HERBERT HOOVER WINS DECISIVE VICTORY AT POLLS ON TUESDAY

Hoover Takes Knox County and Will Likely Be Victor in Texas; Great Republican Victory Over Entire Nation

Knox, like many other West Texas counties, created a precedent in Tuesday's election by casting a majority of ballots for the Republican electors, giving the followers of the Hoover ticket in this county a victory that even the most optimistic adherents were not looking for. A complete tabulation of the ballots of the county reveal that the Republican majority in the county is 243. Hoover receiving 991 votes and Smith 748. These totals include all the voting boxes of the county while the tabulation published herewith is incomplete in that Gilliland and Brock are not included, which accounts for the discrepancy between the totals of the figures given in the tabulation and the totals above.

The surprise to most political observers with whom we have talked is in the fact that Smith carried only three of the smaller voting precincts of the county. Benjamin, Truscott and Rhineland. Munday and one or two other precincts in the Hoover column before the election, but none of the Hoover adherents expected to sweep the county as has been done.

The totals for the various precincts of the county are as follows:

	Smith	Hoover
Benjamin	88	52
Munday	171	286
Truscott	53	47
Vera	16	76
Gore	84	103
Knox City	140	263
Hefner	25	45
Gillespie	18	57
Rhineland	148	6

While he has gathered only about

87 electoral votes into the Democratic column Gov. Al Smith has received the largest popular vote that has ever been given a Democratic candidate. He has received almost 1,000,000 more votes than Woodrow Wilson had when he won his second presidential term, and a million more votes than were given to James M. Cox. Hoover is leading Smith about 4,000,000 in popular votes.

But, with the tremendous popular vote the Democratic ticket has run ahead in only eight states. The Solid South is a matter of history, with Texas leading the procession, giving Hoover a lead of approximately 20,000 votes over the state. The states that are in the Democratic column are Alabama (12); Arkansas (9); Georgia (14); Louisiana (10); Massachusetts (18); Mississippi (10); Rhode Island (5); North Carolina (9). Total 87. Hoover's total electoral vote as the tabulations now stand 444.

Smith may even lose some of the states that are included in the above list, as in Massachusetts he is leading Hoover by a close margin of 5,999 votes, while Hoover's gain seems to have been universal over the entire country since the returns began to trickle in on Tuesday evening. Gradually New York, the corner stone of Gov. Smith's hopes, slipped away from him as the up-state vote began to cut down the heavy majority he received in New York City, and when the majority had melted away he conceded his defeat and wired his congratulations to Herbert Hoover, and extended his best wishes for a successful administration.

Moguls Will Tackle Knox Greyhounds In Holiday Game Here

The high school Moguls will remain idle this week in preparation for their biggest game of the season next Monday with Knox City. Any kind of a contest between Knox City and Munday is always a "hot" battle because of the intense rivalry between the two towns. The football game next Monday will be no exception. In fact it gives promise of being the most bitterly contested affair of many moons. The fact that the Greyhounds have already defeated the Moguls once this season by a bare touchdown will not be calculated to soothe the wrath of the Mogul warriors. They have a burning desire to avenge that defeat and will be spurred on by the indomitable spirit of E. Pruitt, Aycock, Greer and other who will be fighting their last gridiron battle against the Greyhounds.

The Pep Squad is working overtime this week getting ready for their most sensational performance of the year. The Munday Chamber of Commerce band has very willingly agreed to furnish the music and since it will be a general holiday a great crowd is expected to attend. A very intensive advertising campaign is being sponsored by the high school athletic association which will, no doubt, draw several hundred spectators from surrounding territory. Disinterested officials have been secured to insure a fair and peaceable game.

The game will be called on Scruggs Field promptly at 3:00 p. m.

J. P. Shaw, who has been making his home at Silvertown, Texas, for some months, came in Saturday from Mississippi, where he has been visiting relatives and old friends, and will remain here for some time visiting in the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. C. Guinn.

Armistic Day—The Unknown Soldier

The body of the "unknown soldier" lies buried in Arlington, at the Nation's Capitol, and Armistic Day our thoughts are inevitably directed toward this symbol of the great struggle through which this country passed—the grave of the man of whom nothing is known save that he gave his all in a common cause. Wealthy or poor, proud or humble, artist or laborer, of whatever religious faith he may have been, his grave is for all time a shrine to those who love our country. He died that others might live—he served his land nobly—no more need he be known of him to make his memory sacred.

Lions Charter Night Banquet to Be Held On Friday Evening

Plans are being made to entertain a number of out-of-town Lions at the charter night banquet of the Lions Club of Munday to be held at the Methodist church Sunday school rooms on Friday evening. Lion James M. McLean of Throckmorton has notified the secretary that there will be some ten or twelve in the "Three" section delegation, and invitations have been extended to members of the Lions Clubs at Seymour and Haskell, which are expected to send delegations, and already almost one hundred plates have been reserved for the occasion.

A delightful program is being arranged for the occasion and those who attend will enjoy the musical numbers that are to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Pitman of Wichita Falls, for they are favorites in that city and are always in demand for occasions of this kind. Also the talk of Dr. Graham will be of much interest to Lions, as he has given much of his time to the building of Lions Clubs in Texas, and is one of the outstanding workers in the great organization.

