

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

The telephone number is 285-J.

No, that isn't our number. We hope to have one at our house sometime. We nearly got one in December.

But it's the telephone number where Alston Morrow takes complaints of those who are getting improper disposal of their cans, trash and garbage.

And if you'll phone that number, he says, and make your complaints, he'll come out and check the situation.

If it's his fault, he will be glad to correct it. If it's your fault through having garbage in inaccessible places, evidence of fire in containers, etc., he will call your attention to it.

In a friendly, cooperative way, he will tell how you can best cooperate and help the disposal plan.

And that's the trouble with lots of the complaints, we're told. Improper containers, fire among the stuff to be handled off, allowing trash to become scattered, not separating cans from burnable stuff, and things like that.

So it has been suggested that we reprint some suggestions made by the sanitation committee last year regarding the disposal of garbage. Here they are:

Put wet garbage in containers with lids. No broken glass or coffee grounds, please.

Help the collector by separating garbage that can be used for feeding hogs; waste table scraps only, no slop or water.

Dry garbage should go in separate containers—handy to container can be readily picked up and dumped.

Tin cans should go in another separate container. Gummy sacks are good for these. Pasteboard boxes are very poor, especially in wet weather like we've been having lately.

Your containers should not be too large, or too heavy, for one man to lift.

They should be easily accessible. If not in the alley, they should be just inside the fence, near a gate.

You shouldn't expect a man to walk around an enclosure, or scale a picket fence as high as his head, to get to your containers.

Have your containers in plain view. Do not have them hidden behind hedges.

Have all your stuff in containers, so it won't have to be gathered up with a rake or fork.

Your collector is employed to haul your waste materials away, not to clean up your premises.

But here's some more the sanitation committee had us print last year:

If trash isn't put out properly, it won't be picked up. Tree limbs must be cut to 4-foot lengths.

And this we put in quotes: "The town will be checked at intervals to see how the citizens are cooperating to keep the town clean."

And we quote from our health officer in the same issue last year: "This way to keep from having polio is to keep the town clean, for it has been definitely shown that this disease is spread by filth. Place a small amount of oil on standing water once a week; get rid of open privies and garbage containers, hog pens and cow lots."

Which isn't a bad "quote", now that our cold spell has blown over, and spring very definitely isn't over three months away!

So if we'll start now to giving more attention to a clean town, then we won't have to give it (Continued on Last Page)

Speculative Oil Leasing Flurry Hits Knox City; Drilling Expected

Oil interest in Knox County has been awakened by a mild land rush centering last week in Knox City.

Independent oil producers and speculators have moved into Knox City, leasing all available land within the townsite at prices reportedly ranging from $25 to $50 an acre.

Rumors as to the cause of the sudden increase in activity are varied, but interested observers have been unable to detect any direct reason for recent developments. According to one diagnosis, the Knox County phenomenon was spurred by a new discovery in Haskell County, approximately 12 miles southwest of Knox City.

Danger Strike
The Haskell discovery is Danciger Oil and Refining Company No. 1 C. L. Bogard, a wildcat strike four and a half miles west of Rochester. Oil sand at 5027-30 feet produced an estimated 15 barrels of oil per hour in a swabbing test. The well has been put on pump for further testing.

Not far from the Danciger discovery, Edward Lawson has staked the No. 1 Clay Kimbrough. A proposed 6000-foot test, it will be drilled 600 feet south and 1000 feet west of the northeast corner of section 299, block 5 H&TC survey.

The entire acre immediately surrounding Knox City is controlled by Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, which has had the block leased for some time. The only available land in the region was that within the Knox City townsite.

Wildcatting Expected.
As one company official put it, the Danciger well is too far away to be directly responsible for the land rush in Knox City. But investors, apparently expecting a continued increase to wildcat operations, suddenly began to bargain for a share in future discoveries.—Wichita Falls Daily Times.

Munday People Give $727.19 To March Of Dimes

The people of Munday and surrounding area have been very liberal in their contributions to the "March of Dimes" campaign to fight infantile paralysis, according to reports of those in charge of the drive.

Gene Harrell and Winston Blacklock, local chairmen of the drive, reported Monday that a total of $727.19 had been contributed locally. The drive was extended a week longer than scheduled, due to the three weeks of bad weather.

Munday's school children contributed a total of $179.91, while the Roxie Theatre turned in $84.48 which was raised among theatre goers. The remainder was by voluntary contributions upon the part of the people.

All those connected with the drive express their sincere thanks to a wonderful people who helped to make the campaign a success.

Mrs. Railsback suffered several lacerations and a fractured ankle, while Mr. Railsback suffered lacerations and internal injuries. He was placed under an oxygen tent in an Olney hospital, where he and Mrs. Railsback are receiving treatment. According to reports received Tuesday, their condition remains serious.

Gilliland Has Good Campaign For March Of Dimes

The March of Dimes Campaign for Gilliland proved successful again this year as was announced the latter part of last week.

