Odd Bits Salvaged
at Random

Two men were driving along leisurely in their vehicles, one going east, the other south.

They were within the speed limits, so we were told, and both were using a reasonable portion of precaution.

But the corner they were approaching was a "blind corner," which wouldn't have been so except for the fact the vacant lot had been neglected and allowed to grow up almost head high in weeds.

The two approached the corner at the same time, and each one saw the other too late to avoid a smashup. The result was two badly damaged cars and two unhurt, but slightly embarrassed drivers.

Then's when Lee A. Parks and Chaney Hobert decided something should be done about those vacant lots growing up in weeds. They make blind corners and traffic hazards.

A good clean-up would do another thing, too—do away with many unsightly places and harboring places for mosquitoes and flies. Might be a good move, a good move.

A little tyke not yet old enough to enter school was swimming in the Munday pool one day last week and attracted quite some attention.

She would dive off the low diving board, come up sniffling and maybe spouting water. But she would splash back to the edge of the pool, head for the diving board, and off she'd go again.

She was so small, Skip Cure, lifeguard, kept a watchful eye on her all the time. Once he had to leave the scene and cautioned someone else to watch her closely. But she was all right. She could swim and wasn't afraid of the water.

That's one of the many good purposes the swimming pool is serving, that of giving children an opportunity to learn to swim under the watchful guidance of those trained for the purpose.

It always seemed a pity to us that older people could not swim, and consequently, were afraid to get in a body of water larger than a bathtub full.

We're not an expert swimmer. We didn't have the trained personnel to watch over us. Sometimes we didn't even have a swimmer to watch us, especially if we decided to slip off to the old swimming hole in the creek. But for all practical purposes of safety, we did have two gallon syrup buckets with lids tightly pressed on and one tied onto each end of a short piece of rope—this kept our breathing above water. A jug with stopper well secured was even better than a bucket.

Now we see youngsters using inner tubes, which are a vast improvement over the syrup buckets. But the inner tubes were as rare as the "Dodo" bird them days, and an old wagon tire just wouldn't serve the purpose.

Don't reckon we'd ever seen an inner tube until after we'd mastered, to some extent, the art of swimming. When the older boys learned of our skill, they'd let us go with them on horseback to the larger swimming hole some 2½ miles away. But they didn't want no young'uns along that couldn't swim.

We were nearly always a "casualty" of our swimming exploits, though. Next day, or maybe the next, we'd pop out in clear blisters across the shoulders, usually about the size of a quarter.

To add to our agony, we'd usually get into a quarrel or fight and be subjected to a licking before Dad or Mom found out about the blisters.

Shucks, we made a mistake last week. The M. H. S. homecoming is on Saturday and Sunday, not Friday and Saturday.

ORB COFFMANS HAVE BRAND NEW GRANDSON

"Brother Editor," he said as we answered the long-distance phone call, "this is Orb Coffman of Route 1, Goree, and I want you to know I have a red-headed grandson! I'll bring you a cigar later."

"How much did he weigh?" we asked, and we heard him ask, "How much did he weigh, Mama?" Talk about excited! The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Davis of Lubbock, and he arrived Saturday morning. He weighed about seven pounds," and has been named Dan Robert, Mrs. Davis is the former Mildred Coffman of Goree.

He's not the first grandchild for the Orb Coffmans—their son, Jack, has two children—but, by cracky, he's the first grandson!

Second Polio Shots To Be Given To Area Children With Parents Consent

The Salk polio vaccine for the second shots for Knox County's first and second graders—those who received their first shots in April—has been received, according to Dr. D. C. Elland, county health officer.

Dr. Elland said he had been in communication by telephone with experts in Austin, Dallas, Abilene and Wichita Falls, and that the opinion of these men has been that it was safe and important to give the second shots at this time. The program for the second inoculations is being started in Abilene and Dallas this week, and probably in other areas.

Dr. Elland quoted the experts as being in agreement that there is less danger in taking the second shot at this time than there would be in having paralytic polio without the shot. The experts agree that no first shot should be given during the season when polio is prevalent. All agree that later in the year, when the disease is not prevalent, the three shots should be given to all children as soon as the Salk vaccine is available.

