Odd Bits Salvaged

(By Aaron Edgar)

When are we gonna pave? Well, sir, that's just about all left up to the contractor, now.

Contract for Munday's much-needed paving and drainage program was let last Thursday for J. R. Fanning of Lubbock. It is hoped that Mr. Fanning will begin actual work early next spring.

His job, now, is to contact property owners and get their signatures on contracts for paving along the designated streets. It is hoped that everyone is still in the nation.

Time for the contractor to contract many property owners would be after a three-day rain that measured several inches.

Anyway, the mill is grinding—and some day we'll be traveling on more asphalt and less boggy dirt.

There ain't no soap shortage no more, judging from the amount of soap used on store windows in the down-town section during our two-night Hallowe'en spree.

Hallowe'en conflicted with the football schedule of the Munday Moguls, so those sponsoring the Hallowe'en carnival decided to hold the event on Thursday night, so everyone who could find conveyance could attend the football game at Hamlin.

But some of the pranksters didn't go to the game—or maybe they went into action after they returned home. Those who cleaned soap off their windows Friday morning had the same procedure to do again Saturday.

Personally we've just as hard again two Hallowe'ens as we were two Thanksgiving days several years back.

But no great damage was done so far as we know.

We found a bench that occupies a prominent place at the Tiner Drug hanging up on an electric light pole Saturday.

A lot of cans, junk, and what-not was stacked right in the entrance to the high school building. We imagine a lot of students were conscripted to help remove it.

Heard of some trailers being turned over and damaged to some extent. One of them, on the city's irrigated farm at the disposal plant, contained a part load of cotton.

The owner looked sorta disgusted as he viewed the scene Saturday. Guess he realized that boys will be boys, girls will be girls, and spooks will be spooks.

Heard this one recently about one of the greatest color schent phenominae we know of:

A black cow eats green grass, to produce white milk, to make yellow butter. Then when you go to buy a pound of it, the price is so high you see red!

And when we heard that women's dresses were getting longer, we thought they'd be lower, but instead of lower they're higher.

And two pairs of pants coming back with men's suits suits us fine if we had the money to buy the suit.

The "little woman" got to figuring a few days ago on what we needed. She named suit shirts, shorts, hats, ties, in fact everything. Then she says "a car", and we threw up our hands and looked to see if one more patch would not work on the seat of our breeches.

Kinda makes you wish you were a kid again so you could wear some breeches the older brother had outgrown.

But we kinda out grew most of our brothers, especially in the waist-line, and such an idea won't work during our adult days.

We should have stopped more carefully before those "city dads" stoned the rummage sales on the

WHO'S SEEING DOUBLE?

Nobody, because they're twins—Jean and Jane King (left to right) of Memphis, Tenn., the first entrants in the 1948 Maid of Cotton contest. National Cotton Council staff members thought they were seeing double when the pretty Southwestern college co-eds submitted their applications. Though not identical twins, they're startlingly alike in height, weight, personality and appearance—don't you think?

J. R. Pollock's Death Is Ruled As Suicide

J. R. Pollock, 70, well known Knox county farmer, was found fatally shot at his farm home a half mile east of Munday at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

He was found under the steering wheel of his car, which was parked in front of his garage. He had been shot in the forehead, and a .32 calibre pistol was found clutched in his hand.

Officers investigated the death, an inquest was held, and Justice of the Peace John Rice, ruled that he died instantly.

A suit case and a box were found in the car, both packed with clothes, which led those conducting the investigation to believe Mr. Pollock was preparing to take a trip. Quite a sum of money was found on his person.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Clarence Swope, Mrs. N. E. Hosea and Mrs. Louis Fin-cannon, all of Munday; Mrs. Swope of Levelland, and a son, who lives in California.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Thursday morning. The Mahan Funeral Home is in charge.

