W. T. U. Co. Seeks Injunction Against County on Highway

Hearing on a petition for an injunction on further construction on Highway No. 30 will be heard by District Judge Isaac O. Newton at Seymour on Saturday morning, December 8th.

The injunction is being asked by the West Texas Utilities Company, who, in their petition allege that they have bought and paid for a right-of-way for their high lines between the Baylor county line and the Haskell county line, and which is being constructed by the county in widening the highway. They set out that it was not necessary for the highway to parallel their high lines, and pray for an injunction restraining the W. T. U. Co. from further encroachment upon what they contend to be their property.

Construction on the highway has been under way for some time and the contractors have removed the dirt from around the poles along the right-of-way where the poles were within the right-of-way of the new highway, and in doing so the contractors were acting upon the authority of the county court, which brought condemnation proceedings against the property at the time the right-of-way was opened.

It is estimated that approximately 10 miles of the high lines of the West Texas Utilities Company lie within the right-of-way of the proposed highway, and in the condemnation proceedings the jury of view held that the benefits that would accrue to the utilities company by the construction of the hard surfaced road along their lines would offset any damage that the company would suffer in moving their lines back.

Without commenting upon the merits of the case, let us venture the hope that the matter can be settled satisfactorily to all parties without delay in the construction of the highway. The people of the precinct have voted bonds for the highway and they have every right to expect that it should be built without unnecessary delay.

Munday Fiddlers Win Favor Over Radio Station KGKO

On Monday evening radio fans were given a real treat when the old fiddlers of Munday rendered a program over KGKO, Wichita Falls, and so well were the fans pleased with the program that the time allotted them was extended from thirty minutes to more than an hour and they were retained by the station to render a program each Monday evening for some time. The program was sponsored by U. R. Houser, local agent for the Orient Oil Company of Wichita Falls, and he and the Morrow brothers, together with J. T. and J. R. Willis of Memphis, Texas, rendered the program.

More than eight hundred telegrams and telephone calls came into the station commending the program. They came from all sections of Texas and many other states. One request came from Nebraska for "Wagner," and it is needless to say that the request was granted.

The program will be broadcast each Monday evening from 9:00 to 10:00 o'clock, and if you don't have a radio in your home go over to your neighbors. You'll enjoy every minute of the program.

These programs have demonstrated that there is still, in this day of jazz, a great demand for the old tunes that really possess some harmony, and we believe they will become more popular.

Mesdames Davis and Barnes Will Present Pupils in Recital

Tuesday evening, December 11th at seven o'clock at the Baptist church Mrs. J. O. Davis and Mrs. H. F. Barnes will present in recital their pupils in music, voice and expression.

A treat is in store for those who attend, for the little Rhythm Band, which made such a hit when presented in recital something like a month ago, will be on the program and we are sure will again prove very entertaining. The members of this little band are pupils of Mrs. Davis and are very enthusiastic pupils.

We have been asked to state to the public that the recital will start promptly at seven o'clock and will be concluded in time for those attending to attend the second show of "The King of Kings," which will be shown at the Royal. Below we give the program to be presented:

Christmas Bells—Toy Band—Bells, Helea Houser, Iner Campbell, Virginia Bess Atkinson, Gail Reynolds; Jingle sticks, Irene Newsom, Evelyn Reeves; Rhythm stick, Virginia Sue Coxsey, Peggy Eiland, Mary Moore, Helen Williams; Triangle, Roslin Houser, Gordon James Barnes; Tambourine, Jean Williams, Sylvia Barnes, Drum, Ann Atkinson; Castanets, Billy Joe Dickerson, Cymbals, Ophelia Pruitt.

2. (a) "Three Little Kittens" (b) "London Hill"—G. Parry Alene and Kathleen Houser, Zell Spann, Jennievie Decker, Virginia Sue Daval, George Claus. 3. Two Slatters and a King; Chance—Glenn Wallace Kennedy, King—Jesse George Kennedy, Tidy—Gordon James Barnes, Sloth—Sylvia Barnes.

4. Violin Solo. Helen Williams. 5. Sleigh ride—Toy Band—Drum, Jean Williams; Sound blocks, Helen Williams; Rhythm sticks, Ann Atkinson, Kathleen Houser, George Claus, Virginia Sue Daval; Bells, Winona Sue Coxsey, Ophelia Pruitt, Zell Spann, Jennievie Decker; Triangle, Alene Houser; Tambourine, Sylvia Barnes, Billy Joe Dickerson; Cymbals, Peggy Eiland; Jingle sticks, Gail Reynolds, Evelyn Reeves.

