NO. 9

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

The big ditch is completed, but it isn't finished.

By completed, we mean the actual digging for the purpose of draining the water away from town is completed.

By not being finished, we mean that there's more work to be done, both on the part of the contractor and the drainage commission.

And rains which have come since the ditch was dug have proven one fallacy.

Reports circulated at the beginning of the work on this ditch that Munday was lower than Lake Creek, and that the water would run from Lake Creek in to town, instead of going the other way, like we wanted it to.

But she just goes scooting out to Lake Creek, once she hits the big ditch. She will run away, once she gets to the ditch.

Another report, too, from those who inspected the ditch, is that not one of the "tin horns" are filled up—or is about to be filled up—and the water will still go scooting through.

And the work yet to be done is a sort of finishing up, and dressing up job.

The contractor has more work to do before he's finally through and paid in full.

His job is to dress the walls of the ditch down, and to clean out the loose dirt that was left there during the actual digging process.

He's due in here pretty soon to complete this type of work, after which his job will receive the final inspection of the drainage commission.

Then there's other work to be done.

Folks have wondered about all that dirt that was piled up along the ditch, obscuring the view of those homes located near the ditch.

That is going to be taken care of, once the contractor is through and the matter is in the hands of the drainage commission.

The dirt will be leveled down to a height of from two to three feet, according to those in charge and it will be a lot better than in its present stage.

It was never intended to be left in its present stage, and it won't be. Once it's leveled off, you can see out, see across, see over, and see up and down the ditch.

Then the dirt will be fixed in such a manner that it can be plowed, it can be sprayed, and other things can be done to keep the weeds down.

But it can't be done until the contractor is through and released from his contract.

When she's dressed down, dressed up, leveled off, etc., then the ditch will be both completed and finished. One of the important things now is that she takes the water out of town, once the water gets to the ditch.

And that, gentlemen, is something we can right well be proud of.

If it hadn't been for the ditch and our paving, that four inches, or better, of rain we received some two weeks ago would have had us wading around in rubber boots again.

And we hope the townspeople will never have occasion to dam up the doors of their business houses to keep the water from flooding their stores.

Our vote of thanks goes to those who conceived the idea that such a ditch would practically solve all our flooded conditions; to those who worked so hard—and against odds—to bring the matter to a vote of the people; to those who accepted the important job of drainage commission.

Coming Here

Major Bernice Lyons, newly appointed field representative for The Salvation Army in Texas, will make her first visit to Munday and vicinity soon to continue the work of W. D. Pedigo who recently retired.

Major Lyons will visit with local leaders to confer with them on the state-wide program which The Salvation Army is carrying out in Texas.

Among these projects of interest to citizens all over the state are the Salvation Army's home and hospital in San Antonio for unwed mothers, the work of the Army in prisons and jails, its missing persons service, its relief work in time of disaster and its welfare work in the more than 50 Texas communities which have Community Service Units of their own under local leadership.

The work of the Army in Texas is rapidly expanding, and Major Lyons will report on this growing program to local leaders.

Major Lyons was assigned to Texas shortly after her graduation from Salvation Army Officers Training School and for the past 19 years has worked in almost every section of the state.

Moguls Drop 6 to 0 Battle To Throckmorton

The Moguls of Munday had a decided edge in first downs and yardage gained, but by reason of a sensational 60-yard run by Doyle Whitaker of the Greyhounds, the locals came out on the small end of a 6-0 score last Friday night at Throckmorton.

It happened midway of the first period when the Moguls were forced to punt. Whitaker took the ball, fumbled, then recovered and eluded several Mogul tacklers to race across the scoring mark.

After that both teams fought back and forth between the 20-yard markers with neither able to mount a scoring drive.

The Moguls ran up three first downs before being forced to make the fatal punt. After Whitaker recovered his fumble, he reversed the field and scooted across the goal line. Don Taylor failed to make good the kick for extra point.

The last half featured the Moguls in an aerial attack, with Scottie Ponder tossing the ball, but he never could connect for a score.

Throckmorton made eight first downs to 17 for the locals, and the Moguls gained 211 yards to 150 for the Greyhounds. The Hounds completed one pass out of three tries, while Munday attempted 15 and completed six.

Jersey Heifers Are Purchased By Future Farmers

The F. F. A. boys of Munday high school are pleased with the backing the Community Development Association and citizens of Munday are giving them. They are trying to show that appreciation by choosing good projects.

