Odd Bits Salvaged
At Random

We pity the poor boy who has never had the thrill of changing from knee breeches to long trousers! Gee! What a wonderful feeling!

Not that we'd change things now. We really think the little young'uns look better in their present wearing apparel—but we do hate to see them deprived of such a thrill.

We'll never forget our first pair of long trousers—and neither will you, if you had that experience. Being the third boy in the family, our "new breeches" a lot of the time were those which the older boys had outgrown. And such were our first pair of long trousers.

We had to take about two extra "turns" on the cuffs to make them short enough. But we put them on, rolled them up, hitched out belt right tight, and came down-stairs, big as Ike.

Mom took one look at us—we don't remember whether it was an admiring look or one of disapproval—and said to Pop: "Had you noticed that we have another grown son today?"

We got to go horseback to church at Loco that Sunday afternoon with the older boys of the community. Dad hadn't considered us old enough, yet, to give us a saddle pony, so we were destined to ride old Dilsie, the big clumsy work mare that was due to foal in a few weeks.

Dilsie would have trouble keeping up with the faster-gated saddle horses, and would break into a lope frequently, which was easier on us than that fast trot almost bounced us out of the saddle.

But we didn't particularly mind that the other boys' mounts had ours outclassed. Riding old Dilsie was better than going in the surrey with the family!

Yes, we sympathize with the boy who has never looked forward to donning his first pair of long trousers, but he probably remembers old Dilsie—just like we remember the horses on his pop's farm. Old Cooter could be ridden, and he was also the motive power for the courtin' buggy. Sport and Selem did all manner of farm jobs, and pulled the church-going hack.

Cuter was a cute little animal that had been taught to shake hands with you. He was just what his name implied—Cuter than the others. Sport and Selem were ordinary animals, but Sport was full of pep and cussedness.

Wade was somewhat behind us in years—he still wore knee breeches—but he was a way ahead of us in red-headedness!

And our family was a little ahead of the Mahan in travel accommodations. They drove a hack, while we drove a surrey with coal-oil lights on the sides.

We tried burning those lights a few times, but the flickering glow would cast weird shadows in front of the team and get them all flustered and excited. Then Mom would get scared, and one time she jumped out the surrey with one of young'uns in her arms. We never used those coal-oil lights any more!

Sometimes after church, us kids would sort of divide up. Some of us would ride in the surrey with my family, while the others would ride in the back with the Mahans. Maybe Mom and Mrs. Mahan would be in one, and Pop and "Uncle Albert", as we called Mr. Mahan, would be in the other. And there would be a lot of visitation going on during that four-or-five mile homeward journey.

Then some year or two later, we bought a Model T Ford, and moved to the Mahan place. It was a larger and better farm, and we were making progress!

But the Mahans were progressing, too. They bought an Essex, and moved to town. We had a Model T—they had an Essex. Boy! What class!

And that's just about the story of the time we switched from knee breeches to long trousers. Kids may be proud of their Levis today—but they've never worn knee breeches. What a pity!

Movie In Full Color Will Show Here March 25

A general invitation to farmers of this community and of nearby towns to view "Men with a Mission," a motion picture in full color, has just been issued by Broach Equipment—Minneapolis—Moline dealer of Munday.

The picture will be shown on March 25 at 8 p. m. in the local dealers show rooms.

The program arranged for this occasion by the local farm implement dealer.

The picture tells the story of a boy and a girl who at first seem dissatisfied with their life on a farm and do not appreciate the highly interesting life farmers are playing today in producing the essential needs of humanity and of industry. By a series of amusing incidents they are convinced in the end that modern farmers are men with a mission that challenges the imagination.

The picture also depicts the part farmers and modern farm machinery are playing in expanding production and in meeting growing demands by the world for food and by industry for raw materials produced on farms. Scenes from this picture were filmed entirely in color and in all parts of the United States.

Broach assures the farmers of this community that the picture and the program, which are entirely free, will be entertainment events they will long remember.

Atomic Power-For Healing

PITTSBURGH, PA. — Business end of the wizard-like, new cyclotron at the University of Pittsburgh, which will harness atomic forces for the peacetime use of mankind in medical research. Already experimented with in treating cancer and leukemia, the cyclotron is considered to have greater healing possibilities than the X-ray and to open vast, unexplored fields to medical progress. Technicians show with pointer the poles of huge 100-ton electromagnet, between which atomic forces are brought into play. Circular tanks hold cyclotron oil developed by Gulf research to dissipate heat in 18 miles of copper wire coiled about magnet.

