Revival Meeting Brought to Close Tuesday Evening

The revival meeting which began at the Methodist church on May 22nd, under the auspices of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches of the city, was brought to a close Tuesday evening at the community auditorium, where the services were transferred the latter part of last week due to the increased attendance which made it impossible to accommodate the audience in the church building.

Those who attended the services and heard the messages delivered by the Rev. Bryan H. Keathley, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Graham, were favorably impressed with the simple, earnest sermons delivered by him. While he does not resort to the sensational methods used by many evangelists, he kept the interest of his audiences every minute of the time, and every message was a helpful one to those outside and inside the church. His messages were entirely free from denominational differences, he contenting himself to preach the gospel of salvation through repentance, faith, and obedience of God's laws.

The evangelistic singer in charge of the song services throughout the meeting, Victor Harrison of Wintersboro, Texas, came as one already established in the hearts of the citizens of Munday, and his work with the young people and as song leader was such that he made many new friends and worked and sang his way into the hearts of many more.

From every angle the pastors sponsoring the meeting are well pleased with the results attained, for they feel that the spiritual life of all of the churches of the town have been greatly revived and a number of conversions resulted from the series of meetings.

J. D. Kethley Builds Cheiroscope, Modern Method Eye Treatment

In modern years much scientific research work, and according to authorities in this line, the surface has merely been scratched, and great developments are yet to come along the line of treatment of defective vision—the greatest of the senses.

J. D. Kethley, Munday optometrist, has been a student of these modern methods for many years and has always kept abreast with the progress of the profession, and the equipment which he has for the proper fitting of glasses is second to none in West Texas.

To this modern equipment Dr. Kethley has recently added a new machine—a Cheiroscope—designed for the treatment of amblyopic squint, or just squint eyes, or in the language of the laymen we might better say weak eyes. The machine is built after the lines of a machine invented by Dr. Ernest E. Maddox of England, and is designated not only to strengthen weak or squint eyes, but has proven successful to a large degree on the straightening and strengthening of crossed eyes. The machine is built on the principle of exercising dormant nerves by means of moving objects.

The principle of the machine is one of a technical nature and would be difficult for the layman to describe and would be equally difficult for him to understand, but Mr. Kethley will be glad to explain the machine to anyone interested.

The machine has been completely built by Mr. Kethley at odd times, and he has been working on it at intervals for many weeks, and he believes that it will prove of great benefit in the treatment of eye troubles for which it is designed.

Weinert Ball Team Disbands, Leaving Vacancy in League

The Weinert team of the Brazos Valley Baseball League has disbanded, it was announced following Sunday's game with Sunset, and unless another team is taken into the league the remainder of the season will be played minus one team.

We are informed that a meeting of the league has been called to Thursday night to discuss the vacancy, and it is likely that Seymour will ask for admittance into the league. In fact, it is stated that a number of towns would like a berth in the league, but officials are desirous of keeping the league confined to towns as close together as possible.

Munday Mentioned In List of Towns For P. O. Building

Munday was among the towns mentioned in Speaker Garner's two billion dollar building program, designed to relieve the depression, in a bill introduced last week in congress for a $55,000 postoffice building, but was dropped from the list of Texas towns later by the introduction of another bill from which Munday together with a number of other towns were stricken from the list.

Texas towns named in the original bill for $55,000 appropriations for post office buildings which were later stricken from the bill are Angleton, Canton, Clifton, Goliad, Hico, Iran, Junction, Kerens, Lockney, Munday, Ralls, Richmond, San Augustine, Shiner, Sourlake and Weiner.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS PROPERTY

A deal was made this week where Mrs. R. B. Wilson disposed of the two-story brick building, the lower floor of which is occupied by the Economy store, to T. J. Thompson, and in the transaction Mrs. Wilson acquired some residential property owned by Mr. Thompson.