It is recommended by the county health officer that each parent discuss the situation with his own physician before de-

THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE

Human nature being what it is, people will complain about paying a comparatively modest sum for something they don't enjoy but must have—and will cheerfully spend much more for something they want, but don't urgently need.

The cost of medical care is certainly a fine case in point. At regular intervals, we hear bitter criticism of the bills charged by doctors and hospitals and pharmacists. An uninformed person might conclude that these costs are one of the very biggest budget problems in the life of the average person.

Well, it just isn't so—as a brief pictorial chart published in the June issue of Medical Economics, based on Department of Commerce estimates, proves.

Each year we spend $1,600,000,000 for drugs—and $2,600,000,000 for items involved in personal care, such as hairlotions and toilet waters.

Each year we spend $2,600,000,000 in hospitals—and nearly twice as much, $5,300,000,000 for tobacco.

Each year we spend $2,800,000,000 for physicians' services—and well over three times as much, $8,800,000,000 on alcoholic drinks.

Each year we spend $2,900,000,000 for health care other than that mentioned above—and over four times as much, $11,900,000,000 on recreation.

The fact that we have more fun smoking or drinking or playing games than in visiting the doctor shouldn't be allowed to warp our attitude toward the facts.

IT CAN BE DONE

Writing in the American Magazine, Senator Byrd had this to say about federal spending: "Sometimes you may get discouraged feeling that forces are now loose in the growth of the federal octopus that are beyond the power of mere man to halt."

"I say they can be halted, and reversed. . . . But I might as well warn that it will be done only if you, the taxpayers, make your sentiments known this month and next. Make them known to friends. And make them known to elected officials. You can be more powerful than you realize. Elected officials generally are eager to do what they feel the public wants. The trouble is that the only 'public' they hear from consists of the 'gimme' groups which camp in their ante-rooms."

If we can't balance the budget in a time of booming business and enormous tax collections, when can it be balanced?

AN EDITOR LOOKS AT BIGNESS

Thomas J. Anderson, publisher of Farm and Ranch magazine, recently had something to say about the big-business versus little-business controversy. He observed, "We don't think you have to be on one side or the other. We don't even think the small and the big are necessarily business enemies. There's a place for both. This country needs both."

Then Mr. Anderson used chain stores, which have come in for plenty of criticism at times, as an example of growth. He said: "The chains got where they are because they're good—not bad. . . . The way for the small merchant to keep up is not to penalize the chains, but to clean up his stores, make his displays attractive, and get the most out of the home-owned, home-folks, personal service approach. Many small businesses fail because they deserve to fail, in their dark, dirty, and inefficient stores."

It is obvious that the old idea that continued development of chain merchandising meant the death of independent merchandising was false. The chains had no desire to destroy the independents—and, even if they had, they lacked the capability of doing it. For thousands upon thousands of independent merchants looked the competition in the eye and met it successfully. They used their own attractions and advantages to the full. They took leaves from the chains' book and adapted them to their operations. The proportion of total retail business done by chains and independents has varied but little over the years.

Yes, there's a place for both big business and little business. And, because of our free competitive system, there's plenty of opportunity for the little business to become big.

KOREA LEARNS A LESSON

It seems to be a hard and fast rule, applicable the world around, that government-in-business means waste and inefficiency.

Finance Minister Yi Chung Chae of Korea recently said "We have reached the conclusion the efficiency of government-controlled enterprises is far below that of private enterprise." In view of this, he added, "the government gradually will sell its holdings to private business."

In our own country, the exhaustive Hoover Commission reports have shown that government-owned businesses, for the most part, are not only enormously wasteful of the taxpayers' money, but aren't needed. Korea's new policy could be followed profitably here.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

SAFETY FIRST

Millions of Americans now living will die in an accident if the present rate continues. We are appalled by the tens of thousands that are being killed each year in traffic accidents alone. May we urge everyone to practice "safety first."

We would like to apply this principle to the realm of religious values too. Jesus said, "Not every one who says to me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father who is in heaven", (Matt. 7:21).