Five of the boys have already chosen fine registered Jersey heifers from the widely known C. A. Thomas herd of Haskell. Some of the mothers of these heifers are such famous cows as Show Girl and Phyllis. These cows have been entered in several state shows and have been judged by state and nationally known judges, and have been consistent winners. Mr. Thomas stated that Show Girl has never been beaten in a show.

"We are proud of these boys, and of their parents for encouraging them to purchase good breeding stock," said E. R. Ponder, instructor in vocational agriculture. "The boys will need good advice and help in caring for these animals so they may make a go of it."

Those who purchased the heifers are Bobby Lawrence, James Simpson, L. C. Searcey, Gerald Myers and Joe Bailey Roberts, Jr.

Hee-Haw! Who's Winning Now?

The big question is who's gonna be the winner in the donkey ball game.

This will be decided on Thursday night of next week when local bronc busters and a bunch of donkeys, like the one pictured above, with ideas of their own engage in a donkey baseball game. Fun will be injected into the great American sport of baseball, as the boys and the donkeys will try to see who's the most stubborn.

The Moguls will take to the road again Friday, meeting the Rule Bobcats on the Rule field. Then the following Friday, they will again take up conference play when they journey to Anson.

Huge Rattlesnake Killed Wednesday

Mrs. O. O. Putnam was in town Wednesday exhibiting on the bumper of her car a huge diamond back rattlesnake which had been killed near the Putnam place, east of Weinert.

The huge rattler was over five feet long and had 11 rattles. It is believed that some of the rattles had been worn away, because of the reptile's age.

The mailman had the snake cornered, when Putnam arrived and smashed the reptile's head with a wrench.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Edwards, who are attending Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, spent the past week end here visiting with Mrs. Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bowden and other relatives.

Local Banker Chairman For Polio Drive

Governor Allan Shivers has announced that W. E. Braly, president of the First National Bank, has accepted chairmanship of this county's committee to raise funds for the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation. Gov. Shivers is general chairman of the state-wide campaign committee. In urging Braly to accept the chairmanship for Knox county, the Governor wrote: "Texas needs to provide more facilities at this great treatment center and more money to insure its operation on a vastly enlarged scale."

Directors of the Foundation are proud that the state's own Warm Springs Foundation for treatment and re-education of the physically handicapped is a truly Texas institution which was built and has been operated through contributions from every county. "Big-hearted Texans are not stinting their efforts to provide the best in treatment facilities for our small children and our young men and women who are crippled by poliomyelitis and other diseases," states Ross Boothe, president of the Foundation's Board of Directors.

"We are pleased to have Mr. Braly serve as chairman of the Knox County Committee for the Foundation campaign," Mr. Boothe said. "We know that all the volunteer committee workers will join with the Governor to make this a highly successful project."

Jack Blackwell, executive secretary to the Board of Directors, points out that this summer's epidemic of poliomyelitis has filled

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
2. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
3. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

SEVENTY CENTS FOR CIGARETTES

If you buy a pack of cigarettes in England, they'll cost you about 70 cents. A glass of beer involves an outlay of 30 cents or so. If you're lucky enough to be able to find bacon or butter the price tag will stagger you. So it is with everything—save for the bare necessities, such as bread and turnips, and cheap grades of clothing and other manufactured goods.

The reason is that the British Government establishes the price for which goods may be sold. There is no competition as we understand the word in this country. There is no need for the producer or the retailer to try to do a better job than the next man, and to sell cheaper, or to offer a better quality, or to work at other consumer inducements. In a controlled economy the political bosses make the decisions, and the rest of the people can choose between liking it and lumping it.

The British government has established high prices on a long list of items because it wants to make a tremendous profit—which it does. In a free economy, by contrast, the man who tries to gain a profit is hell-bent for bankruptcy. His business will simply go to other manufacturers or, in the case of retailing, to other stores. A business will simply go to other manufacturers or, in the case of retailing, to other stores. A compelling example of what competition does is found in the fact that as a general rule, the profits now earned by retailers on each dollar of business done is smaller than it was on the OPA era.

No nation has ever had abundance—save for the inner few—under a controlled economy. All it gets is more and more scarcity.

