J. A. Fisher Pioneer Citizen, Died Mon.

Came To Texas From Illinois In 1848; Settled In Haskell County In 1886.

J. A. Fisher, for 80 years a resident of Texas, and for the past 44 years a resident of this section, passed away on Monday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. S. Kilgore, in Benjamin, and the remains were taken to Johnson cemetery here on Tuesday morning.

Deceased was born in Illinois on February 23, 1839, and came to Texas in 1848. He first settled in Dallas county, and resided in other counties in the state prior to coming to Haskell county in 1886, at which time there were very few settlers in this section, and he was therefore one of the real pioneers of this section.

For many years he was a resident of Munday having made his home here with his son, J. S. Fisher, for many years engaged in the drug business here.

Mr. Fisher was one of the few remaining Confederate veterans residing in Knox County, and for many years has derived much pleasure from the county gatherings held by these veterans where he could meet and mingle with the comrades in arms of 1865.

During this great conflict he was a member of Company G, 31st Texas Cavalry, but was discharged at the latter days of the war. Although a native of the north he was a true and tried Southerner by adoption, and throughout thirty years of his residence in Texas he was ever loyal to his traditions.

A good man has gone to his reward, making this statement his friends do not regret to draw upon their sympathy or reverence for the dead. He was a good man, a Christian gentleman and a most excellent citizen, and as was stated by the Reverend Freeman in conducting the funeral services, was a true living example of the modern, progressive spirit of civilization owe to him and to the pioneers who were his neighbors in the old days.

He was a faithful member of the Methodist church and of the Masonic fraternity. Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church in this city on Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock, with the Reverend E. B. Freeman officiating, assisted by the Reverend E. G. M. Eiland, Brother Eiland, who has been his neighbor here for almost forty years, spoke of his life in the highest terms and paid to his memory a most beautiful tribute. Brief talks were made by Adj. Matt Galtis and another Confederate veteran who paid tributes to the memory of their fallen comrade.

Following the services at the church the remains were conveyed to Johnson cemetery, where the Masonic order took charge of the services and laid it to rest beside the grave of his wife, who preceded him in the grave in 1917, with the impressive ceremony of the order.

He is survived by four children, J. S. Fisher, of Silverton; Mrs. N. S. Kilgore of Benjamin; Mrs. W. P. Clark of Brownfield and S. A. Fisher of Long Beach, California, all of whom were present at the funeral except the latter.

Active pallbearers were C. L. Mayes, T. G. Benge, C. M. Brown, Chas. Moorhouse, W. O. Logan, and C. R. Elliott. Honorary pallbearers were J. J. Haskin, W. T. Burton, J. E. Mathers, R. G. M. Eiland, R. M. Stevenson, Dr. A. A. Smith, Matt Galtis, Major Cummings, A. P. Oliver, John Bates, G. L. Farnest, M. E. Harbert and J. H. Stewart.

JOINT BAND CONCERTS

There is much to commend in the action of the town boards of Columbus and West Point, in Mississippi, where the two organizations have combined their forces for a series of open air concerts alternating between the two places.

Many towns have small bands which are creditable enough according to their numbers, but which have not sufficient players to render a concert program very acceptable. By combining occasionally with similar bands in neighboring towns some very attractive concerts would be possible.

All that would be necessary to accomplish this would be a little co-operation between the respective leaders in obtaining the same music and holding joint rehearsals as opportunity permitted, the leaders taking turns in directing the combined bands.

Besides the better musical effects obtainable, such a plan would make for neighborliness and good will between the communities concerned.

Miss Minnie Bruggeman Gets $15.00 Saturday; T. M. Busby Gets $10

In the premium distribution held Saturday afternoon Miss Minnie Bruggeman of Rhineland was the most fortunate one of the fortunate, she having received the first premium of $15.00, while the second premium went to T. M. Busby. Both tickets were issued on purchases made at Baker-Campbell Company's store.

Other fortunate ones in Saturday's distribution of premiums were A. W. Martin, $7.50, on ticket issued by Campbell Mercantile Company; Dan Groves, $5.00, no ticket issued by Baker-Campbell Company, and Alex Jones $2.50 on ticket issued by Tate Furniture Company.

In the awarding of the premiums J. F. Lovrance and Albert Vassar acted as judges while the names were drawn by little Willie Geraldine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Smith.

S. A. Bowden Has A Narrow Escape From Serious Accident.

S. A. Bowden had a narrow escape from serious injury or possible death, and a most harrowing experience Monday morning while engaged in operating a row loader on his farm.

Mr. Bowden was in the field alone and when the loader became clogged he dismounted the seat and was in the act of cleaning out the clogged machine when the team suddenly stepped forward for a distance sufficient to draw his hand into the rollers of the machine almost to his shoulder.

There he was, held tightly by the firm rollers, suffering intense pain, and afraid to speak to his team and unable to reach the reins. For about an hour he remained in this helpless condition. Finally he was able to attract the attention of his brother, J. R. Bowden, who resides on an adjoining farm, who upon hearing his brother's cry, ran to his aid, and together they succeeded in bucking the team and releasing him from his precarious situation.

When the arm was released it was completely paralyzed, as the pressure of the rollers for an hour had stepped all circulation. It was carried to his home and a physician was summoned, and we are glad to say that Mr. Bowden will suffer no more serious injuries than a badly bruised arm for some days, which, together with the severe shock of remaining in such a painful and dangerous situation for an hour, must necessarily have worked an injury to his nerves.

Red Cross Rates Bags Sent From Munday As 100% Perfection

Mrs. W. P. Farrington has received the following letter from the headquarters of the American National Red Cross Washington D. C., which is self explanatory.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26, 1928. Mrs. W. P. Farrington, Munday Branch, Knox County, Chapter, American Red Cross. My dear Mrs. Farrington:

We have just received word from the Pacific Branch that eight chestnut bags have been received from your chapter. These bags have been opened and inspected and rated 100 per cent. We are particularly pleased with this rating. Sometimes only several of the chapters had very poor ratings and I, particularly, am pleased that Texas has shown so high in the list.

Sincerely, (Miss) Catherine Greenough, Chapter Service.

BROTHERHOOD CLASS WILL GO ON PICNIC SUNDAY

Plans are being made by the members of the Brotherhood class of the Methodist Sunday school for a big time Sunday. All members of the class are urged to attend Sunday school at the regular hours, and to bring with them to the church a well-filled basket of fried chicken and other food things to eat, and following the services it is planned that the members of the class together with members of their families go to some shady spot and spend dinner picnic style and have a general good time to gether during the afternoon.

Moguls To Play Throckmorton Here Friday

Feeling fresh and frisky from their 3-0 victory over Seymour last week the Moguls will step out on the local gridiron tomorrow to battle the East Throckmorton eleven. A game earlier in the season with Throckmorton ended in a scoreless tie and Munday will be out this time to annex a victory.

The showing which the Moguls made in trouncing Seymour looks very encouraging to local fans and as a result a large crowd is expected for Friday's game. The game will be played on the high school athletic field and will be called promptly at four o'clock.

Sanitation And Health Program Is Sponsored By Munday Lions Club

Better sanitation and better health are to be sponsored in Munday by the Lions Club.

At a meeting of the club some weeks ago a resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote, pledging the club's united support to the city council in solving sanitary problems, and this committee has been active along this line and already plans are being made to have a Monday within a few weeks a prominent speaker and authority on sanitation and health, who will make an inspection of the city and will also make an address to the citizens along this line.

Both the Lions Club and the Munday Chamber of Commerce have tendered their support to the council in working out a program that will make Munday a cleaner and more sanitary city, and we are sure that with all the civic organizations of the city working in harmony and conjunction with the council that all objectionable features of the present sanitary situation will ultimately be removed.

Further announcement as to the plans of the committee on sanitation will be published in our next issue.