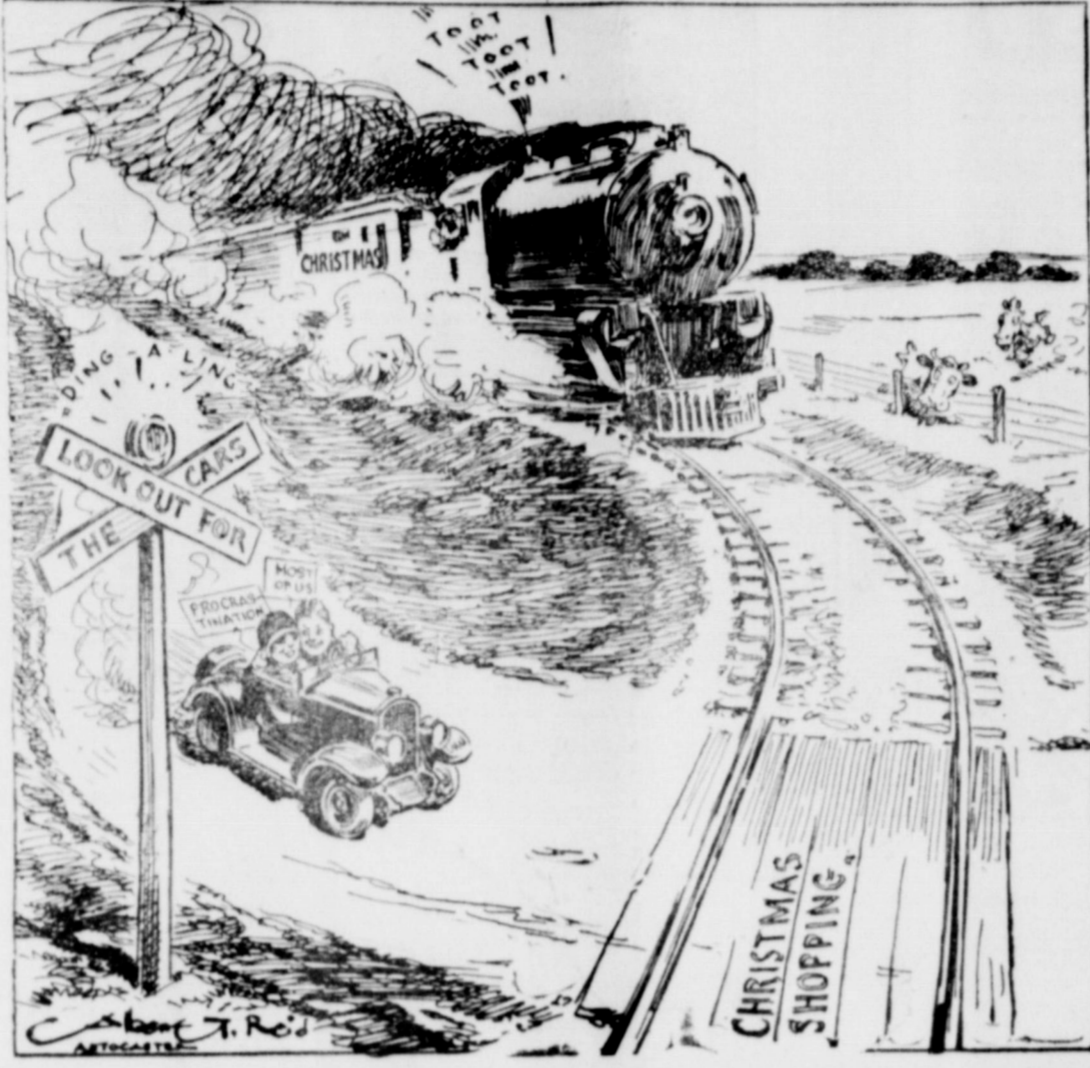

6. Violin Solo. Helen Houser. 7. (a) "Mister Turkey and Master Duck." (b) "My Soldiers." (c) "Shoemakers Dance"—Peggy Eiland, Evelyn Reeves, Winona Sue Coxsey, Mary Moore, Jean Williams, Ann Atkinson.

Burglars entered the homes of L. E. Lovless and Bernard Stalghill on last Saturday night and took all the cash that they could find. About $20.00 was taken from each house.

A Dangerous Crossing

Thomas F. Ryan Dies

Thomas Fortune Ryan of New York, multi-millionaire financier, died suddenly at his home at the age of 76. One of the very richest men in the world, he started his career in Baltimore making himself "generally useful" in a dry goods store.

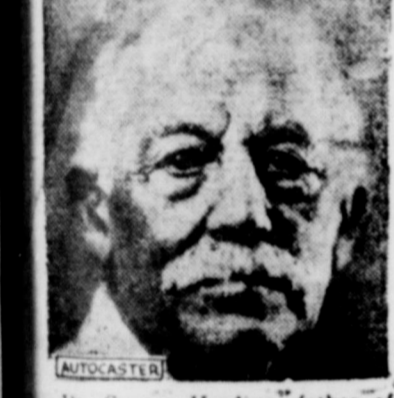

With Our Readers

This is the time of year when most folks begin planning out their reading matter for the ensuing year, and when the newspapers are offering their bargain rates, and this year, as in previous years, The Times is newspaper headquarters. We can offer as low rate on any daily paper as anyone, and when clubbed with the Munday Times, we can save the subscriber money, and that's why most of our subscribers prefer renewing their daily newspapers in connection with their local paper.

Chinese "Lindy"

Tien Lu Hung, Chinese "Lindy" making a good-will air tour of the United States, is shown here as he appeared after dropping off at the Boston airport. He plans to make a Pacific flight in the near future.

Harding's Father Dies

Dr. George Harding, father of the late President Harding died of a stroke of paralysis at Santa Ana, Cal., at the age of 85. To the last he was an active man.

Luther Cooper, 41, Succumbs to Illness On Tuesday Morning

Luther Cooper, 41 years of age, died at his home in this city on Tuesday morning. For some time he had been a sufferer from tuberculosis.

Mr. Cooper had resided in this city only a few weeks, having come here from Kaufman county, and is survived by his wife and several children. He was born in Missouri in 1887.

Funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. W. H. Albertson, after which interment was made in Johnson cemetery. We extend our sincere sympathy to the members of the family in their great sorrow.

THANKS, FOLKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the many telephone calls and telegrams that were sent us on Monday evening, at which time we gave a program over KGKO, Wichita Falls. We are glad of the opportunity what is offered us to get Monday before the radio public, and we are pleased to announce that we will continue to broadcast each Monday evening over this station from 9:00 to 10:00 o'clock. Tune in and hear the program.

MORROW BROTHERS, U. R. HOUSER.

The Rev. M. R. Pike, who was recently assigned to the Munday circuit at the Lubbock conference, arrived here Saturday afternoon and held his appointment at Hefner on Monday, after which he returned to his former home at Berger to move his household goods to Munday. He will be back by the latter part of the week.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS PLAN BAZAAR

Has your Christmas shopping been completed? If not, you will be interested in knowing that the girls of the home economics department have, for the past few weeks, been planning and working for a bazaar which is to be given in an attempt to raise some funds for our new department.

The bazaar, which will be held in the home economics cottage, will begin Wednesday, December 12th, and will continue thru Friday, December 14th. The cottage will be open from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. each day.

The public is cordially invited to attend. No admission charge will be made. The gifts, which will be sold are being donated by home economics students, mothers and merchants and already a very interesting array is evident.

As a special feature of this bazaar we are planning that each purchase shall be made by package rather than by article. In other words, the white elephant sale idea is to be carried out. Prices will range from 25 cents to $2.50, and each package will be marked according to the true value of the article therein contained.

If you are interested in donating some gift, which can be sold, call Mrs. Rhodes.

Arrange your visit to the bazaar so that you can visit one of our classes in home economics. The first meets from 8:45 to 10:15 a. m.; the second from 2:30 to 3:50 p. m.

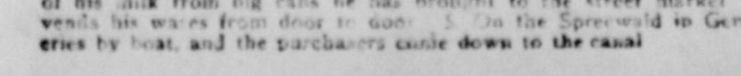

We shall expect to see you at least once during the sale.

Future Mrs. Lindbergh?

Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Mexico, is rumored to be the intended wife of Charles A. Lindbergh. Persistent reports say that she has but to say "yes."

How Milk Is Delivered in Other Lands

Other lands, other customs. 1. In Darveling, India, the milkman carries the milk in long bamboo jars as he walks from one native home to another. 2. In Copenhagen, Denmark, the milkman has a neat hand drawn cart, keeping his milk well packed in ice. 3. A dairy farmer of Estonia, Russia, disposing of his milk from big cans he has brought to the street market. 4. In an Italian city, the milkman winds his way from door to door. 5. In the Spreewald in Germany, the milkman makes his deliveries by boat, and the turbid water runs down to the canal.

Saturday Was Ladies' Day In Distribution Prizes By Merchants

The ladies seem to have had their day Saturday, for in the weekly prize distribution conducted by the Retail Merchants Association five of the fair sex came in on the premiums, and Mrs. Ellen Poss received the big prize of $15.00, which was awarded on a ticket from Piggy-Wiggly.

Other awards were made as follows: Mrs. J. F. Harris, Goree route 2, $10.00; Joe Gordy, Weinert, $7.50 on ticket from Gunn Hardware Co.; E. C. Harrison, $5.00; Joe Klug, Munday route 3, $2.50 on ticket from Piggy Wiggly; Joe Gordy, Weinert route 2, $1.00 on ticket from Gunn Hardware Co.; Mrs. Mart Hardin, Munday route 2, $1.00 on ticket from Munday Mill & Elevator Company; W. A. Jungman, Munday route 3, $1.00 on ticket from Munday Mill & Elevator Company; Mrs. F. C. Russell, Munday, $1.00 on ticket from Campbell Mercantile Company; Ed Whittemore $2.00; F. T. Jarvis, Munday route 2, $1.00 on ticket from Farmers Elevator Company; J. A. Reid, Munday route 1, $1.00 on ticket from Heard & Smith; C. C. Muse, Munday route 1, $1.00; W. F. Hutchison, $1.00 on ticket from Baker-Campbell Company.