Carroll Hopkins Goes To Rule As Manager For Utilities Company

Carroll Hopkins, who has been associated with the commercial department of the West Texas Utilities Company for more than two years, has gone to Rule, where he will be local manager for the company in charge of the company's properties at Rule and Sagerton. While Mr. Hopkins has already assumed his duties at Rule Mrs. Hopkins will remain here for some days until they can procure living quarters there. The company is opening an office at Rule and will carry a complete line of electric appliances. Mr. Hopkins has been succeeded here by Mr. Jackson of Walnut Springs, Texas, who has already assumed his duties.

Another change that has been made is that of transferring Tom Webb to Gore, where he will be at the command of the citizens of that city in case of an emergency and will care for the properties of the company there. This is another move of Supt. Carl Mahon to give the citizens in all parts of the district the very best electric service that is possible to give and we are sure that the service in these towns will be improved by having competent electricians on hand to care for any emergency that might arise.

W. F. McMahon, One of Pioneer Citizens Is Called By Death

The citizens of this community were greatly shocked on Thursday evening of last week when news came from Knox City that W. F. McMahon had passed away in the county hospital there. Mr. McMahon had undergone a major operation some ten days prior to that time and was seemingly on the road to recovery and friends who had visited him in the hospital during the week stated that he was in the best of spirits and was impatient for the time to come when he could return to his home in this city, and his sudden death was attributed to heart failure.

Mr. McMahon was truly one of the pioneer citizens of the Munday country, having come to Munday in 1906, at which time Munday was a mere village, and he has witnessed the transformation of this section from a bleak desolate prairie to the present rich agricultural section, and has always taken a keen interest in the various movements that for their purpose the advancement and development of this section.

William Francis McMahon was born in Grimes county, Texas, July 25, 1871, and spent his entire life within the state.

In addition to his wife he is survived by eight children, four brothers and three sisters. The children are Mrs. Carrie Frances Adkins, of Lubbock; John McMahon, Munday; Mrs. Alice Parris, Fredrick, Okla.; Leroy McMahon, Seymour; Mrs. Irene Hamblen, Munday; Mrs. Ora Mae Holley, Altus, Okla.; Homan McMahon, Munday and Ida McMahon, Munday. The brothers are A. C. McMahon, Forney, Texas; D. A. McMahon of Bremond, Texas; J. T. McMahon of Grandview, Texas, and J. O. McMahon of Bremond, Texas, all of whom were here for the funeral services, as well as were all the children. The sisters who survive him are Mrs. Lula Lavater, Calvert, Texas; Mrs. Mollie Lawrence, Waco, Texas, and Mrs. Ellie Laird, Mountain View, Oklahoma. Mrs. James L. Power of Rebel, Texas, a sister to Mrs. McMahon, was here for the funeral services.

The entire community mourns the loss of this good citizen; he was always ready to respond to the call of duty and work for the betterment of his fellow man. He was one of the original members of the Farmers Union in Munday and has been credited largely to the wonderful success that has been achieved by this organization. We join the entire citizenship in extending our sincere sympathy to the bereaved wife and children and other relatives in their great sorrow. The funeral services were conducted on Friday afternoon by the Rev. R. G. M. Eiland and the Rev. W. H. Albertson, after which the remains were laid to rest in Johnson cemetery.

John W. Rogers Dies At Home of Daughter In This City Thursday

John W. Rogers died on Thursday last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alvin Floyd, in this city, and funeral services were conducted at the home of his son, Freeman Rogers, by the Rev. R. B. Freeman Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, after which the remains were laid to rest in Johnson cemetery. The services were held at the home of Freeman Rogers for the reason that the son was ill and unable to attend the services had they been held elsewhere.

Deceased was born in Arkansas sixty-three years ago and came to Texas when only about six years of age, and had resided in the Munday country for many years.

In addition to his wife he is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. Ida Floyd, Mrs. Mira Burns and Freeman Rogers, and to these members of the family we extend our sincere sympathy in their dark hour of sorrow.

CARD OF THANKS

May the same loving God who removed from our midst our beloved husband, father and brother richly reward our acquaintances, neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness, words of consolation and beautiful floral offerings. Especially do we thank the ladies of the Baptist church who prepared and served the nice dinner to our friends and loved ones. We assure you that we can never express our deep gratitude. Respectfully, Mrs. W. F. McMahon, Children and Brothers.

THE LAST OF THE DUANES

by Zane Grey
Illustrated by Verne C. Christy

So it was in him then—an inherited fighting instinct—a blood lust—a driving insanity to kill. He was the last of the Duanes—that old fighting stock of Texas.

But not the memory of his dead father, nor the pleading of his soft-voiced mother, nor the warning of this uncle who stood before them now had brought so much to Duane realization of the dark passionate strain in his blood. It was the entrance, a hundredfold increased in power, of a strange emotion that for the last three years had taken possession of him.

"Yes, Cal Rain's in town, full of had whisky, an' huntin' for you," repeated the elder man gravely.

"It's the second time," muttered Duane, as if to himself.

"See, you can't avoid a nootin'. Leave town till Cal sober's up. He ain't got it in for you when he's not drinkin'."

"But what's he want me for?" demanded Duane. "To build me a suit? I won't stand that, neither."

"He's got a three-bit ransom in Texas, three dollars, but he wants you back to the States."

"What's he want me for?" demanded Duane. "To build me a suit? I won't stand that, neither."

"He's got a three-bit ransom in Texas, three dollars, but he wants you back to the States."

Here it stirred Duane again—that bursting gush of blood, like a wind of flame shaking all his inner being, and subsiding to leave his strangely chilled.

As towns go, Wellston was small enough, but important in that unsettled part of the great State because it was the trading center of several hundred miles of territory. On the main street there were perhaps fifty buildings, some brick, some frame, mostly adobe, and one-third of the lot, by far the most prosperous, were saloons. From the road Duane turned into the street.

