

Kracker Krumbs Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

Don't you just love the way our streets look when you come to town early Monday morning?

It's such an improvement over the way they used to be that we've been aimin' to crow about it for some two or three weeks, but other matters seemed to take up the attention of the Krumbs.

Anyway, we're right proud of the way that little street sweeper is working. It's proving that it will get the job done if it's operated often enough.

The fellow who operates the thing is working at a rather dusty job while the rest of us are getting our early morning beauty naps.

We say dusty because it is. Even with the sprinkler system that's used on the machine, it's a dusty job to operate it.

If you got the dirt wet enough to eliminate the dust, then it would be mud, and the sweeper wouldn't pick it up with any amount of success.

Monday mornings we find the streets just about as clean as they are in anybody's city—but the sweeper is parked just about where it was Saturday night. Doesn't look like it's been moved two yards.

The operator begins his work soon after midnight Sunday night. Then he's working on Monday, you know.

Then, too, that's a time when most of us are in bed—or should be—and there are no cars parked at the curbs to prevent the sweeper from doing its work.

It's a feather in the bonnets of all of us who've been pulling for a street sweeper for some time. And the bonnets of our city council should have the biggest and brightest feather.

Most folks thought of a street sweeper in terms of around seven thousand smackers—and that was a heap of dough to put out just for keeping the streets of a little town clean.

Some of the councilmen looked at it in those big terms, too, so when a street sweeper was mentioned the matter seemed to get way back under the table, but quick.

But someone "got wise" to this job. We don't know whether it was our mayor, city secretary, or who.

But they seemed to think it would get the job done in a small town, and they "cabbaged" onto the thing.

It came in looking kinda like an amphibious tank, or something, that had been dry docked.

It was the subject of some criticism and a whole bunch of wise cracks.

It was stored at Munday Auto Company for a while, and folks couldn't believe we had a street sweeper.

It was then parked on the north side of the city square, and folks wanted to know why it wasn't being operated.

It had one wheel—and that a rear wheel—steering contraption, and that kinda bumfuzzled those who tried to steer it.

It had a fiber rotary broom, and those fibers had deteriorated until they'd come loose and scatter here and yon when the thing went into action.

Harvey Lee found a place to get the broom rewound—if that's what you do to them—so he had that done and some repairs and adjustments were made and finally the little ole sweeper went into action.

And the astonishing result is what you see each Monday morning—clean curbs and a citified looking little town.

Work Nearing Completion On "Big Ditch"

Munday is just about ready for that big rain. Most of the county is ready for a rain, for that matter, but Munday will soon be ready to experiment with its "big ditch" to see how well it controls the town's flood waters.

Work on the ditch is about to reach the final stages. It is a four-mile affair that encircles the south and east sides of town to divert the seasonal flood waters from the town.

It is hoped that Munday people will no longer ride down main street in boats when seasonal floods come in the area.

Work started on the project about 90 days ago, with the drag lines beginning at the east end of the project, or at Lake Creek east of town, working into town. Local officials believe the project will be completed within the next 15 or 20 days.

The drainage ditch is six feet wide at the bottom and nine feet wide at the top. In some instances it is as much as 18 feet deep. At the southeast edge of town, the thing divides into two ditches, one coming into the east edge of town, while the other goes along the south part of the city limits.

Some of the dirt from the ditch is being used to fill in low places along the city's streets.

The ditch will carry lots of water. It will take lots of water to fill it, and it is hoped it will take care of Munday's flood problem.

Large Crowds Are Attending Baptist Revival At Goree

The revival at the First Baptist Church in Goree is now in progress and will continue through this Sunday. Services are twice daily at 10:00 o'clock a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Rev. John H. Osteen of Amarillo is the evangelist and Max Copeland of Baylor University, Waco, is in charge of the music.