PLAYING WITH DYNAMITE

The attitude of a great many people toward the problem of inflation is not helpful. They dodge the facts involved. Most people cannot build homes. Their ability to buy many of the better foods is diminishing. Basic manufacturing industries are confronted with costs which every businessman knows threaten to shove prices to the point of crippling mass production. The distribution industry, also dependent upon high volume movement of goods, is up against a similar situation. Intelligent farmers are aware that disaster is the inevitable consequence of endlessly rising prices. Union leaders with a grain of sense under their hats will admit, privately if not publicly, that a race between wages and prices, if continued long enough, will make paupers of American workmen.

Tragic is the attitude of many of our public officials who, while waging a political sham battle against inflation, are fully aware that the solvency of the Federal government and the integrity of the dollar itself are at stake. All of us from the President down are observing the result of inflation and depreciated money, in country after country, from China to England. Desperate people in such countries have submitted to ruthless dictatorships which are destroying their liberties. They are losing spiritual and moral values in a futile scramble for a false security, the like of which the world has never seen.

It is almost unbelievable that in face of this situation, leading citizens, in and out of public life in the United States, can for a moment play politics with inflation, or utter a single word which they do not believe to be based upon sound reasoning—yet it is being done daily.

Ninety percent of all destructive fires that occur in the United States is preventable.

THE RETAILER'S STORY

Congressional hearings on the subject of commodity prices have now been held in a number of key cities throughout the country. A great volume of testimony has been heard, from manufacturers, retailers, labor organizations, consumer groups, etc. Much of the testimony, naturally, has been sharply opposed. But on one point near unanimity has been achieved—retail business has not been responsible for price inflation but, to the contrary, has fought it in every possible way.

A number of representative retailers have testified that their mark-ups are lower than ever. The profits made, after expenses, on each dollar of sales, are figured in pennies. This is true of the big chain systems, of independents, of department stores, and of all other elements in the retail system.

The operator of a clothing store said that if his prices were reduced only 5 per cent, he would sustain a substantial loss for the year. That is indicative of the position of retailing in general.

The contribution of retailing to holding price in-

CONSUMER PAYS AS USUAL

In a recent address, Fred S. McConnell, president of the National Coal Association, made it clear that there is no way in which the coal industry can absorb the sharply increased operating costs resulting from higher wages and other causes.

The last wage agreement alone increased the industry's payroll $500,000 a day—plus 30 cents more per day per miner for the welfare fund. Inasmuch as the entire industry earned only $40,000,000 last year, which was a year of high demand and top production, it is obvious that to pay these higher costs out of pocket is simply beyond its financial capacities.

As a matter of fact, coal has long been a financially undernourished industry. In times of depression, it has suffered unusually heavy losses. In normal years, its profits have been scant. And even in boom periods its earnings have been very moderate. For example, its 1946 profits amounted to less than 1 and 1-2 per cent on the investment. The great economies which have been effected by increased efficiency of operation have all gone to the miners in the form of higher wages and other benefits—and nothing has been left either for the owners or the consumers.

Mr. McConnell summed the whole problem up when he said: "The industry will hold prices to the lowest possible level. Competition within the industry, and with other fuels, will take care of that. But rising costs must be passed on if the coal industry, along with the jobs it provides, is to survive." The situation in coal is simply another refutation of the ridiculous theory that higher wages need not result in higher prices.

Increases to the minimum has been positive. Operating costs have been pared when possible. Stores have refused to stock items which their buyers considered overpriced. Retailers have worked with manufacturers to produce better quality goods. And many stores have shown evidence that their gross profits is lower than under OPA.

Prices, in short, are beyond the control of the retailer. He is performing an exceptional job under the most difficult conditions. That job should be given the public recognition it has so thoroughly earned.

Square Biscuits, Yet!

I see by a neighboring paper, that the round biscuit is on the way out. Yes, sir, home-management specialists have found that the square biscuit lends itself to assembly-line production and easy storage better than those customary ovals.

Well, we're all for progress, but that's one new idea we just don't cotton to. A round biscuit, spread nicely amidships with snappy country cheese, looks like a biscuit! And accompanied by a mellow glass of beer, it's a combination that you can't improve on!

So at the risk of being called old-fashioned, I'm voting for round biscuits, that fit a hungry man's mouth like no square imitation ever will. . . . and for American beer served in the good old-fashioned way, in tall, cool mugs or ordinary glasses, with frosty sides and bubbles winking at the brim!