WRITING AND DRAWING TEACHER ELECTED

Last Monday night the school board met for the purpose of electing a teacher to fill the vacancy made recently by the resignation of Miss Eristenia Lane. The board chose for the place Miss Louise Kay of Wichita Falls. Miss Kay comes highly recommended, having had more than three years of college training with special work in writing and art. Miss Kay will assume her duties at once.

W. O. Logan Tenders Resignation to County As Agricultural Agent

W. O. Logan, for the past three years county agricultural agent for Knox county, has tendered his resignation to the commissioner's court and will leave about October 15th for Snyder, Texas, where he has accepted a position as county agent for Scurry county.

In announcing his resignation Mr. Logan stated that he greatly regretted to leave the county, as he has enjoyed his work while here and had made many friends over the county, but the position offered him in Scurry county carried a substantial increase in salary and he feels that he could not in justice to himself reject the offer.

A successor to Mr. Logan has been chosen, however, we were unable to learn his name and further details before going to press.

Haskell County's First Producer Making 60 Barrels On X Ranch

The reported completion of a 60-barrel producer by the Moody Oil company in southeast Haskell county, promises the addition of one more county to the number of productive areas in the north central district.

The well which is located 1790 feet south, and 250 feet east of north-east of A. Rodermeier survey, but in Fenner survey, abstract 582, Reynolds cattle lands, topped a sand at 1,721 feet and is rated as the first commercial producer in the county. The bringing in of a well at this point which is about 28 miles east of the town of Stamford, is also 15 miles west of the nearest production in the Haskell county wells.

With production in James, Fisher, Haskell and other counties to the south, and the Wichita, Archer, Young county fields to the north, it appears that K. is becoming seriously surrounded by production, and leasing has taken on new life over the country. In the Knox City section it is said that lease and royalties are bringing big prices. A well is to be drilled three miles south-west of Knox City by the Dixie Oil company, and we are informed that this company is blocking some acreage in this territory.

Watch Knox County. It is destined to become one of the oil producing counties of this portion of the state, for geologists have for many years declared that our formations were indicative of oil.

Nationwide Poll Figures Going Up; Hoover Is Ahead

Hoover Has 589,225 to Smith's 563,745; Tendency To "Switch" Votes Continues

Still interest continues in the Nationwide Presidential Poll in which this newspaper is participating with 2,000 others the country over.

The vast number of ballots cast would surely give a fair indication of the eventual result in November, were it not that Hoover and Smith are almost tied. Since the beginning of the poll, the Republican has been in the lead, but he has never been greatly in the lead, and he has on several occasions been perilously close to losing his lead—though never quite doing so. Now he has 589,225 votes to Smith's 563,745 votes, or just slightly over fifty-one per cent of the total vote.

The tendency to switch votes continues. 106,361 persons who voted the Democratic ticket in 1924 are to vote for Hoover this year. 65,498 persons who voted the Republican ticket in 1924 are to vote for Smith this year.

The Hearst Newspapers Nationwide Poll begins to show gains for Hoover, who in that poll now has 308,568 votes, to Smith's 342,478. For a long time this poll showed even closer figures than it does now. In 1924, the Hearst papers ran a poll that showed an overwhelming majority for the man elected that year our present president.

The New York Daily News has begun a poll of New York City, which to date shows 20,704 for Smith and 8,881 for Hoover.

A remarkable poll is being made in the Literary Digest of New York. Results from a number of states that do not include the South of New York do not show Hoover far ahead of Smith. The number of votes in the Digest Poll is remarkable, especially the number of switches from Republican to Democrat. In its early stages, the Literary Digest Poll shows quite a difference in its results from all the other polls being conducted. All of which makes the eventual result more puzzling than ever. Hoover men point to the Literary Digest Poll as a confirmation of their coming victory, while Smith men point out the number of Republican to Democrat switches and the fact that the strongest Democratic sections have not yet been touched by the Poll.

Now our idea is to show what we of the smaller centers of America think, and prove the wisdom of the pertinent remark recently made by Arthur ("Bugs") Barr: "After all, it's the small towns that elect the president. Put all the small towns together and they spell Washington."

Therefore we urge each and every one that has not yet sent in his ballot to this newspaper, to do so at once, so that the Voice of Rural America may be heard as loudly and decisively as possible.

Since the beginning of the Nationwide Poll conducted by Autocaster News Service of New York, readers of this newspaper have voted as follows:

Hoover 493
Smith 158

This newspaper is non-partisan in this poll. Results are forwarded to New York, where they are tabulated and figures sent to us for publication.

BOY SCOUTS' LONG TRIP

Four Boy Scouts of Eagle rank are now traveling the Lincoln Highway from New York to San Francisco, a distance of about 3,100 miles, in their own covered wagon, in connection with a unique plan to install concrete markers along the route.

They will see that these markers are distributed at uniform distances throughout the length of the highway, after which at an appointed time Boy Scout troops will install the posts along the entire 3,100 miles of road in a single day.

This is but another instance of the usefulness of the Boy Scouts who have lent their aid to so many public enterprises as a part of their helpful program.

How fine is it to live in this great area of human development. None of the innumerable host of the worlds dead have enjoyed the privileges that we enjoy. The opportunities to see and to hear and to know and to do were never so numerous as to-day.

Men are thinking clear out beyond the frontiers of traditional thought. Each day gives a new meaning to beauty and power through the enlargement of the field of knowledge. New interpretations of life force themselves upon so rapidly as to make some of us uncomfortable at times, but, when we recover our balance and correct vision, we usually find ourselves better off than before—things appear upright again and we experience a new freedom.

To be young in this day is to be twice happy. It is so easy to learn now. There are so many open roads to the gold mines of truth and beauty that few sign-boards are needed.

It is so easy now to grow. The head and the heart are fed by so many streams of thought and emotion that there is no need for one to go hungry for the better things of life.

It is so easy to serve. Human wants are multiplying quite as rapidly as are the means of satisfying them. Men need not wonder these days if there is anything to do. Humanity cries for service; and in this cry is your opportunity and mine to become somebody.

Mr. Rhodes is in favor of changing the name of our section of this paper. He has asked for suggestive names, and later on in the week the student body will be given a chance to vote on these names.

We are certainly proud of the way that the Mogul fans represented Munday at the Seymour game Friday. May we have with us more fans each visiting game.

Mr. Rhodes offers a prize to the student that names the football field north of the community auditorium. The prize is a season pass to the football games this season. The student body will vote on these names also. Wonder which class this name will come from?

The pupils of the Munday Public Schools join the faculty in expressing to Miss Maidee Watson their heartfelt sympathy in the loss of her brother. Youth is needed in heaven as well on earth.

Mrs. Dee McStay has substituted for Miss Watson during the past few days.

SENIORS

The Senior class is learning more than how our government is carried on in Civics. We have the smartest teacher, and she surely is a grand sport. We were discussing money the other day, and she told us that on each new dime there was a Ford car and a submarine. We of course look ed for them, and after searching closely, finally found something that resembled a Ford, but we were unable to see the submarine. When we told Miss Newton this she replied "Why, the submarine hasn't come up yet." Smart, isn't she?

We surely feel proud of our boys. They played a grand game. Joe, the hero of the hour is a dignified senior, even if you can't tell it by his actions. His mother is not the only one who is proud of her son, for the Seniors certainly appreciate him. Frank Greer, Earl Pruitt, Clovis Stevens, and Ish-mall Walling, although not so sensational, were towers of strength in that Mogul line. A team made up of men like these would be hard to defeat, regardless of size or speed. Keep it up, boys, you have our loyal support.

Collis Lowrance was absent the latter part of last week and the first of this week. We sincerely hope that she will be back in her usual place soon.

