Odd Bits Salvaged

(By Aaron Edgar)

A vacation is a wonderful thing, according to those who take one.

Personally, we wouldn't know. We've been in Munday right onto ten years, now, and we've had a hand in every Munday Times that's been issued during that time.

We've asked vacationers to define a vacation for us, but we get a varied account, and still we hardly know what one is.

Some say it's taking two weeks off from your regular duties, go where you want to, do what you want to, just relax and unlash, etc.

In that case we've never had one. We haven't had two weeks off since being initiated into the newspaper game, so a real dyed-in-the-wool vacation hasn't been our portion.

Some take vacations to rest up from their work. Then when they get home, they need two more weeks to rest up from their vacation.

Some, we've heard, are not worth much on the job several days before the vacation starts; they're too busy getting ready for a vacation to do their duties. Then when they get back they're too tired to be worth anything for several days.

It's kinda like a fishing trip. Great is the preparation, the anticipation, and disappointing is the reality.

But who are we to define a vacation, if we've never had one?

Some say it's getting away from everyone and everything, forgetting all your troubles and things you worry about, just letting your hair down and having a good time.

But, sheeks, we couldn't do that! Right in the middle of one of our good times, while we were "strewing the dough" around promiscuously, we'd think of that note our subscribers are helping us pay off and wonder if we'd be able to meet it, come the tenth of the month.

Our vacation would be ruined, then, and we'd just as well not started out in the first place.

Which reminds us—if you haven't helped us out on that note this month, and your subscription has expired, or is about to, we'd be in a receptive mood any time you drop in. We won't use the money on a vacation this year!

Visiting relatives ain't a vacation, they tell us.

You go to visit relatives, then some more relatives come in for the same purpose; the women folks find themselves involved in a whole batch of cooking and dish washing, bed making and worrying where to bed down the next bunch that comes—and that ain't no vacation.

Then the relatives you visit have work to do—they're not on vacation, you know. Soon you find yourself ashamed to just loll around and let them work. You pitch in to help them—and that ain't no vacation.

Vacations, they say, are supposed to take the kink out of your muscle-bound body and put you in tip-top shape to combat your problems for another year. But do they?

We've heard some say—including some bosses—that a two-weeks vacation just means you for a month. You spend one week getting ready, two weeks on vacation, and then it takes another week to get back in the groove.

But when you tromp the hot streets with your shoulder to the wheel and your nose to the grindstone, you miss someone who isn't at his post and ask about him. "Oh, you're told, he's on his vacation. Boy! It sure does sound wonderful!"

As we started to say in the beginning, we do not know much about vacations. But we do know some of the results.

Take A. C. Borgs, for instance. He came back last week with a wonderful story about how cool and pleasant it is up around Ruidosa, New Mexico. He and his family and his Dad and Mother just had a swell time, just as cool as a cucumber in a country where the scenery is wonderful.

But you know what? Ever since he got back, A. C. has been sweating like a hired hand at harvest time way back yonder when they used header barges in harvesting wheat. We didn't notice he sweated so before his vacation—just kinda perspired a little.

Then there's Niel Brown. We doubt if he's been worth much to (Continued on Last Page)

A truck has been pointed out, the town must get rid of mosquito breeding places before spraying will have its desired effect. The spray will kill the insects, but new crops hatch out overnight.

Citizens are urged to hunt out all breeding places around their premises and place oil on them to halt the breeding of mosquitoes.

Grain Drill To Aid In Planting Of Cover Crops

As an additional assistance to District operators of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District Board has purchased a 16 hole grain drill with fertilizer distributor to plant the badly needed legume cover crops this fall.

Last spring the district board received contributions from local business people, farmers, and ranchers to help promote soil conservation on district, state, and national levels. Districts used part of the contributions buy used equipment to assist in speeding up a water and soil conservation work.

At the next meeting, the Board will make plans to route the drill to various conservation groups and also to decide on a maintenance fee.

Knox 4-H Club Boys Plan For Encampment

Plans are being made for the annual Knox County 4-H Club Encampment which is to be held Friday and Saturday, August 20 and 21st, at the Seymour Municipal Park. According to County Agent, Kenneth O. Lewis, the camp will be held again this year with boys from the Baylor county 4-H Clubs, who are under the supervision of Baylor County Agent, Ray McClung.

