Odd Bits Salvaged
At Random

(By Aaron Edgar)

"Give ya six points, and bet ya five on the Moguls to win!" Gim-eight points, and it's a bet," is the rejoinder, and pretty soon a happy medium is arrived at and the wager is made.

Football is a great American sport—one in which all people, from our common people on to the high-ups, take a real interest. We like our football, whether it's played on a high school gridiron or in a college stadium.

And betting on the game is another American sport—one in which many, far too many, people are indulging.

We get enthusiastic about the game and about our team. We study the statistics; we peep into the dope bucket; we see the boys work out; we get all pepped up and believe they're going to have a runaway.

The more we think about it, the surer we are they'll win. Directly we know without a doubt that they will win, and we're ready to back up our belief with our money.

We don't have much trouble finding someone who is just as strong in his belief as we are ours, but he believes that way about his team, not ours, and he's ready to match our money, dollar for dollar, and buck for buck.

Then if our team doesn't win, we shell out our hard-earned money to the other fellow, who carts it away to his home town.

We get to pondering over the situation, and our team should have won. Our boys were the best from every angle you wanted to look at it. They had the game sewed up before it started—but something went wrong.

One of our boys was loafing—that's it! Or the coach just would not turn them loose. Why did he keep our best lineman on the bench, while that bunch was ripping holes in our line right through his position?

Coach knew we gave all those points, and he just wouldn't let our boys go. Why, we could have won 40 to 0 if we'd wanted to!

Then we get to talking about the boy who loafed, and about our coach, and about the entire team, and about the school in general.

That's no specific instance we're talking about. So far as we know it never happened here or anywhere else. But it's what could happen very easily.

Fact is that betting on the game has become just about as common and regular as the game itself. Fact is, too, that some harm has been done in the past, and chances are that some will be done in the future.

Because of our enthusiasm for the game and our players, lots of us will bet on anything else—it would be gambling to bet on just anything, but football.

Maybe we wouldn't even match a pal for a coke at the soda fountain. But when you get it in your noggin that our team can't win; then, brother, you're all wet and ya better put your money where your mouth is!

So by the time our team gets to pointing toward the district championship, we have fans who are so enthusiastic that they'll take on all comers. They want that out-of-town money.

But what we started to say is that betting on the game usually fomented injury to the team, the coach, and to the school. We mean promiscuous, out-in-the-open betting, where we slap a player on the back and tell him we have so much money ep—don't let us down.

Some officials allow as how this practice in the past has hurt our local schools, and changes are it'll do it again.

Every boy in this vicinity who feels that he has what it takes to become a professional baseball player is invited to enroll for a tryout. Players should bring their own gloves and baseball shoes, and uniforms if they have them, as

Paul Russell Buried At Vera Last Sunday

Paul S. Russell, 42 of Levelland, former resident of Knox county, died at Levelland last Saturday morning, succumbing to burns received some ten days earlier.

According to reports, Mr. Russell had a colored man cleaning with gasoline, and the fuel became ignited from a water heater. In putting out the fire, the colored man knocked the container over, spilling the fuel on Mr. Russell, who received fatal burns about his body.

Surviving Mr. Russell are his wife and two children, of Levelland; his mother, Mrs. C. W. Russell of Vera; two brothers, Ted Russell, Vera, and Charles Russell, California; a sister, Mrs. Byron Hughes, Eunice, N. M.

Funeral services were held at Levelland at 8:30 Sunday morning, and the body was brought to Vera for burial, funeral services being held there at two o'clock last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Russell, who was an oil driller, had been a member of the Masonic Lodge for a number of years, and Masonic services were held at the graveside with the Seymour lodge in charge. A large crowd of friends and relatives filled the Vera Baptist church for the service, and many beautiful floral tributes bore mute testimony of the esteem which many friends held for the deceased.

Do You Have A Burning Light?

Under the new traffic regulations, local officers say, it is compulsory that a "burning light" be placed on all farm trailers, such as cotton trailers, etc.

In addition, there must be two reflectors on the rear of trailers.

Local people are neglecting to have their trailers equipped to meet these regulations, and officers are urging them to do so at once. Highway patrolmen are expecting to begin enforcing this new degulation.

Roy Theatre To Open Friday

The new Roy Theatre, which has just been completed by P. V. Williams, will open on Friday night with the feature attraction of Roy Rogers in "On The Old Spanish Trail." Mr. Williams asked for a new picture with which to open this new theatre, and received one that is so new the advertisement has not been received by the Exchange.

Contrary to a rumor that this theatre is for Mexicans and colored people, Mrs. Williams announced that it is a show for the general public, and he invites you, one and all, to the opening show. "We started to name it the Royal," he said, "but it is hardly befitting the name, so we just called it Roy. It's a little Royal. It's clean; it's comfortable. The seats are comfortable, and the sound is the same that has been in the Roxy up until recently when the Roxy was equipped with the best sound projectors that money can buy.

"We are on our thirty-fourth year of trying to give you the best in theatre entertainment in Munday. We operated the Peoples Theatre in Munday from February, 1913 to August, 1928, when the Roxy was built. Now we give you the Roxy. With the combined seating capacity of the two theatres, our patrons should be able to get a good seat most any time. It would be most impossible to have seating capacity to take care of all the people all the time. We (Continued on Last Page)

Last Rites For Mrs. Joe D. Gray Held At Vera

Mr. Joe D. Gray, beloved pioneer mother and resident of Knox county for fifty years, passed away at the family home in Munday at 11 p. m. Saturday, September 20. She had been in poor health for some time.

