

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

The success of the clean-up drive next week depends on you and me.

Monday is the big day in which an effort will be made to get all trash and rubbish hauled off to the dump grounds.

But it won't be hauled off, unless it's cleaned up. And that's where we all come in.

If you haven't already done so, between now and Monday is the best time to look after your own premises.

The trash, tree limbs, grass cuttings, pieces of wire, broken-up concrete, scattered tin cans, etc., should be rounded up and made ready to be hauled off.

Particular attention should be paid to breeding places for flies and mosquitoes, and these should be eliminated, as well as the harboring places for these insects.

So look at your alley, before you criticize that of your neighbor. If you've done your job well, then your criticism is justified.

And while we're on the alley proposition, we're reminded of one of the luckiest persons in town. He's none other than John Terry, our former hotel man and former mayor.

He was occupying a bench on the city hall lawn one day last week as we came across from the post office. "Edgar," he says, "I can't do what your paper wants us to do. I ain't got no alley to clean up."

He's just plumb lucky. And from the looks of his premises, John Terry won't have much to worry about during this clean-up drive.

Other people have clean premises, including their alleys, too. And they're worried about what some others are going to do during clean-up.

Take, for instance, the tall weeds, grass, Johnson grass, sunflowers, etc., that have grown up along our streets, in the narrow ditches.

These are harboring mosquitoes and flies, as well as obstructing the flow of water when, and if, it rains.

But we understand the city is making plans to take care of these. A spray attachment is being rigged up to kill off this growth in quick order.

Take, for instance, the vacant lots in our town that have grown to be over head-high in weeds, etc. These are harboring places for disease-bearing insects.

True, they bring in no revenue while vacant. But they do become eye-sores and menaces to health.

An the trouble with trying a mower in such places is that a mower is soon torn up by striking loose wire, rocks, bicycle tires, etc.

The city mower got tangled up in a bicycle tire last year. According to Harvey Lee, it took two men nearly a half-day to get it untangled.

Take, for instance, the open privies of our town.

You can take them—we don't want them—neither does our city health officer.

Word come to us that our city health officer stated he'd rather see all the outgrowth of weeds and grass remain as it is than to have just two open privies in our town.

Yet we have a whole batch of them. They are surely a menace to the health of our people.

And we've heard complaints about the unsanitary conditions that exist in the public toilets at the city hall.

Our city officials, we believe, (Continued on Last Page)

Bond Purchases Thru July 16 To Count On Quota

DALLAS, July 1.—Purchases of Series E Savings Bonds through Saturday, July 16, will be credited to county and state quotas in the Opportunity Drive.

This announcement was made in Dallas by Nathan Adams, Chairman of the Treasury Department's Advisory Committee for Texas, who explained that although the promotional phase of the drive ended June 30, the accounting period continues through July 16.

Adams said that Texas would substantially exceed its drive quota of $36,950,000 if sales continue at their present rate. He said that sales as of Saturday, June 25, were $32,637,000, or 88.3 per cent of the quota. He also reported that 79 counties already had exceeded their individual quotas and that the others were expected to do so by the accounting period.

It Tasted Good On July 4th!

Elk meat, especially good, tender elk meat, tastes just as good on July 4th as it does on the wintertime in our opinion. However, that opinion isn't authoritative by any means, because we'd never eaten any elk before.

But it is a Fourth of July treat. Just try it sometime, if you have the opportunity.

Buel Bowden went hunting last fall and returned with a big elk. He promised us some of the meat, but it was a long time before he could catch us at a time he could remember to get it out of his locker.

But finally it was transferred from his locker to ours. He asked us several times how it tasted, but the cook at our house hadn't discovered it in the locker.

We ate it for the Fourth of July. It was good, Buel, very good!

Borden Attends Father's Funeral

He had not been in ill health, and his death came as a shock to relatives. According to reports, he passed away while planning a Fourth of July trip into the mountains.

