

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

Writing a column without an idea is quite a man-sized job. Try it sometime.

That's about the situation we're in this week, as all ideas we conjure up seem to sorta melt into nothingness in about two paragraphs.

And with things going on all around us, filling the newspapers with stories of this, that and the other, we've just about concluded it's the cogs in our noodle—if any—that aren't working.

We thought we might write about the weather, but decided our writing about it possibly wouldn't bring about any change.

Then we thought of what some writer—might have been Mark Twain—saying that "Everybody cusses and discusses the weather, but nobody seems to do anything about it."

So ended the weather situation—a topic of general discussion at this particular time—without more than three paragraphs toward a weekly column finished.

Then the idea of a twister—or tornado—seemed to click in some demote corner of our noodle. That's a splendid topic, we think, with one coming almost every night, bringing damage and destruction and grief and sorrow to numerous spots in Texas, as well as other states.

We think, "Twisters are just terrible" and that just about ended our thoughts on the subject.

We concluded that a twister is a heap big whirlwind that you'd better not get close to if you can help it.

Anyway, they've been getting closer and closer to us during recent maneuvers, and they've gotten most everyone in Munday to realize they're storm conscious and storm cellarless.

We thought we might write about the combines. Well, they've come into the area in great numbers and are waiting for the wheat harvest. What a wonderful topic.

Everybody who has wheat is combine conscious. If he owns a combine he has it in shape. If he doesn't own one, he's contacted someone who does, and they've both just kinda waiting on time and the weather.

"Time waits for no man" and the weather comes as it wants to, so the combines and the men and the wheat are just sorta marking time and waiting for weather to clear up.

The wheat crop presented another good idea for a column, what with one of the best prospects in years and the weather acting up.

We thought of all things the wheat farmer has gone through with this crop, and could figure out why his face began to lengthen as he watched an approaching cloud.

Last fall, it was too dry to plant in lots of places. The farmer wanted some wet weather along about then. But he went ahead and "dusted" in his wheat. In lots of cases, and hoped for enough rain to bring it up.

It came up, but it was kinda late, and because of this his plans for pasturing cattle on it for a good, long period didn't pan out exactly.

Then came the snow and sleet and freezing rain of wintertime, which didn't look too good for the wheat, and those cattle had to be fed daily.

Then came the thaw, and it looked like the wheat would just come plumb out of the ground as the soil became mushy and mush-roomy. Farmers worried about what those exposed roots would do.

But the lowly wheat survived and as a bumper crop was assured, as far as moisture was (Continued on Last Page)

Munday Library Being Moved To C. D. A. Office

Welcomed news to the reading public is the announcement that the Munday Public Library is being moved to the office of the Community Development Association.

The library has been maintained by the Munday Study Club at their club house for a number of years, and it is believed the public will welcome the fact that it will now be located where it will be more readily accessible.

An arrangement was completed by the C. D. A. directors and the library committee from the Munday Study Club whereby the library will occupy space in the C. D. A. office. The library is closed at present for moving operations, and will be re-opened in its new location the latter part of next week.

Miss Bobby Price, who is serving as C. D. A. secretary, will also serve as librarian, and the library will be open six days a week, instead of the one day under the old setup. The Munday Study Club continues as sponsors of the library.

Approximately 1,000 books are now stocked in the library, including books of readers of all ages, and more will be added as time goes by.

The Munday Study Club is adding new shelves and having the old shelves remodeled to fit the space provided for the library. This is being done by the co-operation of Instructor John Inman and his class of veterans.

It is believed the library will serve many more readers under the new arrangement, as it will be easily reached by those desiring reading material.

Munday's all-star softball team is getting off to a good start by hitting the winning column for their first four games. Lennie Kuehler is manager of the team.

Local officials and fans state that the Munday field has been under water during the wet weather, but they hope to have the field in shape so home games can be played here by next week.

The four wins for the locals thus far have been by the following scores:

Munday 11, Goree 5; Munday 9, Haskell 1; Munday 5, Stamford 0, this being a no-hit, no-run game for pitcher Al Kuehler; Munday 6, Weinert 4.

Vera Man Cuts First Acreage Of '49 Wheat

The first acreage of 1949 wheat to be harvested in Knox county was that of Olen Beach, of Vera, according to A. W. Linden, representative of the Texas Employment Commission. Mr. Linden stated that Mr. Beach harvested forty acres on May 24, and got a yield of from 35 to 40 bushels per acre. The wheat was taken to Owen Smith of the Red Springs Mill and Elevator Co.

The wheat was cut by Clyde Shamburg of Glargow, Kans., who had three self-propelled combines in operation.

Some wheat was cut in the Munday area the first of this week, but the elevator operators stated it was yet too green for storage and operations were delayed a few days longer.

Many combines have come into the area and are ready for the harvest, which is expected to get into full swing within the next few days.

Graford Campbell Injured In Accident; One Person Killed

Graford Campbell, former Munday boy and Texas Christian University student, was injured in a three-car smashup in Ford Worth last Sunday that claimed the life of one man. Campbell was sent to the hospital for treatment of his injuries.

Roberts, Moseley and Campbell were in the same car. All were former students at the Masonic Home and School and had planned to attend a homecoming of the home on Sunday.

