LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

WAR TAX PENALTIES

During the war, nearly eight years ago, a 15 percent tax was added to all train, bus and plane fares, principally to discourage civilian travel.

It was not the primary purpose of the tax to raise revenue. The original reason for imposing it has long since ceased to exist. Like all taxes, once they have been established, it is almost impossible to get rid of them.

Today this penalty on travel not only works a hardship on commercial carriers at a time when business is slowing up, but it is affecting vacation travel and all activities which benefit from tourist business. It is a burden on parents of students who are traveling to school; on people who must travel because of illness in the family, accidents and death; on individuals attending conferences and business meetings of various kinds, and on traveling for health and recreation.

The tax has been repealed on travel to foreign countries receiving Marshall Plan aid. Several weeks ago Canada, which imposed a similar 15 percent tax during the war, dropped it.

Reasons for repealing the penalty tax on personal travel apply with equal force to the 3 percent tax on freight shipments. Such a tax is discriminatory to the common carriers by rail or highway because shippers who buy their own trucks and furnish their own transportation, escape it. It penalizes producers who must ship their products long distances to markets in competition with those situated closer to consumers. It is high time the people begin to demand that wartime taxes and restrictions be eliminated in favor of peacetime policies that tend to encourage industry and payrolls. A good place to begin is to remove the wartime penalty tax on all such necessities as passenger and freight rates.

The Munday Times is Democratic, yet supporting only what it believes to be right, and opposing what it believes to be wrong, regardless of party policies, publishing news fairly, impartially.

THREE QUESTIONS

How is the meat situation?
Judging by late information, it is favorable. Supplies of meats of all kind have been running at a level 10 percent above a year ago, when strikes in the packing industry cut into shipments. This is expected to continue for some time, with pork in particularly strong supply. Furthermore, the quality of the cuts is up—as an example, beef produced under Federal inspection thus far this year has included a larger-than-usual proportion of the better grades which are suitable for steaks and roasts.

How about meat prices?
This is an interesting question. The wholesale price, on the average, is now about 21 percent below the peaks reached in the summer of 1948. Prices at retail have shown a comparable decline.

How does the situation now stack up with the OPA, price-control era?

A quick look into a typical butcher shop should answer that for you. Those "Sold Out" signs you used to see are gathering dust in storage. You can get any kind of meat you want when you want it—and in any amount. The black market, which operated on a ruthless all-the-traffic-will-bear policy, is gone. The free, competitive market is back—and it's the only kind of market that keeps supply and demand in reasonable balance and gives us products at an honest price.

"Every four minutes an American dies of a disease caused by a common cold," says a medical item. It must be awfully monotonous for the American.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5, 1949—The press has carried full reports of the House debate during this week on the various proposals to repeal or amend the Taft-Hartley Act. We have said so much on this subject that I will not make further comment at this time. Suffice it to say this week's fight wound up in a dog-fall, so to speak, with the recommitment of the whole matter back to the House Committee on Education and Labor. Efforts are now being made to compromise the various issues.

On Monday of this week, at the behest of Congressman Emanuel Celler of New York, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, the President called to the White House all of us Democratic members of such Committee. His object was to sell us on his proposal in 400,000 so-called DPs from the DP camps of Europe. He was particularly successful, since the Judiciary Committee this morning reported out a bill to bring in 339,000 of such individuals. There were nine of us in the Committee who voted against the bill. This whole plan has been promoted and sponsored primarily by the Zionist organizations of America. They have succeeded in getting a great many prominent churchmen and organizations to join in these demands to bring these people to our shores. I shall oppose this bill as effectively as possible. However, proponents of this dangerous and unfair legislature have tremendous organization, money, and propaganda behind them.

The volume of resolutions, petitions, memorandums, pamphlets, books, magazines, and other data coming to a Congressman's desk each day, is tremendous. If one were a fast reader and could put in 24 hours of each day simply reading this material, he would have time only to sketch it. The data and the statistics contained in a day's mail is usually more than one could digest in a week. All of us try to keep up with information essential to the doing of a good job. However, sorting the most important material from the least important material is a heavy task. Among the personal letters I get each day, are often as many as a dozen, enclosing articles and editorials for me to read, and asking my opinion concerning them. These personal letters, of course, get priority and must have prompt attention and reply. They are always welcome and appreciated.

