

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

We'd like to write about the rain.

We've been asked the question "When is it going to rain?" so many times that we'd like to be able to give a definite and concrete answer.

The lack of rain alters many cases. And one case in this area that's been altered this time is the wheat crop.

Along about this time in years past, combines have been coming in. Operators have been making trips to this area and lining up patches of wheat for their combines which come in a few weeks later.

But we haven't seen or heard of many of them this year. Fact is, there ain't much use of their coming.

There'll be some wheat, of course. But there won't be those large patches making more than usual yields, like there has been in the past few years.

We took a trip to Wellington last Saturday for a short visit with home folks.

On the way up, we noticed some wheat that looked pretty good from the highway, some patches that were worse and some that weren't anything.

Arriving in the old "home town," we remarked to a friend that it looked like they'd make more wheat than we could in this country.

"Have you been out in it?" he asks. "Some of the wheat looks green yet, and some looks blue—that which looks blue just ain't no wheat."

When you examine the heads, he said, you find little bitty things without much grain. If it rains right now, in his opinion, we'd make more wheat than will be made if it waits another 30 minutes to rain.

Visiting with a brother Sunday while the wind was blowing strong from the south, he remarked: "If this wind keeps blowing this way it'll blow us a rain."

"I'm for the wind to continue a while longer in that case," we says.

We bucked that hard wind all the way home Sunday, thinking of that good rain it was going to blow up.

As we backed out of the garage to come to work Monday morning our neighbor asked: "What's that falling?"

It happened to be bits of moisture that collected slightly on the windshield, but not enough to dampen our half-price sale straw hat.

Monday afternoon, a Mundayite who has been here a lot longer than we have came out with the positive statement that "it ain't gonna rain until September."

He went on with a bunch of palaver about if it don't rain in February it won't rain until September. It missed the 10th of May and the next chance it had the 20th, then around the 28th, then not until around June 11th and history repeats itself, etc.

He still thought it wouldn't rain until September strong enough that he hadn't purchased his cotton planting seed, and wasn't going to until it rained.

We remembered then, that this brother who said the wind would blow us up a rain is the same brother who told us way back yonder that Santa Claus came by on New Years Eve on his way home from Christmas journey and would fill out socks again if we hun them up.

Then we got more confused than ever about the rain.

We don't know whether our house leaks or not. It hasn't rained enough since it was built (Continued on last Page)

Cpl. Alford J. Stewart, of Munday, who is radar repairman with the 71st AAA Gun Bn., Fort Belvoir, Va., recently received letters of appreciation for his work and ability. The following is a letter from Maj. Costas J. Carros of the Second Army Signal Corps Repair Shop in Baltimore, Maryland:

"Cpl. Alford J. Stewart has been on duty with this shop as radio repairman since November 16, 1950.

"During this period, Cpl. Stewart has shown great possibilities and capacity for this type of work. He has been attentive to duty, courteous to his fellow workers, and exhibited inherent possibilities for leadership. His desire to gain additional knowledge and exemplary conduct make Cpl. Stewart a worthwhile asset to any organization and an inspiration to other trainees. His services were greatly appreciated.

"Recommend a copy of this letter be placed in Cpl. Stewart's 201 file; and that this letter be submitted to the board for consideration should Cpl. Stewart become otherwise qualified for promotion to a higher grade."

Munday's Honor Graduates

Pictured above are the honor graduates of Munday High School who will have parts on the commencement program on Friday night at the school auditorium. They are Harold Fox, valedictorian, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fox, and Shirley Yost, salutatorian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Yost.

The question of whether needed and necessary improvements will be made to the public school system of Munday will be decided in a $100,000 bond election which the Munday school board has ordered to be held on Monday, May 28.

The bond election was ordered last Friday night, coming as a result of the mass meeting held at the school gymnasium to discuss the school problems. At this meeting a petition for the election was presented to the board, being signed by the required number of qualified voters.

