Odd Bits Salvaged
At Random

Christmas is over. The decorations have come down. Santa has come and gone. This is sort of "dead" week.

About all we have to look forward to, now, is the coming bowl football games; and, of course, paying the bills that were incidental to Santa's visit.

We can't go to the bowl game because of the bills. If we pay the bills, there's not enough left for the bowl game, and if we took in a bowl there'd be too many people mad at us because we couldn't pay our bills.

It's plumb discouraging to get a nice leather handbag for Christmas, and then can't go nowhere to use it!

Good notion to pack the thing full of newspapers, or something, and take a nice long bus trip to Haskell and Seymour!

But there'll come a time—there'll come a time.

Folks in general, including us, have other things to look forward to, come to think of it!

There's New Year right on the threshold of time, and just about ready to make a debut. It'll get here before most of the bowl games, and it'll also usher in bill paying time.

Along about that time you'll begin to get those "please remit" reminders that you were entirely too generous at Christmas.

But the New Year holds more than that! It's full of hope and promise, and a full 365 days in which to try to accomplish something.

We couldn't very well hope for a bigger crop than we made this year—and we, personally, couldn't promise much more than we promised this year and hope to get by with it.

Anyway, notwithstanding, the New Year is full of hope and promise—and lots of other things, if we'll make the best of it.

The little fellow in clean diapers and the large flowing banner across his body who always makes his appearance very shortly after midnight of January 31 each year, reminds us of other things, too.

He reminds that the Collector of Internal Revenue will soon be expecting his Christmas present!

Along about January 15, he will be demanding the present of a lot of people—farmers generally—and then by March 15 he decides he hasn't gotten enough and gets in after the rest of us.

In our particular case, he asks substantial installment along during the year, about every three months, but that fourth installment always generally isn't enough.

Then it is that we have to dig deeper, or, as the colored boy says, "make another borrow."

We associate this with the pleasures of ushering in the New Year, not in order to rub salt on a raw spot, but to keep you from getting slipped up on.

Aren't we a rascal?, as the fellow says on the radio.

And from the click of adding machines over our town, and from the amount of adding machine paper we've dished out over the counter, some of you (Continued On Last Page)

Funds Are Asked For Brazos Area

Application for advance funds to finance preparation of plans for two West Texas dams have been filed by the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, W. H. Sindt, division engineer of the Community Facilities Service of the General Services Administration, said Tuesday.

The district, headquartered at Mineral Wells, has applied for $40,000 with which to prepare plans for the $3,800,000 Nugent Dam to be built on the Clear Fork of the Brazos. A second application was made for $77,500 to prepare plans for the Seymour Dam to be located in Haskell and Stonewall counties.

Funds for planning advanced by the Community Facilities Services must be repaid before actual construction is started, Sindt explained.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Dog With Rabies Killed On Streets

Local officers reported that a dog believed to have rabies was killed on the streets of Munday last Tuesday.

The head was not sent to Austin for examination due to the fact that the head was blown to pieces when the dog was shot; however a number of persons who saw the animal, including Dr. John B. Reneau, expressed the definite belief that the dog was rabid.

Officers warn Munday citizens to watch their dogs, and if they become ill to pen or tie them up as a precautionary measure against rabies.

The negro was arrested Tuesday morning by Tuck Whitworth, local chief of police, after he allegedly had broken into the Levi Bowden home east of town. He was carrying a load of clothing in his arms when arrested.

Following the arrest, the suspect reportedly admitted ten burglaries and took local and county officers to several of the homes and showed them how he gained entrance.

He was lodged in jail in Benjamin to await action of the grand jury.

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

2. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
3. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

FIRE ON THE FARM

According to an article in Country Gentleman, written by Katharine Best and Katharine Hillyer, 80 per cent of American farms are not adequately protected against fire, wind or hail. The farmer, the authors go on, frequently commits the following insurance sins: "He fails to insure all of his buildings; he fails to insure them for enough; he fails to make sure an inherited or bought policy is made out in his name; he carries duplicating policies; he fails to consider the 'insurance credits' on his farm; he carries needless 'extended coverage endorsement' protection." Sin number one—the failure to insure the property—is the most common of all these potentially ruinous omissions.