It was a wide thoroughfare, lined by hitching posts, and saddled horses, and vehicles of various kinds. Duane's eye ranged down the street, taking it all at a glance, particularly present moving leisurely up and down. Not a cowboy was in sight.

When he came to within fifty paces of a saloon he swerved out into the middle of the street, stood there for a moment, then went ahead and back to the sidewalk. He passed on in this way the full length of the block.

"What's he want me for?" demanded Duane. "To build me a suit? I won't stand that, neither."

"He's got a three-bit ransom in Texas, three dollars, but he wants you back to the States."

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness had not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1876, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of seven and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And so you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Only take one dose with strong drugs!

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months and all are well. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose given in the directions it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially safe.

Fortify Your Home Against Cold Weather

The chilly winds have begun to blow and the time to install a Reznor Gas Heater in your home is now. Don't wait until a cold snap catches you unprepared.

There's a big difference between gas heaters, and that's the reason we sell the Reznor line. Many gas heaters are in reality gas eaters and you get only a small amount of heat from the gas consumed, while with the Reznor you get the maximum amount of heat with the minimum amount of gas, which makes the Reznor the cheapest heater to buy.

And, the Reznor is no more expensive than heaters that consume a greater amount of gas. We have the complete Reznor line, and can supply you with just the heater that meets your requirements, from the low priced numbers to the highest priced—all with Reznor quality built into them.

your cluster of bullet holes. That's the word that's gone down the border.

"That's the kind of reputation most sure to fly for and swift ahead of a man I'll gamble on that. It's the best, too, the draw! I see now you're only a boy, though you're shore a strappin' husky one. Now, Buck, I'm not a spring chicken, an' I've been long on the dodge. Mebbe a little of my society won't hurt you none. You'll need to learn the country."

There was something sincere and likable about this outlaw.

"I dare say you're right," replied Duane quietly, "and I'll go to Mercer with you."

Next moment he was riding down the road with Stevens.

"Stevens, have you got any money?" asked Duane.

"Money!" exclaimed Luke blankly. "I haven't owned a two-bit since—wal, for some time."

"I'll furnish money for grub," returned Duane. "And for whisky, too, providing you hurry back here—without making trouble."

"Shore, you're a downright good pard," declared Stevens in admiration as he took the money. "I give my word, Buck, an' I'm here to say I never broke it yet. Lay low and look for me back quick."

Presently Stevens rode out of sight into the town. Duane waited, hoping the outlaw would make good his word.

"Wal, who'n hell said I wasn't? Would you mind giving me a lift—on this here pack?"

Duane lifted the heavy pack down and then helped Stevens to dismount. The outlaw had a bloody foam on his lips and he was spitting blood.

"Oh! why didn't you say so?" cried Duane. "I never thought you seemed all right."

"Wal, Luke Stevens may be as gabby as an old woman—but sometimes—he doesn't say anythin'. It wouldn't have done no good."

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1927, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 30

Two-suited hands always are interesting and their proper bidding should be thoroughly understood. The following letter from a correspondent and the writer's reply cover a very common phase of the bidding of two-suited hands and should be carefully noted:

"My partner had a two-suiter, diamonds and clubs. She bid diamonds first and then bid clubs. I supported the diamonds, because I had three to the queen. I supposed she bid over strongest suit of the two of equal value first. I thought my king of clubs would probably take a trick if diamonds were trumps, and I was not so sure that my queen of diamonds would take a trick if clubs were trumps. Your book says, first, 'As a general rule, bid the higher valued suit first provided it contains sufficient strength to warrant the bid.' Then after saying that otherwise you bid the lower valued suit first, you go on and say, second, 'In the same ways always prefer, if possible, the major suit to the minor.'"

"Then again you say, third, 'If partner supports one of your suits, it is not advisable to bid the other suit unless the first suit is a minor suit.' I have always construed these quotations to mean that you bid your stronger suit first, making allowance, of course, for the fact that you have to take one trick more in the minor suit than you do in the major suit. I should say that the clubs and diamonds were of equal value as both take five extra tricks to make game. Also that hearts and spades were of equal value as both take four extra tricks to make game. Therefore, I supposed that higher valued meant the difference between a major and a minor suit only, and not to any difference between two minor suits or two major suits."

"Your quotation marked third above surely means that you bid a minor suit first if it is the stronger suit, making allowance for the different number of extra tricks required to make game. Therefore, my deduction has been that you bid your stronger suit first. That between two suits of equal strength you would bid first a major suit rather than a minor suit."

"Could you clear me up on this point. And we had quite an argument. In the bidding of a two-suit hand, the rule as to bidding the higher valued suit first applies with equal force to two major suits or two minor suits as to a major and a minor suit. For example, in the following hand:

Hearts—7, 6
Clubs—A, K, J, 7, 2
Diamonds—A, Q, 7, 4, 3
Spades—8

Here are two minor suits of fairly equal value but the diamond suit, as the higher value, should be bid first even though the club suit is the stronger.