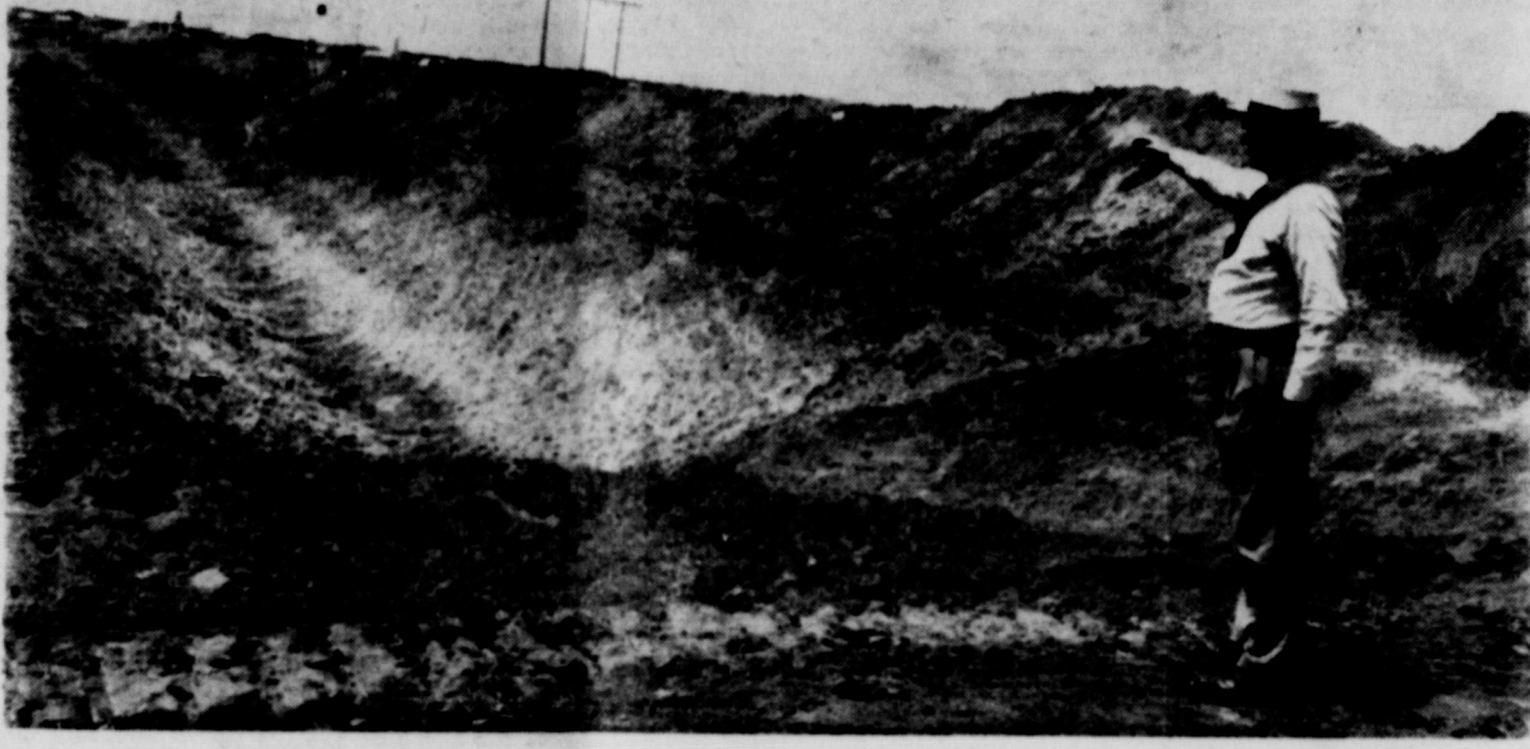

The pastor, Rev. S. E. Stevenson, reports a successful revival thus far. Backsliders have been restored, the lost have been saved and some have united by letter and statement. Large crowds are attending each service.

In the morning services, Rev. Osteen is bringing the messages from the book of Philipians. For the Friday evening service, he will preach on the much discussed doctrinal subject, "Can a Christian Ever, Ever, Ever, Be Lost?"

The Sunday School attendance for Sunday is set for one hundred and seventy-five. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rayburn and Mr. and Mrs. Jiggs Edwards are visiting in New Mexico several days this week.

Hope For Solving Drainage Problem

Pictured above is Mayor W. R. Moore as he points down the "Big Ditch" Munday's hope for solving her drainage problem. The ditch is expected to divert seasonal flood water from the southwest away from the town and to materially aid in giving the town better drainage. Heavy rains have caused flood waters to come coursing through the town, and in some instances it had flooded local stores. Members of the drainage district commission who have done much work toward completion of the drainage ditch are: J. L. Stodghill, president of the Munday C. D. A.; R. D. Atkinson and C. P. Baker.