The article of one farmer who paid premiums on a livestock policy four years after his last cow had been sold! This same farmer carried $27,000 worth of insurance on $19,000 worth of buildings. Yet two new buildings constructed since the war were not insured at all. One of them burned and he recovered nothing.

It is estimated that, on the average, most farmers carry only half as much fire insurance as they actually need. What makes this fact of great and ominous importance is that farm buildings which catch fire are 97 per cent destroyed. As a rule, they are far from organized fire fighting facilities. Often they are old, dry and highly inflammable. So, when fire strikes, there is often nothing to do but watch the property burn to the ground.

Every farmer should periodically review his fire, wind and other policies to make certain they are adequate. As new buildings are constructed, they should be immediately covered—failure to do this has cost farmers huge sums of money. And, finally, every farmer should practice fire prevention every day of the year.

ENCOURAGING TRAVEL ABROAD

The "tourist industry" is one of the major industries of Oregon, as it is in many other states, ranking with wheat, lumber and apples as a dollar earner. So it is not surprising that the Portland Chamber of Commerce opened its foyer to an exhibition of European travel posters representing the 16 ERP countries, thus encouraging travel abroad. The Chamber of Commerce—like the U. S. Department of Commerce which arranged the display—was farsighted enough to realize that an American tourist's dollar spent in Europe helps the recovery of the old world, and, of great importance, returns to this country in payment for machinery, grain, lumber and the many other products we export. There European travel dollars are but a drop in the bucket by comparison with tourist spending inside our own borders. In 1948 according to the Department of Interior, Americans spent $12,000,000,000 for travel within the United States, compared with less than $250,000,000 spent by Americans in the whole of Western Europe. So no one need fear that encouraging European travel will financially damage us here at home.

On the other hand, European travel does produce far-reaching benefits. Our security is closely intertwined with that of the Atlantic Pact nations. So, to a certain extent, is our economy. World stability and order are dependent upon trade between friendly countries. Moreover, international understanding is broadened when we see other nations at first hand. The movement to encourage European travel is worth supporting.

THE SMALLEST SLICE

Who, in your opinion, gets the lion's share of the money we all spend for gasoline or other products of the oil industry?

It's probably that relatively few people can answer that question accurately. Here is how it was distributed last year in the case of one typical large oil company.

The owners of the company received $10,000,000 in dividends—which works out to $278 each. But they didn't get the biggest cut.

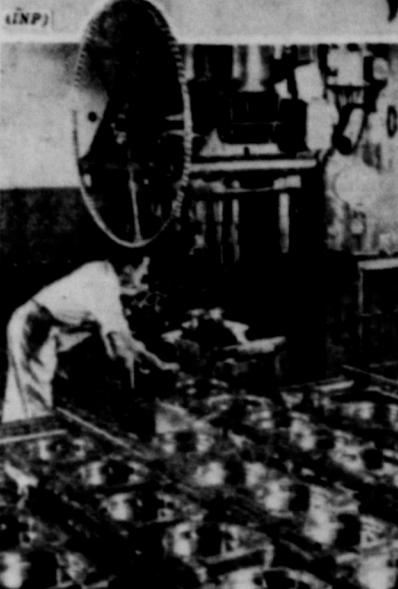

The employees of the company got more than $34,000,000 in salaries, wages and benefits—an average of $4600 apiece. That's a lot of money—but, even so, the workers didn't get the biggest cut either.

The government—Federal, state and local—took almost $47,000,000 out of the money the company received last year—which is four times as much as the owners got, and about one-third more than the employees got.

You might remember that when you're inclined to kick about the high price of gasoline. The retail gas taxes alone run from 25 percent to 40 percent and more of the total price, depending on the state in which the sale is made. In the case of this particular company, if all profits paid to the owners in dividends had been totally eliminated, the price charged for its products could have been reduced by only one-half cent a gallon. The profit most business managers to earn is a mighty small element in the public's cost of living. (* Union Oil Co. of California.)