Born Jennie Wiseman in Franklin county, Tenn., on August 6, 1874, Mrs. Gray was 73 years, one month and 14 days of age.

She was united in marriage to Joe D. Gray in Rockwall county on November 6, 1894, and they moved immediately to Vera, where they made their home until about a year ago, when they moved to Munday.

Mrs. Gray is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Williams of Goree, Mrs. Letha Tompkins of Munday and Mrs. Orville Kinnibrough of Vera; five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Also surviving are a brother, W. P. Wiseman of Carlsbad, N. M., and a sister, Mrs. Annie Sipe of San Angelo and numerous other relatives.

Funeral services were held from the Vera Methodist church at two o'clock last Monday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. Lyles, who was assisted by Rev. Don Davidson of Munday and Rev. C. R. Copeland of Goree. Burial was in the Vera cemetery, with the Mahan Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Nephews who served as pallbearers are: Otis Sipe of San Angelo, Lester Hickman, Howard Tidwell, Alfred Boone, Edward Sloman and Bowden McGuire of Seymour.

Donald Hobert Is Ag Instructor In Veterans School

Donald Hobert has accepted a position as ag. instructor for the Gilliland class in the Veterans Vocational School. He will succeed Joe T. Cardwell who has resigned to teach in the Dairy Manufacturing Department at Texas Tech College.

Mr. Hobert graduated from Texas A & M in 1942. Immediately upon graduation he entered Mid Shipment School at Columbia University. After finishing this school he received his commission and soon was put in command of LCI 769 Rocket Ship. He was discharged in 1946 with the rank of First Lieutenant.

Mr. Hobert and the vets at Gilliland are planning to start a building for their use as a combination shop and class room. The building will be built on the same plan as the one now under construction in the Vera community. Mr. Penick, Ag. Instructor at Vera, reports that the veterans are getting some valuable experience in laying tile and other jobs related to building.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Lloyd V. King of Goree was brought home last Monday from the Haskell hospital, where she underwent a recent operation. She is reported to be improving nicely.

Mrs. Tom Wood spent the week end in Abilene, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Karl Harbin and children.

It's name is Mack, and it has a vicious looking bulldog as a radiator ornament. It has been adopted by the Munday Volunteer Fire Department.

Adoption papers were taken out sixteen months ago, and the fireboys have been waiting for it, expecting it, and needing it for a long time. All legal papers for its adoption set the City of Munday back the neat little sum of $6,755.12—and the fireboys wanted to fuss about the twelve cents—but they were informed that the same procedure would cost $7,200 at the present time.

It's branded "No 1" and it has the No. 1 berth in the storage stall. And if you want to see it in action, just set your house on fire and turn in the alarm.

"Mack" is the new fire truck which has been on order for so long. Harvey Lee, city secretary, received word Sunday afternoon that it was in Sweetwater. It came to Sweetwater on a freight car, and its traveling mate was a twin brother, or sister, that went to the Sweetwater Fire Department.

Fire underwriters tests for the insurance department were run on the trucks at Sweetwater Monday, and local representatives then drove Mack home to Munday. Fireboys played with it a while Monday night, and expressed their approval.

Mack is the very latest in fire trucks. It's equipped with all the new gadgets, do-dads and thingma-jigs that help an efficient fire department become more efficient. All the new contraptions were explained to us—how they can step up pressure and rip shingles of the roof in nothing flat, if necessary—but, shucks!, we can't remember all those things.

But the fireboys know! They can look at the indicators, do-fet-chits and ding-fods and tell just when it's performing right.

The booster tank holds 300 gallons of water, as compared with 75 in the old truck, and that's enough water to take care of Munday's usual run of fires, according to those who know.

It's worth its total cost just sitting up there in its stall, they say, if never used, because the fact that it's there and ready for any emergency will bring about reductions in the insurance rates that will pay for it in a short time.

Now the old American-LaFrance is released from active duty. She can undergo those minor and major operations necessary to put her up in tip-top shape again—then you can't beat Munday for small town fire-fighting equipment.

Let's start a fire, and see how Mack works!

Funeral For Robt. E. L. West Held At Goree

Funeral services for Robert E. Lee West, former resident of Knox county, were held at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the First Baptist church in Goree. Services were conducted by Rev. S. E. Stevenson of Goree and Rev. W. H. Albertson.

Mr. West passed away on Tuesday, September 23, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Winnie Mae Richards of Sulphur, Okla.

Mr. West came to Knox county in the early 1900s and was engaged in the produce business here for a number of years. For the past few years, Mr. and Mrs. West had been making their home with their children.

Surviving him are his wife, six children, who are: Raymond West, of Fort Worth, Jack West of Paducah, John Henry West of South Dakota, Mrs. Minnie Wallace of California, Mrs. Sarah Lou Jeter of South Dakota, and Mrs. Richards of Sulphur, Okla. A brother, Fate West of Munday, also survives.

Burial was made in the Goree cemetery.

HAS OPERATION

Mrs. Louis Cartwright was admitted to the Knox county hospital last week, where she underwent a major operation on Friday morning. She is getting along nicely, according to the latest reports from the hospital.

TELL IT TO THE CHILDREN

Any long-range fire prevention program that is to produce maximum results include fire instructions in the schools of America—both urban and rural.

