City and Haskell on Wednesday.

Open House Is Held To Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

Preceding a week's festivities of holiday parties, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broach, Jr., held open house on December 24, celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary.

The reception suite was beautifully decorated, stressing a theme of red and green. In the living room a Christmas tree with red and green lights decorated one corner, and seasonal flowers were about the room in large containers.

A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered a lace-covered table, one end of which held the punch bowl. Nearby a coffee table was appointed with a handsome silver service, and on the buffet were red carnations and fern in a crystal bowl.

Receiving guests at the door were Mrs. Broach's mother, Mrs. H. F. Barnes, and the young daughter, three-year-old Sylvia Clare Broach.

The house party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Broach, Mrs. Barnes and Sylvia Clare Broach, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kemletz of Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pendleton and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harrell.

Mrs. Kemletz served punch and coffee, and Mrs. Pendleton served the cake. Favors were miniature sleighs carrying nut cups.

FIXING UP the HOME

By Diane Greeter

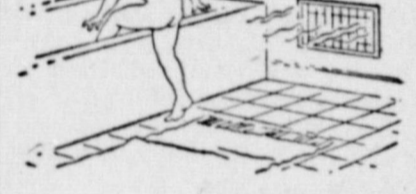

Heating the Chilly Room

MANY homes, even some which have central heating systems, contain one or more rooms that are difficult to keep as warm as the occupants prefer. It may be a bedroom, or the kitchen. More often it is the bathroom, where the chill of morning destroys the pleasure of a daily shower.

Modern gas space heaters, already in wide use in the southern and western sections of the United States, can solve this problem with complete satisfaction. Now they are available in the new "wall insert" model which may be installed flush with the wall of the room in which quick, comfortable heat is needed.

One advantage of this type of heater is that it occupies no valuable room space, although it provides controllable heat with temperatures which may, if you like, be as hot as an old-fashioned stove which takes up at least six square feet of floor area.

Liquefied petroleum gas—LP-Gas—to fuel these heaters may be delivered right by to your home wherever you live. Few dwellings in the country are more than one mile from a regularly scheduled delivery route for LP-Gas.

No householder in the United States need resign himself to discomfort simply because he lives beyond reach of pipeline gas. "Tank" gas and "bottled" gas have removed geography from good living.

Modern Gas Refrigeration

THE problem of food preservation has been a serious one since mankind first began to give thought to matters of diet.

Old-fashioned methods of refrigeration which were never really adequate or safe need no longer be trusted with the job of protecting the family's health for, by means of liquefied petroleum gas, the most modern of all types of refrigeration is available in all parts of the country.

Fueled with "tank" or "bottled" gas which is delivered regularly to the user's premises, the modern gas refrigerator is safe and silent.

Since it contains no moving parts, it is not subject to wear. Hence, there is no maintenance and no food spoilage resulting from interrupted service due to mechanical failures. It cannot wear out—gas refrigerators made 20 years ago are still in use.

Gas refrigerators appearing on the market now have special compartments for storage of frozen foods, for freezing ice cubes and preparing frozen desserts. They also offer a type of cooling that keeps at a minimum the food dehydration inevitable in old-style mechanical refrigerators.

Creases and matting in heavy blankets and rugs after laundering can be prevented by hanging them wet to drip dry rather than attempting to ring them out.

Lipstick stains on napkins may be easily removed with a mixture made of equal parts of ammonia and the regular household solution of hydrogen peroxid. Using quick, short strokes with a small cloth saturated with the mixture.

The electric toaster should never be turned upside down and shaken to remove crumbs that have collected inside. A soft brush can be used to remove the crumbs.

The widespread belief that putting salt in was water prevents bright colored cloth from fading is untrue, since the use of salt actually tends to harden the water. The best precaution against running colors is to reduce the water temperature and dry the articles quickly.

An electric roaster is an ideal appliance for homemakers living in temporary quarters who do not want to invest in a full size cooking range. Roasters may be had with broiler and frying pan units for those who are dependent upon a roaster for all cooking.

Knives should never be allowed to soak in water. Water will rust the blade, rot the wood and loosen the handle. Leaving the knife on a hot stove results in the temper of the blade being destroyed.

Senior News

We got our graduation cards this week and our senior memory books. We hope to have some grand times writing up in our books.

Winter has finally dropped its tent of snow and coldness upon us, and snow ball fights are a favorite past time for everyone today. Santa was very good to some of the members of our class, or at least it seems that way from the things some of us are wearing.

