"Rain, Lack of Rain Makes Endless Conversation for Cattle Raisers."

That's a headline we saw in Tuesday morning's Star-Telegram of Fort Worth.

It seems to us the headline should have included the farmers, lawyers, school teachers, business men and all types of professional people.

For if ever there was a topic that makes endless conversation it would be rain or lack of rain in Texas.

But that occasion was the cowmen registering for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association convention.

Further down in the story it appeared that G. C. Carothers of Stamford got off the rain, but still lack of rain could also be the heading for his story.

It seems Carothers started out Wednesday of last week to visit his ranches in King and Stone-wall counties. He ran into that duster we had that day and returned home much earlier than his wife expected him. Carothers explained that he met his ranches at about the half-way mark, so he didn't have to make the entire trip.

Some other ranches came floating this way, too. We doubt of all that came our direction could have come from Carothers' property.

But the rain topic is still material for pretty potent conversation.

Take, for instance, our meeting up with Dwight Key during last Monday's duster.

Strangely enough, we soon drifted into the rain topic, and we remarked that the clouds above looked pretty good.

"Aw, they're just empties," Dwight says with a grin. We expressed the hope they were going back for a refill, but we couldn't figure any place closer than California where they had become empty.

Then it soon started raining! The wind continued, the dust sorta subsided because of the moisture, and the rain fell in sheets—for about two minutes.

Picking up another paper, we noticed that Munday had reported that Monday's deluge brought us a total of .28 of an inch.

Noticed, too, that Stamford received pink hail! The duster tried to have a sort of undaunted attitude while the rain was forming; then in the miraculous process of the weather's refiguring ability, the dust became mixed up with the frozen water, giving the hail a pinkish hue.

The storms subsided, Tuesday dawned clear and bright with no area receiving any big amount of moisture, and rain continues to be the topic of conversation.

Along with it is the topic of rainmaking. Noticed that there is talk of a 11-county area taking a vote on the rain-making question.

Up in the Hall-Collingsworth area, there has been quite a lot of talk along that line, but this rainmaking idea will have to prove itself further if it gets our vote of confidence.

Every one has problems. Standing on a busy corner in Dallas last Saturday, we heard a sort of muffled explosive sound, then fragments hit the plate glass window near us.

We thought maybe a sort of miniature atomic experiment was taking place. Glancing around, we saw an old darky holding a small piece of rope by means of which he had been carrying an auto battery.

His rope had slipped off, the battery fell to the sidewalk, breaking into smithereens, with fragments flying here and there.

Speechless, the darky stood

Chamberlain Is Made Ensign In Naval Reserve

NEWPORT, R. I.—Among 520 enlisted men commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve recently at the Navy's Officer Candidate School was D. G. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Chamberlain of Munday. He is a graduate of Munday High School, and received his B. S. degree from North Texas State College in 1951.

Forty-one of the 48 states sent officer candidates to the recent class; New York leading with 70, followed by Texas in next order. The four months' course, designed to produce graduates capable of filling billets in any of the departments aboard combatant ships, includes training in all the basic seagoing skills: gunnery, seamanship, marine engineering, navigation, damage control and communications. In sixteen weeks at the Newport school, officers candidates cover all the material studied during four years at college NROTC programs.

After graduation and a short leave, the new officers report immediately to their assigned ships. For about half the recent class, these will be destroyers.

The school also offers a two-month indoctrination course every other month to some 200 candidates for the Supply Corps, Civil Engineer Corps, and various specialist branches. These graduates, after completing the OCS course, undergo further training in their specialties.

Officer candidates, all of whom must be college graduates meeting rigid physical, mental and moral requirements, must be between the ages of 19 and 27. Candidates for specialist commissions, however, may be 32.

Lewis and Ed Gossett of Dallas, former congressman, will be principal speakers for the conference, which is being sponsored by the University, the Abilene Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Munday high school students have been invited to this citizenship conference.

