

Kracker Krumb Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

A clean-up isn't a great success until everybody becomes clean-up conscious, we heard someone say last week.

Our clean-up here in Munday was a success in many instances, but in some it wasn't. There are still some of us who are "unconscious" about the needs of, and the value of, a clean-up.

But we're getting more and more conscious. We're coming to realize that a real clean-up means elimination of breeding places for flies and mosquitoes.

That's why the mayor and city council have started taking steps toward greater sanitation measures to be taken about the open privies in our town.

The mayor said in a letter last week: "I know that you are aware of the fact that medical authorities agree that the open, unsanitary privy is the worst of all health hazards."

And while one of our farmer friends was kidding us about having so much in the paper about the open privies last Saturday, he said: "There ain't nary privy in town as bad as that public toilet in the city hall."

So, you see, we're getting more and more clean-up conscious.

Which reminds us that we had a rolling-down-the-hill snowball last week. You know how a snowball grows bigger and bigger as it rolls on down the hill.

This "snowball" we had on a hot July day concerned our Mexican labor camps.

It rolled and rolled until the report got out that eight persons had died recently in these camps, and folks figured it was time to clean them up, too.

This was an error—the snowball just got too big. Truth of the matter is, according to those in charge of the camps, that two persons—not eight—have died.

Truth of the matter is that management of these camps are giving the sanitation problem some very serious thought and study. Progress is being made, too, if we all but knew it.

The gins are doing all they can to keep these camps as sanitary as possible, and further steps are in the making toward educating laborers who occupy those camps toward a greater program of sanitation.

These camps are essential to the community, and in all probability they are here to stay. They are necessary for the harvesting of our "money crop" of the area—cotton.

They are the development of recent years, but without them, how would our farmers have harvested the cotton crops of past few years?

They are here, and are probably here for as long as cotton remains the major crop of this area. How to make them more sanitary is a problem not for just the management of local gins alone, but of the entire community.

So the problem will take study—all the study that has been given it—and more, too. The people are invited to give it some study.

We had an old landmark to disappear last week up in our end of town.

It wasn't such as caused so much concern from a sanitary standpoint, 'cause it was one of those pit-type of privies that was plumb up to snuff when it was constructed.

Upon the completion of the new Church of Christ, with modern sewerage, etc., that old landmark has become as obsolete as is the horse and buggy.

So last week, someone drove up there, tore it down, filled up the pit, and the eyesore just ain't there any more.

So, you see, people are becoming clean-up conscious.

Local Man Killed, Four Others Injured In Car Accident Friday

Funeral Services For F. L. Haymes, Jr. Are Held Monday

F. L. Haymes, Jr., lovingly known in Munday as "Sonny Boy" was killed and four others were injured in a two-vehicle accident about three miles southeast of Springtown last Friday afternoon.

Sonny Boy succumbed to injuries received in the accident a short time after being taken to Harris Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth, where it was determined he had a fractured left thigh and right collar bone and internal injuries. Death came at about 9 p. m. Friday.

His father, Postmaster Lee Haymes, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with head and back injuries and ear cuts. He remained unconscious for several hours, but is slowly recovering from his injuries according to reports.

Miss Louise Spiegelmire 31, Mr. Haymes' foster daughter, suffered a cerebral concussion and was taken to Harris Memorial Hospital, where she remained unconscious for a few hours. She, too, is recovering.

Occupants of the other car were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maucini of Wichita Falls. He suffered several fractured ribs and shock, while his wife suffered back injuries and shock. Both were reported to be recuperating satisfactorily in a Weatherford hospital.

Funeral services for Sonny Boy Haymes were held at three o'clock last Monday afternoon from the First Methodist church in Munday. Services were conducted by a former pastor, Rev. H. A. Longino of Higgins, who was assisted by Rev. R. L. Butler, present pastor, and Rev. Don Davidson of Hereford, another former pastor.

A wire recording was made of the services so his father and other members of the family who were unable to be present might hear the services at a future date.

Palbearers were Hugh Longino, Wayne and Lamoine Blacklock, Joe Spann, Buddy Gafford, and Keith Cartwright.

Burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Mahan Funeral Home.

A glowing tribute was paid to the wonderful spirit of Sonny Boy, who, as an invalid lived a limited life, but who was always cheerful in his affliction and kept in touch with the outer world by means of the radio.