Joe Aycock and Frank Greer journeyed to Mineral Wells Saturday to visit our old friend and classmate, Sebern Jones. They report a large time. They must have had one, for they were in no condition to come to school this morning.

The Seniors were almost 100 per cent strong at the game with Seymour Friday. We're proud of the Moguls. They fought—and how!

JUNIOR PLATFORM

The representation of the Junior class at the game Friday with Seymour was very pleasing. And we'll tell the world that we saw what we went for. We're proud of our team and we're for you until the finish—so fight.

One of our classmates, Christine Chapman has been absent from school for the last few days on account of illness and we sincerely hope that she will be with us soon for we're missing her immensely.

In English class Miss Waggoner explained that "trickle" means to "run" and "narrative" means "tale". Now Chan, use these two words in a sentence.

Chan replied "The big yellow dog trickled down the street with a tin can tied to its narrative."

On Saturday evening, the Juniors met at the home of our sponsor, Miss Kennedy, and from there we went to the Vera Bridge for a good ole time—wheener and marshmallow roast.

Mr. Palmer proved himself quite apt at hurdling the truck, with plenty of help from the others. A great bonfire was built and we proceeded to cook 'em. A wild ride back to town finished up the evening in great style—and that's that.

The Juniors haven't "got going" good this year—but just wait and we'll give you a big surprise. For further notice watch this column!

"FRESHMEN"

We are glad to have Dale Carter who enrolled Monday as a new member of the freshman class.

Gladys Kegyly and Anna Dora Hambrick were absent last week on some unknown reason. We hope they will get to come back to school soon.

"The Fish Party"

At 7:30 o'clock last Friday evening about 50 members of the freshman class met at the home of Ruth Rice for the first social event of the year. Many interesting games were played. Since there were so many of us it was rather difficult to find games for so many to take part in all at the same time, however, each fish knew how to swim, and all seemed to enjoy the evening. After the games we were served delicious refreshments consisting of hot chocolate, sandwiches and cake. Tooth picks were used as favors.

Miss Newton spent the week-end with Miss Robble Anderson of Bormarton.

Jokes

Mrs. Rhodes—"Averil, what is one half of one tenth?"

Averil—"I don't know exactly, but it can't be very much."

Robert (looking at an apple tree) "But why are those trees bending over so far?"

Nolan—"You would be bending over too, if you were as full of green apples as those trees are."

Paul: "Why so?"

Chan: "He was told to tackle the dummy and he tackled the coach!"

Chan: "Thanks for the compliment."

SOPHOMORES

Jubilant noises descended upon the town from Klan Hall Saturday night made by the sophomore class. Much "harmony" was noted when each sang a special song to find his or her partner for the "eats". You will probably hear of such merriment often for we have many plans.

The time had come. His hour was up, and he had had his fling. He was through and the fatal moment was approaching. Nervously, he glanced about him and feverishly mopped his brow. He made his last statement and stepped back resignedly, he was ready for the end. But the crowd! Those eyes staring accusingly at him! Now was the time! "I'll end it all," Mr. Kunkel muttered with a motion toward the door, "The class is dismissed."

One of our high school teachers said recently that he should like to see something the Sophomores knew. Now, class, we would not have allowed that to be said about us last year so let's get down to work and show our colors to this critical person.

We were well represented at Seymour, Friday and we DID boost our team. Paul Pruitt and Rex Holder were out of school Monday for playing so hard Friday. We hope to see them back soon.

Wait and see one of the Sophomores give the name of our foot ball ground. We can do that and name the paper, too!

They giggled when John R. sat down at the piano, but when he played lessons he had learned from the Sure-fire Correspondence course they laughed right out loud.

CLASS 7B

Miss Erstenia Lane, our writing and drawing teacher who is in a Dallas hospital owing to her health, was remembered last Thursday by a letter shower from Class 7B. We hope Miss Lane will be back with us in a few days.

Members of our class were very sorry Tuesday morning to hear of the death of Miss Watson's brother at Haskell.

A representation of our class went to Seymour Friday to the football game. 7-0 is pretty good. Our boys haven't lost a game yet, and we don't think they will.

Dora Brown was absent Friday. Probably reducing. We're not asking questions.

Some of the girls have promised to bring pot plants for the study hall, which would be worth enacting.

Tuesday the boys were given a baseball and the girls a basketball. Our class seems to have some future stars.

Last week we had fire practice several times. Weldon Warren grabbed up a small boy and slinging him over his shoulder ran out with him. Bravo Weldon, you should have a medal, even if it was a false alarm.

MUNDAY "MOGULS" DEFEAT SEYMOUR 7-0.

The Moguls journeyed to Seymour last Friday, and fought their toughest battle of the season to defeat the Seymour Panthers 7-0. In winning this game the Moguls not only upset the dope, but definitely established themselves as a real football team. Seymour has always licked us in football, and is known to have one of the strongest teams in this section—why shouldn't we boost just a little bit.

The two teams fought each other to a standstill for 3 quarters and into the fourth—when only four minutes to play the break came—"Aycock caught one of the Tiger's passes and ran 58 yards for a touchdown." He then kicked a goal, which brought the score to 7-0. When the Moguls saw Joe coming with the intercepted pass, they made a hole through left guard and tackle, and away he went for a touchdown.

Play By Play

Moguls defended the north goal with the Tigers kicking off.

Greer received the ball on our 12 yard line, and ran it back to the 25 yard line. Aycock failed to gain over center. Pruitt gained 3 yards, over center. Greer failed to gain over right tackle. Aycock punted 35 yards the ball going out of bounds. Tigers lost 5 yards on left end. Failed to gain our right end. Tigers penalized for off side, 5 yards. Punted 25 yards. Aycock ran the ball back 5 yards.

E. Pruitt lost 3 yards around right end. Greer gained 3 yards over left tackle. Pruitt gained 1 yard over left guard. Aycock punted 45 yards and the ball was stopped there.

The Tigers lost 5 yards by fumbling the ball. They gained it back plus 1 extra yard on the next play. Tigers gained first down on line levels. Lost 1 yard around right tackle. Gained 1 yard over left tackle.

Time out for Seymour.

Tigers failed to gain on false punt. Tigers penalized 5 yards for off side. Sum of 10 yards and E. Pruitt ran the ball back 5 yards.

QUARTER UP

Moguls ball on their own 17 yard line.

P. Pruitt gained 1 yard around right and Rayburn (Red Granger) went in for Walling. Greer made 1 yard over tackle. Aycock punted 35 yards.

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Simon Judd, amateur detective, and William Dart, an undertaker, are visiting John Drane, eccentric man of wealth, at the Drane place. Suddenly the household is shocked to find that John Drane has been murdered. The dead man is first seen by Josie, the maid, then by Amy Drane and Simon Judd. The latter faints.

Police officers call and investigations begin. Dr. Blessington is called, and after seeing the murdered John Drane, makes the astounding revelation to Amy Drane that her "uncle is not a man but a woman."

Dr. Blessington discounts the theory of suicide, saying that Drane was definitely murdered. Dr. Blessington comments on the fact that all the servants in the household of Drane are sick and that Drane has never discharged a servant for ill health. Dick Brennan the detective, arrives to investigate the case.

Brennan questions the persons in the house, asking Amy if anyone had any reason to kill her uncle.

Amy says no one had any reason to kill her uncle. After further questioning, she is asked about Dart. Meanwhile Judd has told the story of his acquaintance with the actual John Drane in Riverbank.

Simon Judd proposes to Brennan that he help in the solution of the case, serving as Brennan's partner. Brennan accepts the proposal immediately. Judd confides that Amy "ain't what she says she is."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"What do you mean by that?" Brennan asked. "You mean she's crooked?"