Approximately 224 boys and their sponsors are eligible to attend the camp from Knox County, and some 229 boys and sponsors are enrolled in the Baylor County Clubs. About 160 boys attended the 1947 encampment and an increase in this number is expected this year, if favorable weather conditions exist.

Recreation for the boys will include swimming, softball, track, horse-shoes, and picture shows. Tentative plans call for picking up the boys over the county beginning at Truscott at 1:00 p. m., on August 20 and from there south through Benjamin, Knox City, Munday and Goree; to arrive at Seymour around 3:30 or 4:00.

Wheel Alignment Service Announced By Local Firm

A new service to motorists is announced this week by the Munday Truck and Tractor Company. This is the Bear machine wheel alignment service. The local firm installed the machine some time ago, and this week made announcement that the service is available to motorists of this area.

J. L. Blackard, who will operate the machine, has received special schooling by factory representatives. He and the management of Munday Truck and Tractor Co., invite the motoring public to come in for this automotive service.

THEY WENT FISHING; SHIPPED THE FISH HOME

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mitchell returned home last week from Arkansas Pass, Corpus Christi and other points, where they spent several days fishing. Reports reached The Times from the Harbor Island Causeway Company at Arkansas Pass, that the Mitchells caught 97 pounds of mackerel. And they did ship around 70 pounds of fish home. There was fish on the menu at City Grill the latter part of last week.

Prized specimens of Southwestern Indian culture from the Museum of New Mexico are exhibited in the Santa Fe Indian village of Chicago's Railroad Fair, opening July 20. Arranging the display here are Bertha P. Dutton and Stanley A. Stubbs of the School of American Research, both from Santa Fe, New Mexico. Indian handicraft dating back to A. D. 400 as well as modern work are contained in the village's Arts & Crafts building.

Former Vera Woman "Stops The Music"; Reaps $19,000 In Prizes

Mrs. Herbert Skelton of Fort Worth, formerly of Vera in Knox county, reaped $19,000 in prizes Sunday when she named the "mystery melody" on the "Stop the Music" radio show.

"I thought I was going to faint," she said after she correctly identified by telephone the melody "Sun Dance."

Mrs. Skelton a bride of two weeks, said the first thing she remembered saying was: "My husband is going to be surprised to hear this." She is the former Miss Johnnie A. Russell, daughter of Mrs. Charlie W. Russell of Vera.

She was employed at the Wichita Falls USO before going to Fort Worth in 1942 to take employment with Convar.

Her husband, an oil company employee, was transferred to Houston on August 1. Mrs. Skelton plans to join him as soon as he finds a place for him to live.

She told reporters that she was certain she would keep two of the prizes, a mink coat and an automobile. She said the announcer asked her over the telephone how old she was and said she would get a diamond in a bracelet for each year.

"I misrepresented my age," she admitted. In answer to a question whether she raised or lowered her years, she laughed: "A woman always makes it lower, even when it costs her a few diamonds." She told the Associated press she was 36 years old.

Donkeys Versus Fireboys Here On Thursday Night

It's the donkeys versus the fireboys here Thursday night, and local folks are wondering who'll be the biggest donkey by the time the game's over.

Yep, the fireboys are staging a donkey baseball game here tonight (Thursday). Such adept firemen as E. B. Littlefield, Dave Jetton, Cecil Fitzgerald, maybe R. B. Bowden, and others will take a try at riding the donkeys. We doubt it'll be much ball game—mostly a donkey show.

Anyway, you're invited out to see the fun!

City Granted Petition For Drainage Area

The City of Munday has been granted its petition for a drainage district, and plans may now go forward to ward determining the cost of the drainage program and ordering a bond election to carry this out.

The Knox County Commissioners Court voted last Monday to create a drainage district, embracing the town of Munday, a measure asked for by local leaders as a step toward solution of the town's flood problem.

This was the second hearing on the project, action being delayed so the petition might be rewritten so as not to include the farms adjoining the town.

A group headed by Mayor W. R. Moore appeared before the court to point out the need of a drainage district, a need which no one present questioned. Following the hearing, the court voted to create the drainage district.