Born at Burkburnett, Texas, on May 21, 1920 he was 29 years, 1 month and 24 days of age. As a year-old baby, he came to Munday with his parents and lived here all of his life.

Besides his father, he is survived by two brothers and two sisters, who are: Mac Haymes of Eastland, Bobby Haymes of Irving, Mrs. John Nobles of Big Springs and Mrs. Donald Jolly of Hillsboro.

FARM BUREAU TO CONDUCT DRIVE

The Knox County Farm Bureau has been organized for less than a year, but it is to be credited to being a factor in making Blue Shield available to Knox County citizens. The Farm Bureau's spring drive for members created such a desire for Blue Shield in Knox County that these organizations were persuaded to offer along with Blue Cross this additional protection against the cost of medical care during the coming enrollment.

Present members of the Farm Bureau may enroll in Blue Cross—Blue Shield during the coming drive; and, also, all persons eligible for Farm-Bureau membership are invited to join the organization during this period, July 27 through August 6.

He first caught the eye of the football public when he played his high school days with the Wichita Falls Coyotes. He went on to the University of Texas, where he climaxed his grid career by playing 57 minutes in a Texas-Missouri Cotton Bowl game.

He has played the last two years with the team of Hardin College, where he only recently completed his schooling.

Green, who begins his first coaching job with the Moguls, is 26 years of age, is married and has a three year old son.

Mayor Asks Open Privies Be Made Sanitary

Following is a letter issued last week by W. M. Moore, mayor of the City of Munday, in an effort to get unsanitary conditions of open privies in the town corrected. It is being reprinted for what value it may have to the public.

NOTICE
All health officers who have inspected the City of Munday tell us that the greatest known health hazard we have is the open privy.

Polio has impressed on me the fact that my duty as mayor of Munday, Texas, makes it imperative that I insist that you take immediate steps to make them sanitary.

It is not the desire of the City to impose great expense on anyone, but I am determined to do my duty and see that open, unsanitary privies are corrected.

You have been appealed to through every known medium we have. I know that you are aware of the fact that medical authorities agree that the open, unsanitary privy is the worst of all known health hazards.

I, as Mayor of your town, am determined that should we have crippled and deformed children, caused by that dread polio, that their blood shall not be on my hands.

Other inspections will be made and if you have failed to do your duty and make your privies sanitary you will be called before the City Court and fined.

Chest X-Ray Service Begins Next Wednesday

Only a few more days remain until the Mass X-ray dates. Don't let anything keep you away from the meeting place, Munday Truck and Tractor Co., on these days, June 27-28-29-30. Of course you don't have tuberculosis, but only an X-ray can prove that! And the peace of mind which comes from knowing you have escaped it, is worth every effort put forth. See that every member of your family above fifteen years of age is there. You owe this protection to those you love most.

Visitors in the Harper Cooksey home over the week end were Mrs. Lizzie Marable of Plainview, Sam Cooksey of Baird and J. A. Cooksey of Borger.

Harley B. West, state enrollment director, met with civic leaders of the county last Tuesday night to work out plans for a county-wide enrollment of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, during the period July 27 through August 6. This year Blue Shield medical and surgical service will be offered to existing memberships and also to new members enrolling in Blue Cross hospital service.

Mr. West was accompanied by Mr. Cecil L. Streadwick, regional director of this area who is well known to Knox county citizens and will be in direct charge of the enrollment.

A large number attended the meeting during which detailed plans were made for the coming enrollment.

Mr. W. E. Braley, chairman of the county organization of Blue Cross-Blue Shield and president of the First National Bank, announced local chairmen for each town in the county:

- Knox City—Mrs. C. C. Hodge
- Munday—Mrs. D. C. Eiland
- Benjamin—Mrs. Homer T. Melton
- Truscott—Mrs. Neil Brown
- Gilliland—Mrs. Orb Miller

They are: Benedict Motors, Knox City; Production Credit Office, Munday; County Court House, Benjamin; Drug Store, Truscott and Gilliland; Alien Service Station, Vera; School Auditorium, Rhineland and the Memorial Building in Goree.