New Classes Being Held For County Vets

Cooperative distributive education classes were started in the Knox county vocational school for veterans on August 1, 1946, in Munday and Benjamin. Cooperative distributive education is so named because the trainee is participating in the operation of a retail wholesale business and also studying material in school related to his position in business.

One of the main objectives of this program is to advance efficiency of employees, supervisors and owners in the distributive occupations.

To be qualified for these classes, the trainee must be the owner, or employee, of a business, retail or wholesale, that is directly engaged in selling goods or services. There must be someone above the trainee who is qualified to supervise him on the job.

A veteran may attend school on a half-time basis, even though he is not working on a job related to distribution. Although his subsistence is cut in half on the above, the period eligibility is doubled.

For full particulars on the classes contact C. W. Powell, distributive education co-ordinator.

Knox County To Sponsor 4-H Crops Contest

Knox County 4-H club members will participate in a 4-H Crop Contest sponsored by two Knox County Farm Machine Companies. The Managers of these companies, Mr. Neal Chastain of the Munday Truck and Tractor Company, of Munday and Mr. Erwin Egenbacher, Egenbacher Implements, of Knox City, announced this week that prizes in cash and ribbons will be awarded the first ten prize winners. Cash awards will be—1st, $20.00, 2nd, $15.00, 3rd, $12.50, 4th, $10.00, 5th, $7.50, 6th, $5.00 and 7th, $2.50.

This year the club boys will plant a new variety of grain sorghums not yet named, but numbered 7078 from the experiment station. This new sorghum seems to have some good possibilities in this area. Mr. O. C. Southall, of Lubbock, has sent some of his certified Early Hugar to the County Agent for tests in 4-H plots. Many boys will be competing in the contest with Early Ramshorn blackeye peas, which was tested last year for the first time. Requests for seeds from several states for the Early Ramshorn pea is now in the County Agents office, but cannot be filled until the current season produces more seed.

Charles Langford, living in the South West part of the county, will plant a test plot of cotton, planting six acres each of the three highest yielding cottons from the Lubbock Experiment Station.

Each boy is free to plant the crop he so desires to enter the contest. The requirements are that he keep an accurate record of dates land is tilled, planting dates, yields and price received for products sold.

Mr. Egenbacher and Mr. Chastain state that the Agricultural Committee will pick the county winners.

THIS BIRDIE SHOULD HAVE BRASS BUTTONS!

Our nomination for the brass button is a hen owned by Mrs. F. H. Russell. She produces eggs that are eggs.

Mrs. T. G. Bengel brought the Times office the shell of an egg that was one of the hen's products, and which Mrs. Russell brought Mrs. Bengel for her breakfast.

The egg had three yolks, weighed three and one-half ounces, and was seven inches in diameter. And Mrs. Bengel vowed it was too much breakfast or her.

Mrs. Russell claims this particular hen produces that type egg every once-in-a-while.

BOOM OR BUBBLE?

A year ago, forecasters seemed pretty certain that 1947 would bring the biggest residential building boom in America's history. Today they are much less sure. Most of the material shortages have been relieved, at least partially; but high prices still stand in the way of the family that wants a new home but doesn't want to pay an exorbitant price—one that might make the house worth less than the mortgage a few years hence.

In the year and half since the war ended, many families have been so desperate for housing that they would buy almost any place available, with hardly a thought to the price. With these most urgent needs already satisfied and with war-surplus money less in evidence, home buyers and builders are becoming more price conscious. With labor costs still inflated and with lumber selling 161 per cent above its 1939 level and the average price of all building materials up 86 per cent they would rather put up with their present unsatisfactory accommodations than to buy at fantastic figure.