Most of the differences in matters of religion could be solved if we would all agree to test each item of our faith and practice by the word of Christ. He said, "All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and in earth. . . ." (Matt. 28:18). He is the sole head of the church he built and each member is directly responsible to him. He has given us his expressed will to guide us in the New Testament. Let us hear him.

Often we are tempted to accept some man's opinion of what is right instead of going to the word of Christ. The opinion of one or several men is often solidified in a creed or rule of faith which is bound upon succeeding generations. Many items may be true because they meet the test of God's word, but other items do not meet the test. Why take a chance with your life? Why follow any fallible man when you can follow the infallible Lord Jesus Christ? Why accept the opinions of mere men when you can base your faith upon the word of God? "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil" (1 Thess. 5:21-22).

We urge you to compare the opinions or creeds of men with the infallible word of God. The Bible is all you need in matters of faith. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto ALL GOOD WORK" (2 Tim. 3:16-17).

Why take a chance with the most valuable thing in the world, your soul? Practice safety-first on the highway and on the road of life. "For what shall a man be profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Bkard

This week the President and the other leaders of the Western Powers will meet in Geneva with the Communist Rulers. Every-one is hopeful that out of this meeting will come some solution to relieve the tension in the world and to lead the way to an early permanent peace; however, until the sincerity of the Soviets is proven over a period of years, it is imperative that we in this country maintain our stand and not allow ourselves to be lulled into a feeling of false security. Even though all indications are that the Russian rulers would like to bring the cold war to an end there has been little evidence of any real desire on their part to deviate from their program of world conquest. Only until such time as they have demonstrated beyond any shadow of a doubt that they are no longer dedicated to their eventual plan to rule the world can we afford to relax for one minute.

No President in our history has gone to an important conference with greater support than that which President Eisenhower has in going to Geneva. The leaders as well as the rank and file of both political parties in the Congress have offered their fullest cooperation. This demonstrates without question the great desire of all the American people to find some peaceful solution to the troublesome international problems.

It now looks like the adjournment date of this Congress will be some time early in August rather than late in July as was first predicted. The reason is that there are several important pieces of legislation yet to be considered.

Even though all tax relief problems have been turned down this year, it now seems highly probable that next year will see some tax relief. There is no question in my mind that a great many of our taxes have reached the point of diminishing return where actually more money would have been returned to the Government if these taxes were reduced.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Marshall and children, David and Anita, and Mr. W. T. Zimmerman, all of Wichita Falls.

THE MUNDAY TIMES

"High finance" is just so much Greek to me. Back in the so-called "good old days", there was a man who invested $2,000 and, by going through a set of manipulations, wound up with control of a holding company which controlled corporations worth millions of dollars.

er, who helped to conduct the negotiations, about a deal whereby a man bought out an oil company by borrowing the money from the bank and assigning the bank the production from the wells until loan and interest were paid off, which it was estimated would take eight or nine years, and then he would own around a hundred oil wells absolutely free.

Now that's the kind of deal I'd like to get in on.

Even more clever was a maneuver—this was also in Texas—whereby a man borrowed $200,000 and used it to buy controlling interest in a corporation, put himself in as president and his friends in as directors, then the board of directors authorized the company to loan him $200,000 and he paid off the loan and so was in control of a company without having put up a cent of his own money. (At least those are what the other side alleged, in a lawsuit, to be the facts.)

Have you ever turned in a fire alarm? I have—and it is a bit of a thrill to do so and wait for the fire engine to come dashing up. It didn't take long to get there; though, if it had been my property on fire, it probably would have seemed like half an hour.

It was back about 1922 when I was editor of the Eastland Daily Oil Belt News. You didn't have to go looking for news in those days; it would happen all around you, things were so stormy in those wild oil times. A man was trying to start an old truck which was parked across the street from the newspaper office and the truck caught on fire. I waited till it was reasonably certain he would not be able to put it out and then I turned in the alarm.

The firemen quickly put out the blaze. I felt somewhat of a hero, having been instrumental in saving a truck worth fully $100.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Regrets That People Feel Called On To Watch President Eisenhower When He Fishes

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses fishing this week, a matter he apparently works at pretty hard.

