

Kracker KrumbS Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

"The constant drip of water Wears away the hardest
stone;
The constant gnaw of Towser Masticates the hardest bone."
.....
We need a street sweeper—
bad!
Along the latter part of 1948, we just felt cocksure that the year, 1949, would see a modern, up-to-the-minute street sweeper operating in Munday.
.....
Some others did, too, including some of the boys who scratch their heads and wonder about the city's finances.
.....
Some of those on our side have begun to sort of weaken. "We sure would like for the town to have a street sweeper," they says. "but, law me!"
.....
So we've taken lots of kidding and ribbing about our street sweeper. And one fellow in particular is reading his Munday Times on credit, we think!
.....
They've given us the hee-haw, or maybe horse laugh, on the few occasions when we've gotten out there at our curb with broom and shovel.
.....
If something new, or different, hits town, we receive some kidding inquiries about whether or not that's our street sweeper, and a bunch of stuff like that there that hasn't weakened us one whit.
.....
And, as we promised several weeks ago, that list of our town's needs for 1949 has been concocted and placed over there on the editorial page.
.....
If you haven't seen it, you don't know; and if you have you do. No. 1 on the list is our street sweeper.
.....
So the water's gonna drip, and Towser's gonna gnaw away until we get that No. 1 need, whether it be in 1949 or 1959.
.....
Some of them other needs, like our paving to Rhineland and our drainage system, are gonna take on shape in 1949 — and maybe some of them will be realized.
.....
But they all won't, to be sure.
Any town that would accomplish as many needs as those six, and of the type of those six, which require much thought, work, planning and financing would be getting places in a heap big hurry.
.....
So we don't expect them all to be accomplished. Munday just ain't likely to get that many places in such a big hurry in a year's time.
.....
But they're needs just the same. They were needs in 1948, or maybe 1938, and they'll continue to be needs as long as "progress" is a word in our language, or until the needs are accomplished.
.....
But we predict that when we post up our needs for 1950, a few of those six will no longer be needs, but will be a part of our progressive little town.
.....
And it's our fervent hope that the street sweeper, and some paving out toward the Brazos, and maybe to the southeast, and some drainage will be among the accomplishments.
.....
A child isn't born today to become a man next week. Neither can a town make all the progress in one year.
.....
Just like the old saying, "Rome wasn't built in a day," but many of us use that saying as a means of putting things off that should be done today.
.....
Munday isn't a child-town any more; neither is she too old to make progress.
.....
We made some rapid strides year, even. We found a way to have a better school; we found a way to get paved streets; we found a way to get a fogging machine; we think we've found a way to drain the town.
.....
So we'll find a way to get a street sweeper and some other things the town needs and will

He acts as the state's bookkeeper, and writes several million state checks every year in paying the debts of the state which amount to over four hundred million dollars per year.

Will A. Baker Passes Away On Saturday

W. A. Baker, pioneer business man, community builder, and one of Munday's first merchants, passed away last Saturday evening at eight o'clock at the Knox county hospital. He had been in failing health for some three years and had been critically ill for several months.
Relatives and friends had watched by his bedside at the hospital for some two months, as a life of service and usefulness to the community slowly ebbed away.
William Alvin Baker was born July 16, 1869, in Walker County, Alabama, the son of Robert Alvin and Virginia Meeks Baker. He was the last survivor of a family which consisted of one brother, two sisters and twelve half-brothers and sisters.
Mr. Baker came to Texas in 1878 with his widowed mother and two sisters, settling in Van Zandt County, beginning a life in Texas that was destined to play an important part in the history of Knox county. He lived in Van Zandt county until 1890, when he moved to Palo Pinto County to operate a general store for his half-brother, John D. Baker. He remained there until 1899, when he came to Anson to become associated with another half-brother, George H. Baker, in the operation of a dry goods business.
Mr. Baker formed a business association with the late John C. Bryant of Stamford and came to Munday in 1902, where they established Baker-Bryant Company, a general mercantile store which he operated for many years. The business, located on the same site, is now operated as Baker-McCarty dry goods.
In 1906, Mr. Baker helped to organize the First National Bank of Munday and served as its first president. He was chairman of the building committee and was instrumental in bringing the Wichita Valley railroad through this area.
A member of the Methodist church for many years, Mr. Baker had a part in building the present church building in Munday, and its cornerstone bears his name. During all the years, he has been a generous benefactor to the church and other community enterprises, a help and an inspiration to his fellowmen. He saw Munday grow from a two-store village to its present state.
Mr. Baker's mind was a storehouse of information pertaining to the history of Knox county and its pioneer citizens.
Mr. Baker met Miss Mattie Mabel Collins in Palo Pinto county, and they were married at Brazos on December 21, 1894. To this union were born five children, all of whom survive. They are: Homer D. Baker of Rosebud, New Mexico; C. P. Baker of Munday, Roy A. Baker of Knox City, Bonner Baker of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Miss Ruth Baker of Munday. His wife, Mrs. Mattie Baker, also survives.
Funeral services were held from the First Methodist church in Munday at two o'clock last Monday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. J. R. Bateman, Rev. Wm. G. Barr, and Rev. Luther Kirk of Perryton, Mr. Baker's former pastor.
Burial was in the Johnson Memorial Cemetery, under the direction of the Mahan Funeral Home.
Pallbearers were J. C. Borden, J. C. Campbell, B. L. Blacklock, R. B. Bryant of Stamford, C. A. Elland of Lamesa, M. H. Lee of Wichita Falls, W. R. Moore and R. L. Ratliff.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