Builders are feeling this consumer resistance. In eleven cities where the Wall Street Journal conducted a construction survey, the consensus was that "there won't be a building boom until construction costs come off the high horse they now ride." A Philadelphia builder said he had just shelved plans for 500 new houses. One in Cleveland said he would build only 5 houses this year instead of the 120 he would have built if the cost of materials had come down. In some places, houses built at high prices have gone begging, despite the large number who want homes. Before the year's end, this consumer resistance may bring a new supply-demand balance that will put prices again within reach of the average householder.—Dallas Morning News

FIRE FIGHTERS

This year, organized fire prevention work is reaching a peak of intensity. Such organizations as the National Board of Fire Underwriters are redoubling their efforts to inform the public of hazards and methods for their elimination. President Truman has called a conference on the subject which will meet in Washington early this May. Communities, horror-struck by the hotel fires of last year and the explosions this year, are examining and modernizing building and safety codes.

All of this work and effort, invaluable as it is, must fail unless it is given public support—and the public means you.

No town, and no organization, can watch every home and place of business and make sure that fire dangers are corrected. It is impossible to "police" electric wiring, heating appliances, the use and storage of inflammable liquids—which are the main causes of home fires. Only the individual concerned can do the job. The fire prevention experts can describe the easy, simple precautions necessary—then

THE RETAILER WORRIES TOO

The consumer is not alone in worrying about high prices. The manufacturer and merchant are definitely disturbed too.

Their interest is plain enough. Consumer resistance is strong and it is increasing. When people think prices are too high, they go without or purchase cheaper substitutes. Markets decline. And goods languish on store shelves.

The retailer of the country are devoting intense attention to this problem now. They are going to the mat with manufacturers, seeking ways and means to produce better goods for less money. The chain stores have taken the lead in this and their buyers are turning skeptical eyes on offered merchandise which may be over-priced or of less desirable quality.

On top of that, all kinds of stores are cutting overhead in every way possible. Most of the savings find their way, directly or indirectly, into the pockets of the consumer. Prices are brought down—or, of equal benefit, price increases that would otherwise be unavoidable are prevented.

Competition, to repeat an old truism, is the certain guarantee that the consumer will get the best break possible when he buys food, clothes, household appliances or anything else. Independent stores compete against chain stores—and all kinds of stores compete with each other. The prices find the lowest level which is consistent with the conditions of the present.

It is up to us all to follow them.

You should need no explanation of the stake you have in this campaign against a great destroyer. Last year, close to $600,000,000 worth of property was burned. Worse yet, 10,000 people were cremated. And this takes no account of the enormous indirect loss caused by fire in lost jobs, industrial production, and business. That loss is immeasurable.

When you fight fire, you fight for your property and your own life.

To get some idea of the troubles the Balkan nations have with each other, imagine what would happen if Florida and California had common borders.

A woman visitor to the Bronx Zoo kept pestering one of the keepers with questions. Finally his patience gave out. "Is that hippopotamus a male or female?" came the next question. "Madam," he replied, "what possible difference could that make to anybody except another hippopotamus?"

A man bought a cigar and started to light it. "Didn't you notice the sign?" asked the salesgirl. "What?" exploded the customer. "You sell cigars in here but you prohibit smoking?" The salesgirl smiled sweetly: "We also sell bath towels."

When the popular model Pat Wakely found she couldn't send her Valentine to Bob Hawk in the mail, she simply delivered it in person to the CBS announcer whose comedy quiz is heard on Monday nights. Judging from the expression on Bob's face, the Valentine and the deliver-in-person idea met with complete approval!

Not long ago, I attended the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in Tylor, where I went to school, away back in the fifth grade. Your columnist, was billed for the "principal address" but the real highlight of the occasion was the presentation of a plaque to Tylor's most worthy citizen for the year.

The honor was bestowed on a woman—Mrs. H. R. Floeckinger. She had charge of preparing and serving the excellent dinner and M. B. Conoley, himself an outstanding citizen, had gone into the kitchen and insisted that she come out for the program, which she did without suspecting the reason for his insistence.

In eloquent words, Mr. Conoley told of Mrs. Floeckinger's work as superintendent of the hospital and nurses' training school for many years, her church and club activities, her work as head of the Christmas welfare fund and in providing clothes for the needy, also as president of the American Legion Auxiliary and as head of the Red Cross hospital service during Embarrassed but happy too, Mrs. Floeckinger could only say a few words at the conclusion.

It is an inspiration to contemplate such a life of service and Taylor honored itself in honoring so noble a woman.