Mayor Moore stated that the next step will be for the city council to employ engineers to survey the situation and estimate costs of such a drainage project. Following this work, a bond election for the required amount will likely be submitted to the qualified voters of the city.

Area Child Is Polio Victim

J. D. Burney, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Burney, who reside on the Anderson farm five miles southwest of Munday, is undergoing treatment in the Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene. His case has been diagnosed as polio, according to reports of relatives.

The child was stricken last Thursday, and Friday morning a Haskell physician diagnosed his illness as polio, relatives said. He was placed in an iron lung and taken to the Abilene hospital for treatment.

Reports Tuesday were that the child has improved and there is a probability he will recover.

Questionnaires Are Mailed Farmers On Labor Needs

Questionnaires regarding cotton acreage and needs for cotton pickers are being mailed out by the Vernon Office of the Texas Employment Commission, to all cotton growers in this area to determine labor needs, according to a statement issued by W. C. Albright, Manager of the office.

Mr. Albright has requested that each cotton grower answer the questionnaire at the earliest possible time in order that the survey by the Employment Commission may be completed.

The manager further stated that the survey is being made by the Texas Employment Commission to insure the proper organization and routing of sufficient migratory labor into the area should it be determined that the local labor supply is inadequate to gather the crop.

GOREE SCHOOL SUPT. HOME FROM HOSPITAL

H. D. Arnold, superintendent of the Goree schools, returned home Friday from a Wichita Falls hospital, where he spent about eight days recuperating from surgery. He is much improved at this time, but will "take things easy" for a few days yet.

Be careful! Observe our state and local traffic laws.

MUNDAY'S NEEDS FOR 1948

1. A modern and up-to-date high school building, to care for the present and future educational needs of our children.
2. A waterworks system that meets all requirements of health, sanitation and supply.
3. A street sweeper that will keep our pavement clean enough to be recognized as pavement.
5. Completion of our drainage and paving program, which will probably be accomplished this year.

DANGEROUS AND USELESS

A return to price control and rationing of food would be both dangerous and useless, in the opinion of C. C. Procure, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers. "Reimposition of these controls," he went on, "would cause the worst gigantic black market of history to come into existence, thus preventing ordinary operation of our economy and removing supplies from the legitimate channels through which they should flow."

The public, which will ultimately decide the price control issue, need not take anyone's word for this. There can be no price control without wage control, and who wants that? All we have to do is to look back a short time to when the postwar version of OPA was in operation. The black market was one of the most flourishing—and most profitable—enterprises in the country. It catered to the relative few who could buy what they wanted with small regard for price. And the vast masses of people went without or took substitutes.

Even if it were possible to prevent the black market—something that even the police states of Europe have been unable to do—price control would defeat its own purpose. No one can raise food or manufacture goods if the law forces him to sell at a loss. No retail store can provide you with goods for less than they cost. Price control, consequently, is the surest known way to create scarcities.

Under free enterprise, we have intense competition. We have the finest production machine in the world. We have a system of retail distribution, made up of chains and independents, which is unequalled anywhere else. And we get our goods at the lowest price consistent with the cost of doing business today.

INFERIOR MEDICINE

A short time ago, Britain put into effect a huge and complex scheme for providing so-called "free" medical care for everyone. This was done over the strong protests of the medical profession. Newsweek quotes one typical doctor who said, "I am heart and soul opposed to a system of medicine which will undoubtedly lower the quality and standing of this once great profession. I should be forced to see upwards of 80 patients a day, and I visualize myself as an inferior medical orderly with little or no interest in the ultimate outcome of my patient's illness."

This, in the view of the majority of experts, is an accurate forecast of what must happen to doctor and patient under state-dominated medicine. The process has begun in England. And it will begin here if those who are pushing a compulsory Federal health insurance measure, which will cost more than $4,000,000,000, and perhaps as much as $6,000,000,000 a year, have their way.

This measure is being urged on the grounds of dire necessity. Yet the fact is that the nation has come a long way toward solving the problem of paying for hospital and medical care through voluntary plans at nominal cost. The largest of these has about 30,000,000 members. Other plans perform similar service. And the job is done without making medicine the tool of politics.

THE EDITOR'S STAKE

A free press is made possible by advertising—a thousand and one different advertisements of industries seeking to sell their wares or services to the public.