Hearts—A, K, J, 10, 9
Clubs—J, 7
Diamonds—A, 7
Spades—A, 9, 5, 3, 2

"In the foregoing hand, the spade suit should be bid first even though the heart suit is much the stronger. The reason for preferring the higher valued suit is obvious. If the opponents overbid, the other suit should then be bid and partner is thus offered a chance to choose between the suits without increasing the contract. For example:

Y :
A B : Z :

Hearts—6
Clubs—A, K, Q, 7, 5
Diamonds—K, J, 10, 3, 2
Spades—10, 8

Z deals and bids one diamond, the higher valued suit. A bids three spades and Y and B pass. Z should now bid four clubs and if A passes, Y is thus given the chance to bid four diamonds if he prefers that suit, without increasing the contract. Suppose, however, that Z had bid one club with the foregoing hand and A had bid three spades. If Y and B passed, Z would now be forced to bid four diamonds to show his other suit. Then if A passed and Y preferred the club bid, he would be forced to bid five clubs to show that preference; or, in other words, to increase the contract by one trick. It is to avoid such a contingency that the rule of bidding the higher valued suit was framed."

Example Hand No. 1

Y :
A B : Z :

Hearts—6, 3
Clubs—Q, 10, 5
Diamonds—Q, 9, 8, 7, 4, 2
Spades—Q, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A passed, Y bid one no-trump and B bid two hearts. What should Z bid? Z should pass. The only other alternative, a three diamond bid, is very unsound. Y has bid a third hand no-trump and should be able to keep A-B from making game. Don't take unnecessary chances when game is in no danger. Sit tight and let the other fellow worry.

Example Hand No. 2

Hearts—K, 9, 8, 4, 3
Clubs—5, 4
Diamonds—A, 9, 4
Spades—A, 10, 9

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A one spade, Y two hearts and B two spades. Z three hearts, A three spades, Y four hearts and B four spades. If Z and A passed, what should Y do? Should he double four spades or bid five hearts? Y should bid five hearts. The rubber is at stake and it is very doubtful if A-B can be defeated at four spades. It is a very close hand but Y must take no chance of A-B making four spades, game and rubber. Y-Z have a good chance to make five hearts and should try for it.

Example Hand No. 3

Y :
A B : Z :

Hearts—A, K, Q, 3
Clubs—A, K, 10, 9
Diamonds—A, J, 7, 6, 4
Spades—none

No score, first game. What should Z deal and bid with the foregoing hand? Z should bid one diamond, his longest suit. Then, if overbid, he should show the heart suit. In this way he tells his partner very clearly that he has a longer diamond suit and probably a four card heart suit. In no other way can this be done.

Example Hand No. 4

Hearts—8, 6, 2
Clubs—A, Q, 8, 6, 2
Diamonds—A, K, 8, 7, 4
Spades—none

Score, A-B 18, Y-Z 12, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. If A bid two spades and Y bid three hearts, what should B bid? B should bid four clubs and if doubled or overbid, should show the diamonds. It is a very close hand but cannot safely be bid in any other way.

Sunday School Lesson

PEACE AND GOOD WILL AMONG MEN.

Romans 12:1-2, 9-21
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

ARMISTICE DAY anniversary is the time for calling attention to world peace that shall never be broken by the horrors of war. The miseries of the recent holocaust makes people more fearful than ever regarding the next one. The sentiment against war is increasing all over the earth. This feeling was very definitely expressed on August 27 when the "General Pact for the Renunciation of War," as the Kellogg multilateral treaty is called, was signed at Paris by representatives of fifteen nations. Within a week a total of thirty-three countries were for that treaty, thus placing more than half of the world on the side of other methods than war with which to settle international differences. Such developments are in perfect accord with the clear teachings in the Holy Bible, which is the greatest Peace Book that the world has produced.

The book of Romans is divided into two clearly marked sections. The first eleven chapters deal with following these instructions there is a marked change with "therefore" of 12:1, and the remainder of the book is rich with the practical that follow the statement of principle. This epistle was dedicated in 1918 to the brethren who were in Rome, but under the guidance of the Holy Spirit is also intended for those of every age and country.

Because Jehovah has been so gracious in His bestowal of countless mercies we are commanded to give ourselves without any reservation to Him that we may thus in turn be helpful to the citizenry of the whole

DR. FRANK CRANS SAYS—WAR ANYWHERE DISASTROUS.

President Coolidge delivered a message on Decoration Day of this year in which he pointed out the fact that no matter where a war might break out in the world it would be prejudicial to this country.

War is simply lawlessness and destruction and the commercial interests of the United States today are so widespread, our investments and trade relations are so far reaching that it is almost impossible to conceive of any conflict anywhere on earth which would not affect us injuriously.

The President also stressed the fact that the United States is engaged in warfare only for protection of American citizens. It is incumbent upon every nation to protect its own citizens.

Unfortunately the plan of Woodrow Wilson for a league of nations did not receive universal support. While the writer enthusiastically supported Mr. Wilson's idea he holds no brief for any one plan.

Equally to be approved are the efforts of Secretary of State Kellogg to conclude a treaty with European powers for the complete outlawry of war. Just so we arrive at a stage of civilization where war is not countenanced and glorified it makes no difference by what route we get there.

Mr. Coolidge also laid stress upon the best argument of the most intelligent pacifists, to wit, that "the chief defenses of America lie not in her armed forces but in the industry, prosperity and patriotism of her people; these are of far greater importance than preparedness."

The same day at Thiacourt, France, General Pershing addressed an audience where he said that "millions of graves cry out against war, and the big nations must show the way to durable peace."

He continued that war threatened civilization because of the "fallacious theory that war is an essential element in the national policy of a government," and an erroneous belief that nations become great through aggressive undertakings.

General Pershing insisted that history disproves that the expansion of one modern civilized nation at the expense of the other can be permanent.

"There would appear to be no longer any reason," he said, "why the leading civilized powers could not agree among themselves to the general principle of the elimination of war as an avowed instrument of national policy."