"Oh, black my cats, no!" Simon Judd exclaimed. "If I know folks she's the straightest sort there is—"

and the nicest too. She ain't this late John Drane's niece, nor yet his grand-niece—that's what I mean. You bear her say off that rigamarole about John Drane's brother Daniel going to California in '78, and marryin' a Mary O'Ryan, and havin' a son Thomas that was this Amy's pa? And about this Thomas Drane marryin' some Amelia Gartner that come to be this Amy girl's ma? Well, black my cats, it's all true except none of it! There wasn't no brother Daniel. No, sir! I take my oath to that. I knowed that Drane family as well as I know myself, and there wasn't no Daniel in it. That's all lies."

"Are you sure of that?" Brennan asked.

"Why listen?" said Simon Judd. "This girl got the story from John Drane. John Drane told her this Daniel Drane went West in '78. In '78 John Drane was twenty-five years old and him and me had been chums since we was born—never a day we didn't see each other. I was at their house more than I was at my own. I knowed them from A to Z. And there wasn't any Daniel Drane. I tell you. There was just two kids in the family—John and this sister of his named Ella, and I knew them both all the time."

"He made up this story to tell the girl," said Brennan.

"Because he was a woman," said Simon Judd, "and hadn't no children to love an d'ch'ish. He was 's'he, mind you Brennan. And when she was—this John Drane, whoever she was—got along oldish, she had to have some child to love. So, I ain't an old fool and guessin' wrong, she picked out some orphan child somewhere and told a lot of lies. Just to have a kid to come back here and love her when she got too old and feeble to fuss with this Wall Street stuff and so on."

"This may be mighty important if it is true," Brennan said. "It might account for the murder—some connection of the child, her father perhaps, wanting money. Something along that line."

"It's true," Simon Judd insisted. "Why look here, you! This old woman, this John Drane, made it all up. Take the names—Mary O'Ryan was a girl we both knew out there in Riverbank when we were all kids. She died out there only last year. And this Mary said, 'And 'Amelia Gartner' that was said to be Amy's ma—she was another kid we both knew in Riverbank when we were kids together. She's alive yet, out there, and she had a brother Thomas—that was the notion of a 'Thomas' Drane. You go out to Riverbank and you'll find that's all the solemn truth; you go out to California and I bet you don't find any trace of a Daniel Drane, or a Mary O'Ryan his wife, or a Thomas Drane, or of—"

"Hush!" Brennan said. The girl is coming."

Amy returned with the notebook for which Simon Judd had sent her, and almost immediately Mrs. Vincent came out, leaning on the arm of Bob Carter. She had been resting on her bed being in great pain, and had been obliged to put on a dress before she could answer Brennan's summons. The poor woman seemed to be in a very bad state indeed, but she did her best to answer Brennan's questions, and her answers were full and quite circumstantial.

She was a widow, she said, and had been employed by the supposed John Drane for five years. He had personally engaged her as housekeeper at an employment agency in the city where she had registered, and his offer had been a great relief to her because it had been hard to find a position on account of her poor health. He probably would not have taken her, she said, except that the house had been for two months without a mistress, the former housekeeper having died. The wages were all she could have expected.

She said, furthermore, that she was a widow and the antecedents she gave were such that Brennan could easily look up. Mr. Drane had always left the household expenses to her. On the first of each month—about the seventh, to be exact—he had given her a check for the estimated expenses; if the expenses ran higher he gave her extra money, if they ran less he made the check less. He was always very particular in checking the bills with her but they had never had any quarrels; he was fair that way.

She had never had, she said the slightest idea that "John Drane" was a female. He was peculiar in some ways but no more so than other people. She considered him a finicky old bachelor—his shaving twice a day, for instance, which she now saw was in order that the lack of a beard might not be noticed, has seemed to her merely one exemplification of his "old-maidishness."

Very few people came to the house, Mrs. Vincent said, although the young folk began to come after Amy's arrival, and Mr. Drane liked that. He encouraged it, telling Mrs. Vincent to do all she could to make the place pleasant for them. Mr. Dart the undertaker, had been the most frequent visitor, often coming to play cards and staying the night. The blue room had been used by him so often that the servants usually called it "Mr. Dart's room." Personally she did not like Mr. Dart much; he was apt to be "uppish" when Mr. Drane was not present. By "uppish" she meant "bossy" she explained, for he acted as if he thought he had a right to order the servants around, which he hadn't. He never acted so when Mr. Drane was around, of course. Mr. Drane always had a way with him and knew how to keep people in their places.

The servants, Mrs. Vincent thought were all decent and reliable. She had personally looked into the references of all of them when they were engaged.

"Mr. Drane," she said, "got them from the hospital."

"You mean he took the hospital employees away from the hospital?" Brennan asked her.

"Oh, no indeed!" Mrs. Vincent exclaimed as if afraid Brennan might think ill of John Drane. "It was quite the other way, sir. Mr. Drane took a great interest in the hospital, you see; he helped build it and all. That was one of the few places he ever went at night—to the meetings of the hospital board. The hospital, you see sir can't keep chronic patients but so long—a couple of weeks, maybe—and then out they must go, and where to go very few of them know. So Mr. Drane took them. That is why they are all so sickly, one way and another. It was easy work for them, almost no family, and Mr. Drane always wanted them to rest when ill. The hospital would let him know when there was a case that could work but was incurable, as you might say. Ah, sir, so many of them never did get well!"

"Died, you mean?" Brennan asked.

"Yes, sir. Dr. Blessington can tell you," the housekeeper said. "There's no house in the town where he comes oftener. Nor where that man Dart comes oftener, the more pity it is!"

"The undertaker, Dart?"

"That same," Mrs. Vincent said. "And if I may say so, sir, I think it was for that reason he made up to Mr. Drane so persistently. It's not a nice thing to think, and I'm ashamed to think it, but there have been a great many funerals from this house, and no expense ever spared." Mrs. Vincent wiped her eyes. "Just when you get to like a person it was another funeral, it seemed. Like Norbert, the poor fellow. I've a great fondness for him, even if he is black, for he is a good man. Norbert is. He's not long to live."

"Great heavens, what a house!" Brennan exclaimed.

"Yes, there were times when I felt it was lugubrious," said Mrs. Vincent, shaking her head. "It was not always cheerful, knowing that all those under me would almost surely die and make place for those that would die in their turn."

Brennan glanced at Simon Judd. The fat man was listening with his eyes closed but he was not asleep, he was rubbing his plump hands back and forth across his enormous paunch slowly.

"I think that will be all, Mrs. Vincent," Brennan said. "Send me Norbert next, will you?"

When Mrs. Vincent had gone Brennan sat a few moments tapping the veranda floor with his toe and frowning. He turned to Amy suddenly.

"This isn't pleasant for you," he said, "and there is no need of your listening to all this. It is only what you know already. I imagine. If there is anything else you'd like to do you need not stay."

Bob Carter took her by the arm. "He's right," he said. "Suppose we go and sit in the summer house a while. We've enough to talk over ourselves, Amy," and the girl arose and went with him.

"What do you make of all this, partner?" Brennan asked Simon Judd. "It's queer all through, don't you think? It sounds to me as if this John Drane woman was crazy—slightly touched in the head, anyway. An alienist could give it a name, I suppose. When a woman masquerades as a man all her life, and gathers around her a lot of chronic invalids and nothing much else, and makes an undertaker her best friend and chum, she's crazy. Or what do you think about it?"

"Well, I don't know as she's been masquerading as a man all her life, Richard," Simon Judd said deliberately. "I wouldn't go so far as to say 'all her life,' not yet, anyway."

"Oh, you know what I mean?" Brennan said. "A long time."

"I don't know as I'd say a long time, not yet," Simon Judd insisted. "For all I know, mister, she may have started in half an hour before I came here. The whole bunch of these folks may be lyin' to me, far as I know. I don't know what they may be tryin' to cook up on us. There's one thing I would like to know."

