LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?
1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineiland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.
3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

THE NEW WAGE-HOUR LAW

The new wage-hour bill, as passed by the House, establishes a flat 75-cent minimum. It also continues the existing retail establishment exemption, with minor modifications.
It is more important that the public understand the reason for the last provision, inasmuch as efforts were made to knock it out of the new bill, and that may happen again. Retailing, especially in the smaller communities has peculiarities which are not shared by most other industries and businesses. For example, it is usually impossible for a retail store to operate on a 40-hour week—many people can shop only on Saturdays, or on certain evenings.
Furthermore, retailing has room for beginners, part-time workers, and unskilled labor whose services cannot justify a high wage—and who might not be employed at all in many cases if a high wage and overtime payments were made legally mandatory. These people can earn a modest wage while developing skills and responsibilities which will bring them higher pay as time goes along. The consensus of the experts was that it was necessary to continue the retail exemption in order to assure the perpetuation of this kind of employment. If the exemption had been eliminated, many people, whom the wage-hour law is supposed to help, would have been hurt.
The House, in framing the new bill took these facts, which are based on years of operating experience by thousands of retail stores, into consideration. In that regard, it acted wisely.

LAST MILE

Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-president of this nation, has warned that we are blissfully driving at top speed down the road back to collectivism. He said: "We are on the last mile."—you must give it thought.
Collectivism is the most insidious of all economic diseases—it can make fatal headway before the victim knows just what is happening. It begins with excessive taxation which, in effect, confiscates much of the savings and earnings of pealing schemes whereby the government will assume more and more responsibility for the "welfare" of each individual, and more and more the people. And it is always advanced by ap-power is concentrated in the grasping hands of an expanding bureaucracy.

That, as Mr. Hoover said, is precisely what is happening here. We are carrying onerous taxes and, in spite of them, we are running huge governmental deficits. Every effort to reduce the cost of government, and to do away with waste and duplication and overlapping or bureaus and administrators, is met with fierce resistance. Then, following the collectivist pattern, we are being sold the "welfare state". If the highest officials of our government have their way, we shall be forced to accept an enormously costly scheme for compulsory government health insurance—which is a polite phrase for political medicine. We shall have cradle-to-grave "social security". Individual responsibility and reliance will become things of the past. We shall pay for these doubtful blessings to the tune of tens of billions.

So we have come to the last mile. The greatest question of the day is whether we shall have the courage to stop in time.

"One of the principal obstacles to continuing high consumer demand, which is necessary for mass production, is our tremendous tax burden." E. F. Mansure, president, Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

Edward Everett, famous orator, delivered an address two hours long at the Gettysburg dedication. No wonder Lincoln's short address became so popular.

Silver and gold coins have a rough edge because if they were smooth it would be easy to file off some of the valuable metal without changing the coin's appearance.

The old narrow roads, where two cars can barely pass without colliding, are being replaced by splendid highways on which six or eight cars can collide at the same time.

In a recent survey of male customers conducted by the Department of Commerce, interviewers found that men preferred cotton underwear 29 to 1.

Most any business man can handle a big deal, but it takes an executive to dispose of the little dealers.

LOOPHOLES in the Law

By WILL WILSON
Past President, Texas District and County Attorneys Association

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short case histories, all taken from court records, showing how legal loopholes often enable criminals to escape punishment in Texas. Will Wilson of Dallas, is chairman of a special steering committee of the State Bar, which is working for revision of the antiquated Criminal Code of Criminal Procedure in order to eliminate these loopholes.)

Mr. Homeowner went out for a short while, neglecting to close the front door of his private residence. The entrance was completely open, the door not having a screen, and during Mr. Homeowner's absence Lightfinger, Harry came in and started picking up articles that suited his fancy.
Just as Harry had his arms pretty well loaded, he heard a noise behind him. He whirled around to see Mr. Homeowner standing in front of him. Harry dodged past the owner of the house, ran out the front door, which was still open, and disappeared with a number of Mr. Homeowner's valuables still in his possession.

Harry was captured and prosecuted for burglary. Mr. Homeowner testified convincingly against him and he was convicted.

The verdict was reversed by the appellate court. This court held the defendant could not be guilty of burglary because he had walked right into the house through the open door without any use of force and left the same way, again without using force. The court ruling held that force must be used either in entering or leaving premises before the crime of burglary can be committed.