Baptist Brotherhood Of Goree Meets

About thirty-five men met at the First Baptist Church in Goree, Friday evening, March 14, at 7:30, to hear Sam Reid of Abilene, president of Knox-Haskell counties Brotherhood. He spoke on "What We Would Be If We Were in the Hands of Christ."

W. O. Lewis, president of the Goree Brotherhood, was in charge of the business session. A fried chicken dinner was served to the group before the meeting. Several visitors from other points also enjoyed the meeting.

Half Of Goal Reached In Red Cross Drive

Many of the good old ways that made the "good old days" have fallen by the way, but old-fashioned neighborliness is still going strong in Knox County, according to Karel Desgrange, chairman of the Knox County Red Cross 1952 fund campaign.

"Our goal of $2,260 in the 1952 campaign is nothing more than a goal of neighborliness," Desgrange said in reporting the campaign's progress. "The campaign slogan is 'Answer the Call,' meaning the call of our neighbors in time of need. So far the people of Knox County have answered that call in the amount of $1,100. This sum is a pledge of neighborly help through the Red Cross to people everywhere. It's the kind of neighborly assistance that made it possible for people knocked out by last summer's floods to come back. It's the call for blood to save the life of a wounded soldier in Korea, and for help sought by thousands of servicemen and their families every day. It's help that you may have to seek yourself, for it's help in time of human suffering. At the time, it's the kind of help that you would be quick to ef-

RED CROSS FUNDS ACCEPTED AT LOCAL BANK

Robert Green, local chairman of the annual Red Cross 1952 fund campaign, expresses his thanks to those who contributed to the drive last week.

"There are possibly those who were not contacted but who still want to give to the Red Cross," he said. "Arrangements have been made whereby M. L. Wiggins at the First National Bank will accept your contributions. If you have not been contacted, please make your donations to him."

Boxing Bouts Get Big Crowd Monday Night

Another big crowd was on hand Monday night at the school gym for the final boxing show of the season. They saw action, too, as a total of twelve bouts were unreeled in rapid fashion. Two of these were exhibition bouts. Results of the bouts were as follows:

Tooter Goodwin, 80, Munday, defeated Ken Edgar, 80; of Leuders; James Hodges, 75, Seymour, took the decision from Wayne Lawrence, 80, Munday; Pete Prentice, 124, Abilene, knocked out George Spann, 129, Munday; Frank Williams, 119, defeated Ernest Smith, 119, both boys being from Wichita Falls.

Bobby Goforth, 147, Wichita Falls, won a decision over Wilma Hollowell, 144, Abilene; Ernest Cole, 146, Abilene, fought John Sego, 140, Rochester, to a draw; Raymond Garcia, Wichita Falls, defeated Carlyle Howard, also of Wichita Falls.

Simon Chavez, 138, Munday and Fred Portillo, 135, Abilene, slugged to a draw; Dickie Don Woods, 113, Wichita Falls, defeated Perry Elliott, 113, Abilene; Jerry Jones, 139, Wichita Falls, defeated Lacy Boles, 158, Abilene.

The exhibition bouts were between Coach Raymond Carden, Munday and Cleburn Fields, Munday, while Rudy Monoz matched gloves with Troy Denham.

Rudy, at 265 pounds, is the boy who wanted to fight someone just for fun and Denham, at 200, gave him his wish. This was a good two-round show with lots of swinging and dancing during the melee.

The C. D. A. athletic committee has done a good job in sponsoring these programs. Now they can take a bow and rest until next season.

Misses Jane Holloway and Thelma Wirges of Haskell were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Haymes last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spotanski and Eddie of Wichita Falls spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Smith, and other relatives.

Ag Meeting Is Slated Here For Thursday

A meeting of county agents, agricultural workers and interested farmers and business men will be held here Thursday night of next week for the purpose of discussing local problems pertaining to agriculture. The meeting will be held at the school lunch room, with the ladies in charge of the lunch room serving the dinner.