Revival Opens On August 10 At Gilliland

A revival meeting will begin on Wednesday night, August 10, at the Gilliland Baptist Church. It was announced this week by Rev. Eugene T. Johnson, pastor. The meeting will continue through Sunday, August 21.

Rev. Julius Hickerson, Jr., of the Trinity Baptist Church in Dallas, will do the preaching, and Raymond Stephens of Waco will conduct the singing.

Rev. Hickerson, who is a graduate of East Texas State Teachers College and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, is a widely known church worker and a forceful speaker. He has had unusual success in Sunday School and training union work.

Services will be held at 10 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. daily during the revival, and Rev. Johnson extends a cordial invitation for everyone to attend.

Boone Ranch Given Approval For Conservation

At their July meeting, the Supervisors of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District approved applications for conservation work on the Boone Ranch east of Weiner, George F. Stubb's farm north of Knox City, E. V. Cluck's farm northwest of Munday, and R. J. Reynolds' two farms near Rochester. These applications were turned over to the Soil Conservation Service technicians, who will help the farmers with conservation work on these farms.

The SCS technicians at Knox City have recently completed running terrace lines on C. P. Baker's farm at Munday, the Boone Ranch, and on Virgil Sonnemaker's farm at Weiner. Chester Borden of Weiner has recently constructed his terraces, and Clyde Nelson's, Dud Ellis', and Homer Merritt's are being constructed.

The native germ seeding that was done early in the spring is looking good on all farms and ranches that were seeded. This consists of approximately 250 acres of badly eroded land that has been retired to native grass.

Knox Singers To Meet Next Sunday

The Knox County Singing Convention will be held on Sunday, August 7, at the First Baptist Church in Goree. It was announced Wednesday by J. B. Justice of Goree.

Blue Cross, Blue Shield enrollment dates: July 28-Aug. 6.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

A DUTY AND A PRIVILEGE

At the last annual meeting of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, President Truman wrote the Board's general manager a letter in which he said, "I am glad of his opportunity to commend your organization for the outstanding leadership you have shown in the fields of building codes, fire statistics, fire insurance education, fire prevention and other related activities. You have made many valuable contributions toward reducing huge human and economic losses suffered in this country year after year because of fire."

The National Board has deservedly won national recognition for its unremitting efforts to protect us from fire. Other groups are also performing a great service in this field. This work has held destruction of life and property by fire to a far lower level than would have been the case otherwise. But the experts cannot do the whole job—they must have the hearty cooperation of every community. Fire prevention work must be carried on day in and day out, as a matter of sensible routine, by local citizens.

Last year fire losses totalled more than $700,000,000. This year the trend has been downward, but the waste is still unexcusably high, and the dangerous winter months are ahead of us. A huge fire loss is largely the result of two factors—ignorance coupled with carelessness.

Fire prevention is one thing which is directly in the interest of everyone. We should regard it as both a duty and a privilege to share in this work.

AT THE EXPENSE OF THE CONSUMER

There has been an unusually large amount of editorial comment on John L. Lewis' order to the soft coal miners to work only three days a week. One of the soundest analyses of what this involves appeared in the New York Times, when it said: "Mr. Lewis originally sought to carry out this program through an agreement with the operation. To the latter's credit, however, they had the good sense to reject the proposal. The result of such an agreement (even on the improbable assumption that it would be permitted under our anti-trust laws) would be the establishment of a cartel for the coal industry. Less dynamic economics than our own have frequently sought deliverance from their problems by such arrangements, only to find that they have achieved 'stabilization', if at all, by restricting output, keeping inefficient producers alive and immobilizing the labor force—at the expense of the consumer in particular and economic progress in general."

Another important phase of the matter was brought out by the Wall Street Journal, which observed, "As a matter of fact, Mr. Lewis performed a great public service. He has dramatized as no one else could, the monopoly power that resides in labor union leaders. More than any other man he has brought closes the time that power will be restricted."

Comment of a similar character has appeared in every section of the country. Mr. Lewis has again demonstrated that labor monopolies can be fully as dangerous as any industrial or financial monopolies that have ever existed. There is only one solution—organized labor must be subjected to the same anti-trust laws that control the managers and owners of enterprise."