His opportunity to learn it came promptly, for Dr. Blessington drove up to the veranda at that moment, his other affairs having received attention. Brennan, who knew him fairly well, asked him to sit a while.

"I guess you're the very man I want to ask a couple of questions of" Simon Judd said. "This Mrs. Vincent lady says you've been coming here pretty regular right along, and you look like you had a couple of eyes in your head. About this John Drane—is there any time you noticed any special change in him?"

HINTS FOR THE HOMME—

There should be a mirror in every room, interior decorators tell us. And this they recommended not only for the convenience and decorative value of the mirror itself—but for the many clever tricks it performs for us.

Placed where it reflects a view through a window or doorway, a mirror adds distance to the room; makes a small room seem much more spacious. Hung opposite a bright picture, a length of colorful drapery or the glow of a lighted lamp, it doubles the life and interest of the room.

In fact, there is not a room in the house but is made attractive by the proper use of a mirror—a decorating secret well worth remembering, since it is so economically achieved.

Proclamation By C. L. Mayes, Mayor THE CITY OF MUNDAY, TEXAS

WHEREAS, it has come to my attention that October 7-13 has been designated as Fire Prevention Week, and

WHEREAS, thousands of dollars worth of property is destroyed annually in Texas by fires, many of which could be prevented by ordinary precaution, and

Whereas, our own city has suffered in years gone by to no small degree through the ravages of the Demon Fire, and

Whereas, losses incurred by fire must invariably be paid by the citizens of that community through an increase in the insurance rates, and believing that it is to the best interests of our citizens as a whole to use every effort to keep fire losses at a minimum, as Mayor of Munday, Texas, I

Therefore declare the Week of October 7-13 as Fire Prevention Week in Munday, and I urge that special programs be given in our schools and elsewhere stressing the importance of fire prevention as a means of conserving our resources, and possibly human life, and I further urge that the citizens of Munday make inspection of flues and other sources from which fires usually originate at the opening of the winter season, and make sure that your own home is secure from fire.

The fullest cooperation of the citizenship is earnestly solicited in this movement to make our town safe from the Demon Fire.

Respectfully submitted,

C. L. MAYES, Mayor.

Munday citizens should get in behind the M. H. S. Moguls. These plucky lads have encountered teams that were far their superiors in size and weight, but they have held their ground with them all and outplayed every team that they have encountered, and to date they are undefeated.

They beat the Seymour aggregation to the tune of 7-0 on Friday last week, and have played scorching ties

Having the printing done out of town is one good way to keep the home printers feeling happy. In Vernon, Texas, not a job that amounts to anything ever leaves that town—in fact, the home people are so loyal to their home printers, and they have some good ones, that they do not give the outside man a chance.

JEWEL GIFTS

J. D. Kethley JEWELER

That is one reason why Vernon now has more than 12,000 loyal people, whereas it used to have 6,000 folks who just thought the mall orler houses were quite the things, but have had a change of heart, it seems.—Stamford Leader.

Indeed Vernon is a good town, and it's a good town largely through the co-operation of its citizens in building Vernon rather than some other town. When a Munday business concern gives a job of printing to an outside salesman they are helping to build other towns and are helping to keep Munday in the small town class. We have preached home trade to the farmers and usually are commended for same by the business folks, many of whom seem to forget that there is a printer here at home when they have a job, and when we see jobs of printing in local business houses that were done in Dallas, Abilene or Wichita Falls, we just think oh h—, what's the use, and let it go at that. Some folks seem to think that all that "crap" is for the other fellow.

WAR ON PESTS COSTLY

Few persons, even among those engaged in the fight, realize the enormous cost of the warfare which must be continually waged against the various forms of insect and plant pests. It is estimated that the time and money expended for this purpose in the United States represents a loss of two billion dollars a year.

In spite of this mighty effort, insects and plant diseases destroy between 10 and 15 per cent of all food raised. This situation also confronts Canada and South America and to a large extent the entire world.

A new menace which is rapidly spreading is the European corn borer, which has recently been causing farmers great concern. Among others which are particularly destructive may be mentioned the Japanese beetle, boll weevil, leaf hopper, red spider and an almost endless list of minor pests.

An eminent scientist declares that if continuous warfare were not waged against these destructive agencies they would cause a loss of 60 per cent of all crops. It is therefore imperative that every possible means should be employed to check their ravages if the world is not to face starvation in the future.

COLUMBUS

The most heroic story of history—the story of the voyage of Christopher Columbus and the discovery of America—is to be celebrated on October 12. On that day in 1492 when Columbus discovered a new continent, who could have guessed what an important part of the globe that continent would become, containing, as it does, several of the greatest nations in the world.

The story of Columbus in itself is inspiring and magnificent—the story of a brave pioneer who feared no disaster, spared no effort, to prove to his own satisfaction and to the satisfaction of Europe that the world was indeed round. Little honor was paid to Columbus during his life-time; he was jeered and thought crazy; his path was beset with difficulties and dismay, his accomplishments disbelieved, his theories discounted. Yet today his name is held in reverence the world over.

Since the days of Columbus the Eastern and Western worlds are close neighbors; Lindbergh's spanning the Atlantic in an airplane, showed us how close they really are. In the days of Columbus the way from Europe to America was beset with perils, both real and imaginary, and sailors on comparatively short trips always feared, tremblingly, that they would come to the "edge of the world" and fall off.

Now we do not fear the "edge of the world," science and improved methods of transportation have destroyed the bugaboos of the past; now a man can talk in one continent, and be heard across the ocean; distance has been demolished—travel has become a pleasure instead of a hazardous undertaking. Yet we still cannot even glimpse the mystery of life, the Divine Purpose of it all—and probably never shall. We know more and more about ourselves—but have no more knowledge than in the past of the workings of Providence. But just as Columbus praised God for his accomplishment, so must we too praise God for the things that have come to pass since the days of Columbus.

Think of brave Columbus! Whittman has sung of him, "old, poor and paralyzed," nevertheless thanking God for His Divine help. We who have not to face the martyrdom of a Columbus, nor encounter the difficulties that he encountered, should surely not be stayed from the spiritual by the mechanical and scientific discoveries of this age. The Soul of Man is more important than man's accomplishments, important though they be.

Thinking Out Loud!

In commenting upon a five-page ad carried in the Saturday Evening Post recently the Stamford American asks "How big is big?" We'll say that's big, when it considered that a single page in this publication costs five thousand dollars and upward.

But it's just another instance which proves that there is power in advertising, and that the really big advertisers have unlimited faith in printer's ink as a means of advertising. Retail merchants can get a valuable lesson from the manufacturers by following their customs of using printer's ink to sell their merchandise.

In fact, the advertising art has reached a state of perfection that the advertising is about the most interesting matter in most of the magazines. In the advertising one reads matter written by the highest paid writers in the world.

Bruce Barton, nationally known writer, also is associated with one of the largest advertising agencies in the country, which agency handles the advertising matter of General Motors, and it is likely that most of these ads represent the work of Mr. Barton.

And, speaking of advertising as an educational channel, who can estimate the value of advertising. Had it not been for advertising it is not at all improbable that your own physician could not have told you the meaning of "Halitosis." Certainly, "your best friends would never tell you."

And the merits of Listerine would have been known only to your physician.

DODGE BROTHERS REACH NEW TRUCK RECORD IN AUGUST Production is 10 Per Cent Above July And 60 Above Mark Of Year Ago

Shipments of Graham Brothers Trucks from Dodge Brothers factories in August, set a new record for any month in 1928, exceeding July this year by 10 per cent, and a 60 per cent increase over August, 1927. The figures represent the combined shipments of the plants in Detroit, Toronto, Evansville, Ind., and Stockton, California, the latter plant reporting the best month in history.