Roy A. Saunders of Munday, who is in charge of the cotton variety tests in this county, is heading the group from Knox, Baylor and Haskell counties for this meeting. It is probable that a permanent organization will be formed for the purpose of promoting agriculture in these counties.

Mr. Broadhurst of Austin, underground water geologist, will be the principal speaker. He is considered an authority on underground water and irrigation, and his talk will deal with the possibilities of developing irrigation in this area.

Everyone interested in agriculture is invited to attend, but it is necessary that Mr. Saunders know how many will be present by Saturday night, March 22. If interested, you may notify him or either of the county agents in the three-county area.

Jeff H. Williams To Speak At C. D. A. Banquet Here April 3rd

JEFF WILLIAMS

A confirmed optimist who has implicit faith in the future and thinks that, in the long run, everything is going to be all right with us down here, will be the principal speaker at the annual C. D. A. banquet here on Thursday night, March 3.

He is Jeff H. Williams of Chickasha, Okla., who was born in Denison—the birthplace of General Eisenhower—and grew up in the Ozark mountains of Arkansas. He is considered by many as among the half-dozen top ranking speakers in the nation.

Plans are going forward toward making this annual banquet one of the most widely attended and most successful of any ever held here. A committee of ladies is looking after much of the details this year.

Mr. Williams has spoken in every state in the nation, and in several overseas countries. Over the past ten years, he has traveled more than a half million miles by airplane, to say nothing of train, bus and private car, speaking to audiences all over America. He is generally recognized as Oklahoma's ambassador of good will, a speaker and raconteur of international fame, and has been designated as an official "Arkansas Traveler" by legislative enactment of the Arkansas legislature. Some have referred to him as a "One Man United Nations."

Tickets for the banquet are now on sale, and as accommodations are limited, those desiring to hear this famed speaker are urged to get their tickets early. They may be secured from the C. D. A. office or any of the directors.

Local School To Elect All New Board Members

The Munday Independent School Board has ordered a special election for Saturday, April 5, for the purpose of electing all new members on the local board. Decision to elect an entire new board came about as a result of the consolidation of the Munday and Sunset districts.

The election date is the same date on which all school districts of the county will elect board members, there being one or more members whose terms expire.

"Anyone desiring to have his name placed on the ballot as a candidate for school trustee may do so by filing with the secretary of the board," J. E. Reeves, president of the board, stated Tuesday.

Names that had been filed up to noon Tuesday included the following: J. B. Scott, Boyd Meers, J. H. Russell, Ray Holcomb, J. H. Lane, Wayne Patterson and Weldon Floyd.

Fireboys Get New Fire Truck

The Munday Fire Department is proud to report that the new rural fire truck, for which many loyal citizens of this area contributed money, is now completed. It is in the fire truck stall at the city hall. Anyone wishing to inspect the truck is welcome to do so at any time.

The Mack fire truck is being overhauled and put into top mechanical condition at the present time.

Munday is now very well equipped with excellent fire fighting equipment, so in case of a fire, don't hesitate, dial 2041.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

PAWHUSKA, OKLA., OSAGE COUNTY NEWS: "Secretary of the Treasury Snyder favors giving the American people a mental rest for a couple of months' from thinking about taxes. For even so short a period, taxpayers would welcome respite from taxes, but this administration is tax and spending mad, so there'll be no rest from taxes . . ."

BOSTON, MASS., DORCHESTER BEACON: "Washington knew what he was talking about when he wrote in that Farewell Address: 'As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. One method of preserving it is to use it as sparingly as possible.' Wouldn't it be fine if our Administration would adopt that policy, instead of proposing $5 billion dollar budgets and 14,400,000,000 deficits?"

CLARK, S. D., COURIER: "An enlightened people, regardless of where they obtain their information is true and accurate, are the best governed. It is when people are forced into doing the things they know nothing about that revolutions and dissension occur . . . If we are to maintain our freedoms, of speech and writing, we must take a stand against absolute control of the information that effects each and every one of us. The news of the day must be given publicity whether we are in accord or not. Only in this manner can we lay claim to absolute freedom."