DEMOCRACY'S OXYGEN

Visiting German students, after a year in American schools, said that democracy was something they could not study but that they could feel it.

Our democracy was probably like fresh air to them. The exhilaration and pleasure of "living in it" was like the life-giving effect of oxygen in the air we breathe. The things that give life to our democracy are free institutions and an opportunity to live a life unmoled by powers beyond our control.

Some of the elements that caused the German students to "feel" our democracy are a judiciary system to interpret the laws, and last but not least, private enterprise as the tangible evidence of the freedom enjoyed by our citizens.

It is no wonder the German students "inhaled the oxygen" of our democracy.

"I trust you found that novel interesting," the librarian remarked hopefully.

"The book wasn't so much," the patron replied, "but that letter someone left in it for a bookmark was a lulu."

Men put off things they ought to do, and women put off things they ought to wear.

It seems to us that the average person today isn't quite so average as he used to be.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says His Land May Need Restoring, But So Do Editorial Writers' Brains

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek must have gotten hold of some paper we missed, and we have not seen any editorial talking about what he's talking about this week, and certainly it didn't appear in this paper.

J. A.

Dear editor:
Every once in a while I read the editorials in the big daily papers that turn up out here, figuring if they was good enough to wrap fish bait in they're good enough to read, but the other day I picked up one and spread it out in the shade and in between naps read where a editorial writer was struggling with the problem of surpluses. According to him, scientists have discovered a way to grow 200 bushels of corn to the acre, and he was pretty upset, wondering what would happen if all the corn land started producing 200 bushels to the acre, instead of 25 or 20. His contention was that such production would ruin the country, but I can't see it that way. He had it all figured out, if all the corn production states suddenly produced eight times as much corn as they do now, it would flood the country with corn and break the government trying to maintain the present price. He was in favor of burying in the secret of 200 bushels to the acre.

If you ask me, there ought to be more editorial writers buried. In the first place, if the rest of the farmers followed my example, they wouldn't produce any more corn than they do now. I don't set out to see how many acres I can plant, all I want is enough corn to see me through then winter, and if I can do it on one acre instead of 28, one is all I'd plant. It reminds me of the city editor who was opposed to the mechanical cotton picker, on account it would throw cotton pickers out of work, although he wasn't opposed to mechanical type setters, don't make no difference if one machine did throw ten men out of work.

Personally, I ain't scared of a corn surplus. If I had a choice of being busted without enough corn or busted with too much, believe I'd take the latter. A man with cornbread and a fish in pole ain't hard up.

If anybody can make my land produce 200 bushels of corn or anything else a acre, he's welcome to do it, and while my land may be pretty badly washed out, it ain't as washed out as some editorial writers I know. Soil conservation ain't the only thing needed in this country.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Be careful. Obey state and local traffic rules.

Metal and porcelain surfaces of kitchen ranges need frequent washing with a cloth moistened in warm suds, but this should be done only after the stove cools. A wet cloth on a hot stove may cause the enamel to crack.

Mrs. Roy Cutbirth of Abilene visited her mother, Mrs. T. C. Lowry, last week end. Terry Donald Harrison is visiting relatives in Lubbock this week.

Plow MORE with LESS POWER

A Krause One-Way, by actual field test, has less draft than most other one-way plows. That means more plowing with less power.

And in addition a Krause gives you a uniformly level seedbed ... cuts through heavy stubble and weeds to give you a chopped-up mulch that is near perfect for topsoil protection ... gives you a perfect summer-fallowing tool.

You gain many other advantages, too, with a Krause. Check all the features. Compare. Talk to your neighbors who use Krause plows. If you do, it'll be Krause for you.

Bridal Shower Given To Honor Ethelena Simpson

Miss Ethelena Simpson was honored with a bridal shower last Friday evening at the Munday Study Club house from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Troy Lindsey greeted the guests as they entered and presented them to the receiving line which consisted of Miss Simpson, her mother, Mrs. Otis Simpson, Mrs. Evelyn Elliott, and Mrs. Buster Jones, sister of the honoree.

Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl by Mrs. E. O. Norville and Mrs. J. C. Gollehon served the white cake squares which were decorated with the pink initial of "E". White napkins with gold letters revealed the wedding date of "E. C. and Ethelena, July 30, 1949", served as plate favors.