The State Bar of Texas is endeavoring to close such legal loopholes as this. The statewide organization of attorneys is working to bring this about through a revision of Texas' criminal statutes.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants All The Cotton Picked Everywhere This Year, But By Someone Else

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher in his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek seems to be going on record about his availability as a cotton picker for the Southwest, but we doubt if anybody was counting on him anyway.

Dear editor:

I was in town Saturday seem if I could borrow some money from a cotton picker to get enough money to pay off a hand I had helpin me last week and while I didn't have any luck I did find a few newspapers on a cafe counter and since the pages was pretty well mixed up and since I didn't figure anybody'd want the things anymore and since there ain't much politics stirrin now and wasn't much doin in town I took em home and sat on the front porch since my wife was visitin at the time and read where Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia was worryin over a pact he had with Russia.

I never did figure out what the pact was about, and I ain't sure where Yugoslavia is or whether the Democrats or the Republicans are in over there, but I can tell them they're wastin their time worryin over an agreement with Russia.

Cottonseed Reports Available To Farmers

Cotton growers were urged today to write for the free cottonseed market news reports issued by the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture's Southwest cotton office at Dallas.

According to John McCollum,

In fact, it has been my observation that makin and agreement with Russia is about like makin and agreement with my cow not to cross the fence and get in my neighbor's pasture. I can sign the thing in good faith, but will the cow live up to it? She might as long as I got plenty of grass, but let mine start gettin short and dry and the neighbor's look tender and green, and my cow will treat the pack like a Russian dictator lookin over into a helpless neighborin country.

I also read where cotton farmers throughout the country is havin trouble gettin hands from Mexico, and some folks claim government officials has surrounded the enterprise with so much red tape very few farmers can swing a deal, but that may not be all the trouble. If somebody was wantin me to pick his cotton, you couldn't put enough red tape around the thing to suit me. In fact, if they have any red tape left over, I'm figurin on gettin in a supply myself to confuse the wife with. Work is a fine thing, if you go in for it, but as far as I'm concerned there a lot more things a lot more entertaining.

I hope every lock of cotton throughout the South gets picked this year, but if anybody is dependin on me to do it he could save time by just goin ahead and plowin it under now. And I think the same thing applies to you too.

Yours faithfully,

area manager, many cotton growers are not making full use of this report and in certain cases they are not receiving maximum returns for their cottonseed. He pointed out that unlike many other agricultural products, there are no organized markets to provide basic cottonseed information. Therefore, farmers are entirely dependent upon local quotations with no basis for comparisons unless they receive these reports.

Current cottonseed prices are gathered by PMA from ginners and cotton oil mills.

McCollum said cotton growers particularly need this cottonseed market information this year since the Commodity Credit Corporation has a cotton seed loan program in operation. These reports will help growers determine whether it would be more profitable for them to place their seed in loan or sell it, he explained.

The cottonseed report may be obtained by writing local USDA cotton classing offices, or Mr. McCollum at 1104 South Ervay Street, Dallas 1, Texas.

Raymond Mitchell Rose Rubrecht Wed In. Gainesville

Miss Rose Marie Rubrecht of Gainesville became the bride of Mr. Raymond Lloyd Mitchell of Munday on Thursday, September 8th, at 8 p. m. in the home of the bride's mother in Gainesville. The Rev. Fred Stump, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Gainesville read the double ring ceremony.

The room was decorated with an improvised altar of woodwardia fern and ivy with large baskets of white gladioli. White candles stood on the mantle and book shelves.

James Rubrecht of Dallas gave his sister in marriage. She was lovely in an aqua blue brocaded taffeta street length dress with blue balarina slippers. He dress featured a fitted bodice and full skirt with a round neckline and a lace yolk. She wore lace arm mitts to match her dress. Her headpiece of net featured a shoulder length veil. The bride carried a white bible topped with white gardenias and white satin knotted streamers. She wore the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue". As something old and borrowed, she wore a cameo brooch belonging to her mother. And as something new and blue her wedding costume.

Miss Martha Lang of Gainesville was maid of honor. She wore a navy blue taffeta dress designed as the bride's. Her lace arm mitts were of navy to match her dress, and wore a gardenia corsage.

Best man was Johnnie Spann of Munday.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's mother. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth. Bouquets of white gladioli also decorated the reception room. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, which was served by the bride's sister, Mrs. Bill Singletery. The punch was served from a crystal punch bowl by a friend.