I. N. Douglas and R. L. Gaines acted as judges in the distribution and the names were drawn by Joan, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Conger.

Geo. Jackson of Waco Will Serve City As Special Police Officer

Mr. George Jackson of Waco will arrive in Munday this week to make his home here, he having accepted a position tendered him by C. R. Elliott, sheriff-elect, as chief deputy when he assumes his duties early in the new year, and at the same time Mr. Jackson has contracted with the City of Munday to act as special officer in enforcing the laws within the city. Mr. Jackson will be located in Munday and will really serve in the capacity of both a deputy sheriff and city marshal, the actual office of city marshal having been dispensed with by the city council.

Mr. Jackson has been a peace officer in various capacities in McLennan county for many years, having held commissions as an officer from both the sheriff's department and the City of Waco, and is recognized as one of the most efficient peace officers in Central Texas.

Mr. Jackson is already well known in Munday, as he has visited here many times in company with his brother-in-law, E. B. Tull, and in securing his services Mr. Elliott feels that he is getting the services of an officer who will materially assist in the enforcement of the law, and Mr. Elliott has made it known to his friends and to the public that it will be his aim upon assuming his duties as sheriff to rigidly enforce the laws in all sections of the county.

LOCAL BAPTIST PASTOR DELIVERS THANKSGIVING MESSAGE AT SEYMOUR

The Rev. W. H. Albertson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, went to Seymour on Thursday of last week, where he delivered a Thanksgiving message, in which all the churches of that city participated. He was accompanied by Seymour by the Rev. R. G. M. Eiland, who enjoyed the occasion very much as it afforded him the opportunity to meet and greet old friends whom he had known throughout the Seymour country thirty years ago.

Basketball Season Will Open With Game Saturday Nite

Now that the local football season is over local sport fans will turn their attention to basketball. The high school will have two fast stepping teams in the Morpuls and Queens, boys' and girls' teams respectively. In addition to these, the men's famous independent team is being reorganized and will be ready to go in a few days.

With only a few days practice behind them the various teams mentioned above will bring into action Saturday night of this week. The Morpuls will tackle the Goree high school team and the local independents will reopen an old feud with the Goree independents. In seasons past Goree has always given Munday its hardest games and, although Saturday night will mark the first appearance of either team this season, the games will, no doubt, be real battles. The first game will begin at 7:30 and the usual admission charge will be made.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school at 9:45. Preaching at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. All B. Y. P. U.'s meet at 6:30. The attendance was good in all the services last Sunday. There were 101 present at the B. Y. P. U.'s. At the Sunday evening service we will continue our study of Revelation. Read the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh chapters. The church with a welcome. W. H. ALBERTSON, Pastor. Mrs. Helen Smith, who is a student in Simmons University, spent the Thanksgiving with her mother, Mrs. J. E. Smith.

Four Residences Are Under Construction; All To Be Modern

Four residences are under construction by W. H. Chapman on the block just north of the Musser Lumber Company, three of which will be five-rooms and bath, while one will be six rooms and bath.

Two of the residences have already been sold by Mr. Chapman; one to Victor Edwards, and another to Clyde Nelson, while the other two have been rented.

The building of these homes will in a small measure overcome the great shortage of residences in Munday. There is a year-round demand here for good rent houses and despite the fact that a large number have been erected during recent years there seems to be no letup in the demand for houses and many more could be built to an advantage in Munday.

SERVICES AT THE METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY, DEC. 9

Sunday school at 10:00 a. m. and you will miss a real treat if you fail to come. Organized classes for all ages. Come and find your place. We will do you good.

Preaching by the pastor at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Subject 11:00 a. m.: "The Victorious Life." Subject 7:30 p. m.: "The Evil of Sin."

A hearty welcome awaits you at all our services. We will miss you if you are not there. If you are a member you should attend church somewhere every Sunday. Feel free to make our church your church home. R. B. FREEMAN, Pastor.

Mayor C. L. Mayes Will Read the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Each Day While He's Waiting for the Munday Times to Come off the Press, and He Saved Himself 50 Cents on the Combination by Subscribing through this Paper.

Mayor C. L. Mayes will read the Fort Worth Star-Telegram each day while he's waiting for the Munday Times to come off the press, and he saved himself 50 cents on the combination by subscribing through this paper.

The Rev. R. G. M. Eiland usually keeps a little ahead of the horses on his subscription and last week he came in and showed up for another year, which is prima facie evidence, as our lawyer friends would say, that he likes to read it, and here's hoping that he may live many more years to enjoy it.

B. K. Brackett of route 1 came in some days ago and had his figures showed up a notch. The fact that our subscribers come in and pay up each year proves a great help to us, as it eliminates the necessity of employing solicitors to keep our list up to standard, and we believe that no newspaper in West Texas has a better list of subscribers than that possessed by the Times.

Mrs. W. B. Britton came in some days ago and renewed for the Munday Times and the Star-Telegram and we wish to express our sincere thanks.

Remember that we give Retail Merchants Association tickets with each 50 cents paid on subscription, regardless of whether for the Munday Times or your favorite daily newspaper, and we want you to not let these tickets be neglected to give them.

PAUL GOES TO ROME
Acts 28:11-24, 30-31
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Increasing numbers tour around the Wonder Sea, the Mediterranean, every year and cover much of the itinerary that Paul followed when he was taken as a prisoner from Caesarea to Rome. Read the entire log of the journey beginning with Acts 27 as written by Dr. Luke who was with Paul all the way. Follow the line of travel with your map. You will zigzag to the coast of Asia Minor and then along the lower side of Crete. There the captain was deceived when the "south wind blew softly" and set sail against the advice of Paul, whose judgment as an experienced traveler was worth while. Then the real excitement began and thrills were had for fourteen days after the Euraquilo was encountered.

Landing was made on the mainland at Puteoli, in sight of modern Naples. The distance to Rome was about 80 miles and fellow Christians came out to meet Paul when he reached the Market of Appius, about 43 miles from the city. Still others were at the three Taverns and when the voyager saw them "He thanked God and took courage."

Several flat appearance. Here and there on it are arranged pots for trailing vines.

Fancy pottery jars to hold plants, are imported from other countries. These are gray and modern in design and color. A number of them are especially designed to hold cactus. If your friend is not collecting cactus you can offer him another variety. There is a clever imitation cactus in pale green velvet that is most deceptive in its pretty little flower pot. Even the spines are imitated.

Breakfast Set for Two

A useful present for a young couple who are starting house-keeping could be a breakfast set for two. Plates, butter plates, cups, egg cups, cereal bowls in pairs, a toast rack, a coffee pot, a hot water jug and the usual sugar and creamer, constitute one set. These are of a cheerful but-tercup yellow in English china with bright flowers dashed on the sides.