READ THE HEADLINES

Is fire prevention worth the effort? Don't answer that question offhand—give it some thought first.

Here, to aid your thinking, are a few headlines, taken verbatim from papers in various parts of the country. "Three Children Killed in Brooklyn Fire; Found Clasped in One Another's Arms." "Family of Seven Dies in Burning Home." "Fire Kills Farm Mother and Six of 10 Children." "Fire Kills Two Babies as Stove Overturns." "Woman Revives, Finds Four in Family Suffocated."

A list of such gruesome headlines could be extended indefinitely. In the course of an average year, fire kills over 10,000 people in this country. It permanently disfigures many more. It maims others for life. And its toll is especially great among young children, who don't know what to do when fire strikes and there's no one about to help them.

When it comes to economic waste, fire makes appalling records. Direct money loss runs to $700,000,000 a year and more. And the indirect waste, which cannot be exactly figured, is estimated at two to three times that sum. And no one can measure the human problems which arise when fire costs a man his home of his job.

Where will the next headline telling of death and destruction by fire originate? It may be a thousand miles away—it may be in the next town—it may be in your home. Now decide whether fire prevention is worth the effort.

TWO KINDS OF MEDICINE

Dorothy Thompson devoted one of her recent columns to the proposed bill to establish compulsory government health insurance. She observed that she had lived under socialized and regimented medical systems in England, Austria and Germany. She then had this to say about them: "They cost the people far too much. They provide inferior services at a high price. They are incapable of dealing with really serious and complicated cases. They result in two sorts of medicine—good medicine for the well-to-do; and bad for the masses, at high cost to those who can least afford it. And they build up a vested interest of physicians and bureaucrats which the people will never get rid of."

Miss Thompson can hardly be branded as a black reactionary—which is one of the labels the socialists often pin on those who do not agree with the premise that the cure for everything is more and more government and more and more taxes of all kinds. She observes that this country certainly does need better health service, and that people who honestly can't afford to pay for adequate care must be assisted. But, as she says, "Just why this most inventive country seems compelled blindly to copy social measures originating elsewhere is baffling." A segment of the American people, apparently, believe that we can succeed with schemes which have been an utter failure everywhere else. And that attitude, if it is reflected in action, could be disastrous.

The compulsory health insurance plan is simply one of the planks in a platform that would create a total state. Lenin himself ranked socialization of medicine high among communist objectives. And socialized medicine will come as surely as night follows day if we give the bureaucrats control over medical practice.

The old Latin word for money—"Pecunia," from which we get our word "pecuniary"—came from "pecus," meaning cattle.

Plastics will soon be used as a stiffener in felt hats, according to the Lee company, Danbury, Conn.

Veterans' News

Veteran enrollments in colleges and universities under Federal training programs on November 30, 1948, dropped 15 percent below enrollments on November 30, 1947, the Veterans Administration reports.

Similarly, enrollments on October 31, 1948, were 17 percent under the totals for October 31, 1947.