Mr. West reports "Last year many citizens did not understand that as individuals they could not join Blue Cross after the enrollment period was over. Citizens should enroll during the period July 27 through August 6, or they will have to wait until another enrollment period is arranged next year."

During the first nine months after the 1948 Blue Cross enrollment of Knox county, a large number of residents had occasion to use their memberships to the extent of $17983.84. Twenty-two business firms in the county are members of Blue Cross, non-profit plan for prepayment of hospital care. Blue Cross now protects 34,000,000 people in the United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Canada and membership continues to grow rapidly.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

SLOW DOWN, MISTER

So you're healthy and husky, and full of life. So your digestion is good and you sleep like a log. So you don't dissipate, but scorn the weed and the cocktail so you'll have plenty of energy to work like a horse.

A farmer would be lynched if he overworked his mules like some men overwork themselves. There is a saying, a false saying, that hard work never killed a man.

The friends of Beauford Jester are almost as one in saying that the late governor of Texas was broken by onerous tasks into which he poured every ounce of his physical and mental strength. The duties of the office impose close attention to detail, and long hours of sheer drudgery. In addition, there are public ceremonies to attend, people to listen to, complaints to hear, disputes to arbitrate, letters to dictate, speeches to make, banquets to sit through and a thousand and one other gratuitous burdens to endure.

Beauford Jester was pretty husky. He did not dissipate. He caught a few hours of rest and recreation whenever he could. He loved the outdoor life. He had never been troubled with his heart until a few days before his death, while enroute to consult specialists.

But the warning had come too late. The wearing down process had done its work too well.

This tragedy of a healthy man overtaxing his strength is all too familiar. Some do it through a sense of duty to obligations, real or assumed. Some do it in pursuit of fortune or fame. Some do it because they are eager and willing to let others impose on them.

Regardless of the cause, the result is the same. The lane ends too soon. The machine plays out. The final straw is added to the burden.

Take it easy, mister. Let up, relax, listen to your doctor. Learn to say no, to yourself and to others. Your little world isn't going to pieces if you turn your head momentarily.

But you're going to fall to pieces if you don't slow down.—Abilene Reporter-News.

ON A SOUND FOUNDATION

Lew Hahn, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, recently wrote, "We have just passed through an amazing period. No retailer ever before such conditions and no man now alive is likely to experience anything approaching them in the future. We have had seven fat years. The only limitation on increasing volume was the ability to secure merchandise to sell. . . . Even while we enjoyed these remarkable conditions, it must have been quite clear such conditions could not last forever. We knew readjustment was coming. Now it is here.

"It is time for optimism—not pessimism! . . . We face the opportunity to build a great and enduring prosperity upon a foundation much more sound than the necessity created by a great war."

What has happened in retailing—as in all other lines—is that scarcity of goods has pretty well been replaced by a wide abundance. The customer, quite naturally, is looking for the best quality, the lowest price, the most attractive displays, the most courteous and helpful service. In our competitive economy, the retailer who does the best job will get the business. The retailer who cannot or will not adjust his thinking to changing times will fail.

Here is a challenge to all retailers, large or small. Economic conditions in this country largely depend on how much money crosses retail counters—mass distribution makes mass production possible. Opportunity always beckons to the good merchant.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

Writing in Newsweek, under the title of "The Right to Strike," Henry Hazlitt says: "We must never lose sight of the vital difference between the real right to quit work peaceably and the spurious right forcibly to prevent other from working. From time immemorial most union leaders have tried to tie the two together in the same package, and to practice the second in the name of the first.

"But the right to work is as sacred as the right to quit work, and no less in need of protection."

The most obvious denial of the right to work is found in the closed shop which tells the worker, in effect, that he must join a union, adhere to union policy, and pay dues to a union, or he will not be allowed employment at his craft. It is found in only a slightly less obvious form in the union shop plan, under which the worker must join the union after he has been employed for some given length of time. And it is also found in such a technique as mass picketing which is a form of intimidation to prevent people from taking jobs they want.