Dates Tri-County Golf Tournament Set For June 18-24

At a meeting of members of the Munday Golf Club Wednesday afternoon the dates for the Tri-County Golf association meet, which is to be held with the Munday club, was changed from the week beginning June 4th, to June 18-24th. The qualifying rounds are to be played on Saturday, Sunday or Monday, June 18, 19 and 20th, and the match play to take place June 21, 22 and 23, with the finals to be played, Friday, June 24th.

All matches are to be of 18 holes and all finals are to go 36 holes, according to a ruling of the tournament committee, and a tournament committee is composed of H. F. Barnes, R. G. Campbell and E. M. Ammons, while the prize committee is composed of E. E. Akers and R. D. Atkinson. W. H. Atkinson and E. J. Roberts compose the fairway committee.

Another meeting of the club will be called the early part of next week at which time details pertaining to the entertainment of the visitors will be worked out and committees assigned to look after the various details of the tournament.

Rhineland Pounds Out 20-5 Win Over Goree

After a shaky start in which Goree scored four runs in the first inning, Rhineland's pitching ace, hurried inevitable ball, allowing only three hits the remaining eight innings while his mates pounded out 23 hits to score an easy 20 to 5 victory over Goree. L. Kuehler and Albert Loran led the home team's attack, the former with three singles and a triple and the latter with four bingles. Bilby led the visitors' attack with two hits.

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

Munday Hammers Way to 12-6 Win Over Bomarton

Both teams registered a score for every hit made in the game here Sunday afternoon between Bomarton and Munday, in which Munday took the big end of the score.

Thurman started for Bomarton but was relieved in the second frame after the heavy-hitting Munday aggregation had gotten to him for six hits and eight runs, and Rhames, Bomarton's southpaw managed to hold them to 6 hits and 4 runs throughout the remainder of the game. Abbott went all the way for Munday, and yielded only 6 hits throughout the entire game, and was given very good support by his teammates, especially sensational was the fielding of King in center field.

Skipper Burton is highly elated over the showing the boys are making, and is convinced that his organization will be one of the contenders for a title in the league before the race is over.

Tax-Payers Urged To Attend Meeting Here Next Saturday

Tax payers of this community are called upon to attend a meeting at the Klan hall on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in a call issued by O. W. Lee, who has been selected by W. E. Coffman, chairman of the Tax Payers Relief association, organization of which was perfected at Benjamin following the meeting of the Democratic county convention there some weeks ago.

Tax matters will be discussed at this meeting and delegates will be chosen to attend the county-wide meeting to be held at Benjamin on Tuesday, May 7th, a call for which has been issued by Mr. Coffman.

Mr. Coffman has named a committee of citizens to take investigations into the salaries paid the various county officers with a view of ascertaining if some measures of economy cannot be made, and the bringing relief to the citizens of the county.

The meeting to be held here will be open to every tax payer within the county, as will the meeting to follow at Benjamin, and as many as can do so are urged to attend these meetings, according to Judge Lee.

J. C. Elliott Buys Home Bakery Here From F. L. Decker

A deal was consummated on Tuesday of this week whereby J. C. Elliott purchased the Home Bakery from F. L. Decker, who established the business in Munday some ten years ago and who has conducted the business continuously since its establishment. Mr. Elliott assumed charge of the business on Wednesday and announces that he will continue the business without any material changes, and will retain the services of Mr. Liffier as baker, who has been associated with the business at intervals for some years, and who is considered an expert in his line.

We are sure that the citizens of Munday will be pleased to have Mr. Elliott return to this, his old home town, and become associated with the business life of the city. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Elliott, and was practically reared in Munday. For the past year he has been serving as principal of the public schools at Happy, Texas, which position has been tendered him for the coming year, but he has chosen to engage in business, and has chosen Munday as the place in which to do so, and we extend our heartiest best wishes to him in his business venture.

Mr. Decker recently purchased a bakery at Childress, and has been there for the past several weeks, leaving for the local business in charge of Mrs. Decker, and since the sale of the business here they will move to Childress within the next few days. During their residence in Munday, Mr. and Mrs. Decker have identified themselves with every movement for the progress and development of our city and community, and it is with reluctance that we give them up as citizens, and they will carry with them the best wishes of a large host of friends.