Dear editor: There are a lot of differences between the job of being President of the United States and running this Johnson grass farm out here, for example my work is never interrupted by a press conference and I'm not required to travel half-way around the world to argue with a bunch of Russians, and on the other hand the President isn't worried by Johnson grass on the White House lawn, flat tires on his tractor, sagging gates, and cows that jump fences, but there's one phase of the President's job where I have him beat.

It's fishing. I was reading in a newspaper last night about a recent fishing trip President Eisenhower went on. He was up in Colorado fishing for mountain trout and when he landed five in the first twenty-five minutes of fishing, "delighted spectators cut loose with a loud cheer," the article reported.

That's what I'm talking about. If there's anything a man does not want, it's a crowd watching him fish. It's a violation of the Constitutional right of an individual to be let alone.

Fishing with a lot of people staring at you and cheering when you get a bite is about like reading with somebody looking over your shoulder, and personally I wouldn't stand for it.

I wouldn't even like having a crowd standing across the road watching me every time I came out of the house, but I guess that's part of the job of being President, but to have a crowd turn up on a creek bank when I settled down to some serious fishing, that's going too far. Fishing in public is about like trying to read a newspaper under a stop-light at a busy intersection in town on Saturday. What a man catches, whether he catches anything or not, how big they are, how long it takes him to do it, are inner things not to be exposed to the stares of strangers and very few friends, and if you have to do it to be President, I ain't running. Of course, I haven't been mentioned as a nominee, either.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Showers and Rain Slow Summer Cattle Runs

FORT WORTH—The smallest Monday offerings of cattle and sheep since early in the year appeared at Fort Worth this week, with less than 40% of the normal numbers of cattle and calves on hand. The reason was some good showers and good rains in many parts of the territory.

The situation enabled salesmen to press for and get better prices on all cattle and sheep.

Cows, slaughter calves and most stockers were 50 cents higher and many calves tacked on 50 cents to $1 per hundred advances. Fat cattle also sold better, and two loads of steers topped at $23.25, the best price in about 90 days here for the class. Bulls were stronger.

Comparative prices showed: Slaughter steers and yearlings $10-$23.25; slaughter cows $6.50-$12.50; bulls $10-$14.50; slaughter calves $9-$19; stocker steer calves $15-$20.50; stocker steer yearlings $14-$19.50; replacement cows $12 down.

Feeder Calf Sales Dates Are Set For Fall

The Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association has announced a Fall feeder calf show and sale to be held at the Fort Worth market for September 9. Their sale of July 8 was highly successful with 978 calves sold for an average of over $102 per head. Gross was $99,812.44.

The Texas Hereford Association has announced two Fall feeder calf shows and sales to be held at Fort Worth. First one will be September 6. The second will be October 21.

Their first sale was an outstanding success with 1,670 calves sold for a gross of $153,628.72. Nearly a $92 average. Market observers reported the reason for the higher average on Angus calves was due to the improved market in the interval between them and that fewer small calves and plain kinds were entered among the blacks.

Top Hereford feeder calves scored $24 and $24.25, and top Angus calves scored $24 to $25.

Hog Prices Stagger As Big Runs, Heat Hurt Trade

Offerings of hogs around the country continues to be much heavier than normal for the season and added pressure on prices was noted at the start this week. Top hogs ranged all the way from $17.25 up to $18, with $17.50 the most popular price at Fort Worth Monday.

Less desirable butchers sold from $16 to $17. Sows sold mostly from $10 to $15, some weights of 600 pounds and up sold around $8 to $10.

New Swine Regulations Announced By Government

Hogs that have ever been fed raw garbage will be subject to strict regulation in interstate shipment after the first of the year. Meat from raw garbage fed hogs also will be limited in movement.

Duval Davidson told this writer today that 38 states now have laws on the books requiring garbage fed to swine to be cooked. Texas has such a law.

However, the Legislature adjourned without providing extra funds to enforce the law. The same thing happened two years ago.