Contributions from the church amounted to $11.65 with a total amount contributed by the school was $121.50. $72.15 of this was collected by ball games and cake walks, and the remaining $49.35 was from the dime cards. Cans and donations distributed throughout the town amounted to $25.90. Other donations amounted to $1.85, making the total of $159.05.

Several gave from one to five dollars as personal donations but the chairman of this campaign was unable to determine the exact amount and their names, thus being unable to obtain an accurate list to publish.

"We sincerely appreciate the splendid cooperation of everyone who participated in making this drive a much better success than all previous ones", the chairman said.

It is thought this will be of considerable benefit to the people of this vicinity in the control of early cancer.

BIG HAT FITTING OPERATION

PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS—If this refinery tower had a hatband, it would measure 44 1/2 ft. in circumference, making this one of the biggest hat fitting operations on record. The steel cap weighs approximately 26,000 lbs. and is engineered to withstand use under vacuum. It is shown being hoisted from the ground during the major expansion project just completed at the Gulf Oil refinery here.

Munday Takes 5 Pct. Penalty On Insurance

A good fire record for Munday has been broken for the past two years, as she's taken two five per cent penalties on fire insurance rates because of fire losses.

For approximately 10 years the town has carried a 25 per cent credit. In 1948, she lost five per cent on her fire record, and local insurance firms have been informed that another loss of five per cent will become effective March 1, 1949.

Two rather large fire losses during this time are responsible for the penalties, it was stated. Next year, Munday will carry a 15 per cent credit against the 25 per cent of former years.

This means that Munday people will pay out around $2,400 more on fire insurance premiums next year than they have in the past.

Heart Disease Is No. 1 Killer; Help Fight It

The number one killer among children is heart disease. It is more deadly than the next five causes of death combined. One out of every three persons dies with heart disease.

The Texas State Heart Association, in cooperation with the American Heart Association, is now in a campaign to raise funds for research and study of heart disease.

Your contributions will help to combat this dreaded killer. That's why you see the little red plastic hearts in the stores of Munday. They are for what donations you want to give, a quarter, half dollar, or folding money, in the campaign against heart disease.

Mrs. Don L. Ratliff, local campaign chairman, is anxious that the people of this area do their part in this important drive.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

DO YOU SMOKE IN BED?

Smoking in bed is one of the more prolific causes of fire—particularly fire which results in serious personal injury and loss of life. Those who have the habit would do well to read a list of "Instructions to Guests Preparing to Smoke in Bed" which has been posted in the rooms of a New York hotel. It says:

1. Call the office and notify the management where you wish your remains sent . . .
2. Notify guests in adjoining rooms of your intention of endangering their lives, so that they may take necessary precautions to protect themselves.
3. Go to the corridor and locate the nearest fire escape, so that if you are fortunate enough to escape your room, you may reach safety.
4. Now sit down and think how foolish it is for you to take this risk—you may enjoy your smoke while thinking it over.

"Business may be good, but we do not have guests to burn, so please—Help Us to Protect you."

Those words cover a lethally serious problem. And what is true of hotels is equally true of the home. Remember these rules next time you feel like smoking in bed.

Before the establishment of standard time on November 18, 1883, American railroads were using about 100 different standards of time.

HOW TO REGIMENT THE COUNTRY

The debate over price control, which dominated the news not so long ago, has slackened. The most apparent reason for this is that, in most lines, prices have leveled off, and in some lines there has been a distinct downward swing. That is reflected in the various cost-of-living indices.

This does not mean that the issue has gone permanently out of the limelight. Strong inflationary factors—notably the enormous spending of the Federal government—are still with us. It is possible that the upward trend in prices will again be resumed. Should that happen, political pressure for price controls of some kind will be turned on full blast. The public should keep in mind the issue involved, and what a dictated economy could mean.

The basic fallacy of price control is that people cannot be forced to produce goods and sell them at a price which allows no profit, or may entail a loss. Take meat for an example—it was the center of the price controversy some months ago. If farmers and ranchers saw that the government was determined to fix the price at an unprofitable level, they would gradually stop producing it. The result would be scarcity and then an actual shortage. More and more of the available supply would go into channels which scoffed at the law.

Price control, by its very nature, would necessitate complete control of the entire economy system if it were to even partially succeed. It would be unworkable, for example, without iron-handed wage control. Thus, in time, it would create a regimented economy—which is the basic step toward the totalitarian state.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—As a safeguard against the serious and disabling disease as undulant fever or Malta Fever, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises Texans to drink milk only from approved sources. Undulant fever is usually acquired by human beings as a result of consuming raw milk or raw milk products from cows infected with Bang's disease.

Raw milk or milk products can be consumed with safety only when they are known to be produced by cows tested and found to be free of Bang's disease. Pasteurization, of course, will kill the germs if present.