For her going away frock, the bride chose a navy blue faille dress with navy and white accessories and wore a gardenia corsage.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Austin where the bride and groom are sophomore and junior

Methodist WSCS Meets Monday In Mission Study

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist church last Monday afternoon at four o'clock in the first mission study of the year.

Mrs. M. F. Billingsley presided at the piano, playing beautiful old hymns as the guests arrived. Mrs. J. C. Rice, secretary of missionary study, clad in Japanese costume, met each guest at the door, welcoming them to this meeting.

Mrs. Travis Lee gave a very interesting and inspirational review of the book, "Japan Begins Again."

In spite of the extreme heat, a large crowd was present. Our local school and the Sunset school were represented, and several guests were present from other churches.

Obituary Of Thomas J. Peek

Thomas Jefferson Peek was born in Cookeville, Tennessee. He came to Knox county in January 1901.

On September 10, 1903, he was married to Miss Alice Bartlett. They bought 169 acres of raw land from Dr. J. R. Smith and cleared all of it into farming land. Here Mr. Peek lived and raised a family of seven children, and continued to farm the place until three years ago, when he retired.

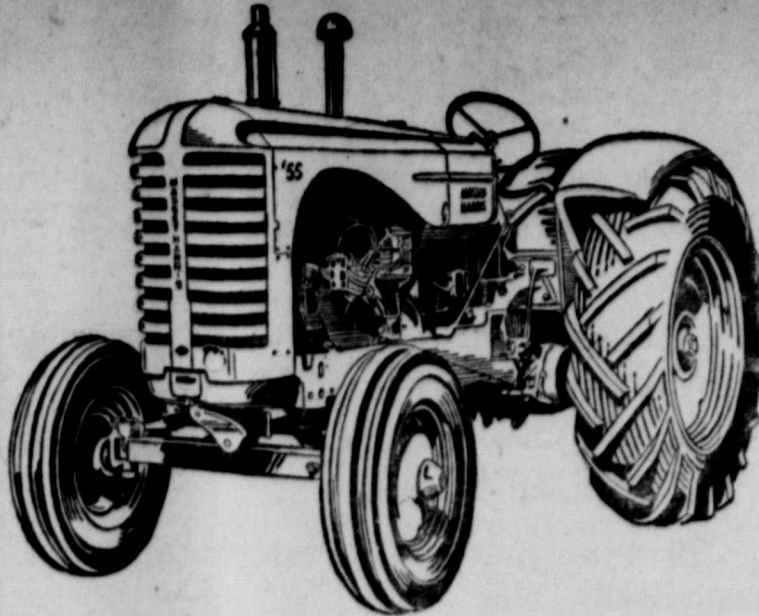

He was converted and joined the Baptist church when just a young man. He had been a member of the Woodmen of the World for thirty-five years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alice Peek, and seven children, Mrs. William Lane, Megargel; Mrs. Willie B. Neighbors, Mrs. S. B. Jetton, Virgil Peek, Goree; Clarence Peek, Munday; John T. Peek, Shawnee, Kans., and Herbert Peek, Amarillo.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist Church in Goree on August 22, 1949, being conducted by Rev. J. P. Rice of Coleman and Rev. S. E. Stevenson of Goree. Special music was given by a quartet from Seymour composed of J. W. Hamilton, Byrd Franklin, John Chandler and Judson Balch. Pallbearers were Dave Jetton, Ed Jungman, Whit Whiteside, Harold Jones, Gene Payne and Homer T. Melton.

A huge crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives gathered to pay last respects to a beloved citizen. Burial was in Goree cemetery under the direction of Mahan Funeral Home.

Slowly, but surely, the old timers are passing from among us. They leave places that are hard to fill. "Uncle Jeff" Peek lived a long and useful life with us. The high ideals he tried to instill in the hearts of his loved ones endeared him to all who knew him. He will be missed by all of us.

PROGRAM
from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

WHAT TO DO WITH DIVERTED ACRES

How to take care of the land that is taken out of wheat and maybe some other crops such as cotton and corn is a pressing and important problem facing farmers today according to Howard T. Kingsbery, Acting Chairman, Texas P. M. A. Committee. "And what the farmer does is also important to the rest of us," says Kingsbery.

