

Kracker Krumb's

Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

This should "squash" most any squash story.

k-k
We returned home late Saturday after attending the Silver Anniversary Convention of West Texas Press Association in Colorado City. We found on our counter a long, light green thing that seemed to be of the vegetable variety but the like of which we had never seen before. We were unable to identify it, but decided it certainly wouldn't run away during the week end and left it where we'd found it.

k-k
Monday morning we were told that C. A. Steinreid had brought the thing in with the information that it was a squash. It measured 38 inches in length and about 9 inches around at its largest point.

k-k
Enough squash to last a good sized family for some time, even if they like squash. Mr. Steinreid offered the information that he had one at home that was even longer.

k-k
Back to the press convention, the Silver Anniversary meeting seemed to have made somewhat of a record in attendance. The fact that the newsmen were going back to Colorado City, the place where WTPA was born in 1926 and that the meeting was honoring all past presidents might have had something to do with attendance.

k-k
One thing that was brought out was that newspapers did not do enough promoting of newspapers. We usually help to promote most everything worthy of promotion in our home towns—some things we're not altogether 100 per cent sold on ourselves, maybe—but they just about called us "failures" when it comes to promoting our own publications.

k-k
So if in the future you find us sorta bragging on our newspaper—like, say, "if your attention is directed away from the radio, or if you're called to the telephone during a TV program, the message is entirely lost to you, but you can always go back and pick up your newspaper where you left off when interrupted, therefore your newspaper must be your most potent advertising medium," etc.—if we get to bragging something like that, just remember we were urged to do so by speakers at the convention.

k-k
Publishers Roy V. Fox and Joe Bell of the Colorado City Record went all out, as did the civic bodies and the city officials themselves in allowing free parking for convention goers at all times, etc., to give us a good meeting, and that they did.

k-k
We were expecting O. C. Harrison of Seymour to come by and go with us. Instead, he came by and we went with him. We had our car all packed, the trunk lid up to receive his luggage when he arrived. "Put your things in our car and let's get going," we says to him. "Why, what for?" he asks, and we told him we had to leave one car and it might as well be his. "Well," he said as he kindly cleared his throat, "we will just go in mine."

k-k
We enjoyed the visit with O. C., both going and returning and we think he enjoyed the visit and relaxation as we did the driving for him. He's one of the past presidents honored at the meeting. O. C. had the courage to ask for and hold the convention in Seymour one time.

k-k
But before we get entirely off the advertising and promotion idea, we'd like to submit the following little item for what it's worth:

k-k
A man who had just gone broke was approached by a friend who asked: "What was the trouble?" "Too much advertising." "Why, Bill, you know that you never spent a dollar on advertising in your life!" "Yeah, but my competitors did."

Mr. and Mrs. James Black and children left Saturday night for a vacation visit with relatives in Fort Worth.

NANCY LANE TELLS OF HER BABY SISTER

I am Nancy Lane and I am 3 1/2 years old and the most exciting thing happened to me. My mommy and daddy, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lane, got me a little baby sister over at the Knox County Hospital last Monday, August 15. She arrived at the hospital at 2:50 a. m. and she weighed 7 pounds and 5 ounces. We named her Rebecca Ann and though I haven't seen her yet my daddy told me she was a pretty little girl and that she and my mother were doing just fine. I'm staying with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nance while my mother is in the hospital and though they are real good to me, I'll be glad when they bring my little sister home.

D. A. Norman, Clarence and Ruby Norman of Sherman, Mrs. Ruth Francis of Frisco, Mrs. Lonnie Ballard and Mrs. Marie Starnes of McKinney visited in the homes of Mr. Norman's nieces, Mrs. Dewie Melton and Mrs. Sidney Winchester, over the week end.

Captain Stephen Harrison of Montgomery, Ala., came in Sunday afternoon for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Harrison, and with his wife and children, who have been visiting her parents in Haskell. He was accompanied home by his brother, Terry Don Harrison, who spent the summer in Montgomery.