Traffic safety has long been taught in thousands of schools. Fire safety deserves equal attention. As one authority said, "It is apparent that if safety education in the field of fire prevention had been adequately presented in the elementary schools during the past fifteen or twenty years, the loss of children's lives from this cause would be greatly reduced today."

The methods used to teach fire prevention may be of various kinds. Periods of time may be allotted to it, or it can, in many cases, be combined with subjects which are an established part of the curriculum. Regardless of method, the main thing is that the instruction be vivid and forceful—and really drive home the fundamentals of fire prevention in young minds.

Fire prevention study should begin in elementary schools, and consist of lessons which are easily understood by very young children. In higher grades, more advanced material may be used, including instruction in fire laws and ordinances. Finally, in university instruction, mature students may be given technical information dealing with the more complex aspects of the fire problem.

The responsibility for putting such a program into effect belongs to school authorities everywhere. It should be started now, on a national scale, as a positive and continuous effort to meet an emergency condition.

INFLATION IN COTTON PICKING

The inflationary spiral has hit the cotton gathering phase of the labor situation, and it seems that farmers are faced with the problem of paying higher prices or see laborers go to "greener" pastures.

Last week farmers were paying $2.10 for cotton gathering—$1.75 for the gathering and 35 cents for hauling to the gins. And gathering crews won't go into your fields without an agreement to let them do the hauling, too.

Some ginner believe that the price will go to $2.35 if hands are to stay in this area.

As it is, there seems to be fewer pickers coming into the country this year. "They're by-passing this section for some reason or others," local farmers say.

The patter of little feet was heard at the head of the stairs. The party hostess motioned for all to deliver their good night message. There was a to deliver their good night message. There was a moment of hushed expectancy. Then: "Mom, Willie found another bed bug."

IT CAN'T BE DONE

Who's worried about high prices? You, the consumer, naturally are. And you aren't alone. So are the manufacturers who produce the goods you buy. And so are the retailers who sell them to you.

Retailing in general has held to a consistent policy during postwar price inflation. It consists of increasing operating economy to the highest possible level, to holding unit profits to the lowest point consistent with sound business practice, and to raising prices only when higher wholesale prices make it unavoidable.

Other innovations are also being used in an attempt to help the hard-pressed consumer. Many food retailers, for instance, are offering plainly-marked, lower priced meats and are featuring alternate foods for buyers who cannot afford Grade A prices. Merchandisers in other lines are performing similar services.

A retail association reports that fewer consumers are blaming stores for high prices than in the past. That is a healthy sign, and shows that the public is learning an important lesson. High prices are the results of many causes, some extremely complex, and to lay the blame on any group or any organization is unjust. It is especially unfair in the case of retailers, who cannot control wholesale prices, and must pay the going rate for their stock of goods. Every intelligent retailer would like to slash his prices now—but it just can't be done.

A SURE SIGN OF FALL

If you've had a doubt about fall being here, you were convinced Saturday. The regular Saturday rummage sales were going in town, a sure sign that fall is here and local people, clubs and other organizations are selling off their used clothing.

Articles of clothing—shoes, dresses, coats, etc. were seen dangling from the trees on the city hall lawn and hanging from awnings of other places.

The rummage sales have grown in number during the past few falls, with class groups in the schools and other organizations hitting on the idea of making a little extra money.

So you'll likely see more clothes hanging from ropes stretched between the trees on the city lawn during the next few weeks.

Chick and poultry brooders, using ordinary lamp bulbs as a source of heat, have been proven under test to be satisfactory and efficient.

September 25, 1947

Did you ever hear of "dropping the pigeon?" Back in Memphis, Tenn., when I was a young reporter, "dropping the pigeon" was frequently reported to the sharpshooters and the victims were negroes. The scheme worked in this way:

A cotton picker, with his season's earnings, alighted from a train and as he entered the railroad station, a well-dressed negro perceived from the new arrival's clothes and his "gawking" at the sights that he was a greenhorn so he stepped forward, and said, "Judge Brown when did you get to the city?" and then he said, "Ah begs yoah pa'don, sah, but you looks so much lak mah friend, Judge Brown, de distinguished

Of course, the rustic was flattered at having been mistaken for so distinguished a personage and then his new friend said, "Ah'm gin' to walk up town; ef you would care to accompany me, Ah'd be glad to point out de sights," an invitation which was accepted.

They had walked only a block or two when the city man stopped down quickly and picked up a billfold, then jerked his companion into a doorway, saying, "Let's git in heah befo' somebody sees what we found." In the billfold was a fifty dollar bill. "Huh, no name or address; we can't return it, so it's ouahs," said the finder. "You has brung me luck so we will split it." But he didn't have change. The visitor however produced $25, so his friend pocketed this and handed him the fifty-dollar bill. We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

Knox Prairie Philosopher's Off On International Topic Again; Or Maybe He's Just Off Again!

Editor's Note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek seems to be serious this week, although you never can tell. His letter is published for what it's worth.

Dear editor:

While lots of folks out here on the Knox Prairie don't take time to look up from their plowing and Johnson grass fightin' and note payin' and think about what's goin' on in the rest of the world, I ain't never been that short-sighted and long ago realized that what went on in north China might have as much bearin' on me as what goes on in my north pasture and so far I've had about as much effect on the pasture as I have on China and since the latter takes less energy than the former which don't necessarily mean it's easier as brain work is entirely different and can't be compared with physical work any more than plantin' ideas can be compared with plant-in oats or making perfume can be compared with refining crude oil, and as I say, just because a man lets his immediate vicinity get a little run down ain't no sign he's neglectin' his world-wide obligations.