To assist in lowering the incidence of undulant fever all dairymen should remove cattle infected with Bang's disease from their herds as soon as the disease is discovered. Even if the milk is made safe for human consumption by pasteurization, infected cows are still a menace to health since they can transmit the disease to healthy animals and to their owner and other persons who handle them. "Undulant fever from cattle", Dr. Cox said, "is one health hazard we can eradicate in our State through absolutely safe milk supplies from dairy herds free from Bang's disease. "Unless a herd is known to be free from this infection, only pasteurized milk should be used so that the disease cannot be passed on to the consumer of milk and dairy products."

MEDICAL PRICES WILL INCREASE

Shortages always raise prices. The Texas Medical Association, by restricting enrollment in Texas medical schools to barely enough to replace deaths and retirement has cut down our supply of doctors, especially in our rural areas, thereby causing a shortage and higher fees for services, while 3,000 pre-med students find the gates barred against them.

This same medical association now plans to get control of the supply of all competitive healing professions, so they can cut off replacements in these healing professions and make the shortage even more acute and thus raise the prices higher than today.

The Basic Science Bill (S.B.63) is designed to give the Medical Association complete control of all branches of the healing arts and it is being pushed by unlimited funds and a high priced lobby. If we, the people, do not write, phone or visit our senators and representatives, we will have this infamous legislation forced upon us.

This is a call for action. If you want to know the names of your legislators, phone this newspaper. Address letters to them at Capitol Station, Austin. Stop that Basic Science bill. Write, wire or phone today.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Amazed That Washington Bureaucrat Wants To Put Stop To Campaign Promising

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is off on topic of promises this week, a subject he's an authority on. Dear editor:

I was out here Monday seen how much damage the recent cold spell did, wonderin if it had got cold enough to freeze all the insects and the weeds and grass, which ain't never occurred before but there ain't no law against hopin, as there ought to be some way of makin a crop without plowin all spring and summer, as I been told that's hard work, having never gotten around to it myself, when I picked up a copy of the Star-Telegram which was still waterlogged but that ain't unusual for that paper and dried it out and read where a government expert in Washington who got appointed instead of elected to his job was advisin congressmen and state legislators to go easy on promising too many things to the voters.

"There is a danger for example," he said, "that legislators will promise their districts more roads than could be built during the next decade, even if the government had the money."

Ain't this another manifestation of un-American croppin up in Washington?

Since when hasn't a politician got the right to promise? How many would we have left if you retired all those who didn't?

While I never have understood why a man would want to leave his home and go to Austin or to Washington, I have always understood, in fact, supposed everybody in America understood, that regardless of why he wanted to go there, the only way he could get there was by promise. And if you're gonna promise just as much as you can actually accomplish, you ain't gonna get a chance to accomplish that as the folks that's already in it doin that much. What us voters want is promise in that doesn't stop at the edge of the possible. Any candidate who can't promise no more than what the state can afford might as well save the cost of his candidate cards and get his plow in shape.

And promisn more roads is one of the most cherished promises a free American can offer, and any Washington bureaucrat who throws cold water on it ought to go back where he came from. If all the roads was built that was promised last summer alone, there wouldn't be much land left to cultivate, which ain't no bad idea. Why the road in front of my house has been paved, orally speakin, so many times in the past twenty years it would've been eight layers thick by now, if half the promisn had been realized.

This country is based on promises. Just keep sendin me your paper and I promise I'll pay you when I get around to it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Agriculture In Texas Changed In 25 Years

Twenty-five years have made a big change in Texas agriculture.

A quarter of a century ago, Texas farmers received a large share of their income from cotton—around 70 percent, according to the figures. Today, livestock is taking the place of cotton as the basis of income. It isn't quite up to the 70 percent mark, however. At the present time, the income of Texas farmers from livestock and livestock products runs about 40 percent of the total income.

In 1924, the total sales from livestock and livestock products were only 20 percent of the total income, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A&M College. By 1944, returns from these sources had risen to almost one-half the total income—up to 46 percent. The same year, receipts from cotton and cottonseed had dropped to only 25 percent of the total farm income. It ran about the same as this again last year, says Bates. Sales from these products made up one-fourth of all farm income.

Sales from other Texas crops—wheat, rice, sorghum, citrus, flax and peanuts—made up around 33 to 35 percent of Texas' farm income. And back in 1924, these miscellaneous sources provided only 10 percent of the income. By 1944, they had climbed to 28 percent.

This growth in sales from fruits and crops other than cotton brings out the increasing commercial importance of these parts of Texas agriculture. The big need for food and feed dur-

IT'S YOUR BUSINESS
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

WHO OWNS America's industry? It's easy to say who owns the hot-dog stand down the street or the candy store on the corner. But, you say, "big" business is different. You're right, it is different. The chief difference is that most large firms are "corporations" which are owned by many people rather than just one or two persons. Maybe the hot-dog man and the candy store owner—maybe even you—own these big businesses. That's very likely, for the people of America do own them.

Sometimes you'll find a fellow who is afraid of that word corporation. Mostly, that is because he does not understand what it means. The modern corporation is built around this idea: many people working together can sometimes do things in a better way than just one or two can do them alone.