Farm Bureau To Continue Meetings For Knox County

Knox County Farm Bureau, headed by Mr. Milton Ford, says: "We have not been having meetings, because we have all been rather busy, but now is the time for us to begin thinking about our future. We have a number of things confronting us. We in Knox County want to participate in the State Farm Bureau Queen Contest. We want the people of Knox County to know what the Farm Bureau stands for and what the farm people can expect through their farm organization.

Many people don't know why farmers are trying to organize but let's put it this way—if we don't get ourselves together, we may operate our farms and ranches under a program that we surely don't approve of.

The Farm Bureau is an independent farm organization, for and of, farmers of Texas and the U. S.—an organization, for, still holds to the fundamentals of Democracy, working for the best interests of agriculture, to promote and secure a better standard of living for our farmers, and provide economy in these United States.

In addition to the protection, promotion and security, Farm Bureau offers its members a personal service program where they provide a richer future for themselves. Farm Bureau offers to its members Blue Cross and Blue Shield Hospital Services, auto casualty insurance, and life insurance on a cost basis. Let's reverse the tide of the game of "tug-of-war"—let all farmers pull together."

ABLENE — The Munday Times was advised today that a series of advertisements which appeared in this paper had been awarded first place in a national advertising contest.

A series of West Texas Utilities Company advertisements promoting the use of electric service was selected the best in Class A competition in "The Annual Better Copy Contest" sponsored by the Public Utilities Advertising Association, a Department of the Advertising Federation of America.

"The Better Copy Contest" is conducted for the purpose of stimulating finer advertising and to recognize work well done. This year more than 1,500 entries in twenty classifications were judged by nationally recognized authorities.

A certificate of award "for the best public utility advertising during the preceding year" was presented to the West Texas Utilities Company at the Annual P. U. A. A. Convention in Cincinnati, Ohio last week. Robert E. Kennedy, WTUCO advertising manager, accepted the award for the company.

All copy and layouts for the winning series of advertisements were written and prepared by the WTU advertising department.

AN EDITORIAL What Is the Meaning of Clean-Up?

What's the meaning of clean-up to you? Does it mean just cutting the weeds, gathering up the loose papers, hauling off the trash? It should mean more. Here are some thoughts left us in an interview with our city health officer, Dr. D. C. Elland, the first of the week:

The weeds ought to be cut, but they are not health hazards. The papers should be cleaned up, but they are not health hazards. That's all mighty fine, and I'm for it—but we should do more than that.

From what has been learned, it is not evident that mosquitoes carry polio, but almost surely the disease germ is carried by flies.

We should eliminate all fly breeding places, such as cow lots, hog wallows, and most surely open privies.

Church Of Christ Services Are Held In New Building On Sunday

Baylor Exes To Meet July 14 At Seymour

SEYMOUR — Ex-students and friends of Baylor University in Seymour and Baylor County will be hosts again this summer to a Baylor rally for ex-students in this part of the State. At this meeting, plans will be discussed for organizing a district Baylor club.

The meeting will be held at the beautiful municipal park at Seymour, unless the weather should run it inside. Time for gathering has been set at 7:30 with dinner at 8:00, and no fee of any kind will be charged the visitors.

There will be representatives from Baylor present, including coaches, and a football picture may be shown. There will be a short program, during which all old Baylor students present will be introduced.

It is hoped that annual rallies such as this will prove no small advantage to Baylor. An earnest invitation is extended all old Baylor students from anywhere to be present for the occasion; and get better acquainted with other members of the great family.

For any information about the meeting, address W. A. Melear, chairman, Seymour, Texas.

Fogging Machine Purchased For Use Of Communities

It was announced the latter part of last week that the commissioners court of Knox County has purchased a fogging machine to be used by the county. It was expected to be delivered Tuesday of this week.

The machine will be operated by the county, and it was stated that the only thing it will cost the communities is the DDT that is used. Plans are that the fogging machine will be run by the hour to see how much it will cost.

Any town wanting to use the machine can contact the commissioners court.

After about three months of construction, members of the Church of Christ of Munday held their first services in their new church structure last Sunday.

Although the building is not fully completed, the auditorium was near enough complete to justify services being held in the building.