If one were to consider gifts in the electric department there are ever so many that are practical and decorative, too. Waffle irons come in more attractive designs, every year. Percolators, too, wear new coats—new designs. Toasters do everything but think. We haven't found one yet that will ring a bell to remind one's husband (who is reading his paper at the breakfast table and told to "mind his toast") that the toast is done. Ours always finds that out, when it is burned to a crisp. He is so surprised. Even onto the fourth crisp bit the same road.

Electric Grills Useful

The electric grill offered to you these days are enough to convince any bride that a range is quite unnecessary. You can poach eggs, fry bacon, toast and cook a few other things all at the same time—why buy a range?

Right here, we remember our plum colored sink. And we know this year's advertising will invite the fond husband to buy one of those butter colored ranges, for the little woman for her Christmas. (The color is especially recommended not to show splashes.) It has always seemed to us to be a bit hard on Santa to deliver a range—with champagne the way they are now, and all—but then, perhaps he doesn't mind. We think we will ask him some day. (Note, liberal allowances, say twenty dollars, allowed on the old range.)

BAKER-CAMPBELL COMPANY CLEARING SALE CREATES GREAT RUSH OPENING DAY

The clearing sale announced by the Baker-Campbell Company of this city created a small sensation last Friday morning when the doors were thrown open for the business. So large was the crowd that it was difficult to find standing room in the big store and the clerks experienced much difficulty in waiting on the trade on account of the great number of people waiting to be served.

Sales are an unusual event with this company, as during the twenty-three years they have been doing business in Munday they have put on only three sales, and one of these was following the great fire some years ago.

Among The New Gift Suggestions

(By Marjorie Howe Dixon)

When the Christmas season approaches and the advertisements everywhere are premeated with gift suggestions, it seems as though every known article of merchandise is offered as a gift—by the advertiser at least.

This year one fully expects to see some advertiser extolling the merits of his plum colored sink (plum being the favorite color of plumbers) and showing a wife accepting it with pleasure from her beaming husband, the family being tastefully decorated with holly. Not that we object to holly or hollytype smokes! Not in the least! And of course there are wives here and there (no survey has been made as yet) who would prefer a new sink to any other gift they might receive! However, when gifts for women predominate in the gift shops why choose a sink?

Logical Gifts for Men

Appropriate gifts for men are much harder to find. There are always things in leather, and ash trays galore. But he really can't carry more than seven bill folds, and if he doesn't smoke, what then?

Why, then you must strive to find a gift that fits in with his pet hobby,—his office, or his bridge game. For the latter, are suggested imported cards. A pack of these is of great interest. Instead of the conventional Kings, and Jacks, each face is different and as fascinating as a portrait. The Queens are especially pleasing, with faces of rare loveliness.

For a man's desk, there are many desk sets. The new fountain pen holders come in a great variety of design and material. Among the new gift suggestions is a combination calendar pad and diary. This has a fine tooled cover with gold on morocco. The pad within is bound into the cover, and the lower edge of each sheet sticks out below and is perforated at the edge of the cover. Each day is dated and may be torn off.

Books on Open Shelves

Open shelves for books as in a library are becoming a feature of some of the new offices. Besides books, one of two objects d'art may be used appropriately. Should your friend purchase collect pester, or candlesticks, or old ivory, or clocks, why not place part of his collection on the shelves of his office? Where does the gift come in? Well, you can add to his favorite collection, can you not? Or buy him a lamp that will show off his treasures.

Lamps deserve a complete story in themselves. In the Modern Art style, a lamp seems to fit very nicely into the formalities of office furniture and furnishings. This is one of the few places where the modern art fits without jarring on its surroundings. In some libraries lamps in this style are good too.

Fine Designs in Lamps

It is quite possible to fit very modern pieces and antiques together as some decorators have already shown us. But it takes skill and knowledge to do this. When it comes to lamps, however, there are so many lovely ones designed in Italian pottery, Spanish, Colonial, Venetian, that one need not despair.

Before one leaves the subject of gifts there is one line of gifts that is comparatively new—if you have plenty to spend. This line includes radio cabinets. One of these was carved oak in Gothic design with appropriate bronze hinges, a lock and door pulls. Another one of interest was covered entirely with petit point. One can imagine it fitting in beautifully in such homes.

Suggestions in Wrought Iron

Where a man and wife have a mutual interest in, say, gardening, the problem of giving to them is simplified. For their indoor garden, there is a number of new suggestions in wrought iron. Floor stands in all sorts of paints and finishes are offered. These hold one, two, three, six pots or more. One stand resembles a wrought iron gate in its design.

Sequins are enjoying a surprising popularity, by the way. Often they are used to outline futuristic patterns on tulle and chiffon frocks again as hand trimmings to edge smart little pockets on a satin overblouse. And the evening jacket of net embroidered in sequins turns many a last year's frock into something new!

As an "in-between" frock this season you may indulge in a printed frock secure in the knowledge that it will be good far into the spring. Advance fabric news tells us there is every indication that prints will be shown and sold early in the year.

NOW—FUR SETS
Paris sends us the earliest ink fur sets as her very latest thing. Close-fitting cap-hat, scarf and mitt in broadtail, either black, beige or gray, appear in several chic designs. Jap mink and flat silky cannot also be shown and sold in the latest "old-skin" tones is a particular favorite.

Mrs. E. Donna David of Gorman is here this week guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Akers.

Mrs. E. T. Maples attended the Methodist conference at Lubbock and visited a son, who resides in that city.

W. R. Moore and Bernard Steady, hill made a business trip to Wichita Falls on Monday.

Miss Beulah Barton had as her guest during the week end her sister, Miss Ruby Barton of Albany, Texas.

Miss Mary Langford, who is teaching in the Albany schools, was at home for Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Langford.

Avis Maples, who has been a patient in the state hospital at Sanitorium for several months, came in the latter part of last week and his many friends will be pleased to know that he is greatly improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hill and daughter, Billie True, motored to Lorraine Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Williams.

Miss Mildred Guinn, who is a student in Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, was here for the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben I. Guinn. She was accompanied by her room-mate, Miss Frances Gossett.

Miss Alice Rogers, who is teaching in the Bonarton schools, spent the Thanksgiving holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Rogers.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMISSIONERS' COURT OF KNOX COUNTY

To The Public:

The Commissioners' Court of Knox County hereby adopts and promulgates the following rules—

(A) The Commissioners' Court of Knox County will hereafter pay no pauper bills that are not strictly within the statute—pauper must have been a bona fide resident of the state for twelve, and of the county six, months preceding application for assistance.

(B) No pauper bills will hereafter be paid by the Commissioners' Court of Knox County save and except in instances where the Commissioner from whose precinct such cases or application come has been consulted, and such bill arranged for or authorized by such commissioner.

(C) No patient will be admitted to the County Hospital, at the charge or expense of the county, who has not been a bona fide resident of the county for six, and of the state twelve months next preceding application for admittance, and then only upon a joint agreement between the Chairman of the Board of Management of said County Hospital and the county commissioner from whose precinct such application for admittance comes.

(D) No doctor bills will be paid by the county except the bills of the County Health Officer, or professional service arranged for in connection with county paupers, by such health officer.

By order of the Commissioners' Court of Knox County, Texas, in regular session on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1928.

OLIVER W. LEE,
County Judge.

Attest: Thomas F. Glover,
Clerk of the County Court.

Miss Helen Smith, who is a student in Simmons University, Abilene, spent the Thanksgiving holidays here with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Smith.