In the morning, I will go with a number of Texas Congressmen to Waco. We are flying down in a C-54 to attend a big agricultural meeting to be addressed by Mr. Brannan, the Secretary of Agriculture. On Saturday, we will fly out to Lubbock for a Jefferson-Jackson Day barbecue at which many thousands of persons of that area are expected to attend. After the Lubbock affair, I am going down to spend Saturday night and a few hours of Sunday morning (Mother's Day) with my father and mother who live on a farm 40 miles South of Lubbock and 11 miles

Coming to my desk this morning, is a copy of a letter written by the Justice Department to Representative Emanuel Celler, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House. The various departments of the government are always asked for their opinions on proposed bills. While Committees of Congress do not always follow the recommendations of the Executive Departments and Agencies, they are sometimes influenced thereby. In the letter just mentioned, the Department of Justice expresses disapproval of H. R. 1153, a bill to amend the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act, on the ground that such proposed law would invade the States' jurisdiction over a particular class of crimes. The point is this: The Department of Justice recognizes State sovereignty in this matter. It expresses a policy which should reassure those who believe in States' rights, i. e., a policy that the Federal Government should not interfere in a matter of State responsibility.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How Would You Say It?

Curley Lawson's cousin from back East and a few of us got talking when he was here visiting, and I couldn't help noticing how different he said things.

For instance, he said, "Lifting that 200-pound bag of cement almost killed me." "You mean sack of cement?" asks Curley. (That's the way we'd say it.) "No," interrupts young Elliott who'd spent a lot of time down South, "He means a 'poke of see-ment.'"

It was good for a chuckle, anyway. Bag, sack or poke—we knew what he was trying to say. It just depends on where you are in the U. S., which way sounds right.

From where I sit, whenever we criticize someone for sounding funny to us, we ought to think how we sound to them. It's the same as choosing your liquid refreshment. I'm accustomed to a moderate glass of beer—you may like ginger ale—but who's to say the other's wrong? I'd say we're both right!

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims Indebtedness Is Like Johnson Grass—Nothing Much Can Be Done About It

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek probably is an authority on what he's talking about this week—debts.

Dear editor: I never did like to be considered narrow-minded. I take the afternoon rest-larger view. I ain't got no objection to everybody gettin a pension so long as I get mine too, but it is possible to get to liberal.

I was out here Monday in from a full mornin's hard think when I picked up a copy of the Times-Herald which some hunter had wrapped his lunch in because it's more ant-proof than your paper, although personally I think yours is better for lining the pantry shelf with or use to sit on when the ground is wet, seems like it's thicker, don't soak through so fast, and I noticed a article from Paris which said a "powful American figure in the European Recovery Program is worried over whether Europe will be out of the red in 1952".

If I understand this right, this powerful American figure over there is losing sleep worryin over whether Europe will be out of the red in 1952. I don't mind sayin it seems to me that's goin a long ways and strainin at a mighty small point to lose sleep over.

That is, if he wants to worry over somebody not gettin out of the red by 1952, I can give him a full-time job, and he can do it at home at half the cost.

Not only will I not get out of the red by 1952, I won't get out by 1962, and furthermore haven't been out since I can remember. He can worry forwards and backwards at the same time for me.

I'm in favor of helpin anybody who needs help, don't make me no difference where he lives or what country, but I ain't never supposed anybody was aimin at gettin any nation out of debt by 1952.

In fact, if this bird starts worryin when he sees a country which ain't likely to get out of debt by then, they're gonna have to blindfold him if he ever gets any piece of mind. I ain't no economist, but I got a good idea that Munday ain't gonna get out of debt by 1952.

Knox City ain't gonna get out of debt by 1952.

Texas ain't gonna get out of debt by 1952.

The United States ain't gonna get out of debt by 1952.

Europe ain't gonna get out of debt by 1952 or any other time. In fact, I just ain't acquainted with no countries and very few individuals who'll get out of debt by 1952 or any other time. It ain't even a topic to worry about anymore. It's a permanent condition like Johnson grass in my crops. Ain't nothing can be done about it, at least not by me, and very few governors or presidents I've heard of.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

State Fair To Increase Prizes On Farm Exhibits

Farmers and ranchers of the Southwest will take home more premium money from the State Fair of Texas this fall than ever before in history.

This news is announced in the 1949 State Fair Premium List, first copies of which are now in the mails inviting all pure-bred livestock breeders to exhibit their herds and flocks at the 1949 exposition.

The Premium List was published a month earlier this year to give farmers and ranchmen more time to plan and prepare the exhibits which they will show to some 2,000,000 visitors when the Fair opens on Oct. 8 for its 16-day run.

