Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Congress Is Off When It Tries To Locate The Typical Farmer

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek comes to the defense of farmers this week, denying that most of them are like him.

Dear editor:

I read in a copy of a daily paper which I picked up out here on Miller Creek Monday while I was checkin my pasture while my wife was puttin out the wash in which is the best pasture checkin time I know where Congress has been in a uproar over what the average farmer is like.

J. A.

Accordin to the Department of Agriculture, the typical farmer has mice in the kitchen and rats around the barn, and this threw Congress into a big argument, with each member tryin to tell what a typical farmer is like, as though they was specimens, like boll weevils.

One Congressman said it was an insult to American farmers, and another one said it was true and only proved the farmer needed more help.

Now I ain't pretendin to correct no Congressman as life is too short and any way I ain't corrected my own self yet and don't intend to, the same as you, but it seems to me that tryin to put your thumb on the typical farmer is like tryin to put your thumb on the typical banker or school teacher or business man.

I don't suppose it has ever occurred to them Congressmen that there is well-to-do farmers and busted farmers, and tryin to pick out one farmer who has mice in his kitchen and rats around his barn and callin him the typical farmer is about like pickin out a banker who happens to be in the penitentiary at the time and sayin he's a typical banker, or like pickin out a school teacher who butchers the English language worse'n I do and sayin he's a typical teacher or a business man who has to blow the dust off his hats before he sells em and sayin he's typical.

It may be true there is lots of farmers with no more modern standards than I got out here, but they ain't average, I got more confidence in the American farmer to say he ain't got no more ambition than I have, and I consider it an insult for Congress to be sayin so, although understand I ain't apologizin for any farm as it suits me and if it does it ain't nothin for Congress to sweat about. I got enough to do answerin to my wife without takin on Congress to boot.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

P. S. Wouldn't want to say what the typical editor is like, would you?

THE JEFFROY "SOIL CONTROL CULTIVATOR"

The Plow of the Past REVOLUTIONIZED for TODAY!

The chisel-type cultivation of the Jeffroy "Soil Control Cultivator" is not new! In fact, the first plows of this type were made over 3,000 years ago by the Egyptians for farming along the Nile River. They used a sharpened stick, while in the Jeffroy machine, silicamanganese steel is required to stand present-day speeds and uses. Down through the ages many plows have been used and discarded, but the chisel-type plow has proved to have less draft, control erosion, and conserve moisture more effectively than any other plow invented!

- ★ Plows and cultivates the natural way. ★ Conserves the moisture. ★ Prevents blowing. ★ Stops erosion. ★ Cuts plowing cost in half. ★ Constructed to last a lifetime. ★ Pre-war prices. ★ Made in 4 sizes to fit your power: 7 ft. - 10 ft. - 13 ft. - 16 ft.

Lane Family Reunion Is Held Here October 4th

On Saturday night, October 4, a gathering of the Lane clan opened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lane of Munday. First to appear was Charles, first son, and his wife, Doris, and two children, Eugene and Patsy of Lubbock. Then came the youngest, Toby and wife, Evelyn of Munday. Then came the oldest child and only daughter, Mrs. Anna Mae Peek and husband, Clarence, and their two children, Alicia and Johnnie of Munday. Last to appear was the middle son, Joe, and his wife, Laticia, and son, Joe Ed, of Munday.

A very enjoyable evening was spent, with all but Charles and family retiring to their respective homes around midnight, to return Sunday morning to take Mr. and Mrs. Lane and Charles and family to the Baptist church. After church, a very bountiful meal was enjoyed by all. After lunch, pictures were taken and an afternoon of all-round good fun was ended by Charles having to return to Lubbock.

This is the first real old-fashioned family reunion the Lanes have been able to enjoy since Joe and Toby returned from overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane (and neighbors) have now settled down for a spell of peace and quiet.

Harvey Reid And Miss Littlefield Wed September 20

Before an archway of honeysuckle and pink roses flanked by white wicker baskets of white gladioli and pink crown asters, Miss Nora Louise Littlefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Littlefield of Brady, became the bride of Harvey A. Reid of Munday in a twilight garden wedding held in San Angelo on September 20.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reid of Munday.