Employment Service To Help In Placing Combines In Area

Word comes from the Texas Employment Commission, with offices in Wichita Falls, that the commission is ready to assist farmers in securing combines during the wheat harvest.

Mr. A. W. Linden will have an office in the county agent's office in Benjamin. The telephone number is 58.

If farmers need combines, they should contact Mr. Linden and he will see that they are available. This service will be of benefit to combine operators, as well as farmers, in that the machines will be placed where they are needed and will not become "piled up" in one area.

Banquet Held For Committees Of Boy Scouts

Committeemen of the Boy Scouts from three counties, Baylor, Knox and Throckmorton, were entertained at a banquet Tuesday night, May 17th, held in Seymour at the Rock Inn Cafe.

Master of Ceremonies was Milton Wyatt of Wichita Falls, who is Chief Boy Scout Representative over thirteen counties.

At this banquet, the committeemen planned a year's scouting for the boy scouts and the cut scouts. The Munday scouts will go to Camp Perkins in Wichita County, and which is owned by the boy scouts, from June 19 to 25th. On Friday night, July 22, scouts of the three counties, Baylor, Knox and Throckmorton, will have a scout camporee at Camp Golden in Bortomart.

Then from August 7 to 13th, all the scouts from these counties, who are fourteen years or older, may spend a week at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, and will be under army supervision. And on August 4, 5 and 6th, the boy scouts will enjoy a swim-meet to be held in Seymour. There will be swimming contests and swimming lessons.

Committeemen from Knox county to attend this banquet were: Clay Grove, institutional representative; John Inman, chairman of the committee; Dr. Joseph M. Also Troy Lindsey, cub scout committeeman and Chalmer Hobert, group committeeman.

The boy scouts of Munday are rapidly progressing and growing and are now under the sponsorship of the Community Development Association.

Goree Receives Wheat Tuesday

The first wheat of the season was brought to the Valley Grain Co. Tuesday by W. G. Lambeth. It was No. 1 testing 1360 and averaging 22 bushels per acre.

This is the beginning of one of the largest wheat crops in this country with a large acreage and high yield expected. Very little damage has been done by hail up to this writing.

ATTEND REUNION OF STAMFORD COLLEGE

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Caughran and Lee Haymes of Munday and Orb Coffman of Goree attended the reunion to ex-students of Stamford College, which was held at McMurry College, Abilene, last Saturday.

Mr. Coffman was elected president of the class of 1914. Around 200 ex-students of the college attended the reunion.

Another of Munday's old landmarks began "passing out of the picture" last Monday morning, as workmen started razing the main auditorium of the First Baptist church and clearing the grounds for the erection of a new structure.

Work of demolishing the old building is expected to be almost completed this week, and construction on the new brick building will get under way as soon as possible.

Annex For Sale

Members of the building committee have announced that the two annex buildings will be sold on Saturday, May 28. Sealed bids are now being accepted, and these will be opened on that date. The committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The new buildings will be brick and will be large enough to take care of the needs of this congregation, for many years. The old structure has been in use approximately 40 years.

Regular services will be carried on in the Munday school auditorium while the new building is under construction, it was stated.

16 Seniors Get Diplomas At Graduation

Graduation exercises for the Munday high school seniors were held on Tuesday evening, May 24, at the high school auditorium. Many relatives and friends were in attendance.

L. Goolsby gave the presentation of the class, while J. E. Reeves, president of the school board, presented diplomas to the 16 graduates.

Wins Rotary Award

The award which was started by the Rotary Club of giving a scholarship to the graduate who was voted outstanding in academic, citizenship and athletic activities was awarded to Durwood Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scott and outstanding football player of the season.

This award is being continued by the Community Development Association each year to encourage students participating in athletics to also apply themselves to their studies.

Receiving diplomas in the exercises are: Martha Nell Bullington, Peggy Clough, Wynell Fitzgerald, Betty Hendrix, Yvonne Morris, Frances Nance, Hattie Ann Phillips, Gwynna Lee Smith, Joyce Yarbrough, Jimmy Boyles, John McClaren, Glen Ray Morrow, Billy Jake Myers, Durwood Scott, Tommy Shaw and Jessie George Smith.

Graham Wins In Golf Tourney

Jeff Graham of Knox City defeated Chad Wilson, also of Knox City, 1 up last Sunday to win the championship of the Munday Municipal Country Club annual golf tournament.

At the completion of the 34th hole, Wilson was 1 up over Graham, but the Knox City postmaster took the last two holes and the championship. Omer Cure of Gilliland defeated Carl Mingles of Goree for first flight honors, and Buster Chamberlain of Goree downed E. B. Littlefield to take the second flight.

Around 50 players qualified in the tournament, and much interest was shown.

Plans are now going forward for holding the Tri-County Golf Tournament here later in the summer.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

THE SAME MEDICINE

Some time ago, in testimony before a Senate committee, Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, a former president of the Illinois State Medical Society, told of his experiences under socialized medicine in both Germany and England.

