THE EASTER SERVICES

At Methodist Church Largely Attended by Knight Templars And Others

Rev. W. J. Mayhew, pastor of the Methodist Church, delivered a splendid sermon Sunday at 11 o'clock on the Resurrection of Christ, the text being from Matthew 28.

Easter Sunday is a great day with all Masons, but more especially Knights Templar. The Baird members of the order assembled at the Masonic Hall and marched to the church in a body. A few of them were in uniform. Some perhaps, like the writer's after a quarter of a century of service does not look well beside the new, modern uniforms, and did not don them. A good crowd of Masons were present, and the auditorium was well filled with members of the Methodist and other churches.

Brother Mayhew's sermon was good, very good. We have heard some great sermons on this subject by great preachers of our church and other churches. Some of these men rose high in the councils of the church, and at least one of them is now considered one of the foremost bishops of the Methodist Church, South, and we considered Brother Mayhew's sermon equal to any of them. His argument was plain, simple and convincing to any reasonable mind. Christ was what he claimed to be, or he was an impostor. He claimed to be the son of God, foretold his death and told his disciples that he laid down his life for the salvation of man. That he had power to lay down his life and take it again. The New Testament says he did that very thing, though his own disciples did not believe he would or could this, and they were as much astonished as others when he appeared alive to them after his death. The story that his disciples came and stole his body away while the Roman guard slept, is unworthy of belief, as Brother Mayhew showed. The truth is his disciples were poor and without power or influence, and when they saw their beloved master die on the cross, they considered that all was lost. They were in no frame of mind to attempt to palm off a fraudulent resurrection on the public at that time, had they been so disposed. The resurrection of Christ is as well authenticated as any event in past history, and every real christian, every church house and every church school in christendom bears unmistakable evidence of the devinity of the death and resurrection of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

As has been truly said, the christian church, is built upon an empty tomb, made empty by the power of God himself, and not by the fraudulent act of a few humble disciples, who believing all had been lost when Christ died, and were no doubt afraid to show themselves in public for the time being. But behold the mighty change that came over the apostles after being convinced that Jesus had risen from from the dead, as he told them he would do. Witness the great revival on the Day of Pentecost and the boldness of the desciples. Concluded on last page

BAIRD SCHOOL ELECTS HER MAY DAY QUEEN

The Baird school has selected her Queen by popular vote.

Miss Ruby Harp is the lucky lady who with her quiet gentle manner won this honor with 35 votes more than any of the other five young ladies under nomination.

Queen Ruby will select her own maid of honor. The "Ladies in Waiting" of her court are Misses Belva Evans, Eules Stevens, Jacqueline Stevens, Helen Oglivy, and Martha Hughes, all of whom were selected by the students.

Sometime near the end of the school term, at a date to be announced later, the school will pay homage to the Queen and her court. This will be in the form of a festive of the months with May as Queen. It will take place in front of the Baird School building in the late afternoon.

The festive is under the general direction of Mrs. Boren with each lady member of the faculty having her division under supervision.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Thelma Wenninger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Hamlett, was given a surprise party on the night of April 16, 1924, celebrating her 18th birthday.

The young people amused themselves by playing Bridge, 42, and dancing. Afterwards, a wonderful cake, decorated with 18 candles, was cut and served with cream to the guests by the hostess.

Thelma received many presents, which were appreciated very much. A jolly time was enjoyed by all and Miss Thelma is wishing for another birthday soon.

The banquet at the Tabernacle on Monday night, the object of which, was to raise money to apply on the indebtedness of $1,500.00 on the Tabernacle, was a splendid success in every particular. The program, the speeches and the eats were all good and everyone present enjoyed the occasion.

DR. S. H. WINDHAM KILLED AT HIS RANCH IN TERRY COUNTY

Dr. S. H. (Hilery) Windham, of Tahoka, was assassinated Monday night near his ranch 10 miles southwest of Brownfield, in Terry county. Dr. Windham left Tahoka, his home, for his ranch late Monday evening. He was found slain, near his auto with the motor still running and the lights burning. He was shot five or six times. A posse was formed of 350 ranchmen to hunt the murderer, who was discovered in a dry dipping vat on the Windham ranch, and after a seige of twelve hours surrendered after wounding three of the sheriff's posse. The murderer's name is given as Will Ward, a one-legged cowboy, formerly employed on the Windham ranch. The only reason given for the crime is that Dr. Windham and his entire outfit were I. W. W's and he intended to kill them all.

Dr. Windham was a son of the late Samuel R. Windham, of Brown county, and a nephew of H. and Tom Windham, of Opin. and Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. W. E. Gilliland, of Baird. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, two brothers, T. M. (Top) Windham, Byrd, Brown county, L. B. Windham, of Lawn, the sisters, Mrs. Amanda Floyd, of Lynn county; Mrs. Mary Bowden, of Cross Plains; and Mrs. Eliza Phillips, of Byrd. The two brothers hurried across the country to Tahoka, on receipt of the news of their brother's death. Ward is evidently crazy, probably an I. W. W. himself, crazed by some imaginary wrong.

CATTLE SALES ARE LIVELY

A Number of Sales of Steers Reported During the Past Few Days

The cattle business has been quite lively the past week and many hundred head of steers have been sold and shipped out of the county.