Money for YOU SEE, it takes industry a lot of money for an automobile factory or an oil refinery. But we have to have them, even if they do cost millions of dollars to build. Then who'll build them? There is hardly anybody who would want to lay down ten or twenty million dollars for a new industrial venture. Few have that much money, and fewer still would want to risk that much at a time.

But there are many of us who would like to invest a little, hoping for a small return on our money. This may be done through the corporation. It obtains a charter from the state, which permits it to seek capital by inviting people to take shares of stock. Money thus put up by "stockholders" is used to build factories, to gather in machinery and materials, and to handle payrolls until earnings come in. If managed well, the company may pay dividends to those who put up their money.

Investments THERE ARE perhaps 500,000 corporations in America. Some of them are small. Others are equipped and financed by thousands of people for the purpose of doing big jobs well. Anyone who buys stocks or bonds is a direct investor. There are perhaps 20 million such persons, and they hardly could be called "battered capitalists." About half of all corporation dividends go to persons with annual incomes under $10,000. But whether they be called rich or poor, those who invest money in corporations are very important to all of us. Their investments help make jobs and create payrolls.

In America, not two or three families nor a favorite political clique nor even the government, but the people own the tools of production. Anyone of us may invest in corporations. Besides direct investors, anyone who pays for life insurance or has bank savings should be interested in the welfare of corporations. That is true because insurance companies and banks invest in various industrial enterprises the money they receive from you. In this additional way, ownership of corporations is spread throughout the land.

This is the miracle of America's free enterprise. Management, labor, investors—all work together to make business and industry hum with production. Everyone benefits.

with new machinery and to actually see it perform, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, in his annual report.

Five area tractor maintenance clinics were held in the state last spring. County agents and local 4-H Club leaders from 73 counties were given training at these two-day clinics. Those trained in the area clinics returned home and they were responsible for holding 105 county tractor maintenance schools. The attendance of these schools was 4,183. Savings can be made in the amount of gasoline used and the life of the tractor increased, if the principles taught at these schools are followed. These two items can materially increase the farm income, especially in areas where the investments in power machinery is large.

Farmers continue to build needed equipment. In 1948, 24,388 blue-prints were sent to 218 counties and 19,346 pieces of equipment were built from these plans. Welding schools were held in 26 counties and 1,426 farmers were taught the techniques of welding. Machinery repairs by welding was stressed in the schools, concludes Ulich.

J. E. Reeves and Clay Hutchinson spent last Friday in Okla-homa City, where they attended the preview showing of the new 1949 Dodge cars.

Farmers Taking Better Care Of Machinery

In this period of mechanization, farmers are showing more and more interest in the selection and care of farm machinery. Texas A&M College agricultural engineers find special machinery for highly specialized farm and ranch jobs require large investments and depreciation of this machinery eats deeply into the operators profit margin if it is not properly cared for.

During the year, Texas county agents held numerous farm machinery field days. As a result, farmers were given an opportunity to become acquainted ing the war and the years following was one main cause for this upward trend in these crops, says Bates.

Examples of the industry building up in the areas of production are the vast processing plant at Corpus Christi for handling grain sorghum and cereals, and the expanding milling and feeding manufacturing plants in north and northwest Texas.

Also, markets for an increasing volume of milk have developed from the rapid expansion of the industrial activity in the state. Population growth within Texas and the Southwest calls for an increased output of meats, poultry and dairy products. Prospects are that this growth will balance the economic pattern with more livestock on Texas farms.

Industrial markets, too, have aided in the shift from cotton farming to dairy and livestock farming, says Bates, especially in the South and East Texas areas.

This big turn in agriculture wasn't a case of wanting to, he concluded, but of having to.

Billie Lou Spelce And Clyde O. Pierce Married In Wichita Falls

In a candle light ceremony on Saturday evening, February 12, Miss Billie Lou Spelce of Wichita Falls and formerly of Munday became the bride of Mr. Clyde O. Pierce, Jr. of Dallas. The ceremony took place in the First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls.

As guests assembled, Mr. Herbert P. Goldsmith, organist, provided musical numbers of the brides choice and also accompanied Mr. Edgar L. Savage, Jr. in singing "Until" by Sanderson and "Because" by D'Hardelot. Mr. Goldsmith remained at the organ to play the traditional processional and recessional wedding march.

The bride and groom exchanged vows before an altar of woodwardia fern and garland of huckleberry which formed a background to the elaborate basket arrangements of white gladiolus and carnations. The chancel rail was marked with large bows of white satin and maline ribbons, and clusters of lemon leaves. To complete the setting, lighted tapers in branched candelabras, stood on the altar platform. Large white candles and white satin and maline ribbons also marked the pews used in seating the families of the bride and groom.