Total premium will be $65,233. Premiums for the various divisions are: Beef cattle (Aberdeen—Angus, Brahman, Hereford, Shorthorn), $25,200; dairy cattle (Guernsey, Holstein—Friesian, Jersey and Milking Shorthorn), $12,800; swine, $8,250; sheep, $3,213; Angora goats, $732; Palomino and Quarter Horses, $4,750; special herdsman awards, $350; and Junior Livestock Show, $9,840.

Opening day will see the greatest display of livestock ever shown at the Texas exposition, with the main feature the National Aberdeen-Angus show, State Fair officials said.

Dates for the Junior Livestock Show have been extended from four days to one week as a result of growing interest in this phase of the Fair. Last year 400 exhibitors from 154 counties brought 1051 animals to the Junior Show.

For the first time in many years 4-H Club girls with livestock projects will be permitted to exhibit in all divisions of the Junior Livestock Show.

The State Fair has expanded its facilities for the swine show, adding 126 new pens. Fair officials confidently expect to break all records in this division again this year.

New pens are being provided for sheep and Angora goats; and 166 of the most modern stalls have been added for the Palomino and Quarter Horse Show.

The foreword of the premium list contains an invitation from Governor Beauford H. Jester to residents in every state to visit the State Fair and enjoy a panoramic view of the inexhaustible resources of the state, and to view the achievements of the entire Southwest country in agriculture, livestock, arts, science and industry.

Requests for copies of the State Fair Premium List should be addressed to State Fair of Texas, Dallas 10, Texas.

Fifty-three Texas cooperatives paid back their loans to the Houston Bank for Cooperatives in full last year. Many others made good-sized payments to reduce their debts.

To insure good stands of peanuts, 25 to 35 pounds of chemically treated shelled seed or 45 to 60 pounds of chemically treated unshelled seed per acre should be planted.

To prevent metal cans of scouring powder from leaving stains on damp linoleum or enamel, drip the bottom of the can in melted paraffin. When cool and hard, the paraffin coating will help against stains.

Prices for home furnishings probably won't drop in the near future, as long as there is a shortage of such basic materials as lumber and steel.

WARNING

To The Citizens Of Munday

It has been reported to us that some individual has been visiting numerous cities, calling at homes asking that he be permitted to go through the home and make a sketch of the floor plan.

He states that the purpose is to enter the home in a contest conducted by some well known national magazine.

He also states that he represents Wm. Cameron & Co., and that prizes for the best homes are to be given by Wm. Cameron & Co.

This is to warn the citizens of Munday, and all other towns, that this person does not represent this company; that we are not participating in or conducting any contest; that we are offering no prizes of any kind.

If this man comes to your home presenting this proposition, and representing himself as an agent of Wm. Cameron & Co., or if you know he is operating in your town, get in touch with your local police and the Wm. Cameron & Co. store immediately.

Knox County Still Has Unsold Public Land

AUSTIN—State Land Commissioner, Bascom Giles, states there is still public land for sale in Texas.

However, not much of it, as Texans measure land. Less than one percent of the once colossal public domain is available to high bidders as the unsold acreage has dwindled to a total of 1,025,875.70 acres. (The total acreage of the state is 172,687,000).

The unsold land includes 983.40 acres in Knox county.

Not all of the million acres can be purchased, Giles explains. The domain is administered by the School Land Board, of which Giles is chairman.

"No school land within five miles of oil or gas production can be sold," Giles points out.

When there is sufficient demand, the School Land Board authorizes the sale of specified tracts. A public sale is advertised and information about the tracts supplied by the General Land Office upon request.

Sale is by sealed bids. The high bidder, if conforming with all regulations, is the new owner.

The terms are 20 percent down with 40 years to retire the balance at five percent interest. The Permanent School Fund retains one-sixteenth free royalty in all oil production and one-fourth free royalty in sulphur production.