Consequently I was surprised when I borrowed my neighbor's newspaper out of his mail box Monday mornin' while he was worrin' about hands and lettin' China slide and went down on the creek bank in the crisp September air and read where the vice president of China itself has announced that if the United States don't rush more aid over there his country will join up with the Russian Communists.

Now I don't know how much influence and authority a vice president has in China, maybe no more than the average president over here or say the average college president, but it seems to me if he's correct and China is considerin' joinin' up with Russia, let her. It reminds me of my neighbor's sayin' if I don't send him over a bucket of potatoes by in the mornin' he'll open his front door and let the hogs in.

In fact, it seems to me that if all that's keepin' anybody from Latest Type Seats on Santa Fe's "El Capitan" and Other Chair Car Trains.

Fully reclining and revolving seats with adjustable leg rests have been installed in new cars built for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe's all-chair-car streamliner, "El Capitan," and other chair-car trains. The coaches also feature individual four-position foot-rests which may be adjusted without disturbing fellow passengers. The windows are equipped with non-fogging sash, and are spaced to permit the greatest possible vision for the occupant of each seat.

joinin' up with the Communists is some help from the United States, we're lettin' ourselves in for some mighty long bread lines to keep operatin' from now on if we set out to head it off, and it would be cheaper and have the same effect in the long run to go ahead and let everybody who's a mind to join up with Russia now and have something to look forward to after the boom declines and the depression starts and we need another war to bring back prosperity with.

These things are too complicated for me and sometimes I even contemplate lettin' the rest of the world alone and tendin' to my own farm, but so far I've managed not to let it go no further than that.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Gas Exhaustion Is Predicted By Magazine Writer

At the present rate of consumption Texas' supplies of natural gas will be exhausted within 15 years, W. H. Kittrell, Jr., former secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, declares in October issue of Scene Magazine, published in Dallas. The October number, first to be published under the editorship of Standley Walker, famed former city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, contains 72 pages of Southwestern features and photographs.

Kittrell proposes the formation of a Texas Conservation Association to work for the adoption of policies that will avert this exhaustion. Pointing out that consumption of Texas gas has tripled in 10 years, with current consumption of gas produced in Texas amounting to more than three trillion cubic feet annually, he says:

"If, as the American Gas Association calculated, we had 82 trillion cubic feet of gas at the beginning of the current year, we will have 79 trillion left at its close, and if the use of gas continues to increase at 15 per cent year, we will use nearly three and one-half trillion feet in 1948; four trillions in 1949, and four and three and three-fourths trillions in 1950, leaving us with 67 trillions at the close of that year. If the consumption increases till it levels off at six trillion feet by 1953 or '54, our supply will last till about 1962."

The Rev. John F. M. Hardman read the marriage vows following a program of wedding music given by Mrs. Eleanor Dubuisson, organist, and Henry Schlattner, vocalist.

Palms, ferns and white gladioli interspersed with burning white tapers decorated the altar.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of white slipper satin fashioned with petal-pointed leg o'mutton sleeves and a "full skirt." The chapel-length veil of illusion was adjusted to a coronet of seed pearls. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white asters and pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Mrs. K. L. Goad attended her sister as matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Rose E. McNamee and Miss Sarah Agnes Moran. They wore identical dresses of silk faille made with cap sleeves and bouffant skirts. Mrs. Goad was attired in an aqua dress trimmed with pink velvet and the two bridesmaids wore raisin colored streamers.

Alvin Jungman of Munday served as his brother's best man and ushering were John Patrick Young brother of the bride, and Kenneth L. Goad.

Fry Monday Night

Thirty chickens helped to appease the ravenous appetites of members of J. H. Bardwell's young people's Sunday school class last Monday night, when they held a chicken fry and social at the city park.

Along with the chickens were served brown beans, pickles, potatoe chips, onions, cokes, coffee and hot doughnuts all making a square meal that everyone bragged on.

After the meal, the group played various games and "silly" contests enjoying a social hour of fun and hilarity. About forty people attended.

Chief chef duties went to "Hot Stuff" Jimmy Harpham who had "hot stuff" printed in large letters on his apron. He was ably assisted at the cooking chores by Moulton Wiggins, Paul Pendleton, Cecil Fitzgerald and Travis Lee.

Carpentry Class

Joe D. Slack, instructor of the carpenters' class and head of the T and I department, stated that the vets taking carpentry are learning by doing. They have a good start on another house which will make the third dwelling the carpenters have built. Experience gained in building these houses will allow the veterans to take their places in the community with the self assurance that only experience can give one in this type of work.

A new class has been organized for the colored vets in the county. Mr. John Inman has moved here from Denton and is teaching them the furniture repair business. The carpenters' class and the colored class erected a shop on the public colored school ground. This shop is well equipped with the latest power equipment necessary for furniture repair. New Pep Uniforms

Members of the Munday high school pep squad were proudly sporting brand new uniforms at last Friday night's football game, which opened grid play on the local field.

These uniforms were made possible by much work upon the part of the pep squad who received valuable help from Mrs. R. B. Bowden. They "rustled" all the materials, and Mrs. Addie Layne was employed to make the uniforms.

They were a colorful bunch of Mogul boosters last Friday night, and it's evident that all football fans are proud of their appearance.