Dr. Ochsner described what was happening in England in these words: "As the doctor stepped into the waiting room he said to more than 40 patients seated there, 'Will those of you who are troubled with headaches please stand?' Six stood up. He then reached into his desk and took out six identical printed prescriptions and handed one to each of the six standing patients and dismissed them. . . . The six might have had six different causes for the headaches. They got the same medicine. . . ."

Describing the standards of medical practice in Germany, where a comparable system prevailed, he said: "The treatments were mostly palliative, rarely curative; and no time was spent in personal hygiene and preventive medicine. The doctor's time was so taken up with forms and like trivialities that none was left for the more important problems, such as careful personal histories and general examinations."

It can be argued that the character and ability of the individual doctor do not change when free medicine is turned into political medicine. But the point is that the doctor is so burdened by red tape and bureaucratic rules that he just is absorbed by people who come for treatment whether they are sick or not—on the grounds that the government is giving it to them and they might as well get it. It's happened abroad. And it would happen here.

STIMULANT TO INFLATION

It would be a daring man indeed who would say that the forces of inflation have been spent in the United States. However, there has been a noticeable decline in the cost of living in general during late months, and there are signs that it will continue, even though on a modest scale.

That should be taken into consideration in the discussions, pro and con, surrounding the proposal to heavily increase the minimum wage, under the Federal Fair Employment Act. In the view of many economists, a high minimum wage would be a strong stimulant toward a new inflationary spiral.

The reason for this is that the minimum wage has an influence on more than that small part of the labor force to which it directly applies. It inevitably leads to wage increases throughout the entire industrial structure, including the highest paid categories of skilled craftsmen. When the unskilled, marginal worker gets a heavy percentage jump in pay, those who perform more difficult and responsible tasks feel that they should also get a fatter pay envelope. So up go wages again—and prices follow, to the detriment of everyone.

Furthermore, the late declines in employment provide another strong case against a high minimum. There are many enterprises, such as retailing, which have room for beginners and untrained people, and which give them invaluable experience with which to go ahead in the world. But if the employer has to pay more for minor work than it is worth to him he will naturally seek ways to eliminate it. Then the unskilled will find fewer and fewer places to get a start.

If a manufacturer charges too much for his product, he prices himself out of his market. The identical principle can apply to labor.

Moffett Gives Highlights Of Legislature

AUSTIN, Texas, May 21—The present session of the legislature will probably adjourn in about three weeks. Thus will end another biennial meeting of the state's lawmaking body.

A session of the Legislature once each year would probably bring about better government, particularly if it were confined to a ninety-day session, because necessary changes and adjustments could be made promptly. The mass of business that now accumulates for the session every two years is too heavy to be handled wisely. The people will be asked to vote on the annual session idea at a special election this September.

The clause in our present Constitution calling for a regular session every two years was adopted in 1876, when the state's population was less than a million people. Texas now has over seven million people, and the business of the state government has expanded so much that it seems wise to many observers to change our Constitution and provide for the proposed annual session.

Commissioners courts and city councils usually meet once a month, as do school boards. If they met only once every two years their affairs would become badly tangled. The same reasoning applies to the business of the state government.

A senator's mail is important, for it tells him what the folks back home think and want. We have such a large variety of subjects to deal with that it is impossible for any one member to fully understand all of the points involved.

Our mail gives valuable side-lights on pending questions and often brings out points that the member had not thought of. Nearly sixteen hundred bills have been introduced at this session, and a member sometimes gets several hundred letters about just one of these bills. Consequently, a member's mail is sometimes so heavy that it is impossible to answer it promptly or to even read it all the same day that it arrives. However, because of the valuable information these letters furnish, I certainly would not want to see them dwindle in number.

Texas may join the thirty states permitting jury service for women, if the people say yes at the September election. This question has long been a debatable issue, but the Legislature has passed a constitutional amendment leaving the matter to the voters.

Repeal of the poll tax is another question that will likely appear on the September ballot. The Legislature has not finally submitted this question to the people as yet, for the reason that an agreement has not been reached as to the form or registration which will be required in lieu of a poll tax receipt. All states not using a poll tax have a carefully worked out system of registration for voters in order to keep down repeat voting which would thrive in the absence of a registration system. More next week.

Weekly Health LETTER of Texas
Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer

AUSTIN—Hookworm disease is found frequently in those communities where sanitary toilet facilities are inadequate, and where infected human excreta is permitted to contaminate the soil. Persons who come in contact with that soil, either by going barefooted or by handling the dirt, contract hookworm disease when the hookworms from such soil bore through their skin and make their way to the human intestine.

"The main characteristics of hookworm disease", says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, "are listlessness and apparent laziness, and many a child and adult has been called lazy, when in reality he was suffering from hookworm disease. Sometimes there is abdominal pain, nausea, and diarrhea, but this is unusual."

Inability to perform efficient work, and general weakness of the patient make this disease not only a public health but an economic problem, and it can be eliminated only by carefully following two steps: first, providing sanitary disposal for human wastes, and by treating until cured, all infected persons. When the infected persons are cured, and can no longer transmit the worms to others, and when safe sewage disposal is at the command of all homes and communities, then hookworm disease need no longer cost the people of Texas the tremendous sum that it now does, annually, both in money and sickness.