G. C. Marshall, of the firm of A. A. Marshall & Son, of Archie, Mo., bought 450 head of Hereford steers last week and shipped them to their Missouri ranch, where they will be in their feed lot. These steers were bought from Henry & Estes, Mrs. J. B. Cutbirth, Fred Cutbirth, Geo. T. Baum, and Ernest Hill. The Fort Worth Live Stock Reporter in mentioning this sale says: "Marshall & Son are extensive handlers of good stuff and have long been liberal takers of Texas yearlings. Callahan county breeds the quality kind that perform well and respond readily to feed. We predict that these husky fellows will make good returns to their new owners and that our Missouri friends will be back for more of the same brand."

L. M. Hadley and Ode Berry shipped 19 cars of 2 and 3 year old steers to Kansas, where they will be put on grass.

Henry & Estes and Driskill Bros. sold a small bunch of steers to C. B. Snyder.

C. B. Snyder sold 125 head of 2 year old Hereford steers to Mr. Hale of Oklahoma. Driskill Bros. also sold 100 head of steers to Mr. Hale.

Jim McFarlane, Jr. sold 300 3 year old steers to Frank Lacy of Brownwood.

Jesse Hart sold a car load of 2 year old steers to Cisco parties.

GERMANY TOLD TO START WORK IMMEDIATELY

Commission Lays Stress on the Unanimity With Which the Document Was Approved.

Paris.—The reparations commission has virtually told Germany to get down to work preparatory to a blanket acceptance of the experts' reports. Prior to this the commission decided unanimously to take note of Germany's reply adhering to the experts' reports and to approve the conclusions and adopt the methods proposed.

Need for speed was the outstanding feature of the commissioners' communique, which tells Germany, to prepare enabling legislation for the commission's approval, so that when the allied Governments—as seems taken for granted—adopt the experts' reports, the groundwork of the structure which Brig. Gen. Dawes, Owen D. Young and the other experts envisaged will already be laid.

Pending Germany's compliance with the reparations commissions' demand feelers will be put forth from London, Paris and Brussels designed to bring the experts' projects into concrete form as rapidly as possible, for, obviously, the members of the reparations' commission did not reach their decision without the full approval of their Governments.

The commission's aim, as outlined by one of the members, is to get a general agreement on all non-controversial points of the plan before taking up debatable questions, such as abandonment of economic exploitation of the Ruhr.

"Nothing appears to require immediate decisions by the reparations commission," is the way in which queries have been met concerning the commission's intentions respecting the gaps purposely left in the experts' findings.

The reparations commission lays particular stress on the unanimity with which the document was approved; they point out that their decision followed logically the decision taken recently. Their sole desire, it is explained, is to get the big work under way as soon as possible, putting in the background any controversy as to whether certain recommendations of the experts run counter of the treaty of Versailles.

It is considered most unlikely that the reparations commission can find anything in the Dawes report of an anti-treaty nature, but, as one member expressed it, "if Germany and the allies agree on a common solution, what does it matter if it is outside the treaty?"

As a special courtesy, Dr. Ruppel, the new president of the war burdens commission, and other German members attended the session.

The Supreme Court Held Nebraska's Minimum and maximum bread weight law invalid.

Secretary Wilbur announced a new policy designed to prevent leases similar to those granted under former Secretary Denby.

Another appropriation bill has been passed by the Senate and sent to conference. It carries approximately $400,000,000 for the independent offices of the Government.

Forty-seven years ago Moore Faucette, now an inmate of a county poorhouse at Efland, N. C., got a money order for $4.50. The post-office department has just made payment of the order—without interest.

Ten years from now, according to the law now in effect, we may expect to have 200,170 miles of completed, well paved highways in this country. At present there are only about 27,000 miles of such roads. The Federal aid system calls for this work in cooperation with the States.

According to statistics compiled by an institution in Chicago, there are 4,300,000 horses still in the cities of the country, and 62,254 of them work in New York. During the decade between 1910 and 1920 the automobile forged steadily to the fore, while the horse population dropped. THE BEAUTY OF EARLY VIOLETS.

As the Violets once again put forth their delicate fragrance, we are reminded of the only tribute we know that is worthy of their loveliness—a tribute written by a Southern writer, Isaac Irwin Avery:—

"The violets again—little wet violets, and there is the clean sweet breath of spring. One would lift his head and drink deep—taste this newness, this grateful freshness that is about. There is a quicker leap of life, and nature seems to stir with a kind of tenderness. There is a deeper glow on the faces of children—easier happiness on a tiny nestling face. Girlhood comes to outward whiteness again—the cool crisp sign of spring. And in all is the subtle charm of violets—little human, tremulous things, gentle as love's whisper, pure as purity. Restful, quaint little flower, too—a simple appealing flower to lay on a baby that has died—to give as seemly tribute to womanhood—to press against the face as an easement for the tired heart. Such a dear, peaceful, little flower, all alone in flower land, emblem of the world's simplest and best, and waiting to mock a false face, or adorn the beauty that comes from the soul."

FEEDING DAIRY COWS PROFITABLY.