The question to be decided in the election, as outlined in the election order, is:

"Shall the Board of Trustees Munday Independent School District be authorized to issue the bonds of said District, to the amount of $100,000.00 to become due and payable serially, as follows:

"$3,000 1952 to 1963, inclusive; $4,000 1964 to 1969, inclusive; $6,000 1970 and 1971; $4,000 1972; $6,000 1973 to 1979, inclusive

"said bonds to bear interest at a rate not exceeding Four Per Centum (4%) per annum, payable annually or semi-annually for school building purposes, to-wit: the purchase, construction, equipment or repair of public free school buildings of materials other than wood, within the limits of said District and shall there be annually levied and collected on all taxable property in said District for the current year and annually thereafter, while said bonds or any of them, are outstanding, a tax sufficient to pay the current interest on said bonds and the principal thereof as the same becomes due?"

The election will be held at the City Hall on May 28, 1951, with H. P. Hill as presiding judge, Mrs. M. H. Reeves, judge and Mrs. J. C. Campbell, clerk.

None but resident qualified electors, who own taxable property in the Munday Independent School District, and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, shall be allowed to vote at said election. It was pointed out.

Around 80 people attended the mass meeting. It was pointed out that a $50,000 bond issue would be necessary to take care of immediate needs of the schools. After some discussion, it was voted to petition the board for the $100,000 issue with the view of constructing a unit for a junior high school, this unit to be so constructed that additions may be made as the needs require.

Around 15 colored people who are interested in needed improvements to the colored school attended the meeting.

Masons Meet Here Tuesday

Between 100 and 110 Masons of the area gathered here last Tuesday evening for the regular meeting of the 91st Masonic District Association. Munday and Goree lodges were co-hosts for this meeting.

Members were treated to a delicious fish fry at 7:30 o'clock by the host lodges. After the fed business of the association was conducted by L. A. Parker, vice-president, and E. T. Goss of Seymour, secretary. The president, Dr. W. M. Taylor of Goree, was unable to be present.

Principal speaker was Rev. S. Y. Allgood of Goree, who brought an inspirational message to the group.

Practically every lodge in the district was represented.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MONTICELLO, N. Y., BULLETIN-SENTINEL:
 "Jefferson looked with apprehension on the laws of Virginia which supported the Anglican Church of England. He opposed the laws which provide for public taxation for the support of the established church. Jefferson provided his answer to this question by writing in 1776 a statute to change these laws. . . . The bill finally was enacted January 16, 1786. Americans today owe a great debt to Thomas Jefferson for his brave and courageous fight for this principle which he thought was right and just—the principle we take for granted—the principle that in matters of religion every man shall have the freedom to worship his God as he desires without dictation from the government."

SOMERSET, KY., JOURNAL: "One of the most precious things about this country is every man's right to express his own personal opinion on any subject without fear of punishment or retribution. We must stand united in our opposition to anything that would deprive us of this privilege."

OLYMPIA, WN., DAILY OLYMPIAN: "Mr. Jefferson was a strong supporter of republican government. He championed the sovereignty of the people. He believed in freedom of thought and speech. He preached economy in government, and small public debt. He stood for a policy of peace, strict construction of the Constitution and sovereignty of the states, metallic money, as a standard; a judiciary beyond the control of the legislative and executive branches of government, rotation in office and elimination of monopolies."

MORRIS, MINN., SUN: "Political and economic theories often sound practical and enticing until we reduce them to a level where people live and work."

TOO MANY DOLLARS

The National Retail Dry Goods Association, which represents thousands of retail stores in this country and Canada, recently issued a policy-statement on the subject of price control in which it said:

"Price control is only one of the means of attack on the problem of inflation, and there are other more important approaches which need to be developed more fully than they have thus far."

"Since inflation results primarily from the increased spending made possible by the sharp advance in the supply of money it is most important to apply controls at this point. At the same time a sound taxation program and, equally important, a savings program are essential to hold spending in check. . . ."

"The NRGBA wishes to reiterate its position that price controls alone cannot possibly curb inflation. It is essential that effective controls be established not only of prices but also of wages."

raw materials and other elements of cost. . . .

That is an accurate resume of the situation. The increase in the money supply follows from current Federal spending and fiscal policy. Money has been "produced" at a much faster rate than the supply of commodities available for civilian consumption. So, inevitably, inflation marches on.

Finally, as the Association said, if we are to have controls, they must be applied to all elements in the economy—not just the producer or the retailer or some other isolated group. It is human nature to want the "other fellow" to bear the load. But it just won't work.