Dr. Cox stated that the treatment of hookworm disease should be done by a competent physician, and not by self-medication. Full information for building sanitary privies may be

Knox Prairie Philosopher Worrys Over Crop Controls, But Not The Way You'd Think If You Didn't Know Him

Editor's note: The Knox prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has heard about the prospects for crop control next year, and is worrying us with his worries, as follows.

Dear editor:
Ever since I got word the government was considerin on goin back in the crop control business, I've had me up a mail box out here, and while a coffee can nailed to a mesquite tree may not come up to the standards of the United States Post Office Department, the thing works, at least mail has been showin up in it addressed to me, and as long as a thing works I don't care what standards it fails to come up to. We've even had Presidents that didn't come up to standard in some respects but the country held together, and yesterday I got a notice from the AAA to figure up the average amount of acreage I've had in various crops the past five years, and I don't mind sayin the thing has me stumped.

It ain't no easy job for me to sit down and say exactly what crops I've grown the past five years. You can start out plantin twenty acres of a crop, but if the grass starts closin in on you and you got somethin more important to do than plow, you may not wind up with more'n four or five acres, scattered here and there throughout the field where the grass didn't get no toe hold, but as for actually gettin out there and measurin it down to the quarter-acre, I ain't never done it and don't intend to.

For example, in 1944 it seems to me like I planted cotton in a ten-acre field north of the house, or how did cotton stalks get there and what are them farrows doin there, but if I sold any cotton off of it I believe I'd have remembered it, but things escape your memory, especially when you're tryin to make a crop and still not neglect the United Nations, the European crisis, etc. Also, me and my wife is still arguin over whether that was volunteer corn in my Johnson grass or volunteer Johnson grass in my corn in 1945, and since there ain't no place on the government form for Johnson grass, and I want to be honest about this thing, I'll admit I don't know what to put down, and if you leave a government form blank you've rocked the foundations of bureaucracy, it's like talkin about your wife's kin folks, you'll never hear the last of it, hound you about it the rest of your life. A government clerk with an un-filled-out form or your signature on the wrong line is worse than a busted first cousin.

Some farmers maybe can tell you exactly what they planted in 1946 and how much they made down to the penny, but farmin with me ain't no assembly-line production outfit, it's a way of life, and when I get through a year's farmin I'd just rather forget about the details, don't even want to know how much I lost, don't even want to know what I did wrong, don't even want to speculate on whether another plowin would have saved this crop or that one. Just want to forget about it and hope this year turns out better.

If you have any notions about what I could put down on this form to satisfy the government, will appreciate hearin from you. Some of my neighbors is afraid the government is gonna cut down on their acreage, not let em plant as much as they want to, but such thoughts don't worry me. It ain't how much I can't plant, it's how much I have to, that keeps me worried.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Miss Billie Fern Thompson, who has been attending McMurry College in Abilene, came in one day last week to spend the summer months with her father, T. L. Thompson, and other relatives and friends.

Farm Units In Wyoming To Open For Homestead

One hundred four individual farm units of about 130 acres each have been opened for homestead settlement on the Heart Mountain Division of the Bureau of Reclamation's Shoshone Project in northwestern Wyoming, according to K. F. Vernon, of Billings, Mont., director of Bureau's Region 6.

Included in the opening, the third on this division since the end of World War II, are 12,073 acres of irrigable land. The average farm unit contains 116 acres of irrigable land and about 15 acres of non-irrigable land suitable for pasture and other purposes. Veterans of World War II are given preference of application.

Applications to the irrigable farms received by the superintendent of the Shoshone Project at Cody, Wyo., by 2 p. m., July 12 will be considered simultaneously filed. Copies of the public notices, application forms and detailed information about the opening may be secured from the regional director's office, R. H. Workinger, manager of the Big Horn District, Bureau of Reclamation, Cody, or from the Shoshone Project office.

One hundred of the 104 units are near Ralston, Wyo.; the remaining four are three miles north of Cody. The units have never been cultivated. Canals, laterals and other structures to bring the irrigation water to the farm units have been constructed by the Bureau of Reclamation.

Applications for the farm units received before the close of the simultaneous filing period and which are complete, including proof of veterans' preference, will be entered in a public drawing to establish a priority by which veterans will be considered for the available farms. Following the drawing, the applications will be reviewed by an examining Board composed of local citizens and one bureau of Reclamation employee. If the applications are found in order and the applicants meet all requirements, they will be allowed to select farm units in the order established by the drawing.

Minimum requirements provide that the prospective homesteader must have had the equivalent of at least two years of full-time farming experience after reaching the age of 18, have $3,000 in cash or useful assets, must be of good health and character, industrious, and be able to meet the requirements of the homestead and reclamation laws.

The bureau of Reclamation plans to make available to the new homesteader for use as farm buildings, the approximate equivalent of one barracks building at the Heart Mountain Relocation Center midway between Cody and Powell, Wyo. As an incident to the completion of the project, the Bureau will assist entrymen, in appropriate cases and on a reimbursable basis, in the clearing and rough leveling of the land and in the layout of farm ditches and irrigation structures.