MEDICINE FROM ANIMALS

The meat packers of the country who slaughter hogs are being urged by the American Meat Institute to save the pituitary glands. These glands are used in preparing a new hormone for the control of arthritis, rheumatic fever, and kindred diseases.

The hormone, which has a long and unpronounceable name, is considered to be one of the most important contributions to mankind in the relief of severe pain. Over 40 hospitals and university laboratories are now conducting clinical research with the product, which is being developed and manufactured in the laboratories of one of larger meat packing concerns. Because of production difficulties, the drug has not yet been placed on sale, and the entire present limited production is being delivered without charge to medical research centers. An idea of the production problem can be gained from the fact that the glands from 25,000 hogs are required to produce a single ounce of the hormone.

This is the first time the meat industry has made an important contribution to the physical well being of ill people. Diabetes, for instance, can be successfully controlled only with insulin, and prior to the discovery of that drug the disease was deadly. Insulin can be produced only from the glands of animals, which are saved by the meat packers. In the case of the new hormone, the packers will again do all in their power to make it more widely available.

WHEN THE FORESTS BURN

One match, on smoldering cigarette butt, one spark from a campfire, can be the cause of the destruction of thousands of acres of timber that it took Nature centuries to create. And when the forests burn, the cruellest of deaths comes to the wildlife that live in their shelter.

This year, the country has witnessed a number of very serious forest fires. The hazard does not end with the summer months. There has been unusually dry weather in various sections of the country. Trees and woodlands will be ripe for destruction by fire for some time to come.

There seems to be a rather widespread idea that most forest fires are started by natural causes beyond the ability of man to prevent or control. That is not true. As the New York Times has said, "Some fires, of course, are set by lightning, but authorities are agreed that nine out of ten are due entirely to human carelessness with matches, cigarettes or camp fires. Annually they cause direct losses running into millions of dollars and equally serious indirect losses in the destruction of our dwindling forest reserves." The human factor, in fact, is responsible for almost all fires, whether they take place in a forest, in a home, or in a factory. Carelessness, ignorance, indifference to rudimentary precautions—these are fire's friends. When we replace them with care and watchfulness, fire will be beaten.

"Socialism has never succeeded anywhere in the world. The Socialist policy of nationalizing our industries, so far as it has been carried out, has failed in every case."—Winston Churchill.

"Individuals, communities, and states must learn again to stand on their own feet if this country is to be saved from going socialist."—Perry Brown, Commander, The American Legion.

The greatest shortcoming of youth is impatience. Youth wants to do great things but wants to do them overnight.

Somewhere, someone penned a profound thought, "Despite not the day of small beginnings."

There was a young lawyer in a small middle western town. He was not overly-burdened with clients and cases but he was receiving invitations to speak—usually to small crowds in hard-to-get-at places.

He accepted as many invitations as he could fill and, gradually he came to be recognized as a leader in a cause which was attracting more and more attention—free silver.

And when the national Democratic convention met in Chicago, the 30-year old lawyer was chosen to close the debate on free silver, the most important issue of the campaign.

He arose with the confidence that comes from preparation and experience. The speech, in its thoughts and largely in its words, was what he had been saying in small towns for two or three years—but here he had a great occasion: and audience of 10,000 and, beyond, a nation's eyes focussed on the scene.

And he stampeded that convention and was nominated for president. He was, of course, William Jennings Bryan.

Had he said, "I won't go to those obscure places; such gatherings are beneath my dignity; I will wait for my big moment"; then probably the big moment would never have come—for him.

In a survey of women's clothing preferences conducted by the Department of Commerce, women customers reported that they preferred cotton rainwear 2 to 1 over rainwear made of other materials.

Proper feeding of the pregnant cow is an important factor in raising healthy calves.

Or if it had, he would have been capable of taking full advantage of its possibilities. William Jennings Bryan did not despise the day of small beginnings.

And speaking of youth—Bernard Shaw said, "Youth is a wonderful thing: what a pity it is wasted on the young."

Cotton yarn can be spun so fine that a single pound of cotton will make 170 miles of yarn. Most mills, however, do not often spin yarn finer than 66 miles to the pound.

At one time the use of cotton was illegal in England. Jealous English wool merchants effected laws which forbade the use of cotton. The laws soon were repealed, however.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Knows The Boom Is Over, As A Salesman Tried To Sell Him A New Tractor

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek claims that a salesman was trying to sell him a tractor this week, but we suspect he was merely lost and trying to find his way out of the weeds in that area. Anyway, here's his letter about it.