AMPLE SUPPLIES OF QUININE ARE AVAILABLE NOW

End of Controls Brings 3,500,000 Ounces To Americans
Surveys just completed show that ample supplies of quinine, used for malaria and in many commercial products, and quinine, heart medicine, are available now and should continue to be easily procurable with the end of American Government controls.
The Trade Commissioner for the Netherlands Indies, in New York, reports that the situation in quinine salts has improved to the extent that quinine can be made available to the U. S. and has been increased by approximately 50 percent.

This means that quinine available to Americans can be increased to about 3,500,000 ounces by next April. Prominent importers of cinchona products, including quinine, such as R. W. Greeff and Co., New York, confirm the Netherlands Indies government statement.
The American price of quinine is and will remain at about the same price as before Pearl Harbor, according to the survey. Long used as a specific in the treatment of malaria, quinine is also used in about 36 percent of all remedies for colds and chills. It is also widely used in hair tonics, sun tan lotions, and some soft drinks.
Nearly the entire world supply of quinine, quinine and other cinchona alkaloids important to medicine, science and industry comes from the Netherlands Indies.

PARTY TIME TABLE

The simplicity and charm of today's informal entertaining is expressed in this decorative party table setting, designed by Miss Ann Martin, nationally known hostess authority. Miss Martin says, "If you've been keeping your grandmother's cut glass punch bowl in the storeroom all these years, now's the time to bring it into the parlor because parties with punch are high in fashion favor."
Refreshments are served buffet style and may be attractively set up on a card table, decorated with garlands of ivy. In keeping with the grape harvest festivals now being celebrated, clusters of varicolored grapes may also be used. Then, the punch bowl serves as a centerpiece, with punch cups or glasses set in a ring around the bowl. Side dishes hold thin-cut sandwiches, small cakes or cookies. Here's a favorite fruit-and-wine punch that's appropriate, refreshing and easy to prepare:

WHITE GRAPE PUNCH
8 cups unsweetened pineapple juice
8 cups Cresta Blanca California Claret
1 cup sparkling water
1/4 cup lemon juice
White seedless grapes
Chill pineapple juice, wine and sparkling water. Combine in a punch bowl or large water pitcher. Add lemon juice and sugar to taste. Garnish with lemon slices and grapes. Serves 6 to 8.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin—Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged 10 to 14, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages 15 to 25. Despite the importance of this disease its epidemiology is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, mumps, and whooping cough has yet been developed for its prevention or control. We do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physician's accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results of the disease may be prevented.
Exposure to frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.
Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows, or wrists. The pain usually is felt in one of these centers and spreads to others. Often times a child will get irritable and cross without any visible signs of a good reason for this attitude; he may cry easily or develop habits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever.

According to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child examined at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kind of food and plenty of rest. When the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once, and if he prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be implicitly followed.

POOR MILLING
College Station—A lot of Panhandle wheat farmers are finding that it costs money to sacrifice quality for quantity.
Potter County Agent A. P. Bralley reports to Extension Service headquarters at Texas A and M College that terminal market mill buyers are penalizing incoming loads of wheat from Potter and other Panhandle counties. Reason: poor milling quality.
Twenty-one percent of the total acreage in the Panhandle wheat belt was planted last year to two wheat varieties that have poor milling reputations, says the county agent. The overall figure of poor quality varieties is so high he reports, that millers throughout the country are either refusing to purchase the grain or are discounting it in some manner.
Farmers plant low milling varieties because they get "good yields", says Bradley. Westar, Comanche and Wichita varieties, all good millers, have produced as good if not better yields in Potter county than the poor millers, and many farmers have turned to those three varieties for planting this year.
The average per acre yield of Texas cotton is only 134 pounds of lint; corn—only 17 bushels; wheat—only 10.5 bushels. Legumes and fertilizers can increase those yields materially.

Senior News

The senior class officers this year are: President, Jerry Jones; Vice President, Randall Walling; Secretary, Mozell Booe; Treasurer, Cadiene Jones. We selected these particular students because they are dependable and just for each position.

Our king and queen candidates for this year are Ina Ruth Hardin and Jerry Jones. No preparations have been made so far for the presentation.

The seniors selected their class rings Thursday morning. Everyone was delighted to have that glorious moment arrive.

The seniors have already started making money to use and make possible a trip that not one of the students will forget.

Junior News

This is the third week of school and our brains are really working. We are wondering what nine months of work will do for us—or to us.

Last week we elected our class officers. They are as follows: President, Billy Camack; Vice President, James Black; Secretary-Treasurer, Patsy Matthews.

We also elected our king and queen. They are Mary Francis Booe and Merle Tackett.

We are looking for a pleasant year in English III. We have every empty chair in the room occupied and Mrs. Partridge has some very bright ideas worked out for us. Who knows, one of our Sunset boys might be President someday if they listen and do as Mrs. Partridge says.

The junior girls have ordered their class necklaces, and the boys ordered their pens. They are really beautiful and we will be very proud of them.

Sophomore News

We elected our class officers Monday. They are: President, Royce Reddell, Vice President; Loyce Reddell, Secretary; Tommy Yost, Reporter; Betty Yost.

Our King and Queen were elected also. They are: Queen, Joanne Tackitt, King, Royce Reddell. We were very proud of our football boys who won over O'Brien with 26 to 0.

In Home Ec. II we are making a layette. We have been studying childrens clothing for a week.

We are glad to have Loyce Reddell back in school after her operation in the Knox City Hospital.