Mrs. John H. Beck Pioneer Citizen of Knox County, Dead

It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Mrs. John H. Beck of the Cottonwood community, whose death occurred Wednesday evening. Funeral services are being conducted this (Thursday) afternoon at Vera. Mr. and Mrs. Beck were pioneers of Knox county, and have resided in the Cottonwood community for the past 35 years, and news of her death will be received with deep regret by a large host of friends in all sections of the county. She is survived by her husband and several children.

Further details on the life of this good woman will be published in our next week's issue.

Mrs. Beck was the mother of Grady Beck of this city, and in addition to the son here she is survived by her husband and several other children.

Car Patterson of Benjamin was in the city Wednesday.

PRIMITIVE BAPTISTS.

We are requested to announce that Elders Short of Crosbyton and W. H. Richards of Rule will preach at the Primitive Baptist church at the cemetery Sunday night.

Also that Elder A. D. Russell will preach at Lake Creek Sunday morning. The public is invited to these services.

New Awnings.

New awnings have been built at the front of the Broach buildings occupied by Tiner Drug Co., Hanco Grocery, Akers Dry Goods Co., Burton's Cafe and McCarty Barber Shop. The new awnings are of lumber and replace cloth awnings originally placed on the buildings, and add greatly to the appearance of the buildings.

E. J. Roberts received a telephone message on last Friday afternoon from E. J. Roberts, Jr. at Ft. Line, Texas, advising him that a fine seven-pound daughter had just arrived in their home, and Grandpa Roberts was very happy over the event. Both baby and the mother were getting along nicely, Mr. Roberts stated.

Car Patterson of Benjamin was in the city Wednesday.

Thinking Out Loud

By J. A. K.

Up in New York they are investigating Mayor Jimmie Walker with a view of finding out where Jimmie has gotten several hundred thousand dollars since he became mayor.

One citizen stated that he had contributed several hundred thousand to the mayor after his little son had inquired as to how his honor could manage to get along on the measly $25,000 salary.

TOL doesn't draw anything like the salary as mayor of Munday, and we have heard of no inquisitive kids in this town.

However, the presiding elder of this column isn't anticipating any trips to Hollywood or Europe, and probably would not need anything like the amount required by the dapper New York executive.

Munday was allotted one of the $55,000 postoffice buildings in the original draft of the Garner reconstruction program, but no sooner had the list been announced than a list of towns, including Munday, was withdrawn.

Millions of dollars annually is paid by the government as rental on post-office buildings over the United States, notwithstanding the fact that these buildings, if owned by the government, would be free from all taxation.

Now comes O. C. Harrison of the Baylor County Banner with a dirty dig at us along general lines. Editor Harrison says, says he, in a letter to TOL:

"You are darn sure going to have to learn to play golf or get out a newspaper one. Why don't your dirty sheet say anything about the tri-county tournament, providing there is such a thing, or you have boogs gone so hay-wire on baseball that you have discontinued golf? At any rate, let us have something about the tournament so we can make some plans. Possibly you might consider the thing better off without the Seymour sharpshooters entering."

Now, isn't that a hateful way to write? Certainly, our memory runs back to the time when Munday could only boast of having a good bunch of golfers, but now we can boast of a good ball nine and also a bunch of cracking good golfers, and these golfers are going to show the Seymourites a trick or two in this tournament. (Continued on back page.)

AN IMPORTANT OFFICE.

During the next two months there will likely be much interest in the governors race. Adherents of the various candidates will be loudly shouting the claims of their respective candidates, and it is very likely that other candidates for state office will receive only passing notice or consideration.

But in reality there are officials to be elected whose acts have a more direct bearing on the purse strings of every citizen than does the governor, and at least as much care should be exercised in choosing these officials as is exercised in choosing a governor.