Labor can never be free until it has the right to work as well as to quit work.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The House this week passed Senate Bill 1008, of which Senator O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, was the author. The purpose of this bill was to legalize the so-called basing system and the absorption of freight rates in the delivered price commodities. Last year, in the Cement Case, Justice Black of the Supreme Court apparently declared that the absorption of freight rates by an industry in order to have the same delivery price was a violation of the Anti-Trust laws of the country. There is no question but what the cement industry has long been a gigantic trust and monopoly. It has been common practice for all cement companies bidding on cement for a given job to bid exactly the same price regardless of the distance from the point of delivery, or regardless of the quality of the cement. Since this decision, the manufacturing industries of the country have been jittery and uncertain as to their practice of absorbing freight rates. Many towns in this country are built around single industries. Many of these industries make commodities that sell for exactly the same price all over the United States, or within certain areas of the United States. If having a one price system through absorbing freight rates is to be unlawful, it would result in scattering these industries all over the country. To outlaw freight rate absorption would in effect restrict industrial customers to those within the factory area. It is said that to outlaw freight rate absorption, or the delivered price system now practiced by all major industries of the country would destroy mass production, and make ghost towns out of hundreds of communities built around single industries and would throw thousands if not millions of people out of work.

Therefore, Congress has felt it necessary to clarify the law on the question of delivered prices and freight rate absorption. S. 1008 declares that mere absorption of freight rates is not in itself a violation of the law. It is a violation of the law if it is done in conspiracy or collusion with other industries to restrain trade or unjustly eliminate competition. Some contend that it would have been a good thing to have outlawed the so-called basing point system, the delivered price system, or the absorption of freight rates system of the country. Some feel that it would have been a good thing to break up the big industries and to have scattered them all over the Nation. All agree, however, that this would have been a serious operation at this particular time. It certainly would have increased prices to consumers farthest from the factory sites of goods produced. Again, many feel that the breaking up of big industries would have resulted in the making of inferior goods at higher prices.

Certainly this country needs some good trust-busting. I have long condemned such monopolies as the Farm Machinery Trust. However, we do not want to burn the barn down simply to get rid of the rats. We do not want to destroy good businesses while trying to destroy bad business. We all know that full employment and full production is essential to national prosperity and national security.

There is much discussion in Washington these days concerning the plight of Britain. Notwithstanding the many billions of dollars that we have loaned and given to England since the war, she is now on the verge of national bankruptcy and living conditions there have grown worse rather than better. It seems to me that Britain's plight has been greatly aggravated, if not primarily caused, by two things — FEATHER-BEDDING and NATIONALIZATION. By feather-bedding we mean the failure of people to work and produce to full capacity. Feather-bedding is where two men are employed to do the job of one, or where one man produces half of what he could or should produce. Of course, he term could also be applied to many industrial abuses. Nationalization is a better understood term. The taking over the banks, and the coal mines, and the railroads by the British government was a colossal blunder. Americans could learn much from a study of the British debacle.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Has A Plan For Making A Living Charging Airplanes For The Use Of His Air

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek won't get anywhere with his hair-brained scheme to avoid work, but we guess that's his business, not ours.

Dear editor:

I noticed in a copy of Politics Gazette which was wrapped around a pair of shoes which I had half-soled in town as a birthday present for his wife, some men go for years taking their wife for granted without ever stopping to do some little thing that will please her feminine heart; where a farmer in Tennessee is claiming he owns the air above his farm and has a right to keep airplanes from flying over it if he wants to.

This farmer claims airplanes flying low over his farm scares his horse so he won't work to a plow and he has had to abandon

Now while I ain't never been reduced to blaming airplanes for stoppin me from plowin, I don't need an excuse, I just don't plow when I don't feel like it. I think that Tennessee farmer is on the right track and I would like to get one of those Knox county lawyers if you can recommend any of em to go inco this for me.

I notice lots of towns have taken on the right to charge money for parkin on their

We take this means of expressing our deepest thanks and appreciation to our many friends who were so kind and thoughtful to us in the death of our mother and grandmother Mrs. F. W. Winchester. Especially do we want to thank the Mahan Funeral Home and Mr. G. B. Hammett for their help and kindness.

streets and by the same token it looks like I might have a right to charge airplanes for using the air over my land. I don't have no serious objections to airplanes flyin over my farm out here, but its possible the drone of a motor could interrupt my train of thought right when I might have the United Nations problem about solved, or just when I was gettin a nibble and the interruption might cause me to jerk the line too soon, playing havoc with the future of world peace and my catfish supper, and its possible a good lawyer could make a case out for me.