Freshmen News

We are getting ready to elect our king and queen, but haven't decided yet who will be the queen because nearly all the girls are taller than the boys. Seems like those boys need to grow up some.

We had a test in algebra last week and we had quite a time reading these numbers, $633,219,988.08. One student said it was 633 billions. Another student raised it still higher, she said it was 633 quillions.

We are having very interesting lessons in English. We wrote our autobiographies, and we are going to read some biographies of current celebrities.

Eighth Grade News

Roy Butler has been absent from our class for several days. Roy Dykes received a leg injury while playing football Tuesday morning.

"JUST CRUMBS"

(By Nadine Butler)

Dear Old Sunset High! It is almost like home to some of us, especially Randall. Randall sat down the other day and pondered over the situation a very long time. He finally came to the conclusion that he will never get out of school. That English is just too hard. But the rest of the school doesn't seem to care. After all we have a football team this year, and Randall is our star! With a new pep-squad, (not to mention the mighty senior class) we are looking forward to a progressive and successful year.

As usual we all returned to school this year to find Mrs. Partridge very excited over the ideas that she just happened to pick up during the summer. She is presenting these ideas to us in her English classes in a very subtle way of course. English is being presented to us this year in a combined study of Literature and grammar. The grammar is to be slipped in where we aren't looking. So you pupils keep those eyes open and maybe we won't have any grammar. After all Will Rogers became famous in spite of the fact that he didn't know grammar so why make us study it?

We have a new teacher in high school this year in the person of Mrs. Bledsoe. She has taken Miss Cash's place in the Home Economics department. Sunset should produce some very fine specimens of future home-makers under the splendid guidance of Mrs. Bledsoe.

High school English is being presented in a different manner this year. It is called Communication and is divided into five specific parts; reading, writing, thinking, speaking and listening. Grammar is merged with literature, and the result is a milder, not quite so bitter, better blended dose. Great emphasis is placed on correct spelling, comprehensive reading and creative writing.

Instead of forced, listed amounts of reading and poetry memorizing, we are motivated to select what we think we will enjoy to read with special emphasis on periodicals, and contemporary literature. We may memorize choice, favorite lines from many different selections, rather than whole poems.

Many of our themes are oral this year. We give these with special attention to content, delivery and posture.

The communication idea seems more practical than the old method. Lesson plans for our four English Units were edited by department heads trained by University of Texas—Columbia University and University of Denver.

Sports News

The Sunset Eagles defeated the by a score of twenty six to 0. The game was our first conference game, and it was also the first game these Sunset boys have ever participated in.

Randell Walling scored two of the four touchdowns, Joe Lynn Yost caught a long pass for the third, and Gerald Freeman ploughed through the line for the last touchdown.

Edward Decker and Tommy Joe chalked up a favorite record for themselves on running interference and tackling.

This far, Mattson, Paint Creek, Knox City and Sunset have come out at the better end of the score board, the former teams defeating their opposition by a large margin than Sunset dispatched her opponent with. How much significance this fact holds, remains to be seen.

GLAMOROUS MARY MARTIN, the Texas gal who soared to stage and screen fame, will star in the forthcoming mammoth production of the Broadway hit musical show, "Annie Get Your Gun," at the State Fair of Texas, October 4-19. She will play the role of Annie Oakley, famous sharpshooter of the Nineties. The State Fair is bringing this show to Texas at a fabulous cost exceeding $200,000.

The Invisible Man Is Now Out, Garrison Says

Fix your lights so that you can be seen by the other fellow and your brakes so that you can stop, and you'll be alright under the new traffic law, which went into effect Sept. 5.

You must have two burning headlights and a burning red tail light. The only thing which every motorist has to have after Jan. 1, 1948, which he may not have now is a little white light over the rear license plate. Formerly, reflectors were enough on trailers of all kinds, but after Jan. 1, a burning red tail light is required for any vehicle whatsoever on the road. Trucks and busses under 80 inches wide must have in addition to other lights a stop light and two red reflectors on the rear.

Trucks or busses over 80 inches wide or having an actual or registered gross weight in excess of 5,000 pounds must have the following lights besides the headlights, tail light, license plate light, stop light, and two red reflectors:

amber clearance light at front outermost top corner on each side, red clearance light at back outermost top corner on each side, red side marker near rear on each side

amber side marker near front on each side
amber side lamp near front on each side
red side lamp near back on each side

When disabled upon the highway, all types of trucks, busses, and trailers must have three properly spaced warning devices such as pot flares, electric lanterns, etc.

All brakes, must be capable of stopping the vehicle going 20 miles per hour within a distance of 30 feet on a smooth, level surface and must be maintained in good working order so as to be applied evenly on all wheels. Any type trailer having an actual or registered gross weight in excess of 3 thousand pounds must have a separate set of brakes thereon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Skiles and children visited relatives and friends in Stamford last Sunday.

Heavy Expenditures Foreseen In County On New Farm Homes

Farm families in Knox county will spend more than $588,000 for new housing in the next three years, according to a forecast released by the Title Council of America.

"As a result of high incomes during the last few years, farmers in every part of the nation are prepared to invest record amounts in new home construction and in general farm improvements," said F. B. Ortman, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee.

Pointing out that the comforts and conveniences of urban living are now available to farm families, Ortman said that new rural homes will incorporate such features as water pressure systems, tiled bathrooms and modern kitchen facilities.