CASCADE, IDAHO, NEWS: "There are now 3,825 press agents employed by the various departments of the government at Washington and the best way to kill a newspaper is to fill it with the piffle they send out."

PRICES HERE AND IN RUSSIA

A short time ago the wife of the American ambassador to Russia came home with some clothes she had bought in that wonderful "workers' paradise." She made known the price she had paid for them, along with the prices she would have had to pay for similar articles here. In Russia, the dress cost $128.20—in the U. S. it would sell for $35. The hat cost $34.90 as against $16.95 in America. The gloves cost $18.10 as against $3.00 in our of our stores. Only the shoes were similarly priced in both countries—everything else cost 2 to six times as much in the U. S. S. R.

The disparity is even greater when the take-home pay of Russian workers, which is far lower than that of their American equivalents in purchasing power, is considered.

This is how matters go in a nation which has destroyed almost all private enterprise, and has put government monopolies in its place. The Russian factory belongs to the government, and produces only what some official decides it should produce. The Russian retail store belongs to the government and the prices it charges are fixed by the government. The Kremlin dictators have deliberately kept prices high in many cases, in order to make sure that the people's earnings come traight back into the government coffers. The result is that the great masses of the Russian people live on what Americans wouldn't even regard as a subsistence level.

Contrast this with capitalism—which is the economic system of competitive free enterprise. In every field of production, big and little factories are trying to sell more goods—and they must offer the best value possible or the trade will go elsewhere. Exactly the same thing is true of retailing, where hundreds of thousands of stores of all kinds and sizes are competing for the favor of a fickle public that can patronize whom it chooses in a free market. What system does the most for the people?

"TAILS I WIN, HEADS YOU LOSE"

Everyone, right down to those in the low income brackets, feels the tremendous burden of present-day taxation. Everyone kicks about it. But there is one phase of the tax problem which is given much less consideration than it deserves—and that is what it is doing to the whole financial structure of the nation.

Economic Intelligence, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, dealth with this when it said, "Steeply progressive taxation has virtually dried up the sources of venture capital, so essential for launching new enterprises. It has become more and more difficult, therefore, for the exceptional man, the ambitious employee, the man with a new idea, to set himself up in his own business. And such activities have been the traditional well springs of our American way of life."

Taxes now take close to one-third of the entire national income—which means that, on the average, each of us works one day out of three for the government. In the higher income brackets, taxes takes the majority of the income. Thus, if a man takes a chance, risks his time, money and energy, and succeeds, as much as 90 per cent of all he earns may go to government. If he fails, he must bear the loss himself. It is strictly a "tails I win, heads you lose," proposition. Nothing is more damaging to ambition, incentive and progress.

A nation can destroy itself from within—and no weapon is more powerful than excessive taxation, along with flagrant waste and corruption in government. This is the dark road we have been traveling.

"Contrary to Marx's predictions that Capitalism must inevitably lead to great privately owned monopolies and cartels and the expropriation of the mass of the people by a few powerful usurpers, American Capitalism has dispersed itself on a broader and broader base each year for the good of all. From 4,200,000 shareholders investing in 128 corporations in 1928 we have grown to more than 15,000,000 shareholders in 355 active corporations in 1950."—Reese H. Taylor.

Leases For Irrigated Farms

Although several type of leases are used in irrigated farms on the High Texas Plains, the third-and-fourth share agreement is by far the most common. Such arrangements call for payment of one-third of the grain and one-fourth of the cotton as rent.

A study of farm leases on irrigated farms, of this area was recently completed by William G. Adkins, sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and Cecil A. Parker, associate county agent, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Adkins and Parker found comparatively few straight cash leases—probably no more than 2 per cent. Share-cropping also is very limited.

This study shows that few tenants pay a cash bonus in addition to the crop share. Payment of cash rent for the dwelling or other buildings is a rare practice.