REALLY SOMETHING

You may never have seen a drop of crude oil. But your family uses almost 63 barrels of oil a year (each equaling 42 U. S. gallons) in one or another of its 2,000 different forms.

To use the common slang phrase, the job of supplying that oil is really something.

First of all, 13,500 companies are engaged in searching for it in the ground. When promising areas are discovered, test wells are drilled. One may cost as much as $1,000,000 or more—and only one out of nine wells drilled in unproved territory strikes oil and only one in 44 produces it in commercial quantities.

From the producing well, the crude goes to one of the nation's 340-odd refineries. It travels by barge, tankship or pipeline. These refineries are forever trying to improve the quality and to reduce the cost. Their degree of success is indicated by the fact that two gallons of today's gasoline does the work that required three gallons in 1925. Yet the price of the gas—exclusive of taxes over which the industry has no control—is very little more than it was 20 years ago.

Finished with the refinery, oil products start their travels once more, to all parts of the country. Some 2,400 separate companies engage in the business of moving the staggering total of about a third of a billion gallons across the nation every day.

Finally, the oil products reach the market. They are offered to you by some 200,000 service stations, and by other thousands of retail establishments of all kinds.

Yes, getting oil products to you is some job. And the reason it's done so superbly well can be expressed in one word—competition. Competition keeps the oil people on their toes every inch of the way from the oil well to the final seller.

WRONG NOTION

There is a fairly widespread notion that the growth of big business in this country has been made possible by the absorption and destruction of small business.

In 1900 there were 21 independent establishments per 1000 population—half a century later there were 27. And big business needs and supports small business. One of our biggest businesses has over 33,000 suppliers and subcontractors, most of them small. Another buys goods and services from 21,000 independent suppliers.

In some lines big business can do a job best—in others small business is superior. The country has to have both.

LEARNING THE HARD WAY

We have heard considerable about three GIs who decided to stay in Red China following the Korean war but changed their minds after living under communism. They had to be convinced the hard way that dictatorships offer no primrose path to happiness.

Whatever their crimes or failures, they are back in the United States, a country that cherishes freedom, to take such punishment as may be meted out to them, in preference to remaining behind the iron curtain. Their decision may open the eyes of some Americans who have been sympathetic to government ownership of business, and to the relentless extension of the size, power and authority of government in general.

The Ontario, Oregon, Argus-Observer, recently said that if socialism is right in one field of enterprise, it is right in all. "The end result of this," it went on, "would be outright communism, which nearly all Americans oppose in theory but which many seem eager to embrace a step at a time."

No nation can long remain half socialist and half free. A choice must be made.

GRAB BAG TACTICS

A house committee has voted in favor of extensive and costly revisions of the social security law, on an immediate basis. It ignored recommendations by Secretary Hobby and others that the proposals should be given thorough study along with full public hearings.

No matter how one feels about broadening the base of social security and increasing benefits, to be difficult to see how hasty action can be justified. To vote major legislation on a hurry-up basis is to invite all kinds of problems and dangers. The only sound procedure is to take whatever time is needed to study the proposals, let all points of view be heard and considered, weigh the pros and cons, and then vote.

It is reported that there is strong sentiment in the Senate for doing just that. May it prevail—in the interests of the taxpayers, and of the social security beneficiaries now and of the future.

Now that a compulsory social security system, upon which millions of citizens are utterly dependent, has become an established part of our lives, it would be nothing less than criminal to alter it except in a spirit of the highest statesmanship. The integrity of social security is synonymous with the integrity of our money.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

THE CREED OF THE CHURCH

If a church believes any thing it must have a creed. The word creed means "I believe." The creed of the New Testament is Christ. "And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God" (Matt. 16:16); "Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 10:32-33). Also John 20:30-31; Rom. 10:9-10). The creed of the church is complete for all time; it will never need to be revised.