In feeding a dairy cow, for instance, there are many things one must consider. The palatability of the feeds used must be considered, also the amount of milk the cow is capable of producing when properly fed and the per cent of butter-fat in the milk. In short, no one combination of feeds can be made up that will best fit all cows. The cow is a living organism, and that means that all cows are not alike. Every feeding problem has an animal in it and the individuality of that animal cannot be ignored without loss.

In making up a ration, a feeder has a few basic facts, however, which he can use as a foundation to work on. For instance, in feeding the dairy cow he may rely on the fact that succulent or juicy feed is most desirable. This may be pasturage, silage, roots, suitable crops cut and fed green, or any other succulent feeds that the cow likes and experience has proved useful. In the second place, he can accept the fact that good, bright legume hays are about the best dry roughage. Third, he can safely rely on the value of a certain amount of variety in the ration. Fourth, he must not overlook the fact that the feed must be relished by the cow.

Then, when concentrates are considered, he can safely rely on the economy of supplying the cow the proteins, carbohydrates, fats, mineral matter, etc., in some such portions as experiments or experience, which are one and the same thing, have shown a cow requires to support her body and produce a given quantity of milk of a given quality. Of course, this can only be done approximately in any given case, but the basic facts that the cow requires all these in certain proportions cannot be ignored.

OLD TIME NEGRO
99 YEARS OLD.

Tuesday, just as the editor started to town in the afternoon, an old time southern negro was seen coming up the street. He enquired the way to Fort Worth and in conversation with him learned that he was a slave, having been brought from Africa to Maryland when a small boy; from there he came with his master Dr. Carroll, to Gonzales County. Asked his age he said he was 99 years old. He was black, not ebony black, but he showed in every feature of his face that he was a pure negro. Having been born and reared among negroes and our people being slave owners we always had a kindly feeling for the old time slaves. Asked what he knew about the war; I was in the war he said. Where did you go to the war from? Gonzales county with my master!; well for old times sake here is half a dollar. The old negro took it, thanked us and said I have not had anything to eat today. Come on and go back to the house and I will see that you get a square meal, and he did. The old negro may not be as old as he claims but is undoubtedly very old. He is about 5 feet 6 in. high, stands erect, has a pleasant face and speaks plainer than any African negro we ever knew, but coming to America when a small boy accounts for that. His face is not wrinkled but smooth, the reason we thought he was old was his hair and beard was grey, that is, what little he has as his hair was cut close and merely a stub of beard. The old negro said he made thousands of dollars for his master, Dr. Carroll riding his race horses but sadly remarked, my white people are all dead. It seems that some young negroes persuaded the old man to go out west, got all he had, and ran off and left him, so he told the family, and he is trying to make his way back to Gonzales county. He says if he can get to Fort Worth he can get to ride home on the trains. Here is hoping the old negro gets back safe to his old home.

Meeting this old negro stirred memories of the editor of the long ago. We remember the old time negroes with their songs on the plantations of the old south; their loyalty to old master and old misses in the trying days of the Civil War. Many of the young negro men went to the war with their masters as this old negro says he did and we heard many stories of these negroes going into battle with their masters seemingly oblivious of the danger to themselves only intent on looking after young master or old master as the case might be. The people of the North and the young people of the South do not know and cannot understand the kindly feeling existing between master and slaves in anti-bellum days. Slavery had its dark side it is true, as pictured by Harriet Beecher Stowe in Uncle Tom's Cabin but they were the exception not the rule. Most southern slave owners treated their slaves as human beings and cared for them in every way, in sickness as well as in health. As a rule the negro slaves had warm, comfortable houses and clothing to protect them. The idea that they were ill treated or abused is not true except in isolated cases. Common sense teaches one that good treatment for such valuable property as a slave was best.

We know of a very few white slave owners that did treat their slaves badly and we know too that such people were cordially despised by the better element of slave owners. No one not raised among the old time slaves can ever understand the old south and the close friendship existing between the slaves and slave owners who treated their slaves right. Slavery was wrong that we will admit though my people owned a few slaves but there was a bright side as well as a dark side to slavery. When the war ended old time southern ideals perished. Taken as a whole the grandest civilization that ever existed in any age. Many of the old time southern slaves fared better than thousands of white people do today in congested cities. Negro slavery was no worse if as bad as some of the industrial slavery that exist in large cities of the country among the poorer classes in the factory districts of the North. The slaves were well cared for as stated before, as a rule, and no slave owner with a thimblefull of brains would ill treat his slaves like some industrial bosses treat the white slaves today. The reason is easily understood. A negro man in good health was worth from $800.00 to $2000.00 and a negro woman from $600.00 to $1200.00 each. Their death meant a serious loss. The death of a white employee in the mines and sweat shops can be replaced by the employer without cost to him. Many people in the north shed tears over negro slavery yet overlooked the oppression of the white people in the manufacturing districts right under their noses.

Negro slavery is dead and white slavery is dying out we are glad to know. Had the north understood the south and southern slavery there would have been no civil war and possibly long ago slavery would have been abolished, because many southern slave owners realized that slavery should end because conditions were changing, but it looks as if fate had decreed that a civil war must come as a result of slavery yet the north, not the south, was responsible for negro slavery in this country.