It need not interfere with the necessities of reasonable armament, he said, "nor the fulfillment of consistent obligations."

The day is coming when public opinion, that final arbiter of destiny, will rapidly turn against war.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of extending our sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness and thoughtfulness that were extended to us upon the death of our beloved one, our husband and father, and shall ever hold a feeling of gratitude in our hearts to you one and all, for at a trying time like this it would be unbearable only for the comforting words that are spoken and the kind and thoughtful deeds that are done, and especially are we grateful to the West Texas Utilities boys for their kindness.

It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without cramping or overacting. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

"...THE TORCH...BE YOURS TO HOLD IT HIGH.
IF YE BREAK FAITH WITH US WHO DIE
WE SHALL NOT SLEEP, THOUGH POPPIES GROW IN FLANDERS FIELDS"

Col. John C. Mc Rae.

ARMISTICE DAY!

BREAK faith we shall not! Holding high the sacred torch—the torch of heaven-sent liberty—we shall "carry on." We shall value it as we value an Eternal Principle.

Americans we are, all of us; the very name holds in it something high and noble: The uncompromising integrity of Washington; the trenchant wisdom of Franklin; the humane charity of Lincoln, fused by that firm adherence of Justice and Freedom which has earned our nation the respect and gratitude of the Hearts of the World.

Break faith we shall not! Loyalty to the community, loyalty to the country, loyalty to an ideal sternly beckon us onward and upward, ever bearing aloft the Torch whose flame shall be immortal. Not all of us can be statesmen, not all of us can be heroes. But ALL of us—every one—can be true Americans, worthy citizens of the greatest commonwealth that dwells in the memory of Mankind.

Break faith we shall not! Is not the onward path clearly marked? Honest endeavor, industrious efforts, scrupulous faith in the duties of good citizenship—these alone can justify us to receive the Torch from the hands of the heroes in Flanders fields.

In Memory of the American Boys who sleep in the Poppy-covered Fields of Flanders, Our Places of Business will be Closed on Monday in Observance of Armistice Day.

sweeps downward in the back, as it does in all the very latest evening frocks.

Pastel tints are favorites for these youthful dance frocks, but among more sophisticated tulle models one sees vivid blues, browns shading from tete de negre to amber, and wine-red toning to pale fuscias colors. Evening wraps of transparent velvet seem most appropriate over tulle.

It's a Bow Season

Great floppy, billowing bows of self fabric suggest the bustle back and side panier motifs for fall frocks, while trailing ends fall below the hem to create the smart uneven effect. Again, soft bows furnish the dreary overblouse that ties in front to fit the hips snugly.

Sparkling Heels for Evening Wear.
New rhinestone buckles and heels set with brilliants often provide one note of decoration for evening costumes. Or stones may represent emeralds, rubies or sapphires, according to the color of the gown.

Mesh Bags Return in Favor.
In gold or silver with mountings etched in Japanese scenes showing bright flashes of color enamel, the new mesh bags are most effective for formal afternoon wear.

PHOEBE JAMES—Shubert's newly star in "Hide and Seek," so dainty in her frock of tea-rose tulle—Isn't she a charming illustration of the popular model for the younger set?
The bodice with its bow dangling gracefully down the back is of a deeper shade of soft rose satin. The skirt is formed of overlapping tulle flounces shading from deep to delicate tea-rose pink. And you've guessed, of course, that the line

Land Motor Company Makes Available Ford Plan For Financing

R. T. Land of the Land Motor Co., local Ford Dealers, returned yesterday from Dallas where he received details of the new Ford finance plan. The new finance plan will be operated by the Universal Credit Co., an affiliated specialized organization controlled by the Ford Motor Company and operating solely for the purpose of financing Ford Products on a "time" basis. The branch office serving this territory is located on the 9th floor of the Burt building, Dallas, Texas.

This is of social interest to prospective purchasers of Ford Products on a "time" basis. Under this authorized finance plan, Ford customers will have a finance service available which is sound and in keeping with Ford policies and standards. The plan is nation-wide in scope and for the exclusive use of Ford dealers.

It is another step of the Ford organization in reducing costs by controlling operations from the mine to the customer. The cost of this service will be lower than any heretofore available to Ford customers on a national basis, and automatically reduces the price of Ford cars purchased on a "time" payment basis. It is a further expression of the established Ford policy of giving outstanding values and complete service to the consumer at the lowest possible cost.

The plan also contemplates the purchase by Universal Credit Company of sound and adequate fire and theft insurance, protecting the joint interests of the purchaser, the dealer and the company in the car. The purchaser receives a policy of protection for one year. Such policies are issued by the Home Insurance Company in the United States. The policies provide for settlement based on the actual cash value of the car at the time of loss.

The Universal Credit Company and the Ford dealer will work together in making this new economical Ford service available to all purchasers of Ford products on a "time" basis. The Land Motor Company, local Ford dealer will be glad to explain all the details of the plan, which applies to both new and used cars purchased from Ford dealers.

BIG MEN LITTLE TOWNS

General John J. Pershing

Nobody needs to be told who General Pershing is, but a fact not generally known is that he is a product of rural America, born at Linn County, Mo., in 1850. He attended Normal School, then graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1886.

He married the daughter of Senator Warren of Cheyenne, Wyo., in 1905, and there were four children. His wife and three children, unfortunately, lost their lives in the burning of the Presidio in 1915.