I figure just a moderate charge, says $10 a month on a annual basis, would take care of all damages or mental interruptions, and while I don't have a way of finding out what planes is usin the top part of my land. I figure the government could take this over and just mail me my check each month and I won't argue about details. If one or two more planes than I agreed to let fly over use my air, I won't squabble. Live and let live is my policy.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

GET THE FLIES

Sanitation is the number one item in a successful fly control program. Insecticidal treatment is of little or no value unless a thorough job of cleaning up all fly breeding places is done, says James A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College.

It is a known fact adds Deer, that flies carry the germs of many diseases and with the increasing amount of polio in the state it is more important than ever to get rid of the flies and other insects that may be carriers of the disease.

Deer says, if DDT is not giving good results, try a 2 percent chlordane household spray. It should get the flies as well as other insects that are bothersome in and around the house.

Premises should be kept clean at all times. Keep garbage in covered containers and keep the lids on these containers. Clean up and destroy breeding places around the farmstead and don't expect the insecticides to do the entire job. They'll help, says Deer, but there is nothing that can be substituted for cleanliness, but he concludes, if you mix the two together in liberal proportions and use them, you can keep flies under control.

KITCHEN KOMMENT

Many women like to knit in summer but find that yarn sticks to their fingers. Wearing a cotton glove on the hand eliminates this trouble.

If dresser drawers stick, dip a cotton cloth in warm, melted paraffin and run it along the drawer slides and runners. Then the drawers will pull smoothly.

Put the small hem at the bottom of the bed at least half of the time and wear on sheets will be evenly distributed.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—With the alarming total of 922 Texans having been attacked by the dread disease, poliomyelitis, 1949 bids fair to be the worst polio year the state has ever experienced, and health officials in every section of the state are exerting every effort to bring the disease under control.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer has reiterated his appeal for every citizen to cooperate in a continuous clean-up campaign ridding their premises of all rubbish and trash piles, and any such filth as will afford breeding places for flies and other disease-spreading insects.

"This polio situation will never be controlled without the observance of stringent basic sanitation measures," the State Health Officer declared. "The filth on your premises may cause polio in your home. This problem of controlling polio is one demanding the closest possible cooperation, and until a program of continuous cleaning up is instituted and stringently enforced, we shall continue to face the menace of polio in all sections of the State."

Dr. Cox emphasized to parents whose children are suffering from poliomyelitis, the comforting knowledge that about 60 per cent of all cases of recognized polio recover completely, and at least 25 to 30 per cent of recognized cases recover with only minor disabling paralysis.

"Only about 8 per cent of polio victims develop the deadly bulbar type which affects the nerves at the base, or the 'bulb of the brain,' Dr. Cox said. "Most patients suffering from bulbar polio die within a very short time. But it is a comforting thought that 92 per cent of polio patients never develop bulbar polio, and make a partial, or in many cases, complete recovery and are restored to health."

S-o-o-o GOOD

Caught in a moment of perfect contentment, one of 850 children at the famed "Child City"—Mooseheart, Illinois—maintained by Loyal Order of Moose, shows the rest of the world how to keep cool and relaxed. He also knows that one delightful way to get more milk in his daily servings of food is to eat ice cream more frequently. According to the National Dairy Council, Chicago, ice cream has, for young and old alike, basic food elements to make strong bones and teeth, to develop healthy skin and eyes, and to build and maintain healthy muscles, tissues and nerves.

4-H Youths Save 2 Million Gallons Of Tractor Fuel

Two million gallons of tractor fuel will be saved this year by 30,000 rural boys and girls as a direct result of putting into daily use practices recommended in the National 4-H Tractor Maintenance program, according to a recent analysis. Potential value of the program was estimated by an oil company official when he stated that if some three million American farm tractor operators had a chance to learn the 4-way of tractor care, 200 million gallons of tractor fuel could be saved annually.

It was pointed out that in these days of declining farm prices, reducing labor costs by means of efficient tractor operation could make the difference between profit and loss in the farming business. One 4-H boy summed up the object of the tractor maintenance program in a few words when he said, "A good running tractor means more cash in the pocket."