The bride's chosen color of pink was used throughout the party rooms. The table was laid with a white cloth with pink underlay. Pink roses circled the crystal punch bowl. Zinnias, marigolds and pink roses were used to complete the decoration.

Miss Billie Jean Tuggle played piano selections while Mrs. Curtis Gollehon secured the names of the guests in the bride's book. Showing gifts was Mrs. Dorsey Tuggle.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. C. Gollehon, Mrs. B. O. Norville, Mrs. Evelyn Elliott, Miss Burnice Stubblefield, Mrs. Dorsey Tuggle, Mrs. Estelle Rayburn, Mrs. Evelyn Layne, Miss Jeanette Young, Mrs. Jo Strickland, Mrs. Troy Lindsey and Mrs. Curtis Gollehon.

E. C. Elliott, Jr. Ethelena Simpson Wed On Saturday

On Saturday evening, July 30, Miss Ethelena Simpson of Munday became the bride of Mr. E. C. Elliott, Jr., of Cleburne. The single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. E. L. Yates, pastor, of the First Methodist Church in Seymour, in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church. Bouquets of spring flowers decorated the room. Mrs. E. L. Yates played softly through the wedding ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a navy blue taffeta dress with black kid accessories. She wore a halo of white carnations in her hair. For something old, she wore a strand of pearls, something new was her wedding costume, something borrowed was a handkerchief belonging to her mother, which she carried at her wedding and for something blue, she wore a corsage.

Mrs. Evelyn Elliott of Munday, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the couple's only attendant. She wore a sheer blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Simpson of Munday. She attended a n.d. graduated from the Munday schools in 1948 and for the past several months, had been employed by the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co. in Munday.

The guests entered and were greeted at the door by Mrs. Hughes. As they took their seats, they were asked to write their favorite recipe for the honoree.

The party rooms were beautifully decorated with multi-colored zinnias. The table was decorated with zinnias and was covered with a cloth of red and white checks. Paper napkins were also of red and white checks. Potato chips were served from a dough tray, cheese crisps from an old copper strainer and the cokes were served from a black wash pot. The recent marriage of Miss Evelyn Herndon Shofner of Greenville and S-Sgt. Jim Earl Hammons of Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, was announced this week. The double ring ceremony was performed at the Grace Presbyterian Church in Greenville, by Rev. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shofner of Greenville, and Sgt. Hammons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hammons of Goree.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white chiffon gown of ballerina length, fashioned with a fitted basque waist, extending into a circular skirt. The drop-shoulder neckline was pointed in front and the bodice was designed with cap sleeves. She wore elbow length mitts of taffeta matching her dress, and a large open crown picture hat of white horsehair braid and taffeta, and carried on the piano, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life". Other musical selections were furnished by Miss Shirley Yost on the piano.

After the honoree opened the gifts, the hostesses served the guests and registered in the guest book before departing.

Jungman Family Reunion Is Held Here On July 28th

The annual Jungman family reunion was attended by one hundred and one persons on July 28 at the Munday Country Club park, which is a few miles south of Munday in Knox county.

At the noon hour, the tables were set with fried chicken, barbecue beef, fried steak boiled ham, and all the trimmings. Delicious cakes and pies of all descriptions, coffee, iced tea, lemonade and soda pop.

After lunch the business was attended to; it was unanimously agreed to beautify our father's and mother's, John and Ida Jungman, graves in the Rhineland cemetery, and W. A. Jungman volunteered to attend to same.

The next reunion is to be at Buckholts, Milam county, on the last Thursday in July, 1950. Turnip, Mustard Greens Become A Good Cash Crop

NEW YORK—Two old-time Southern menu favorites—turnip and mustard greens—are winning popularity as a year-round table delicacy and are becoming an increasingly important crop for growers and packers of greens.

Tender young leaves of the mustard and turnip plants, cooked in water with salt pork and pepper pods, have long been traditional Southern favorites but have not been widely known in other sections of the country.

However, cop and canning figures now show that these greens are becoming increasingly available in all seasons, and nutrition experts of American Can Company point out that the products offer an interesting taste variant and afford much the same healthful benefits as other leafy vegetables.

Can industry figures show that more than 1,500,000 cases of mustard, turnip and other greens were put up in 1948.