And it was a big day for the membership. The day started with a regular church school and preaching services, beginning at ten o'clock. Then at noon, a bountiful dinner was spread in the Sunday School rooms, in the rear of the building, and several hundred people gathered to partake of the well-prepared food and celebrate the opening of the new building. It was proven that the members know how to rush a building to completion, and how to prepare a big meal for the opening day celebration.

Many visitors, including some old timers, were on hand for the celebration. In the afternoon the regular first Sunday singing was held in the new church auditorium. This event was scheduled to be held in Rochester, but the Rochester congregation yielded their plans so that the event could be held in celebration of the opening of the new church.

Construction on the building was started early in April, when the old building, one of Munday's landmarks, was torn down to make way for the new. In less than three months, the building, was almost completed.

There remains quite a bit of work to be done in completing the structure. Finishing work around the windows is to be done, as well as some brick work on the north side. The Sunday school rooms are yet to be completed.

An added attraction to the new building is the lovely painting, a river scene, which was hung just back of the baptistry. This painting was done by Mrs. Baugh of rule, who spent tedious hours at night to get it ready for the opening services. Mrs. Baugh was present Sunday and she received many compliments on her work.

It is estimated that this building is valued around $40,000; however, the work was done at a cost of about $18,000. This was made possible by salvaging practically all of the lumber in the old building and by much free labor which was donated by the members. Even people from Knox City and other nearby towns came to put in work on the structure.

It is a structure of which the membership can be proud and one which will serve their needs for many years to come.

Colored Church Is Sponsoring Concert

The Colored Methodist Church of Munday is sponsoring a concert to be held at the American Legion hall on Sunday evening at three o'clock. The Midwest Harmonizers will be featured in a concert at this time.

There will be no admission charges, but a free-will offering will be taken. Mary Ann Smith is secretary, and Rev. F. A. Gilbert is pastor. The public is invited to come out and hear these folks sing.

Superintendents Of Schools Make Study Of New Regulations

All the school superintendents of Knox county were in Graham this week attending a district school meeting to study the regulations for the new school law. These regulations are under the Gilmer-Akin bill. From this they learned how to continue the schools under the new law.

Those to attend were: Supt. W. C. Cox of Munday and E. L. Goolsby; Supt. H. D. Arnold, Goree; Supt. Holcomb, Knox City; Supts. Bentley and Morton, Vera; and Supt. J. R. Steedman of Benjamin. County Supt. M. D. McGaughey of Benjamin also attended the meeting.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?
1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

THE LESSONS OF EXPERIENCE

The Indianapolis Star recently printed a fine editorial on the medical care problem, called "Freedom Best in Medical Field." Here, in part, is what it said: "If Congress is going to learn from the experience of others in devising a better health program in the United States, the place to learn is from the successful, and not from the unsuccessful."
"Germany tried socialized medicine and ruined its medical system."
"Britain is trying it and British doctors are bogged down with red tape and hordes of patients."
"The Scandinavian countries have based their health programs on liberty and have set an example of outstanding success that we would do well to follow."
The Scandinavian system is essentially simple. Those who can afford to pay for medical care do so through private insurance companies—much like Blue Cross and other payment plans which have developed in this country. Those who cannot afford to pay are covered through government aid, which is paid to those same private insurance groups. In other words, politics is kept out of the picture.

Most of the advocates of compulsory government insurance base their argument on the undoubted fact that some people haven't the means to obtain adequate care when they fall sick. What they don't point out is that these people make up only a small proportion of our population—and that they can be helped, with government funds, without destroying medical progress and initiative. In other words, you don't tear down the house because the roof needs fixing.

SHALL WE TRUST TO LUCK?

America's fire waste has long been a national disgrace. Yet, in some respects, we're a great deal luckier than we deserve to be. Many a fire has all the earmarks of a major disaster—but, through a combination of happy circumstances, is held in check.

The Munday Times is Democratic, yet supporting only what it believes to be right, and opposing what it believes to be wrong, regardless of party policies, publishing news fairly, impartially.