The soils on the Heart Mountain Division are well adapted to irrigation farming. Major crops are expected to be beans, peas, alfalfa, sugar, beets, clover, small grains and potatoes. Livestock raising and fattening will be another major activity on the new farms.

Regional Director Vernon reported that 50 farm units, containing about 5,900 acres of irrigable land and about 600 acres of non-irrigable land, are slated for opening later this spring on the Riverton Project in central Wyoming.

For further information regarding homestead settlement see the county agricultural agent, Kenneth O. Lewis.

Two Heads Are Better Than One (Or None)

I get a kick out of buying stuff down at the hardware store. And I always ask for a little advice from one of the two brothers who run it, because I know beforehand exactly what the answer will be.

Like when I needed a new garden hose. "Henry," I says, "how about this new plastic hose—is it really as good as rubber?" "Well," he says, "I'm inclined to think it is—but you'd better ask Tom."

I found Tom in back and asks him the same question. "Well," says Tom, "in my opinion it is—but you'd better ask Henry." "I already have," I says, "and when you two cautious old codgers agree I'd bet my life on the decision."

From where I sit, your own opinion is worth a lot—but so's the other fellow's. That's why I keep saying, over and over, let's be tolerant of the other person's point of view—whether it's on politics or farming—or whether you like milk shakes and he prefers a temperate glass of beer.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Goesset

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20, 1949—The House is today debating the Armed Services Pay Adjustment bill. Like most bills, it has both good and bad features. Of course, there are differences of opinion as to what is good and what is bad. The bill seeks to minimize the alleged retirement racket in the armed services. Proponents say that many officers have been retired on full pay for minor disabilities or for disabilities that were not permanent and that such officers should be reexamined from time to time to justify such retirement. Under existing law, if an officer of the armed services is retired for disability, the action is permanent and he draws his retirement forever thereafter. Under the proposed bill, such officer would not be examined by physicians of his own organization but would submit to the medical authorities in the Veterans Administration for periodic checkups. Proponents of the bill point out that officers in the higher ranks have not had a pay increase since World War I. Opponents of this bill point out that such officers are reasonably well paid, even now; that living costs are going down, that pay increases are not necessary to keep the officer ranks full, because many who now seek to re-enlist as officers are not needed. It is further pointed out that this bill would add 360 million dollars per year to the costs of government and that if we are to hold the line on government spending we must stop somewhere. Opponents further point out that if this legislation is passed, we will then have to pass pending bills to increase the pay of all federal employees, adding at least another billion dollars to the federal budget.

Many other controversial bills are soon to come before the House for debate, including the DP bill, the Public Housing bill, Federal Aid to Education bill, Compulsory Health Insurance bill, the Wage and Hour bill, a new bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act, legislation to extend social security, a new farm program bill, etc.

In addition to these, a lot of bills about which there should be little controversy are ready for congressional action. My subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee this morning held hearings on H. R. 10 by Congressman Hobbs, of Alabama. This bill would authorize the Department of Justice to provide for education in camps or prisons all persons ordered deported. Under existing law, there are now 3,278 orders of deportation outstanding which are not enforceable. This means that we have ordered the deportation of 3,278 persons but we cannot deport them because the countries to which they must be deported will not take them back. Many of these people are dangerous, but we have been helpless to protect ourselves against them. They are free to roam the country, at will, just as anyone else. The case of Gerhart Eisler is in point. Under existing law, there was no way to lock him up. However, it appears ridiculous that we should now go to such complicated ends to get him back in order to eventually order his deportation. In my judgement, we should simply have said "good riddance" and have let him go, after forfeiting his outstanding bonds.

Many letters are reaching me in strong opposition to the public housing bill. Bear in mind, public housing means for the government to build, own, and operate the housing. This is considerably different from FH A, where the government simply guarantees the financing, or from the HOLC (Home Owners' Loan Corporation), which was simply supported by government money. One letter called my attention to a public housing project in the City of Dallas which the government built at a cost of 3 million 750 thousand dollars and which the government recently sold for $750,000. Opponents of public housing contend, with much logic that the results will be less housing at greater costs.

Representative Mills, of Arkansas, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, has proposed that corporations, estates, trusts, and known resident aliens pay all of their taxes within six months after the end of their taxable year instead of 12 months later as at the present. Mr. Mills says that individuals have to pay their taxes on a current basis, whereas the corporations pay theirs a year later. He further contends that his proposal would balance the budget for the time being at least. However, it is doubtful that Mr. Mills proposal will receive serious consideration at the present.

Sunset Seniors Have Enjoyable Trip To Points In Texas And Mexico

(Written By A Senior)
The Sunset seniors left May 13 at 5 a. m. on their senior trip. They were a sleepy but high-spirited bunch, despite the fact that it was Friday, the 13th. These going were: James Black, Billy Cammack, Marjorie Freeman, Margie Hollis, Weldon Mansfield, Patsy Matthews, Dennis Walling, Joe Lynn Floyd, Merle Tackett and the sponsors, M. G. Hannaford and Mrs. A. C. Tackitt.