Dr. James H. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls read the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, W. A. Spelce of Munday, the bride was lovely in a white slipper satin gown, worn by her sister, Mrs. Edgar L. Savage, Jr. at her wedding. The sleeves were long fitted and tapered to points at the wrist with fitted bodice and the neckline was finished with a yolk of imported lace. The shoulder draped flange was of the same lace. The gown featured a full skirt, double bustle and a chapel length train. Her veil was of French illusion caught at the top by tiers and crescent coronet. The cut-out design of the veil was trimmed in matching lace of the gown. The bride carried a single white orchid surrounded by white stack with a shower of white satin ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Edgar L. Savage, Jr. of Fort Worth, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a coral rose mairé taffeta gown with a double cuff draped shoulders, a fitted bodice that came to a point at the waistline and an extreme full skirt. She wore matching taffeta elbow mits. Her colonial bouquet was of peccody gladiolus with colorful rainbow ribbon streamers. Miss Eleanor Lea Pierce of Dallas, sister of the groom, and Miss Hazel Haley of Wichita Falls, were bridesmaids. They wore a nie green mairé taffeta dress and was designed the same as the one worn by the matron of honor. They also carried matching colonial bouquets of gladiolus.

Flower girls were little Misses Stacia Ann Williams of Munday and Linda June Moore of Goree. They wore white dotted swiss gowns with a high waistline, low neckline, double ruffle cuff.

draped shoulders and full skirts. They carried tiny turn colonial bouquets tied together by a white satin ribbon and long streamers.

Best man was Mr. Edgar L. Savage, Jr. of Fort Worth brother-in-law of the bride. Ushers and groomsmen were Mr. William Earl Pierce of Dallas brother of the groom, and Mr. Billy Perkins of Dallas.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Marchman Hotel Green Room in Wichita Falls. The couple was assisted in the receiving line by the host and hostess, the grooms mother and the brides attendants. The brides table stood before a large mirror and was decorated with white gladiolus arranged in wall pockets. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a cluster of wedding bells and large roses completed the cake decorations. Miss Chan Hughes of Munday served the cake while Miss Jerry Poister of Munday and Mrs. Wade Lewis of Seymour ladled punch from the crystal punch bowl.

Miss Merie Dingus of Munday secured the signatures of the guests for the brides book.

For her traveling frock, the bride chose a two-piece navy blue wool gaberdine suit with gray matching cape of gray. Her corsege was white long sleeves and featured a pointed lace yolk. She wore a navy straw hat, navy calf accessories and white crocheted gloves. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Following a short wedding trip, the newly weds will make their home in Dallas.

Guests for the wedding were present from Munday, Dallas, Lubbock, Plainview, Seymour, McKinney, Wichita Falls and Frederick and Waurieka, Oklahoma.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Spelce of Munday, formerly of Wichita Falls. She graduated with the class of 1944 from the Munday high school and attended T.S.C. W. in Denton and Hardin College in Wichita Falls. She was a charter member of the Hardin Indian Band, member of the Acappella Choir, and other activities of Hardin College. For the past two years, she was employed as stenographer and bookkeeper for the Ideal Loan Service Company in Wichita Falls.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde O. Pierce, Sr. of Dallas and graduated from the McKinney high school in 1942. He attended Draughans Business College in Dallas and a Radio Technician School in Dallas. He was employed with the Southern Pacific Railroad in Houston and San Antonio and while in service, was stationed in Canada as a Radio Technician with the Air Force during World War II. After being in service for two years, he received his discharge in 1946. At the present time, he is with the Texas Highway Department as Drivers License Examiner in Dallas.

Rev. Barr Says Thanks For Help In Polio Drive

While some of the towns and communities in our county have not reported on the 1949 March of Dimes, and we plead with the local chairmen to get their report and money in as soon as possible, we now know this has been the most successful drive ever conducted in this area for this cause. This was not unexpected to me, for I have lived in the county long enough to see something of the great spirit of Knox county citizens in their desire to help suffering or needy humanity.

More funds were raised this year than in previous years because there was and is a greater need for funds to help combat the increased number of cases of polio. As usual, after expenses for putting on the campaign are paid, half of the funds will be remitted to the national foundation and the other half will be deposited to the credit of the county chairmen.

I want to thank every individual man or woman, boy or girl who gave to the fund. I am especially grateful to the local chairmen over the county who so ably helped me do this great job. Without them it could not have been done.

To Gene Harrell, local chairman; Winston Blacklock, publicity manager, and Mrs. R. M. Almanrode, who sponsored the drive among the women's clubs, go the credit for putting on the drive in Munday, which resulted in the raising of $747.79 against $615.12 last year.

—Wm. G. Barr, county chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hollar and little son, Terry, of Fort Worth spent the week end in the home of Mrs. Hollar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pryor.

Miss Barbara Jane Almanrode of McMurry College, Abilene, spent last week end here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Almanrode.

Miss Frances Smith, who is attending Howard Payne College in Brownwood, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Smith, during the past week end.

James Dyke left last Sunday for Berkeley, Calif. where he will do graduate work on his doctors degree at the University of California.

Miss Carolyn Hannah of Abilene visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hannah, last week end. Miss Hannah is a student at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

through its principal outlets in Southern states, the National Cotton Council announced today.