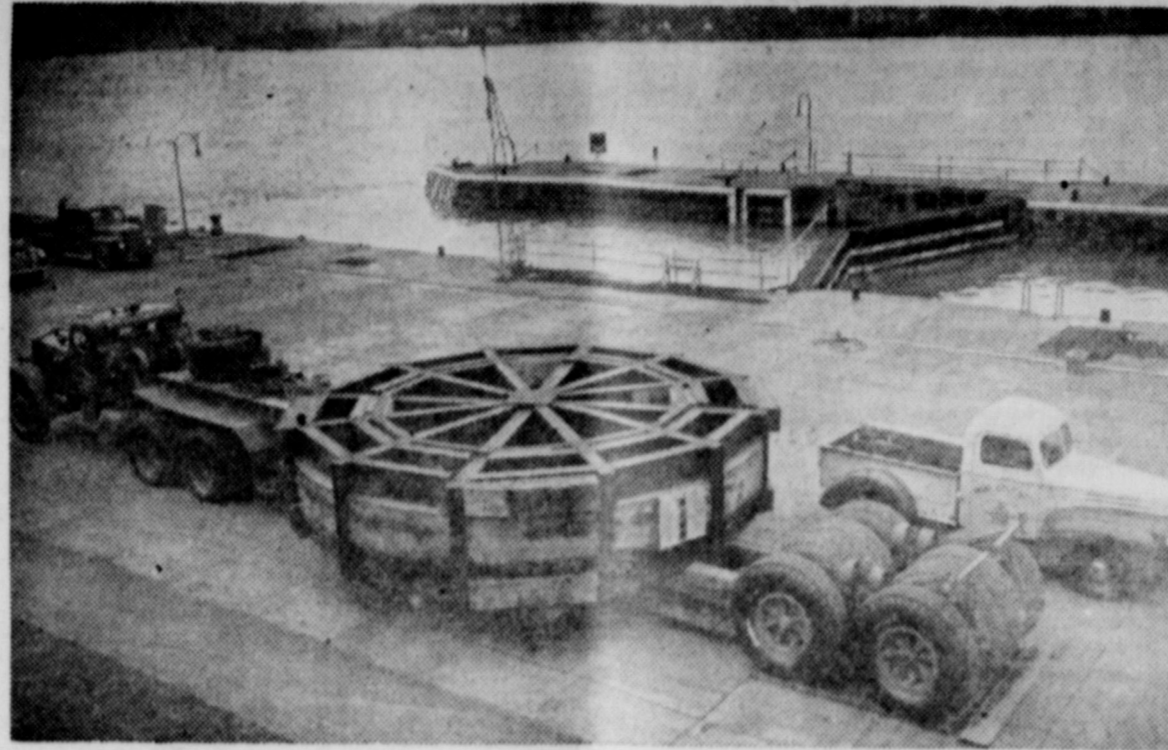

Conservation Plans Are Approved For County's Farms

The Supervisors of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District held their regular meeting April 28 at Benjamin, Texas. Those present were Jack Idol, Clay Grove, C. C. Browning, H. D. Gammill, and Fred P. Mika of the Soil Conservation Service.

The following conservation plans were approved: Carl Mahan, 255 acres near Hefner, and L. M. Patterson, 340 acres Southeast of Munday. Also approved were the following applications for assistance: Cecil S. Jetton, 147 acres, C. H. Stringfield, 246 acres, Earl Watson, 220 acres, D. W. Powell, 144 acres, W. C. Webb, 160 acres, Ira Short, 180 acres, Alton O. Jones, 484 acres, Pete Helton, 287 acres, and Dock Henderson, 180 acres. All these are farmers in new group number 60 located near Judd. The following applications for assistance were approved and placed in new group number 61, and are located about three miles Southeast of Munday. This group includes C. R. Elliott, 1132 acres, W. E. McNeill, 218 acres, J. A. Reid, 230 acres, O. D. McKennon, 160 acres, and F. L. Peavy, 187 acres. Applications were approved for Barney Arnold, 1297 acres, in old group number 3, and O. D. Propps, 320 acres in old group number 25.

Soil conservation service technicians assisting the District have been running terrace lines on Lloyd Griffith from Southeast of Benjamin, and C. H. Stringfield from near Judd.

97-TON ATOM SMASHER

THIS ATOM-SMASHING coil may also have its place in trucking history, too. After many months of controversy because of its weight—97 tons—the coil was delivered to Carnegie Institute of Technology's Nuclear Research center at Saxonburg, Pa. The coil was wound in Brooklyn Navy Yard as the Bureau of Naval Research's contribution to the atomic research program. But highway commissioners blocked overland delivery, forcing a 3600-mile water voyage via the Gulf of Mexico, the Mississippi, Ohio and Allegheny rivers. Despite claims of highway experts that such heavy loads would crush the Pennsylvania roads, Pittsburgh papers reported: "the coil, carried on I-beams equipped with heavy-duty 1400x24 General tires, was trucked 33 miles from the Kittanning, Pa., locks to Saxonburg, Pa., without damage to the highways. Most of the highways traveled were secondary roads, at that." Navy officials, claiming this one of the largest hauling jobs ever undertaken by them, attributed the successful hauling to "proper sized tires and mechanically perfect equipment."