Rapid electrification of rural areas of Texas is making possible the incorporation in new homes of many labor-saving and comfort providing devices undreamed of a generation ago, according to Ortman. Rural Electrification Administration estimates disclose that more than 55 per cent of all farms in the state now receive central station electric service. Refrigerators, electric washing machines and deep freezing plants, as well as plumbing systems, will go into many new homes as a consequence.

"Christopher Wells", a brand new radio adventure show sponsored by the more than 3,000 De-Soto-Plymouth dealers from coast to coast, will be heard for the first time next Sunday, September 28, at 9:00 p. m. over Station KWFT.

I. V. Cook, local De-Soto-Plymouth dealer, described the show as a fast moving adventure show built around the character of "Christopher Wells", an enterprising newspaper columnist.

"The program is being carried

"You can be sure that we De-Soto-Plymouth dealers have been anticipating the birth of this new radio show. It's our show, designed to acquaint radio listeners with the facilities we have to give them prompt, expert, and friendly service. We think that it's the kind of a program that the whole family will like and I'm proud to be one of its sponsors."

"The new show is being produced by Edward A. Byron, the man responsible for the outstanding popularity of 'Mr. District Attorney,' "Mr. Cook said.

Veterans News

Veterans entering schools and colleges this fall may expect their first subsistence check early in November, the Veterans Administration has announced.

The initial payment will include all subsistence allowances due from the start of the semester through the end of the last full subsistence period before the check is issued.

No serious delays in payments of subsistence allowances are anticipated, but VA is advising student-veterans to be able to meet personal financial obligations for at least the first six weeks of the fall term.

The time lapse between date of enrollment and receipt of the first check involves two factors. First, a veteran generally is not entitled to receive a subsistence allowance until he has been in training 30 days. Secondly, all checks are mailed normally on the first of the month. Therefore, a veteran enrolling during the latter part of September ordinarily would not receive his check any earlier than the first of November.

The Southwestern area supervised by VA's Dallas Branch Office is expecting an enrollment of more than 100,000 World War II veterans in colleges and universities. The estimate for Texas is 78,370, for Louisiana, 20,968 and for Mississippi 9,267.

Half of the nation's 14,500,000 World War II veterans have received one or more payments of readjustment allowances for unemployment or self-employment since their discharge from the service, VA reports.

However, of those who have drawn upon their benefits as unemployed or self-employed veterans, fewer than eight in every hundred have claimed all of the allowances to which they are entitled under the GI bill.

The law provides payments up to $20 a week for unemployed veterans for a maximum of 52 weeks, while self-employed veterans may claim a $109 a month, less net earnings, for a total period not exceeding 10 2/5 months.

Questions and Answers
Q. What are some of the advantages offered to the veteran by the G I Bill if he buys a home under its guaranteed loan provisions?

A. With a VA guaranty, the veteran has a better chance of inducing the lender to make a loan. The lender may even consider making the loan where no down payment is to be made on the home. Another advantage is the 4 per cent rate of interest which is low.

Q. Is it true that if I secure a guaranteed loan, VA will pay part

Looking Ahead

MOST OF US thought it would never happen. But it has. According to the Associated Press, the House of Commons on August 8 approved a bill giving the British government authority to tell its people where they must work and what they must do. This means that the government may order men and women to do whatever job it pleases; coal mining, farming, fishing — anything. Moreover, it means that the government may choose the place where any man or woman must work.

This is a drastic step. Why is individual freedom thus destroyed by a country with such a long record of high devotion to the individual citizen and to freedom? The answer is simple. Two years ago a socialistic government embarked upon a campaign for government management of leading industries in England. Things were in such a bad way, because of weakness from war, that the people permitted this.

THE SOCIALISTIC government relied upon nationwide sympathy and cooperation. However, this lasted only a few weeks. Then, as absenteeism set in and productivity lagged, the whole system began to break down. The crisis came last winter, when a terrible coal famine came to that country with plenty of coal under ground. Under socialism, crisis thrives on crisis, and there were more to come. In these crises, it is easy for men to accept disaster, if they think it will prevent more disaster.

This is what has happened. In an apparent final resort to keep government management of industry from becoming a complete failure, the British are taking this most drastic step. Yes, in peace-time one of the greatest liberty loving countries in the history of the world has given its government authority to draft labor, and to tell each man and woman where to work and what to do.

Let's Have DESPITE their great Freedom! love of liberty, the British people have now found that loss of individual freedom follows adoption of a government managed economy, just as night follows day. It leads to this every time. It is sad to see this great country, like others that have accepted the blandishments of socialism, willingly give up the freedoms for which her people have shed blood through the centuries.

A considerable number of our people are evidently inspired by foreign ideologies, and some are asking for government control of American industry. This step England is now taking is a real warning to all American workers that with government management of industry there must surely come government dictation to workers. The workers, in the face of constant crisis, are told where to work and what to do.

Seeing that these things point in every direction toward a totalitarian government, our people should make up their minds now that we do not want government managed economy. What is happening in liberty loving England is proof that such dictation cannot be avoided once government management is adopted. Let us determine now that such a blight shall not fall upon the freedom loving land of America.

NOTICE

Your 1947 Taxes Become Payable October 1st!

Statements of your 1947 taxes are going in the mails this week; however, taxes are not payable until October 1, 1947. We allow the following reductions for early payment:

- 3 percent if paid in October
- 2 percent if paid in November
- 1 percent if paid in December

You will find an increase in your taxes this year. This is due to an increase in the state tax rate, and not that of the county. Your county rate remains the same.