Cotton insulation has been handled for years in northern branches of Sears. Since the war, Sears officials said, the South has become increasingly insulation conscious. Flameproof cotton's heat and cold resistant qualities, plus its lighter weight and ease of installation, make it one of the most efficient and economical insulating materials on the market, company officials added.

Distributing plants of the firm which will carry the product and list it in spring catalogs are located in Memphis, Atlanta, Dallas and Greensboro, N. C.

Economists of the USDA figure that folks now eat only 118 pounds of potatoes per person per year compared with 195 lbs. per person 35 or 40 years ago.

Record food crops during 1948 have increased food supplies and improved the world food outlook. No slackening of consumer demand for food is in sight, unless the number on the pay check drops sharply this year.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11, 1949—Yesterday the Army released a story of a fabulous Russian spy ring which operated successfully in Tokyo during the war. In its report, the Army says "The unhappy thought that a Soviet spy who worked against the Japanese might later work against the United States had not occurred to many Americans."

"They can be expected to be secretly busy with their trade at this very moment in the capitals of the world."

The Army is right in this statement and its warning. Such fears partly prompted my speech in the last Congress, entitled "A

New Fifth Column or the Refugee Racket." Even now, certain groups in this country, aided and abetted by misguided humanitarians, are starting a tremendous drive to "liberalize" our DP Act. They condemn our present law as inadequate. They want to bring into America 400,000 persons from DP camps in Europe. The present law provides that no one can qualify as a DP or be admitted under the law who was not in our DP camps prior to December 22, 1945. The propagandists are screaming their heads off about this cutoff date. They say it is discriminatory. There were 100,000 Russian Jews who came into our camps from behind the iron curtain during 1946 and 1947, 18 months and 2 years after the shooting stopped. While some of these are good people, many of them are unquestionably communists who were planted in these camps for the specific purpose of infiltrating America. At a time when we should place emphasis on quality rather than quantity of citizens, it seems foolish to open our doors to many of the least deserving and least desirable persons from abroad. The head of the Canadian spy ring which was uncovered and convicted of efforts to steal atomic secrets and otherwise betray the Canadian Government, was a Russian by the name of Fred Rose. What the Army points out as having happened in Japan can well happen here. I am proud of having sponsored an amendment to the War Department's appropriation bill in 1940 to eliminate communists from our armed services. My amendment perhaps did very little good but it was a step in the right direction. Certainly no one should be employed by Uncle Sam in any capacity about whose loyalty there can be any question.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is now hard at work in Washington. Their latest crusade is to secure a non-segregation amendment in the Federal Aid to Education bill. A number of members of Congress of course will strongly support the NAACP in this program. Mr. Oscar Ewing, head of the Social Security Agency who will administer the federal aid to education bill, if passed, is known to be strongly sympathetic to the cause of non-segregation.

There has been a lot of screaming in Washington over the alleged discrimination against negroes in the capitol city. I have not known or observed any such discrimination. One-third of the inhabitants of Washington are negroes. Negro policemen are employed in most of the areas of Washington. In many sections of Washington the negro schools are better than the white schools. Within a mile of where I reside there are two elementary schools for negroes that are much better than the school to which my children go. Segregation certainly does not mean discrimination. In my judgement, a vast majority of the negro people of this country prefer segregation and deplore mongrelization.

I voted for two major bills which the House passed this week. The first is known as The Reorganization Act. We passed a reorganization bill in 1939. We passed another reorganization bill in 1945. This is our third reorganization bill. It is hoped that under this bill President Truman will eliminate duplicating agencies, unnecessary employees, and will affect some real efficiency and economy in the Executive agencies. These agencies now employ over 2 million people and spend at least 30 billion of dollars of the taxpayers money.

The second bill passed by the House is known as the Extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act. Former Secretary Cordell Hull was the father of the reciprocal trade agreements program. This program empowers the State Department to enter into trade agreements with other nations. It permits the State Department to lower tariffs within certain bounds and to raise them within certain bounds. It is designed to eliminate this old log-rolling, pork-barrel type of tariff legislation. It is further designed to promote world trade. Some industries in this country are fearful of the act and some have been damaged by its administration. The act, however, if administered wisely, can be very beneficial to the nation as a whole.

Dodge Dealer Attends Preview Show For Cars

J. E. Reeves, owner of the Reeves Motor Co., Munday, has returned from Oklahoma City where he attended a dealer preview of the completely new styled Dodge cars, the first models of which will be publicly displayed in his dealership on Friday, February 25th. Mr. Reeves was accompanied by Clay Hutchinson, salesman for Reeves Motor Co.