This fall's drop in the number of veterans in institutions of higher learning under the GI Bill and Public Law 16 (for the disabled) marked the reversal of a general upward trend that had continued since both laws went into effect.

The number of veterans in colleges and universities on November 30, 1948, under both laws was 1,050,668, compared with 1,235,761 as of a year ago.

The October 31, 1948, total was 953,247, while the figure for October 31, 1947, was 1,149,933.

Despite the drop in college enrollments, the number of veterans in schools below the college level under the GI Bill and Public Law 16 showed a slight increase this fall over last fall.

On November 30, 1948, there were 701,121 veterans in such schools under the two laws—a two percent increase over the 686,664 total of a year ago.

A surplus textbook project under which the VA saved about $5,000,000 is coming to an end.

The project called for textbooks, declared surplus by the armed forces, to be distributed to veterans studying under the GI Bill and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for the disabled.

During the year and five months the project was in operation—from May 15, 1946 to October 15, 1947—approximately 2,000,000 surplus books were sent to 2,036 educational institutions for possible use by veteran-students.

A. Since your husband holds neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge from the armed services, it will be necessary for him to ask his nearest VA office for a decision as to whether he was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. He also may apply to the

Knox Prairie Philosopher Proves Without The Aid Of The Experts That This Is A Very Satisfactory Country

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson farm on Miller Creek is about half-way serious this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor:

I borrowed a copy of a newspaper out of my neighbor's mail box Monday mornin and am almost ashamed of it due to the fact there wasn't enough news in it to justify makin my neighbor mad if he finds out I took it, although the way I see it he's already mad at me anyway and a few more degrees one way or the other won't make no difference, but since there wasn't anything else much in it to read I went ahead and read the latest poll Dr. Gallup has taken.

I notice now that Dr. Gallup is takin polls on subjects considerably safer than elections, for example, he has recently taken a poll to find out who then ten most popular men in the United States are, and since this ain't subject to votin on, it's a entirely safe subject. I ain't no expert but I got sense enough to know a smart poll taker will stick to unverifiable topics and come down with a bad cold just before time for polls on elections.

At any rate, I notice Dr. Gallup has now discovered that most folks is satisfied with their lot in life, which I could have told him without the expense of payin his poll-takers. They're satisfied, with a few exceptions. That is to say, most people are satisfied with the community they live in, even if they live in Weinert, although some improvements in one or two neighbors could be made; most folks are satisfied with the house they live in, although this doesn't include my wife or very many other wives I know; most people are satisfied with the kind of education their children are gettin, although I ain't no authority on this and doubt if most folks know what kind of education their children are gettin, as so many of the folks I know ain't very educated themselves, don't make no difference if some of em did go through college; most folks is satisfied with the United States, although this of course don't take in Russia's feelin in the matter.

To tell you the truth, although Dr. Gallup is just spinnin his wheels gain to the trouble of tryin to prove it scientifically, this is a pretty satisfactory country.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CANDY "PARACHUTES" FOR AIRLIFT

Under the leadership of Theresa George, shown above with handkerchiefs to be used in parachuting the candy from the planes, fellow employees have already sent three cartons of candy bars along with 62 men's handkerchiefs to Col. Beaudry to help carry on this mission of feeding the hungry children and building good will in the generation that must rebuild and foster the German nation.

The State Of Texas

To: T. P. Brown, and the unknown heirs of T. P. Brown, Miles W. Jenkins, and the unknown heirs of Miles W. Jenkins, and all other persons owning or claiming or asserting any right or title to the land and premises hereafter described: GREETING:

You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock A. Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 19 day of January, 1949. The file number of said suit being No. 4695.

The names of the parties in said suit are: Annie Mae Johnson and Thurman Johnson as Plaintiff, and T. P. Brown, and the unknown heirs of T. P. Brown, Miles W. P. S.—I rode the street car back to town. And it reminded me of old times—I had to wait so long and had to stand up.

Time brings changes and destroys the old landmarks. The Phoenix Athletic Club where I viewed many a rousing fight—gone. I looked in vain for the old county jail where once I'd seen a mob turned back by a single officer. A few weeks ago, back in Memphis on a visit, I decided I'd see just how far that was—so I walked from town out to where we used to live. It took almost 50 minutes.