Sen. Buster Brown, of Temple, favors a public, instead of a secret, vote on governor's appointees to state positions. The Senator, according to an editorial in the Fort Worth Press, is embittered because his fellow Senators turned down some men that his committee had approved. Whatever his motive for advocating the change to a public vote, the Senator is correct, though just a little slow in advocating the change.

However, the Senate—in rejecting some of the appointments made by the outgoing governor just before he went out of office—in effect said that, as the people had elected Beauford Jester governor for the next two years, they intended that he should have the right to make his own appointments.

HERE'S HOW!

Reddy Kilowatt doesn't come to you direct from our large generating stations. It takes lots of briefing and screenings to send him to you as a useful household servant.

In order for him to do work so economical, it is necessary to generate power and energy for him in vast quantities and at voltages far too high for any commercial or residential use.

From Reddy Kilowatt's birth of energy in power stations, to transmission lines, to substations, to the wires to your home, it takes "know-how" for him to economically and efficiently deliver at half the wages he was paid even 20 years ago.

And he is always Reddy.

FARM PROGRAM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

Receives Reduction In Wheat Insurance Premium

Under the wheat insurance program there is a provision that provides a reduction in premium if it is evident that a farm is not a bad insurance risk. This provision provides that a 110 per cent reduction will be made if a farmer insures for five consecutive years and does not have a loss. A 50 per cent reduction will be made when the insured producer pays as much premium in as he is insured for during the current year plus the indemnities he has received.

The first producer to receive a reduced premium in Knox county is N. L. Cottingham of the Gilliland Community. Mr. Cottingham insured his wheat crop the first year insurance was available and has done so every year since, except the two years when it was not offered. In another year or two he will receive the 50 per cent reduction if he does not have a loss.

Some people may ask "why does he insure if he never has a loss?" We think Mr. Cottingham has answered this. We quote him below: "Other businessmen insure their investment. Why shouldn't I? After all farming is a business. There is just one thing about it, as long as I can insure my crop I will sleep well at night. Last year it looked like my wheat crop would not pay expenses. I even went as far as request that it be released.

However, the adjuster thought that we should wait and see what it would do. That is one time waiting paid off because I harvested about 18 bushels per acre. It really made me money and I was not sorry that there was a premium to pay. I had been protected. I will have insurance as long as it is offered regardless of the fact that I have never collected an indemnity."

Field Stripping And Protected Summer Fallow

The winds blow just as hard now as they ever did, but they don't pick up so much of the topsoil from the land that is field stripped. That is what Emmett Partidge, who is the Chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee, says is a common observation in this county.

Field stripping is part of the ACP program. Farmers who wish to lay out their land that way and to get that system of farming in operation on their farm can obtain assistance through the ACP program.

County conservation committees will help farmers get field stripping into their conservation program.

It has been called to our attention that numerous farmers do not know that ACA will pay $4.00 per pound for the seeding of Weeping Lovegrass. In some instances this payment is more than the actual cost of the seed.

All that is necessary for a farmer to do to draw this payment is secure a prior approval before he plants. He will also need to furnish us a receipt from the firm or person that he purchased the seed from.

Approvals can be issued by mail if desired.

Payments are also made on other kinds of pasture grasses. These payments rates will be furnished upon request.

Hot Water Facts and Figures

MATHEMATICALLY inclined? Take a look at some figures. If you are an average housewife you wash an acre of dishes, 5,000 feet of window glass and three miles of laundry every year. During the same period, your husband is busy shaving 38,000 square inches of face.

Regardless of the soap and elbow grease used in any of these jobs, it's hot water that does the greater share of the work. Today, with the accurate temperature selection of automatic gas water heaters, hot water at right temperatures in right quantities for every need has brought real luxury to the homemaker. She gets better results much more easily than was believed possible by yesterday's tea-kettle toters.

Gas provides a perfect water heating fuel because of its cleanliness, speed and economy. In suburban and farm homes, liquefied petroleum gas — the "tank" or "bottled" variety — gives the same service.

Exercise care when buying an automatic gas water heater. You'll find that operating expenses will be less and hot water worries will be forgotten if you buy for quality rather than for price. In many areas, your water heater should have a non-ferrous tank to prevent rust and control corrosion. Check with your gas company. Its recommendation will be a good one.