Outlook For Farm Exports Remains Good

In summing up the prospects for foreign sales of farm products for the next year, Tyrus R. Timm, extension economist of the Texas A. & M. College, says total exports of agricultural commodities should decline some but even so should remain on a high level throughout the year.

Although the short-run outlook is good, there is little room for optimism, he says. Much of the outlook is "good" because our government is making it possible next year for us to sell to folks in foreign countries considerably more than they'll buy from them. He points out that you can't operate this way on a business basis, however much of the 1950 foreign trade will not be on a business basis.

Getting our foreign trade back on a strictly business basis, he believes, is going to be a very difficult problem. This will mean balancing our exports and imports.

Countries in Western Europe are our best customers, he says, and their farm production is nearing prewar averages, however, it is not high enough to give them prewar consumption. This is due to the increase in population. There are now some 250 million people in western Europe and the population is increasing at the rate of 2 1/2 million persons per year. This means that from 15 to 20 percent more farm production will be needed to take care of the increase.

The effects of devaluation are not expected to greatly influence the situation next year because international trading in a number of farm products is under special government contracts, says Timm. He cites wheat and cotton as examples. The exports of these two crops are expected to continue not much below the volume of exports of other farm products, especially fats and oils, dairy products and fruits. On the other hand, dollar aid from the U. S. will keep exports at a relatively high level.

Pruning the fruit trees is a job that comes around regularly about this time of the year and it shouldn't be neglected says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, for next year's fruit crop depends to a large degree on the care you give the trees during the dormant season.

He says now is a good time to check your pruning equipment so it will be ready when you start the job. Sharp tools, he says, are necessary if you expect to do the job right. You should have a pair of long-handled pruning shears, a 14-inch briar-tooth saw and a pair of hand pruning shears in your kit.

According to Rosborough, fruit trees are pruned to stimulate new growth for next year's fruit to grow on. Pruning also keeps the trees down to handling dimensions. It is much easier to harvest the fruit crop from properly pruned trees and he points out that fruit needs sunshine to ripen as it should, and pruning will allow the sunlight to reach the ripening fruit.

He says it is a good idea to prune the trees that you will be setting out now or a little later. It is necessary that they have a strong body and framework of branches for producing large fruit crops. Pruning, he says, also gives the orchard owner a chance to remove dead or diseased limbs and branches from the trees and while the pruning job is being done a close and thorough check can be made for insects and diseases that might otherwise go unnoticed until they had caused a lot of trouble.

Products will depend again in 1950 very considerably upon the amount of financial aid this nation extends to foreign countries. The gap between what we want to sell abroad next year and what we are likely to buy from abroad is still wide. It is too wide, says Timm, to be made up next year by such means as importation of more goods, and services, tourist trade, shipment of gold to the U. S. or liquidation of foreign property in this country.

The outlook now, Timm concludes, is that U. S. dollars will be forthcoming to plug most of the gap between our foreign purchases and our much greater foreign sales; however, at a rate below but near the 1949 figure.

New Dodge Coronet Four-Door Sedan

New body lines, larger rear window and fresh front end styling identify the new Dodge Coronet four-door sedan. The new Dodge line consists of ten body styles on two wheelbases. Coronet models, on a 123 1/2-inch wheelbase, are available with Gyro-Matic transmission, which frees the driver from shifting. Fluid Drive is standard equipment on all Dodge cars.

Dodge Announces New 1950 Autos; 10 Body Types

Improved, Restyled Cars Will Be On Display At Dealerships Wednesday, January 4

DETROIT—Dodge dealers will display the new Dodge line of automobiles in their showrooms Wednesday, January 4. L. L. Colbert, vice-president and director of Chrysler Corporation, president of the Dodge Division, announced today.

Pictures of the new models and specifications were released today. They are longer and lower in appearance as a result of styling modifications. Rear fenders are larger and longer and the rear tread is two inches wider. The rear window area in Coronet and Meadowbrook models is increased one-third. New parallel bar-type grille, of separate piece construction to minimize repair and replacement cost; new larger bumper guards, new exterior chrome trim, a restyled instrument panel, new dash and cowl insulation and new tail lights are among the improvements.