Many people do not know this but it is an historical fact. Negro slavery was first introduced in the north but the climate was unsuited to the negro so many sold their negroes to southern planters, and a few, very few, set their slaves free but all this is past and we hope to live to see that every laborer, white, black or brown, will be treated like human beings, not like chattels as they have been treated in many of the factory districts north and south long after negro slavery was abolished.

MORE DAIRYING NEEDED.

There is undoubtedly room for much expansion of the dairy business in the South, and on Hiltop Farm we are finding the regular monthly check from the creamery a mighty welcome source of cash. Of course it takes intelligent, conscientious help to make dairying pay—or else mighty close supervision of ordinary help—and if a farmer is not going to provide either intelligent help or close supervision, he had better let cows alone.

Dairying simply calls for closer attention and more unremitting industry than most lines of farm work, and it pays better simply in proportion to the extra intelligence and attention required. Almost any enterprising farm family comprising several boys and girls above ten years old to help about milking and located near a market or "cream route" can make dairying a success. And the average Southern town doesn't use half as much milk the citizens, and especially the children, need for health and efficiency. The number of profit making dairies in the South could probably be doubled (1) by having our agricultural and health officials work together to put on "milk campaigns" to show Southern townspeople the importance of more milk and (2) by adopting and enforcing regulations to insure clean and healthful milk.—The Progressive Farmer.

We call attention to an article, "Don't Tie Up Delegation" in this issue from the Fort Worth Record. The fight is growing warm in Texas between McAdoo and Underwood to have the delegation instructed how to vote at the National Democratic Convention. While we favor Underwood for President against the field, yet in the interest of Texas and the National Democratic party, we would prefer to have the delegation go uninstructed. Everything is topsy turvy politically and many things are liable to happen between now and the meeting of the National Convention, and every Democrat should want the very best man. Gov. Neff is out campaigning against instructions, and while one may not agree with his reasons, one must admit his argument in part, are sound. For instance, without saying anything against McAdoo personally, he contends that as the attorney for three years for Doheny, one of the men responsible for the oil scandal by his corrupt dealings with A. B. Fall and others, makes McAdoo's nomination out of the question, saying that the party would enter the campaign explaining, consequently be defeated at the start. Gov. Neff's objection to Underwood is based solely on the ground that he has always been an anti-prohibitionist. If no one but a blown in the bottle prohibitionist, one who has always been a pro, is to be considered, then the Democratic party is bankrupt as to candidates for the presidency simply because there is not a single outstanding Democrat in public life today that is big enough to be president of this great nation, but was at sometime in the past opposed to prohibition. If prohibition was the only issue before the people there might be some reason in the argument that only a prohibitionist must be nominated by the Democrats. Such an argument presupposes that only a prohibitionist will honestly try to enforce the prohibition laws. We want a president big enough and honest enough to see that all laws are enforced. We believe Underwood is that kind of a man, also McAdoo, and but for McAdoo's unfortunate connection with Doheny and Sinclair at the time the Teapot Dome scandal was uncovered, he would have been hard to defeat for the nomination and would have been strong before the people at the general election.

The main reason why we should not instruct for any candidate is that we do not know but what the man we instruct for will be indicted for violating some federal law before the convention meets. If Texas has not got forty Democrats who can be trusted to vote for the best interests of Texas and the union, then instruct for your man and send a postal card to the chairman of the convention to cast the Texas 40 votes. We trust our members of the legislature and congress to make and unmake laws for us, why is the Democratic party afraid to trust its delegates to the national convention? We do not know and do not care who the delegates may be just so they are Democrats and honest men.

There is both rhyme and reason for the belief of prominent Wilsonians expressed in a recent symposium that the time is favorable for "fastening the Wilson tradition" on the Democratic party. By this is principally meant permanently committing the party to the program of participation in the world peace program through the League of Nations. A mountain-top survey of the map of public opinion in the United States justified this belief, as the result of a series of significant political verdicts touching the league issue recorded in the past several weeks.

A Nemesis appears to dog the footsteps of those "bitterenders" who so rabidly opposed the Wilson ideas in the memorable League of Nations fight in the Senate four years ago. Medill McCormick has been defeated for re-election in Illinois, coincident with the death blow dealt by that State to the hopes of Hiram Johnson for the Republican presidential nomination. The Republican voters of New Hampshire have rejected Senator Moses as a delegate to the national convention. The Democrats of Missouri in overwhelming numbers have turned thumbs down upon the political advancement of Jim Reed. Henry Cabot Lodge continues to hold his seat only by sufferance of a bare majority of the voters in Massachusetts, given because of his honored name and long service. And the Dawes report representing the scientific view of the post-war needs of the world, specifies the League of Nations as the principal agent in the economic reconstruction of Europe.

Truly, there is enough in evidence to warrant the belief that the tide is setting in in the other direction. Lifting high the banner of Wilsonism can not fail to aid the mobilization of our Nation in the march of humanity.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

We stuck to the Bryan policies for three campaigns and got defeated worse each year. Then came Wilson and by reason of the Republican split, we elected him in 1912, with a majority in both branches of congress, and before the end of his second term we had lost control of both branches of congress. In 1920 the League of Nations an issue was endorsed by the Democrats in deference to Wilson and lost everything by a majority of seven million votes. If there has been any change in public sentiment about the League of Nations in this country, we have not seen it. On the contrary we see evidence that public sentiment is stronger against the League than ever.