Dear editor:

I never was one to jump at a conclusion or get in a hurry or even make up my mind fast, preferring to take things easy and reflect on em slowly and save my energy and avoid makin rash statements, only thing I'm fast about is sittin down, and while I may seem a little late in comparison with some of the experts, I have finally come to the conclusion this country is back to normal and business is interested in the customers.

Yesterday a tractor salesman called on me.

I was out huntin for something to read and not havin any luck unless you count a copy of your paper which I borrowed out of my neighbor's mail box and which only goes to show how some people can lose their temper over nothin, when a man drove up and asked me if I farmed this place.

When I told him I did, that is, I owned it, wouldn't go so far as to say I farmed it, he got out and wanted to know if I'd be interested in a new tractor.

Now I ain't no expert on economics, don't know whether business is on the upgrade or downgrade, don't know what percentage a dollar bill is inflated, but I do know that when a tractor salesman calls on me, supply has caught up with demand and gone two or three miles past it.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Economic Equality Achieved—Everybody a Pauper

Any man who considers me a prospect for a new tractor has just got more tractors to sell than he ought to have.

Aside from the fact runnin a tractor up one row and down another all day long is entirely foreign to my philosophy of life, is contrary to my idea of soil conservation, which is to leave the land undisturbed and it won't wear out and I won't either, I couldn't buy a new tractor if they was only requirin ten dollars as a down payment. Times may be good but my supply of cash is just like it's always been, good times or bad, and I got an idea some of you town birds know what I'm talkin about too.

However, my advice to business is that it has got to start over again. Durin the shortages when there wasn't enough cars and tractors and ice cream freezers and so forth to go round, people got in the habit of waitin and have discovered the world didn't collapse and it's goin to take some new brands of sellin to get people out of the habit. I thought I was bound to have a new rope on my well four years ago, but I patched the thing up, and it's still holdin and I intend to stay out of the rope market until the bucket falls in the well.

If the boom taught me one thing, it's that I can get along without some things. Which, if I recollect right, is the same thing the depression taught me.

Live and learn. Mostly live, though.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Tests with mechanical harvesters have shown that the machines can gather cotton 50 times faster than it can be hand-picked.

Swine erysipelas is a common cause of lameness in pigs.

NON-WOVEN FABRICS JOIN COTTON FAMILY

A new branch has sprouted on King Cotton's family tree. Cotton fabrics that do not go through the usual spinning and weaving process are new members of the cotton family.

The non-woven cottons are bound together by a resin treatment instead of undergoing the normal spinning and weaving operation, the National Cotton Council said recently in a report on non-woven fabrics. These fabrics will not compete with superior quality woven cotton products, the Council pointed out. They will vie for markets where long-lasting qualities are not required. They will be inexpensive enough to be disposed of after one or, in some cases, several uses.

Already diapers, napkins, and towels of the non-woven cotton are proving popular because they are softer than paper and other disposable materials. Tea bags, decorative products, and draperies for short term use in summer cottages or lodges are being made of non-woven fabric.

Approximately 10,000 mechanical harvesters will be used in the 1949 cotton crop. Of these machines, 7,000 are stripper type and 3,000 are spindle type. The strippers are operated in the high plains of Texas, and the spindle-type pickers are used in the humid regions of the South and the irrigated areas of the West.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A Big Boost For Smitty!

Stepped into Smith's Department Store the other noon and saw the strangest thing. "Sis" Davis was coming up the stairs from the basement with a bundle of wash.

"Is Smitty taking in washing these days?" I asked. "Not quite," she says. "He's just put in a new automatic washing machine, so the girls who work here can get their laundry done while they're eating lunch. Means more time to relax at night and on weekends."

I thought what a swell boss Smitty must be. Human relations between the boss and employees have certainly taken a big step forward during my lifetime.

From where I sit, people seem to be doing a better job of seeing our neighbor's viewpoint these days. Though his ideas and tastes may not be ours, we can understand his preference for a certain breakfast cereal, a favorite movie star, or for a temperate glass of beer or ale. That's the way it should be in a free country.

Fifteen club members and a number of guests enjoyed her discussion of Federation. Her address covered the seven departments of Federation, which takes club work through the local, state, national and international aspects.