To take a typical example, such a blaze recently started in the small hours of one morning in a 50-year old building in Portland, Oregon. The upper floors of the structure had been made into small apartments, most of which were occupied by elderly people. But luck was with these potential victims. Due to the prompt sounding of the alarm and the fine efficiency of the fire department, all of the residents were evacuated without serious injury, and the property damage was pretty much limited to ground floor shops. What would have happened if the gods of fortune had looked the other way, is easily imagined—there might have been another tragedy comparable to the Illinois hospital fire, and the Chicago and Atlanta hotel catastrophes.
Do we want to take a chance on luck being with us? Do we want to work on the theory that maybe we'll escape unscathed if fire strikes? That is what millions of us do, and sometimes it works. But when it doesn't work, people die horribly.

We can't prevent every fire, but the experts say we can prevent the great majority of them. On the part of the individual, there mfwy mfwy On the part of the community there must be modern, well-enforced building codes, inspections, etc. On the part of the individual, there must be care with such obvious causes of fire as smoking materials, heating plants, and electrical equipment. Then we won't be trusting blindly to luck.

ACTION COUNTS

Two years ago, the President called a national conference on fire prevention which laid out an extensive program for fighting this menace. The principal stress was laid on the need for continuous fire prevention activity by States and municipalities.

It will be a national tragedy if this campaign is allowed to languish, and if the states fail to do their part to make it a success. Local government must accept the responsibility for leadership and direction in the endless battle against fire. Better training for firemen, new equipment for fire departments, inspections of property, continuous campaigns against major fire hazards which vary from region to region—these are the fields in which our governmental units must do an essential work.

Mr. Bielaski listed the states whose governors have called fire prevention conferences, and said several other governors plan to do so in the future. There should be a minimum of delay—every day that passes without organized fire prevention activity will carry its toll of unnecessary loss of life and property. Talk is easy—action is what counts.

Weekly Health LETTER

of Texas
Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer

AUSTIN—A deficiency of salt in the human system can cause serious consequences, and for this reason, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises every person whose work is such that it causes excessive perspiration to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water taken during the day.

Farmers, mechanics, carpenters, construction men and all others whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content seriously depleted, and as a result may suffer from heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat, and when the thermometer hits the high register, the human body may lose as much as 40 to 50 grams of salt a single day.

In many industrial plants, workmen are furnished with and urged to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Many find this a pleasant way of taking extra salt, but others prefer to add the needed amount of extra salt to their food and drink.

"Take your salt in any manner that is agreeable to you," says Dr. Cox, "but take it. Heat cramps are very painful and exhausting. They are characterized by cramps in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases there may be nausea and vomiting. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until a deficiency exists; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp."

According to the State Health Officer, it is a wise precaution to keep the body supplied with salt, and thus avoid much possible suffering and loss of time from heat cramps.

GREEN CARD FOR COTTON

There's no doubt about grades, staple and value of cotton when it's identified with a "green card", Texas farmers were reminded this week.

The "green card" means the cotton has been classed by a U.S. Department of Agriculture cotton classifier who certifies the grade and staple.

Farmers belonging to Smith-Doxey cotton improvement groups receive this classification without charge. Also they receive daily market news service to keep them posted on day-to-day prices.

Both services come from southwest area's cotton branch of USDA's Production and Marketing Administration, Dallas, of which John L. McCollum is manager.

Applications are due now from organized cotton improvement groups, McCollum explained. They may be sent to cotton classing offices at Corpus Christi, Austin, Galveston, Lubbock, Abilene or Dallas, or county PMA offices, county agents and ginners.

Latest date applications may be received by the Dallas area office is August 1 for all East Texas counties and August 15 for West Texas. After they reach the Dallas office it takes about 15 days to process them and get sampling supplies to the field. For these reasons, McCollum pointed out, applications should be filed early so farmers will get both benefits on cotton ginned early.

Nut grass, or coco grass, can be choked out by growing plants that will smother it. Cowpeas and sudangrass will do the job in the summertime, and in the winter, wheat, oats, barley, rye, or ryegrass can be planted to control this yard pest.