We stuck to Bryan for 12 years and got nothing. We stuck to Wilson for eight years and wound up with the worst defeat in 1920 that any major political party ever received in this country. Now they want us to repeat the dose that paralyzed the party in 1920. Many of Wilson's policies were good, proven so by time. His ideals were high and creditable alike to him and his party, but the League of Nations was not popular and we see no evidence that it has gained, but on the contrary we see evidence that it has lost strength among the voters who vote party tickets from principal and without hope of fee or reward.

Not all of course, but much of this propaganda to "fasten the Wilson tradition on the Democratic party is done to boost Wilson's son-in-law, McAdoo, for the nomination for president. Why should the Democratic party, a second time, jeopardize its chances of success to gratify a tradition of any man, no matter how great he may have been. We have domestic problems that are of far more importance to the American people than the theoretical good that may come to the world by our nation becoming a member of the League of Nations. The nations of Europe do not care a hoot for our nation and never did, for that matter, and all they want us in the League for is to have command of the man and money power of the United States to aid them in their selfish game of conquest, greed and glorification of themselves. Then too, if they can get our nation in the League, every device known to diplomacy will be used to have our nation cancel the debts these nations owe the United States.

The United States is out of the League and everything indicates now that the party that goes before the people with a platform favoring mixing up of our nation with European any kind of an alliance that will even be suspected of causing our nation to become involved in another European war, will get the stuffing beaten out of it next November.

The Democrats have a fighting chance with a good strong candidate that is not mixed up in any way with the interests responsible for the oil scandal, but such a man has no show with a League of Nations plank in his platform not unless at least five million voters, who opposed the League in 1920 will vote for it in 1924. It is utter nonsense to believe that any such number, if any at all, have changed in four years. We conscientiously believe that the anti-League sentiment in this country is stronger than it was four years ago.

The Star-Telegram cites the defeat of McCormick, Reed, of Missouri, and Senator Johnson as a candidate for president as proof that public opinion is changing on the League. The combined power of the Wilson forces and pro-Leaguers outside the Democratic party were not strong enough to defeat Senator Reed for re-election in Missouri two years ago. The defeat of Senator Johnson this year for the nomination for president by the Republicans proves nothing. He was opposed to the League, so is Coolidge, who was elected vice-president on the ticket with Harding four years ago, and he has not changed.

The Republicans, no doubt, would be pleased to enter the contest again with the Democrats favoring a League of Nations platform and McAdoo as the nominee. He might lose with a million less majority than Jim Cox, but we doubt it.

DON'T TIE UP DELEGATION

Before the real issue becomes obscured by personalities and petty politics, it might well be stated here that the interests of Texas will, in the opinion of this newspaper, be better conserved and furthered by the election of an unrestricted delegation to the Democratic state convention that by the choice of one tied to the coat strings of any of the gentlemen now contending for it.

Texas is offering no candidate for the presidency to the suffrages of the Democracy or of the nation at large. This is said advisedly. The endorsement of Governor Neff by the state committee is not taken too literally even by the governor himself.

This being the case, Texas can wield a powerful influence in New York if the delegation goes unpledged. The logic of the situation is evident to him who will observe events.

Because of the two-thirds rule nominations in a Democratic national convention are more difficult than in the Republican gathering. Large delegations which refuse to attach themselves to band wagons are powerful factors either to push those band wagons over the finish line or to bring forward the dark horses who Texas loses some national political influence and prestige because it is a one-party state. It is rare that one-party states receive the attention bestowed upon those of more uncertain complexion. Therefore it is more important than ever that Texas should hold a position of power within the party to which it has given its allegiance.

The intense struggle now going on for control of the Lone Star delegation is proof enough of its importance as a decisive factor in a dozen situations at New York that may be imagined. Why not conserve that strength and power that Texas may be able to serve both itself and the nation when the moment for action comes?

One need not analyze the particular motives of Governor Neff in his fight for the unrestricted delegation to determine the wisdom of the course he recommends. It is not at all necessary to agree with or support the executive in his other policies to agree that he is right in desiring to make the Texas delegation at New York count at its maximum.

This is the greatest state in the union in area, in agricultural wealth, in possibilities. It ranks near the top in population. It prides itself on being the banner Democratic state of the republic. It deserves a place of the highest influence at the council board of the Democratic party.

JAPANESE PRESS DEMANDS MINISTRY GIVE RESIGNATION

Claim Hanihara's Handling of Immigration Situation Was Pure Fiasco.

Tokio.—The Yorozu Choho, Japanese afternoon newspaper representing the Jingoos, declared that the action of the American Congress in passing the exclusion legislation amounts to a challenge to Japan. It says the nation must prepare for whatever may come, even war. The Kokumin demands the immediate resignation of the ministry.

Dissatisfaction in high official circles with Ambassador Hanihara's handling of the immigration situation in Washington is reported by the vernaculars in their late editions. Other Japanese Ambassadors are said to have rallied to the support of the Washington envoy and will oppose any possible efforts to make him the scapegoat of the exclusion fiasco.