The Rev. James Leavell, pastor of the First Baptist church of San Angelo, officiated at the double-ring vows at the home of Mrs. Edd Jordan, aunt of the bride.

The bride was escorted by her father down an aisle lined with white markers joined by white wedding rope. She wore an original gown of ivory brocade satin designed by her aunt, Mrs. W. D. Coleman. The leg of mutton sleeves terminated in points over the wrists and the high neck-line was a yoke of ivory net. Her three-quarters length veil of ivory tulle was edged with scru satin.

For something old, she wore a gold bar pin belonging to her grandmother, a gift from her grandfather when they were sweethearts. She carried a prayer book topped by a purple cattilya orchid with white streamers.

Miss Edna Ruth Littlefield, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and another sister, Inez Littlefield, was junior bridesmaid. Carl Reid of Wichita Falls was best man.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Jordan home, after which the couple left for a ten-day wedding trip to New Mexico. They are making their home in San Marcos.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony included the bride-groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reid, of Munday; the Alvin Reids and the Marion A. Brunley's, also of Munday.

Miss Carlie Raymey is Teaching Ballet Dancing In Munday Class

Miss Carlie Raymey of Wichita Falls, a talented dancer and instructor, is teaching classes in ballet dancing in Munday. Her first class of instruction was held last Monday afternoon at the Munday Study Club building. She will be here from 2 to 5 p. m. each Monday and Thursday, and those wishing to enroll are urged to contact her.

Miss Raymey started teaching in Wichita Falls when she was eleven years old, holding classes after school hours each afternoon and taught a year after graduating from high school.

She appeared in two of the shows produced by boys at Shepard Field; as a soloist in "Waki-Kahki", and as ballerian in "Three Dots With A Dash". She toured Texas and Oklahoma with great success, but due to the war was unable to tour the United States. She received excellent reviews for her work in "Three Dots With A Dash".

After the close of this show, she went to New York and enrolled in the American School of Ballet, directed by George Bolanchine, ex-husband of Vera Zorina. She studied for a year before appearing on the stage. Her first stage show was "The Vagabond King".

Miss Raymey then appeared on the stage of Metro Opera House in St. Matthews' "Passion Play", directed and produced by Leopold Stowoski. She also worked with the New York Opera Co., touring Connecticut and Massachusetts. She also worked with the American Concert Ballet Group, where she danced leading roles. A movie was taken of this concert group, which is presented each year at the Modern Museum of Art.

Then came "The Song of Norway" for a year, until Miss Raymey broke her foot and was unable to dance. She tutored one of the pupils for the American school.

Quite a number of pupils enrolled in Miss Raymey's first class here Monday, and the group is expected to be enlarged for other classes.

MAKE MINE CURLEE...
The Quality Overcoat

When winter comes along—cold, blustery mornings and nights with snow flakes falling—it's business as usual, as far as you're concerned. You just slip into your new Curlee Overcoat and go your usual way, secure in the knowledge that you'll be warm and comfortable—and looking your best.

There is nothing so very surprising about this, when you come to think about it. The Curlee folks started a long time ago, making clothes for men who wanted the best. Over the years they have discovered or developed the ingredients which spell success. First of all, they search the market for fine materials, not only overcoat fabrics of good quality in the season's smart patterns, but linings and inner materials, as well. These they turn over to their skilled designers—men who know what you want in the way of suits and overcoats. When they have created the patterns, expert workmen build lasting good looks and comfortable wear into every garment that carries the Curlee label.

One thing which is surprising, though, is that so much downright quality can be packed into these Curlee Overcoats at such moderate prices. It is no wonder that when it comes right down to style—fit—and comfortable wear—so many discriminating men say "MAKE MINE CURLEE".

Bag Wardrobes Make Big Hits In 45 States

Memphis, Tenn.—Thirty complete wardrobes made from cotton bag material are travelling a 45-state circuit to acquaint the women of America with the beautiful garments which can be made from ordinary cotton feed and flour sacks.

In constant demand for fashion shows before club groups, at State fairs and other gatherings, the cotton bag wardrobes are the result of a rather timorous experiment launched several years ago by the National Cotton Council.