FARM NEWS

PROGRAM
from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

How Much Grain Will We Have To Store?

In years gone by farmers have always had the comfortable assurance that if they didn't have room enough to store their grain at home they could store it somewhere else. Now there is no such comforting assurance. The suggestion has been made time after time that farmers should watch crop prospects closely and be prepared to put up more storage at home rather than count on being able to get off-the-farm storage.

The April crop report estimates a 1949 winter wheat crop of 1 billion 50 million bushels. This would be the second largest wheat crop in the history of the nation. A report of expected plantings issued March 21, spring wheat plantings were up about 4 percent over last year. Added to this increased acreage moisture conditions in the spring wheat areas are ideal usually means high production.

The amounts of grain stored on farms from last year's crop are far in excess of the average for the past 10 years. About 240 million bushels of wheat compared to the average for the ten-year period 1938-47 of 202 million bushels. Oat stocks are the largest on record with 577 million bushels compared to 473 million bushels average for the past 10 years; barley, 111 million bushels compared to 94 for 10 year average. This shows 157 million bushels more small grain on farms now than the past 10 year average with prospects for another big crop this year.

It is most important that each farmer determine what his storage requirements will be to get a price support on his grain.

Don't Forget The Wind

Are you preparing your land to blow away? Asks Emmett Partridge, Chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Association Committee.

The Chairman says that there are many indications that farmers have forgotten the "dust bowls" and what can happen to soil when the humus and clods are all worked out of it. Good crops and high prices have led many farmers to take daring chances with the topsoil of millions of acres.

The farmers of Knox County are aware of the danger that comes from plowing up to much for the past year and cropping the land year after year without a return to a crop that will build up the humus. The wheat land taken out of brush and grass for a year or two is held together by the roots and vegetation that has been plowed under. But year after year of cropping, especially if the straw is burned, leaves the soil broken up into fine particles.

As long as the soil is protected by a growing crop it may be reasonably safe but after it is plowed or worked down with harrows or weeders, it becomes a "blow hazard" which threatens not only the land in this condition but adjoining land as well.

Mr. Partridge points out that the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance for farmers for practices which protect the land against blowing. Practices designed to give effective protection against wind erosion include: Field strip cropping, working crop residues into the surface layer of the soil, instead of turning them under, subsoiling to bring up clods that will hold the soil, establishing a perennial vegetative cover such as crested wheatgrass, clover, or alfalfa, and protecting the land with a surface mulch. (Use only those practices applicable in your county.)

Mr. Partridge warned that dry weather and winds may come any time and that the best way to avoid that "gone with the wind" regret is to keep the land protected with conservation practices which tie down the soil.

Loan Cotton To Be Pooled.

Producers are urged to give serious consideration to marketing their 1948 loan cotton before July 31, according to B. F. Vance, Chairman of the Texas Production and Marketing Administration Committee.

On that day, cotton loans mature, and on the following day—August 1—all 1948 crop cotton which is still under loan will be pooled by the Commodity Credit Corporation and sold for producers' accounts. Farmers may either sell their "equity" in the loan cotton or redeem the cotton from the loan and then sell it in the open market.

At present market prices, farmers should be able to dispose of a substantial amount of this cotton at prices that will give them some net profits above the loan and charges against the cotton.

The net proceeds from the sale of the pooled cotton, after deduction of all advances, interest, and accrued costs—including storage, insurance, and handling charges—will be distributed among the producers whose cotton was placed in the pools in proportion to the amount of the loans. No payment will be made

Experiment Station Recommends Use Of The Rotary Hoe

Editor's Note: The following is a letter from the Lubbock Experiment Station which we are reproducing by request:

Dear Mr. Lerner:

In accordance with your request concerning our experience with the rotary hoe on the Lubbock Station, we are glad to furnish the following brief summary:

The rotary hoe attachment is a new tool in this region and is receiving excellent farm acceptance as it fills a definite need in our cultural practice. By its picker action it effectively controls young annual weed growth when the field crop is too small to throw dirt to the plants. By running directly over the plants it uproots young weed seedlings and allows the top soil to dry, preventing continued emergence of weeds. In addition, there is a definite stimulating effect following its use. Where rains occur after planting and before seedling emergence, it can be used to break the unit or tool and works best at high tractor speed. Running in fourth gear it will cover some sixty acres or more per day, depending upon the number of rows and the hours operated.