SAVING THE WOUNDED

Deaths from wounds in the Korean War have been at the lowest rate in history. This is a tribute to the magnificent work which the doctors, nurses, medical corpsmen attached to our fighting forces are doing under the most difficult and dangerous conditions.

But there is even more to it than that—and it is found in the high protein diet of American soldiers. Their rations include about a pound of meat a day, and meat is one of the best of the limited sources of whole protein. According to Dr. I. S. Ravdin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and formerly brigadier general in the medical corps, the amazing success in saving the wounded has resulted in part from "the recognition that high grade animal protein in diets may be almost as important as anti-biotics (germ-killing medicines) in healing wounds faster."

This comes hard on the heels of the experience during World War II, when the enormous value of protein to troops was proven. Then, as now, military personnel received rations high in meat content. It was found, further, that protein has a definite beneficial effect on energy and morale, no less than in helping the sick and wounded to regain their health.

What is true of the soldier is true of the civilian. Research has firmly established the fact that large amounts of protein are needed by almost everyone. This is now strongly advocated by the leading medical authorities on dietetics. It marks a step forward on the march toward a stronger, healthier people—as the experience in Korea is demonstrating.

A man stood on the street corner waiting to cross. After autos whizzed by for a long time, he spied a pedestrian across the street. "How did you get over there?" he shouted.
 The other yelled back, "I was born over here."

BOYCE HOUSE

Traveling through Louisiana: As our train sped through a hamlet, we saw a horse with whiskers! Or it looked that way. Actually, he was eating when the train rushed by and he looked up, startled, with half a mouthful of hay.

And we saw a fire on top of a river. Yes, sir, water burning. No doubt, a gas line out of sight in the muddy stream had sprung a small leak which, in some way, became ignited.

In and around Opelousas (where I spoke), there are many people of French descent. You can't be sure how to pronounce a name. For instance, "Low" rhymes with "cow."

The farmers use English until they are ready to trade for a new car or a farm, and then they start speaking French.

Across the street from a school was a blacksmith's shop. Above the door was a sign, "Children must not enter." There is such fascination for a boy to see the redhot shoe and the flying sparks as the hammer rings out that, doubtless, the smith could have gotten little work done if he encouraged young visitors.

A man who was campaigning over Texas for a friend reached Brownsville. That night he went across the Rio Grande to Matamoros. There an urchin asked him for a nickel. Instead, he handed the Mexican boy a campaign card which told of his candidate's career, including the fact that he had been president of a county and district clerk's association.

The man entered a cafe and had just started eating one of those dinners for which the Mexican border town is famous when the front door opened and 50 tattered lads swarmed in, surrounded his table and shouted, "Viva el presidente!" The only word they could read on the card was "president" and they thought the visitor was some great personage.

So instead of having handed one boy a nickel, he had to hand 50 boys a nickel so he could go on with his dinner.

Drive carefully—the life you save may be your own!

Dr. Dick Harrell And Alice Welsh Marry May 10th at Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Dr. Dick Harrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Harrell of Munday, and Miss Alice Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osgood Welsh 3rd of Bryn Mawr, Pa. The lovely ceremony was performed on Thursday evening, May 10, in the rectory of Our Mother of Good Counsel Church in Bryn Mawr, with the Rev. John Touhy officiating.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a rose point lace gown made over ice blue satin fashioned with a Peter Pan collar, long cuffed sleeves, fitted bodice and a voluminous ballerina length skirt. A halo of fresh flowers matched her old fashioned bouquet of lilies of the valley, roses and Queen Anne's lace.

Miss Kistie Welsh, serving as maid of honor and only attendant for her sister, chose a pink organdie frock embroidered in white with an off-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt; her wreath of lilies of the valley and blue iris also matched her bouquet.

The bride's mother selected a royal blue silk shantung model, a silk organdie hat and white orchids.

Dr. John Culligan of St. Paul, Minnesota, was best man, and Dr. Sterling Fly of San Antonio, Texas, completed the bridal party as usher.

A small reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the wedding.

Mrs. Harrell attended the Notre Dame Academy De Namur and Rosemont College.