Human authority at best is but the opinions of uninspired men but the scriptures are sufficient to furnish the man of God unto every good work (2 Tim. 2:16-17). Revelation is complete, God has given unto us "all things that pertain unto life and godliness" (2 Pet. 1:3), and we should always "speak as the oracles of God" (1 Pet. 4:11) speak. Holy men of old warned of the danger of going beyond that which has been written (2 Jno. 9; Rev. 22:18-19). The church of Christ proposes to accept what God has said, without addition, without subtraction, and without modification. To do less is to suffer the divine wrath of Him with whom we have to do.

Terms Of Entrance Into The Church

God "added" the saved to the church (Acts 2:47). The idea that one can "join" the church that Jesus built does not exist in the New Testament. Christ never commanded any one to "join" the church; no apostle writer ever referred to anyone "joining the church." The only way membership in the Lord's church can be enjoyed is for the Lord to "add" one to his church. To be added by the Lord is a divine act, but to "join" something is a human act.

Every person in the paostolic age that obeyed the gospel was "added" by the Lord to the church. This is without exception. Since the Lord adds the saved to the church (Acts 2:47), the terms of entrance into the church are simply the conditions upon which the Lord saves. The conditions of pardon are (1) hear the word (Rom. 10:17), (2) believe in Jesus as Lord (Jno. 8:24), (3) repent of sins (2 Pet. 3:9), (4) confess faith in Christ (Matt. 10:32), and (5) be baptized into Christ (Gal. 3:27). When we comply with these conditions upon which the Lord has promised salvation, the Lord adds us to the New Testament church. There is no other entrance therein.

The game starts and you see Irv Noren and Bill Hunter, both of whom used to play for Fort Worth, and Gil McDougald, who came up from Beaumont, and also you are seeing for the first time other whose names and deeds you know: Mickey Mantle, Bob Turley, the fireball pitcher, and Yogi Berra, the catcher, of medium height, thick-set, dark-complexioned, with competence and assurance in every move.

And you see Casey Stengel, the fabulous manager, as he hands the lineup to the umpire. (Casey looks a lot like the late Jakey Atz, skipper of the Fort Worth Cats when they were winning four pennants in the 1920's.)

The sky is blue, the sunshine golden and the great reaches of the stands are filled by nearly 30,000 whose terrific roars of excitement, approval or derision provide a background, like an ancient Greek chorus, for the drama on the field.

You would like to see the home team win but you don't expect that to happen even though, the night before, the A's did win over the Yanks behind the masterful pitching of giant Vic Raschi and the timely hitting of Enos (Country) Slaughter, 31; but, after all, Raschi was once the star of the Yankee staff and, for that matter, Slaughter used to play for New York, too.

And this afternoon the Yankees come along as you anticipated. Bill Hunter's triple with two on and another rally give the visitors a 5-0 lead. Meanwhile Turley has allowed just two singles and only 22 men have faced him in seven innings.

Then in the eighth, the impossible happens! The A's break loose and drive Turley from the mound. The huge reliever, Konstanty, does little better and the home club scores seven runs.

But the Yankees are not through, not by any means. Cerv, pinch-hitter, smashes the ball over the 421-foot centerfield fence, and Howard, another pinch-hitter, knocks one nearly as far—two home runs in succession by pinch-hitters and the score stands 7-7.

And so it remains until the eleventh when Simpson of the A's singles, moves to second on an infield out and beats the throw to the plate after Lopez singles—and Kansas City has defeated the New York Yankees!

Certainly, a game "for the books"—or, at least, for the "column."

By John C. White, Commissioner

THE GOAT GAME: TEXAS' BIG MONEY MAKER

Some of the most interesting and vital work in the Texas Department of Agriculture is accomplished out of the capitol building in Austin and over the various parts of the state. I had such a gratifying experience recently when departmental work took me to Kerrville for a conclave of one of our least recognized but most successful agricultural industries in Texas—the International Angora Goat Show and Auction.

Let me say right here that if you haven't been to a Texas goat auction, you've missed some real excitement. There's nothing more true-Texan than this industry. Goats are a big business in our state. The industry actually originated here, and Texas today raises 95 per cent of the nation's commercial supply.