Mr. Reeves said that although detailed information of the appearance and many engineering and mechanical improvements introduced in the new Dodge could not be revealed prior to the public showing, there are certain general facts concerning the confort-engineering story behind the new Dodge styling that can be disclosed at this time. "The primary considerations that influenced the design of the new Dodge were Army statistics which showed that the G.I.'s of World War II were taller, bigger, and more active than their predecessors of World War I," Mr. Reeves said. "As a result, it was apparent that more passenger room, not less, was required in the modern automobile to comfortably accommodate our physically larger generation." Mr. Reeves pointed out that the challenge to Dodge engineers was to design a car with more interior space and still reduce exterior dimensions to eliminate difficulties of handling in traffic, parking, and garaging. To learn how Dodge succeeded in meeting this challenge and at the same time produced a car with an entirely new and distinctive styling, Mr. Reeves cordially invites everybody to his gala open house on February 25,

Cotton Counts For You

Your 1949 acreage may not "count" for or against you in figuring any future government acreage allotment programs.

BUT, COTTON COUNTS FOR YOU WHEN YOU FIGURE UP YOUR INCOME.

In 1949, as in the past, it will pay you to plant cotton as the key cash crop in your balanced farming program.

It will pay to use good planting seed—control insects effectively—and follow the other proven practices that will make more pounds of lint and seed from each cotton acre.

Yes, many years of experience have proved to farmers of this area that COTTON COUNTS FOR THEM. This year is no exception—the government price support program assures you of returns from your 1949 cotton that compare favorably with other crops.

FARM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

Assistance Necessary For Conservation

Assistance to farmers as provided under the Agricultural Conservation Program is necessary to get the conservation job done in time, says Emmett Partridge, Chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The chairman quotes the following from a recent statement by Ralph S. Trigg, Administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration and President of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

"My feelings are strong about this basic conservation problem . . . We in PMA know that direct Government assistance to farmers—incentive payments to cover part of the out-of-pocket costs—are absolutely essential if adequate national conservation is to be achieved before it is too late. Conservation research is important; high technical standards are a 'must' in any sound program; education and demonstration will provide the needed background of understanding; but without financial assistance—to stimulate immediate action and provide the incentive for a great majority of our farmers to conserve now—the job just won't be done 'in our time.' There is so much at stake here, both for our farmers and for the Nation as a whole, that our Government and Congressional leaders, and the public as well, must be given a full understanding of the urgent need."

From the Secretary of Agriculture's annual report, Mr. Partridge quotes the following in support of his belief that assistance is necessary to get the conservation job done in time.

"Getting conservation practices actually applied on the land requires more than a desire to carry out conservation farming. Almost a third of the Nation's farmers in 1944 were tenants who had only a temporary interest in the land they were farming. Many landlords are interested only in the immediate financial return from the farm, and their lack of interest is an obstacle in getting conservation farming applied to tenant-operated farms.

"Then, too, only a small proportion of farmers have the financial resources required to install the conservation measures needed to protect their land fully. Many farms are operated by producers whose incomes are not adequate to cover the running expense of the farm, family living costs, and an amount necessary to install needed conservation practices. In 1944, about 50 percent of the farmers in the country had gross incomes, including the value of food raised on the farm, of less than $1500. On many farms with a much greater gross income, the net income is relatively small. It has been estimated that, in 1948, about a third of the farmers had gross incomes of less than $1,000.00.

Terraces In 1949 ACP.
Farmers of Knox County who need terraces to conserve soil and water on their farms may obtain assistance in the construction of these terraces under the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, Mr. Partridge, Chairman of the county Agricultural Conservation Committee, said today.

To qualify for assistance, the terraces must meet specifications set up under the ACP program. Assistance may be in the form of a purchase order or cash payment to take care of part of the cost. Generally this assistance will average about half the "out-of-pocket" cost of the terrace.

Since the assistance provided under the program carries with it definite conservation responsibility, the terrace must conserve soil and water, the chairman explains.

This means that outlets must be sodded or otherwise protected. Terraces that concentrate run-off and aggravate gully erosion may be destructive rather than constructive. Improperly planned and poorly protected outlets may result in increased damage to the soil.

Terrace plans should be checked with the county committee. In soil conservation districts, the district conservationist can provide information on conservation details. The terraces must be more than just cross-slope back-furrows. Carefully planned. They will hold the soil and continue to check and prevent erosion for many years to come.

Broadbase terraces usually are the most economical since farming operations can be carried on over the terraces and they don't tend to chop the field up. Terraces often will be more effective if farming operations are carried out on the contour to conform to the terraces. This will be demonstrated on Claud Reed's farm 3 miles North East of Munday, known as the Hayes farm, at 2:00 p. m. Friday February 18, 1949.

The size of the terraces and the space between them must be determined in advance and conformed to, in order to qualify for assistance.

Not long ago, a man was talking to a group of youngsters and he said something about Will Rogers. Their faces became blank and at last one lad asked, "Who was Will Rogers?" None of them had ever heard of him.

Here was a man who was the No. 1 box office attraction of the movies; whose radio program was heard by millions and whose daily newspaper feature was read by nearly everybody and you heard his wisecracks repeated gleefully a dozen times a day. More than that, he seemed the personification of the American spirit. He was the most beloved man in the world and when he died, everyone felt that a personal friend and been lost and countless cheeks were wet with tears.