In spite of the added capital investment for irrigation, little difference was noted between crop-share leases on irrigated land and dry land.

Capital investment items seldom are listed. It is a general practice for the landlord to furnish facilities which are not easily detached from the land. And the tenant supplies the more easily moved items.

Adkins and Parker prepared a table of the most frequent arrangement of details for leases. However, they point out that custom is not a completely satisfactory basis for rental agreements. Every agreement

One of the best tools for establishing a successful landlord-tenant rental agreement is a written lease form. Such a form should serve not just as a legal instrument, but as a basis for planning a farming program.

Let's Talk LIVESTOCK

(By Ted Gouldy)

FORT WORTH—Recently the Mozelle High School (Coltman County) 4-H and FFA boys and girls completed their year's commercial livestock feeding project with sale of their livestock in Fort Worth. This project is one of the better ones of its kind that is being operated in the State of Texas and is being watched closely by other school and 4-H groups.

This year, the youngsters, most of them, lost money. The very dry year and the way it worked out was described perfectly by Jerry Allen in talking to this writer at Fort Worth.

Jerry Allen said, "When we started out, livestock prices were high and feed prices were cheap. When we got through, livestock prices were low and feed prices were high." It is always tough to see young folks take a loss, but in talking with these fine Coltman County youngsters, we found they were disappointed—but not discouraged.

To us that is an important difference. Some of these young people told us about comments their own losses this year because of low livestock prices and high costs of operation due to the drought.

It was apparent to the most casual observer that these young people learned a valuable lesson in economics and they got that learning at an age when it will do them a great deal of good. By comparison with the bitter statements I have heard in the past and the bitter tears I have seen youths shed when they lost money or had their calf or lamb sifted out of a big show, these young folks had a much healthier attitude.

Certainly the time is right for more and more of our county groups and school groups to turn away from the impractical pampering of 4-H and FFA calves where a milk cow or two and high priced finishing foods make the program impractical from a financial standpoint.

Too many of the youngsters involved in this type of feeding program learn little or nothing during the process of really down-to-earth livestock production. More of them are discouraged and losses are large in many cases because their calf was bought at a very high price and the cost of finishing it out was impractical.

At Mozelle the contest was judged on cost of stock, cost of gain, record keeping, etc., which showed just what the operation did regardless of the quality of the stock. This is sensible. This is how the livestock business operates. Not everyone can have grand champions, but any boy or girl can be taught the fundamentals of successful livestock production under such a program.

Congratulations to the Coleman County folks and we hope more of our farm and ranch communities will study this program for young men and young women. It makes sense.

Canada is mopping up after an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease and has lost their prime export market to the United States for livestock and livestock products because of the outbreak near Regina, Saskatchewan. This is less than 100 miles from the North Dakota-Montana state lines.

Whether the plague was carried there by immigrant laborers or from stock imported from the British Isles is not yet known.

It appears that this development definitely postponed talk of an early opening of the Mexican border to imports of live cattle. Many men ship lots of cattle to Fort Worth and who previously bought thousands of Mexican cattle doubt that even if the border were opened large numbers of cattle would be allowed to enter the U. S. The Mexican government could put a prohibitive tax on their cattle in order to protect supplies for the Mexican packing industry.

Stocker calves are working higher at Fort Worth when they are light and have quality. Some sales this week up to $36 and $37 are a couple of dollars above two weeks back.

Fat cows at $24 to $25 are much better than two weeks ago also. Maybelle Linthicum, Dallas County, had a load of 1,017 pound cows at $25.

Stocker yearling cattle selling in the $30 to $33 bracket appear stronger this week. Some inquiry from Northern buyers is developing, but most of them have ideas around $8 or so under prices a year ago in the early Spring season.

Currently there are orders for all stockers appearing at the market at firm prices.

J. B. King, Cotton Smith, Lamoine Blacklock and Bill Morris spent the week end in Galveston, visiting with Winston Blacklock, who is a patient in St. Mary's Hospital. Reports are that Winston is improving but will remain in the hospital a while longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Montgomery of Fort Worth visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Clough, and other relatives here over the week end.