Think I'll step out to the kitchen for a snack right now!

TINER DRUG

As Col. Ray Leeman sits, smiling and alert, at his desk in San Antonio, he has at his finger-tips the pulse-beat of an empire. For 20 years, there probably has been no general movement for the advancement of South Texas which has not been launched or, at least, fostered by the South Texas Chamber of Commerce. Leeman aided in founding the 55-county organization in 1927 and has been executive head during its entire history.

Leeman has had a colorful career—veteran of both World Wars, race track driver poet, pioneer of the automobile industry, civic leader.

He drove in the Glidden Tour, endurance contest for cars over highways (such as they were) and he raced on Oklahoma dirt tracks. His car crashed and a piece of railing was embedded in the diabolical's hip.

Leeman was born in Dallas in 1888, attended Castle Heights Military Academy in Tennessee and the University of Texas, where he was baritone in the glee club quartet. He became advertising manager for the Overland car, wrote the first full-page ad in auto history (it appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram), invaded the Middle West where he launched a new automobile, the Henderson with such fanfare it marked a publicity "high" in the industry's early annals.

The scene was Indianapolis the day before the races—in fact, rivals said he practically "stole" the Speedway classic to exploit his new car. Mayor Lou Shank, famed for his fight on the "high cost of living", poured a sack of potatoes over the "prow", then scrawled the name on the hood with a pencil, five feet long. The machine then was to be driven into the lobby of a nearby hotel but the designer, at the wheel, caught Leeman's eye and whispered, "I can't start the blankety-blank thing."

Quick-thinking Leeman stepped back into the crowd and yelled, "Wait! Don't start it! Boys, let's roll 'er into the hotel." With a whoop, a dozen men put their shoulders to the car and shoved it down the street. Next day, the papers said the crowds was so enthusiastic, it pushed the new machine in triumph into the hotel lobby.

Leeman enlisted in World War I, attended First Officers' Training Camp at Leon Springs (San Antonio), was a lieutenant and, later, captain in the glorious 90th Division, fighting in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives, then serving in the army of occupation in Germany. He retained his interest in national preparedness, was a reserve officer, taking part in maneuvers each year and, in World War II, was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Back in 1919, just out of the army, Leeman returned to his home town of Mineral Wells. A friend, rich from oil, bought a drug store and gave the veteran a half interest to run it. After a year, they sold out, and Leeman became manager of the Chamber of Commerce there. He gained national recognition by enrolling 600 members and raising $35,000 for an advertising campaign. He burst into verse about the marvelous mineral water—in fact, Leeman writes the rhymes on his Christmas cards and composed a ballad, "The Checkered Flag," about a Speedway racer.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was going to hold its convention in Mineral Wells so Leeman got busy and an auditorium, seating 5,000, was built. A few days before the convention, the city's biggest hotel burned down but all the 50,000 visitors had a place to sleep.

So impressed was the WTCC that the go-getter was made assistant manager, in charge of the San Antonio office. He conceived the idea of a South Texas organization, helped create it and has been at the helm ever since.

Accomplishments of the STCC are too numerous and well known for mention here—but the record is understandable when one considers the picturesque, achievement-studded background of its sparkplug, Col. Ray Leeman.

Egg Shipments Show Big Decline

Austin—Turkey shipments scored a 1 car load gain during September, but shipments of all other types of poultry and eggs from Texas stations were on the downswing, The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Egg shipments suffered a 54 per cent monthly setback to fall 59 per cent below year-ago loadings and register the greatest monthly decline.

Compared with September 1946 shipments, turkey loadings are up 20 per cent, and shipments of poultry and eggs are failing to come up to September 1946 marks.

Interstate receipts of eggs by rail at Texas stations, also on the downgrade, slid to a total of 45 carloads in September compared to 58 in August and 93 in September last year.

Each veteran in training under the GI Bill will receive a notice from the Veterans Administration with future subsistence checks advising him not to cash the check if he believes he is not entitled to the full amount of the payment.