Believing that garment displays demonstrating the thrifty beauty so rapidly available in empty cotton feed and flour sacks would be welcomed widely, the Council started three wardrobes on carefully selected trial runs. Then it awaited results. Requests for the wardrobes began to pour into the council offices.

REQUEST SNOWBALLED
The result resembled a snowball going downhill! Leaders of women's groups who heard that the wardrobes had been shown in adjoining centers promptly wrote the Council to ask when they could schedule bag fashion shows on their club programs.

First the number of units was jumped to six, then to 18, and at last to 30. Now the Council has a rather distracted young lady who does nothing at all except try to keep up with the whereabouts of the bag wardrobes.

That task is all one frail woman can handle, says she. And quizzed about why she has only 45 states on her bag wardrobe travel chart, she's apt to reply that if people would leave her alone she would open the rest of her mail—and then maybe her wardrobe would be traveling a 48-state circuit.

Periodically the units are scheduled for washing, pressing and replacement of missing buttons and straps. Then they are sent back out on their far-flung circuits.

SHOWED DURABILITY
It wasn't the Council's primary idea to demonstrate the durability of garments made from cotton bag material, but some of the original wardrobes passed the acid test of showings in 25 cities without any signs of wear. The early wardrobes might be whizzing around the country to this day were it not for a feminine foible called—fashion. During one inspection of a returned veteran of the road, the Council's bag lady noticed that the skirts of the dresses weren't quite in line with the latest fashionable levels.

Regretfully she scheduled the wardrobe for its last stop—reconversion to some other use in which the sturdy material wouldn't be handicapped by being out of style.

Lengthen Skirts To New Styles By Helpful Hints

It looks like skirt lengths are coming down, in spite of all the hemming and having that's going on about it.

So, for the girls who have decided to stop the fight and let their hems down, here's what might be some helpful information.

Miss Mary Routh, clothing specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, has an answer to the girls' question: "How am I going to lengthen a skirt without giving it that tell-tale, letdown look?"

If it is a wool skirt that's being let down, and if the fabric is shiny on the underside of the hem, rip the hem and steam-press it on the wrong side of the fabric—that is, if the wool is light weight or has a raised pattern in the weave. If it is a thick wool, Miss Routh advises steam pressing on the right side.

In steam pressing, cover the fabric with a dry wool press cloth, then with a cotton cloth dampened in warm water. You may use a warm iron, but set it down, then lift it. Don't slide it back and forth, warns the clothing specialist.

If the shine is still showing after that operation, there's another trick you can try. Take a clean brush or a rubber sponge—the kind used for suede shoes—and try raising the nap of the wool with it.

Conspicuous and stubborn hemline creases can often be erased by wetting the crease on the wrong side, says Ruth Routh. Then turn the goods over on the right side and roll the crease back and forth in your finger to work it out. Then press on the wrong side afterward.

Tree Borers Get Many Fruit Trees In Knox County

Approximately ten per cent of the trees of the Orchards of Knox County were lost to Peach Tree Borers, according to the information received in the County Agents office this year.

Now, from October 17 until October 30, is the time to combat these borers. First, to make certain that the pests are present, examine the wax from the trees to see if a woody frass or wood-dust is present. If so, place a solution of Ethylene dichloride emulsion from one half to one pint, depending upon the trees' age, around their base; or if you prefer to use Paradi-chlorobenzene (P. D. B.), scrape the dirt from around the roots with a hoe; then pull approximately six inches of loose dirt back over these roots. Make a circle trench one and one-half inches deep around the tree, and approximately three inches from the base. In this trench place 1 oz. of the P. D. B. crystals, cover the trench and leave closed for six weeks.

By unanimous vote, the 1947-48 senior class of Weinert high school have dedicated their high school annual to Dr. J. F. Cadenhead, pioneer Weinert physician.

Dr. Cadenhead was president of the Weinert school board for a number of years, during which time the present school plant was constructed.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin—Seasonal health hazards for young children are to be guarded against in the winter-time just as carefully as they are in the summertime in the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Every mother is familiar with so-called summer complaints which affect small children but certain winter diseases can be just as harmful and are just as likely to make their appearance unless proper precautions are used during the approaching season," Dr. Cox said.