"We accept this record as conclusive evidence of general public acceptance of Graham Brothers six cylinder trucks, commercial cars and motor coaches," said John R. Lee, general sales manager. "Our bank of unfilled orders continues to represent an unprecedented volume, and we anticipate that September shipments will show substantial gains over September, a year ago."

The increased volume of business is reflected by the fact that retail deliveries of Canadian dealers were three and one-half times greater in August than in August, 1927, while shipments to overseas dealers showed an increase of 43 per cent in the same period.

With the recent announcement of the 3-ton truck, Graham Brothers has invaded new fields in commercial hauling, and now offers a line of trucks and commercial cars in six capacities, said to meet the needs of 96 per cent of all business.

The Reverend L. S. Jenkins of Gore and the Reverend W. H. Albertson of this city were in Abilene first of last week attending the opening exercises of Simmons University.

Dr. E. M. Ammons returned home first of the week from a prolonged vacation trip in the west. He came home looking as if he had had a most successful vacation, having put on several pounds in weight, and his many friends are pleased to see him looking so well.

Miss Mamie Maxwell, formerly home demonstration agent for Knox county, was here Wednesday afternoon enroute to Haskell, where she will judge exhibits in the home economics department of the Haskell County Fair this week. Miss Maxwell has been attending school since leaving the work here, but is now at home at Kirkland, Texas, and will likely take up home demonstration work again within the next few weeks.

Dr. Maude Marie Burns was carried to a Wichita Falls sanitarium on Wednesday morning after suffering an attack of appendicitis. At the time we go to press it was not known here whether she underwent an operation upon her arrival there or not, but attending physicians here feared that an operation would be necessary.

Aaron Blanton went to Wichita Falls first of the week and underwent an operation on his leg, which has troubled him for a number of years from complications arising from a broken bone which he sustained some years ago while playing ball. An x-ray picture of the limb revealed a splinter of broken bone which was removed, and it is now believed that he will not be bothered with it any more, but it will be several days before he is able to resume his duties.

Miss Ruby Manel of Jayton, was a guest of her sister, Miss Bertha Manel last weekend.

George Spann, who has been with the West Texas Utilities Company at Childress, has been transferred to Wellington as commercial agent for the company at that point, according to information received here by his mother, Mrs. G. C. Spann. George is a Munday boy, and his many friends here will be pleased to know that he has proven himself worthy of such rapid promotion in the circles of the company. The Wellington district is presided over by W. O. Among those who attended the on Tuesday were a number of Confederate veterans from various parts of the county. Uncle Lem Earnest was here from Benjamin; A. P. Oliver and Adj. Matt Guthrie were here from Knox City, and a number of others whose grey hair indicated that they were veterans of the conflict between the states were here to pay their last tribute of respect to their comrade.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE.

Thursday evening the Y. W. A. girls, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Reynolds and Mrs. H. A. Oliver, were hostesses in a shower honoring Mrs. George Hammack, who was before her marriage Miss Lois Bowden. The shower was given in the home of Mrs. M. H. Reeves.

Cut flowers were used for decorations, following a color motif of pink and white. Progressive 34 was enjoyed for sometime, then Mrs. Reynolds entered with a large basket and presented it to the honoree, which was filled with lovely gifts from those present. A salad plate of chicken sandwiches, potato chips, olives and punch was served to about fifty guests.

BOOMERANG CLASS MET AT AMMONS HOME.

The Boomerang Class of the Baptist Sunday school met in a business and social meeting last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Ammons. As last month was self-denial month in our class we had a hobo party. After each member gave the money that they had saved, we found we had something over ten dollars, which is to go on the building fund of the new church. After several games were enjoyed, the hobos were invited around to the back door for their handouts, which consisted of sandwiches, pickles and lemonade. All left at a late hour saying they had had a most enjoyable time.

BOWDEN-HAMMACK

On Saturday, September 22nd, Mr. George Hammack and Miss Lois Bowden motored to Abilene, where they were united in marriage, the ceremony having been performed by the Reverend Joe Barton; and which, incidentally, was the first marriage ceremony to be performed by this young minister, who has been a life-long friend to the bride.

Miss Lois is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bowden of this city, and has been reared in this city, having gone through school in the Munday Public schools, and graduated from the high school in the class of 1927. She is one of Munday's most popular young ladies and has been an active worker in the young people's organization of the Baptist church.

The groom is a son of Mrs. W. E. Hammack, who came to Munday more than a year ago from Hedley, Texas, and is a popular young man in the community, and an active worker in the circles of the church, and to these excellent young people we are glad to extend our heartiest congratulations and to extend them every good wish for a long and happy married life.

"THE PATRIOT" IS JANNINGS' GREATEST

"The Patriot" which makes it appearance Monday and Tuesday at the Roxy theatre, is Emil Jannings' greatest starring vehicle. Directed by that master of subtlety, Ernest Lubitsch, "The Patriot" brings to the screen a story of the Russian court a century ago which, for suspense, dramatic force and lavishness of production, has rarely been equalled, never surpassed, in any local theatre.

Produced in the Paramount studio in Hollywood, "The Patriot" brings to the screen the amazing attention to detail and set construction which marks Paramount pictures but it also presents a story of such sweeping force that the audience is engrossed in a study of the characters. Like the three ring circus of early memories, it is impossible to see everything which should be seen and a second viewing of the picture might be worth while, if only to observe the details of sets and costumes.

Other members of the cast, Tullio Carvanti Vera Vorenia, Harry Corling and others, under the masterly direction of Lubitsch, present character studies which are amazingly real.

NOTICE CITIZENS CONTRACTING FOR GAS PLUMBING.

The City offers its Citizens the protection from any faulty plumbing by inspection and issues a certificate if the work comes up to standard.

It has been called to the attention a number of times that some have paid for their gas plumbing when the work will not come up to standard, and the Gas Company will not connect you up until the City issues a certificate, now then it is suggested that you do not pay for any house piping until the one that does the work furnishes you with a certificate that the work is according to the City's Gas Ordinance.

THE SNAKE BITE
One by one our traditions are destroyed. Historians have thrown doubt upon the stories of Romulus and Remus, William Tell, and other figures of the past. Cold and heartless scientists inform us that there is nothing to planting potatoes in the dark of the moon, that the number thirteen is some baleful superstition, and that you can walk under a ladder or carry an open umbrella in the house all you please and it won't hurt you. They have even suggested that Friday is quite as likely to be fortunate as unfortunate.

Famous Conductor to Develop Personality in Others

Paul Ash Originate New Class for Orchestra Leaders

New York City—Teaching people to be themselves will be the unique and not entirely simple job which Paul Ash, first "personality conductor," will undertake when, and if, he returns as leader of one of the world's most famous orchestras, to train other conductors how to use their personality in music.

"Here is one place where the bright young man with no experience will be welcomed," declares Ash. "The idea of the experienced young man about personality conducting is usually evolved from copying some already-arrived conductor. I have set down experience as a liability rather than an asset for my pupils. So many leaders try to copy the successful ones, and as a result, fail utterly to develop themselves. They are nothing but an imitation of something good, and people are resentful of 'something just as good.'"

"The personality conductor who has introduced into the theatre a new type of entertaining must show still be an original interpreter of the role he is playing—if he is not that, he is an absolute failure. I have seen a half dozen orchestra leaders do 'Don't Cry Baby' in exactly the same way. This should not be. There should be something individual about each person's conducting."