The little house is still standing; it has been painted a different color and the front porch has been screened in but otherwise it seems the same. Across the street had been a wooded area and some of the old trees under

COMEDY AND SHORTS

This is a diesel... a modern locomotive that means better service to you.
Leaders of two unions think it's a feather-bed... a "make work" grab that means less service to you.

● Leaders of unions representing railroad engineers and firemen seek to force railroads to add extra, needless men on diesel locomotives. This is sheer waste—a "make-work" program which would mean fewer improvements and higher costs—for YOU!

Railroads use modern diesel locomotives because they are one of the means of giving faster, better service to you.

Two men compose the crew of a diesel. They occupy a clean, comfortable cab at the front. The engineer handles the throttle. The fireman sits and watches the track ahead. With no coal to shovel, he has practically nothing else to do.

No Benefit To You

Now the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen want to use the diesel locomotive as a means of forcing a feather-bedding scheme on the railroads. The extra men they propose to add to the diesel crews are not needed. There is no work for them.

The union leaders are fighting among themselves about which union should furnish these extra, needless men. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have even threatened a strike. You may not be interested in this dispute of these two unions, but you would be vitally concerned if these groups succeed in putting through this feather-bedding scheme, because it would mean a slowing up of the improvement program of the railroads—of which the diesel is the outstanding symbol. Diesel crews are among the highest paid railroad employees—real aristocrats of labor! Their pay is high by any standard. Granting of these demands, therefore, would mean that the railroads would be paying out millions in unearned wages to those in the very highest pay brackets.

We'd Like To Spend This Money On You

You know how much the diesel has meant to you in increased speed, comfort and convenience. The railroads have many more of them on order for even greater improvement in service to you. But needless drains of money, such as this present demand of the unions for needless men on diesels, reduce the ability of the railroads to spend money on better service for you.

Proud as the railroads are of the diesel, it is only a small part of their improvement program. Since the War, literally billions of dollars have been spent on improvement of tracks and stations, on new passenger and freight cars, as well as on diesel locomotives, and on the many other less conspicuous details of railroading that contribute to improved service.

Feather-Bedding Means Less Service To You

But brazen feather-bedding schemes like the one now proposed would, if successful, divert large sums of money from our present improvement programs. Even worse, they make improvements like the diesel worthless, by making the cost of their operation prohibitive.

These demands are against YOUR interests—as well as those of the railroads. They are schemes to "make work". Neither you nor the railroads should be forced to pay such a penalty for progress.

That's why the railroads are resisting these "make work" demands to the last ditch—and why they are telling you about them.

Boy Scout Week will mark the 39th anniversary of the incorporation of the movement at the nation's capitol. On Tuesday (Feb. 8) the actual birthday, the entire membership will recommit themselves to the Scout Oath or Promise at 8:15 p. m., in the four time zones.

Observed in every city and town and most villages and hamlets throughout the nation and its territories by 70,000 units, the celebration is the largest birthday observance of young American.

Launch Two-Year Program
Federal officials and national Scout leaders will greet the twelve representative Boy Scouts when they arrive at Washington, D. C., on Tuesday, Feb. 8th. There the Scouts will share in ceremonies opening a new two-year program to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" by giving the organization to be at the more boys in Scouting a richer experience. Scout leaders expect peak of its usefulness to the nation by the end of 1950, near the close of its 40th anniversary year.

While at Washington the Scouts will make a "Report to the Nation of the Scout Citizen at Work in 1948," summing up the service projects and activities of America's 70,000 Scout Units.

After their stay in Washington the Scouts will go to New York to meet United Nations officials and take part in ceremonies at the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor on Saturday morning, Feb. 12, where torches will be lighted to symbolize the start of the two-year crusade.

United Nations Campers
Taking part in the ceremonies at the Statue of Liberty will be the United Nations Boy Scout Troop, comprising sons of U. N. personnel of many lands, and some New York Scouts whose parents are of foreign origin. The entire group will then go to the Greater New York Camp near Alpine, N. J., nine miles north of the George Washington Bridge.

Here on the 950-acre short-term campsite donated by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and Thomas W. Lamont, with funds for buildings contributed by the Charles Hayden Foundation, the Scouts will camp overnight in the shadow of the nation's largest city.