From such a field in which to seek business the press of the United States can maintain its financial independence—the smallest country weekly or the greatest metropolitan daily has an equal chance.

Such financial independence means editorial independence. American newspapers are not creatures of government as in dictator countries where they are controlled and subsidized. They are not afraid to criticize government, public officials or business.

There can be no free press or individual opportunity without private enterprise. Communism and socialism kill free enterprise and personal liberty because under such political systems government owns industry, including newspapers, and the individual.

American editors are against communism and socialism, first, because such government philosophies destroy political freedom; second, because they destroy a free press.

Any successful move to socialize an industry in the United States, undermines by that such, personal liberty, the foundation of free press, and the restricted opportunity of individuals to choose a line of work or an employer. Under socialism and communism you work for the state and like it, or else.

This is why individuals and newspapers wishing to retain their independence should oppose government ownership of business in our country, while they have a chance. Don't be lulled into a false sense of security by thinking it can't happen here.

It's easy to meet expenses nowadays. You run into them everywhere.

Russians may be striving for world peace, as they contend, but they are clever at hiding their efforts.

Maybe the cost of living is too high, but most of us are sure trying to get our money's worth.

S. J. R. No. 2
A JOINT RESOLUTION
proposing an amendment to section 28 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to provide for a Board for apportioning the state into senatorial districts and representative districts in the event the Legislature fails to make such apportionment; providing for the issuance of the necessary proclamation by the Governor; and making an appropriation.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:
Section 1. That Section 28 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as hereafter to read as follows:
"Section 28. The Legislature shall, at its first regular session after the publication of each United States decennial census, apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts, agreeable to the provisions of Sections 25, 26, and 26-a of this Article. In the event the Legislature shall at any such first regular session following the publication of a United States decennial census, fail to make such apportionment, same shall be done by the Legislative Redistricting Board of Texas, which is hereby created, and shall be composed of five (5) members, as follows: The Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Attorney General, the Comptroller of Public Accounts and the Commissioner of the General Land Office, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum. Said Board shall assemble in the City of Austin within ninety (90) days after the final adjournment of such regular session. The Board shall, within sixty (60) days after assembling, apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts, or into senatorial or representative districts, as the failure of action of such Legislature may make necessary. Such apportionment shall be in writing and signed by three (3) or more of the members of the Board duly acknowledged as the act and deed of such Board, and when so executed and filed with the Secretary of State, shall have force and effect of law. Such apportionment shall become effective at the next succeeding statewide general election. The Supreme Court of Texas shall have jurisdiction to compel such Commission to perform its duties in accordance with the provisions of this section by writ of mandamus or other extraordinary writs conformable to the usages of law. The Legislature shall provide necessary funds for clerical and technical aid and for other expenses incidental to the work of the Board, and the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall be entitled to receive per diem and travel expense during the Board's session in the same manner and amount as they would receive while attending a special session of the Legislature. This amendment shall become effective January 1, 1951."

FISHERMAN'S LUCK;
$150 COTTON BALE
Herbert Moore, a service station operator at Wetsmpka, Ala., thanked the fish for not biting when he cast his line in the Tallapoosa River recently.

Because the fish left his hook alone, he was able to hook a 500 pound catch that was far more valuable—a bale of cotton.

Mr. Moore worked all afternoon with a helper, a tractor, and a rope and finally managed to fish the cotton out of the river and carry it home.

The cotton has now dried out and is expected to be classed low middling, netting the fisherman about $150 for his afternoon's catch!

He returned to their home in Celeste, Texas, after spending several days visiting in the homes of relatives here and in Lubbock.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says
Dallas Women Striking Against Meat Prices Can't Possibly Win

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek doesn't look for much success from the buyers' strike against high meat prices, his letter this week reveals. We doubt though that he'll ever get 33 cents a pound for any of his cattle, but if he does, it'll be a sure sign inflation is at its peak.

Dear editor:
It been August now and hotter than ever, I have been doin most of my thinkin at a special spot out here on the creek where two trees is so situated a man can lay down in the shade in the mornin and still be in the shade in the afternoon without never havin gotten up and I was there Monday mornin.