Modesty prevents Ash from calling attention to the fact that thousands of these imitation personality conductors have taken good material to start with, but that man used personality. You could literally hear the parting goodbyes.

is firmly fixed in all of us that a good dose of whiskey will cure a snake bite. A great many have kept nicely earned for fear that they might accidentally get bitten some time by a snake, but Dr. Afraino de Amaral, director of the world-famous Snake Serum Institute at Butatan, South America, not only says that alcohol is not a remedy for a snake bite, as was heretofore almost as firmly fixed in our belief as any one of the thirteen articles, "but on the contrary alcoholic liquors are harmful to persons bitten by venomous snakes."

istration of alcohol but increases the danger from snake poisoning. The best thing to do when bitten by a snake is to make an improvised tourniquet above the bite in order to obstruct as much as possible the circulation of the blood from the bitten area. The trouble with alcohol in its every phase is that it is the arch deceiver of humanity. It deceives people into believing they are having a good time. It is the ingredient of almost all patent medicines that profess to cure everything, but really cure nothing. It gives the mental worker false intellectual stimulation and the hand worker false brawn. It is the worthy son of that gentleman who is described as "the father of lies."

ADVENTURES IN THE KITCHEN!

Courtesy of the Domestic Science Department, University of Texas

They say that if a girl is beautiful, it isn't so necessary that she be a good cook! But too often, Mother Nature gives the curly hair and the baby dimples to somebody else's daughter. And then, if you are a wise mother, you teach your daughter other ways of being attractive—among which is the old, old one, of being perfectly at home over a kitchen stove.

Little Mrs. Percival had always wondered, in her gentle way, why Marion, her only child, had seemed to inherit all the late Mr. Percival's traits, and none of her mother's. She had been a rough-and-tumble baby, she had been a tom-boy little girl. And now, at twenty, she was affecting a sleek coiffure, wearing horn-rimmed glasses and threatening to study law!

Mrs. Percival had seen to it, however, that Marion, in spite of her masculine looks, could cook a dinner fit for a king. And when Marion finally tumbled head over heels in love with a young man who seemed a bit afraid to fall in love with her, gentle little Mrs. Percival armed herself for battle, and sallied forth.

How the Kitchen Club Helped
The Kitchen Club was called into consultation, without being told the underlying cause, for the sudden activity. Mrs. Percival's kitchen was made a most delightful, most feminine place (description of it in Nancy's notebook).

Marion's young man was invited to dinner. Mrs. Percival came down with a convenient headache, and Marion had to solve the problem of entertaining him when she cooked dinner. It wound up with his going to the kitchen and discovering there a flushed and flustered, but very housewifely Marion, that he was not at all afraid of.

You know the rest—"Here Comes the Big Day" and all that. And the Kitchen Club never knew that it had been called upon to play cupid!

LEAVES FROM NANCY'S KITCHEN CLUB NOTEBOOK
We made Mrs. Percival's kitchen as sweet and feminine as she is! Walls, silverware, oil stove, blue, silver-gray and white; breakfast nook (built-in), pale blue trimmed with pink flowers—transfer patterns—window-box painted light rose color, and filled with vines and pink begonias. Refrigerator, table, shelves, etc., white with blue. Curtains, white with little blue ruffles!

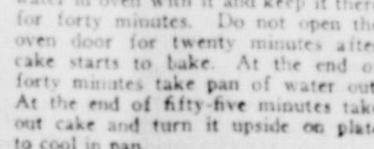

"The young man's basket days are numbered."

Mrs. Percival served us a simply divine dessert, made of big hunks of angel cake, covered with hot chocolate sauce filled with nuts, and topped with ice cream! Here are the recipes:

Angel Cake
Whites of 12 eggs
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar (measured after sifting)
1 cup and 1 tablespoon poultry flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch salt
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
Salt sugar five times. Set aside. Sift flour, cream of tartar and salt together five times. Set aside. Beat whites to a froth, not quite as stiff as for meringue. Sift in sugar, folding it into eggs as lightly as possible. Sift in flour. This also must be done with as little handling, and as much speed as possible. Turn into un-buttered pan and cook in slow oven for fifty-five minutes. Put pan of water in oven with it and keep it there for forty minutes. Do not open the oven door for twenty minutes after cake starts to bake. At the end of forty minutes take pan of water out. At the end of fifty-five minutes take out cake and turn it upside on plate to cool in pan.

Chocolate Sauce
2 cups white sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup water
Cook to thick syrup. Add nuts and serve hot over cake.

Proper Heat of Oil Stove for Angel Cake
Keep flames low, so that they show blue. (For faster cooking turn them up 1 1/2 inches.) A really good oil stove will burn with a steady flame, and will need no watching.

How to Cut Angel Cake
Never use a knife on angel cake. Pull it apart with two forks. This keeps the feathery texture from crushing.

ROBITUARY

MRS. JULIA YOST

Mrs. Julia Yost, who resided near Munday, Texas, passed away on September 23rd at her home.

Sister Yost was a devoted Christian. She was converted at the age of 10 years and had been a member of the Baptist church for about 40 years. She was born and reared in Tennessee, and her first marriage was to Albert Pryor. To this union five children were born, four of whom survive, the other having died in infancy. Those living are: Mrs. Vada Smith, Mrs. Thursa Burns, both of whom reside near Munday; Mrs. Verla Kendall of Wichita Falls, and Ezra Pryor of Goree. Her second marriage was to Ely Buckles, and to this union one daughter was born, Mrs. Pearl McPherson, of Frederick, Oklahoma. After the death of Mr. Buckles she was married in 1914 to C. G. Yost, and while there was no children born to this union Sister Yost became a mother in every sense to this five children of Brother Yost, namely Seth, De Witt, Virgil, Clyde and Maybell Yost, whom she leaves together with her husband and her own children and eleven grandchildren, as well as a large host of friends around Munday, Goree and the New Hope community in which she resided.

The New Hope Baptist church, together with the pastor, feel that we have exclaimed a great loss in the home-going of our beloved Sister Yost.

Her funeral was held in the Baptist church at Munday by her pastor and her former pastor, Reverend J. P. Curry, also Brother Pulanney, who attended her forty-one years ago, and the Reverend R. G. M. Eiland took part in the services.

CHEVROLET CARAVAN MAKES TRIP FROM CAPE TOWN TO CAIRO

News of the conclusion of what was perhaps the most hazardous endurance test ever undertaken by an automobile—the famous Chevrolet trek up through the center of Africa from Cape Town to Cairo—has just reached the United States in the form of the following brief cable from General Motors, South African Ltd. "Chevrolet expedition reached Cairo August 6. All the way of road, no boats, no rail. Greatest achievement of its kind in automotive history. Sedan and truck in excellent mechanical condition."

As this is written the expedition, consisting of a standard Chevrolet sedan and truck, manned by four adventurers, has in all probability, crossed the Bosphorus to Constantinople. Twenty-four large European cities are to be visited before it arrives in London. Ten thousand miles will have been traversed when it concludes its history making trip in Stockholm.

The Coolidge message, which informed the world of the finish of the 6,000 Cape Town-Cairo journey in the astonishing time of 135 days, was lacking in detail, but it sufficed, for the time being, to satisfy American Chevrolet officials that no trail however perilous is too difficult for a standard Chevrolet car.

Of the earlier stages of the perilous undertaking there was no lack of detail. From the day the expedition set forth from Cape Town, March 7, at height of the rainy season, vivid accounts of the trek were sent back to civilization at intermittent intervals. The party is not lacking in competent historians. Besides C. H. V. Lacey, the chief, the party includes Gordon Makepeace, newspaper man; Wallie Wilson, expert wireless operator; and Billie Williams, famous cinematographer. Published accounts of the journey were made possible from time to time through the co-operation of the famous South African Argus group of newspapers.

No summary such as is necessary here, can do justice to this just of "the great North road." Cecil Rhodes dream highway." Cecil Rhodes' water for weeks at a time, the expedition ploughed on across treacherous crocodile infested, Bahora River. The Bahora flats are 100 miles across, yet it required the trepid Chevrolet expedition 17 days to effect a passage.

The sedan is outfitted with the spare petrol tanks each holding 30 gallons. It has detachable glass windows, and seats that drop back to allow sleeping accommodations. Wireless screens were fitted in front of the radiators of both sedan and truck to prevent grass seeds and mud from choking the radiators.