A good cotton insect control program will increase the yield by 15 per cent. How big the profits will be depends on a couple of things: 1) what price the farmer gets for his crop, and 2) the cost of harvesting the crop.

Farmers can save money if they will buy the water pump best suited for their needs. Three types of water pumps on the market give the farmer a choice, depending on the depth of his well.

National Farm Safety Week is July 24-30.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Admits Farmers Made Profit Lately, But Says It Took A Long Time To Do It

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm, on Miller Creek, is writing about something he knows very little about this week, money, but not knowing anything about a subject don't get in his way.

Dear editor:
I was in town Saturday rest-in up my mind after a week's hard thinkin' out here on Miller Creek, as there ain't nothin' that will relax your mind like sittin' around talkin' to some of the merchants whose names I ain't callin'. Don't never get above the low water mark with them birds, intellectually speakin'. In fact, it's practically the same as go in to the court house in an election year and having everybody grab your hand and agree with you without even knowin' what you are sayin', and I heard a man remark on how much money the farmers have made in the past few years.

"Farmers have made more money than anybody in the past four years," this man said, sort of complainin' about it.

It may be true, I don't know, but all I have to say is, if it's true, look how long it took us to do it.

Makin' a profit for four years out of a life-time ain't nothin' to get excited about, ain't no reason to start figurin' up ways to put a end to the situation. Some folks always have considered a farmer's gettin' ahead sort of sinful.

Most businesses I know anything about can go a month or two without makin' a profit, maybe even six months or a year, and that's about the limit, then they're sunk, but you take farmers, they can go for years without makin' a profit and still keep their heads above water.

Why, I know farmers who didn't even know they was supposed to make a profit until 1943, thought if they come out with a whole pair of overalls and a renewed note at the end of the year they was in fine shape.

Of course, things have been a little different the past four or five years, but understand the experts is workin' on that and just yesterday I noticed the price of Jersey steers is beginning to slide a little.

Farmers can rock along for years not quite makin' ends meet and other folks say, aw, if farmers went about things in a business-like manner they wouldn't be so bad off, it's their own fault the shape they're in, but let a farmer hit a good stretch and actually make a little money and the same people begin hollerin' the farmers is gettin' rich and holdin' up the city people and something ought to be done

Our Citizens Of Tomorrow

Here's another younger set of our future citizens. They are left to right, top row: Sherry Lynn, 7 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Howell; Glenn Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill R. Smith; Betty, 14 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner, Goree. Bottom row: Myra Jo, 7 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Gafford; child of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook, Gilliland; Ina, 1 year, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Roberts, Goree.

Prospects Are Good For Cotton Crop In 1949

Things look good right now for the cotton farmer. Texas has better than a fair-sized cotton crop coming up. Fact is, it may be a record year, since the acreage is up quite a bit over last year.

It'll take top-notch care all the way from planting to harvest to beat the 1937 crop, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. & M. College. That year, the nation produced 18.9 million bales. Texas' share of that was 5.1 million bales—about 28 per cent of the total.

But a big crop doesn't necessarily mean big profits for cotton growers, he adds. How big the profits are will depend on a couple of things. First, how much the cotton grower will get for his crop, and second, what it cost him to produce and harvest it.

The government is working toward a stabilization of price through loans, but it's up to the farmers to look after the cost items. They know it takes big acre yields to keep the costs down. Tractors, machinery, labor and seed for the necessary replanting are still on the high-priced list, Bates says.

The entomologists say that, on the average, about 15 per cent more cotton can be harvested in fields where a good job of insect control has been practiced. For a farm producing 200 pounds of lint per acre, insect control means an extra 30 pounds. Speaking in dollars and cents, that $8.50. On more productive land, the increase will be larger still.

Cotton growers need to control the bugs this year as never before for profit sake, Bates says. If a dollar invested in control measures will protect the crop investment and return $1.50, insect control is a pay-off proposition.

Better yields will keep the profits higher, he concludes, but it all goes back to the business of insect control.