Plant More Summer Legumes

A good growth of winter and summer legumes cover crops helps in the prevention of erosion and leaching. Because of their close-growing habits and power to hold soil, together with the building up of humus, bacterial life and plant food in the soil, cover crops offer one of the best and most practical ways of conserving and enriching the soil. At the same time they may furnish grazing or seed for future use.

In planting summer legumes cover crops for turning under or leaving on the land, the Agricultural Program offers the following payments per pound of seed planted: Cowpeas, 12 cents; Hubam Clover, 18.4 cents; Melilotus Indica, 7.2 cents.

To qualify for payment these legumes must be seeded on cultivated land and the crop left on the land or turned under. Volunteer or seeded growth crops will not qualify. Legumes from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested will not qualify. Also if they are planted in the same row or between normally spaced rows they will not qualify. Written approval of the county committee should be secured before seeding the legumes.

Interested farmers should see their community committeemen or County ACA office for complete details.

Terracing and contouring pays off. Those were the words of B. B. Blankenship of the Hefner Community.

Mr. Blankenship terraced his farm in 1946 and while in the office the other day, he made the statement that "it paid off on last year's crop." He stated that he could tell a difference in the crop on the terraced and unterraced land.

In checking our records the other day we noted that approvals for contour farming had amounted to only 19,057 acres. This is compared to about 70,000 acres that will be done in the county in 1947. The above figures indicate that numerous farmers are not securing an approval for this practice. This would not be so bad if payment was not expected but from past experience we estimate that about 85 per cent are expecting payment. Of course payment cannot be made if the approval is not issued before crops are planted.

The increase in 1947 over the amount of deep breaking done in 1946 is tremendous. Approvals for 9,141 acres has been issued under the 1947 program whereas only 5,800 acres was broke under the entire 1946 program year.

A three-cent piece containing 75 per cent copper and 25 per cent nickel was authorized by an Act of Congress on March 3, 1865, and the first coins were issued in that year. The nickel used was mined in the United States and sent to England in the form of matte for refining.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women?

Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship . . . and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

Any price is too high if it can be reduced

Forbes McCreesh

International Harvester announces $20,000,000 price reductions

We believe there is nothing more important to this country than to lower the prices of the goods that people buy.

The American people have insisted that the government withdraw from its attempts to control prices in peacetime. That places the responsibility where it belongs—in the hands of business and industry. Not all business can reduce prices now. Not all can reduce by the same amount.

Our company has felt a duty to act as promptly as possible. In our case, the business outlook now makes it possible to move toward the goal of lower prices. The only way out of the vicious circle of higher and higher prices is to break through.

We have taken this step not because of present competitive conditions nor because of a drop in demand from customers. We have taken it because of our belief that ANY PRICE IS TOO HIGH IF IT CAN BE REDUCED.

These reductions, which will save the users of our products approximately $20,000,000 a year, will become effective before April 1, and will apply to a selected list of tractor, farm machine, motor truck, and industrial power products. Since we lose money on a few of our products, and barely break even on some others, these reductions will not apply to our entire line. Reductions will be made individually on products. Some will be cut more than others. Exact details will be announced as soon as possible.

Our ability to maintain this lower level of prices will depend in part on what happens to the prices and flow of materials that we buy from others. Because we believe price reduction is vital, we are willing to assume the risks that are involved.

Prices had not gone up as much or as fast as many others

All Manufactured Products	63.7%
Metals and Metal Products	41.2%
Motor Trucks	35%
Industrial Power Products	34%
Farm Machines	25%

These benefits to customers will depend, too, on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels. This is not a program that can be carried out if it is hampered by strikes or work stoppages.

Our employees have had substantial increases in pay, and wage questions are currently being discussed with many of the unions with which we deal. Stockholders have recently had an increase in dividend rate. Having considered the interests of these two groups, we are now making these price reductions for the benefit of the third group—our customers.

Business, to our way of thinking, has a social as well as an economic responsibility. This company has long followed the policy of operating in the interests of three groups—its customers, its employees and its stockholders. The duty of the management is to see that equal justice is done as between the three groups.

This price reduction program is another demonstration of our policy in action.

More than 22,000 veterans in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi have reinstated National Service Life Insurance to the value of $133,315,000 since Feb. 1, the Veterans Administration reports.

VA began a nation-wide information program on that date to acquaint veterans with their rights to reinstate GI insurance carried by most service men and women during World War II.