Dr. Harrell, who was reared in Munday, is a graduate of Munday High School and of the Texas University School of Medicine. He is completing his internship at Graduate Hospital in Philadelphia.

On their return from a wedding trip, the couple established residence at Walnut Park Plaza in Philadelphia until July 1, when they will move to Dallas for permanent residence.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11—Most every person of character and intelligence in the city of Washington has, at one time or another, been libeled by columnist Drew Pearson. He fills his columns with half truths or whole falsehoods as suits his convenience and purposes. Among those who know and understand this columnist, an attack by him is considered a high compliment. He has never put anything in his column concerning me that remotely approaches the truth. His latest attack on me appears in this morning's Washington Post. Mr. Pearson has the following to say: "Republican congressmen have been chiefly identified with the real estate lobby in the past. However, House Democrats helped knife their own President in virtually killing the Taft low-cost public housing program last week. It was Democrat Ed Gossett of Texas, long the spokesman for Eastern business, who sponsored and led the fight to slash the program to 5000 low-cost public housing units a year, 70,000 units less than President Truman says is our minimum need. Gossett and GOP Representative Jesse Wolcott of Michigan, another real-estate lobby wheelhorse, cleverly forced a vote late Friday after members of the famous In-Tuesday-out-Thursday absentee club had made their usual mass exodus to New York and elsewhere. As a result, the Gossett amendment won by default, 181 to 112."

My last weeks newsletter gave adequate justification for the so-called Gossett amendment. Anyone who pours any water on the raging fires of inflation or helps to sustain American economy is being of real public service. Yesterday the Senate adopted an amendment to withhold American economic aid from any nation that permits shipments of arms or other military material to Russia or any of its allies. This should have been done long ago. Too often in the past we might have used economic pressure to have saved military forces. Economic sanctions in many instances can be as potent as military pressures. To fight communism with one hand while aiding communism with the other is a form of national suicide.

On February 19, Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, told Congress that General MacArthur had cast the lone dissenting vote against a guilty verdict in the court martial against Colonel Billy Mitchell. Senator Wiley quotes General MacArthur as saying, in speaking of Colonel Mitchell: "It was fully known to him, and he never ceased to express his gratitude for my attitude..." I understand that this is a violation of one's oath to disclose how he voted as a member of a court martial. Furthermore, a few weeks ago, while flying back from Texas, I sat next to a distinguished old gentleman who has been one of our aviation experts for 30 odd years. This gentleman told me that he was a great friend of Colonel Billy Mitchell and was called to his bedside a few days before the Colonel died. At that time Colonel Mitchell stated to my old friend that he often wondered how General MacArthur had voted on his court martial and that MacArthur had never told him how he voted. Strange how the records can be distorted with the passage of time.

An Iowa congressman has just mailed me the results on a long questionnaire he mailed into his district. Question number 17 is: "Do you favor the development of the St. Lawrence Waterway? Answers, yes 1689; no 1100. Other question number favor cutting down federal expenses?" Yes 3278, no 73. This illustrates how inconsistent we can become. The St. Lawrence Waterway project, if authorized, will cost this government a billion dollars at least. Apparently most people are strong for economy so long as it does not come out of their pet projects.

Let's Talk LIVESTOCK

(By Ted Gouddy)

FOR WORTH, May 11—The crest of the wave created by the Office of Price Stabilization's rulings on beef ceilings and the projected roll-back of beef cattle prices to pre-Korea levels by October seems to have passed.

During the past week cattle and calf prices have become much more stabilized at Fort Worth and in fact, some sales of both slaughter and stocker classes have been stronger with as much as 50-cent advances compared with the low time a week ago being noted.

Some sales indicative of the improvement were some cows at $28 and calves at $38.50 consigned by C. T. and J. E. White of Brady. The Whites' follower up this sale with 58 calves the next day that averaged 282 pounds, and brought $41.50. Previously few if any cattle had hurdled the $40 marker at Fort Worth.

Well finished cattle still bring substantial prices. The best com-mercially fed cattle this week Fort Worth were fed by R. E. Peterson of Justin. These long yearlings sold for $37, highest commercial cattle price since the OPS program was announced. Same experimentally fed heaves sold this week in the $36 to $37 field also and the week's and the year's extreme top of a sizable bunch of heaves was $38.25 for 101 fed yearlings brought to Fort Worth by the 4-H and FFA boys of Hamilton County.