Why goats? Well, as you may or may not know, mohair—the clipping from the goat's back—is a big money product with a good demand on the market. Mohair is now bringing 85 to 95 cents a pound, somewhat below the peak of a few years ago, but still a real money-maker.

Also, the cost of raising these hollow-horned creatures is relatively low. In the Edwards Plateau and Rio Grande Plain of Southwest Texas where most Texas goats are concentrated, the brush affords ample browsing range. And goats are not averse to crowded conditions. Several can do well on the space required for a single cow.

But back to the Angoras—"queens" of the goat fleet. Two prize Angoras at the Kerrville show brought $1,000 each—a lot of money for a small animal.

Those goat raisers showed me a phase of the livestock industry which I had thought was gone forever—real old time stock trading. I stood around and watched with amazement as they swapped their animals just like youngsters trade marbles.

There were some three or four thousand people at the show, and all of them swelling with enthusiasm over their business. And well they might be! Because goat raisers, socially placed at the bottom of the livestock scale, are economically at the top alongside the sheep industry. The glamorous (and of course vital) cattle industry isn't paying off as well these days. A lot of cattle raisers are running sheep and goats to make up money losses in cattle.

And besides that, the queen of the industry, "Miss Angora" Nancy Hunt of Leakey is proof enough the goat raisers know what they're about. Personally, I think the live-

Foreign Youth Visit Texas For Exchange Program

Ramazan Atil from Adana, Turkey, a 1955 International Farm Youth Exchange, has been in Texas since late July. He is in Ochiltree county where he will live and work with farm families until early October. Cecil Regier, a former Ochiltree county 4-H member, is an outgoing IFY Exchangee from the United States and is spending his time in two countries, Lebanon and Iran.

Atil is 26 years of age; has studied law at Istanbul University for two years but plans to continue farming. He has lived on a 3,700 acre farm all of his life and should find a lot of crops in his new Texas home familiar. For wheat, barley and oats are major crops on his home farm. Tractors will not be new for Atil as he used on the farm in Turkey.

Besides his parents he has three brothers and three sisters. He is particularly interested in getting information on agricultural extension work and all phases of 4-H demonstration work.

Two other incoming exchangees from Europe will visit briefly in Texas from August 11-12. They are Misses Gatske Zeinstra from the Netherlands and Anna Lena Nensen from Sweden. They will visit Texas A. and M. College on August 12.

Miss Zeinstra is a housekeeping assistant in her native land and has lived on a 120 acre dairy farm. She is especially interested in organizations for young people.

Miss Nensen is a local newspaper reporter in Sweden. She grew up on a 25 acre diversified farm and has served as an instructor in the Swedish 4-H Club organization. Her special interests are journalism, music and literature.

The IFYE program is sponsored by the National 4-H Foundation and the Agricultural Extension Service with cooperation from many local courses. The first delegates were exchanged in 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beauchamp and daughter of Abilene were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Hardy and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hardy over the week end.

New Hook in Spring End
WHEN a new hook is needed on the end of a coil spring, the simplest method is to place the spring on the corner of a vise or anvil and use a hammer.

This procedure is far easier than using a pliers.
Place the last coil of the spring over the corner and hammer it at right angles to the axis of the spring. While hammering, move the spring slightly to avoid cutting the wire on the edge of the vise jaw.

Forecast: Continued Cool

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

HABEAS CORPUS—CORPUS DELICTI

Two legal phrases which are probably more misunderstood and misused by laymen than any other are "habeas corpus" and "corpus delicti."

The words habeas corpus are Latin for "you have the body". They are commonly used in the legal profession to describe a writ or order signed by the judge directed to the sheriff or jailer holding a prisoner or to any person who is physically detaining another, and commanding him to produce the body (alive) of the prisoner (or person detained) before the judge. The purpose of such an order is to allow the judge to determine whether the prisoner is being held lawfully or whether he should be set free.