Modern power resources and mechanical conveniences for the home offer each American family the equivalent of 40 slaves, but a survey of rural housing and home conveniences show that farm homes do not have as large a share of this "slave labor" as city homes.

about it. However, if you want to know the truth, very few farmers have as much money as you town folks think the same as very few of you town folks have as much money as each other thinks the other one has. The secrets a bookkeeper knows is tremendous.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

She plans to take a two weeks refresher course in musical instruction this summer at Memphis, Tenn. She is a charter member of the Texas Music Teachers Association.

Several of her pupils have won honors in national piano contests, and many have received scholarships.

FARM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

Acreage Adjustments for 1950

More protein and less starch in the food production pattern shaping up in the U. S. Department of Agriculture crop adjustment program for 1950, according to B. F. Vance, Chairman of the Texas Production and Marketing Administration Committee.

He points out that with huge crops of wheat and corn in prospect for 1949 and with the warehouses filled with cotton, there is a need to shift some 30 million acres from the production of barley, oats or grain sorghums or commercial vegetables, it will only add to the surpluses in these crops. To avoid trouble, about the only use for most of this land is to put it into grass and legumes.

This will mean putting some of the land that was plowed out of grass back into grass. Sod was broken to meet demands of war and postwar famine conditions in Europe but now there is a need to get some of this land back into sod. More grass and legumes are needed in corn and cotton rotations.

There is a need for increased production of livestock products but the bins and cribs and warehouses are full of corn, cotton and wheat. This obviously should indicate the adjustment in farming that is needed. But to accomplish such adjustment in an orderly manner, the chairman points out, it may be necessary to have such things as acreage allotments and marketing quotas. Then through the Agricultural Conservation Program assistance is provided to aid farmers in making the shift from the cash—one-season-return-crops to the slower return type of livestock farming.

For this reason Mr. Vance says emphasis this year is on the harvesting of as much grass and legume seed as possible. This seed, he points out, is the key to the shift from "surplus" crops to livestock. And since grass and legumes are among the best means of conserving soil—protecting it from erosion and building up reserves of humus and fertility for future needs—this seed is also the key to conservation. Instead of wasting the soil in producing unwanted surpluses, the land will then become a reservoir for use when added strength and fertility are needed to produce food for an expanding population.

FMA Chairman Warns on Erosion

The good earth is slipping from under us faster than most of us think, says B. F. Vance, Chairman of Texas Production and Marketing Administration Committee. "Unless we see a deep gully with a house balancing precariously on the edge, too often we fail to recognize the erosion that is going on—that it is taking land from under our we have. That's why it's so important that we of the United States take warning, that we make every effort to check erosion and to conserve our soil and water resources.

More Than "Shoestring" Is Needed To Start In Business These Days

What does it take to start a business of one's own, even on a modest scale? Once it could be done on a "shoestring," and very often was. Now, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce, the indicated stake needed as a rule is somewhere around $5,000 as a minimum initial investment.

That amount is the average needed for a small filling station, and sums up to several times as much as required to start in other retail lines, or a wholesale establishment, depending on the business. As to the capital itself, personal savings are the main source.

The Commerce Department's figures were obtained in a study of new businesses, with one or more employees, established in the three-year period 1945-47. Reports of more than 1,000 new trade firms, both wholesale and retail were analyzed.

Effect of Inflation

The rise in the capital requirements for new business and old as well, are of course another manifestation of the effects of inflation. The decline in the dollar's buying power has had as pronounced an impact on the cost and finances of starting and running a business, whatever its size, as on the everyday family budget.

Because of this, even a small business now looks comparatively big, financially, when judged by past standards; and his applies all along the business line. By and large, business size is always relative to prevailing conditions and normally reflects them; and the dominant factors today are the rise in all prices and the great growth in the whole economy and its activity over prewar.

In all, a total of 670,000 new retail and wholesale firms were established from 1949 through 1947, or nearly half of the 1,400,000 new businesses that were launched during the period. Among retail store new food stores and eating and drinking places led all others.