CULL THE LOAFERS
It is a direct loss to the poultry producer to feed non-layers during the summer months, says W. J. Moore, associate extension poultry husbandman of Texas A. & M. College, and it's also one of the reasons poultry producers are not doing a better job of maintaining high egg production during the summer months.

He advises poultrymen to sell the non-producers just as soon as they are noticed. Chances are they'll not come back into production until late fall or early winter, and during that time, feeding them is a dead loss.

Hens that show a shrunken, dried-up comb, yellow beak, new feathers, yellow shanks and yellow vents should be culled and sold. Hens that lack vigor and spend their time loafing should also be removed from the flock. A good producer has to eat good food and drink lots of clean cool water and they can't do this unless they rustle. Of course, the poultryman must do his part by supplying this feed and water, adds Moore.

The poultry producer who does a good job of culling continuously will be well paid, and at the same time he'll be following one of the important practices of efficient poultry management, concludes Moore.

FARM PROGRAM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

Who Elects Farmer Committeemen

Here in Knox county, farmers are faced with important decisions concerning acreage adjustment crop loans and other price support efforts, conservation and many other phases of the nation's production and marketing program.

With increase in work and responsibility, chairman Emmett Partridge of the county Agricultural Conservation Committee again calls attention to the fact that committeemen who make these decisions are elected by the farmers. Each year, elections are held in each farming community and the time is approaching when farmers will elect their committeemen for 1950.

"It is of the utmost importance that the committeemen elected truly represent the farmers of the community," says chairman Partridge.

"Although elections are still several months away, it is not too early for farmers to give serious thought to whom they want to administer the various farm programs in 1950. If the present committeemen are doing the job all right, they are entitled to a vote of confidence. If they are not—now is the time to give careful consideration to replacements.

"Committeemen are farmers elected by farmers to do a vital job of administering the Agricultural Conservation and related programs. In the aftermath of war their decisions will affect the operations of every farmer in the county."

Crop Residues and Runoff

Whether raindrops "dig in" to help in producing higher yields or "dig out" the soil particles and carry them away depends a great deal on the protective cover for the land, says Emmett Partridge, chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

When raindrops strike bare soil, the particles which give the soil its structure are broken and the surface is sealed over. This compact layer—often less than an eighth of an inch thick—may become "slick" so that it sheds water like a tin roof. Instead of soaking in, the raindrops run off. As the little trickles run together, they pick up particles of soil and the bombardment of these soil particles increases the erosion.

Where there is a good covering of grass or other thick growing crops, the fall of the raindrops is broken and the moisture filters down into the soil.

Crop residues serve the same purpose. The stubble of a small grain crop incorporated into the surface soil helps to break up the falling raindrops so that more of the moisture soaks in. The crop residues also help hold the soil together—keep it from being broken up for easy erosion.

Mr. Partridge explains that the Agricultural Conservation Program encourages farmers to carry out practical measures for checking erosion and conserving moisture. The purpose is to provide an incentive to get farmers started in conservation farming.

Since the entire population depends on the soil for food and fiber it is to the national interest to see that the source of these necessities is protected.

He urges all farmers of Knox county to use the program to help them with their conservation problems.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—The month of September brings a return of school days and thousands of Texas boys and girls will be returning to classrooms for the next nine months. Every one of these children according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, should be as free as possible from all physical defects that can be corrected and protected against other diseases which frequently spread through the classrooms.

A complete medical and dental pre-school check-up is of the utmost importance in getting the child ready for school. Eyes, ears, nose, throat, and teeth should be carefully examined, and all remediable defects corrected or placed under treatment. Such defects can lead to serious impairment of growth and progress academically, socially, and emotionally.

Defects of hearing and vision handicap a child in his class work, and often result in the false impression that he is backward and unable to learn. Such defects can often be corrected, and the child is not only more progressive in his school work, but is a happier, better balanced individual as a result of being more socially acceptable. Dental defects should be corrected not only for cosmetic reasons, but because good teeth enable a child to chew his food properly and promote good digestion and bodily nourishment. "In addition to correcting such defects, as already exist, young children should be protected by immunization against disease when possible," Dr. Cox said. "Immunization is safe and dependable, and every child is entitled to this protection against disease."