His long record in the army goes back to 1886, when he was a Second Lieutenant in the 10th Cavalry, and his rise in the ranks was rapid. In the emergency of 1917 he was made a general, and in 1919 this rank was confirmed by the United States Senate, who gave him the title of "General of Armies in the United States." He retired in 1924.

His services are so numerous it would take a volume to give an adequate idea of them. His decorations and honors are so many in number the bare list would take an entire column to print. Thousands of stories have been told of his courage, of his wisdom and inspiring guidance both in Mexico and during the great conflict "over there" when he led the American Expeditionary Forces.

It is only natural to pay tribute and feel respect for such a man, and only natural for all rural Americans to be proud of his origin. A real hero, he is one of the world's makers of history!

PUBLISHED WEEKLY EVERY THURSDAY

Now, that the election is over, let us forget some of the things that have been said during the bitter campaign. Many bitter things have been said by both factions that would have been better left unsaid. The campaign has been pitched upon issues that always arouse hatred and ill will, and we are glad that it is all over, and we sincerely hope that we shall never see a campaign pitched upon the same levels that this one has been pitched.

KNOWN AND UNKNOWN SOLDIERS

Again we are to celebrate Armistice Day. Already the war is almost forgotten; America is back to peacetime conditions of prosperity; the wounds of conflict have healed swiftly, and former foes are friends.

Many are the persons the world over, however, who are still grieved because of the loss of their nearest and dearest, a loss that no circumstance can make less tragic. It is those who live, whose loved ones laid down their lives for their countries, who are the sufferers. Their sorrow shall last the length of their lives, and on Armistice Day it is only fitting to give thought to them and their noble sacrifices.

The symbol of the Unknown Soldier is beautiful, his grave a fit shrine for all who love America. Armistice Day should be marked with the utmost respect to those who perished in the conflict, identified and unidentified. But our respects must also be paid to those known "soldiers" who are our neighbors—the mothers whose sons gave all, the father who mourns the loss of his boy, the widowed wives and fatherless children of American soldiers.

On Armistice Day, in addition to expressing our boundless joy at the present state of peace and amity between nations, we must give a thought to these known "soldiers," and do what we can to alleviate their pain and soften the sting of their memories. They deserve not alone our sympathy, but also our whole-hearted respect and love.

TRIBUTE TO FOSTER

Another tribute has been paid by the people of the South to Stephen C. Foster, composer of Southern folk songs, by the erection of a monument to his memory in the form of a large boulder bearing this inscription:

"Erected to the memory of Stephen Collins Foster at the source of the stream which he immortalized in song, Suwannee River."

Foster wrote about 125 songs, among which were "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Nelly

Was a Lady," and others which have been sung the world over.

Although many of his best songs were of the South, Foster was born near Pittsburg and lived in the North all his life, never going farther south than Kentucky, except for one trip to New Orleans. He was born in 1826 and died in 1864.

He wrote both words and music of his songs, which perhaps accounts for the perfect blending of their poetry and melody. While he could not be called a great composer from peculiar talent was recognized, by poets and musicians of note, and his songs have a human appeal which is irresistible.

America has produced no sweeter singer than Stephen Collins Foster.

RULES FOR LIFE

When President James A. Garfield was a young man a printed slip was given him by an aged friend which he carefully cherished. It read as follows:

"Make few promises. Always speak the truth. Never speak evil of anyone. Keep good company or none. Drink no intoxicating liquors. Good character is above everything else. Be honest if you would be happy. When you speak to a person look into his eyes. Spend less than you earn. Live within your income. Never run into debt unless you see your way out. Good company and good conversation are the essentials of virtue. Good character can be injured only by your own acts. If evil is spoken of you, let your life refute the falsehood. If your hands cannot be employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind. Read the above carefully and thoughtfully."

ONLY $5,000 TO THE LORD. OUR DESCENDANTS. LINCOLN'S SHORT LETTER. "ONLY A COLD."

Mrs. E. S. Dodge dies leaving or million. Nineteen thousand dollar go to friends, $5,000 to a Presbyterian church, the balance to relatives. Five thousand dollars out of $1,000,000 given to the Lord seems small in old days, when heaven and he were taken more literally, it would have been thought wise to give $200,000 of the $1,000,000 to religion and make sure of salvation.

But in this agnostic day many feel that the Lord does not need money; especially as He could create an amount of it by an easy miracle whereas relatives and educational institutions DO need money, and can perform miracles.

That a son is born to Princess M. chael Casarone in Chicago means little to the average, but a great deal to a few old men of the Grant Army, who know that Princess Casarone is General Grant's grand daughter.

The only immortality of which we are certain, apart from the certainty of religious faith, is the immortality of our descendants. Each may live for thousands of years in his descendants. You may read that he descended from men that were alive on earth 500,000 years ago.

What our descendants will be we cannot guess.

General Grant, before opportunity came and people wondered why he didn't keep "sober," little thought that he would be the great-grandfather of a son of a Russian prince. Descendants of Astors, Vanderbilts and Rockefellers will beg their bread a thousand years hence if begging still prevails.

Descendants of Jhenghis, Timur and Attila are among Mongolian laborers now scattered through Asia.

The Triennial Protestant Episcopal Convention in Washington is urgently requested to recognize faith cures. In such cures the patient helps himself by believing that someone else will help him. Faith can do many things. A man was bound to a chair, his feet put in hot water and told that his feet would be cut by a razor.

The back of a razor was drawn across the soles of his feet. Not a drop of blood was shed, but he died. What can faith cure.

Some doctors wisely believe that faith healing should be used to help nervous patients.