WHAT ARE TODAY'S FACTS ABOUT NEW CAR ENGINES AND POWER STEERING?

LAST YEAR Chrysler introduced its new FirePower V-8 engine, and America's first passenger-car full-time power steering. Both new ideas "took hold" in a big way.

Today, others are announcing "new engines" and "power steering" . . . but with some basic differences worth keeping in mind if you're buying a new car.

First: about "new engines." The fact is, a really new engine design happens only once in a great while. It did happen in the FirePower V-8. Its 180 h.p. was only incidental to its basic new design. Its key idea is a hemispherical combustion chamber, which makes even non-premium gasoline develop more usable power than other designs can get from premium fuel.

Only Chrysler engineering has so far mastered this design. Several cars do have some power increase, in terms of previous designs. The important fact is that FirePower is not a "warmed-over" engine, but brand new in performance, construction, and efficiency.

In power steering, too, there are basic differences.

Chrysler uses hydraulic power, always in effect, to do two things. First, it does 4/5 the steering work as you turn the wheel. Second, we've cut the amount of wheel turn needed by over 1/3.

Parking or cruising, you get more and easier control than ever before. In sand, snow, or ruts, the hydraulic power is always there to keep the front wheels from "steering back" at you. You get the same amount and feel of control all the time . . . full-time ease and full-time safety.

Actually, the differences, both in engine performance and in steering safety and ease are impossible to put in words . . . but just as impossible not to feel the moment you get into a Chrysler and drive it! Why not see your Chrysler dealer and do that, soon?

was a tenant farmer but he made more money playing for square dances than he did farming. We slipped away for home several times and went with Jim over to the fork of the creek to play for dances. He would place his chair in the corner of the room, (he exclaimed it was the safest place, "in case of any shootin'") unbutton his shirt, resin his bow and was ready. Jim apparently was tireless, for he could play all night. Of course, his specialty was breakdowns, but included in his repertoire were waltzes for "Round" dancing.

As the dance got into full swing, the atmosphere smelled strongly of tobacco smoke and shoe leather. We have only to close our eyes and relive the scene. We can hear the pounding feet dancing to the rhythm of "Soldier's Joy," the high singing voice of the caller who stood slapping his hands to the time and the increasing tempo as that set reached the "do see do" stage; we can see Jim, his eyes closed, the flying bow, his body swaying and his feet stomping time to the music. Twenty-five cents a set for each male partner was the standard price for the old square dance. We witnessed one or two gun plays which were nipped in the bud by the man of the house snatching a double-barreled shotgun from a rack over the door with the announcement that if any shooting was done in the house, he would do it.

But Jim, is gone now; yes, he has been dead for several years. And what a pleasant thought to picture in our mind Jim being in that celestial city above, in some secluded, shady corner, seated in our old rope-bottom chair with that old battered fiddle-cuddled under his chin coaxing a sweet melody from it during an intermission of the that heavenly band of which we have heard so much.

Cpl. Wayne Floyd visited his sister, Mrs. Ansel Jackson and family in Slaton and with friends in Muleshoe last week end.

LADY GINNER AND OLD FRIEND

It's a cotton gin all right. It will be shown at the Mid-South Gin Machinery and Supply Exhibit in Memphis, March 10-12. This Churrka gin is said to pre-date Eli Whitney's invention by several centuries, having been used by the ancient India Hindus as early as 3,000 years ago. The young lady seems to have no trouble operating it—far cry from the complex cotton gin of today!

School Board Members Go To State Meet

J. E. Reeves, Ray Holcomb and W. C. Cox attended the 1952 Citizens Advisory Conference on Education held in Austin Monday and Tuesday of this week. There were seven major problems discussed.