Breakdowns by Firms

Taking all the new wholesale in the 1945-47 period, the Commerce Department found that the average initial investment came to approximately $22,000. The actual sum varied, ranging from the lowest average initial investment of more than $10,000 for small wholesale businesses to an average of more than $175,000 for large establishments.

The average initial investment was approximately $9,500 for all new retail firms established in the 1945-47 period. The amount showed a wide variation for different lines of business. The smallest initial investment was found to be about $5,000 for filling stations. At the other end, an average of more than $25,000 was the initial investment for building materials, hardware and farm implements.

Importance of Saving

There is no precise information available as to the amounts of initial capital invested in the past. However, the Temporary National Economic Committee (T. N. E. C.) in the course of its investigation in the '30's went into the workings of small business and found that a great many started with little or no capital.

The Commerce Department survey found that personal savings were by far the greatest source of funds for new retail and wholesale firms in 1945-47.

A total of $5.6 billions was invested in starting new retail establishments in the period and an additional $1.4 billions for wholesale firms. Of this $7 billion sum, it was found that $4.4 billions, or nearly two-thirds of the total, came from the personal savings of the entrepreneurs. More than 45 per cent of the firms in the sample survey financed their business entirely through savings while an additional 45 per cent used savings as a supplement to other sources of funds.

"IS BIGNESS BAD?"

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

MANY CRITICS of our American system use big business as a special target for their attacks. According to their charges, big business throttles competition, creates monopolies, maltreats labor, and kills small enterprises. Their attitude toward big business represents more than a natural dislike for bigness in business. It also shows their shrewdness in using the propaganda weapon to destroy our system.

If they should succeed in getting public opinion on their side, it would soon be reflected in legislation which could well destroy this segment of our economy, and eventually turn our entire economy into state socialism.

"Grown Up" BIG BUSINESS is Business

They grew up because the public allowed them to do so. No business can become big business without public approval. Public approval cannot be bought. It is earned through the hard-work process of competing against scores of other companies and giving John Q. Public a better washing machine, dress, or automobile for his money. As demand for a product grows, facilities must be increased to meet that demand. A business grows as the public with its buying dictates.

As business grows, it becomes more efficient and makes possible real savings to the public. Our $1,500 mass produced automobile, if built with the tools of 1900, would cost $50,000. Mass purchasing, production and distribution result in economies impossible in small business.

Public Prosperity LARGER investment provides also the necessary extensive research demanded by keen competition. This huge investment pays dividends to workers, too. Labor-saving tools multiply the productive capacity of the worker and ease the load from his back. This greater production allows him higher pay and shorter hours and puts him in a class far above workmen of any other nation.

Small business has fared well in this progress story. You see, big business has created thousands of enterprises that owe their existence to its production. Without the huge output provided by the automotive industry, the average city would be without its many accessory stores, radiator shops, repair shops, filling stations, parking lots, and garages. Far from being exterminated, small business continues to develop.

Big business has made a striking contribution to our nation's prosperity and progress. As long as it is operated by human beings, there will be occasions for justifiable criticism. However, minor criticisms must not be allowed to destroy the true importance of big business to a growing nation. It is essential to a continued dynamic economy. The public, having created big business, will further prosper by its continuance.

Fire destruction in the United States broke all records in 1948, when more than $711 million of the nation's resources went up in flames. This was the greatest destruction by fire in a single year in the history of the nation. The National Board of Fire Underwriters says.

To mend a frayed or broken electric cord, splice the wires together and solder them. Tape each of the wires with rubber tape, then tape both wires together with friction tape.

Housing Facilities At TSCW Best Yet

DENTON—Housing facilities at Texas State College for Women this fall will be the best in the college's history as a result of the present three and a half million dollar building program. President L. H. Hubbard announced this week. Approximately 2300 girls are expected to register Sept. 19-21 for the fall term.

A $700,000 addition to Capps Hall, has made this freshman dormitory the biggest and most modern on the campus. It will be ready for the 317 new students in September.