She emphasized the benefits of club work to the individual as good training and broadening; also, that the individual learned to work with the group and accept responsibilities as a community citizen.

Yankee Meat Square

Lagging spring appetites will perk up at the sight of Yankee meat square with creamed vegetables, buttered asparagus, and spiced crabapples.

Add another tempting casserole dish to your spring menus by serving this Yankee meat square. It combines cooked cubed meat, enriched bread cubes, eggs, and meat broth or milk in a nourishing main course. This is not a fluffy mixture, but has more the consistency of bread pudding.

Yankee meat square makes a simple company dish, for the mixture may be pressed into a nine-inch ring mold. After baking, unmoild and fill center with creamed vegetables. Buttered asparagus may be the green vegetable on the menu, with a needed spicy accent supplied by pickled crabapples.

Cubes of meat scattered through the square give "bite" and meat flavor to it, while the enriched bread supplements the food value with B-vitamins, iron, and food energy.

The bread cubes used in making this dish may be made from day old bread, but they should not be dry and hard. The meat square or ring is easy to unmoild if pans are lined with waxed paper.

YANKEE MEAT SQUARE

4 cups enriched bread cubes
2 cups cooked meat, cubed
2 eggs

2 cups meat broth or milk or liquid from canned vegetables
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Mix bread cubes and meat. Beat eggs, add broth or milk, salt and pepper. Pour over bread mixture. Mix well. Pour into greased eight-inch square pan. (Lining the bottom of pan or ring mold with waxed paper prevents sticking.) Press firmly into pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Unmoild, cut into squares, and serve with creamed vegetables or tomato sauce. Makes six servings.

FERTILIZE COVER CROPS, SAYS HAMAN

Cover crops grow more luxuriantly when properly fertilized in the fall or winter and stimulate higher yields of crops that follow, says Bennett, Secretary of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee. He also points out that there are other advantages in applying fertilizers in the fall or winter. The most important of these, in his opinion, is that the increased amount of cover crop when turned under will make the soil more resistant to erosion. It will also make more pasture. Likewise it will help to make the plant foods that are already in the soil more quickly available.

He pointed out also that the application of fertilizer in the fall and winter had helped save labor and enabled farmers to get their work done on time. When

Cotton Pickers To Match Skill For '49 Title

Cotton pickers from throughout the cotton-producing region will compete for the title "World's Champion Cotton Picker" and a $1000 grand prize at the colorful National Cotton Picking Contest in Blytheville, Arkansas, Oct. 7.

In addition to the top award and title, more than 25 other prizes, totaling $2500 in all will be awarded in sums ranging from $25 to $250 first place award for the best woman picker. Special prizes of $50 will be awarded the pickers over 65 and under 12 years of age who gather the most clean cotton. Second place winner in the main event will pocket $250, while the woman's runner-up will receive $100. Winners are judged by the amount of clean cotton they pick in the two-hour contest period. Absence of debris in the picked cotton and condition of the rows after picking are considered in determining winners.

Included in the two-day program of entertainment, which is climaxed by the picking contests, Western and hill billy groups, specialty acts a cotton ball, and fashion show presented by the National Cotton Council featuring clothing designed from cotton feed and other flour bag fabric.

This year's contest is the tenth cotton picking event sponsored by the Blytheville Chamber of Commerce. Defending champion is Eugene Shinault, a former automobile mechanic turned cotton farmer, who zipped through a cotton field to win the grand prize with 82.3 pounds of clean cotton.

Cotton Defoliation Tests Are Made And Results For 1948 Announced

The use of the power-driven cotton harvester stripper-type as an efficient method for harvesting cotton on the Texas High Plains has been increasing, but to insure the best harvest results, and a consistently good grade, growers must either use a chemical defoliant to drop the leaves from the cotton or wait for "mother nature" to take them off, says D. L. Jones, superintendent, Lubbock Experiment Station.

Jones and E. L. Thaxton, Jr., junior agronomist at the Lubbock Station report that normally, the more mature a plant is, the easier it is to defoliate if it is still active. The Texas High Plains has an extremely short growing season, consequently plant maturity at the time of defoliation is one of the limiting factors.

They have found that plant activity is of equal importance. They say the plants, by fall in a subhumid area, often have used up the available soil moisture and are under great stress. This affects the time required for a complete leaf drop. In the more humid area, 6 to 10 days is usually required, while on the High Plains 2 to 3 weeks should be allowed. This inactivity on the part of the plant makes defoliation difficult.