The writ of habeas corpus prevents law enforcement officers from abusing the constitutional right of personal liberty and has been a jealously guarded privilege.

Speaking technically in a legal sense, corpus delicti is that which must be proved in every criminal case. Such proof must show that an unlawful act has been committed and that it has been committed by a human agency. The mere finding of a dead body or a burning building does not mean that there is murder on the one hand or arson on the other. To prove murder, it must be shown that the death was unlawfully caused by a human agency. Contrary to popular belief murder can be proved even though the body can't be found. In the case of the burning building, it must be shown that the building was unlawfully set on fire by a human agency.

To sum up then, habeas corpus is a writ designed to prevent the unlawful detention or imprisonment of any person. Corpus delicti, on the other hand, literally means the body of the crime, or, in general, the substance of crime.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Miss Ann Elliott, who is attending Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Elliott.

Four Judges Named By Hereford Association

FORT WORTH—Four of the six judges for the Hereford Feeder calf show to be held at the market at Fort Worth September 16 have been named. One of them, Kirk Edwards, of Henrietta in Clay County, showed the champion load of feeders at the Denver show a few years ago.

Others who have accepted bids to judge the show were on hand for the first show at the market in June, and the speed with which these ranchmen sorted out the winners is still the talk of the cattle trade at Fort Worth. Numerous cattlemen told this writer the judges at that event did the best job they ever saw. We agree.

With six divisions, there will be six judges. Others already named include Jack Idol, bossman of the League Ranches, Benjamin in Knox County; Ferd Slocum, Cresson Rancher, whose country lies near where Johnson, Tarrant and Parker Counties corner together, and Quincy Corbett, Jr., of Breckenridge in Stephens County, youthful rancher whose father the late Quincy Corbett, Sr., was one of Texas' most prominent cattlemen.

Secretary Henry Elder reports others who received bids have not been heard from, but says that all will be ranchmen of long experience. Much interest in the show and sale is being exhibited by cattle men all over the Southing the summer working in Colorado.

Miss Willa Zell Kilgore of Benjamin is spending this week with Nanette Roberts.

Mrs. Woody Roberts and children and Mrs. Charlie Edwards and children were visitors in Spur last Monday.

Mrs. Annie Edwards and Mrs. Charlie Edwards and children spent last Thursday in Throckmorton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Jetton and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Neighbors and Nail have returned from a trip to Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Caldwell have received word of the arrival of a new great grandson, Robert A. Graham, Jr., who was born August 8 and weighed seven pounds, nine and one-half ounces. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Graham, Sr., of San Antonio.

west and many out-of-state consignments are expected in the show and sale.

Fat Cows Slow; Other Cattle Opened Steady

Packers again showed little liking for the fat cows at Fort Worth Monday, but boning types of cattle were strong, including canner and cutter cows. Bulls held steady. Slaughter calves and stocker and feeder cattle and calves ruled steady.

Comparative prices: Medium to good slaughter steers and yearlings $16-20; choice quotable to $22-23. Commoner kinds $10-15. Fat cows $10.50-12; canners and cutters $7-10.50. Bulls $10-13.75; slaughter calves good and choice $16-19; common and medium $12-15; culls $9-11. Stocker steer calves $20.50 down; steer yearlings $8.50 down; stocker cows $8-11.

Unprecedented Demand For Feeder Animals Looms

Bumper crops of feed being produced in most sections of the country portend heavy livestock feeding operations in the next few months. Concentration will be on hogs and cattle, with heavy poultry operations likely also.

USDA officials in Washington are reported highly concerned over the whole price support program. Seems that last year only about 35 per cent of the corn crop went into the program. About the same figure appears destined to be sealed this year.

They say that at least 45 to 50 per cent should be in the program, or it cannot work. It is a case of the tail trying to wag the dog when such a small per cent of the producers cooperate in the loan and support program.

Situation is aggravated by the huge barley, oats, grain sorghum crops. Soy beans in excessive supply, the last estimate on cotton indicated more protein there than anticipated.