1. A State Guaranteed Minimum program for every District in Texas.
 2. Local Action to Assure Efficiency
 3. Financial Support and Structure of Education
 4. Standards for Education
 5. Administration of State Funds.
 6. Citizens Participation in Education
 7. What We Expect From Education.
- Citizens attended from parts of the State. Each of these problems were studied and discussed by at least three committees for each problem. Each committee was composed of citizens from various parts of the state so that each committee would represent a cross-section of the State. Then by dividing into several committees each group would be small enough so that each member could be heard. These people did talk. It was very gratifying to learn from their talking that they were interested in the education of the youth of America and they were vitally interested in the type of education that youth received and wanted to do what they could about educational problems that might arise. It was evident that although there were differences of opinion of a minor nature there was a common agreement on the solution of each problem presented. There was constructive criticism both pro and con relative to our Public School System, yet as a whole these committees came to the conclusion that the schools were doing a pretty good job.

It was practically a unanimous opinion that the public schools are not giving enough attention to the practical citizenship values. Especially those of the spiritual and moral nature. Schools are not selling America and the American way of life enough. It was also stressed that there was a grave danger when schools strayed away from the three R's for the fundamentals of education. It was stated time and again that there was not enough citizen participation in the public school program. For example there should be more visitation on the part of the patrons. There should be a greater interest shown in trustee election, a better get acquainted attitude should be assumed on the part of both teachers and patrons. Until citizens manifest greater interest education can not be what it ought to be. Citizens should participate in the shaping of the public educational program in a direct manner. It was the general expression that the public is willing and ready to finance the type of program that it demands. The public wants well qualified teachers. Teachers that have an adequate sense of moral and spiritual value. Teachers that will teach the American way of life and will sell this way of life to youth and the public is willing to pay this type of teacher an adequate salary.

It was generally conceded that the Gilmer-Aiken program is a great improvement but that some "bugs" were present. Several suggestions were made for the modification of some of the provisions such as: Transportation, Economic Index and Teacher Load.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says If Washington Declares We Have A Disaster, We Should Act Like It

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has been reading the papers again, his letter this week indicates. Dear editor:

I was out here yesterday speculating on the weather situation and wonderin whether I was gonna be able to make another crop this year with conditions like the year when I noticed a puff of wind hustlin a newspaper along through my pasture and since I figured I might as well be lookin in that direction as any I kept followin it with my eyes and noticed it rolled into a bobwire fence and later in the day I worked my way down to it and picked it up, it was hangin on the third wire from the bottom and I didn't even have to bend over to reach it, and took it off to a sunny spot and sat down and opened it up and the first thing I read was an article saying Washington has declared the entire state of Texas a disaster area, on account of the drought.

While I am pleased to see Washington bring the rest of the state up to the level of my farm, which has been a disaster area since I took it over, I believe we could make better headway with gettin relief if the banks would stop publishin financial statements and people would stop drivin new cars and eatin so well.

While I am doing my part to maintain a disaster status, in fact my wife tells me my farmin would be on a disaster level if

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It Isn't the Heat— It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

WOOLLY BEAR SAYS
Jaint Spring yet so take my tip. Winter still will crack that whip!

Is the Woolly Bear right? How is your weather? His stripes predicted it would be a reasonably mild winter but with occasional severe conditions. As the weather forecaster for Super Pyro he has the backing of Dr. C. H. Curran, Curator, American Museum of Natural History, N. Y., who has been correct in his observations of the Woolly Bear markings for several years.

If I could get a rain ever time I held up my hand and cotton was sellin for 50 cents a pound, the rest of the people of the state ain't cooperatin.

If Washington says we got a disaster our hands, the least we can do is act like it. We keep up this anti-disaster spending and buyin and runnin around in good cars and buyin round steak and before you know it some expert in Washington will get suspicious. It's not treatin Washington right. If Washington says we got a disaster in every county in Texas, let's have a disaster in every county. The first thing a man wantin a pension ought to do is remove his flashy diamonds. Washington wasn't born yesterday. Maybe the day before, but not yesterday.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Cotton Varieties For Texas Given In New Bulletin

Cotton varieties for the different areas of Texas are given in a new bulletin, "Performance of Cotton Varieties in Texas, 1948-50."