The Hochi editorially terms the attitude of the Japanese foreign office "invertebrate."

The Kokumin frankly states "Ambassador Hanihara's letter fully represents what the Japanese Nation wants to say."

While it is officially denied there is any difference between the views of Tokio and Hanihara it is admitted that considerable annoyance is felt regarding the Ambassador's use of the phrase "grave consequences."

Editorials of the morning newspapers, written prior to the news of the Senate's acceptance of the exclusion act, were markedly moderate in tone. Although they admitted the probability of the Senate voting for exclusion they were of the opinion that President Coolidge will veto the legislation.

Numerous bodies, including the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Japan, the American Japan Society and the Japan Economic Society, have called urgent meetings to discuss the immigration situation.

Officials do not deny the probabilities of unpleasant popular reactions and it is fully expected that the opposition will make all possible political capital from the Government's immigration defeat. The action of Congress comes as a blow in the heat of an election campaign throughout Japan.

Inflammatory campaign speeches, public indignation meeting resolutions and bitter editorials are all expected as an aftermath of Washington's exclusive legislation. The Government, however, is determined to take a vigorous stand against any policy of retaliation. It asserts it will do its utmost to curb popular indignation and maintain the fullest possible friendly relations with the United States.

CHAIRMAN HULL ASSAILS HUGHES IN SPEECH

Democratic Chairman Sees Attempt to "Gloss G. O. P. Corruption."

Washington.—The speech of Secretary Hughes at the Republican State convention in New York was assailed in a statement by Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee as an attempt to "gloss over the wholesale corruption found in the Government during the last three years."

"Having publicly offered an earnest defense of Newberry and Newberryism some months ago," Mr. Hull said, "it is not surprising that Secretary of State Hughes is willing to attempt a defense of any Republican national administration, no matter how low its standard of ethics and of morals."

"In the face of the undisputed fact that no other administration in American history has been responsible for as much jobbery, incompetency and corruption as now lie at the door of the present national administration, the casual reader will not be able to discover from the speech of Secretary Hughes at the New York Republican convention that the present Republican administration is less lacking in morals and honesty in many of its departments and burdens than any former administration, having the most outstanding record on these points."

Form Smith Organization.

New York.—Formation of an organization to shape the campaign to obtain consideration for the name of Gov. Al Smith at the National Democratic convention has been begun by New York Democrats. A headquarters, with an adequate staff, is to be opened and workers will be sent throughout the country.

TAKE BONUS BILL UP BEFORE TAXES

The Fight on the Bonus Measure Will Be to Incorporate an Option for Full Cash Payments.

Washington.—The soldier bonus bill won the right of way over the tax measures in the Senate by vote of the finance committee, and will be brought up for consideration some time during the next week.

Senator Jones (Dem.) New Mexico, joined Republicans in approving such a program, while other Democrats did not vote, Chairman Smoot said.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, a Republican member of the committee, will report the bill formally to the Senate Tuesday and there were indications that the legislative calendar would be cleared for it immediately.

Passage of the bonus bill has been freely predicted even by opponents and Chairman Smoot has expressed the opinion that it would be disposed of within a week. The revenue bill, he said, would be taken up immediately thereafter.

The main fight on the bonus measure will be on the proposal of Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking minority member on the finance committee, to incorporate an option for full cash payments. The bill as agreed to by the finance committee is practically the same as approved by the House and its passage in this form would assure a speedy report from conference to the President.

The bill provides for twenty-year endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service compensation. Some Republican leaders have indicated the belief that in this form it would pass both houses over the veto of President Coolidge, who has declared opposition to a soldier bonus.

Democrats of the committee indicated that no determined effort would be made to upset the program for consideration of the bonus bill ahead of the tax measure.

THAW'S SON PERMITTED TO INTERVENE IN CASE

Loses First Skirmish in Legal Battle for His Freedom.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Harry K. Thaw lost the first skirmish in his legal battle to be declared sane and freed from the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases when Common Pleas Court allowed Russell William Thaw, claimed to be his 13-year-old son, to intervene in Thaw's jury trial to determine his sanity.

Judge John Monaghan would not permit Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, who filed the petition for intervention on behalf of her son, to act in the case but appointed her counsel as guardian for the boy during the court proceedings. The question of the boy's parentage did not come for determination. Miss Nesbit contends Thaw still is insane.

Thaw, who first faced a jury on a charge of murder for the killing of Stanford White, nearly eighteen years ago, was in court. Portly in form, gray-haired and dignified in manner, he took a seat among the spectators and listened intently as the jurors were examined.

In a near-by office building Evelyn Nesbit sat waiting to be called into court. After the noon recess she left for her home in Atlantic City, because of slight illness. She was told her presence would not be needed.

Mary G. Thaw, attended the afternoon session. She waited with the aid of a cane. She was halfway down the aisle before her son saw her. He leaped to his feet, put his arms around her and kissed her. Thaw led her to a seat and helped her remove her coat. The air was warm, and she produced a small fan which Harry took and fanned her.

COTTON MILLS PLANNED TO COST $3,000,000

Corporation to Build in San Antonio, San Marcos and Austin.