C. T. Wilson of Gorman, route 2, is a new name on our subscription list, and here's hoping that he finds it worthy of his continued support.

Miss Opal Nelson of Wichita Falls spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nelson. She was accompanied home by Miss Erna Lee Malcolm of Manning.

We are indebted to J. A. Reid for a renewal for The Times.

S. W. Reeves came in first of the week and renewed for the Munday Times and the Wichita Record-News, getting the two papers for our combination rate of $5.50, saving the difference.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson and children, Robert and Mary Ida, of Winnabow, Texas, spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Steve Smith. Mrs. Johnson is a sister of Mrs. Smith.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the brethren, sisters and friends for the fine birthday dinner and so many nice and useful presents given us on Nov. 28th. The choicest words are too poverty stricken to express the gratitude of our hearts for such remembrances. May Heaven's blessing attend each of you in our prayer.

WORST OF ALL CRIMES.
THE MICROSCOPE.
PAGAN RELIGIONS.
THE KING'S PRAYER BOOK.

California and the whole country are shocked by a dreadful kidnapping and murder in Los Angeles. The unhappy father, obeying the orders of the kidnaper, handed him $1,500 in gold certificates, and in return received part of the body of his twelve-year-old daughter, dreadfully mutilated.

The worst of crimes is kidnapping, since it inflicts upon fathers and mothers torments most horrible. That crime should be punished with utmost severity, and with guilt is certain with no delay.

Dr. William J. Mayo, one of the famous brothers, says science learns more about diseases from the microscope than in any other way. Mar's main is a "visual organ," and must see, to know. The introduction of the microscope by the Jansses, late in the sixteenth century, has done more to advance learning than any other agent, says Dr. Mayo.

Real learning owes more to Galileo's introduction of the telescope, at the beginning of the seventeenth century, than to the microscope. Seeing the germs that cause disease is important, but less so than seeing distant stars and nebulae. Perhaps, at the great German scientist Haeckel suggested, men of the future will train one eye for telescope, the other for microscope work, the two eyes combined dealing with the real world about us.

Earthquake in Burmah frightened inhabitants. A loud roar, lasting ten seconds, accompanied the shaking. Gautama, a fine temple at Rangoon, was badly damaged, but that will not shake faith in Buddhism.

That is the convenient thing about pagan religions. When anything goes wrong the pagan priests tell the faithful, "It's your fault. Your donations have been inadequate." Nothing is ever wrong with the pagan god, supposed to control earthquakes, or at least protect his own temples. Even fundamentalist Christian churches put lightning rods on their steeples, which seems strange.

Judge Hardy of the Superior Court in San Francisco says crime could be abolished if mothers would teach their children, in preschool days, obedience, truthfulness, honesty and the Golden Rule. That is just what mothers have been teaching their children for 500,000 years, according to the light of their period, and they have achieved wonders already.

Intelligent Mr. Tex Rickard says Jack Dempsey will fight Mr. Tunney again next summer. Certainly, and each of many following Summers until death do them part, if the crop of $40 a seat simulates last.

A cruel government plans to tax each $40 seat $10, but that can be made up by speculators' prices. Mr. Rickard's good fortune is due partly to the fact that men dull enough to enjoy prize fights are too dull to know when they are being "kidded."

It is believed, in the West, that the Tri-State Colorado River Commission, representing California, Arizona and Nevada, will reach an agreement to start work on the Boulder Dam project. Whatever helps one State helps the whole country. Arizona will gain by allowing California to use water and power now going to waste.

The British House of Lords has approved the new and changed readings in the Church of England prayer book, but it has been disapproved by House of Commons. King George is interested because his oath requires him to tick to that book. Some low church Britishers complain that the new book is not strictly "Protestant" as the last. The opinion of the only authority that really counts can unfortunately not be obtained.

Unpainted furniture offers almost unlimited possibilities for gifts. The smaller pieces, magazine racks, sewing tables, clothes hampers, small sets of shelves are always suitable gifts. Directions for using enamel may be had at any paint store these days. To add a final touch there are stencils already cut and ready for use. Among other gift suggestions for your garden enthusiast is one that would have to be started early. If you collect seeds from your own garden throughout the summer, you can make up gift packets from these. You will probably send your friend from seed that he may not be able to obtain from the green houses.

The President cast his first vote in Northampton, was elected congressman there, long ago, and has been steadily in office ever since, nominated nineteen or twenty times—never beaten. A record in politics as good as Cromwell's in war. Cromwell never lost a battle.

The old farmers would observe with pleasure that being President, with $75,000 a year salary, a White House and a big yard have not spoiled Calvin Coolidge. Next March he will move from the White House to Northampton and resume life in a small house which he rents for $350 a month.

Such a man is not dependent on money. But the President could save plenty of it. More than one law firm would be glad to guarantee him three times his Presidential salary. And he would not have to work hard. Perhaps the President chooses to wait awhile, look around, and possibly take a second elective term in the White House, eight years hence.

The erection of a fine statue to the great Frenchman, Pasteur, honors Chicago. Excepting the Lincoln statue, none in Chicago is erected to so noble and useful a man.

Dr. Leopold Stieglitz, of New York, able scientist and brilliant diagnostician, brother of Professor Julius Stieglitz, who teaches chemistry at Chicago University, says, "We need a Pasteur to solve the cancer problem. That task calls for a man free of preconceived notions and prejudice; not a man of medical training, looking to explain cancer according to old methods."

The ignorant sometimes ask "Of what real use is science?" Bismarck, taking five billion francs from France, after the war of 1870, thought he had reached the limit. Dr. Stieglitz reminds you that the cash value to France of Pasteur's discoveries far exceeds five billion francs, to say nothing of his work against human disease and suffering.

What Dr. Stieglitz says of Pasteur and the cancer problem, encourages men of no special insight. Clear thought and accurate observation work wonders.

THE LAST OF THE DUANES

by Zane Grey
Illustrated by Verue C. Christy

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Buck Duane, quick on the draw, kills Cal Bain in self defense and finds himself an outlaw. Flying from pursuit, he meets Luke Stevens, another outlaw, and the two become pals. Luke narrowly escapes capture and Duane is shocked to find his brother outlaw severely wounded. Duane buries Stevens. Then he goes on to Bland's camp, where he gets into a fight with a man called Bosom...

Duane meets Jennie, and promises to try his utmost to get her away from Bland's camp. To avert suspicion, it is planned that Buck should care for Mrs. Bland. Euchre introduces him to the latter and he engages in conversation with her. Buck plays the game, making Mrs. Bland think he loves her. To avert Bland's suspicion, Mrs. Bland pretends to her husband that Buck has come to visit Jennie. Bland urges Buck to become a regular member of his outlaw gang.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Accounting for the short cut across grove and field, it was about five minutes' walk up to Bland's house. To Duane it seemed long in time and distance, and he had difficulty in restraining his pace.

As he walked there came a gradual and subtle change in his feelings. Again he was going out to meet in conflict. He could have avoided this meeting. But despite the fact of his courting the encounter, he had not as yet felt that hot, inexplicable expulsion of blood. The motive of this deadly action was not personal, and somehow that made a difference.