Texas 4-H Club members not only bring benefits to the farm through skillful tractor operation, but they also have an opportunity to compete for various individual awards. At the end of each year records are submitted to the Extension office where they are scored on the basis of accomplishment. The Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, sponsor of the program in Texas, provides sterling silver medals for county winners; a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for state champion, and $300 scholarships for 4-H's having the best records in the nation.

Since the project was first inaugurated on a national scale in 1945, more than 110,000 Club members have learned how to keep a tractor in top-notch working order the year 'round. To do this job, 11,500 Club leaders in 41 states were trained in special tractor clinics set up throughout the country for this program.

Herman Schneiderjan of Gainesville won Cook county and state honors in 1948. Silver medals were awarded to 119 other county winners. The Co-operative Extension Service supervises the program.

Hairy Vetch Shows Value As Cover Crop

Alvis Russell, co-operator with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, three miles west of Knox City, says that his cotton, where he had hairy vetch planted as a cover crop is making a much better showing at this time than his other cotton. Mr. Russell planted the Hairy vetch and rye last fall, used it as a cover crop and pasture, and plowed it under green this spring. Later he planted cotton on this adjoining land. There is a lot of difference in the growth of the cotton where he had the vetch. In most places it is as much as 6-8 inches higher and has a dark green color. The other cotton, planted the same day, is two or three shades of

PROGRAM
from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

1950 Conservation Program

Rather than any prescribed program to be followed alike by all cooperators, the Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance on a number of practices which will fit into the conservation needs of individual farmers.

Farmers of Knox County, therefore, need not wait until the 1950 Agricultural Conservation Program is announced before planning their own conservation committee. He points out that many farmers are already planning the conservation work they will carry out next year.

As the chairman explains, each farmer knows the conservation problems of his farm. If too much of the top-soil is being washed off the slopes or if yields are going down on a particular piece of land he can plan his practices now as well as next winter to correct the difficulties.

Mr. Partridge advised each farmer to check his farm carefully for signs of erosion and deterioration, and then plan to use the Agricultural Conservation Program accordingly.

As the chairman put it, "the plan has been effective in getting better conservation practices introduced and carried out on a majority of the farms in the country, there still is room for improvement. The farmer can use the program most effectively if he plans his conservation practices to meet the most important needs of his farm. All of the conservation practices approved for Knox county may be needed on a particular farm but the ones most needed should be used first."

Improved Pastures Pay
Good pastures hold the soil, restore humus, and build up a reserve of plant food for future production, and good pastures pay.

Ermet Partridge, chairman of the Knox county agricultural conservation committee, points out that the soil and water conserving value of pasture is well known but few realize the cash returns that come from improved pasture.

To indicate the cash returns from pastures, the chairman cited the results of experiments carried out in Georgia. Improved pastures yielded 187 pounds more beef per acre than unimproved. The net per-acre gain from improved pasture was $66.22 a year.

Results from three years winter grazing of dairy cows showed 368 gallons of milk per acre from fertilized pastures as against 209 gallons from non-fertilized pasture—$14.00 worth of fertilizer yielded $67.00 worth of milk. Oats or rye-grass with crimson clover is the favorite mixture for winter pasture.

The Georgia study showed that winter pasture can carry one cow per acre in the fall and one cow per four acres through the winter.

These, according to the chairman, are some of the possibilities which farmers should keep in mind in connection with the necessity of shifting acreages from the production of surplus crops to conservation uses.

Mr. Partridge points out that the Agricultural Conservation

Program provides assistance to farmers in getting good pastures started or in improving present pastures. He urges farmers to see a member of the County ACP committee or the local community committeeman for information about pasture improvement practices and the assistance available through the ACP Program.

Did you know— That there was a company of Mexicans who fought on the Texas side at San Jacinto?

That after the fall of the Alamo, Santa Anna had Mrs. Dickinson, mother of the "Babe of the Alamo", brought before him and tried to persuade her to let him adopt the little girl? That a young man who became famous later as Beta-Million Gates convinced cattlemen that barbed wire would hold cattle by building a corral in the Military Plaza at San Antonio—and thereby revolutionized the economic history of Texas?

That Texas was under nois, but seven flags—the "forgotten" flag being the green banner of the filibusters who drove every Spanish soldier out of Texas for a time?