Veterans who have let their GI policies lapse have until August 1, 1947, to reinstate without physical examination if they certify that they are in as good health as they were at the time of lapse.

Tommy Tanimoto, a native Hawaiian and veteran of World War II, has traveled more than 4,000 miles to Lubbock, Texas, to study photograph under the Veterans Administration training program.

Tanimoto was working at Hickam Field on December 7, 1941, when the Japanese attacked and came near losing his life on the first day of the war. Shortly afterward, he enlisted in the U. S. Army.

The 26-year-old veteran has enrolled in a Lubbock school under the GI Bill and plans to open a studio in Honolulu when he completes his studies.

He is a native of Hilo, Hawaii, T. H., where his father owns and operates a department store.

The Veterans Administration has established seven paraplegic centers in hospitals strategically located from coast to coast, Dr. Lee D. Cady, VA's Dallas Branch Medical Director, reports.

VA personnel skilled in the treatment of paraplegics (veterans who are paralyzed from the waist down because of spinal injuries) have been assembled in the centers, Dr. Cady said.

This will permit veterans to receive the proper treatment needed for their rehabilitation and at the same time to be as close to their homes as possible.

Questions And Answers
Army Q. I served four months in the Army during World War II, was honorably discharged last September and have been unable to find a job. Am I eligible for readjustment allowance and how do I go about getting it?

A. Yes, you are eligible because you served over 90 days. Application for readjustment allowance may be filed at a local office of the U. S. Employment Service or to the state employment agency. You must register as able to work.

Mrs. J. H. Lambeth was called to Canadian recently by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Overton.

Royce Jones of Grand Prairie was a visitor in the J. H. Lambeth home over the week end.

Mrs. Avis Harris and brother Wayne Harris, attended a play at Sunset school on the 12th.

The telephone line is down this week.

Mrs. Maud Jones of Wichita Falls is here to spend a few days with relatives.

Q. Since leaving the service, I have negotiated a G. I. loan which matures in 25 years. Will I be permitted to pay it off before date of maturity?

A. You have the right to accelerate your payments or repay your loan in full at any time without premium or fee. Additional payments must be made in one installment or multiples of $100 each whichever is most desirable.

Q. I am operating my own business but losing money at present. As an honorably discharged veteran of World War II can I claim readjustment allowance?

A. If you served over 90 days, part of which was World War II service, you are eligible for self-employment allowance and may file application at a local office of the U. S. Employment Service or your state unemployment agency.

Q. Will the Veterans Administration guarantee a loan made to me by my uncle, who is a non-supervised lender?

A. Yes, but loans made by non-supervised lenders require prior approval of the Veterans Administration. Your uncle should submit the proposal to the local VA regional office for approval.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Sweatt of Lubbock, spent the week end with relatives here. Houston is a pre-law student at Texas Tech.

More than 77,000,000 board feet of lumber and timber are used annually by the Canadian nickel industry. It requires approximately 4,000 freight cars to transport this material.

The official length of an English yard was once measured by the distance from an English king's nose to the end of his middle finger. Dimensions are figured more accurately today, as for example, the meter is standardized as the distance between two lines in a platinum-iridium bar.

An All-Crop Harvester owner reports that his machine saved 44.7 bushels of wheat per acre from a neighbor's field which was hopelessly lodged and written off as a total loss. The All-Crop handled straw six feet long, tangled and flat on the ground.

Unusual features explain the All-Crop Harvester's ability to cope with extreme conditions. Its close-cutting header literally shaves the ground. The full-width cylinder takes heavy straw and green growth in full stride . . . the oversize straw rack handles big straw volume.

A Quick Speed-Changer crank controls cylinder speed instantly for over 100 different grains, beans and seeds. Weed seeds and dockage are screened out by a ScourKleen attachment.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—The big news of the week in Washington was, of course, President Truman's speech to the joint session of Congress. He requested $400,000,000, together with men and materials, to send to Greece and Turkey. He frankly proclaimed an open fight against communism and dictatorship in those two strategic spots. Most congressmen and most people are gloomy and confused about the whole matter. We are determined not to lose our dearly bought victories of World War II. Yet, how best to proceed is the question. Many congressmen feel we should draw a line at some place and say frankly to the Russians, "this far and no farther do you go". Others just as sincerely favor a policy of watchful waiting.