Crusade a Major Activity
Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, has announced that the "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" Crusade will be a major activity of the organization this year and in 1950.

"The proper training of youth takes on added importance in view of today's domestic and world-wide problems," says Mr. Schuck. "It is obvious that the boys of today are going to inherit a world situation which will tax their ability and their character to the utmost."

"There could be no more appropriate celebration of our 40th anniversary in 1950 than to show America a Scout Movement surpassing in expansion and program anything we have previously reached," Mr. Schuck said in a message to the nation's 543 Local Scout Councils on the eve of Boy Scout Week.

Calling the "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" program a "crusade," the Chief Scout Executive said its objectives were three-fold.

The first goal seeks a higher quality in each of its three age level programs: Cub Scouting for boys 9, 10 and 11 years of age, Boy Scouting for those 12 and over, and Senior Scouting for young men 15 and older.

Better programs, said Mr. Schuck, will provide more fun and adventure. Boys will stay

ADVENTURE
That's the Scout!
39th Anniversary
FEBRUARY 6 TO 12
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

In every part of the nation more than 2,200,000 boys and their adult leaders, will observe Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6th to 12th, marking the 39th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. The theme of the celebration is "Adventure—that's Scouting!" This year the movement is emphasizing the fun and fellowship its members get out of the game of Scouting. More high adventure is planned in the out-of-doors. Their adventure in citizenship will find Scouts emphasizing civic service activities, emergency service training and world Scouting relationships. During Boy Scout Week, Scouts, their parents and countless communities will honor the volunteer adult leaders of the nation's 70,000 Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Senior Units. Above is the official poster marking the Scout birthday.

longer in the organization, he said, acquiring more "know how" to face the problems of manhood.

The Boy Scouts of America seeks to make its programs available to all boys who need and want it. The second goal of more membership will be accomplished as the quality of the programs improve, Mr. Schuck says.

The third goal of the crusade is more volunteer leaders with proper training in Scouting techniques so that they can furnish necessary leadership to meet the first two major objectives.

During Boy Scout Week many of the nation's Scout Councils which administer the programs of Scouting in specific areas, will announce their objectives in program enrichment, membership growth and increased trained leadership.

If you don't feel like turning on the oven to bake cookies, try Griddle Cookies cooked over the top burner. Preheat griddle for three minutes with flame full on, then turn down to low simmer for effective cooking period. Beat hot fat is a drop of water which should be dense, rather than steam, on the griddle surface. Put 1 egg, slightly beaten, into 1/2 cup milk. Add 1 cup flour. Sift once 3/4 cups all-purpose flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1/4 tsp. baking soda, 2 tsp. vanilla, 1/4 tsp. salt. Work 1 cup shortening into dry ingredients with pastry blender until mealy. Then pour into this the milk, egg and raisin mixture. Mix. Wrap dough in wax paper, chill in refrigerator 1 hour. Roll out 1/4" thick. Cut with cookie cutter. Brown on slightly greased griddle on one side, then on the other. Makes 36 cookies.

Don't worry about boilovers on your top burners. Just wipe them up with a cloth dampened in warm water. Later, when your gas range has cooled you can do a more thorough cleaning job.

Neither hot water nor gas is wasted when you have an automatic regulator on your gas water heater, because gas is turned on and off automatically only as hot water is needed.

The built-in towel drier and movable racks on some new gas ranges not only save precious space but also hide unsightly dish towels and cloths.

An ordinary vegetable parer is a good tool to use for grating chocolate or cheese and certainly easier to clean than a grater.

Local Men Aid Company Record At Camp Hood

CAMP HOOD—Company A of the 41st Armored Infantry Battalion, which is a unit of the "Hell On Wheels" 2nd Armored Division, won the coveted designation as the division's Honor Company for the month of December, 1948, it was revealed today when final scores for the month were computed. Later, in a ceremony in the company orderly room, Major General James G. Christiansen, Commanding General of the Division at Camp Hood, presented the Honor Plaque to the organization.

Lieutenant Thomas R. McCandless was company commander of Company A during the period covered by the award. The present company commander is Captain William H. Burk, who is arranging a one-day holiday for each member of the company as a reward for winning the plaque. Lt. Col. Edwin A. Nichols is the commanding officer of the 41st Armored Infantry Battalion.