No outlaws were in sight. He saw several Mexican herders with cattle. The columns of smoke curled up over some of the cabins. The fragrant smell of it reminded Duane of his home—that he used to cut the wood for the stove. He noted a cloud of creamy mist rising above the river, dissolving in the sunlight.

Then he entered Bland's lane. While yet some distance from the cabin he heard loud angry voices of man and woman. Bland and Kate still quarreling! He took a quick survey of the surroundings. There was now not even a Mexican in sight. Then he hurried a little.

Half-way down the lane he turned his head to peer through the cotton-woods. This time he saw Euchre coming with the horses. There was no indication that the old outlaw might lose his nerve at the end. Duane had feared this.

Duane now changed his walk to a leisurely saunter. He reached the porch and then distinguished what he had seen in the distance.

"If you do—Bland, I'll fix you and her!" That was paled out in Kate Bland's full voice.

"Let me loose! I'm going in there, I tell you," replied Bland hoarsely. "What for?" "I want to make a little love to her. Ha-ha! I'll be fun to have the laugh on her new lover!" "You lie!" cracked Kate Bland. "Let me go!" His voice grew hoarser with passion. "No, no! I won't let you go! You'll choke the—truth out of her! You'll kill her!" "The truth?" grieved Bland. "Yes, I lied. Jen lied. But she lied to save you. You needn't—murder her—for that."

Bland cursed horribly. Then followed a wrestling sound of bodies in violent straining contact—the scrape of feet—the jangle of spurs—a crash of sliding table or chair, and then the cry of a woman in pain.

Duane stepped into the open door—inside the room. Kate Bland lay half across a table, where she had been flung, and she was trying to get to her feet. Bland's back was turned. He had opened the door into Jennie's room and had one foot across the threshold. Duane caught the girl's low, shuddering cry.

"Good morning!" he called, loud and clear. With catlike swiftness Bland wheeled—then froze on the threshold. His sight, quick of action, caught Duane's menacing, unmistakable position.

Bland's big frame filled the door. He was in a bad place to reach for his gun. But he would not have time to step. Duane read in his eyes the desperate calculation of chances. For a fleeting instant Bland shifted his gaze to his wife. Then his whole body seemed to vibrate with the swing of his arm.

Duane shot him. He fell forward, his gun exploding as it dug into the floor, and it dropped loose from his stretching fingers. Duane stood over him, stooped to turn him on his back. Bland looked up with clouded gaze, then gasped his last.

"Duane, you've killed him!" cried Kate Bland, huskily. "I knew you'd have to."

She staggered against the wall, her eyes dilating, her strong hands clenching, her face half stunned, but showing no grief.

"Jennie!" called Duane sharply. "Oh—it is you—Duane!" came a halting reply.

"Yes. Come out. Hurry." She came out with uneven steps, seeing only him, and she stumbled over Bland's body. Duane caught her arm, swung her behind him. He feared the woman when she realized how she had been duped. His action was protective, and his movement toward the door equally significant.

"Duane!" cried Mrs. Bland. It was no time for talk. Duane edged on, keeping Jennie behind him. At that moment there was a pounding of iron-shod hoofs out in the lane.

Kate Bland bounded to the door. When she turned back her amazement was changed to realization. "Where're you taking Jen?" she cried, her voice like a man's. "Get out of my way!" replied Duane. His look, perhaps, without speech, was enough for her. In an instant she was transformed into a fury.

"You bound! All the time you were fooling me. You made love to me! You let me believe—you swore you loved me! Now I see what was queer about you! All for that slut! But you can't have her. You'll never leave here alive! Give me that girl! Let me get at her! She'll never win any more men in this camp!"

She was a heavy, powerful woman. And it took all Duane's strength to ward off her onslaughts. She claved at Jennie over his upheld arm. Every second her fury increased.

"Help! Help! Help!" she shrieked, in a voice that must have penetrated to the remotest cabin in the valley.

"Let go! Let go!" cried Duane, low and sharp. He still held his gun in his right hand, and it began to be hard for him to ward off the woman. His coolness had gone with her shriek for help. "Let go!" he repeated, and he shoved her fiercely.

Suddenly she snatched a rifle off the wall and backed away, her strong hands fumbling at the lever. As she jerked it down, throwing a shell into the chamber and cocking the weapon, Duane leaped upon her. He struck up the rifle as it went off, the powder burning his face.

"Jennie, run out! Get on a horse!" he said, still low and sharp. Jennie flashed out the door.

With an iron grasp Duane held to the rifle-barrel. He had grasped it with his left hand, and he gave such a powerful pull that he swung the woman off her feet. But he could not loose her grip on the gun. She was as strong as he.

"Kate! Let go!" He tried to intimidate her. She did not see his gun thrust in her face, or reason had given way to such an extent to passion that she did not care. She cursed. Her husband had used the same curses, and from her lips they seemed strange, unsexed, more deadly.

Like a tigress she fought him. Her face no longer resembled a woman's. The evil of that outlaw life, the wildness and rage, the meaning to kill was, even in such a moment, terribly impressed upon Duane.

He heard a cry from outside—a man's cry, hoarse and alarming. It made him think of loss of time. This demon of a woman might yet lose his plan.

"Let go!" he whispered and felt his lips stiff. In the grimness of that instant he relaxed his hold on the rifle barrel.

With a sudden, redoubled effort, irresistible strength, she wrenched the rifle down and discharged it. Duane felt a blow—a shock—then a burning agony tearing through his breast. He staggered backward, almost falling. The woman's strong hands, awkward for passion, again fumbled at the trigger of the gun.

He caught the rifle-barrel again, this time in his right hand, and pulled. She stepped over a chair and reached down.

Duane leaped back, whirled. Division of the door in the porch. The sharp crackling of a gun bullet hit him in the ear. Jennie leading to the bridge of her big horse.

Neither out astride the other and he had a Colt leveled, and he was firing upon the lane. Then came a single shot, heavier, and Euchre's ceased. He fell from the horse.

A swiftly shifted gaze showed to Duane a man coming down the lane. Chess Alloway! His gun was smoking. He broke into a run. Then, in an instant he saw Duane, tried to check his pace as he swung up his arm. But that slight pause was fatal.

Duane shot, and Alloway was falling when his gun went off. His bullet whistled close to Duane and thudded into the cabin.

Duane bounded down to the horses. Jennie was trying to hold the plunging bay. Euchre lay flat on his back, dead, a bullet hole in his shirt, his face set hard, and his hands twisted around gun and bridle.

and broken Rim-Rock. As they began to climb Duane looked back. No pursuers were in sight.

"Jennie, we're going to get away!" he cried, exultation for her in his voice.

She was gazing, horror stricken, at his breast as, in turning to look back, he faced her.

"Oh, Duane, your shirt's all bloody!" she faltered, pointing with trembling finger.

With her words Duane became aware of two things—the hand he instinctively placed to his breast held his gun—and he had sustained a terrible wound.

He had been shot through the breast far enough down to give him grave apprehension for his life. Little pain attended the injury, and no sense of weakness yet. The clean-cut bullet hole bled freely both at its entrance and where it came out, but with no signs of hemorrhage. He did not bleed at the mouth; however, he began to cough up a reddish tinged foam.

Jennie, with pale face and mute lips, looked at him.

"I'm badly hurt, Jennie," he said; "but I guess I'll stick it out."