Many congressmen feel that we should have a more clearly defined foreign policy and that both Congress and the people should learn what that policy is. Most of them feel that more members of Congress should be taken into the confidence of the President and the State Department, with all cards face up on the table for the purpose of deciding just what we are going to do. No two men in the country are more trusted than secretary of State George Marshall and President Truman, yet most of us feel that no half dozen men alone should make the final decisions on present vital international issues.

Following the African campaign, Winston Churchill wanted the allies to invade Europe through Greece and the Balkans instead of through Italy and France. Through such procedure England and America would occupy Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, and most of eastern Europe now held by Soviet arms. Churchill may have anticipated our present debacle; he may have been right.

Fairness Begets Fairness

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

RECENTLY I found in my mail an unusual letter. It was an impressive letter, for it came from a well-known manufacturer on the subject of labor unions and their leaders. Omitting the personalities involved, I should like to offer you the letter in full. It is so sane and offers such rich practical suggestions for settlement of some of our huge industrial problems that I want to pass it on to readers of this column.

"Dear Sir: Your description of the labor situation in Sweden is most of the (XYZ) industry in our country. Mr. X, the founder of the Union, plus the cooperation of the manufacturers, brought it about. And I dare say this labor leader instilled the spirit of cooperation into the manufacturers by fair play and honest tactics.

"Since the formation of the Union in 1919, no strikes have occurred. The instruments installed by him for orderly settlements of disputes are no doubt well known to you.

Men of "ALL OF THIS leads Calibre to one conclusion. If the leaders of labor are men of right calibre, strikes are almost impossible because employers are invariably reluctant to have their business disrupted and are willing to meet fairness with fairness; hence, my advice is: Urge labor unions to choose wise and business-like leaders; men of high ideals, thoroughly honest.

"All of this may sound silly, but to prove my point: There existed a (XYZ) union before Mr.

George P. McNear, Jr., 56 year old president of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad, was murdered this week, assassinated in cold blood from ambush as he walked near his home in Peoria. McNear came up the hard way. During World War I he organized French railroads and upon his return, through hard work, he eventually became the head of a 235 mile railroad. A seventeen month strike on his line has been characterized by violence, including the dynamiting of tracks. McNear told the House Labor Committee three weeks ago that his life was in danger.

In May of 1944 McNear's only son wrote from overseas that he had orders to return home but felt there was a big job to do and wanted his dad's advice. His father told him to stay. Young McNear now lies beneath New Guinea soil. Both McNears died for causes in which they believed.

In lighter vein we might mention some of the work of the House Judiciary Committee. Among hundreds of bills referred to this committee are numerous ones proposing various holidays. One proposes to make Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday; one to name February 1 as National Freedom Day; several to make August 14 a legal holiday; several to designate October 11 as General Pulaski Memorial Day; another to set aside November 10 to celebrate the 172nd anniversary of the creation of the U. S. Marine Corps; another to designate February 14 of each year as National Heart Week; another to designate the period from Thanksgiving until Christmas of each year for national Bible reading; another to designate the 2nd of each October as Grandmother's Day; another to designate September 17 of each year as Constitution Day; another to name

X's entry which had no influence and accomplished nothing, and it allowed to continue would have perhaps brought disaster to the industry like in so many others. "If labor were headed by men who are qualified for leadership, labor troubles would eventually be of minor importance."

Cooperation SO ENDS this Essential very pointed letter from my manufacturer friend, who obviously is no enemy of labor. Actually, the reasons so apparent why management should be the friend of labor are almost the same set of reasons why labor should stand solidly for cooperation with management. After all, the two are the main components of industry, labor and management. Their objectives are the same. Neither can exist without the other.

Orderly settlement of industrial disputes would mean much to the welfare of our nation at this time of crisis when we are reconverting our industry to the ways of peace. Strikes are now too costly, to labor and to management, and to the public, to have any prominent place in the settlement of industrial disputes.

In this enlightened time, when word is almost as swift as thought and facts are so easy of access, surely these two components of industry with so much in common can make use of the council table instead of the strike. With wisdom and fairness and honesty prevailing this can be done. We have had full demonstration that frequent large strikes are the route to disaster.