The notices are designed to help eliminate subsistence allowance overpayments and the necessity for refunds by veterans, VA said.

The notice informs the veteran that, according to VA records, he is still in training. It urges the veterans to contact his nearest VA office before cashing the check if he has stopped training or has reason to believe the check represents an overpayment of his account.

If the veteran is entitled to a part of the money, VA said it will make every effort to adjust his records and issue another check without delay.

FIGHTING COTTON FIRES

On display in 10,000 cotton gins, compresses and warehouses across the nation, this poster is an important tool of the 1947-48 fire prevention campaign now being conducted throughout the cotton industry under the sponsorship of the National Cotton Council and other cooperating groups. Carl Price Williams, prominent Jackson, Tenn., ginners, is shown as he puts it to work in his gin, a constant reminder to guard against the threat of fire.

Paris Trip For '48 Maid; Tour To Set A Record

Memphis, Tenn.—The 1948 Maid of Cotton will fly to Paris during her six-months goodwill tour as the cotton industry's ambassador, the National Cotton Council announced.

Inclusion of the overseas trip on the Maid's itinerary insures that the 1948 Odyssey will break all previous records for travel exceeding even the 30,000 mile tour of the 1947 Maid.

In addition to following the coast-to-coast and overseas route of the 1947 Maid of Cotton, the 1948 Maid will resume the annual visits her pre-war predecessors made to the American Northwest.

Entries in the 1948 competition are pouring into Council offices in Memphis, submitted by Cotton Belt girls eager to win the once-in-a-lifetime honor and opportunity of selection as Maid of Cotton.

The contest is open to girls who are natives of a cotton-producing state, between the ages of 19 and 25, inclusive, and unmarried. Nearly a decade of competition has seen the title of Maid of Cotton won by contenders from city and farm, coeds and stenographers.

Applications forms for entering the contest may be secured by writing Post Office Box 18, Memphis 1, Tenn.

Cattle Grubs Costs Millions In Texas Annually

College Station—A little time and trouble now, plus some rotenone, can put Texas cattle—and dairymen on the road to saving $5 million.

How? By spraying for cattle grubs.

Statistics show that forty-two percent of all Texas cattle are grubby. Grubby cattle are discounted on the market at about one cent a pound. The total loss to Texans in the cattle and dairy business in terms of milk, meat and leather each year comes close to five million dollars.

Most farms and ranches cause their own trouble with grubs, Extension entomologists for Texas A. and M. College point out. Heel flies are the parents of grubs, and the flies seldom migrate over half-a-mile. So treatment for grubs in the fall and winter will control the heel fly on the farm and ranch in the spring.

Spray the backs of the animals with a mixture of 7 and one-half pounds of 5 percent rotenone in 100 gallons of water at about 30-day intervals in the fall and winter the entomologists say. Rotenone dust can be used on small herds.

Control now will help to save feed next year, too, as it takes from 10 to 15 percent more feed to fatten a grubby steer than one free of grubs.

Wages and Baskets

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

A REAL BASKET of food, according to the American Federation of Labor, is a good unit to use in measuring income. That is, how many baskets of food will your wages buy? The Federation's "Monthly Survey" for July has put together some interesting figures comparing wages in America in 1940 with wages in Europe in 1940. These figures are in terms of baskets containing items for adequate nourishment. An American family of five would need about four of these baskets a day.

One hour's work by a factory worker in the United States in 1940, according to the A.F. of L., would buy 2.83 baskets. In Britain an hour of work would buy 1.26 baskets. In France, 1.11; in Germany, 1.02; in Italy, .85; and in Russia, only .40. This means that the American worker could buy with his wages seven times as much food as a Russian could with his in 1940.

Measure of THESE FIGURES Freedom are in keeping with personal observations in Europe in 1936 and again in 1946. The amount of food a worker could buy with his wages was in direct proportion to the amount of freedom that a worker enjoyed in his own country. Russia had the least individual freedom and the lowest wages. America had the most freedom and the highest wages.