Available in the body styles and on two standard wheelbases, the new Dodge cars retain the generous head room, shoulder room, leg room, seat height and wide door openings of preceding models, which established an all-time Dodge high in retail sales.

"The public has voted overwhelmingly in favor of the roominess, convenience and riding comfort that Dodge offers," Colbert said. "Our new models have those advantages in full measure. People will enthuse over their looks, too. They are beautifully styled in the Dodge tradition of functional design."

Fluid Drive is no-extra-cost on all models. Gyro-Matic transmission, which frees the driver from shifting, is available in the Coronet series, at less cost than competitive automatic transmissions. Other chassis features, inclusive in the Dodge price class, include a resistor-protected ignition system, speed proofing of cylinders and Cycle-bond brake linings.

In the Coronet series, Dodge will build six body styles, including an entirely new model, The Diplomat. Seating six, the Diplomat has the low sporty lines of the convertible but with a permanent steel roof. Windows and divider bars, crank down out of sight as in a convertible. Other Coronet models include a four-door sedan, club coupe, convertible, eight-passenger sedan, and station wagon.

The four-door Coronet station wagon has a new type rear seat which folds down to form a level floor more than eight feet long. The spare wheel and tire carried in a well below the floor. The station wagon's four-door design and positioning of seats enables passengers to enter or leave with exceptional ease.

Other models in the Dodge line are the Meadowbrook four-door sedan, Wayfarer two-door sedan, Wayfarer business coupe and the popular Wayfarer Sports Roadster. Coronet and Meadowbrook models have a standard wheelbase of 123 1/2 inches, the Wayfarers, 115 inches.

All models are powered with the Dodge "Get-Away" engine with a compression ratio of 7 to 1.

Despite their new, longer appearance and wider rear tread, the new Dodges are substantially unchanged in their exterior dimensions, thus retaining the "bigger inside, smaller outside" feature of preceding models.

Modifications in the front end, in addition to enhancing appearance, are designed to provide increased protection against costly repairs. Bumper guards are larger and are contoured to resist bumper locking and grille damage. The grille is constructed of chromed, stainless steel members which can be replaced separately. The attractive Dodge medallion is mounted on the center piece of the grille.

With a view to minimizing repair and replacement costs, fenders are bolted, not welded to the body.

The Coronet and Meadowbrook sedans and Coronet club coupes have a new type of dash and cowl insulation to give passengers a quieter ride. Forward side panels are lined with a thick sheet of rubber, backed by a layer of jute, instead of the conventional embossed dashboard. The same combination—rubber and jute—is used in insulating the dash against engine heat and hum. Attractively patterned, the new linings are scuff-proof and will last for the life of the car.

Be careful. Observe state and local traffic laws.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Take all deaths among children from 1 to 4 years old caused by the so-called childhood diseases, and they would total a little more than half the deaths caused by accidents.

Figures released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, show accidental deaths in 1948 killed 593 children under 4 years of age, 218 of them under one year, while the combined deaths from diseases of childhood—scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria, measles, poliomyelitis, and epidemic meningitis—killed only 324 children in the same age group.

The report shows one of every three deaths in the 5-9 age group is accidental; four of ten deaths in the 10-19 age group is accidental, and very little decline is noted in that rate through the other age groups under 30.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox said, "State and local health officials can prevent epidemic diseases, and safeguard food and water supplies, but it is up to the individual citizen to protect himself from untimely death by accident."

According to the report, of 100 accidental deaths, 30 involve motor vehicles, 12 are due to falling or crushing, 5 are due to drowning, and 4 are due to burns.

And despite frequent reports of deaths resulting from "not knowing it was loaded," only three of every 100 accidental deaths involve firearms, the Health Department report revealed.

The state health officer pointed out that only diarrhea and enteritis, and pneumonia exceeded accidents as a cause of death in the first four years of life.