Pfc. Kelton G. Tidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Tidwell, and Pfc. Delbert Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Montgomery, were members of the company and aided in this outstanding record.

The designation of a monthly honor company was initiated in December 1948 by the Commanding General upon the recommendation of the Character Guidance Council of Camp Hood to encourage greater efficiency, honorable conduct and more widespread participation in the Army's off-duty athletic, recreational and education programs.

The factors considered in awarding the plaque to Company A were: the battalion commander's report on the manner of performance of his companies; the food service supervisor's report on the standing of unit messes; the ordinance officer's report on motor vehicle maintenance; the state of health; the number of absentees without leave; delinquency reports; athletic participation and efficiency; and the number of Information and Education off-duty courses, United States Armed Forces Institute courses, extension courses and general educational development tests completed.

During the computation of the scores, it was nip and tuck all the way among several of the outstanding units in the camp. Company A became a serious contender when the report of athletic participation came in showing that during the month it had entered a basketball team, a bowling team and eighteen boxers. The report from the Information and Education Office clinched the contest when it showed that personnel of Company A had completed fifty-two I and E courses and general educational development tests during the month.

Company B, 24th Ordnance Battalion, in second place, and Company B, 41st Armored Infantry Battalion, in third place, were the runners-up in the contest in which forty-five units participated.

FARM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

Loveland Looks At 1949

Despite lower prices and the prospects of a somewhat lower net income, 1949 should be another good year for American farmers "because on the whole the farmer has his house in order," Albert J. Loveland, Under Secretary of Agriculture, stated in a recent address.

The Under Secretary based his assumption on the prospect that "aside from a somewhat greater uncertainty about the second half of the year, no significant reduction is expected in consumer incomes and domestic demand for farm products generally." He added, "So far as farmers are concerned, I see no reason to be any more worried than for business in general."

Among favorable conditions affecting prospects for the coming year, the Under Secretary indicated that in recent years the "average" farmer has reduced his debts, built up his savings, accumulated needed machinery and equipment and improved his livestock and his land.

"Farmers have further reasons to be confident," he added, "because they have a program . . . and a chance to round it out and improve it into the best farm program they've ever had."

Per-Acre Yields Increasing
With an increasing population and a limited acreage of land, about the only hope for enough to eat in the future is to increase the per-acre yield of crops. Conservation of the soil and water resources of the country is helping to do that, says Mr. Partridge, Chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

He points out that since the Agricultural Conservation Program was started in 1936, there has been a continuous increase in the per acre yield of crops and the "program played an important and substantial part in obtaining this increase." The highest point reached was in 1948 when the per acre yield of all major crops was 51 percent more than the yields of these same crops in the 1923-32 period.

Here are the year by year per-acre yield increase as compared with the 1923-32 period.

1937-18 percent	1943-24 percent
1938-14 percent	1944-33 percent
1939-15 percent	1945-30 percent
1940-20 percent	1946-34 percent
1941-22 percent	1947-29 percent
1942-36 percent	1948-51 percent

The chairman explains that favorable weather, improved varieties, new chemicals for the control of insects and diseases, and a number of other factors have played a part in the increase but conservation of the soil made it possible for these to be reflected in higher production.

LET IT SNOW!

All dressed up for cold weather and winter winds, this little lady sings "Let It Snow" with real meaning. She's wearing a washable pink snowsuit that is Zelan-treated to shed snow and rain. The National Cotton Council reports the snowsuit is made of cotton poplin and trimmed with French angora.

Letters From The People

SGT. NORVILLE WRITES OF 1,000 MILE TRIP FROM UTAH TO WASHINGTON

On January 12, I had gotten my orders to report to Ft. Lewis, Wash., for duty. I had my car in Ogden, Utah, and would have to drive it over mountain roads. I had never driven over mountain roads, and I wasn't too pleased; the roads were icy, too. Weather reports were more snow and the roads were open but very dangerous to travel.

About 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, my family and I decided to start. It was 18 degrees below, with about two feet of snow on the ground. The highways were nothing but glazed ice. We traveled north west through Brigham, Utah, the town named after Brigham Young; then to Snowville. It is noted for its big snows. They had cleared drifts 15 feet high from the highway. We went over the Kelton mountain pass, with the elevation of 5,305 feet.