There are two members of the Texas Railroad Commission to be elected in the approaching primaries, and the selection of capable and competent men of integrity to fill these places, to our way of thinking, has as much bearing on the welfare of the citizens of Texas as does the acts of the governor.

The Texas Railroad Commission through its rate-making authority touches the purse strings of every citizen of Texas. This body fixes the freight rate that must be paid on all commodities shipped within the state. It fixes the rate that the farmer must pay to get his cotton, corn, raise and other commodities to market. It fixes the rate that the merchant must pay to get his merchandise from the markets. It fixes the rate that you must pay for your gas. It regulates gas and all production within the state, and thereby exercises a big influence in fixing the price that the consumer must pay for these commodities. In fact, its authority far exceeds that of any body or individual in matters directly affecting the price of almost all commodities, and the much care in selecting the members of the commission cannot be exercised.

Let's not lose sight of the most important things during the campaign. Let's choose public officials who will really serve the public. Remember that "Jones pays the freight" both ways.

THE BROOKS BILL AGAIN.

The county commissioners of Harrison county have started a move to have Gov. Sterling call a one-day special session of the legislature to pass the Brooks bill.

The commissioners want of Harrison county is acting upon the statement made by Gov. Sterling last week at Grapevine in which he stated that the only possible chance to relieve the burden of the tax-payer at this time was by the passage of the Brooks bill, which was introduced at the last session of the legislature and failed to pass.

The Brooks bill was designed to divert the moneys now being collected by the state in gasoline taxes to the various counties of the state to pay outstanding bonded indebtedness incurred for road-building purposes.

The passage of the bill would relieve the tax payers of Knox county of a great burden at this time. The Ex-jamin-Vet. precinct is heavily bonded and under present conditions the tax-payers of that precinct are in an "ice" condition. The Knox City precinct is also paying a total tax of $115, while the Munday-Cove precinct is paying .35c tax on bonds issued for the building of Highway 30.

If there is a sincere desire on the part of members of the legislature to relieve the "ice" condition now existing over the state, the Brooks bill offers the only avenue of relief.

Of course there are numerous arguments against the passage of the bill, principal among which would be the curtailment of highway building in the state. Such curtailment would throw many who are engaged in highway construction work out of employment, and this was the argument used against the bill when it was up for passage at the regular session of the legislature.

If ever in the history of the state there existed an emergency the time is now, for even with abundant crops and under most favorable growing conditions, the farmers of Texas cannot meet their tax obligations, and of course this means that others cannot do so, and even though it might retard the highway building program of the state, it seems that the passage of the Brooks bill at this time would bring about the only relief that can be had.

A WISE CHOICE

The appointment of Mayor E. O. Thompson of Amarillo to the post of Railroad Commissioner to succeed Hon. Pat Mc Neff will meet with the hearty support of the citizens of Texas who are familiar with Col. Thompson's official career.

As mayor of Amarillo Col. Thompson has brought about reductions in gas rates, telephone rates and other charges made by public utilities, and has shown himself to be capable of wrestling with situations that others would have passed up as impossible and hopeless. While he has shown a willingness to give the utilities interests a fair profit, he has demanded and secured a fair rate to the citizens of his city, and we believe that he will stand for the same square deal to the people of Texas.

Col. Thompson will be a candidate to succeed himself in the July primaries, having withdrawn from the race for congressman at large, to which post he announced some months ago, and he will likely be a winner in the primaries.

ODD—BUT TRUE

IN ENGLAND AND FRANCE THE CHURCH, THE NOBILITY AND THE COMMONS WERE KNOWN AS THE THREE ESTATES OF THE REALM - BECAUSE OF ITS INFLUENCE ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS THE PRESS BECAME KNOWN AS THE FOURTH ESTATE

It is to be hoped that he will be accorded more cooperation from the other two members of the commission than was his predecessor, who has been consistently ignored since his election, and the commission has been dominated exclusively by the two other members.