The Secretary of Agriculture has announced a program for wheat which calls for reducing the wheat acreage 14 million acres from the plantings last fall and this spring.

Indications are that additional millions of acres will be requested to come out of cotton and corn. These acres must be tied down so that the soil won't get away and so that they will actually improve in fertility, says Kingsbery. It is expected that most of the tying down will be done with grasses and legumes. Great progress has been made under the Agricultural Conservation Program in the normal plantings of grasses and legumes. Now that new acres are going to need special attention the seed supply becomes an important item.

The Agricultural Conservation Program, the one this year and the one coming up for 1950, has conservation practices which fit into the diverted acre program. They also have information on grass and legume seed, support prices for producers of these seeds and information for those who need the seed for planting.

Kingsbery urges farmers to make their plans now for caring for the diverted acres and obtain the needed seed as soon as possible.

Sure You Haven't A "Blind Spot"?

As I was driving down Main Street last Saturday, another car swung out right in front of me. It turned out to be Buck Blake. He wasn't going fast. It was just that he had something else on his mind at that particular moment.

Buck's really one of the nicest fellows I've ever known. But, sometimes he gets to day-dreaming on the road. He sort of gets a "blind spot" to what's going on about him!

Now, lots of normally considerate folks have their "blind spots."

It could be anything from day-dreaming while driving a car to humming out loud at the movies. From where I sit, it's mighty important to be on guard against your own "blind spots." The other fellow has a right to his "share of the road," too—whether it's having a taste for a temperate glass of sparkling beer or a desire to listen to some classical music if he wants to.

Several years ago when your columnist was giving a broadcast each Sunday, I told about Mrs. Almaron Dickinson, who survived the Alamo. Then a letter came to me from E. A. Masur of Lockhart, saying:

"I knew this lady the last ten years of her life—from 1873 till Oct. 7, 1883, when she died. She married my mother's brother and thereby became my aunt. Many is the time she kissed me, when as a little boy I would go to see them in Austin."

The letter continued, "The young wife of Lieut. Dickinson, after going through every moment of the hellish bombardment crouched in a dungeon-like room in the old building, was specially delegated by Santa Anna in derision to convey the news to Gen. Sam Houston. The messenger of defeat was a woman with her babe in her arms." Mr. Masur stated that while there is a handsome monument at the grave, there is not a line identifying here as the heroine of the Alamo and he suggested the legislature authorize a modest marble slab giving the historical facts. Such a memorial not only would honor her but would be an inspiration to all who visit the cemetery.

G. I. English, who for so long was editor of the Stamford Leader, once told of the biggest crowd that Stamford ever saw—40,000. It was when the Sells-Floto circus came to town with Buffalo Bill as the star attraction. Of the 40,000 who saw the parade, 12,000 attended the circus. Those close to the rings lay flat on the ground so that others could see; the second tier being seated and the last ones standing.

Bill Cody said he would be back next year but before another year had elapsed, he had passed away and was buried on Lookout Mountain—but Buffalo Bill will be remembered as long as people remember the Old West, and especially will Stamford recall the man who attracted 40,000 people there.

Cotton Fires Playing Havoc, Council Warns

Announcing an industry-wide campaign to prevent costly cotton fires, the National Cotton Council is warning cotton farmers, ginners, warehousemen and others who handle cotton that unless effective fire prevention measures are exercised, unusually high losses may be expected during the 1949-50 cotton season.

Prospects of a big 1949-50 cotton crop, plus a carry-over of an estimated 5,650,000 bales (more than double that on hand August 1, 1947) indicate that processing, handling and storage Council points out. In such cases, the Council adds where it is necessary to speed up the various operations, likelihood of fires is increased. A large number of cotton fires originate in the cotton field, during the hauling of cotton to the gin, or at the gin itself, the Cotton Council explains.

Metals, rocks and matches in seed cotton, and careless smoking near cotton are major causes of cotton fires, the Council emphasizes. Sparks may be caused by metals and rocks striking machinery during the ginning process or a flame may result when a match is struck in the same manner. Lint, thus ignited, may smolder and be packed unnoticed into the finished bale. Such "fire-packed" bales cause four out of five warehouse fires.

Some cotton fires are believed to have been started by exhaust sparks, either from tractor, truck or gin engines. This hazard has been pointed out particularly in cases where tractors are used to haul trailer loads of seed cotton to the gin.