San Antonio, Texas.—A corporation will be formed within a few days with the purpose of building and operating three cotton mills, one in San Antonio, one in Austin and one in San Marcos, following a meeting of some of the promoters of the company.

A San Antonio attorney is authorized to file application for charter for the Planters and Manufacturers' Cotton Mills Company with a capital stock of $3,500,000, under the blue sky laws of Texas. The corporation would build mills with 10,000 spindles and 300 looms, each costing about $1,000,000, in the three cities mentioned, according to the announcement.

The plan calls for a mill employing about 300 to 350 persons in each city. The one in San Antonio would be built on a site now being negotiated for and construction work is due to begin within thirty days, the promoters declared.

Gray goods would be made here, outing flannels at San Marcos and fine shirting at Austin, according to the plan.

Four New England textile machinery manufacturers, whose names were not given out, have agreed to take blocks of stock in exchange for machinery for the proposed plants, the promoters indicated.

The first proposed plant would be built in San Antonio.

Large Acreage in Melons. Weatherford, Texas.—Farmers of Parker County are busily planting. There will be a large acreage in cotton this year. Prospects are very favorable at present. There will also be a large acreage in melons and feed crops.

U. S. Planes to Dutch Harbor. Seattle, Wash.—Three planes of the United States Army world-flight expedition which reached Chignik, Alaska, Tuesday, have been ordered to proceed to Dutch Harbor, Alaska, according to dispatches received from Washington. At Dutch Harbor they will await the machine of Major Martin, commander of the expedition, which was forced to alight in flight on Seward to Chignik and has been taken to Kanatak, Alaska, by the destroyer Hull.

SEVERE CRAMPING SPELLS, PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

"My trouble has been periodic cramping spells," says Mrs. C. C. Draper, of Atlanta, Texas. "For several years these have come on me so bad that I had to quit my work and go to bed. Every month I would stay in bed from one to two days. The pains in my back and sides were awful. This went on for several months after I was married until, one time when I was having a bad spell, my husband suggested that I try Cardui. I said I would try it, so he got me a bottle at the store and I began to take it.

"It seemed like I improved from the very first dose. When I had taken one bottle I was very much better. I did not cramp so hard the next month and I ate and slept better. I was not nearly so nervous, either. I thought Cardui was fine, so I continued the treatment until I had taken five bottles, at which time I felt completely well. I had no more cramping spells at all, and my health was as good as anybody's. I am feeling fine now and I give all the credit to Cardui, for I had been suffering for years before I took it."

Cardui is a vegetable extract, containing no harmful ingredients. It is made from mild-acting medicinal herbs with a gentle, tonic, strengthening effect upon certain female organs and upon the system in general. Its users have testified to its special value at the time of entering womanhood at maturity and at the time of the change of life.

For over 40 years, Cardui has been tested in use by thousands of women who have written to tell of the great benefit they have received from it. For over 600 years, medical authorities have recommended one of the principal ingredients of Cardui in the treatment of certain female complaints.

Cardui, the woman's tonic, tested by time, is today the product of many years of experience and investigation. It is manufactured in up-to-date laboratories by the most modern and sanitary methods of pharmaceutical science and is for sale by all druggists.

TROTSKY RE-ENTERS RUSSIAN PUBLIC LIFE

CHARGES UNITED STATES IS PREPARING FOR WAR IN EUROPE.

SCORES USE OF POISON GAS

Says America Would "Use Asphyxiating Gas to Extract Europe's Revolutionary Teeth."

Moscow.—After an absence of nearly six months from all participation in Soviet affairs, Leon Thotzky, the Soviet War Minister, has re-entered public life with an energetic and aggressive spirit which has surprised his friends who are aware of his frail health. He has addressed numerous political meetings at Tiflis, Baku, Kharkow and elsewhere and spoke before a congress of physical development of the Red troops so as to enable them to combat the armies of the Bourgeoisie countries more effectively.

Trotsky is preparing to take an active part in the Communist party congress in May and the convention of the third internationale in the middle of June. He has just completed a book on Nikolai Lenin, the late Premier, in which he extols the Soviet leader for his remarkable prophesy of an undying revolutionary spirit and unceasing struggle against the capitalistic system.

In the course of a long speech at Tiflis, the text of which has just been received here, M. Trotsky referred to the fact that the United States and France have not yet recognized Russia. He described France as pursuing a system of willful blackmail toward Russia by encouraging Poland, Roumania and Turkey to act against the Soviet.

France, he asserted, possessed the largest army in the world and wielded the iron fist of the capitalist, while the United States commanded the greater part of the wealth of the whole world because of Europe's imperialistic war.

"The United States is the most democratic country which plunged into this imperialistic war without idealistic stimulation," said Mr. Trotsky. "It has become a colossal Tower of Babel and is trying to digest into its stomach all the huge gains it realized from the war. It is now keeping aloof from European affairs, but at the same time is carefully preparing for future wars, it is placing aviation and asphyxiating gas foremost in its equipment; it is developing these destructive agencies not only for a struggle against enfeebled Japanese, but also against Europe."

The War Minister remarked ironically that America considered the old methods of warfare too barbaric and that a more humanitarian method, such as chemical warfare, should be applied.