"We've made remarkable progress in prolonging life during the last decade," Dr. Cox asserted. "But we've prolonged it only to have it snuffed out in accidents—mostly foolish accidents."

4 YEAR OLD BOY WAS WASTING AWAY

My son Bobby Jean, 4, had been suffering from vomiting spells. Each attack sent him to bed with fever for 2 or 3 days. We tried all kinds of medicines but he continued to lose weight and grow pale and weak. We started giving him HADACOL and since the first dose he has never had a vomiting spell or fever. He gained 4 pounds in 3 weeks and is full of pep and energy. It is really remarkable how HADACOL has helped my child.

IS HADACOL A MIRACLE FORMULA?

No, there is nothing miraculous or mysterious about HADACOL. The potent health-giving benefits of HADACOL are based on a proven scientific fact: Lack of sufficient vitamins and minerals in most diets leaves the door WIDE OPEN to diseases and weaknesses of all kinds. HADACOL, the scientifically balanced dietary supplement, helps to CLOSE that door and KEEP it closed.

BOBBY JEAN JUST ONE OF THOUSANDS!

Had it not been for HADACOL, the story of Mrs. Prejean's little boy, as told in her letter above, might have had a tragic ending. His system was run down to the danger point. Medicines and treatments didn't help. What he really needed was a supply of "building materials" for his poor little wasted body—and that's what he got from HADACOL. Today, like thousands of others, he is healthy again!

WHO SHOULD TAKE HADACOL?

HADACOL is not a medicine. It is a concentrated FOOD formula containing all the important vitamins in the B Complex group as well as these vital minerals: iron, calcium, phosphorus and manganese. If you are not getting your full daily quota of these essential dietary components, you may be heading straight into danger—weakness, loss of appetite, and then disease!

Let HADACOL help you stay on the High-way of Health!

Win Lone Star State 4-H State Championships

FOUR Texas 4-H State winners in the 1949 Canning, Dress Revue, Field Crops and Food Preparation programs each received an all-expense trip to the 28th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Brief outlines of their records follow:

State honors in the 1949 National 4-H Canning Achievement program went to Laverne Goertz, 18, of Red Rock. Besides having an outstanding canning record, she did a good job in other phases of 4-H work, completing 36 projects. Laverne canned 4,500 quarts of fruits and vegetables in the seven years she devoted to her canning project and has won 15 ribbons for canned products entered at county fairs. Besides preserving fruits, vegetables and soup mixtures, she has also canned some meats and fruit juices. This contribution to the family food supply not only cut costs, but added a greater variety of healthful meals. Laverne took an active part in the local club, serving as president and secretary, and as song leader in the county group. She is the winner of several first place prizes for her work in food preservation. In recognition of her achievements, Laverne was awarded an her club as leader and president. As a reward for her fine record, Leora was awarded an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by Servel Home Economics Dept.

State winner in the 1949 National 4-H Field Crops program was Lowie Rice, 17, of Big Spring. He was given an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by International Harvester Co. What Lowie learned about soil preparation, seed treatment and new methods of cultivation enabled him to make an outstanding record. He grows cotton on 4 1/2 acres, and says a successful crop depends upon the selection of seed, care of the soil and the right type of machinery. Although there is not enough moisture in his part of the country to have really successful gardens, he has grown peas, corn, watermelon, and cantaloupe. A 4-H'er for 16 years, Lowie has held almost every office in his club and has been their leader for 3 years.

Lucille Downey, 16, of Kirkland, was judged State winner in the 1949 4-H Dress Revue. Her dress is a blue grey chambray. The blouse has short cuffed sleeves, a high collar and is buttoned down the front with pearl buttons. Her skirt has soft unpressed pleats. Lucille wears a navy blue ribbon hat, navy calf shoes and bag, white cotton gloves and white necktie to complete her costume. She estimates the cost of her outfit at $24.52, including all accessories. Lucille has carried her clothing project for six years and has won high honors on her 16 exhibits. She has held many offices in her local club and is their junior leader. In recognition of her achievement, Lucille was awarded an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by Simplicity Pattern Co.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

of Dallas visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orb Coffman the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Roberts and son of San Antonio visited relatives in Goree, Munday and Barmont this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lucky of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parnell and Mr. and Mrs. Oddis Parnell of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Harrison and family of Orange visited in the Terry Harrison home during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Harrison of Enid, Oklahoma came in the latter part of last week to spend several days visiting Mr. Harrison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Harrison and Mrs. Harrison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Covey in Haskell.