The tough, leathery leaf developed by the cotton plants on the High Plains is another factor to be considered. This type of leaf develops as a result of the late summer droughts and hot, dry winds. Low humidity and dewless nights are often encountered at the time the cotton plants should be defoliated and since moisture is required to activate many of the dusts used, satisfactory results are not obtained.

In 1948, the best defoliation was obtained from the use of mono-sodium cyanamid. It was used as a spray at the rate of 20 pounds per acre in 12.5 gallons of water. This type of defoliation was not entirely satisfactory because the leaves became dry and brittle before dropping, and a large percentage of the growing plant tips were damaged by the caustic solution.

Jones and Thaxton say the most encouraging test was with the use of wetting agents in the spray solution. On one-acre test blocks, mono-sodium cyanamid, sprayed at 15 pounds per acre with 1 percent Vatsol, gave almost as good defoliation as the same material sprayed at the rate of 20 pounds per acre with no wetting agent. The defoliation was 70 and 80 percent respectively.

Results from the 1948 tests indicate that in drouthy years when no dew is present good defoliation requires the use of a spray material. The experimental mono-sodium cyanamid compound gave the best results. The use of a wetting agent in the spray material to improve coverage and penetration showed good results in 1948.

Previous work done at the Lubbock Station has shown that excellent defoliation is possible with the use of arco cyanamid dust, special grade, when applied at the rate of 30-35 pounds per acre when persistent dews occur and the cotton plant is still active.

The defoliation materials used in the 1948 tests were applied to the cotton on September 18, October 1 and October 27.

This report was released through the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station as Progress Report 1182. Complete details can be obtained from your nearest experiment station or from your local county agent.

Haskell Fair Opens Oct. 6th With Parade

The entire citizenship of Haskell prepared this week to swing out the welcome sign for the thousands of visitors expected to attend the twenty-first annual Central West Texas Fair on October 6-8.

Fair officials and department heads have been busy during the week listing advance entries and they predict that exhibits in all divisions will be on a larger scale than ever before. Every available space will be filled by opening date, officials declare.

The Fair will be officially opened at noon Thursday, Oct. 6, with a mammoth street parade that will wind through the city's business section and to the fairgrounds. Sections in the parade will include a number of high school bands and pep squads of this area that will make it the most colorful in the Fair's history. Invitations have been extended to major college bands for participation, and three are expected to accept.

Other sections of the parade will include colorful decorated floats, decorated bicycles and clowns, school stunts, junior and old timer cowboys and cowgirls, and other carnival attractions.

Opening day has been designated School Children Day, and all children of the area will be guests of the Fair Thursday afternoon.

Expected to attract wide attention this year is the enlarged farm implement and auto show, and the commercial exhibits.

Fun and entertainment will be featured at the fair this year, and the climax of the week's entertainment is scheduled for Saturday night, October 8, when a young couple will be married in a public wedding on the fairgrounds.

The identity of this couple will remain a secret until the hour of the wedding. The Fair is arranging for all details, even to the ring and the bridal shower when several hundred dollars in gifts will be given the lucky couple by Haskell merchants.

Attendance premiums will be given on Thursday and Friday nights, with an old-time square dance scheduled for each evening.

On the Midway will be the largest carnival attraction playing the area this season. New rides, thrills and shows will be featured by the Victory Exposition Shows who will open on October 3.

Scheduled as a highlight of the week are the Special Cowboy Events on Thursday and Friday which include a jack pot calf roping event, wild cow milking contests, cutting horse and reining contests, and junior cowboy and cowgirl riding contests.

An added feature this year will be the inviting of cowgirl sponsors from a number of neighboring towns who will ride in the opening day parade and will also compete for attractive prizes in Time Events on Thursday and Friday.

The State candidate and his friends were rushing along the highway in the vast spaces of West Texas, the candidate at the steering wheel.

"Jim," the friend inquired, "have you ever been arrested?"

"No," was the reply.

"Well, you're about to be," his companion remarked, for his keen ear caught the sound of a siren. A motorcycle officer came up alongside, and gestured the driver to a stop, then handed him a ticket for speeding through a town. He was gracious enough to say it would be all right for the candidate to continue to El Paso and then see the judge when he came back through.