Lambs and Yearlings Sell Better, Lambs $1 Higher

Slaughter Spring lambs were 50 cents to $1 higher at Fort Worth, and more lenient sorting considered some medium and lower grades were $2 above the low close of last week. Choice lambs sold readily at $17 to $18, with a top load from Sanderson weighing 84 pounds at $20 per hundred. Feeders sold around $13.50 down. Old crop yearlings lambs drew $8 to $14. Old ewes $4 to $5, some breeders $5 to $9 and younger ewes quoted well above that. Old bucks $3 to $4. Old wethers $7 to $10.50.

Wool and Mohair Industry To Be Honored By WTCC

Jimmie Lovell and his good wife visited our Fort Worth office Monday and he tells me that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce publication "West Texas Today" will honor the wool and mohair industry of Texas soon with a special edition of the magazine. We're looking forward to it. Few people realize what tremendous income wool and mohair provide for the state, along with the revenue from sheep and goats sold for slaughter.

When you really like us

You buy insurance because you're smart — not because you get a kick out of it at the time.

When we deliver an insurance policy, nobody ever says: "Oh boy, what a beautiful policy!"

But when somebody has a fire or a robbery or a lawsuit or a loss of some other kind, and we deliver a check from the insurance company — —THAT is when people really like us. It happens frequently.

Bear with us when we try to get you to carry the insurance you should—but love us when we help you meet your loss. That's all we ask.

REVOLUTIONARY, LOW-COST FERTILIZER IN PROSPECT FOR TEXAS FARMERS

Texas farmers may soon be growing crops on tired, overworked soil by using a revolutionary new fertilizer. If the formula proves successful, it could be produced 80 per cent cheaper than present commercial fertilizers.

Now in experimental stages, the fertilizer is said to be unique in its ability to extract nitrogen from the air and place it in the soil. This would enrich soil vitally, since all crops with the exception of legumes extract nitrogen, essential to plant growth, from the soil.

Much of our land has become practically barren through a vicious cycle of planting and replanting of nitrogen—draining

HOME ACCIDENTS

"Good ol' Gus" Slack bustled around the house making the ice tea and setting out the cold watermelon. "Well, everything's ready," he told his wife, "and it's about time for our friends to get here."

As they sat there waiting for their guests Gus puffed with pride, we are certainly lucky to have so many friends, a nice home, two fine children and money in the bank."

"Good ol' Gus" didn't know that the next day 13 law suits would be filed by his friends who would be hurt that night falling on the floors his wife had so carefully waxed that day, tripping over throw rugs, stretching their necks on his clothesline, plowing a furrow with their noses in the pile of gravel in his unlighted front yard, burning their hair off their heads on defective wiring, slipping vertebrae when the porch rail on which they were leaning gave away or being half-blinded by firecrackers thrown down the stairs by son Ronald, bitten by Rover, and having their legs bruised and broken by getting tangled up in Rover's leash.

Of course, such a case never really happened but law suits have been filed involving each of the above situations. The genial host is sometimes surprised to find that his guests' gratitude is expressed by filing law suits against him for injuries received in his home.

The law is usually more strict about accidents befalling tradesmen and others who enter your premises in the line of duty so to speak—postmen, laundrymen, meter-readers, delivery boys and the like—than it is in the cases of those who enter your home for purely social reasons.

But this does not mean that a homeowner is absolved of all responsibility for injury to his guests. If he knows a dangerous condition exists, he has a duty to correct it and can be held liable for accidents which might happen if he doesn't. For example, in one case a rotted tree branch fell to the sidewalk, injuring a passerby. The court held that the owner was responsible because he knew of the defective condition and should have remedied it.

Businesses as well as homes can suffer serious losses from accidents. A case which happened several years ago will illustrate this point.

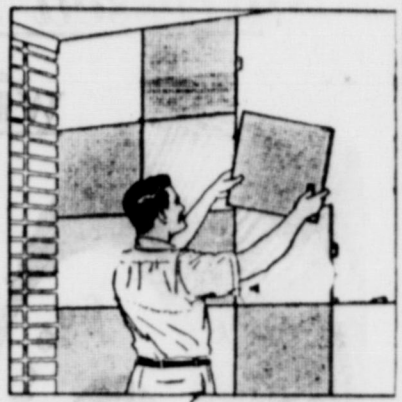

Checkerboard Wall

A CHECKERBOARD pattern, with two colors alternating, is just one of many interesting decorative effects that can be achieved by covering a wall with plastic-finished blocks.