More than 20 years of Communism in Russia, under a totalitarian state which owns and operates the tools of production, has failed to change the ratio in comparison with America. The "Monthly Survey" is right when it comments that history has proved that "free enterprise under a democratic form of government provides the highest living standards for workers." Workers are becoming aware that their best opportunities lie in preserving individual opportunity—freedom to own property and to create and operate an industry or a business.

Threats I FEAR, however, that Today the American public does not understand some of the threats being made upon this very essential factor in the American way of life. I am interested in seeing industry pay the highest possible wages. America must continue to provide the best for the most. But I see dangers threatening the very things that enable Americans to buy more baskets of food than the workers of any land.

1. High taxes are cutting off investment of new venture capital. This will prevent expansion and growth. New tools and new industries will not be available to provide jobs.

2. An extravagant federal budget continues to spend and to create inflation. This restrains men from venturing and investing.

3. Industrial relations are unsteady. This instability again makes capital afraid to venture.

Taxes must be lowered enough that the ordinary man can keep a larger percentage of his earnings, and so that men will be inspired to invest and venture out into business enterprise. We need to overhaul the federal budget, to get rid of wasteful and inflationary government spending. We need firm but friendly industrial relations. If these things were achieved, they would do much to preserve the essential ingredient of our system of high wages and high standards of living in this land of the free.

questions that are hard to answer are "What will take the place of meat? Will the family like it?"

Louise Mason, food preparation specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, says that meatless Tuesdays may develop into more of a problem in the home than poultryless Thursdays, because most families plan two and sometimes three meals a day around meat. Take the meat away and the gap that is left in the menu is mighty hard to fill.

Wholesome menus for meatless days are not impossible, however, and to prove her point, Miss Mason has several suggestions. Irish potato pancakes can be substituted at the breakfast table for the usual main dish—they are delicious with either honey or syrup, and take the place of toast, flour pancakes, or bacon—or ham-and-eggs. For a noon-day meal, there's macaroni ring with creamed salmon. The 8-oz. can of salmon will serve six, which is an important thing to remember in these days of high prices. For supper few people can resist the sight of a fluffy, piping hot cheese omelet.

The addition of fruit, fresh and cooked vegetables to each of these main dishes will provide appetizing as well as nutritious meals.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Discovery Of America Was More Important To Europe Than Us

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek this week discusses a topic he's an expert on—holidays.

Dear editor,

I been meanin to write you about this for several weeks but just ain't got around to it what with one thing and another and anyway tomorrow is as good as today as far as I'm concerned, but one Monday in October I went in to town to cash one of my wife's egg checks which she carelessly left on the kitchen table and I will pay her back just as soon as I get around to it although the community property law ought to work both ways and half of what she makes ought to be mine, don't make no difference if she ain't got no legal mind and can't see it that way, and went to the bank and pushed on the door but it wouldn't give and since the bank didn't have no way of knowin I was comin to town that mornin I knowed it couldn't have closed on my account just to keep me from askin for another loan and besides I ain't dumb, I finally catch on and have been convinced for years that me and the bank can't do no business with each other on account of lack of cooperation from the bank, and I went into a cafe and found out the bank was closed on account of Columbus Day.

Now I ain't got no objection to a holiday, can't get too many for me, the bank can close ever time the wind changes and it wouldn't effect me none, but what I started out to say is that if Columbus' discovery of America is cause for a holiday in the United States, it ought to produce a triple-decker holiday in Europe and I personally would appreciate them Europeans givin a little more attention to it.

In fact, I wish you would read up on history and find out how Europe got along before America was discovered. Where'd they borrow their money from? Who'd they use for reserves to throw in when they was about to lose a war? Who came to their rescue after they won and didn't have nothin left to live on? Who rescued civilization ever twenty years in them days?

Although it wasn't no great day for the Indians, I suppose discoverin America was a pretty good thing for you and me, but what it was to us ain't nothin compared to what it was for Europe and I wish you would find out just how the day is celebrated over there. Do the banks all close up that day and the governments refuse to ask for a loan from the United States on that hallowed occasion? If they ain't celebratin properly, I for one am goin to complain.