I borrowed when I noticed a article about some Dallas women organizin a strike against the high price of meat. These women say they ain't gonna buy anymore meat until prices come down.

Now aside from the fact I been holdin a good Jersey steer off the market, tryin to get 33 cents a pound for it so I can make the down payment on two plow points and a pair of pants which ordinarily would cost about three dollars and seventy-five cents, I just don't see how them Dallas women is gonna win.

I can see how they might stop buyin meat because the price is high, but can they stop buyin gasoline because the price is high? Can they stop buyin dresses? Automobiles? Sugar? Groceries? Milk? Butter? Refrigerators? Hats? Laundry service? and so forth?

Meat ain't high because cattlemen is highway robbers. It's high because everything else except maybe the level of current politicians' intellects is high.

I been arguin for years in favor of a law to bring down the price of things I buy and increase the price of things I sell but ain't got no where, and I will figure them Dallas women is gettin down to serious business when they strike against buyin all them other high-priced items, although with their husbands ben interested in production and sellin a good many of em, I don't look for no widespread general buyin strike from that quarter any time soon.

Besides, ain't Dallas the place where the women struck against wearin long skirts? And ain't Dallas the place where they're wearin em longer than ever?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin—Sixty Texans died as the result of appendicitis during the first five months of 1948, according to figures released by the Texas Department of Health.

"This figure does not appear large when compared to the deaths from cancer, tuberculosis and heart disease," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer said, "but with the knowledge that these sixty Texans died needlessly, the figure is tragically high."

More than anything else, Dr. Cox said he would attribute fatality in appendicitis to the complacent attitude of the people concerning the disease. It is not put in its "proper perspective". Too often, the Health Officer said, people have the vain hope that the prolonged pain in their stomach will "wear off". He cautioned that the stomach ache which lasts more than three or four hours should be considered a serious matter.

Appendicitis killed 60,000 people in the United States and Canada last year, Dr. Cox said. He warned that young people are especially susceptible to attacks, and that appendicitis is a leading cause of deaths among children and adolescents.

"Operative techniques have been improved to the extent that an unruptured appendix can be removed with great safety," Dr. Cox said. "It is therefore apparent that the negligence in appendicitis rests with the patient who feels to seek prompt medical attention."

He said it was imperative that the patient lie quiet until the doctor comes as moving about dis-

Buy Dusters To Suit Own Needs, Council Advises

Buy cotton dusting equipment suited to the needs of your individual farm.

The wrong kind of dusting equipment, no matter how small or large the original purchase price, will prove to be an expensive investment to the cotton farmer, the National Cotton Council declares.

A prime rule in buying dusting equipment to combat the boll weevil and other cotton insect pests, the Council says, is to select the machine which will perform the job best on the individual farm.

For example, a farmer with several hundred acres in cotton should not depend on a hand gun. Nor has the very small farmer need for a large tractor-driven duster.

Following are acreages which may be covered by various types of equipment: 2-3 row mule duster, 2 1/2 acres per hour; 2-row tractor duster, 5 acres per hour; 8-row tractor duster, 100 acres per day; airplane duster, 50 acres per hour.

County agents and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the Cotton Belt are ready to lend farmers in their own areas assistance in selecting the proper cotton dusting equipment.

turbs inflamed parts. He strongly urged against taking laxatives in cases of suspected appendicitis.

Cotton Is Too Valuable! Save It

You Can Dust Your Cotton For An Average Cost Of 3 Pounds Of Lint Per Acre!

Why Take Chances?

We have a good supply of dusting sulphur, 10 per cent D.D.T. and sulphur, calcium arsenate and sulphur, and straight calcium arsenate. We also have benzine hectochloride dust.

Take your choice, and dust your cotton to kill the flea hoppers. We will try to always have a supply of poison on hand as long as the hopper and other insects threaten our cotton.

"Meet Mr. Average Man" is an amusing article which appeared in the Gleaner Magazine and is quoted by permission of the Gilbert Paper Co., of Menasha, Wisconsin.

The most interesting person in the world is the average man. The average man is 39 around the chest, 40 around the waist, 9 around the golf course and a nuisance around the home.