The longer declines in cattle and calves have been on the common, plain and medium sorts, both stockers and killers. Some of these commoner cattle are off $3 to $5 from the extreme high three weeks back.

With the announcement by President Truman that the beef rulings would stick and would be enforced, it appears that the cattle industry can prepare for these lower prices in the coming months and will have to live with them.

During the week the packers, ranchers and feed producers fired salvo after salvo in Washington in efforts to get the government to recant on the beef rulings. Their pleas fell on deaf

Applications For Cotton Services Mailed Recently

Applications for the Smith-Doxey cotton services were mailed to county agents for every group of farmers organized for cotton improvement, according to H. J. Matejowsky, who is in charge of the Abilene cotton classing office, U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.

"Farmers can get their 1951 cotton crop classed without paying a fee and USDA market prices mailed to them every week without cost, if they belong to a cotton improvement group," Matejowsky said.

Congress provided for these USDA services in the Smith-Doxey Act, passed in 1937, to encourage farmers to grow improved varieties of cotton, particularly adapted to their soil.

"Applications should be returned to this office as soon as all farmers in the group have planted their cotton," Matejowsky emphasized.

Farmers not in cotton improve the boys. They learn feeding tricks and learn some practical business, too. The expensive program of supporting a nurse cow or two, as well as the steer, does not make sense unless the boys get an unrealistic price for his animal.

2. The local people and those over the county under this program are not taxed to artificially support a sale of the calves at home where favoritism could discourage a deserving boy and money is not drained from loyal merchants and business men which they sometimes can ill afford.

The Hamilton County commercial feeding program for 4-H and FFA boys is worthy of the sincere study of every city and county group interested in the education and welfare of its young people.

cars. Efforts are continuing to get the whole program knocked out and prevent the renewal of the act creating OPS, but pressure knocked out and prevent the renewal of the act creating OPS, but pressure from organized labor groups for lower cost-of-living and from consumers is generally expected to overshadow the cattle industry influence in this direction.

A major development in the young people's livestock feeding programs was climaxed at Fort Worth this week when the Hamilton County 4-H and FFA boys brought in 132 fed steers which topped at $38.25. These cattle are exempt from OPS ceilings. We heard that the bulk of these steers graded prime, with some choice and a few good grades. This indicates a very high degree of finish and these young men are to be congratulated on their excellent finishing of the yearlings.

The most important factor, however, is that this was a "commercial" feeding demonstration. The boys financed their feed and stock at the bank. With the help of parents and County Agent Ralph Lawrence and Vocational Ag. Instructor Earl Kenebel and with solid backing by Pop Peters, Chamber of Commerce manager and C. of C. President Eidon Jones, it was a business-like deal from start to finish.

The parents of the boys also backed them up wholeheartedly. In fact, a 50-car caravan left Hamilton County and followed the boys and stock to market. Some 300 people all told.

After the tour of the market they dined at Swift & Company and toured the packing plant. Later they saw the WB-AP radio and television studios. It was a grand day's outing for the whole family.

It appears to this writer that the Hamilton County folks have found the answer to two very important questions about club boy feeding programs.

1. They are making businessmen and real cattle feeders of provement groups are urged to join. Applications for the services and details about the program can be secured from the county agent's office.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Goes Overboard For The Plan To Pipe Sea Water To All The Farms In Texas

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has gone overboard for new idea, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: There's been some talk lately about a plan to take the salt out of seawater and pipe fresh water to every farm in Texas, and I wish you would stop whatever you're doing, if you can think what it is, and get behind this idea right now.

Just drop all agitation for better roads, more telephone poles, in the country, more rural light poles, etc., and concentrate on water pipes.

As I look back on my life out here, it seems to me nine-tenths of my troubles generally could have been solved by a good rain at the right time. Although I reserve one-tenth that nobody could remedy, a sort of reserve pool for complainin' generally, rain or shine.

I don't know how they're gonna extract the salt from the ocean water, but if they can send pictures through the air via television and make a bomb that'll wipe out a city in three seconds, they ought to figure out a simple problem like salt water. And when they do so, the principle of the water pipe is already perfected, along with the ditch-diggin' principle.