We ran into a pretty bad snow storm coming into Idaho. Then we followed the Snake River, which well gets its name from the twists and turns. We had to go through the Lookout and Lone Pine mountains. I had a pretty bad slide Thursday afternoon. The water that was running down from the side of the mountain had frozen across the road, and the first thing I knew I had slid over the edge of the cliff which was hundreds of feet below.

I managed to get the car straightened up, and I took things a little easier after that.

We got to LaGrande, Oregon, that night. Was 30 degrees below there. We had to cross the Blue mountains. They were the most beautiful mountains I saw. It was so cold that ice formed about an eighth of an inch thick on the inside of the glasses and windshield.

Then we went through Dead Man's Pass. I can sure see where it got its name. Then we headed up the Columbia river. The mountains came together along the river and formed a canyon. The highway is built along the bank of the river and the edge of the mountains. Sometimes you could look hundreds of feet below to the river.

It started snowing about four o'clock, which made it very dangerous on the icy roads—and the river hundreds of feet below.

We got to Vancouver, Wash., just across the Columbia river that night. Then to Ft. Lewis the next day. That is one trip! I am glad it is behind me.

Sgt. James O. Norville, RA18066022, 91st. Eng. U. S. Co. Ft. Lewis, Washington.

Especially do we thank the blood donors who gave their blood to prolong his life. These are: Cecil Fitzgerald, Jim Strickland, Charles Reese, C. J. Howeth, Paul Pruitt, Elmer Cude, Bobby Owens, Litt Lemley and Derald Gray. Our prayer is that God will richly bless you all.

Native Grasses To Be Planted On Knox Eroded Farms

Supervisors of the Wichita Brazos Soil Conservation District have received one 2000 lb. shipment of native grass seed and are expecting another 1000 lbs in the near future. The big harvest of native grass seed in Oklahoma prompted farmers and ranchers in this district to get the seed while they could, even if they had to wait until next year to plant them. Farmers and ranchers pooled their orders so that they could get the seed cheaper.

The seed will be planted on land that has eroded to such an extent that it is no longer profitable to keep it in cultivation, or for overseeding pastures where this type of grass has been grazed out.

Planting time is coming as soon as weather conditions will permit, and farmers and ranchers are urged to leave as much crop residue as possible in which to plant their grass seed.

The Soil Conservation Service will give as much assistance as possible to farmers and ranchers who are cooperating with the District Supervisors in getting the grass seed planted.

D. G. Chamberlain, who is attending N.T.S.T.C. in Denton, came in last Monday for a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Chamberlain.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lain spent the week end in Abilene visiting with relatives. A niece, little Eunice Carolyn Bowden, returned with them to spend a week here.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28,

1949—This week in Congress has been devoted largely to perfecting Committee organization. Numerous Committees have started hearings on bills on which early congressional action is sought. When the control of Congress changes from one party to another, the question of patronage jobs is always a big headache. In the 80th Congress the Republicans had control of all the Congressional patronage; now, all of this patronage goes to the Democrats. By Congressional patronage is meant all of the employees of the Congress on Capitol Hill such as policemen, dook-keepers, elevator boys, pages, employees in the Congressional post offices, the Clerk's offices and the office of the Sergeant at Arms. There are approximately 400 of these jobs on the House side of the Capitol. They have to be divided among 244 Democratic Representatives, including 82 new members. They, like everything else, are handled on the basis of seniority. A new member will get one patronage job, i. e., 1 policeman, 1 elevator boy, etc., whereas most of the older members will get two jobs. Some jobs are much more desirable than others. Therefore, the question of who gets what job is often a problem. Again, a number of the old employees bring pressure to bear to keep their places. Among these employees are numerous boys who are working their way through school in Washington and who may lack only this year finishing.

