PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR 4-H CALF SHOW

Boy Scouts Take Charge Of

For twleve hours today-Thursday-the Munday troop of Boy Scouts are in charge of the city government, and from all indications they are doing a better job than the old heads.

Citizens who have become accustomed to doing pretty well as they please are being "yanked" to the ctiy hall and fined for various law violations. Most of them take it good naturedly as they are fined and reprimanded, for the boys are courteous Scouts and law enforcement officers.

The city government is "being run" today by the following: M. J. Fields, mayor; Jimmy Bell, city clerk; Boyd Baker, constable; Preston Ilseng, chief of police; Joe Falls. Stevens and Jimmie Spelce, head of fire department and health department; Joe Bailey Roberts, justice of the peace. The remainder of the troop are city patrolmen. Fines being imposed for law violations are: Jay walking, 15 cents; failure to give hand signals, 15 cents; running red light, 40 cents; driving without driver's license, 50 cents; double parking, 15 cents; driving without muffler, 15 cents; exceeding speed limit, 50 cents.

The purpose of this movement is to give the younger set an insight into city government and it may recall to "us oldersters" that we're not entirely law-abiding mour.

This is a part of the local troop's participation in National Boy Scout Week, February 7-13.

Club Boys See Champion Steer

Three 4-H club calf feeders, Donald Nix and Dennis and Randall Walling, enjoyed the trip sponsored by Winston Blacklock, Firestone Dealer of Munday, Texas, to the showing of the International Grand Champion steer calf at Stamford, Texas. The boys accompanied by Reginald Walling, reported a very educational as well as a pleasent trip.

At the showing, which began at 2:30 p. m., the 4-H feeders noted the extreme squarness, dept and width of body displayed by this Grand Champion steer, Royal Jupiter, being taken on a 22,000 mile educational tour.

The boys state that they not only got the ideal type of beef calf it mind, but also received valuable information concerning grooming and feeding practices. Each boy received a picture of "Royal Jupiter" with printed information on the cack as to just what and now the animal was ted.

Funeral For "Granny" Collins Held Friday

Mrs. Hannah Collins, beloved pioneer mother of Knox county, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Baker, shortly before midnight last Thursday night, following an illness of several weeks. "Granny" Collins, as she was lovingly known, had been in failing health for some time. She injured herself in a fall several weeks ago, and her life seemed to ebb away from that time on.

She had lived in Knox county for many years, during a number of which she made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Baker. Her life had touched the lives of many people, who have been blessed by having come in contact with such a Christian character and mother.

Born on October 23, 1858, Granny Collins was 88 years, 4 months and 13 days of age. She united with the Methodist church when a young girl and had lived a consecrated Christian life for almost 75 years. When she first came to Knox county she placed her membership with the Thorp church, later moving it to Munday.

Surviving her are two children, Mrs. W. A. Baker of Munday and G. C. (Uncle Bud) Collins of Floydada; a brother and two sisters, and numerous other relatives, and a host of friends who mourn her pas-

GOVERNMENT AND THE PUBLIC HEALTH

It may be that some of the supporters of compulsory government medical care, whose logical end can only be completely socialized medicine, feel that government has always been involved to some extent in public health problems and might as well

The fact is that government health work in the past has been conducted in fields where its responsibility is clear-cut and undeniable. The Public Health service is the established example-its purpose is to prevent disease and to aid local government in disease control. Care for veterans, carried on by the Veteran's Administration, is an inevitable consequence of war, but veterans, are not complled to accept it. Men whose health was injured in their country's services are obviously entitled to all the aid the government can provide. And is being carried on at the local, home-town level, instead of putting everything into the remote hands of Washington bureaucrats.

Again, an excellent case can be made for government medical assistance to the needy-to the people who simply can't pay for medical service. There is little opposition to this, and it falls naturally into the social responsibilities any govern-

But government must not undermine and possibly destroy the system of private medicine that has been so signally successful. There is no valid case for compulsory medical insurance which would the basis structure remains intact. force people to pay for it whether the service was desired or not. Here is where the line must be drawn and that will be the responisibility of Congress when the varous proposed health bills come up for consideration.