This bulletin, published jointly by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, gives information obtained in the first three years of a statewide cotton variety evaluation program. Other bulletins will be issued at the end of each succeeding 3-year testing period.

Experiment station agronomists divided the state into three regions for systematic testing. And the Extension Service designated 10 production areas to provide a practical basis for variety recommendations.

D. T. Killough, agronomist in charge of the cotton variety testing program, points out that varieties recommended for a given region or area often do not include all varieties in the highest yielding group.

Varieties are recommended on basis of yield of lint cotton per

Rides Runaway Nag In "Boots Malone"

An impromptu, but fairly complete, rehearsal of one of the most difficult scenes in Columbia Pictures' "Boots Malone," starring William Holden at the Roxy Theatre, occurred on location at the Riverside, Calif., De Anza racetrack.

The script calls for young Johnny Stewart, who makes his first movie appearance in "Boots Malone" as an aspiring jockey, to do some unhearsered and very rough, riding when a horse runs away with him. Stand-in jockey Dickie Rossal, up on a hunter, lost control when the horse reared, threw him and galloped off. Jockey Bill Pearson, mounted on a pony, took after the horse, caught him but was unseated in the attempt to stop him. Pearson was carried halfway around the track, hanging onto the bridle of the two horses, before the animals could be steered in to the rail and halted.

Not a camera turned, but the company felt it had had a complete rehearsal of the sequence it would later have to shoot with Stewart.

Milton Holmes produced and wrote "Boots Malone."

Pfc. and Mrs. Joe Lynn Yost of Washington are here visiting friends and relatives before he is restationed at San Antonio.

Church when it was established in 1906. Former pastors who were on the day's program are: Rev. Wid Griffin of Golieth, Rev. J. W. Baughman of Goree, retired; and Rev. Ira C. Kiker, now secretary of the Board of Education of the North Texas Methodist Conference, of Dallas.

Rev. Bourdon Smith, pastor, presided over the services of the day, and other speakers included Rev. J. H. Crawford, superintendent of the Stamford district. Dinner was served at noon in the Goree Memorial Building, with ladies of the various church groups in charge. Cars were double-parked along the streets near the church location all during the day while people gathered for the services.

To old timers of the church were unable to be present, but their achievements were recognized during the services. W. W. Coffman, 76, was preparing a history of the church but became ill last Thursday and was taken to Scott and White Clinic in Temple. Rev. S. Y. Allgood, pastor in 1949 when the building improvement program was first planned, retired and moved to Georgia, and was unable to return for the opening.

A wealth of flowers throughout the sanctuary and church entry added brightness to the occasion. There were memorial arrangements which families of the congregation had placed there in memory of relatives.

All in all, it was a high spiritual occasion for the Methodist congregation and their friends of Goree and those who came from far-away places.

Members of the building committee are: Orb Coffman, chairman; Barton Carl, secretary and treasurer; Billy Hutchens, C. C. Roberts and Homer Moore.

for if you came face to face with the person in need. It's help that must be there, ready, when your neighbor in this county, or a thousand miles away, needs it." Mr. Desgrange pointed out that the Red Cross is the means of carrying out a person's natural impulse to help others, providing a practical way for people to give of their time and financial support for that purpose.

"The Red Cross is the people," he stressed. "Volunteers make its services possible, and every person who backs them up with funds is a part of the Red Cross. It's your Red Cross, not for just a few of the people. You have helped make Red Cross what it is, and you will help shape its future. Knox County has reached only half its goal with about two more weeks to go; therefore, when a volunteer solicitor calls on you in your community to 'Answer The Call,' remember that the call is not a call for your community alone, but a call for all people to give a hand to a neighbor wherever he may be in need."

Mrs. Erna Mae Lee of Wichita Falls visited friends and relatives here over the week end.