His voice has been silent 15 years—and a new generation asks, "Who was Will Rogers?" It is a pathetic commentary on the fleetness of fame.

Will Rogers said the most thrilling spot in Paris was the place where the American tourists went each day to see if their friends back home had cabled them any money.

Of the sidewalk cafes, he declared, "The saloons are so full, half the people can't get in—so they set them on the sidewalk." And the Latin Quarter was named that because nobody living there spoke Latin or had a quarter.

He was not very enthusiastic about American tourists, who usually grumbled and boasted, "Real people in any country are the ones who stay home," he quipped. Will said he didn't belong to any organized party—"I am a Democrat."

It snowed in Washington but you couldn't "see the ground for the lobbyists."

Mrs. Dionne, mother of the quintuplets, "put maternity on a mass production basis."

When he was a boy, Will's father was putting up a fence and when he learned that their neighbor was a lawyer, he put two barbed wires on top of the fence.

More memories of a sojourn in California (to help write "Boom Town" nine years ago):

Of course, in Hollywood, you could go to church. And they have more sects out there than anywhere else in the world—Oriental, metaphysical and many more, including the denominations we are all familiar with.

Your columnist one night attended a service conducted by Aimee Semple McPherson. The preliminary part of the service was already under way; a brass band was playing. The man next to me said I had missed a xylophone sextet. The main floor, first and second galleries were full and the third gallery was almost filled. The roll of states was called and there were people there from 47.

Then Sister Aimee appeared. She was wearing a white robe; and the sleeves, when she raised her arms, looked like wings, and she had on a sort of gold halo. She had a radiant smile, was very fine-looking and had a rich speaking voice. Her subject was "And the Rains Came." (A motion picture with that title had been made a short time before and was a big hit; the title is, of course, taken from the scriptures.)

She told the story of Noah. As she was speaking, a curtain parted behind her and there was Noah warning his fellow townsmen that a flood was coming but they scoffed at him. (The scene was acted out, silently.) Sister Aimee went on preaching and there was a second scene which showed Noah and his sons building the ark. Then the animals were shown entering, two by two. Another scene showed the flood; the ark, in the distance, was being tossed on the waves while the lightning flashed from the angry sky.

It was the most remarkable sermon I ever saw.

The service closed with a song by a choir of young women who wore robes; each held a colored arch above her head and they sang "Over the Rainbow."

Was in Odessa recently and the wind was sure blowing. My friend, Harley Hightower, publisher of the Morning Herald, and I went to a drive-in show. It was a Gene Autry picture and the wind was so strong, it blew Gene Autry out of the saddle!

Chas. Schumacher Uses Conservation In His Farming

Charles Schumacher, District cooperater with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, has done a great deal of conservation work in the past five years. Mr. Schumacher uses a combination of soil conservation practices to conserve his soil and to increase production. The practices include terraces, sub-surface tillage, contour farming, cover crops, crop rotation, and grass planting.

Mr. Schumacher has used a rotation of cotton one year, wheat 2 years, grain sorghum (planted early) one year, followed by a legume cover crop with phosphate added. By using this rotation, Mr. Schumacher has already increased his production about twenty five percent. He says that after using the rotation and the other necessary soil conservation practices, he has no trouble in getting his crops to grow off fast, and the plants remain uniform in size during the growing season. This doesn't slow him up in cultivating as it did previously when some of the plants were a lot smaller than others.

On the stubble land, Mr. Schumacher uses sweeps and chisels to prepare his land. This leaves nearly all the stubble and residue on the surface—which cuts down on evaporation, slows up water, and prevents soil blowing. The terraces are used to hold excess water. Excess water which the chiseled land cannot take up right away is held and spread out over the land, and soaks into the sub-soil before any harm of drowning out is done. This moisture is later used by the plants.

The winter cover crops have been Austrian winter peas, hairy vetch, and rye. These have been used to return the organic matter necessary to the soil to enable it to hold moisture and the plant nutrients that the crops use. An application of approximately 200 pounds per acre of super-phosphate was added to these cover crops.

Mr. Schumacher says that he can see no reason why his production will not be doubled in the near future if he continues this rotation and maintains his terrace system.

The above conservation plan was worked out by Mr. Schumacher with the help of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service.

"I eagerly await suggestions from the people of Knox County regarding the adequacy of our present educational system and suggestions as to needed changes. Such suggestions would be of very great help in framing a worthwhile educational program for the children of Texas.

"In regard to the work of the criminal jurisprudence committee, I understand the Texas Bar Association intends to push for major changes in the penal code and the code of criminal procedure. Both are badly antiquated and in need of revision. I hope for constructive changes in this field.

"Obviously, our entire section is vitally interested in the problems which come before the committee on livestock and stock raising. This committee should, and I trust it will, see fit to pass favorably upon measures which look toward the improvements of the livestock industry and the study and control of diseases which affect that industry.

"I most humbly solicit the views of my people upon any matter pertaining to state government at any time. Their views would be of great assistance in the coming months."