When it is used in conjunction with the cultivator or the god-dent knives, it acts as an efficient rotating fender, allowing three and four leaf plants to be cultivated in fourth gear without being covered. The cultivation or knifing of small plants at speeds exceeding 5 mph. is a sight to behold. The rotary hoes will not damage cotton plants until fruiting time.

The bulk of all hoeing is for weeds in the drill row and it can readily be seen how useful this tool can be in eradicating or cutting down the number of hoe hours, which is both a slow operation and the second most expensive in the production of cotton. At present this is practically the only tool that will control small weeds in the drill row before close sweep cultivation is possible.

In 1947, due to late planting and little rain following planting, all annual weeds were controlled to such an extent that no hoeing was required. In 1948, the hoe bill was reduced 60 percent where this tool was used.

We might state that we set up adjoining blocks of land, one in which the rotary hoe was used from the start and the other in which it was not used, in order to make these comparisons.

With best wishes for the New Year, I am

Signed:

Sincerely yours,
D. L. Jones

I see by the papers that the palatial home of the late Dr. John R. Brinkley at Del Rio is for sale.

Your columnist met the famous gland specialist twice. He was a handsome dresser, wore a huge diamond ring and was distinguished looking. He had a goatee.

The most striking feature of the home from the outside—(I was never in the mansion)—was a fountain. At night, different-colored lights alternated in changing the water from purple to red to green to gold.

More than one tourist, returning from a round of beverages on the other side of the Rio Grande, thought he was "seeing things" and "swore off."

The fountain was said to have cost several thousand dollars.

It caused people to talk about Dr. Brinkley.

And that probably was the idea.

Dr. Brinkley moved to Del Rio from Kansas where he had made a strong race for governor. He had had run-ins with some of the newspapers there. So when he was introduced to the Del Rio editor, Dr. Brinkley said, "I don't think much of some newspapermen." The editor, himself a forthright kind of chap, replied, "That makes us even—I don't think much of some doctors."

The two got along well.

The son of Dr. Brinkley is now attending Yale. When he graduated from Del Rio high a few years ago, this columnist delivered the commencement address.

A philosopher once said, "Some men in public office grow; others swell."

And an expressive remark, after someone has made some strong statement is the one with which the speaker winds up his unfavorable comments, "That's Sears-Roebuck talk." Meaning, if anybody doesn't like it, he'll take it back.

Weekly Health LETTER

of Texas
Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer

AUSTIN—The summer season always brings an increase in the incidence of dysentery, diarrhea, and enteritis, all of which are major menaces to the lives of small children, annually causing the deaths of hundreds of Texas youngsters.

The State Health Officer, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, declares that the chief cause of these intestinal diseases are contaminated milk, water or food; allowing the child to get overheated or exhausted; excessive sugar in the infant's formula, and foods that have been improperly refrigerated.

"All foods should be clean and fresh, and all left-overs should be refrigerated so as to avoid spoilage. The utmost care should be used in preparing the infant's formula which should, of course, be prescribed by a physician, and his recommendations as to sanitation precautions and correct refrigeration should be implicitly followed."

The State Health Officer warned parents especially of the danger of disease transmission by flies. Children in any home that is not free from flies, are in danger of contracting dysentery or other intestinal diseases which may be fatal.

"If dysentery or diarrhea appear in your child, call your doctor immediately", Dr. Cox advises. "His treatment of the disease is your best insurance against fatal results, since such diseases are really a very serious threat to the child's life. Don't depend on home remedies for diarrhea or dysentery; consult a competent physician and let him institute the safest and best treatment which medical science has available, for combating these wasting diseases."

R. D. Atkeison, M. F. Billing-sley, J. L. Stodghill, Henry Atkeison of Haskell, and Leland Hannah returned home last week from their annual fishing trip to the San Saba river, near Menard. They reported good fishing until the rains drove them out.

culated to bring about a big saving to the city and to make us all happier in the long run.

The saving will be in the operation of our fogging machine, because the sewer plant has been the biggest breeding place for mosquitoes the town has had.

And these improvements are aimed primarily to stop this mosquito breeding; then if there's less mosquitoes we won't have to "fog" the town so often.

And greater happiness will come to us when we won't have to fight so many mosquitoes. One mosquito can keep us awake for hours and hours, but when they plumb out-number us, we become flabbergasted.

And it's a good idea for us all to begin looking around for mosquito breeding places, too, and start out to eliminate them.

Anyway, we're plumb much obliged to Mr. Hobert, who nearly fought a lone battle last year, but who didn't give up until he got some help and cooperation.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Loving and daughter of McCamey spent last week here with relatives and friends.