In the group of winter diseases Dr. Cox included influenza, tonsillitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma, and even diphtheria when a child has not had diphtheria immunization. Any such disease affecting a child's respiratory or breathing system is apt to be very serious and all too often fatal. Pneumonia often develops from a neglected cold or may follow a severe case of measles or whooping cough. Bronchitis conditions may also prove to be an after effect of such diseases and these respiratory ailments are such difficult to combat successfully than the digestive ailments which are prevalent in the summertime, and known as summer complaints.

"These winter diseases are especially dangerous to babies and very young children," Dr. Cox stated. "Nearly all of them are spread from the secretions of the nose and mouth. Children not in vigorous health are naturally more susceptible to these complaints and the first line of defense against them is to build up the child's general health, as a power of resistance against disease," Dr. Cox advised. "The second step is to keep them under medical supervision and the third is to make sure that they avoid contact with those who have coughs, colds, or fevers."

For the first time in nearly a quarter of a century, the National Farm mortgage debt is increasing, estimates for last year showing a rise of nearly 3 one-half per cent.

Veterans' News

One in every five World War II veterans holding National Service Life Insurance policies has converted to one or more of the half-dozen available permanent plans, the Veterans Administration reports.

Of the 5,746,000 policies in force in August, more than 1,037,000 were permanent policies and the remaining 4,708,000 were five-year level term policies.

Total value of all the G. I. policies in force amounted to more than $34.4 billion. Permanent forms accounted for over $14.4 billion of this total.

NSLI term policies issued before January 1, 1946, may be continued for eight years from the effective date at the original rates, while such insurance issued after that date may be continued for five years on a term basis.

Term policies do not accrue cash, loan, paid-up or extended insurance value. They may be converted at any time before the expiration of the term period to any of the six permanent plans available.

Veterans acquiring dependents after entering training under the G. I. Bill as single men, should notify the Veterans Administration immediately so that an adjustment may be made in their subsistence allowance payments. The VA increases payments as of the date it is notified and not retroactively to the date of veteran actually acquired a dependent.

Veterans who fail to repay subsistence allowance over payments while in education or training under the G. I. Bill and who later apply for unemployment or self-employment allowances will have the amounts they owe the Government deducted from the latter benefit checks, the Veterans Administration says.

Phone Industry Observes Golden Jubilee Dates

The Independent telephone industry, which through its approximately 6,000 companies, serves 12,000 communities—almost twice as many localities in the United States as the huge Bell System—is commemorating this all its 50th "Golden Jubilee" anniversary of the founding of the industry's national organization, the U. S. Independent Association, at the USITA annual convention in Chicago, October 13-16.

The Southwestern Associated Telephone Company, which operates the telephone service of Seymour and its surrounding territory, is one of the companies participating in the celebration at Chicago. Representing the company at Chicago will be R. B. Fairly, President, Roy Autry, Vice President and General Manager, and E. C. Brink, Auditor.

The plans for the 50th anniversary celebration in Chicago were announced to the Munday Times by F. A. Robinette, District Manager of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company.

The Bell Telephone System will honor the Golden Jubilee celebration in its weekly nationwide broadcast concert, "The Telephone Hour", with a special salute to the Independent industry.

Characterized by leading efficient and successful groups of small businesses in the United States, the more than 6,000 Independent companies serve six million telephone subscribers from their 12,000 exchanges. Most of the companies are small, yet the industry serves more than 250 towns and cities with 2,000 or more telephone subscribers. The Independent's total investment in equipment and lines is well over three-quarters of a billion dollars. Nearly 40 companies have gross revenues of more than $1,000,000 a year.

With modern developments in telephone service gradually changing the face of the entire industry, the Independent arm of the industry has kept pace with its Bell colleagues. Many companies are moving ahead with plans for mobile radiotelephone service, through which telephone installed in automobiles and delivery trucks will be connected by radio with the land telephone system, and the industry will be ready for nationwide toll dialing, which will repede long distance telephone traffic. Meanwhile, the Independent companies are moving ahead in replacing older local telephone plants with more modern systems, as fast as the equipment can be manufactured with present manpower and material shortages.