They drove to Carlsbad, New Mexico, arriving in time for the boys to go swimming in the Pecos river. They also went speed boat riding and had a wonderful time. They went to a show that night, after having driven out to the Carlsbad Caverns to watch the boats come out of the gigantic, black mouth of the caverns. They spent the night at Black River Village. Saturday morning, they went through the caverns, where they saw the unique beauty of Mother Nature's underground wonderland. Weldon Mansfield remarked that "if they would move out the formations, perhaps we could see the caverns." After returning from the caverns Saturday evening, the seniors went on to El Paso. They spent the night at Camp Grande after making all the rounds at El Paso Saturday night. The girls really liked the looks of Ft. Bliss, or better still, the looks of the soldiers.

Sunday morning, the class journeyed to Juarez, Mexico. They made a very interesting tour through, buying curios for themselves and friends back home. After leaving Mexico, they left for Ft. Davis to spend the remaining two nights on Prude's Dude Ranch. That evening they visited the ruins of old Ft. Davis and saw Indian Family graves.

Monday morning, the boys and girls rode horses over the mountains. After returning, Marjorie decided she was really a tenderfoot. Well, tender, anyway!

They then started over the Texas scenic drive through the picturesque Davis mountains, and took pictures of the Sawtooth mountain and other lovely scenes. They drove to the Rockpile and had a very enjoyable excursion. They saw the rock that Kit Carson scratched his name on December 25, 1839. They also saw the Indian drawings on some of the huge rocks. After picnicing at the Rockpile, they drove to the McDonald Observatory and made a tour through it. This observatory has the second largest telescope in the world.

Later in the evening, they journeyed to Balmorhea to swim in the largest swimming pool in the U. S. The boys enjoyed swimming. The girls couldn't swim, but they had a good time trying. Patsy had James try to teach her how to swim, but I think she ended up teaching him.

They returned from Balmorhea and had supper at the ranch. The boys matched a basketball game with Ft. Davis team, and what an exciting game! Sunset came out on top with a score of 13 to 10.

Well, Tuesday morning, the seniors checked out and started for home. They drove through Alpine and looked over the campus of Sul Ross State College. They stopped at Ft. Stockton long enough for the boys to take a swim, then winged it on home, arriving at 7 o'clock. They found everything in Knox county wet, but all right.

The seniors had a very enjoyable trip. They wish to express their deepest heartfelt thanks to their sponsors, Mr. Hannaford and Mrs. A. C. Tackitt, and to one of their class members, Merle Tackitt, who drove the bus.

Patsy Ann Matthews Goes To State In Annual Ready Writers Contest

Miss Patsy Ann Matthews of Sunset entered the Ready Writers Contest of the Texas Interscholastic League this year. She won first place in the district meet at Weinert on her essay, "It's The Little Things That Count". On April 23, she went to the regional meet at Abilene, winning second place in this contest with her essay, "What Constitutes Good Citizenship".

This entitled her to enter the contest at the University of Texas, Austin. She went to Austin recently and submitted the effective essay which she wrote on "Who Could Go To College," but did not place as one of the top three. This was her second year to win a trip to Austin in literary events.

The following is her essay on "What Constitutes Good Citizenship" which won at the regional meet:

Good citizenship is one of the most important things that help make America what it is today. Good citizenship is essential to a democracy. It takes honest, loyal, truth-loving people to live close together and work harmoniously.

Good citizenship is a valuable trait for a government to own. It means loving our country well enough to die for it. It means voting every time election time rolls around. It means our neighbors as we love ourselves. It means all the kind, helpful things we do for someone to make his burden lighter.

Good citizenship means going to church every Sunday morning to praise God, the omnipotent Being.

Good citizenship is constituted often by the simple beauty of mother nature. To go hiking in the mountains some beautiful spring day, among the wooded labyrinths, and see all the diminutive insignificant plant life that depends on the blue lips of rain, and golden lips of the sun for a livelihood, reminds one of how our democratic government depends on us, the people, for its life. It gives us a good, strong yet humble feeling and we strive harder to be good citizens.

Good citizenship is truly the foundation of our government. If our country's citizenship consisted of mediocre people who didn't care what happened, America wouldn't be the safe, ethical haven that it is today. It takes citizens who endeavor to improve their standards of living. It takes citizens who work and are genuinely interested in the fate of their country. America, without its faithful citizens would be as a huge tree, spreading its leafy arms out, growing larger and more beautiful each day; yet decay would be gnawing at her once mighty trunk.

Good citizenship in our country has grown and reached out with hungry fingers, trying to draw everyone into its protective arms. If each of the forty million people in America were a good citizen, America wouldn't be faced with the lurking, menacing, malignant parasite, Communism. If each of us loved his country with an undying devotion, and strived to oust out the upgrowth of communism, and would look always to God, his Creator, his problems of good citizenship would be solved.

Good citizenship is to America, as food is to a man. It is the fuel that keeps our beloved democracy aglow. It is the shining beacon that beckens each of us for the welfare of his nation.

Without good citizenship, America and democracy means nothing, but with good citizenship, the heartbeat of our nation is steady, firm and strong. Let us keep it this way, fellow Americans, by striving to be a good citizen in every phase and walk of life.

FARM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

Loans On Farm Stored Wheat, Oats, Barley Renewable.