The Railroad Commission is the one rate-making body between the public utilities and the people, and the post is therefore one of the most important in the state government, and we believe that Gov. Sterling has chosen wisely in naming Col. Thompson.

The Postoffice Department of which Mr. Glover—who tells Missouri postmasters to boost the candidacy of Hoover or resign—is an assistant Postmaster-General, has a deficit of $150,000,000, but what is efficiency and economy with whooping it up for Hoover?

—Benjamin Post.
Sure, Charles, what does a little deficit of $150,000,000 amount to so long as Mr. Glover and his political followers are up at the pie counter? For many years the Postoffice Department has been in direct competition with the printing industry in the matter of stamped envelopes. We all know that millions have been lost by the government in printing and delivering stamped envelopes at a price below what an individual concern would have to pay for the stock at the factory, but this vast amount of money lost by the government goes into the coffers of big business. Mr. Average Citizen doesn't see any great number of these stamped and printed envelopes, and in small quantities he pays for what he uses but when it comes to big quantities, Uncle Sam all us little fellows backed off the boards. But anyway, Charles, our deficit isn't as big as that.

Elbert Hughes, accompanied by his brothers, Chandler and Jack, were in Abilene on Tuesday, May 24th, to witness the graduation of the brother, Alvin, who on that date received his A. B. degree from Abilene Christian College. Alvin is a graduate of the Munday High School, and was one of the outstanding members of his class when in high school here, and we congratulate him upon having reached this point in his preparation for life's work.

even if we have to get into the thing ourselves.

And the Seymourites might come out of hibernation and get into this baseball thing themselves. It provides excellent exercise for the boys that play, and develops the vocal cords of the fans. It's the great American game, and even the heathen Chinese are taking it up. In fact, it's played most everywhere, except at Seymour.

Mrs. E. B. Bowden has offered a very fine suggestion, and we are sure the many who are interested will cooperate with her in the movement suggested.

Mrs. Bowden suggests that all citizens who have flowers growing in their yards this spring, and there are more than usual, save the seed, and she will gather them and turn them over to the sexton at the cemetery to be planted there. She requests that the seed be labeled so that the variety may be determined, and she will gather them up and turn them over to the sexton to be planted out there in the city of the dead. It is a timely suggestion, and we know everyone will cooperate heartily in such a worthy undertaking.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

We are looking for a great time next Sunday. We are counting on you to help us put it over in a way that will honor the Lord's cause. For the past several months the general interest has been increasing and reaching out.

There will be special music at both the morning and evening services.

Sermon subjects:
Morning, "A Risen Christ and a Living Hope;" Evening, "Corals and Cart Kopes."

The morning services at the regular hours, ten and eleven.

We extend to the entire membership of the church an urgent appeal to attend, and to all others a cordial invitation to any or all of our services.

—W. H. ALBERTSON.

A SALUTATORY

Mavourneen Reeves
"Play Your Part"
Parents, teachers, friends, and classmates, tonight I have the joyous part of this occasion—bidding you welcome. As salutatorian of the Senior Class of 1931 and 1932 I have been designated as the one to extend this welcome. At this time our thoughts are naturally happy ones, as we think of welcome, but later, on this same program, we know they will turn sad when the valedictorian, speaking for all the members of this class, says farewell. Even the events of this short time tonight seem to show us vividly unpleasantness for any happiness we enjoy. Life seems to be made up of welcomes and farewells, "hello's" and "adieu's". Shakespeare said of life, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players: They have their exits and their entrances; And one man in his time plays many parts, his acts being seven ages."