Knox County Below Its Quota In Bond Drive

Knox County exceeded its quota by 39 per cent in the Opportunity Drive for the sale of Series E Savings Bonds.

Total sales were $52,837.50, as compared to the county quota of $38,000.00, according to W. E. Edly, county Savings Bonds chairman. He received the final report of the drive today in a letter from Nathan Adams of Dallas, chairman of the Treasury Department's advisory committee for Texas.

Harry Owens of Dallas, state director of the Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department, said that the Opportunity Drive was an outstanding success throughout the state also. Sales for Texas were $46,835,896.75, or 126 per cent of the state quota of $36,950,000. The drive was held throughout the nation from May 16 through June 30, with bond purchases through July 18 being counted in the final totals.

Mr. Owens said that Texas sales during the drive were $3,293,930.50 more than Series E sales during the similar period of 1948.

Mr. Adams described the Opportunity Drive as "the most successful Savings Bonds campaign since the war" and praised the county chairman, his committee and other local volunteers "for the fine success you have achieved in your county."

He said that results of the drive indicated a sharp increase in the number of employees buying bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where the work and in the number of persons participating in the automatic Bond-A-Month Plan at their banks.

"This drive has been proof that increasing thousands of our citizens are recognizing thrift as

"Consequently, throughout the state the finest kind of cooperation for the drive came from county Savings Bonds committees, business management banks and other financial institutions, newspapers, radio stations, organizations and clubs and just plain every-day citizens.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23, 1949—The House this week defeated a so-called trial run of the Brannan plan for agriculture. In brief, the so-called Brannan plan is a plan to place a floor under the price of all agricultural commodities without controlling production or prices to the consumer. Secretary Brannan, an honest, sincere individual, has insisted that his plan would assure cheap prices to the consumers, while guaranteeing high prices to the producers, i. e., the farmers. A majority of the members of the House have regarded this plan as impractical and unworkable.

Most members have feared it meant an extension of the expensive potato program to all perishable commodities. Again, to have guaranteed to the producer of hops a price of approximately $20.00 per hundred pounds, with no other controls would probably have resulted in increasing the number of hogs of the country three-fold within one year. To my mind, a sound agricultural economy is essential to a sound national economy. Some farm program is unquestionably necessary, since the farmer, as a rugged individualist cannot survive in a highly organized, highly competitive economy. As one who grew up on a farm, and whose parents still live on one, I am always keenly sensitive to farm problems and welfare.

However, I am not sold on the Brannan plan, and voted against it. We have substituted for the Brannan plan a simple extension of the present program, pending further study. On Monday of this week the Yankee politicians will again bring before the House and will probably pass, a so-called anti-poll tax bill. This bill is a part of the so-called civil rights program. It is a gratuitous insult, a slap in the face, to the seven Southern states that still retain the poll tax. For years Yankee politicians have pointed the finger of scorn at the South and have accused us of being backward and a benighted area in which minorities are persecuted. They have held themselves up as great liberators. The bill which they seek to pass, if enacted into law, would not only be a serious blow to States' rights, but would also be a serious blow to the Constitution itself. One of the clearest provisions of our Constitution is that the question of voting is a matter of State jurisdiction and State determination. The founding fathers explained this clearly when they sought ratification of the Constitution. The Courts of the land have uniformly so construed the Consti-

City dwellers may complain of the hot days but farmers realize how necessary sunshine is to their growing crops. They know full well that without sunshine there will be no food—just as they know that without financial security they have no protection for retirement or for the hazards of farming. This fall, when the crops are all in, they will welcome the opportunity to invest a lot of their profit in additional Savings Bonds. With those Bonds they are confident about the future—for security in old age or for any emergency, $75 in Savings Bonds grows into $100 in ten years time.

solution to the problem caused by large imports of foreign oil. Thousands of oil rigs are now being stacked, independent refineries are going out of business, and hundred of workers are losing their jobs because of the curtailment of oil production in this country. In the State of Texas, State revenues have already fallen around $30,000,000 because of reduced production. This will probably mean a special session of the State legislature and the imposition of new State taxes. Furthermore, the problem may get worse instead of better. Gigantic new oil fields have been discovered in Canada. We are told that within 78 months Canadian oil will start flowing into the United States. In the Middle East where there is no such thing as proration or conservation, the major oil companies have large fields from which they can produce oil at only a fraction of the cost of producing oil in the U. S. A. Again, in Venezuela, the country from which most of our foreign oil now comes, oil is a glut on the market. Instead of there being a shortage of oil, there is now, and perhaps will continue to be, a great surplus. Again, if we permit the domestic industry to be seriously crippled from foreign competition, we would certainly suffer in the event of war. Both our peacetime economy and our wartime economy is seriously involved in this problem.