FASTER, SAFER HOOK-UPS... BETTER PLOWING With the Massey-Harris 802 PLOW

Back into it... drive away with it. Attaching the new Massey-Harris 802 Mounted Plow to your tractor is that easy. Detaching is just as easy! And those quick hook-ups really come in handy when a rush drawbar job must be done.

A simple safety release protects both the 802 and your tractor from damage. When a solid obstruction is hit, the entire plow is released from your tractor. That's positive protection... especially valuable when you're plowing rooty or rocky soil.

Both the leveling and depth levers are easily reached from your place on the tractor. And easily set to the position you want for good, clean plowing... a better job.

Be sure to see us the next time you're in town. We've got complete details on the new Massey-Harris 802 Mounted Plow.

BOYCE HOUSE
"Gives You Texas"

More Hollywood memories (of 1940):
A sign, "June, the Fur Man"; another sign, "Violet Ray Ice", Architectural nightmare, the Los Angeles city hall. It starts off as a skyscraper, attempts to become a Grecian temple and has a Mayan pyramid on top.
In the Los Angeles harbor the day I sailed to Catalina Island were two square-riggers, right out of a Robert Louis Stevenson novel, they looked like; an English vessel with two cannon mounted; a Swedish ship with several planes on deck.

On the "voyage", the distance is 26 miles, we saw flying fish (two), the same kind that Kipling saw on the way to Mandalay, and porpoises which rode the waves. As we approached Catalina Island, there was the blue-est bay, and the steepest mountains and colored buildings hanging to the sides of the mountains and chimneys welcomed us. And as we docked, a string band played, "I Met My Love at Avalon."

A visitor once said, "Nature has been kind to San Francisco." That is an understatement. San Francisco with its Nob Hill and Telegraph Hill and a hundred other hills and its bay and the rock which is Alcatraz and the Golden Gate is one of the most remarkable spots on earth.

At the time of my visit, it cost 7 cents to ride on the little cable cars but only a nickel on big new street cars. An enterprising stand bore a sign, "Parsley juice, good for your memory." A man lay unconscious on the sidewalk—from drinking, but not parsley juice. Crouched beside him was his faithful police dog. I would have disliked being the officer who had to pick up that man and place him in a patrol car.

Some of the side streets of San Francisco's business district had cobblestones. Perhaps they had known the tread of Stevenson, Amrose Bierce, Mark Twain, Rudyard Kipling (who, then an unknown, had tried unsuccessfully to sell a short story to a Sunday newspaper), Joaquin Miller and Henry George.

And if you visit San Francisco, don't call the city "Frisco" if you want to get along with the citizens!

Gossett Gives Views Of Cotton Allotment Plan

On December 5, I met with a group of farm representatives from Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Denton, Jack, Montague, Wichita, Wise, and Young Counties, in Wichita Falls, to discuss the cotton acreage allotment plan for 1950.

This meeting was attended by approximately fifty farmers, including administrative officers of the County's PMA's of the counties mentioned.

Also attending this meeting at the request of Mr. B. F. Vance, State Director of PMA, was his representative, Mr. R. C. Flatt, who was most helpful to us in our discussion of the cotton allotment bill, to-wit: Public Law 272.

In my opinion, Public Law 272 has been badly construed and interpreted by the Department of Agriculture in Washington. One obvious error which the top lawyers of the Department of Agriculture have made in construing this law, is not giving credit to the individual counties for war crops. The Department of Agriculture stands firm on this faulty ruling and refuses to change its construction of Public Law 272.