I ain't no European, but if I was I believe I'd put Columbus a good many notches above Napoleon and Bismark and Nelson and Julius Caesar. From Europe's standpoint, Columbus discovered a gold mine, to heck with the East Indies or wherever he thought he was goin.

Yours Faithfully,
J. A.

AGRICULTURAL SHORTS

In one year, a female moth and her descendants can destroy as much wool as 13 sheep can produce in the same period.

Farmers spent about $800 million for new farm machinery in 1946, not counting tractors.

An hour of work on the farm now, as compared with 1920, results in about a third more milk, a half more corn, and more than twice as much wheat.

A study in Texas shows that costs of producing cotton in the state range all the way from 19.4 cents to less than 4 cents per pound.

"Make maximum use of pasture" is a good general rule to follow in feeding stock, whether

"frost-proof" vegetables simply means that the seed has been planted in open field plant-beds and as the weather becomes colder, the plants become "frost-proof" or toughened to cold weather.

Just Crumbs

Nadine Butler
 All English students have been bracing themselves for a collision ever since Mrs. Partridge announced that we would be required to write three major essays for this six weeks. The first assignment came this week in the form of an eight paragraph essay entitled "What America Means To Me."

Most of the students turned their essays in with a complacent feeling of pride, but our countenance began to take a different appearance as Mrs. Partridge began to grade them. It seems as if we all tried to cover a too large a scope.

Tommy Jo Richardson received a compliment from Mrs. Partridge because of the simple, yet forceful way he worded his essay. One of his statements was "America means to me the privilege of using all the hot water I want when I wash my face." A simple statement, yet it is the small and simple things that constitute our democracy.

Even if our first effort on writing this essay was unsuccessful, many Sunset pupils emerged from their first attempt with a brighter outlook on the American government. But we should watch ourselves and not take a too optimistic attitude toward national affairs. Communism seems to spring up when ever vigilant eyes are closed.

Sport News

The Sunset Eagles downed the Matson Mustangs Thursday night by a score of 40-16. The Eagles displayed some good playing with Gerald Freeman making three touchdowns, and Randall Walling the other. Randall converted three times out of four. The Eagles meet Sagerton at Sagerton next Thursday night.

Senior News

This is the first of the series of character sketches of Sunset Seniors. Our first selective is Mozell Booe.

Demure, modest, and petite Mozell has downy hair, light, dreamy blue eyes that are sheltered and accented by fluttering eye lashes, and a complexion with rose petal overtones. She is very particular about her personal appearance. She always looks as if she has just stepped out from between the covers of a Madamozell fashion magazine! She is of medium height. She is quite a conversationalist among a group of girls or boys, but in the presence of school teachers she is very taciturn.

Junior News

This week started off about the same as usual. Mr. Mc Leroy gave us an I. Q. test the first thing Monday morning. We were all doing a pretty good job of fooling the teachers about what we knew up till then, but they know us quite better now.

In English we are studying pronouns. Mrs. Partridge is doing her best to hammer something into our, not too intelligent heads, but it seems as though she just doesn't hammer hard enough.

Everyone seems to have settled down pretty good after Halloween. I can't give the names and exactly what they all did, Friday night. I don't know but they probably went to bed with the chickens and slept soundly all night. Well, maybe I am exaggerating a little but I know that if they did get into meanness, they wouldn't do any more than to put Mr. Mc Leroy's cow upon the school house, or put Mr. Bledsoe's jeep out of gear and roll it of someplace. Now would you kids? If that is all we did we were very good children.

Winners Named In County Calf Tour Saturday

Max Bradley of Brock and the Crenshaw Brothers of Benjamin tied for the first place in the contest conducted on the Annual Knox County Calf Tour on November 1. Each score totaled ninety out of a possible 100. Max Bradley scored 205 out of a possible 225 on the calf itself and the Crenshaw Brothers 193. The Crenshaw Brothers scored 255 out of a possible 275 on feed lot equipment and Max Bradley 246. Close behind these feeders was H. C. Chafin of Knox City with a score of 88. The Pults Brothers of Benjamin took fourth place with a score of 83. Following close and tying for fifth place with scores of 81 each was Tom