It's gonna be a great day out here when I can sit on the front porch—they gonna have remote controls on the faucets, ain't they?—and throw a switch and water my crops. This method is gonna beat rain-makin' in all to pieces, as they ain't never gonna be able to get everybody to agree on a date when a rain out to fall. Even if they could make it fall, if one man ain't balin' hay another one may be plannin' a fishing trip, one woman may be havin' a lawn party or another may have a washin' on the line. But under this new method, I can water my fields down to where it's too wet to plow while my neighbor raises dust goin' up one row and down another on his tract-

Is This the 'Typical' U.S. Auto?

Dividing its registrations into equal North-South and East-West parts, Chevrolet spots this 1941 sedan as the country's "typical automobile." It is owned by Don Sobkoviak, shown above with his wife, in Watseka, Ill., the approximate center of all cars in use in the United States. Sobkoviak, an employe of the Iroquois Farm Bureau, bought the car third-hand. It has 107,000 miles on its speedometer. The 1941 model represents the average age of all Chevrolets in service.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN — "Environmental sanitation is the public health term for clean, safe housekeeping whether it applies to private home and its surroundings or to towns and cities. Among other things, it insures safe drinking water, proper garbage and sewage disposal, the safe service of wholesome food including milk, rat and insect control, and general cleanliness of the premises. However, for environmental sanitation to be effective, it is essential that not only public health officials but the citizens living in their respective home or operating establishments serving the public cooperate wholeheartedly," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Consider, for example, the seasonal housefly hazard. It has been determined that 120 eggs are laid by a single female at one time and that a generation is produced every ten days at summer temperature. Thus, the possibility of reproduction during the warm summer months of a single fly runs into millions. While the housefly does not bite it is dangerous because it breeds upon both filth and food.

"Again, rats are the source of several diseases of man including plague, typhus fever, infectious jaundice, and trichinosis, to mention some of the more important ones. Homes can be made comparatively ratproof by removing rubbish and garbage accumulations, and by closing avenues of access. Approved poisons and traps should be employed when a real problem presents itself.

"Removal of containers of stagnant water such as tin cans and barrels will do much to eliminate the mosquito for householders. The household needs to devote more seasonal attention to mosquito eradication than he is today if this is to be properly controlled.

"In general, good and thorough housekeeping inside and out, is the personal and civic duty of every home dweller. It not only adds to the pleasure of living and removes disease hazards, but increases the appearance of one's surroundings.

Be careful. Observe state and local traffic laws.

"One For The Book"

Miss Reynolds, our town librarian, really put a smart-aleck motorist in his place last week—right in center of town, corner of Main and Walnut.

Her car stalled, tying up traffic. Most drivers just waited quietly—realizing she couldn't help it—but one fellow kept blaring away on his horn.

So Miss Reynolds gets out of her car, walks over and says sweetly, "I'm afraid I can't start my engine. If you'd like to try I'll stay here and lean on that horn for you." That stopped him!

From where I sit, a lot of us are sometimes a little overzealous to "sound off" before we really understand what it's all about. Let's try to see the other fellow's side in what he does—how he votes, what he thinks, whether his preference is for a glass of beer or battermilk—rather than simply blast out anyone who "gets in the way" of our ideas in these matters.

TWO REASONS WHY MORE FARMERS WANT

GOOD YEAR

SUPER-SURE-GRIP TRACTOR TIRES

1. Deeper Soil Penetration — Greater Pull
2. Balanced Straight Lug Tread Design — Longer Wear!

Goodyear's open center tread has straight deep-biting lugs. No curves to cut traction — no hooks, knobs or elbows to blunt their bite. They cut cleanly into the soil, penetrate full depth, full length. Straight bars closer together at the shoulders wedge the soil for firmer grip—don't "plow out" soil at the sides.

Goodyear open center lugs are all straight, all equal in size and spacing. That's why every lug works equally, pulls fully, wears more evenly. This means a smoother, steadier pull, less vibration and wobble — more riding stability — plus longer life. Get Goodyears for your tractor — they don't cost a penny more.