That a Texas who was "killed" in the Grass Fight at San Antonio "came back to life"? That Samuel Maverick, who gave the word, "maverick" to the cattle industry, never owned more than 1,200 head of cattle?

These, and many other stories are told in your columnist's newest book, "City of Flaming Adventure," (Naylor Co., San Antonio) the first full length history of San Antonio, Texas' most historic city and one of the four most distinctive cities in America.

Ralph Kilgore, Rosebud, publisher-postmaster, feel that there is the proverbial million dollars' worth of ready-made publicity for a rose-grower if he would locate there. "Roses for Rosebud"—the phrase rolls off the tongue. He's probably correct—but just wait till the Tyler Chamber of Commerce hears about this!

Looks Like Crazy Plowing, But It Isn't!

Yes, it looks like crazy plowing, viewing it from an airplane, but Clay F. Grove knew what he was doing when he was doing it. And there are reasons for the odd designs.

Don Steffa was on his way to make another aerial photo when he saw this scene from his plane on May 28. Out of curiosity he shot the scene.

After developing the film, he took the picture to Clay Grove for explanation. Clay was amazed at how his handiwork looked from the air.

The zig-zag design is a wheat field. As the wheat and vetch which had been planted on sandy land started to come up, Grove went in with a two-row lister and cut the furrows to prevent it from blowing. Shortly after the picture was made, he took a weeder and cultivator and leveled the furrows so it could be combined. The wheat yielded 21½ bushels per acre.

In contrast is the work on the right. From the air the farmer appeared to be erasing his lines. The tractor is moving up the picture, not down. Clay stated he was plowing, getting ready to plant cotton. He had gone over the field once, cutting the first row of dark lines and was going back over to finish the job.

Mr. Grove is supervisor of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District which has won high awards. His home, in the top center of the picture, is two and one-half miles southwest of town. The photo was made, looking east, from 800 feet altitude.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Brown and son, Jimmy, visited with relatives in Lampasas and Austin several days last week.

George Moffett Gives Comments On Legislature

In the days following the untimely passing of Governor Beauford Jester, there have been many inquiries as to who now becomes the lieutenant-governor. The answer is that since Lieutenant-Governor Allan Shivers has moved up to the governor's chair that the lieutenant-governor's office is actually vacant. However, the state constitution provides that in such a case the president pro tempore (temporary president) of the senate shall perform the duties of the lieutenant-governor. Therefore, Senator G. C. Morris, of Greenville, who was elected president pro tempore of the senate on the last day of the session will now become the acting lieutenant-governor, and if Governor Shivers leaves the state Senator Morris will become acting governor in his absence. When a special session of the legislature is called, probably in January of 1950, the senate will elect another of its members as president pro tempore. Therefore, Senator Morris' term will only be temporary.

Since the unfortunate death of Governor Jester occurred only five days after the legislature had adjourned, there were dozens of bills on his death awaiting his approval or veto. The constitution provides that the governor shall have twenty days, exclusive of Sundays in which to act upon bills reaching his desk during the last ten days of a session; a large number of bills which passed through the senate while he was still its presiding officer. He has indicated that he will be very sparing using the veto privilege. Governor Shivers is thoroughly familiar with the operation of the state government as he has had fifteen years experience in the legislature. He will doubtless make the state a good-governor.

Ten proposed amendments to the state constitution will be submitted to a vote of the people at a statewide election to be held in November 8 this year. The original date was September 24. It was changed to the November date in order to allow sufficient time for the publication of all these proposed changes in our state constitution. At least one newspaper in each county will publish these amendments. Some of them are of much importance and all deserve your careful thought. When an amendment to the constitution is approved by the people's vote it cannot be changed except by

Alvis Russell, co-operator with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, three miles west of Knox City, says that his cotton, where he had hairy vetch planted as a cover crop is making a much better showing at this time than his other cotton. Mr. Russell planted the Hairy vetch and rye last fall, used it as a cover crop and pasture, and plowed it under green this spring. Later he planted cotton on this adjoining land. There is a lot of difference in the growth of the cotton where he had the vetch. In most places it is as much as 6-8 inches higher and has a dark green color. The another vote of the people on the same subject. Therefore, it is hoped that these amendments will be thoroughly discussed before election day.

other cotton, planted the same day, is two or three shades of green lighter in color and does not have the growth of the other.