These 16-inch-square Marlite blocks, as well as 16-inch-by-8-foot planks, have unique tongue-and-groove edges and special metal clips for speedy and neat installation. They may be applied directly over old walls and ceilings, and they also are used in new construction.

Ten new "companion colors" developed by color experts and a soft-luster finish make the panels suitable for any room of the house. Four authentic wood grain patterns also are available. With these colors and patterns in both blocks and planks, individual combinations in wide variety are possible.

The durable plastic finish, bonded to a tempered Masonite hardboard by high-heat baking, can be wiped clean with a damp cloth. It never needs refinishing.

Greenthumb entered a hardware store to buy a garden hoe and was struck in the mouth by a golf club being used by Ben Blugun, another customer at the store's invitation. The store had to pay Greenthumb a large amount of damages because Greenthumb had been implicitly invited into the store for the business of making a purchase; the store failed to use ordinary reasonable care and to warn Greenthumb of the danger.

Fortunately, not everyone who falls down the front steps gets up and rushes off to sue his host. However, it pays to remember that failure to use reasonable care to make your home safe against accidents could result in the loss of the savings of a lifetime.

Mrs. H. D. Matthews, Nancy, Jackie and Cheryl, Mrs. L. W. Derrin, Bill and Phillip and Mrs. James Yandell and Jimmy visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. G. C. Brockett, Jr., and family in Midland over the week end. Other guests in the Brockett home were Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Followill, Pamela and Patti of Roswell, N. M. They also visited Bill Matthews and Miss Jo Ann Collier in Pecos before returning home.

Lloyd Haynie of Wichita Falls spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Sr. Don Haynie, also of Wichita Falls, was a Monday guest in the Haynie home.

Miss Patte Patterson is spending several weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Howell, in Plainview.

Donald Decker and Albert Loran were business visitors in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Some people react to the pressure of modern life like a stick of soft pine reacts to a wood rasp.

You probably recall days when an unexpected event, an accident or a brush with the boss, tied your stomach in a knot. You were suffering, the State Health Department says, from one of the more common forms of indigestion: nervous tension and excitement.

The stomach, the experts say, is largely controlled by the involuntary nervous system. You get keyed up, your stomach over-secretes, and you feel the pain.

Actually, the Department points out, there are many directly traceable causes of indigestion. Lack of sleep and exercise, improper diet, and similar artificial conditions can bring it on.

You've heard the old saw about one man's meat being another man's poison? It's literally true. Even healthful and nutritious foods may rub you wrong. They contain organic acids that could upset the balance of your particular stomach.

Your favorite fruit may contain malic-acid, oxalic-acid, or citric acid. One or more of these may give you trouble, causing ungentlemanly or unlady-like belching.

Or the degree of ripeness of a fruit or vegetable may cause fermentation in the stomach, bringing on unpleasant results.

Condiments or strongly flavored foods are other causes of indigestion. They often cause the stomach to secrete too much hydrochloric acid. In normal people the stomach neutralizes what it over-secretes, but people with ulcers suffer painful "indigestion."

Greasy foods are particularly troublesome to people with malfunctioning gall bladders or liver diseases.

Tannic-acid can be found in three of the most commonly used hot drinks. And here's the last straw: Even water, if you drink lots of it, may start your stomach churning and pouring out its digestive juices.

In any case of indigestion, frequently taking baking soda to relieve it is a mistake, health men agree. The temporary relief may cause some sufferers to "play down" symptoms of a serious ailment, thereby causing him to prolong medical attention.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Blacklock and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hannah left last Sunday for a two weeks vacation to various points in Colorado.

Mrs. Clayton Wren and Erwin visited in Ballinger and Lubbock this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brewer received word last Thursday that Mr. Brewer's father was ill and had been carried to the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left for Bowie and remained over Friday, when his father underwent surgery in the Bowie Hospital. Last reports are that he is doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keel and Leona left last Thursday for a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Frazier and James Keel in Baytown.

George Spann left last Monday for Lubbock where he will attend the second semester at Texas Tech Summer School.