"The woman—did she shoot you?" "Yes. She was a devil. Euchre told me to look out for her. I wasn't ered the girl quick enough."

"My God, isn't he right?" "You didn't have to—to—shiv."

Santa Says

—he's establishing headquarters this Christmas at this store, and already we have received a big lot of brand new Toys—direct from Toyland—that will thrill the hearts of the little ones, and we are anxious to have the children and grown ups come in and see the wonderful array that we are showing—even the grown-ups will find it a difficult task to keep from wanting to play with them. There are mechanical toys of many kinds—toys for the little tots and the bigger ones—hundreds of different toys.

—And, lest you forget, we have a wide variety of practical gifts for Father, Mother, Sister or Brother, and we'll be glad to assist you in solving the perplexing problem of what to give.

For a Family Gift, nothing could compare with a Radio, and we have three of the best known and universally approved lines—the Shamrock, Crossley and Kolster. For real pleasure and entertainment nothing compares with the Radio.

HEARD & SMITH

7-B Class

Well we lived through exams and are hoping for a good grade on our card. However, most of us are just "hoping."

... ..

Last week we had an English program with 7-A as our guests and we are happy to report that it went off nicely.

... ..

We all feel as if we had been out of school for months after the Thanksgiving holidays. Everyone reports a big time.

Our classmate, Johnny Peyson, who is confined to the Knox City hospital, is doing much better and we hope he will be with us before the year is over, as he is a splendid pupil.

Last week we had Brother Albertson with us for a while. We hope he will be with us again soon.

In a play last week Edward Burns was a U. S. Army Major, which role he fitted perfectly, as he certainly is the major nuisance around here.

What's the world coming to anyway? Monday morning we thought we had a new flapper teacher, but it was only Mrs. Mann with a new permanent. Isn't it terrible?

Sophomores

The Sophomores began the festivities of the past few days with a party on Wednesday evening chaperoned by Mrs. J. C. Campbell. The class proclaims Opal and Madeline heroines of the night for preparing hot chocolate and sandwiches, and for directing the games.

Even though the Thanksgiving atmosphere is lighter we want you to read this original poem written in our class:

My Turkey Dinner

On a road one bright autumn day,
I met a turkey who was coming my way.
He said "Hello," and in my reply,
"You look to me like you would make a nice pie."

I grabbed him by the legs and gave him a flap.
And you ought to have heard him gobble when his head hit a rack.
He gave a big kick and that was his last.
The poor old turkey had forgot the happenings of the past.

When I got him home, I laid him on a rack,
Mother came running with the water very hot,
We dressed the old turkey and put him in the stove,
I will bet it felt good for the old turkey was cold.

Hours passed by and you could smell the perfume,
And the joy of it all, he was cooking in my room,
The old turkey cooked for two hours at the least,
And all was cooked done but the feet.

Then came a yell, with Mother's head through the door:
"Rex! If you don't come to dinner I will throw the turkey on the floor."

I came to the table all smiling and sweet,
And of course I had to eat the old turkey's feet.

Now let me warn you when eating turkey dinner—
You had better be fast and be the beginner,
For there before you will lay the old turkey at rest.

PRACTISE PRACTICAL GIVING

—There are only 15 more shopping days until Christmas, and we want to urge that you do your shopping before the last-minute rush.

—Our large stock offers for too many items to list, but may we suggest a few that we believe should appeal to those who want something practical, for instance, there's——Atwater Kent Radios, electric or battery type, $49.00 to $165.00.

—Brunswicks, $25.00 to $150.

—Dresser Sets, $5.00 to $25.00

—Toilet Sets, Billfold Sets, Watches, Rings, and Jewelry of all kinds.

Chan's Chatter

Athletic news, during this transition period from football to basketball, is very scarce—but "it won't be long now."

Couch Palmer and his cage squad started training in earnest last week. The break, caused by the holidays, didn't allow them to get much practice last week, but from now on it will be one long continuous grind.

Since the Moguls did not have a game Thanksgiving several players, the coach, and some of the local fans journeyed to various places to witness the fadeout of ye old 1928 grid-iron season.

Mr. Palmer, Dr. Roberts and Harvey Lee accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Farrington to Austin to see the Texas-A. and M. game. Joe and Frank went to Lamesa to see the Big Spring-Lamesa game. Earl, Paul and Virgil went to Weatherford to see that city and Mineral Wells settle a district championship race. Many others went to Knox City, Seymour and Megargel.

IT IS ALL OVER

Thanksgiving has come and gone, and everyone had lots to eat. We are sure that each student and teacher of our school observed the day of Thanksgiving as it should have been observed and did his part toward killing the good eats that come on this day. These holidays will not be forgotten and we will be glad when the time comes again. Now let's get down to work and make up for the time lost in school. Forget the many football games, how good the turkey was, and the many good times you had during these holidays.

Many teachers and students were out of town during the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Kunkel visited in Megargel during these few days.

Thanksgiving

—On Thanksgiving Day laughing and talking very gay. With mother and father and brother Jo, To Grandmother's farm we go.

The farm was bright on Thanksgiving morn,
With large hay ricks and piles of corn;
Apples and nuts in the cellar lay,
This farm is a pleasant place to stay.

With apples and pumpkin pie so nice,
And cranberry sauce and pudding of rice;
The turkey was cooked and was almost brown,
While I watched grandmother pour the gravy around.

—FRANCES ATKEISON.

The holidays are over, and the Freshmen feel like they have had "play" long enough and are now ready to get down to real work.

Better Schools

Increased expenditure on public education in the United States seems to be having effect.

Figures just released by the Department of the Interior show that the percentage of pupils in public schools is steadily increasing.

Munday High enrolled 151 students last year and 170 students this year. That is quite an increase.

At present 92 per cent of the elementary school pupils are in public schools, while a generation ago the percentage was only 89. 91 per cent of the secondary school pupils are in public schools; a generation ago the percentage was only 60.

These figures are significant. The people are demanding greater facilities for education and are willing to be taxed to get them. The man who wants his son to have the best education possible no longer has to send him to a privately owned school.

Seniors

The Seniors are feeling rather playful after the Thanksgiving holidays, even if we do feel guilty of cruelty to our stomachs. Who can blame us? They are punished only twice a year.

The Senior English class had to write poetry last week about Thanksgiving. This is the first time we ever knew there were any real poets (that is, except leg) in the class, but we soon discovered it. The strange thing about it was that Thanksgiving seemed to inspire nothing but our appetites.

... ..

Well folks, we expect to receive our report cards this week (pray for us). Earl says that if he doesn't flunk in Civics, English, Typing and Physics he thinks he can pass the course.

If you will notice, other students besides Freshmen are carrying books. That simply means that even Seniors have to "stomp to conquer."

This seems to be the Seniors' motto: "Always put off your work till the Sabbath and take that as a day of rest."

... ..

Thought for today: Don't cry over spilled milk. The cow gave all she had without a whimper.

... ..

Many Seniors took advantage of the Thanksgiving holidays by leaving town. Among these were Thelma Newsom, Earl Pruitt, Virgil Craig, Joe Aycock, Frank Greer, Elton Busby, W. B. Miller, Clovis Stevens, and Myrl Lowe. The report wonderful times—and things to eat.