Junior News

This cold weather has everyone shivering and huddling up around the stove. It seems impossible to keep warm, but by unfair means some of us have managed to get closer to the fire, thus keeping warmer than others.

It looks as if we are going to start the New Year off with a white year, since old Santa forgot to bring a white Christmas, we are all enjoying this white New Year.

Sophomore News

I think everyone is well and happy after the drag-ins and knock-out's over the Christmas holidays. If anyone got a black eye they must have been lucky enough to get a piece of steak to put on it.

Old Santa was very good to all of us. At least all the girls are starry-eyed over the rings, bracelets, watches, pearls, and what-nots they are wearing.

In English we are making our New Year's resolutions. We will only do a year!

GARLAND, TEX., 4-H BOY NATIONAL FIELD CROPS WINNER

One of the four national winners in the 1946 4-H Field Crops Contest, Harris Hill, 17, of Garland, Dallas county, Tex., receives his $200 Fowler McCormick scholarship award from John L. McCaffrey, president of International Harvester Company.

Harris was named 4-H southern extension section winner following the judging of the national field of 859 county champions in 41 states. The presentation of the scholarship, good at any accredited state agricultural college, was made during the recent 25th annual 4-H Club Congress, when International Harvester, donor of the awards, brought all state winners in the Field Crops contest to Chicago for this silver anniversary assembly.

During his seven years in 4-H, Harris raised 41 acres of cotton, 30 of corn, 46 of wheat, 101 of clover, 17 of barley, 35 of oats, four of row cane, nearly eight of grain sorghum and two of sudan. Income from these was nearly $10,000 and with swine, beef and dairy returns, brought the total to $17,890.56. He employs the best known tillage methods, and much of his grain and all of the cotton and clover seed are being certified and sold for planting.

The assistant county agent says, "He has a brilliant mind and is valuable not only to the club but to his home and community." Harris is now a freshman at North Texas Agricultural College.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
 M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, stated today that he believed it would be a worthwhile idea for every Texan to take a health inventory at the beginning of the New Year.

"At the beginning of a New Year, we should give some thought to the mistakes we have made during the past year, and a great deal of thought to planning some way of improving our health conditions during 1947," Dr. Cox said.

"The American people are very fortunate. We have scientific knowledge of communicable diseases; we have already made important conquests in the warfare against infectious diseases. We have material wealth to make knowledge work; we have capable leaders in the sciences of life processes who see great opportunities for public good a health measures that utilize effectively the resources of medicine, education, finance, and government," Dr. Cox asserted.

"Every Texan should make a New Year's resolution to practice better personal, home, and community sanitation, with a view to elevating the health level in every community, and in so doing create better health conditions throughout the State."

The State Health Department, according to Dr. Cox is confident that with national health being stressed as one of our nations most important problems, 1947 will see great strides made in the upbuilding of public health on a national scale.

1946 COTTON BETTER QUALITY

Texas cotton ginned through November 30 was substantially higher in grade and longer in staple length than cotton ginned in the same period last year.

John L. McCollum, manager of the Southwest Cotton Branch office of the Production and Marketing Administration in Dallas released this information in a grade and staple report to the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. McCollum attributes the increase in grade to more favorable weather and a more plentiful labor supply, adding that about 45 per cent of this year's ginnings have been Middling White and higher. Average staple length this season is 30.7 thirty-seconds of an inch, compared with 30.4 thirty-seconds a year ago.

Cotton ginned during the last half of November, as the season neared its close, fell below the quality of that ginned the first two weeks of the month, McCollum points out.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dyke returned to Abilene, were James is a member of the H. S. U. faculty, last Monday after spending the holidays with Mrs. Dyke's parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Tiner, and with relatives at Walters, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Tiner also visited in Walters for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braly and Len Fore visited with relatives at Happy, Texas, during the holidays.

been most generous in the past in supporting the fight against infantile paralysis by contributing to the March of Dimes. Indications are that they will be even more generous this year because they know that this fight is their fight. They realize that the March of Dimes is their best insurance against polio, and that the battle will go on in the laboratory until final victory is won and infantile paralysis joins the other great scourges of mankind unmasked and disarmed by knowledge.

"The annual March of Dimes is the only means the National Foundation has for financing its battle against infantile paralysis."

FIXING UP the HOME

By Diane Greter

How to Make Simple Drapes

If you, like many other homemakers, have replaced the double beds in your household with twin beds, you may have on hand a few of the double-size bed sheets. Don't discard them; they can solve your window drapery problems in bedrooms or dining nooks. Torn sheets can also be used.