Professional feeders, who buy everything are expected to slow operations if the situation remains the same. However, farmers with feed stuffs are expected to market it as meat or poultry.

Corn Belt reports oats selling at 50c, and predicts $1 or cheaper corn in liberal supply. Grain sorghums are now selling around $1.50, may go lower. We heard about 500 tons laid down near Fort Worth at $1.62½ this week.

Demand for feeders should be tremendous as Fall progresses.

Hogs Open 50c Higher At Fort Worth Monday

Top hogs scored $17.50 at Fort Worth Monday, this was 50c higher despite pressure on swine prices reported at northern markets. Good and choice butchers sold for $17.25-17.50; sows drew $12-15. Underweight hogs failed to share the better market and closed $1 or more off.

Sheep and Lambs Open Strong, Feeders Higher

Good and choice fat Spring lambs topped at $18 to $19.50 at Fort Worth Monday. Medium and lower grades sold around $12 to $17. Feeder lambs cashed at $13 to $15.50, strong to 50c higher. Old ewes sold for $4 to $5.50; old wethers drew $7 to $12. Fat yearlings cashed at $14 to $16, lower grades $8 to $13. Old bucks sold around $4 to 4.50. Breeding ewes scarce and in very strong demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cypert and children returned home last Saturday from a week's vacation in Cowles, N. Mex.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pendleton and daughters left last Sunday for a few days vacation trip to the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Decides Tilling The Soil May Be Lots Of Fun But Getting A Deposit Slip Is Better

Editor's note: The Knox County Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses the pleasures of farming this week, in his own manner.

Dear editor:

I ran across a statement the other day which has kept running through my mind.

The statement was: "The satisfaction of tilling the earth—that is what makes a farmer."

That's a nice, profound-like statement, but the only trouble with it is that about half the time it ain't true.

For example, I know several farmers that what made them farmers was going busted in town. I know some more who are still farming because they never made enough to get to town to try their hand at going busted.

And of course there are a lot of farmers who are farming because they like it, they like to be their own boss, and they make good money at it.

But the idea that you have to like to till the soil to like being a farmer doesn't set well with me. Sure, it's fun to plow, up to a certain point but after that point it gets a little monotonous, which is the reason you see farmers frequently standing up while plowing.

Understand, though, there are lots of satisfactions that come from farming, and tilling I suppose is one of them, but it's not the biggest. For example, one of the biggest satisfactions I know connected with farming is coming out of the bank with a deposit slip, when the price is right.

There just never was a piece of ground whose turning with a plow could equal the satisfaction of folding a deposit slip in your billfold and heading for a store.

I'll admit there's a lot of real satisfaction too in seeing your own herd of cattle grazing on your own land, when the grass is lush and green, but there's even more satisfaction in seeing your calves go through an auction ring and going by the office to pick up your check.

Farming is about like any other job. It has its pleasant, interesting moments, but pay day is what adds zest to the whole operation. It's sort of like editing a newspaper. The work is fascinating, but what's more fascinating is opening a lot of letters with subscription checks in them. I aimed to put one in this letter, but the pleasures of plowing got my mind off of it.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Farm Exports Show Increase

Exports of United States agricultural products for the year ending June 30 totaled $3,130,000,000, an increase of 7 percent over the previous year and 7 percent above the 1952-53 total.

Extension Economist Pat Wooten says the U. S. Department of Agriculture has reported that all major commodity classes showed some improvement but it took a grain buying upswing in June to bring that commodity up to the level of the year before.

Exports registered gains in 1954-55 mainly for vegetable fats and oils and livestock products, but increases were also listed for cotton, tobacco, and fruits and vegetables.

Cited by the economist as contributing factors to the increase were improvements in economic conditions abroad and Europe's poor grain harvests in 1954.