Sometime in November we plan to visit the various communities to receive tax payments. This is for the convenience of those who do not want to make a special trip to Benjamin for this purpose.

Due to a new ruling of the Attorney General, 1947 poll taxes are not included on the rolls, nor on your statement. Poll taxes for both husband and wife, if eligible for poll tax, must be paid when you pay your real estate or personal taxes. Poll tax remains the same—$1.75 for each person.

Ten Little Servants

Ten little servants, waiting in a line,
Call on one to do the wash—and still you have nine!

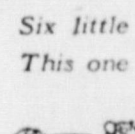

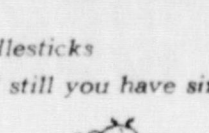

Nine little servants, working long and late,
Ask one to cook your meals—and still you have eight!

Eight little servants—working like eleven!
Call on one to clean for you, and still you have seven!

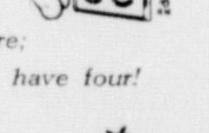

Seven little servants—you don't need candlesticks
When this one lights the house for you—and still you have six!

Six little servants, electrically alive,
This one sews a handy seam—and still you have five!

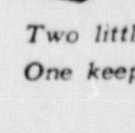

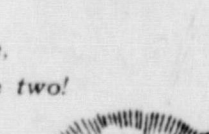

Five little servants to help with every chore;
One breathes a little breeze—and still you have four!

Four little servants—such activity!
One can iron all the shirts—and still you have three!

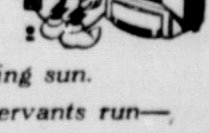

Three little servants—if you're feeling blue,
One will entertain you—and still you have two!

Two little servants, whose work is never done!
One keeps the food fresh, and thinks it's rather fun—

One tells the proper time from sun to setting sun.
(Dependable electric service makes these servants run—
And saves you lots of elbow grease. Suppose you had none?)

Yes, electricity is always ready to take the work out of housework. And it costs so little! Matter of fact, if yours is the average family, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money as you did 20 years ago. What other item in your budget does so much for so little?

Trials of War Refugees, Jungle Hiding Told By Mrs. Robinson, Who Is Here For Visit With Relatives

A small group of Munday people gathered at the clubhouse of the Munday Study Club last Monday evening at 7:30 and listened intently for an hour and a half as a gracious lady unfolded details of the trials of war refugees hiding from the Japs in the hills and jungles of the Philippines during the war. The lady and her husband were the principal characters—the only two Americans in the life-drama—having been forced to leave their cocoanut plantation when the Japs invaded the islands.

The speaker was Mrs. Don Robinson of Zamboanga, Philippine Islands, who with her mother, Mrs. W. B. Hodges of Dallas, was visiting their cousins, Misses Maud and Fannie Isbell. The Misses Isbell were hostesses for her talk, and were assisted by Mrs. Louise Ingram and Mrs. W. P. Farrington.

Mrs. Robinson was educated in Texas, was a violin student in Berlin, Germany, and was concert master of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra when it was an amateur organization. With her literary and musical background, together with dignity and refinement by nature, she has the remarkable sense of humor of the family's Scotch-Irish descent.

Her husband was a graduate of law in Texas University and one of the school's most famous half-backs in football. At the university he met the vivacious and talented Ann Hodges and they were married in 1913 and went on a colorful tour of many countries, finally reaching the Philippines, where they made their home on a plantation on the small island of Basilan, of 400 square miles, and with Zamboanga as the capital. At the time of his marriage, Mr. Robinson was associated with the firm of Saner and Saner of Dallas.

The years following were ideal, a fine son made the family complete. The Robinsons owned a cocoanut plantation on Basilan, living in a lovely home that was surrounded by giant trees and tropical flowers of rare beauty, and Mrs. Robinson grew fine orchids.

Tourists from many parts of the world came and were entertained, and staunch friends were made who proved their friendship when disaster came. When the news of the attack on Pearl Harbor came, it was unbelievable, but on Christmas eve, the Robinsons knew the Japs were coming.

Mrs. Robinson told of their home on the islands, of their work in building up the plantation, their three and one-half years of hiding in the hills and jungles, the price on their heads, their miraculous return to home and safety. Then a year of rehabilitation followed before they were allowed to come to the states on an Army transport.

This man and woman of culture and refinement endured untold hardships, survived many illnesses, gave help and encouragement to the Philippine friends who sheltered them, and came home one day to a multitude of adoring natives, and, as she said, they never surrendered.

The son, Bill, a Texas University student, was a Navy flyer before the war and was a lieutenant when the war was declared. He fell over Java in 1942. They never knew of his death, nor heard from any loved ones, during all the years in hiding.

Prowler, Nudist Run At Large To Upset People

A prowler, or prowlers, seem to have Munday people somewhat upset and careful—and, said prowler's life is in danger—if local people are to be believed. Gans are being loaded in anticipation of an unwelcome visitor.

Several homes have reported prowlers during the past two weeks. In most instances, evidence shows that the visitor was hungry, as he visited the kitchen.

One local citizen reported having taken a shot at a prowler the other night, and he believed he filled his legs full of shot. Several other homes have been entered, according to reports.

The elusive prowler has managed to evade local officers, so far. Another person who likes to drive around "in the nude" has been reported southwest of town, and again northwest of town. He stops his car, pulls off his clothes, gazes at farm homes, and drives off. Northeast of town, he is reported to have come near a home, without benefit of clothes. He has not been recognized, but officers are on the lookout.