Realizing the ridiculous situation into which the cotton allotment rules and regulations have thrown us, the above mentioned farm meeting unanimously agreed and recommended that said Public Law 272 be amended as follows:

"In order, therefore, to accomplish the end in view, we request that Public Law 272 be amended to provide that: Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, the farm acreage allotment of cotton for the 1950, and 1951 crop for any farm shall not be

Grand Champion Steer Brings Record $11.50 Per Pound

CHICAGO, ILL.—A record price of $11.50 a pound, for a total of $13,800 was paid for "Judge Roy bean," Grand Champion steer at the International Livestock Exposition High bidder at the auction was Dearborn Motors Corp., Detroit, national marketing organization for Ford tractors. The champion Hereford steer, exhibited by the Pecos County, Texas, 4-H Club, weighed 1200 pounds. The record price was 75 cents a pound higher than the previous top of $10.75 paid for last year's International Grand Champion.

less than the smaller of 75 percent of the acreage of cotton planted in 1947 or 1948, whichever is larger or 35 percent of the tilled acreage adjusted."

I promised the above meeting that I would do everything within my power to secure an amendment to the cotton allotment Act in line with their recommendation.

I spent all of yesterday in a meeting here in the city of Washington with the House Committee of Agriculture, to-wit: ten members of such Committee, including Subcommittee No. One handling cotton allotment legislation. Only five Congressmen including myself, aside from Committee members, were present at this meeting. Also present at this meeting were: Ralph Trigg, National Director of PMA as well as President of the CCC; Frank Wooley, Deputy Director of PMA; John Dean, with the Cotton Branch of PMA, Carroll Hunter, Chief Solicitor of the Department of Agriculture and John Bagwell, Assistant to Mr. Hunter. The morning session was also attended by Senator Clinton Anderson, of New Mexico, who is a leader in the Senate in agricultural matters.

I was the only one to present a definite recommendation, i. e., the recommendation drawn up by our farm meeting in Wichita Falls. I was most happy to be able to have a definite, practical recommendation to make, with the report that it was unanimously supported by a big and responsible farm meeting in my home district. This report was backed up by data furnished me by various counties.

After a day's debate, the Agricultural Committee unanimously agreed on two propositions: FIRST, that the Secretary of Agriculture request farmers who will not plant any or all of their allotment to release the same to their local county PMA committees to reallocate such acreage within the county. (Release of this acreage to be for the year 1950 only and not to affect the cotton history of the particular farm). We would expect this

Knox Prairie Philosopher Talks About Money, Says It's A Bargain To Send Some Congressmen Abroad

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson Grass farm on Miller Creek is off on money this week, and for a to be done immediately, although the authority for so doing is questionable.

SECOND, that the Congress early next month upon reconvening, amend the 1949 acreage allotment act to provide that no 1950 crop allotment shall be less than the larger of 70 percent of the average cotton acreage actually planted to cotton on the farm in 1946, 1947, and 1948, or 50 percent of the highest acreage planted to cotton in any one of the three years.

In my opinion the House of Representatives will pass such amendment before the middle of January. However, when the Senate will act is questionable. We hope by emergency appeals to the Senate to get priority consideration of this amendment and to get it through in January in order to help clear up the cotton amendment mess for 1950.

It is my intention to keep working on this matter aggressively until favorable and helpful action is secured. Your advice and suggestions will be appreciated.

This is written by way of partial report.

ED GOSSETT,
Member of Congress, 13th District of Texas.

man who is as unacquainted with the subject as he is, he has a lot to say.

I read in a newspaper the other day, either yours or some other one, I get them mixed up, run together in my mind like a rigamarole from my wife on what ought to be done around this place to improve it, thunder anybody knows it could be improved but I ain't as interested in improving a farm as I am in havin a farm improve me, as I say, I read in a paper where the state of Texas was holding a note against somebody which is 98 years past due, and my neighbor wanted to know if it was me that owed it.

I will appreciate you lettin me use your columns to say that ain't none of my notes 98 years past due.

I would like to have some that past due, would like to have some only a few years past due, would like to have one not even due yet, but all the bankers I know is too astute to loan me any thing, although I generally get a free calendar from them around Christmas time. If politicians handled the taxpayers' money in the treasury and a lot positors', there would be a lot of money in the treasury and a lot less taxes, which ain't necessarily the goal of some politicians.