The new dining hall, outstanding in the Southwest for size and equipment, will be completed by December. More than 2000 students will be able to sit down to dinner en masse in the huge structure.

Further improvements underway include construction of a home economics building and an upperclassman dormitory.

Be careful. Obey state and local traffic rules.

are aware of these conditions and are making some efforts to correct them.

And we still have some hog pens in our town. There's an ordinance, you know, about hog pens, cow lots and open privies.

So take inventory of your premises. Get them in tip-top shape this week, and by next week we hope to have the town in much better shape.

A little effort, following a genuine clean-up, would make another clean-up unnecessary.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to live in a town that didn't need an annual clean-up drive? It's possible, with your cooperation.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1949—The big fight in the House this week was over the Public Housing Bill, H. R. 4009. The fight on this bill was not over slum clearance, or over Federal loans in financing of home building. I have always supported FHA, I. e., Federal guarantee of loans to promote home building. The big fight on this bill was over public housing. This bill as finally passed, obligates the government to build 810,000 homes. These 810,000 homes will be owned and maintained at government expense and rented to so-called low-income families. The minimum cost of these government owned houses will be 10 billion dollars. Some have estimated it will cost nearer 20 billion dollars. It generally conceded that it would be much cheaper to build these homes and give them outright to said low income individuals than it will be for the government to maintain and operate them as now provided.

This public housing feature sets a dangerous precedent. It will be followed in years to come by other bills for more homes for more people.

An amendment was offered to the bill to strike out the public housing feature. Time for debate on the amendment was limited, and those of us speaking had only 2½ minutes to present our views. My speech in support of the amendment to strike public housing from the bill was as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment. The gigantic public housing feature of his bill is, in my judgment, a two-edged sword, one edge of which cuts the heart out of the American economy, and the other the heart out of American character.

The distinguished majority leader addressed himself to human value, the human equation. That, too, gives me greatest concern because all other values are relative. You do not have a favor if you fill his stomach and empty his backbone in the same operation. When we build gigantic public housing projects and subsidize the tenants who live in them, we tend to destroy thrift, initiative, ambition, and many other worthwhile attributes of character and citizenship. Think what would have happened to you as a boy if you had been told when you became a man if through circumstances or otherwise you were unable to build a home, that the Government would furnish it to you. I submit that this public housing feature of this bill pushes us many miles further down the road into national socialism. The chips are down on this, gentlemen. You will have to choose whether or not you want American democracy or choose to embrace some sort of statism. This is simply the first installment on this matter of subsidizing John Doe this year and not Richard Roe the next year, you will make Bolsheviks out of both of them. The time has come when we must call a halt on unrestrained public expenditures, or else we will be called upon in the next session of Congress to raise taxes, and ultimately to devalue the dollar, perhaps repudiate public debts. If carried to its logical conclusion the public housing provisions of this bill mean economic and social chaos."

This amendment was adopted by a vote of 168 to 165. It was then stricken out by a vote of 209 to 204.

On this vote, 13 of us Texas members voted "yea" with only 6 Texas members voting "nay". It is significant that Thomas of Houston, Wilson of Dallas, and Lucas of Fort Worth, all voted against public housing. Kilday of San Antonio, who is in the hospital with a broken leg, if present, would have also voted against public housing.

The Marshall Heights section of Washington is a Negro settlement. Most of them own their homes. Some of these homes are better than the one in which I was reared. Public housing officials of Washington have repeatedly attempted to take over this area for the slum clearance project. These Negroes have appeared before Committees of Congress in opposition to the project. They do not want the homes which they own condemned and torn down, even if it means they are to be furnished an apartment in a government-owned and controlled project. Under this bill passed, they will probably lose their fight and be forced to abandon their relatively good community.

Texas farmers and stockmen are again cautioned about the use of 2-4-D applications on plants. Careless use of this poison has caused extensive damage to desirable plants, shrubs and trees. Users of 2-4-D are urged to read and follow directions and cautions carefully.

A safety warning that should make everyone think is the sign in a tombstone maker's window: "We Can Wait—Drive Carefully."