A lot of pressure is being brought on the Congress at this time for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. I have received more than a hundred letters from union men in our District, asking me to vote for such repeal. The repeal or amendment of this Act is going to be one of the most controversial issues before the Congress. In his recent message to Congress, the President recommended the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, but also stated that "jurisdictional strikes and unjustifiable secondary boycotts should be prohibited. The use of economic force to decide issues arising out of the interpretation of existing contracts should be prevented. Without endangering our democratic freedoms, means should be provided for settling or preventing strikes in vital industries which affect the public interest." The Taft-Hartley bill attempts to do some of these things. In addition, the Taft-Hartley bill guarantees free speech for both employers and employees; it protects the public health and safety of workers; it requires 60 days cooling-off period before strikes are called; it requires financial reports and accounting by labor unions. About all most union spokesmen object to in the Taft-Hartley act is its restriction upon political contributions; its outlawing of the closed shop, and its requirement of non-communist affidavits from union officials.

The requirement of a non-communist affidavit seems to me to be very important. Communists seek to get control of big labor unions in order to have power over industrial production. Union leaders also complain that employers are not required to make such affidavits. I would vote for an amendment to require such affidavits of employers. Members of Congress have to file such affidavits, as do most all government employees.

Much false propaganda has been circulated throughout the country concerning the Taft-Hartley Act. It has been ballyhooed as a "slave labor bill." The act is not a slave labor bill in any sense whatsoever. The act does not provide for compulsory arbitration in disputes over future working conditions; or for compulsory labor courts with final power to decide such disputes; or deny the ultimate right to strike in private employment; it places no ban on the maintenance of membership contracts; it does not prohibit industry-wide bargaining; it does not permit the issuance of labor injunctions on private petition. It places no real penalties on strikes. The Taft-Hartley bill does none of these things to which organized labor most strenuously objects. I was the author of one provision of the Taft-Hartley bill which outlawed strikes by government employees. This, it seems to me, should certainly be retained in the law.

The public interest is involved in controversies between big industries and big labor unions. Neither should be more powerful than government and neither should have the authority to abuse the public.

BUSINESS, BIG AND LITTLE!
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

YOU CANNOT create a make-believe feud out of the mystical question of Big Business vs. Small Business. It won't hold up, this attempt to make "bad business" out of business that's big. We need many of them small, but we also want some of them big. I recall Emerson's fabled quarrel of the mountain and the squirrel, in which the squirrel made the point: "If I cannot carry forecasts on my back, neither can you crack a nut." Both big and little enterprises belong in America's system.

Out of the desire of people for goods and for services, our business exists. Private business, generally, is taken for granted. Yet, many unthinking people consider "Big Business" a certain bogeyman. They fail to see that big business is simply a lot of people doing things together that they could not do separately.

Service is "SOMETIMES," we Essential act as if we expected the government to whittle all big industry down to size. Yet, what would our fate have been after Pearl Harbor, without large and well-equipped industries? In war, we relied upon our bigness. And big industry was well-supported by thousands of small firms. Now, in peacetime, America looks to a well-financed and managed industrial community for continued prosperity and plentiful jobs.

A business keeps growing amid stiff competition if it pleases customers by giving them what they want at fair prices. While doing this it must pay its workers a competitive wage, and also earn a profit on the money which owners of the tools have entrusted to it. If a business does these things, it may expect to grow and be of even greater service to its public. In America, any kind of business must merit public approval or fold up.

Pulling BIG INDUSTRY can Together do some of the big jobs better. Suppose you had to depend upon a one-man workshop for your automobile. Experts say it would cost you $50,000 to have your car built that way. Instead, large companies manage the mass production of thousands of parts (some of which are made by small firms), so that an assembly line rolls out the cars. This requires millions of dollars of capital, and thousands of workers.

However, many needs are best served by small business. The big fellow and the little fellow can be partners in industrial activity. Then each one, big or small, profits from the efforts of the other. Here, we'll find parts used by big firms being made by small ones. There, we'll find the material of a large producer being fabricated by a small mill. Each is a customer of the other.

It is because all of us have worked and tried together, that living standards in America are the highest in the world. Many of our biggest businesses form the base of this pyramid of prosperity, making it possible for many small businesses to grow and develop. When our enterprises, big and little, have prospered, everybody has shared in the rewards. What system could bring us more?

Kracker Krumbs—
need as the weeks and months and years go by.

Sure, we realize it wouldn't be an easy matter to dig a water well a brace-and-bit, or with a post hole digger, for that matter.

But we can get some things done for Monday if we set our minds to it, and then work everlastingly toward it. A street sweeper wouldn't be an impossibility, either.