February 11 as Thomas Alva Edison Day; still another to designate November 19, the anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, as Dedication Day; another to designate the first Sunday in June of each year as Shut-in Day, another to name the first Monday in October as National Farm Day; another to declare Good Friday of each year as a legal holiday; and a bill by my good friend Stigler of Oklahoma, a part Indian himself, to set aside the 4th Saturday of each September as American Indian Day.

The Committee will probably turn down all of these, since they would effect the banks, the schools, the mail service, and the work and business of nearly everybody in the country.

However, legislature sometimes do foolish things. For example, in Minnesota it is against the law to tease a skunk. It is against the law in Pennsylvania to kill a snake unless it bites you. It is against the law in Ohio to ride a jackass more than ten miles; against the law in Boston to own dogs more than ten inches high; against the law in Oklahoma to catch a whale in inland waters.

So one never knows to what excesses lawmakers may go.

No chance for half-baked cakes when you use ultra-modern gas range with

OVEN CIRCULATION

When it comes to oven cooking, an ultra-modern gas range built to "CP" Standards is alone. It takes out all guesswork. The automatic control holds temperature at any desired level from 250 to 500 degrees. It is ventilated so that heat circulates on every level. This ventilation makes it possible for odors from cooking to be carried outside the oven and not cooked into its walls.

The one sure way to get these and other advantages of gas cooking is to look for the "CP" Seal on any "make" range before you buy. You may have to wait a bit for a range built to "CP" Standards, but it is worth waiting for. It will give you Cooking Perfection.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin—Reports coming in to the State Health Department from various sections of the State indicate that the number of influenza cases has increased to epidemic proportions in many areas. The reported incidence this week is 11,624 cases, however, this represents only a fraction of the actual number of cases in the State since many cases are not receiving medical care, and therefore remain unreported. There were perhaps an estimated 20,000 cases of influenza this week in Texas.

Commenting on this situation today, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said that most of these cases are mild and lend themselves to treatment readily. He pointed out that two cooperative factors are essential to victims of this disease; first to call the family physician promptly when suspicious symptoms appear; and second, to take it easy for a reasonable length of time after the acute stage has subsided.

"It is essential to realize that influenza, no matter how mild the attack, calls for a period of convalescence, because serious complications can occur if this important fact is ignored," Dr. Cox said. "Influenza is not mass-controllable. However, those persons who maintain the highest possible health level at all times, increasing their resistance to communicable disease germs, will have a protective advantage over those more careless persons who continually abuse their health."

The State Health Officer declared that living by the laws of nature, getting plenty of sleep, daily exercise in the open, nourishing foods and good personal hygiene offers the best known bulwark against all respiratory disease and added that avoiding habits of any kind detrimental to maximum well-being is a wise course to take in the pursuit of good health.

Points On Cooking Frozen Vegetables

Research on the cooking of frozen vegetables in a pressure sauce pan has been conducted in state experiment stations shows that it is impractical to cook some frozen vegetables under pressure.

For instance frozen peas may be cooked in the usual way in less time than it takes to bring the pressure up in a pressure sauce pan, but frozen lima beans which would require 15 to 22 minutes without pressure can be cooked in only one and a half to two and a half minutes in the pressure pan. It is just a case of finding out what vegetable will cook fast enough to compensate for the extra care and attention necessary in using a sauce pan.

Cheese Excellent Source Of Vitamins

America's appetite for cheese increased to seven pounds per capita during 1946 according to reports by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

From a nutritional standpoint, cheese is an excellent source of Calcium and protein as well as supplying iron, and Vitamins A, B, and G in the diet. Cream cheese provides a greater amount of vitamin A than American cheese.

To cook successfully, Louise Newman, county home demonstration agent, suggests using only enough heat to melt the cheese so that it will blend with the other ingredients in a dish. When cooking it in the oven use a very low heat. Cooking cheese dishes in a double broiler or over water is best for those not baked.

Another cheese cooking rule add cheese to other ingredients in very small bits rather than in small pieces. When grated or shaved thin the cheese and it will spread more evenly in a mixture, will prevent lumping, and will require less cooking.

Rule number three is aimed at preventing curdling in cheese dishes. When possible, blend cheese in a smooth sauce before adding to a food mixture. A white sauce with cheese melted in it may be poured over cooked vegetables or scalloped dishes before baking. By combining cheese with the sauce while it is hot and not returning the sauce to the heat most of the curdling in cheese dishes can be avoided.