Satisfactory levels of gold and dollar accumulations attained during the year also made it possible to expand their dollar purchases of American farm products, said Wooten. On the other hand, some European countries continue to maintain restrictions against imports from the United States. Exports would probably have increased further had foreign demand been able to fully assert itself, he said.

The large supplies and Government programs aided the flow of farm products abroad. The most important of these programs were sales for export at competitive prices, sales for foreign currencies, barter agreements, grants to foreign countries for emergency relief and welfare donations in foreign countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Machen, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Cure and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Machen and daughter of Seymour attended the Machen-Baird family reunion last Sunday. Approximately 100 friends and relatives met at MacKenzie State Park for the reunion.

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—If Johnny should come home crying, "Mom, I got something in my eye!"—what would you do?

The sensible thing would be to follow this 3-step procedure recommended by the State Department of Health for just such emergencies:

Lift the upper lid and pull it down over the lower lid. This will allow the tears to wash out the offending speck. Tears are

Efficiency Stretches The Food Dollar

Some of you were around in 1920. If you will check the records you will find that in that year farmers in this country got 43¢ of the dollar consumers spent for food. They got the same part of the dollar last year—1954. The other 57¢ paid for processing and distributing, including labor, taxes, transportation, packaging, rent, power, depreciation, research, etc.—all things that are necessary to get food from the farm to the table. Out of the 43¢ the farmer got he had to pay for his supplies, machinery, work, taxes, rent, etc., to produce the product that later became the finished product on the consumer's table.

Farmers sell their products these days in about the same form they did in 1920, whether it's corn, cattle, milk, eggs, fruit, etc., but there has been a great change in the grocery basket. You now expect to find prepared baby foods, frozen concentrated juices, cake mixes, partially baked biscuits, "heat and serve" meals, quick frozen foods, ready washed fresh vegetables and a lot of other convenient, timesaving foods on your grocer's shelves that were unavailable in 1920, according to Paul S. Willis, president, Grocery Manufacturers of America. The groceries you buy today contain many "built in" services which makes it possible for you to prepare three meals a day in one and one half hours compared to the five and one half hours it used to take.

We certainly recognize the great increases in agricultural efficiency. Processors and distributors, too, have made great improvements in their facilities, making it possible for them to make available to you all these new, more convenient foods in improved, more sanitary packages, while they get the same portion of the consumer's dollar that they did in 1920.

If this doesn't work, wash the eye with drops of luke warm tap water, using an eye dropper and holding Johnny's head so the water will flow away from the nose, toward the side.

If the speck still doesn't dislodge, bandage the hurt eye lightly to prevent Johnny from rubbing it, and take him to a physician.

"Remember," the Department cautions, "trying to rub the speck loose can cause infection that may scar the cornea, resulting in partial blindness."

Ever heard someone remark their eyes were "simply worn out"? That's sheer nonsense, says the Department. It's impossible to "wear out" healthy eyes by overuse.

Then why do your eyes feel strained? It could be because you need glasses or are wearing improperly fitted glasses. Or it could be that you are failing to follow the rules of good lighting and proper eye use. Or the strain could be due to an eye or body disease.

Under correct conditions you should be able to use your eyes as much as you want to without strain. Healthy eyes give the best and most comfortable service when you sit erect with your work arranged at 45 to 70 degrees from the horizontal and from 14 to 16 inches from your eyes. Tilt-top desks or book easels are best for children.

Reading in bed is perfectly all right, providing you stick to the rules of good lighting and good posture. But it's never wise to read in sunlight, even if your book or magazine is shaded.

What about television? It does not harm the eyes if the picture is clear and steady, and if there is enough light in the room to prevent too great a contrast with the screen. Avoid sitting off-center or too close to the set. It's smart, the Department says, to protect your eyes from long exposure to bright sunlight. But don't make the mistake of wearing sun glasses just to look Hollywoodish. Indiscriminate wearing of colored glasses reduces your tolerance to light.

"Man," the health agency concludes, "is normally a far sighted creature. So from time to time as you read or do close work, give your eyes a break by closing them for a moment or by looking into the distance."