So several days later, the pair stopped in Fort Worth (let's call it) to inquire for 'Squire Jenkins, who—besides being Justice of the Peace—operated a lunch room and a barber shop. The 'squire was ill and was in bed at his nearby home.

To the candidate, he gave a lecture on driving at an excessive speed but said that he would not decide the case until he could talk to the arresting officer, who was out on the highway.

Then the justice and the accused entered into an informal conversation and it came out that the candidate was from Eastland county.

"Eastland County!" the judge exclaimed. "Do you know Joe Doakes in Ranger?"

"Yes," said the candidate cautiously.

"Well, he's one of my best friends; we worked in the mines together out West; he's the salt of the earth," said the 'squire.

"He certainly is," the prisoner agreed. "He's managing my campaign in Ranger."

"I'll tell you," said the judge, more cordially, "you go now and I'll talk to the officer later and then I'll notify you about your case."

So the candidate and his friend returned to their car. Now it so happened that the friend had written a book about the Ranger oil boom and had a copy in his suitcase. So he took out the book, inscribed it to Judge Jenkins and the candidate returned to the sick room to present the book.

The 'squire took the volume and said, "You mean that feller that was with you wrote this book? And you're givin' it to me? And it's got my friend's name printed in it?"

"That's right."

"Well, I'll tell you," the jurist said, "you just forget about that speedin' charge and leave me about a hundred of your campaign cards, and don't you worry about Fort Jones precinct."

Mrs. Aaron Edgar and W. J. Bridge left Friday for a visit with relatives at Quanah and other points. Mr. Bridge will visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers of Quanah during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tayntor of Wichita Falls visited with Mrs. Tayntor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Raynes, and other relatives here over the week end.

FARM PROGRAM NEWS

from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee

DIVERTED ACRES—GAIN OR LOSS

Your diverted acres may be an asset or a liability depending on their use. Emmett Partridge, chairman of the Agricultural Conservation Committee, told farmers of Knox County today.

He explained that with surpluses accumulating in a number of major farm crops, farmers are faced with the problem of adjusting production to consumer needs and market demands. As a means of orderly adjustment, allotments have been provided. An allotment is the individual farmer's share of the national market.

But if the land is taken out of wheat or cotton or corn—or other crops for which there may be allotments—is left idle and unprotected against wind and water erosion, conservation gains of the past are reduced, and additional acreage reductions will be needed.

On the other hand, if the diverted acres are seeded to grass and legumes, either as temporary or permanent pasture, farmers will benefit from the additional income, and the consumer's of the country will have available more food and a better balanced diet.

But more important than the temporary gains will be the reserves for future abundant production. With population in the United States increasing at the rate of about 2 million a year, it may not be too long before these reserves will be needed to feed 170 instead of 148 million people.

What farmers do with diverted acres may well be the turning point in national welfare. And the turn may be either in the direction of improved living standards or toward wasted land and poorer living conditions.

John May of Knox City and J. C. Campbell were business visitors in Dallas the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Atkinson were visitors in Fort Worth and Dallas over the week end.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to all of our friends who were so kind and thoughtful to us during Mrs. Montgomery's illness and stay in the hospital.

Cotton Classing Program Growing Among Farmers

Texas cotton producers, 111,000 strong, are members of organized groups that are cooperating with the Cotton Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, USDA.

This agency handles the free cotton classing and marketing news services as provided for by the Smith-Doxey Act, says F. E. Lichte, extension cotton gin specialist of Texas A. & M. College and chairman of the Smith-Doxey State Review Committee. Other members of the committee are Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist and E. A. Miller, extension agronomist.

Lichte says this committee in 1949 has processed and approved 1,151 applications from organized groups in 167 Texas counties. He adds that 1,563 gins are cooperating with the 111,000 producers who are growing one of the 16 approved varieties of cotton on 9,686,250 acres of land.

This free classing and marketing news service program has enjoyed a steady growth since its beginning in 1938, says Lichte. Since 1946, 20 counties with 103 organized cotton producer groups have come into the program. Their membership today is 20,000 greater than in 1946 and 146 more gins are cooperating, says Lichte.