Bush Craft of Knox City and Gerald Myers of Sunset. The tour, attended by most of the calf feeders, their mothers and fathers, local breeders, Veteran Ag Instructors and students, and interested citizens, included the following boys projects: J. G. and Donald Pults of Benjamin, George Ray Baty of Gilliland, Fred Lewis and Buddy Crenshaw of Benjamin, Billy Cammack of Sunset, Randall and Dennis Walling of Sunset, Gerald Myers of Sunset, Mele Tackitt of Sunset, Charles Williams of Goree, H. Chafin of Knox City, Tom Bush Craft of Knox City, and Max Bradley. The tour started on the League Ranch at 12:50 p. m. and ended on the Lee Smith Ranch at 5:15 p. m. The group saw a group of Baby Beef calves showing more condition than usual due to an earlier start on feed in most cases. The feeders are looking forward to the final test of their feeding and showmanship at the Knox County

Junior Steer Show which is to be held in Munday in early 1948.

J. H. Gass Dies At Brownfield

J. H. Gass, former resident of Knox and Haskell counties, passed away October 23, 1947 at the Brownfield hospital. Mr. Gass had been in ill health for the past eight months but had been seriously ill for only a week. He was born in Jacksboro, Texas, March 18, 1869 and was married to Julia Ann Price, December 1, 1890, deceased January 24, 1912. To this union eleven children were born, four of which preceded him in death, Mrs. Charlie Sargeant, Mrs. Arthur Proffitt, Mrs. Fankie Jones and Mrs. Orr Warren. He moved to Haskell county in 1906 and resided in both Haskell and Knox counties until 1924 when he moved to Lynn county. He was married to Irene Mattney in 1912 who passed away October 6, 1937. In 1938 he married Leona Settles. Services were held in the Chapel of the Scanley Funeral Home in Tahoka at ten o'clock, October 25. The body was brought to the Goree Cemetery where graveside services were held at three thirty, Saturday afternoon. Pallbearers were his grandsons.

FRUIT FOR LUNCHES
Dried prunes, peaches and raisins will be added to the menus of community school lunchrooms and eligible institutions in Texas when the fruit is received in the latter part of November.

Seven carlots each of prunes and raisins and two and one-half carlots of peaches have been purchased by USDA's Production and Marketing Administration, according to the announcement received from the Dallas office. The peaches will be distributed only to school lunchrooms, because of the small quantity of the fruit, but the prunes and raisins will go to schools and institutions. The Food Distribution Programs Branch of PMA figures that there will be a two months supply, providing one-fourth pound per child per month, and one-half pound per month for persons in institutions.

Uncle Sam Says

What did the Secretary of the State of Wyoming say to the Banking Commissioner when they met in Cheyenne in 1937? "I'd like to find a plan to assure a comfortable retirement for myself and my family," said the Secretary of State. "Why don't you do what I am doing, buy Savings Bonds regularly out of income?" his friend replied. Today they have begun the second 10 years of their retirement plan. The then Secretary of State is now Governor Lester C. Hunt, and the former Bank Commissioner is the present director of Savings Bonds sales. You, too, can emulate their example. If you invest $18.75 each month in a Series E Savings Bond of $25 maturity value over a period of 20 years and hold ALL the bonds to maturity you will receive an average yearly income of $700 for the ten years following.

CARD OF THANKS
Words cannot express our undying gratitude to everyone who were so kind and thoughtful to us during the illness and in the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. J. F. Waldron. Especially do we thank the doctors and nurses for their every attention, those who contributed floral offerings, prepared food, or did anything toward our comfort and to make our burden of sorrow lighter. May God richly bless you all.

WRITING QUEEN

MENOMONIE, WIS.—The art of personal letter writing will never be lost if young people away from home write to their parents once a day says Lydia Prok, above, as she invites everybody to take pen in hand and observe letter writing week. Beginning with this event in October and continuing through the holidays if every person wrote only 10 letters to friends and relatives, more than a billion and a half letters would be mailed. Lydia, visiting the Parker Pen Company ink plant in Menomonie sees the ink start to flow to meet the huge holiday demand, which will run into thousands of gallons.