7-A Class

The 7-A class is glad to welcome another new pupil this morning. Her name is Ranna Lee Moore. We hope she will enjoy working with us during the ensuing year.

BRAND NEW PONTIAC IS COMING!

IN KEEPING with its policy of progress, Oakland has for months been working on a new Pontiac Six. It is more than a refinement of its famous predecessors. It is essentially a brand new car from beginning to end.

Details will be announced later. But this much can be said now. This new Pontiac will represent an even greater innovation today than the first Pontiac represented in 1926! Without departing from the low-price field, it will bring to this field finer elements of style, performance and luxury never before provided in a car so inexpensive to buy!

What further fear of danger can there be? Beauty, which captures all things set me free. —Dryden.

TO WASH OR NOT TO WASH
If I were to be asked what constitutes a beautiful skin, I should answer instantly—a healthy one. Health is a primary law of beauty, and no skin can be healthy unless it is hygienically clean. So the first and universally important rule is—Regular and Thorough Cleansing.

It simply isn't possible to gauge the number of letters that pour in from time to time, asking me for an expert opinion on the subject of washing the face. Women seem to be swayed so easily from the good, sane, common-sense ways by sensational advertising or incorrect and inexpert opinions.

To settle all questions of washing once and for all, let me say that in the thirty-odd years during which I have acted as confidant and advisor to some of the most beautiful women in the world, I have not come across one dozen instances where the skin was so fragile it would be injured by correct washing. Mind you—I say correct washing.

The use of a harsh or alkaline soap will ruin any skin, eventually. It is only a question of time as to when the protesting tissues will rebel. Complexion soap, however, is made of the finest oils, and there is one kind in particular which is based on that ancient beautifier, the blended whites of fresh eggs. Such soaps, specially created and carefully perfected, will prove of the greatest value to even the finest skin.

In dealing with an excessively oily skin or one marred by blackheads, whiteheads and pimples, the use of a scientifically compounded face wash, either a good stimulating blackhead and open pore paste, which incidentally is excellent for refining large pores, or special beauty grains which, through their content and consistency, get right down into the pores, stimulating and cleansing them.

By all means I advise you to wash—but use discretion in your selection of a washing agent. And next week I'll tell you about the cold cream method of cleansing.

cup citron, all cut fine. Dissolve a package of lemon-flavored gelatin in a pint of boiling water and while still hot add the mixed fruits and 1-4 teaspoon of cloves, 1-2 teaspoon of cinnamon and salt to taste. Mold and serve with whipped cream.

Delicious Creole Sauce
Chop finely a half green pepper and a small onion and soften in four tablespoons of bacon or ham fat. Add a cup of thick tomato puree, season highly with salt and tobacco, bring to a boil and add 1 tablespoon quick cooking tapioca. Cook until rich and creamy, if a heavier sauce is desired add an additional half teaspoon of the tapioca.

When Whipping Cream
The best utensil for whipping cream is the double boiler.
Put ice or cold water in the lower saucepan and whip the cream in the upper section. The cold water hastens the whipping consistently and the high, straight sides of the pan prevent sattering.

Saving Soap
Save bits of soap until you have a pint of chips, then melt them and add a little glycerine or oatmeal for toilet use. Or if you prefer to use them for laundry purposes, add borax or naphtha.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

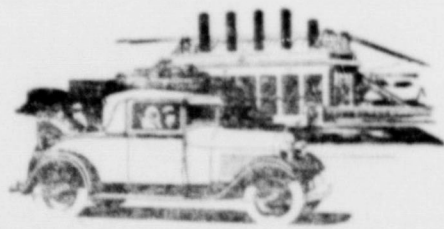

When you're wondering what to give Aunt or Cousin or Sister So-and-So for Christmas, remember that a lovely scrap basket for one's room is always most acceptable.

Attractive metal baskets that are priced from $6 to $15 in the shops can be made at home for $2 or less. Buy the unfinished metal frame, lacquer it or cover it with antique gold or silver paper, mount a lovely old French or flower print, one of the English sport prints or an old map in medallion fashion and shellac the whole to protect it from wear and soiling. You can truly be proud of such a gift.

The utilities of a city are combined in your motor car

YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The entire electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after at very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough checking-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

A MESSAGE TO THE KIDDIES

Santa Claus is getting ready for his annual visit. He is very busy packing away the many presents in his sleigh and is feeding the reindeers extra well for the long journey. He is anxious to know what his many little friends want for Christmas, and has asked that we again publish their letters in the Munday Times this year so that he may know. He reads the Munday Times and will read your letter. Just write your letter now and send it to Santa Claus, in care of the Munday Times. It will be published in our Christmas issue in plenty of time for Santa Claus to read it before starting on his visit to you. Write your letter now so that we will have plenty of time to set them all up in type so that Santa Claus can read them.

They did not stop climbing while Duane tore a scarf and made compresses, which he bound tightly over his wounds. The fresh horses made fast time up the rough trail. From open places Duane looked down.

When they surmounted the steep ascent and stood on top of the Rim-Rock, with no signs of pursuit down the valley, and with the wild, broken fastnesses before them, Duane turned to her and assured her that they now had every chance of escape.

"Jennie, we're going to get away," he said with gladness. "I'll be well in a few days. You don't know how strong I am. I'll hide by day and travel by night. I can get you across the river."

"And then?" she asked.
"We'll find some honest rancher."
"And then?" she persisted.
"Why—" he began slowly. "That's as far as my thought ever got. It was pretty hard, I tell you, to assure myself of so much. It means your safety. You'll tell your story. You'll be sent to some village or town and taken care of until a relative or friend is notified."

"And you?" she inquired in strange voice.

Duane kept silent.
"What will you do?" she went on.
"Jennie, I'll go back to the brakes. I haven't show my face among respectable people. I'm an outlaw."
"You're no criminal," she declared with deep passion.

"Jennie, on this border the little difference between an outlaw and a criminal doesn't count for much."

"You won't go back among those terrible men? You, with your gentleness and sweetness—all that's good about you! Oh, Duane, don't, don't go!"

"I can't go back to the outlaws, at least Elland's band. No, I'll go alone. I'll lose my life, as they say on the border. What else can I do, Jennie?"

"Oh, I don't know. Couldn't you hide? Couldn't you slip out of Texas—go far away?"

"I could never get out of Texas without being arrested. I could hide, but a man must live. Never mind about me, Jennie."

"Duane, if ever I'm safe out of this awful country," she cried, "I'll go to the Governor. I'll tell him your story and tell him mine. I'll get you pardoned."

As he looked down upon her, a slight slender girl with bedraggled dress and disheveled hair, her face pale and quiet, a little stern in sleep, and her long, dark lashes lying on her cheeks, he seemed to see her fragility, her prettiness, her femininity as never before. But for him she might at that very moment have been a broken, ruined girl, lying back in that cabin of the Blanda.

Tomorrow she would be gone along good kind people, with a possibility of finding her relatives. He thanked God for that; nevertheless he felt a pang.

She slept more than half the day. Duane kept guard, always alert, whether he was sitting, standing or walking. The rain pattered steadily on the roof and sometimes came in gusty flurries through the door. The horses were outside in a shed that afforded poor shelter, and they stamped restlessly. Duane kept them saddled and bridled.