Inside the sedan, rifles and shotguns are slung up under the seats. The tire carriers at the rear of both cars have been altered to carry spare tires. Over-size tires 3 1/2 by 5.00 Both cars are equipped with bumpers, and two lights and a beam meter.

The expedition is expected to reach Stockholm early in October.

Sunday School Lesson

Closing his work at Corinth, Paul took Aquila and Priscilla who had been his helpful friends there and left them at Ephesus while he went forward to Antioch in Syria. Thus the second missionary journey was concluded.

Soon the third journey was undertaken and Paul found that Aquila and Priscilla had been making good use of their time during the interim at Ephesus. The nucleus of another strong church had been brought together there.

The theory that it does not make any difference what you believe if only you are sincere had its refutation in two similar incidents in Ephesus. Apollon, an Alexandrian Jew, had attracted much attention by his eloquent teaching along Christian lines. But when careful attention was given to his messages it was noted that essential truths were lacking. On inquiry it developed that he knew only the baptism of John, which was typical of repentance from sin. He believed in Jesus and proclaimed him, but had no knowledge of the Holy Spirit. Aquila became his special teacher, belief followed and in baptism he entered upon the larger spiritual life. When Paul arrived he found twelve who also knew only about John. They were asked "Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" They too, were apt pupils and were blessed in their greater understanding of spiritual things.

Paul found an indifferent audience in the synagogue and changed his audience room to the school of Tyrannus. Then things began to happen. The central shrine of Diana was the classical temple in Ephesus. Idol makers grew rich by carving images of the goddess. Others worked on the superstition of the people and sold "writings" that were supposed to be a charm that would offset any evil influence. Naturally Paul's success cut into the shrine and charm business. The people were told that Diana was only a myth and the idols were absolutely worthless. They were instructed in the Jesus way and many believed in Him as their Saviour from sin. The people were called upon to evidence their new faith in a living Christ whom Paul had actually seen when near Damascus, by destroying these Diana idols and the costly charms that each one had purchased. The people showed that they were sincere and relics of great value were brought for burning in the public square. The fire was thus kept up for days. The value of the things thus destroyed was the equivalent of the ordinary pay for 50,000 days of labor, say $250,000 in the reckoning of today.

The second Scripture portion is Paul wrote to those Christians bringing the first Roman imprisonment. That entire letter should be read with care. Coleridge called it "one of the divinest compositions of man." That Paul did a truly great work in Ephesus is evidenced by the fact that such a profound epistle could be written to the brethren in that City. In our lesson text Paul indicates the goal before each individual, even "a full-grown man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." The unity of the Kingdom is also set forth with Christ, who is the head. There is an essential place for every one in this Kingdom building. Unity and love can have their fullest expression as all become "his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works," Eph. 2:10.

"CHANS CHATTER"

We saw last Friday that there was "too much Aycock" for the Seymour "Tigers."

Earl Newsum was unable to be in the game last Friday, or even to work out last week with us, on account of the injuries he received in the game with Crowell September 21. But here's hoping that he can be with us this week and in the game with Throckmorton Friday.

Before the game the Tigers football field was about an inch deep in sand bars, but after the game they were pretty scarce because all the players had picked them up. Some of them will stay a long time too, because they sure are hard to get out.

Friday we will play our second big game with Throckmorton, and as the other game was a scoreless tie, we intend to make the figures "large in favor of Munday." The game will be played here at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon, and we'd like to have a large crowd. So come help us beat the Grey hounds Friday.

The following paragraph was taken from the "Throckmorton Tribune." "Of the Munday team it seems that the main attractions on that team is the backfield. This backfield consisting of Pruitt brothers, Aycock and Greer would be hard to top behind a good fast charging line. They couldn't be much in a pinch against the Throckmorton line, but it wasn't their fault. They have the strength, and as soon as their line gets going good Throckmorton will have a hard time holding their own against them."

This is quite a tribute to our backfield and we appreciate it, but Mr. Editor when you see our line in action against your team next Friday you can say they have "got gone good."

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Montevideo, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. "Caldwell's Syrup" has "sailed" over on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, constipation, indigestion—all of them followed first a cough and sneezing. They were unattended.

In the opinion of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice the most common cause of the colds and coughs in 1928, he found a good deal of cause in such cases with a condition of the throat which is known as "acute laryngitis." In 1927 he decided to test his formula in the maintenance of a condition in the throat, and he found that his "Syrup" was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug store as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is being sold. Mothers are giving it to their children, who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day some somewhere is given with a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

The great success is based on what, an extended inquiry, on one extended user telling another. "There are hundreds of bottles in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us "it helped them when every-thing else failed."

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly obtained on the most convenient terms. It is sold and carried in its original and does not require mixing and strain. Containing neither alcohol nor narcotics, it is safe for the youngest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

J. B. Caldwell, M.D.

Every bottle shows the Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where every live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove all our claims. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Montevideo, Illinois, and we will send you a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Will Rogers Says—

without offering him a Cabinet position. I been giving a mighty lot of thought to my Cabinet and I find that every rich man now pictures himself as another Mellon. The rich man used to think that he would be slumming if he mixed up with any of those Pumpkin seed jobs, like a Cabinet officer, but Mellon stepped out and got so much publicity that all the rest began to think, "How long has this been going on?"

I have made a lot of promises, but I have no idea of keeping any of them. They were only political promises, and I can promise the best Cabinet of any of them, Henry Ford would be my secretary of the Treasurer, he would make us forget that illumination pays as well as shines, and as for General Motors and Rasok and that gang, we would cut our profits to $300.00 a car and put them right out of business. Say, Ford could take our little dab of money, that our Treasury has, and let him handle it a little while and he would have us out of the Red by Xmas. And as for my Secretary of State, what's the matter with using Coolidge? He knows everything that a Secretary of State does and I believe if a man could get him he'd be worth the money.

So with Calvin and Henry in there I got the nucleus of a pretty snorty cabinet. You see I am in a position to get the best talent available. I have no Campaign Manager to take care of. And there are no "president makers" in our Anti-Bank party that has to be rewarded. I'm self-made.

There is some fellow named "Vox Poppuli" or something like that. I don't know who he is, but I want him for Post Master General, he writes more letters than anybody.

—WILL ROGERS.

"Very Latest"

During the past few weeks we have said several things about new fall jacket suits, and once we tried to show you a delightful fingerlength model trimmed in leopard fur. But for some reason the printer failed us and omitted the picture!

In the meantime, comes this clever little suit of coffee colored American broadtail, with hat and bag to match—a much more modish representation of our short-jacket theme than the one you missed.

Quite an idea to use broadtail for a complete costume suit, one that for richness and luxury can hardly be outdone. The slipover blouse worn with the costume is of finest pale beige suede cloth, with graduated hand finishing of gold metal in a square mesh design.

Silk and Wool, for Tailored Mode.

Among the novelty fabrics is one just right for the fall tailored frock, a new silk and wool, right under heavy coats and winter comes. It is a silk and wool combination in dup-tones that makes it most interesting, and its texture is suitable for either flaring lines or the more tailored use of soft pleats.

New Colors: Main Red and Brown.

For a time the reds and browns of autumn seemed to crowd out all other colors. Brown still leads, but late arrivals introduce delicious shades of blue. Silts, blues, blues, blue with the tinge of purple grapes and greenish blue are among them. There is also a new deep, rich green shade known as English green.

Now and then in the fabric market a fascinating plaid appears as though to offer a change of scene from the spots and flowers and geometrical designs so generally present. Scotch plaids are preferred as they usually are when plaids are "good." One vivid new pattern is done in red, gold and blue on a velvety black background. Another line plaid in gold and garnet has a background of hunter's green.