Bed sheets can be converted into extremely effective window draperies with little effort and almost no expense. Simply cut the sheets in two, lengthwise. Hem the raw edges, then tint them whatever color you have chosen for your decorative scheme. Soft, pastel colors are best. The deep hem at the top and bottom of every sheet makes a perfectly satisfactory sleeve for the drapery crane or rod, and good wash tints are obtainable for a few cents.

Thus, in a few minutes you can transform an unwanted article into draperies of the type modern decorators most often suggest for bedroom window treatment.

ment. It will destroy free enterprise and private initiative and fasten on the body politic a state controlled economy finally taking us into socialism or worse."

The letter concluded: "Our organization and the people of West Texas 2,000,000 in number believe the forthcoming 80th Congress holds, more than any other of the past, the key and answer to the nation's fate in the years ahead. By its attitude toward and action taken on fiscal matters and policies, the next Congress will have the say on whether the American people are going to return to a normal way of living in which ambition, ingenuity and hard work may rightly bring reasonable reward, or whether the government is to go on blindly spending itself into bankruptcy. We enclose you a copy of the 'Taxpayer's Code of Ethics' with the earnest hope you will adopt it as your own, resolutely setting yourself against wasteful and wild federal spending and for a speedy return to the normal way of American life. In this we bid you Godspeed."

AIR EXPRESS SHIPMENTS SHOW LARGE INCREASE

Austin—Air express shipments originating from 22 Texas cities numbered 24,790 for November, 1946, according to Railway Express Agency figures compiled by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

After registering a 21 percent rise in October over September, air express shipments fell off 5 percent over October. However, November shipments exceeded those of November, 1945 by 46 percent. Servicing of smaller towns by airlines, erection of new airports, and small feeder, intrastate lines are partly responsible for this increase over last year.

Waco led in percentage gains of air express shipments, marking up a 22 percent rise over October. San Antonio was next with a 17 percent rise over the previous month, and Beaumont shipments increased 13 percent.

Meat Control

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

COLLAPSE and failure recently of government control over an important commodity, required in the daily lives of the people, points up an important moral for Americans. In lettering bold and poster-size, amounting to handwriting on the wall, this moral shows that we are not ready for this kind of regimentation in peacetime. We may re-enact the plot again with new characters at some future time, but the results will surely be the same.

This we must know before more harm is done: A controlled economy is not compatible with American democracy. The real reason for complete failure of meat control lies in the fact that Americans have been brought up on a free market. They have found the greatest sort of freedom in this kind of economy. They desire no substitute.

Controls PRICES the government hindered meat allowed for hogs and cattle on foot were not high enough to induce farmers to sell their animals. Early in October the New York Times sent a reporter into the heart of the Texas cattle country. Trailing buyers at Fort Worth for both major and independent packers, the Times reporter saw them bid open ceilings and come away with only a "few old cows" out of 5,700 head of beefes listed that day. Choice animals were "grabbed off" by traders at prices in excess of ceilings, while 7,000,000 beef cattle continued to roam the southwest Texas range.

Like any man who successfully invests capital and puts hard work into an enterprise, the cattle raiser is well taught about markets. But a controlled economy puzzles him first, muzzles him later. The farmer, like the manufacturer, has learned to watch markets: to buy and sell advantageously in an honest, competitive market. And in our land we have found that the consumer, who buys the food and manufactured goods at lower prices, is best protected by this same free market.

Dynamic WHY could a black Economy market exist? The public wanted meat badly enough to pay more for it than the ceiling price. I am not condoning black markets, but it needs to be said that this one was a general revolt against price controls on meat during peacetime, when the public knew the country had more livestock than usual. The failure of controls was dismal, and the entire population recognized it.

Some folks prompted by Communist thinking and desiring to destroy freedom of opportunity, blamed the failure on the packing houses. People who know nothing of the facts may believe that accusation. The facts are that prices packers could legally pay did not bring livestock to market. Neither did a few men in Congress cause the farmers to withhold hogs and cattle. It was not the "feebleness" of the law, but the law itself, that turned a free market into a black market.

Dynamic is the word for our American economy. It cannot be trampled down at one point and bludgeoned at another, at the whim of some far-away controller. Neither can you expect it to by-pass the bottlenecks of government control, using the laws of honest economics with which it is familiar — without disastrous results to the American way of life.