On June 12, 1848, Abraham Lincoln wrote to William H. Herndon a short letter, telling what he thought about Zachary Taylor's prospect of election. The letter was sold yesterday for $1,000.

What is foolishly described as "only a cold," is the most harmful of diseases, causing a loss of hundreds of millions a year in wages. And what is worse, it weakens the system, exposing it to attack from diseases that destroy life—pneumonia, diphtheria, heart disease and a dozen others.

NOTICE ORIENT MASTER GAS

The Better Gasoline

Has been shipped to Munday, Texas, and has been put on sale in our own service station in the old Willys-Knight building which we recently leased.

It is now on sale to automobile owners who love their motors and want to prolong the life of their cars.

It is the regular standard domestic U. S. airplane gasoline.

It is 100 per cent chemically pure straight run 370 end, and Crystal White, which is the neutral color of all high grade gasoline, and it is a natural, and therefore the most SUPERIOR NO-KNOCK GASOLINE.

It is the vigorous heart, life and power of crude oil, and contains none of the aches, pains, worries and injurious elements of the fifteen lower grades sold to the public.

It contains no particles that will not burn, and therefore leaves no carbon in the cylinders to overheat the engine, produce carbon knocks and require carbon cleaning.

It gives quicker start with easier riding and more miles of better service per gallon.

It is the highest grade made for automobiles and is 67 POINTS BETTER THAN ORDINARY GASOLINE and costs more to make, but during a short introductory period will be retailed at 25c per gallon, but your car will last longer, and your gasoline and repair bills will cost you less per month.

What we say about this gasoline is the Sacred Truth. But you don't have to take our word for it. Leave it to your motor.

YOUR MOTOR KNOWS THE DIFFERENCE.

Try a fill at our filling station, at the old Willys-Knight Garage building, at Munday, Texas.

Sold by BAUMAN MOTOR CO., Munday; ORIENT SERVICE STATION, Munday; H. N. CLAUS, Rhineland; RHINELAND MERCANTILE CO., Rhineland, Texas.

JUNIOR FLASHES

A-B-C, who are we?

Over-Sensitiveness.

Are you sensitive about things that are not for your own welfare?
 Do you say a scrap of paper was handed to you and it was these words,
 "over-sensitive about anything,"
 are you told that leads to increase money in your work, and time, in time I have thought of those words when I have been told something for my own good, that got under my skin. Maybe the advice given did not lead directly to things that I was working at, but could not have been given had I needed it, and most of us do not like to take advice.

It is a characteristic of humanity to want to run your own boat, but one of us need a shove now and then. It is harder to take a word of warning from someone in authority than from one we consider our equal. Sometimes we resent it, although we know it is for our own good and that it is given in a kindly spirit.

MOGULS TAKE SECOND

TILT FROM RULE 25-0.

Last Friday the Moguls went to Rule to return the game that was played here, and beat them by a 25 to 0 score.

This score was not as large as the game since we last played them and had developed a better defensive team, second, most of them saw our game with Haskell and got some
 "dope" from the plays, and third, all of our regular team was not in the game. Paul did not play on account of a "blow" shoulder he got in the Haskell game; Joe played only about half the game due to his injured leg that he got in the Haskell game, and Gilbert was unable to play on account of his wounded arm, which he sustained in the wreck coming home from Haskell.

Good sportsmanship was shown throughout the entire game, and very few penalties were made, which prove that life game was clean.

Best wishes to the Rule team. We are glad you organized and hope to meet you next year.

FRESHIES

Beat Knox City!

The eighth grade extends their sincere sympathy to Ida McMahon in the loss of her father.

Part of the students of Munday

High want to change the school colors. But of course there are some against the change. Myrl Love gave a fine argument this morning before the High School assembly on why the colors should be changed. Sentiment is rising. Other talks will probably be made in the near future
 regarding the change of colors.

Of course we had our Halloween party, and a good time was had by all. We met at the Board

 Drug Store about 10:30 or 11:00 o'clock (that of course, some came earlier). We walked the streets and "spooked" around until time for the Midnight Matinee. After the show everyone went home or "spooking," feeling that they would always remember that night.

There are many more pupils enrolling in the Freshmen Class every day. There are about seventy-two pupils enrolled now.

The Freshmen (and everyone else) are pepping up and talking about the ball game next Monday with Knox City. We certainly feel like we must win. The Pep Squad is already practicing on their yells and are going to win! (maybe). We hope to beat Knox City some time, and we

When Mr. Palmer was first com-

 He still complains that the sign-board

so small that some of the boys re-

This trying to change our school colors is going almost too far. There are none of the football boys that want to change, and our coach, Mr.

 Palmer, is very much against changing them. That alone should be argument enough for them not to be changed. If you want to get into a hot argument and maybe a fight, just try to talk us into changing the school colors.

A FAST GETAWAY
 to
High Compression
Performance

FIRST, a quick, easy start. Then, high-compression performance from any motor.

That's what happens when Conoco Ethyl goes through the carburetor. This super motor fuel gets the best from all types of motors in all kinds of weather.

By performing perfectly in the new high-compression motors, it releases the full power which these motors were designed to develop. By "turning carbon into power" it makes motors of lower compression deliver high-compression performance.

Conoco Ethyl is indeed the miracle motor fuel. It is giving thousands of motorists an added pleasure in car ownership.
 When you try it, you'll quickly understand what a difference
 Conoco Ethyl can make in the general operation of your car.