Farmers with 1949 crop wheat, oats and barley under Commodity Credit Corporation loan or purchase agreement may renew the loan for another year, B. F. Vance, Chairman of the Texas Production and Marketing Committee announces. These grains under purchase agreement may be put under loan.

Renewed loans will mature April 30, 1950. Arrangements for renewing loans may be made at county Agricultural Conservation Offices.

Grain under loan in public warehouses matured April 30, 1949 and is not eligible for loan renewal.

Wheat farmers taking part in the program will receive an immediate storage payment of 7 cents a bushel for the 1948-49 storage period, and from 10 to 11 and one-half cents, depending upon the area, for the 1949-50 period on wheat delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation at maturity of the loans.

The program is designed to slow down the flow of loan and purchase agreement grain off the farms in excess of market requirements. It is also a part of the Department's over-all objective to encouraging farm storage of grains for orderly marketing and effective price support.

Department compilations show that farm-storage loans had been made on approximately 60 million bushels of 1948-crop wheat, 13 million bushels of oats, and 22 million bushels of barley. Quantities under purchase agreements totaled about 113 million bushels of wheat, 8 and one-million bushels of oats, and 13 million bushels of barley. Figures are not available as to how much of the purchase agreement wheat, oats, and barley is still on the farms.

Loans on both farm-stored and warehouse-stored 1948-crop wheat, oats and barley became due on April 30, 1949. Today's announcement gives farmers the option of paying off the farm storage loans, delivering the grain to CCC, or renewing the loans for another year. Loans on warehouse-stored wheat, oats, and barley are not affected by today's announcement and became due on April 30, 1949.

On 1948-crop purchase agreement wheat, oats, and barley, the CCC had agreed to buy during the 30-day period immediately following the maturity date of the 1948 loans and quantity up to the maximum covered by agreements at applicable loan delivery. Today's announcement gives producers the option of selling this grain to CCC, or keeping it, or putting it under loan at the 1948-loan rate.

'Allotments' and 'Quotas'
News stories about "acreage allotments" and "marketing quotas" in connection with rapidly increasing stocks of farm commodities have prompted Mr. Vance, Chairman of the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee, to try to clear up some apparent confusion in the use of the terms.

"In view of the possibility that these farm-program provisions may once more be called on to prevent disrupted market conditions," Mr. Vance said, "farmers and others ought to be sure that they understand what is meant by 'allotments' and 'quotas.'"

"During the war, these parts of the national farm program were not used, so this confusion in the use of the two terms is not surprising. There is a very definite difference in meaning, however. The two words are not interchangeable."

An "acreage allotment," Mr. Vance explains, means that acreage which is required to grow a crop of the size needed. A national allotment is set by the Secretary of Agriculture and then broken down by States, counties, and farms. A farmer may comply or not with his farm allotment, but if he does not he is not entitled to receive Government price supports on his crop.

A "marketing quota" for a basic crop, on the other hand, represents that supply necessary to meet all market demands for that crop and insure a safe carryover. The national quota is divided among States, counties and farms by means of acreage allotments. A farm's quota—usually the entire production from that farm's acreage allotment—represents that farm's share of the national market for the particular crop. Marketing in excess of the farm quota are subject to penalty.

When supplies of a commodity reach a certain level, fixed by law, marketing quotas must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture, but they must be approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting in a referendum before they may be put into operation. One quota are approved, however, they apply to all growers of that crop.

In other words, here are the main differences between "allotments" and "quotas".

Acreage allotments for basic crops may be used each year as a means of producing a crop of the size needed. In years when supplies of a crop are excessive, quotas may be called into operation, when approved by growers, as a means of marketing that crop in an orderly manner.

Acreage allotments can be used without quotas. Marketing quotas require the use of acreage allotments, for the allotments are a means of dividing the market among growers.

Farmers vote on whether or not they want to use quotas in marketing their crop, and two-thirds of the farmers voting must approve quotas before they may be put into operation. No vote is held on whether to use acreage allotments.

If a farmer does not comply with his acreage allotment, he becomes ineligible to receive price supports on his crop, but this is his only loss. If marketing quotas are in effect and a farmer markets more than his quota, he must pay a penalty on his excess marketings.

Electric Power To Be Increased At Lake Pauline

QUANAH—The West Texas Utilities Company recently announced plans for doubling the generating capacity of the Lake Pauline power plant. A 27,000 horse power turbo-generator is to be added to the present generating equipment making available more than 47,000 horse power for electric power generation.

"This generator will provide additional electric power for the industrial and agricultural development of this region," said Price Campbell, WTU Co. president. The Pauline plant expansion is a basic part of the Company's $20,000,000 construction program to provide more and better electric service for the area we serve.

The turbo-generator, which will require more than five freight cars to transport from the factory, was ordered in April, 1947 and Company plans and work predated that order by many months. The manufacturer has promised delivery of the unit in the fall of 1950. When the unit goes into operation in April, 1951, it will have taken more than four years overall since the start to complete the project.

"The installation of the new generating unit is but a small part of the necessary work," Campbell pointed out. An addition, 75 feet by 63 feet, equivalent to a steel framed masonry and concrete building 4 stories high will be built to house the new unit. Thousands of cubic yards of concrete will be poured and millions of pounds of steel set in place to prepare the foundation for the generating unit alone. In addition, a huge boiler 40 feet by 59 feet by 89 feet, capable of generating 250,000 pounds of steam per hour, will be installed as a separate unit south of the present plant building.