TOWARD PRICE STABILITY

It would be a daring man indeed who would state categorically that the peak of the price rise has been reached or that prices in general are due for an imediate and substantial downturn. But the all-out inflation that some forecast when OPA vanished into the shadows has certainly not occuredand in some very important fields, including foods, a degree of price stability has been reached.

The good sense of most consumers is in part responsible for this-more and more of them have turned away from articles which they considered excessively priced. An increase in the supply of goods has also helped. And, finally, the attitude of retail distribution toward consumer problems has in the nation.

The typical retailer works on the principal that a main duty is to protect consumer purchasing power so far as he can-and sell honest merchandise at a fair price. This is true of chains and independents variety stores and department stores. Long before OPA retailers voluntarily held prices down when there was no law to prevent them from profiteering to their hearts' content. All during the war, retailers opposed hoarding and other inflationary infulences. And since the war ended, they have led in efforts to keep prices from running wild.

We are beginning to see the success of these efforts now, as more and beter goods flow into will bear to 1941 or any other year. But we can the spot, you can see it on the old structure" of the future will be, or what relation it ploitation.

WHAT IS "FIREPROOF?"

The public has a dangerously wrong concept of what the word "fireproof," as applied to hotels and public buildings, means. That was the gist of expert comment made at the recent National Conference on Hotel Safety in Philadelphia.

A good many people seem to think that "fireproof" means a structure whose interior and exterior are immune to really serious damage by fire. But as a __ational Fire Protection Association member ponnted out, "a fireproof building by definition is one where the structure will remain intact after a burnout of its contents." Under this definition, a stove or a furnace is a perfect example of fireproof construction. The contents may be destroyed, but

The public's interest lies in a type of construcion which, whether it is called "fireproof" or not, will give maximum protection to occupants against death and injury by fire. And here is where building codes have lagged woefully behind. A recent issue of Life illustrates safe versus unsafe construction, with some vivid drawings. In the safe hotel or similar building, compartemnes and fire walls limit the area where fire can travel. A blaze might shoot up an air shaft but it would then quickly burn out for lack of fuel. In the unsafe structure, on the other hand, fire roars along natural flues made by open stair wells and elevator shafts. Open doors and transoms permit it to enter rooms unchecked. And death by burning, gas, and suffocation

The National Board of iFre Underwriters, 85 John Street, New York City, offers to communities a model building code which designed to give the max- did imum possible protection to existing public buildings, should become the law in every city and town

RUNNELS COUNTY

SOIL CONSERVATION "Let no muddy water leave Runnels County."

That's the slogan of the soil conservation program in Runnels County, and County Agent J. A. Barton reports that 1946 came closer to seeing the slogan fulfilled than any previous year.

With sufficient crews and an ideal weather year, terraces were built on approximately 31,000 acres of Runnels County land during 1946, the couty agent says.

"It is about as unusual now to see a Runnels County farm with rows running up and down hill, as it was some 20 years ago to see a terraced farm," says Barton. Records kept in the County Extension office show that there are now around 145,000 acres on which some kind of terraces" are doing the job of holding water and soil says the county agent. In addition to running terraces lines himself, Barton says his office has four levels which stay loaned out most of the year to farmers who do their own terracing and contouring. This year a total of 108 farmers used the levels from the Extension office. Along with terracing, Runnels county farmers applied 110,000 pounds of superphosphate to their farms and planted 20,000 pounds of hairy vetch during the small grain planting season.

That Ring ' Around the Bathtub

Jeb Crowell blew his top the other day. Seems that for weeks he's been trying to get his youngsters to scrub out the bathtub after two rings around it-one where young Sonny left off, and another about Pinky's level.

He raves and rants-and takes it out on the missus for her lack of discipline. And later that evening he sees her quietly polishing the hardwood table that's right by his chair. She's removing the rings he's left there with his evening glass of beer!