Famous War Aviators as Technical Advisors in Filming "Lilac Time"

Members of Royal Flying Corps, of the Lafayette Escadrille, of Richtofen's Flying Circus Were on Producer's Technical Staff—Campbell's Story Coming to Roxy November 12-13.

Ghostly hands of the World War are paying interest on the debt it owes one of its heroes. And that explains the presence of Capt. Scott and Capt. Campbell, of the Royal Flying Corps; of Lieut. Robert du Couedic, of the Twenty-sixth Blue Devils and of the 114th member Richtofen's Flying Circus; of Lieut. Richard Grace, of the Lafayette Escadrille, and of a dozen other battle-baptized young veterans.

Most of these men appear on the screen in "Lilac Time," but only in small and inconspicuous roles. Ten years ago at the time of the story, these men were seventeen or eighteen or nineteen—reckless, laughing youngsters doing their desperate avoid technical mistakes in the filming of motion pictures of the war.

Capt. Campbell refuses to be called a hero.

No Heroes or Cowards

"There were no heroes in France," he says, "and no cowards. One did what was to be done, or, if one's nerves cracked under the strain one was not fit for cowardice, but mercifully and justly placed in hospital and treated for shell shock."

Capt. Campbell's latest technical advisory work was made in conjunction with that of Capt. L. J. Scott, a fellow officer of the Royal Flying Corps, when the picture "Lilac Time" was being produced. It was in the year, at Newport, that he and Scott, with four other men, following an advance, attacked a concrete enemy pill box whose two machine guns swept the road. Four men dropped during the 60-yard dash. Holmes and Campbell reached the emplacement and hand grenades silenced its twelve defenders.

In 1917 he was transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, and was commissioned following two months' training at Etampes. He served with the 85th, 114th and 212th squadrons on the Cambrai front and at Valenciennes. He was shot down and his leg shattered four days before the armistice was signed.

Boys for Roles of Pilots

So the director of "Lilac Time," George Fitzmaurice, chose boys for the roles of pilots, few of them over 21—for it was told, nervous youngsters who won for the Royal Flying Corps the respect of the enemy and the admiration of the world. Coached and drilled by the heroes of yesterday, the young Hollywood flyers started their teachers with their naturalness.

"These are the boys we want," said the E. F. C. aviator.

At Campbell was 17 when, in flying camp, he was enlisted as a back private in the 19th Canadian Infantry. It was in the year, at Newport, that he and Scott, with four other men, following an advance, attacked a concrete enemy pill box whose two machine guns swept the road. Four men dropped during the 60-yard dash. Holmes and Campbell reached the emplacement and hand grenades silenced its twelve defenders.

Staff of Technical Advisors

Natural pride and knowledge of the alertness of the screen public of Miss Moore's pictures, and Geo. Fitzmaurice, director, to make the selection of the best available technical advice their first move in the producing of "Lilac Time." Although both planned to make the war merely a background for what they considered the most beautiful romance either had ever read, they

Webster Fleming, Col. Janitor for W. T. U. Died On Wednesday

Carl Mahan, district superintendent for the West Texas Utilities Co., wore a downcast expression on his face when he came down town Wednesday morning. Naturally, we thought he felt about as we did over the election returns, and we didn't feel any too cheerful ourselves, but Carl wasn't concerned over the election returns, but he was deeply grieved over the death of the colored porter in the offices of the company, Webster Fleming, who had passed away during the night after an illness of several days.

And well could he feel sad, for Webster was a good negro. Always alert to do the many little chores around the office, and to do anything that would add to the comfort of the employees, he had made friends with the entire force down there, and, though he was only a humble janitor, he was an integral cog in the great machine which gives us light and power, and things will not run so smoothly down there until someone is found who can take Webster's place, and Carl feels that it will be a difficult task to find that person among the colored population.

One of Webster's characteristics, according to Carl, was his absolute honesty. When he was stricken ill Carl went down to his humble cabin to look after him. He saw that he was a very sick man and immediately called in a physician and gave instructions that every attention be given him, but Webster protested against the visits of the physician on the grounds that he did not have the cash to pay him for each of his visits and he did not want to incur obligations that he did not know when he could meet.

Webster was a negro who possessed many qualifications of citizenship that should be envied by many white folks. And all of Webster's bills will be paid, for the West Texas Utilities Company made provision for the rainy day for Webster as it does for all its employees, and carried a $1,000 insurance policy on his life, which will be paid over to his father.

The Terrible People Will Be At the Roxy On Friday Night

"The Terrible People" is the name of the latest Edgar Wallace story to be made into a Patheserial with Allene Ray and Walter Miller as the stars. It was made into a screen play by George Arthur Gray, who wrote "The Hawk of the Hills" and other Patheserials, and was directed by Spencer Bennett who has been producing Patheserials for years. This screen serial will be shown every Friday at the Roxy Theatre.

Walter Miller portrays a young detective engaged by the Bankers' Association. Early in the first reel this detective brings about the arrest of a famous forger and murderer and when this criminal is executed his followers organize into what is soon known as "The Terrible People." Their foremost idea seems to be to kill the detective because the latter had arrested their leader.

"The Terrible People" are unknown to the police and the criminals endeavor to demoralize the police department with threats of vengeance. It is not long until the detective and his backs to the wall, with attacks being made from various unknown sources.

Instead of demoralizing the detective and the police force, the news of warning issued by "The Terrible People" act as an incentive toward greater efforts and it is not long until there develops one of the greatest mystery and detective tales ever conceived. "The Terrible People" must be rated as one of the finest Patheserials ever produced and Patheserials has been producing serials for 15 years.