He gets up first in the morning, is second at the morning newspaper, third in the bathroom and practically misses the bus to town. He wears a conventional gray or brown suit with a white shirt but always thought he'd be at his best in a checkered suit with a dark flannel-shirt and a bright red tie. He passes up the French-fried potatoes and the hot rolls at lunch and the eats mince pie to bridge the gap.

He can hit two quail out of five tries, catches an occasional fish, plays poker once a month, opens with a large pair, bluffs when he is winner and doesn't like conversation when he is loser. He complains about taxes, shortages of labor and politics. He has a favorite football team but will take the other team and fourteen points.

He drinks three cups of coffee per day, likes his toast hot and is always going to clean out the garage Saturday afternoon. He has three false teeth, five fillings, a small cavity and needs a hair cut. He shaves once a day with an extra throw in on appropriate occasions.

He contributes regularly to the support of his pastor, congressman, poker friends and many others who are not mentioned on his income tax return. He takes reducing exercises regularly three days in a row sometimes and holds his stomach in when people look like they are about to tell him he is getting fat.

He wears the ties people give him for Christmas and knows some stories about the same color. He can't remember much about the Lady of the Lake or Julius Caesar but can do a complete rendition of the Face on the Barroom Floor.

He reads mystery stories and doesn't peek into the back of the book to see how they come out. He likes certain pictures no matter who painted them and couldn't tell you for the life of him what Mrs. Soanso wore at the dance.

He needs a new suit of dinner clothes and there is a rip in his hunting coat. He is supposed to live to be 74, and pains at 22, should have been shot at 30 and feels fine at 48. He has sparrows in the attic, termites in the flooring and mice in the pantry.

He's going to buy a small farm some day, just out of town, and live there—and do part of the farm work personally. He was too old to join the army, is too young to enjoy social security and too lazy to exercise down to the correct weight. You meet him every day at the bank, in the store, the office, on the street and in front of the mirror.

P. S. He's a regular guy. You really ought to know him better.

Wheat Producers In Knox County Can Protect Investment

Knox County wheat producers will soon be able to apply for protection of their investment in producing a wheat crop against the many production risks that are still beyond man's control, Emmett Partridge, Chairman of the County ACA Office, advises.

The County ACA Office will be ready to accept farmer's applications for this all-risk protection as soon as the county maps on which coverage and rate areas have been established are approved and returned to the county office.

Under the new insurance plan which is being offered in the county this year, farms have been grouped according to productivity and risk and all farms in the same coverage-and-rate group will have the same coverage and rate as contrasted with past crop insurance programs which insured on the basis of individual farm yields and rates, Mr. Partridge pointed out. "I think that our wheat farmers are going to welcome this new wheat crop insurance program," Mr. Partridge said. "It is a sound business-like proposition that provides the farmer protection of his investment in producing a wheat crop against loss from the many unavoidable causes and the premium requires only a small addition to his operating cost."

"Our wheat farmers are not interested in collecting on crop insurance but I am sure that they will be interested in this low-cost protection of their investment that will mean that they get their capital back when disaster strikes their wheat crops. It's the kind of protection that most wheat producers will want to have every year because all good businessmen protect their investment if possible and regard the cost as an essential part of their operating expenses. They insure to protect and hope that they will never collect. Most farmers have sufficient respect for the elements to know that crop disaster can strike their farms. Protection against this possibility is a basic principle of sound business operation."

Mr. Partridge expects that active sign-up work will start on the crop insurance program about August 1, 1948 and urges that producers come to the county office at an early date to talk over this basic protection of their farming operations.

Veterans' News

Veterans Administration advised veterans to give their National Service Life Insurance policies periodic "three-way checks" to make certain that their NSLI programs are consistent with their plans, obligations and incomes. The "three-way check" should cover (1) beneficiaries, both principal and contingent; (2) manner in which proceeds are to be paid to beneficiaries; and (3) amount and type of NSLI in force.

Many veterans fail to name new beneficiaries when they marry or when a designated beneficiary dies, VA said. If a veteran dies without naming a beneficiary, or if no designated beneficiary is alive at the time of his death, proceeds of the insurance go into his estate and are subject to inheritance taxes. Final distribution of the proceeds may not be that which the veteran would have desired.

Changes in family status or family income often require a veteran to change the method of NSLI settlement. He may elect to have his USLI proceeds paid to his beneficiary in a lump sum or in equal monthly installments ranging from $6 to lifetime income.