"We all know the use to which the dentist puts asphyxiating gas," he continued, "but when we see the United States preparing to use gas to extract a revolutionary tooth from Europe, we must be on the alert. In the meantime Americans are trying these new gases upon their criminals, discarding the use of electricity as a means of killing wrongdoers."

"Picture to yourself rich and satisfied America sending to famine-stricken, revolutionary Europe whole squadrons of airplanes which threaten to rain these noxious gases upon our heads. This is no fantastic romance."

THE NEFF-DAVIS BREAK CAUSES WACO COMMENT

Predict Most Interesting Convention Since Hogg-Bailey Debate.

Waco, Texas.—The "break" between Gov. Pat M. Neff and Chairman Davis of the State Democratic executive committee, by reason of the Governor's attacks on McAdoo and his campaign for an uninstructed delegation from Texas to the national Democratic convention, has been widely discussed in Waco, the home city of Gov. Neff.

It is predicted here that the State Democratic convention in Waco May 27 will be the most interesting political gathering that has been held in Texas since the memorable State gathering of Democrats in Waco more than two decades ago, featured by the stormy debate between former United States Senator J. W. Bailey and the late Gov. J. S. Hogg.

The convention here will be held in the Cotton Palace Coliseum, which has a seating capacity of 10,000 people.

Death, Not Recognized by Colony
Beaumont Harbor, Mich.—The House of David continues silent regarding the illness of Purnell, only son of Benjamin, fugitive "king" of the colony. It was learned from authoritative sources, however, that the condition of Coy Purnell is regarded as critical and it has been found necessary to call in physicians from outside the colony. The effect on the colony of the possible death of its "king" son was much discussed. The colony's faith does not recognize death.

State Park is Proposed.
Cisco, Texas.—Secretary G. C. Richardson of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Williamson say there is a probability that the State Park Board will take over the grounds around Lake Cisco and establish thereon a State park. Homer D. Wade, assistant secretary of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has taken a great interest in the matter and is urging the matter upon the State Park Board. The board will come to Cisco in the near future to look over the site.

Natives Flee From Lava Flow.
Manila.—A volcanic crater near San Dionisio island in the Babuyan group, just off the northern coast of Luzon, is in violent eruption and 75 inhabitants are fleeing a destructive flow of lava, according to reports received here by Governor General Leonard Wood. The governor general's yacht Apo left Manila immediately with food and medical supplies for the refugees, who are huddled together at the water's edge of their island but who refuse to abandon the island itself.

COWBOY BALLADS OF OLD DAYS ARE SUNG AT CONVENTION

A popular diversion in the cow camps during the days of the open range was the singing of cowboy ballads. These songs of the camp and the trail have lately been collected in a volume. They form a distinct addition to the great body of typically American literature which the west has inspired.

One of the most popular tunes of the period between 1870 and 1890 was a dolorous ballad called "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie."

Hiram G. Craig of Brenham, father-in-law of Judge Ewing Boyd, one of the most notable figures at the Texas Cattlemen's Annual Convention, held in Houston recently, has agreed to sing this song at the next annual meeting of the Old Trail Driver's Association in November.

"I first heard the song in 1876, at Buffalo Gap," he said. "Most versions contain many inaccuracies."

The true version, as written down by Mr. Craig from memory, is as follows:

"Boys, bury me not on the lone prairie!"

These words came slow but mournfully from the pallid lips of a youth, who lay

On his cold death bed at the break of day.

He had wasted and pined till o'er his brow,

Death's shade was slowly gathering now;

And he thought of home and his loved ones nigh

As the cowboys gathered to see him die.

"Boys, bury me not on the lone prairie,

"Where the wild coyotes will howl o'er me,

"And the night breaks forth on the lone dark trail,

"And the sunbeams rest on a prairie grave.

"But let my death slumber be a mother's prayer,

"And a sister's tears may be mingled there.

"For it's hard to think that the heart beat's o'er

"And to know that the fountain will gush no more."

She was in his dreams but his voice failed there,

And they took no heed to his dying prayer;

In a narrow grave just six by three,

They lowered him down on the lone prairie.

I have oftimes wished to be buried when I died,

In the churchyard there by the green hillside,

By my father's grave let my death slumber be,

Pray bury me not on the lone prairie:

But where the loved ones from afar will come,

And will plant the flowers of spring on my tomb.

For the sake of those who will mourn for me,

Pray bury me not on the lone prairie.

pies who publically accused the Jewish officials with the murder of the son of God. They continued to bear unswerving testimony to the truth of the resurrection of Jesus and all proved their faith by gladly giving their lives in defense of their faith. Everyone of them save John, the beloved disciple, died a martyr death, either by mobs or pre-judiced court decrees. It is unreasonable that these men had no evidence to justify their faith. They met and talked with Christ many times after his death and before his ascension 40 days later. Paul, the one time persecutor of the Christians, became converted and proved one of the greatest apostles of them all, and gladly died a martyr's death in the city of Rome for his faith. If any of these men had flinched, or repudiated the statement about the resurrection, there might have been some grounds for doubt, but not one recanted to save his life, as some were promised. John alone escaped the executioners and he was banished to the Isle of Patmos, where he wrote the book of Revelation. He died at the age of 98, some say 100 years of age.