The applications processed by the Texas committee go to the Production and Marketing Administration, Cotton Branch, offices in Dallas and Bakersfield, California. The office in California handles that section of the state west of the Pecos river says Lichte. Personnel from the PMA offices have cooperated and materially assisted in making possible the steady growth of the program, he adds. The actual classing of the members' cotton is done by the eight regional PMA offices in the state.

Add 4 slices tomato, 1/2 tsp. paprika, 1/2 tsp. caraway seed, 1/2 tsp. marjoram, 1 tsp. salt, 2 cups stock. Simmer over low flame until beef is tender (about 2 hrs.). Yield: 6 portions. Farm Housing Act Of Interest To Farmers

Farmers in Baylor, Knox and Throckmorton counties are showing considerable interest in the new Housing Act recently passed by Congress and signed by the President on July 15, 1949, according to Mr. Wilburn A. Satterwhite, Farmers Home Administration supervisor. He said that his office had received a number of calls or visits from farmers anxious to construct or repair farm buildings.

Mr. Satterwhite said, however, that his office was not as yet accepting applications for farm housing loans. The actual loaning program will not be placed in operation until funds are made available by action of Congress. At present he is keeping names and addresses of persons desiring loans, and will notify them as soon as funds are available.

To be eligible for loans once funds are available, an applicant must be a farm owner, and be unable to obtain credit for his construction or repair work from local sources at reasonable terms. A farm tenant may not obtain a loan under the Housing Act; but a farm owner may borrow to repair or construct farm buildings for his tenants.

In a brief description of the farm housing program as authorized, Mr. Satterwhite said that most loans would be made for construction or repair of homes and other farm buildings to farmers whose income from farm or other resources is sufficient to repay the loans plus interest without further assistance from the government. On this type of loan the Act does not set a limit on the amount the farmer may borrow, but Mr. Satterwhite estimated that—since most of the loans are expected to be for remodeling rather than new construction—nationally they would average about $2,200. Loans will be repayable in a maximum of 33 years, at 4 percent interest. When a farmer because of circumstances beyond his control, is unable to make his payments, a moratorium on interest and principal may be granted, and in extreme cases, the interest for that year may be forgiven.

A farmer whose income is considered inadequate to repay a loan on schedule may borrow money if a change in farming methods would make his income inadequate to repay the loan. In such cases where the farmer works out a farm plan that will bring the needed increase in his income, the government will offer special assistance. During the first five years of the loan if the adjusted farming plan is carried out, up to half the principal payment and all of the interest due may be paid by the Government.

For the farmer whose income is not adequate to repay the loan and whose farming operations cannot be changed enough to make the income adequate, assistance will be available if existing housing is considered a menace to the health or safety of the occupant or the community. In these cases loans and grants may be used for needed minor repairs which will provide safe or sanitary housing. The total amount of grants may not exceed $500, however, nor may the total of grants and loans for such minor repairs exceed $1,000.

When necessary, loans may be made to enlarge or develop farm land to help provide income needed to pay off a housing loan.

The program during its first year is expected to start slowly, with total authorization nationally of $25 million for construction and repair loans and an additional $2 million for loans and grants for minor repairs and loans to enlarge or develop farm land. It is estimated that this will provide funds to help about 13,000 farmers—about 5 per county. The program, however, is authorized to continue for four years, with a total authorization of $275 million in loans and grants over that period. If appropriations match authorization, this would permit helping about 135,000 farm families nationally—an average of about 50 in each county during the four years.

Supervisor Satterwhite said that these loans, to be made through his agency and approved by the Farm Home county committee, are only part of the aid which the new Act holds out sleep for a night or two, but too little sleep for a prolonged period will undermine the health of a rugged individual into a cross, irritable one," Dr. Cox said. "When good health can be protected to such a large extent merely by sleeping, and thus allow over-taxed bodies and minds to secure the proper rest, it is hard to understand why so many persons are heedless of this important health measure."

Some individuals require more sleep than others. How well we sleep is as important as how long we sleep. A good night's rest means a sufficient number of hours spent in sleep to enable each person to feel well, do efficient work, and to keep in a cheerful humor the next day.

Some outdoor exercise each day, a comfortable bed, and fresh air in our sleeping quarters," Dr. Cox said, "will help us to sleep soundly at night. Make your plans early in the evening for a good night's rest by slowing down from the physical and mental work of your daily life. When you arise each morning, rested and with a feeling of general well being, you will be amply repaid for your thought in planning a night's sleep."