I have just read a long letter from a friend who states that he keeps a box of "pet peeves." He then enumerates all of the things that he has in his pet peeve box. I am advising him to throw the box away and forget it. Keeping such a box seems to me to be exceedingly bad psychology. If one is to be a colthing more pleasant than peeves.

BOYCE HOUSE

Jim, we'll call him, was a county official—and a great practical joker. He had a big watermelon in his office for several days and his office force kept after him to slice it. So he stopped at the drug store, said, "Give me a dime's worth of quinine" and behind a closed door he sliced the melon, put a little of the medicine on each slice, then called in his assistants. Each eagerly grabbed a piece of the luscious melon but after a bite or two, stopped eating.

In fact, a stenographer became ill. A little afterward, a man walked into the office and said to one of the employees, "What in the world was Jim buying strychnine just now for?" Jim overheard the remark and he was frantic at the thought that the druggist had misunderstood "quinine" for "strychnine". He rushed into the store and wildly demanded, "What did you sell me just now?" The druggist said, "Why, quinine."

Jim began to breathe freely again—and then he grinned. He realized that the practical joke had been turned on him.

"AGAINST the amendment to the State Constitution qualifying women as grand and petit jurors."

Kin Attend Funeral For Mrs. Barber

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nelson and Mrs. John E. Nelson attended the recent funeral of Mrs. N. L. Barber, grandmother of Mrs. E. H. Nelson and A. J. Waldron, and mother-in-law of J. F. Waldron all of Munday.

Mrs. Barber was born Nancy Lovenia Collins on August 1835, at Overton, Smith County, Texas, and 94 years of age. She married T. J. Barber on December 21, 1871, and they moved to Proctor, Comanche County, in 1876. Mr. Barber passed away on August 19, 1908, and was laid to rest at Proctor.

Since 1916, Mrs. Barber had made her home with her children. The past five years she had lived with a daughter, Mrs. T. M. Wardlaw, and Mr. Wardlaw, in Memphis, Tenn.

She came to Dublin, Texas, to make her home with a daughter, Mrs. H. C. Eargle, six weeks prior to her death in the Dublin Hospital on July 18, following a heart attack the preceding day. Mrs. Barber was a charter member of the Proctor Baptist Church.

G. Russell, Edinburg, N. M. Also surviving are 26 grandchildren, 60 great grandchildren and 19 great, great grandchildren.

got it. We're happy with that phase of the situation.

Now if we just had our curbs lined off into parking places for cars, we'd find that this would be another great improvement.

A former resident of Munday was back here last week, and he said that's on thing we ought to be pulling for. So we're pulling for it now.

Others are, too. The matter has been discussed and talked about at the C. D. A. directors' meetings. Most of them are of the opinion that it ought to be done—and so are we.

It would save lots of parking space, they say, if those lines were placed there, and cars parked within the lines. It surely needs to be done, by fall, they say.

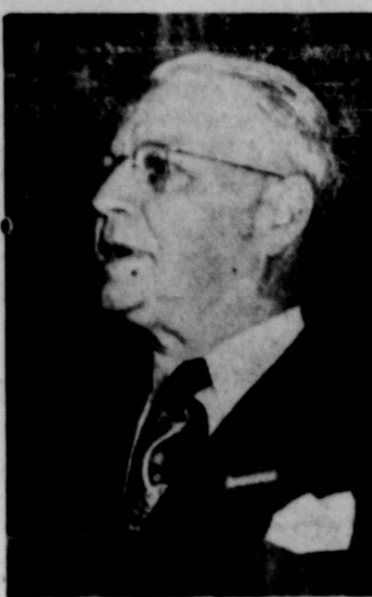

We think it will. Sometime you'll drive into town and find some bright orange, yellow, white or some other color of lines drawn angling to the curb. You'll need to park your car between two or those lines.

We hope it'll be soon.