The type and amount of NSLI owned by a veteran should be that which best fits his pocketbook and gives him the most coverage. VA said. NSLI policies include term, ordinary life 30-payment life, 20-payment life, endowment at age 60, endowment at age 65, and 20-year endowment.

Questions And Answers
 Q. May I go to a private hospital in my home town and have Veterans Administration pay the bill?
 A. If you have a service-connected disability and have received prior approval from VA to do so, you may go to a private hospital in your home town at VA expense.
 Q. Can I transfer my National Service Life Insurance policy to any of the private companies?
 A. No. Your NSLI is convertible to one or more of the six permanent plans issued only by Veterans Administration. These are Ordinary Life, 30-Payment Life, 20-Payment Life, Endowment at Age 60, and Endowment at Age 65.

Q. Just what veterans are entitled to hospitalization in a Veterans Administration hospital?

A. Veterans with service-connected disabilities have a top priority for VA hospital care.

Veterans with non-service-connected ailments may be hospitalized under existing law if beds are available and if they say they cannot afford treatment elsewhere. Peacetime veterans, members of the Regular Establishments, retired officers and enlisted men, under certain conditions, also are eligible for hospitalization.

Outlook For Labor To Gather County's Cotton Crop Looks Better

Based on supply of cotton harvest hands now working in the Upper Rio Grande Valley, W. C. Albright, Manager of the Texas Employment Commission Office at 1613 Pease, Vernon, Texas, stated today that in his opinion the supply of hands for the coming harvest would not be as limited as had been previously expected, that reports reaching him from the Valley indicated that need for cotton pickers had been met without undue difficulty so far this season.

The cotton harvest is virtually completed in areas around Harlingen and is rapidly approaching completion at Corpus Christi. Activity is well underway in the vicinity of Houston and Austin, with demand for labor so far being met. In explaining the plans being used by the Texas Employment Commission for the routing of needed workers into areas for the cotton harvest, Mr. Albright said, "All during this year the Commission Offices throughout the Valley have organized crews of farm workers who were used in various seasonal work, such as vegetable harvest, packing shed labor, choppers, hoe hands, and cotton pickers. These crews are planning to migrate northward as the harvest progresses and will travel through areas of need as determined by the Employment Commission and to those areas where they have previously worked in the cotton harvest and have agreements with individual farmers to return."

"Throughout the rest of the State the offices of the Commission have lined up crews of workers who will and are migrating to areas of need as directed by the Commission. During the last 30 days there has been a movement of cotton pickers from North and West Texas to parts of the Upper Valley. These workers will return to their home areas as needed."

To facilitate the proper direction of migratory labor to areas of need, Mr. Albright said that labor control stations were, or will be set up at Abilene, Fort Worth, and San Antonio. These control stations obtain information from local Employment Commission offices throughout Texas regarding labor needs and supply hands who will move and direct such workers to Commission Offices where need for extra labor exists.

Directional stations operating on a 24-hour basis are being maintained at strategic highway intersections in the Valley and the Austin and Houston areas to intercept migratory workers and see that they are, to the greatest extent possible, routed to places demand for their work is known to exist.

In talking about plans for handling the cotton harvest locally, Mr. Albright said that information was currently being gathered regarding the number of workers expected to be needed during the cotton harvest if size of crews needed, housing available on individual farms, and other information of this nature which would assist in getting labor into this area and using it to the most advantage during the cotton harvest.

Mr. Albright urged that farmers place orders with his office for workers at least a week before the workers are actually needed. He also requested that farmers give consideration to rotating the crews from one farm to the other once they are established in the community to assist his office in keeping the workers in the area as long as they could profitably be used. He further stated that temporary office would be opened one week before cotton harvest begins at the City Hall, Munday, Texas, and one at the Labor Camp in Knox City.

The Super-Cushion is a bigger, softer tire — runs on only 24 pounds of air! It soaks up bumps, rattles and vibration — gives safer, quicker stops — makes your car float through traffic — flow around curves. And Super-Cushions average more mileage than the finest standard tires! Super-Cushions "roll with the punch" — are harder to cut, bruise or blow out. Don't miss the thrill of riding on Super-Cushions!