The West Texas Utilities Co. will, before September, erect a construction office and a warehouse for the construction superintendent and his staff. The actual plant construction will begin in October.

"One of the most difficult jobs a utility company faces," said Campbell, "is predicting future power needs. The industrial expansion and growth of this area makes accurate forecasting of anticipated power needs a number one project of our engineering department."

Non-Resident Truck Registration Is Required On Vehicles To Haul Wheat

The 51st Legislature recently passed Senate Bill No. 75 authorizing the State Highway Department to issue to a non-resident owner a 60-day temporary registration for any truck, truck-tractor, trailer or semi-trailer to be used in harvesting and marketing of wheat and similar grains produced in Texas. The bill provides that such temporary registration may be issued for the movement of such grains from the place of production to market, storage, or rail head. The bill further provides that operators engaged in transporting wheat or other similar grains produced in this state between two or more incorporated cities or towns for hire must secure permits from the Texas Railroad Commission as provided by Texas statutes.

The temporary registration license is to be issued for 60 days, by any county tax collector, and the fee will be one-sixth of the annual registration fee for the vehicle. No application for Texas title is necessary with this type of registration. In the case of a single vehicle, only one registration is to be issued, but in the case of a truck-tractor, semi-trailer combination, a license is to be issued for each vehicle.

These licenses are to be issued only to non-residents of Texas, and only when the vehicle is legally registered in the non-resident owner's home state for the current year. The license will remain valid only so long as the home state registration is valid; but in no event for more than 60 days from the date of issuance. The license is not renewable after its expiration, and in the event the owner operates the vehicle in Texas after expiration of the permit, it will then be necessary that such vehicle be registered under regular Texas license plates for the remainder of the registration year and application made for Texas title. No such vehicle may be registered with farm license.

All non-resident vehicles used in harvesting or marketing of wheat or other similar grains in this state will not be allowed to operate without this temporary registration. Maximum gross weight allowed in this state is 48,000 pounds with a maximum load limit of not to exceed 18,000 pound on any axle. Operators of those vehicles holding a valid commercial operator's license from their home state will not be required to secure a Texas commercial operator's license. Sheriff Homer T. Melton has urged local farmers to see that trucks, trailers, pickups, etc., be registered in Texas before they are hired. If this is done, they will not be delayed in the midst of harvest by having non-resident trucks held out of the fields.

A bucket spray pump, equipped with a four-foot extension rod and at least 15 feet of hose, is satisfactory for a few fruit trees around the home, but for spraying orchards up to 300 trees, a barrel spray pump which develops from 125 to 150 pounds pressure is more practical.

Eggs and canned corn are expected to be in plentiful supply in Texas during May.

BOYCE HOUSE

Apropos of all the discussion of school matters, notably the Gilmer-Akin bills, these comes to mind a story about Fisher Alsop, the Temple story-teller.

A good many years ago, it seems that Alsop was teaching a small school and he attended a county institute where the main speaker was bound to have been a very great man because he lived a long way off. This profound thinker told his audience, over and over, "Study the child; study the child."

When the meeting was thrown open for general discussion, the lanky Alsop arose and, in a drawing tone, said:

"We have been urged to study the child, study the child. But in view of the fact that there are 67 of the children and only one of me, I suggest that they study the teacher; study the teacher."

Many years ago, when I was editor in Eastland, they used to hold wrestling matches. One wrestler had a German police dog which was tied in the back of the hall. As the owner was undergoing rough treatment in the ring, the animal would bark furiously and tug at the rope holding him. Had the rope given way, the dog would have torn his owner's adversary to pieces.

But the match recalled most vividly had quite a different spectator—the little daughter of one of the athletes. She sat in a ring-side seat and was perhaps and blue eyes. The bout began four years old, with golden hair and her father was getting the worst of it. He was flung to the mat and, as fast as he arose, he was flipped down again.

The little girl's countenance however was serene. I thought, "The innocence of childhood! If it is well that she is too young to realize that her dad is being defeated."

Just then the father, who had been reelin, launched himself at his adversary, knocked him down, clamped on a headlock and began applying the pressure. The features of the other twisted into an expression of pain.

The little girl shouted, "That's it, daddy; tear his head off and hit him in the face with it!"

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Kracker Krumps—concerned, the weather began cutting up capers.

Every little cloud began to bring high wind, and twisters, and some hail, and heavy rain, and those things that are no wanted on a ripening wheat crop.

So we thought we'd just put ourselves in the farmer's shoes and devote this entire column to doing a whole batch of worrying for him.

But we didn't have one sprig of wheat, so we couldn't get down to rock-bottom on the subject. We gave up the idea.

We thought we might devote the column to our needs for a street sweeper. We need one just as bad as we ever did, and we haven't forgotten about it.

But we decided maybe we're going to get one someday, anyway, so why devote our column to it.

You can kinda see how hard it is to fill up a column without an idea. Hope that "idea" cog gets back into mesh before next week.