Speaking of money, I read yesterday where somebody was complain about U. S. Congressmen takin tours around the world to study conditions abroad sayin the trips this year alone was costing $150,000. This goes to show you that penny-pinchin ain't always economy.

Say it cost the country $150,000 to send a bunch of Congressmen abroad, ain't that fairly cheap, considerin what they could have spent if they'd stayed in Washington? Why $150,000 ain't hardly fifteen minutes worth of work when Congress settles down to appropriatin, they can do that while they're waitin in a quorum to come in and work up to the billion-dollar level.

Any time we can spend $150,000 and get some Congressmen out of the country, it's a bargain. It might pay us to send some editars along with them too.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Armstrong of Hobbs, New Mexico spent the week end in the home of Mrs. W. R. Phillips and family. Also visiting in the Phillips home this week are Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fartherree and daughter, Virginia, of Fort Worth.

A Tonic For The Missus

The missus came marching in with a new hat yesterday. She was as happy as a circus poster.

I've learned one thing about the hats she buys. A hat is a tonic to her. If she's feeling blue, nothing gives her a lift like a new hat. Now, I could trade in my old grey fedora without raising my blood pressure a notch. But I'll admit that more than once I've bought a new briar pipe I didn't need—just because life was getting a little bit monotonous.

With Buck Howell it's something else again. When Buck is feeling low, he gets over it by blowing on a broken-down clarinet he hasn't mastered in twenty years.

From where I sit, different people are always going to respond to different things in different ways. So let's keep a friendly understanding of what other folks get out of a new hat, an old clarinet, a chocolate soda or a temperate glass of sparkling beer or ale now and then.

Farm Families Spending Likely To Be Reduced

Does the outlook for somewhat lower farm income in 1950 mean a cut in farm family spending?

Mrs. Florence Low, extension home management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, doesn't believe that farm families generally will cut their spending during 1950 as much as the farm income is expected to be reduced.

She says families do not change their spending habits easily and tend to keep up their spending even after income has dropped. Savings and credit provide the cushion families use to maintain this spending.

Other factors that may help to keep farm family spending on a fairly high level, says Mrs. Low, are a wider extension of electricity to rural areas and spending on housing may be stimulated by the provisions of the Federal Housing Act of 1949. Slight reductions in the price of consumer goods will also benefit farm families.

If reductions do come, they are expected to show up in reduced spendings for gifts and contributions, recreation and house furnishings and equipment, says Mrs. Low. Little change is expected in the amounts spent for food and clothing.

High farm incomes for the past several years have enabled many farm families to acquire a good stock of household equipment and this will not have to be replaced for several years. Young families and others who have not acquired household goods are more likely to miss the extra income which would have been spent on these items.

SUGGESTIONS GIVEN FOR DECORATING SMALL ROOM

For the too-small room in your house, invoke the help of a few simple corrective measures say interior decoration specialists in the Art Department of Texas State College for Women.

1. Paint woodwork and walls the same value and color to prevent unnecessary breaking of spaces.
2. Enlarge the opening into the next room and build on a bay window.
3. Use simple, small scale furniture.
4. Arrange so as to use as little floor space as possible. Built-in furniture is of great advantage here.
5. All over-carpeting, or other floor covering, also will aid by keeping on unbroken floor space.

Concerning color, the authorities point out that lighter-than-usual colors will aid in giving a sense of space, and that cool, receding color on walls and in the majority of furnishings will add to the illusion of space.

have thought of the unpleasant task before reading this.

The approach of the New Year also reminds that there's going to be some things Munday needs, and needs pretty badly, during 1950.

We're going to try to get a few of them thought up before the year is far advanced.

So, if you're through with inventory, have your cotton out, the pumpkins stored away, gotten over your Christmas dinner, etc., you're just about ready to welcome in the New Year.

It'll be coming, whether you have a welcome for it or not, so Happy New Year, everybody!