Mr. Russell has in mind planting more soil improving crops this fall, if seed is available. This is part of his conservation plan worked out with the District and the Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Farm Bureau Shows Progress In County

Mr. Ford, President of the County Farm Bureau, says: "There are a few things that I would like to tell the people of our county about some of the progress that has been made through the efforts of our county and state Farm Bureau organization to benefit those who are not members. The organization has grown from about nothing in 1937 to 37,500 in 1949, working for the interests of agriculture and general welfare of the people of Texas.

For the past 4 sessions of our Texas Legislature there have been bills introduced to take away the tractor gas refund tax from the farmers which would have meant $9,000,000 to our farmers in 1948, had this been done.

The Farm Bureau an independent farmer's organization, has been in the scrap to see that the rural people are not gyped out of all their possessions and earnings. There has been an untiring effort put forth to curb the tide of farm produce going down like a person on a johnnie slide and yet still be paying high prices for our farm equipment and finished goods, necessary to produce the raw agricultural products.

In 1944 the members of the Farm Bureau decided that they wanted a personal service that the non-members could not get. As a result, the Texas Farm Bureau checked to find out what the members needed. They found that the rural people did not have adequate health and hospital protection. They investigated all of the different hospital insurance plans and found that Blue Cross Group Insurance was the best that could be had for the premium charged, and that it would pay claims promptly. After this experience Blue Cross has found that the rural groups were profitable groups. They began to offer Blue Cross to community groups on the same basis. Blue Shield protection has been made available to Farm Bureau groups and to community groups.

In 1947 a Life and Casualty Insurance Company was organized to provide insurance to Farm Bureau members at cost: Also, let's look at the wheat situation just past. We were on the road to destruction if it had not been for our organized farmers in Texas, which is our Farm Bureau.

There should be a stir in every one of hearts and minds to find out what we can do to help ourselves through better farm organization.

The foregoing statements have been pressing on my mind for some time but I have been reluctant to come to you with them.

Some of you remember we put up a scrap in the Texas Legislature this year to provide us with a rural road program. If we had been stronger, we would have stood a better chance solved.

Club Boys Go To Encampment On July 26th

The annual Knox County 4-H Club Boys Encampment will be held jointly with the Baylor County 4-H Boys in Seymour's Municipal Park on July 26 and 27.

According to K. O. Lewis, Knox County Agricultural Agent, all boys enrolled in 4-H clubs in Knox County are eligible to attend this encampment.

Swimming, soft ball, picture shows, horse-shoes and track are to be the main events.

Boys will be picked up over the county beginning at 11:00 a. m. on July 26, at Truscott, and thence south through Benjamin, Knox City, Munday and Goree to arrive at Seymour around 2:30 or 3:00.

Each boy will be expected to bring a picnic lunch for the night of the 26th, and food and utensils for the preparation of his breakfast over an open camp fire. Boys from the same community may group their utensils to save extra luggage. Food for the noon meal on the 27th will be prepared on the grounds.

Overseas Program Explained In Meet Held On July 18

At a meeting July 18, 1949, at 2:00 p. m., in the court house at Benjamin, Mr. Bob Ross explained to Knox County representatives the purpose of the Christian Rural Overseas Program, commonly known as C. R. O. P.

This program, administered to the needy overseas, irrespective of race, color, or creed, is set up to enable the rural people of our country to help the rural population overseas. A county committee is set up with Community Chairmen, to accept the donations. In this county, the two crops most needed are cotton and wheat. According to Mr. Ross, 99.7% of every bushel of wheat and pound of cotton contributed goes to the people overseas who need raw products to stimulate industry, as well as furnish food and clothing.

During the next few weeks, civic organizations will receive information on this program, which is administered overseas by the church relief associations and is sponsored on a national level by Church World Services, Catholic Rural Life and Lutheran World Relief.

A meeting will be called in September by county agents, Kenneth O. Lewis and Eugenia H. Butler, in order that the county may appoint a committee and organize, if there is sufficient interest.

Individuals who are interested in this program should see their local pastors who are receiving letters on what is being done in Knox County about C. R. O. P.

Miss Gloria Elliott spent last week visiting with relatives and friends in Fort Worth and Cleburne.