The Southwestern Associated Telephone Company has been an integral part of the Independent industry's success. Founded in 1926, it has grown from 6,335 subscribers in its first year until now it operates 58,868 telephones.

Knox Teachers To Meet Monday At Knox City

Knox City teachers will be host for the annual Knox County Teachers Association, Monday, Oct. 20 at 9:30 a. m. Featured speakers are Mr. E. M. Connell, Anson, second vice-president of District 7; Mrs. Joseph Perkins, Eastland, member of State Board of Education; and Mr. L. R. Burkett, Haskell, Deputy State Superintendent; the Choral Singers of the Knox City Elementary school, and a Violin Ensemble are other features of the meeting.

District 7 is composed of 23 counties, and is recognized as one of the outstanding districts of the state, because it was one of the few districts which had 100% in Texas State Teachers Association membership, and led the state last year and this year in 100% membership. This organization definitely went on record at the state meeting in Houston, November 1946 as opposed to any union organization of teachers, and strikes. Professional leaders of the district worked hard for the new salary schedule, which was passed by the last legislature.

Interested friends of school work are welcome at the teachers meeting.

Planner's Dream

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

"WITH MORE MINERS at work and more machinery, Britain is producing 15,000,000 tons less coal per year than in 1941." This statement by Mr. Churchill aptly describes the results of nationalization. It is striking that whereas England used to export large quantities of coal, she is now importing as much as 600,000 tons from the United States in the present quarter. This is the picture 18 months after nationalization of Britain's coal industry was begun.

Last summer in England I had a conference with Mr. Michael Young, head of the research department of the Labor Party, and their chief economist. Thirty or so years of age, tall and slender, Mr. Young expressed great confidence in England's program of nationalization of industry. He hoped the program would proceed rapidly to include all industries, and he was confident it would bring full employment, high productivity, and greater prosperity. Mr. Young's hopes remain in the dream stage.

Failure of HIGH BRITISH officials came to Washington last month. They wanted to discuss new terms on the American loan. A London report of their interview with Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder tells of Mr. Snyder asking the British officials "Why nationalization had not produced more coal and if it had hampered output." Mr. Snyder was also firm in inquiring whether Britain, under the scheme of nationalization, was "still going to be a solvent concern."

With England sitting on vast coal reserves, yet importing coal, one can understand that Secretary Snyder is a bit dubious about the results of nationalization. In coal mining under nationalization there was at first an upward surge of output. But soon the gain wore off, and turned into a dramatic loss. This experiment in government management of industry simply did not come through. Other industries are learning in the same manner.

Dictator THE LABOR government, which has urged more construction of houses, now finds it necessary to reduce its quota of new houses by 80,000. The use of petrol is to be cut down by one-third; foreign travel is to be reduced by one-half. An individual can now buy only 20 cents worth of beef a week. The fact that the food situation is extremely critical plus the failure of nationalized industries to get production led to the passing of Britain's Crisis Bill.

The British Press described the Bill as giving the government power to:

1. Direct labor within an industry or from one industry to another.
2. Replace inefficient management in industry by government nominees, which will mean, in effect, taking over the business.
3. Divert investments into certain channels, and prevent them going into others.
4. Control hours and conditions of work, and even rates of pay.
5. Send supplies and raw materials to certain industries, and keep them from others.
6. Order goods to be exported to given markets, and prevent them going to others less profitable to the nation.

These dictatorial powers are the true offspring of a government managed economy.

The Old Dears Got Their Deer In Colorado Hunt

"Hey, editor", they hollers as we crossed the street to the post office in a big hurry. "Come and see for yourself what we done gone and got!"

We halts abruptly and gazes into the rear of Jasper Bevers' pickup, and there were three nice deer—we guess they were bucks—all fixed down in dry ice. Several of the boys had been on the annual deer hunt to the "hills" of Colorado. Their post office seemed to be Pogosa Springs, Colo., and they indicated they brought back their limit in deer.

Making the trip were Jim Strickland, Jasper Bevers, Johnie Michels, Ura Wilson and Gene Michels.

They sent us no pictures this time, as they did last year, but if the editor don't get a mass of Venison then they're a bunch of poor sports!