From now on, Jeb's careful to put his glass down on the table cover-like the missus does. And I hear he's a little more forgiving Just keeps on patiently reminding.

From where I sit, there are little annoyances in every family-conflicting habits and opinions in every community. A little patience -a little more "forgive and let live" is the only antidote.

Veterans News

An innovation in veterans training-a foreign trade school-was recently established in New Orleans with an enrollment of 112 veterans from a half-dozen states. It is the Import-Export Institute of the Maybin School, sponsored by the Orleans Parish Board.

New Orleans foreign trade executives are helping train the veterans. Purpose of the two-year course is to train veterans to take positions in New Orleans' booming foreign trade business, especially with South America.

The curriculum stresses foreign trade, Latin American culture, Spanish language and general business subjects. Ages of veterans attending range from 18 to 43 years.

Hot Water

for 20 morning shaves

Whether for shaves or automatic home laundry you need plenty

There's over 140 different needs for hot water in the modern household. Of all the water it uses, 85 percent is hot. Shaving is just one of the needs. Big users are the new automatic dish washers and home laundries. For instance, automatic laundry requires over 18 gallons of 160-degree water to soak, wash and rinse nine pounds of clothes. So capacity of heater is all important. If you're planning to build, modernize or install one of those do-everything automatic washers, better see your gas appliance dealer or plumber about your hot water supply. A gas-automatic water heater of proper size will provide all the hot water you need at a remarkably low cost.

SIZING CHART for automatic storage gas water heate

Gilmer Bill Is Aimed At Curbing Strike Violence

Among the many bills dropped in the legislative hopper at Austin seeking to cure the evils inherent in strikes is one relating to strikes by utility employees introduced by the Honorable Claud Gilmer of Rock Springs, Speaker of the House of Representatives during the last regular session.

Mr. Gilmer's bill applies only to water, gas, and electric utilities and proceeds on the theory that the maintenance of water, gas and electric services are absolutely essential to the life, health and safety of the people, and that it is the duty of the state to prevent any person or group of persons from wilfully destroying or damaging the facilities used in rendering the

His bill further provides that although any employee or group of employees have the right to strike or quit work at will, it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, whether employees or not, to interfere with the ingress or egress of any employees to or from any property of any utility by picketing, or to harass or intimidate any employees who are willing to work in order that the service may be maintained.

Under the terms of the Gilmer bill, it is a felony punishable by a penitentiary sentence for any person to wilfully wreck, destroy, or sabotage any plant, equipment or facility of a water, gas, or electric

Mr. Gilmer's bill applies to utilities furnishing water, gas and electric service whether the utility be a private corporation, a municipality or a state agency, such as River Authority.

This is to take care of such situations as happened to the L. C. R. A. this past year when service to a good many towns there was interrupted and also such situations as the Pittsburgh power

FIXING UP the HOME

By Diane Greeter How Much Water for What Task?

WHEN considering a new water heater, know your household hot water needs exactly. This knowledge is of great value to those of us who are planning to install an automatic hot water system in a new home.

Here is a chart I discovered the other day. It may help you to figure out your own requirements and decide what capacity heater is decide what capacity heater is adapted to your needs. The amount of 140 degree water needed for each household operation is shown:

Most of the items listed must be multiplied by the number in your family to give you an idea of the amount of hot water you use each day. And it is wise to remember that many of these activities are carried on simultaneously.

Fortunately the automatic gas water heater, which may be fueled with liquefied petroleum gas in areas beyond the pipelines, heats water so quickly that a 65 gallon heater will do more than the work of an 85 gallon heater operating with less modern fuels. Too, it is well to remember that heaters which are part of a central heating system are not as economi cal as they seem at first sight. Not only do they demand additional uel, a fact which many overlook, ut because they frequently heat ater to uselessly high temperaures they promote the formation of scale which ultimately may clog coiled tubing and storage tanks.