How are you playing your part? If you are playing it the best you can, then you will be a good citizen and will be doing your duty whether you have all your thoughts and efforts directed to this end or not. Just now you are playing one of seven parts. First, is the sweet infant age; then the young school boy, with his shining morning face walking slowly and unwillingly to school. And then the high school boy, again with bright shining face, walking more quickly to school, now that he thinks he is obtaining some knowledge; he has stepped more from his home, acting the adolescent he is, with interests many and varied. Then the college boy, if he is fortunate enough to be one—the lover, sighing and singing a woeeful, beautiful ballad to his lady-love. Then a young business or professional man, quick in thought and action, using his amazing vitality and brilliance to find a settled business man, with eyes more serene, and full of wise sayings and examples. He has thoughts of retiring to another act. The scene which ends this strange, eventful history shifts into the flesh, spectral grandfather, retired from business, who smokes his pipe and dreams of his youth. He has second childhood and sweet mere oblivion until the breath of life is left no longer.

The first thing you must do is to find your part. This does not necessarily apply to the infant age or nature or instinct does her part directing our chubby, baby hands. In this age we do not possess many distinguishing characteristics. Our days more or less contain a routine of habits. We spend our time smiling, attempting to talk and causing our fond mother to love us more. We do not have to spend much effort for accomplishments.

The next age is a long step from the first. We step out from the home influence more to start our education—in the school and in the world. During this age we are apt to think that obtaining education is not important and we do not hasten to the school building each morning. But this is just a good time to start developing our character, which is the "aim of life." We must do as Charles Kingsley said, "Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and forced to do your best, will breed in you temperance, self-control, diligence, strength of will, content, and a hundred other virtues which the idle never know."

Now when we are high school students our views change somewhat. We want to receive our education completely, but we feel other interests beckoning to us. We seniors are beginning to hear the business world, social world, and future life calling. Our characters have learned many truths of life during this act. The truth has been brought home to us many times before the curtain falls that every day more is expected of us. We have heard among many things the stories of the actors on the theater stage who, when they have received some great disappointment and sorrow, have said, "The show must go on;" then squared their shoulders and marched out upon the stage to play their parts. In most every case they have been rewarded by great success leading to fame. We, as actors upon the stage of life, may rest assured that we shall be successful if we go "on with the show!"

As the curtain closes on our high school life we hope for most of us that the next act will be played at some college. Here we shall be polishing and finishing our education, learning to be capable and efficient for our future work. During this act we shall probably think seriously of the institution of matrimony and many shall surely enter it. But we must rest assured that Shakespeare said, "If we wish to succeed in any line,— 'This above all—to thy own self be true.'"

And it must follow as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." To you who are already playing this act we say, "Don't be a quitter. It's the way a man strikes to a thing that marks him as a success or a failure. Many a man has won out at the eleventh hour just because he wouldn't let go." This act is the climax.

When we have become established in life, some with life-mates, we shall enter the business world with more energy. We shall work, we shall work for a place in the sun, and success is victory, shall obtain it. We shall have great ambitions and work toward them, becoming good citizens. Devyer said in "The Citizen," "We grow great by dreams. All big men have dreams. They see things in the soft haze of a spring day or in the red fire of a long winter's evening. Some of us let those great dreams die, but others nourish and protect them, nurse them through bad days till they bring them to the sunshine and light which come always to those who sincerely hope that their dreams will come true."

When we enter the next act we shall have passed the springtime of our lives. We shall see younger persons struggling up the same ladder we have climbed and shall be able to offer them help. As a result of our labors in younger life we shall probably be rewarded by our highest recognition and reward. During this act we shall be thinking of our last act.

The last scene will be when we are "old people." Retired from business, we shall sit back and dream of our youth, its sunshine and shadows. We shall spend most of our time thinking of what we have done in our lives, no longer being able to do and mold them. We may measure its success by this standard: "He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem, or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty; or failed to express it; who has looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose memory is a benediction." The curtain will be rung down on the drama of our one life.

Play your part the best you can in all of the acts and you will be able to say as Browning said,
"God's in his heaven,

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT
by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1931, by Wynne, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 5

That Auction and Contract and their attendant rules are not yet standard, used throughout the country is well illustrated by the following request for decision from one of the writer's California correspondents: "During a game of Auction the other night, one of the players threw his hand on the table and demanded a new deal, declaring that he had neither an ace nor face card. Another player claimed he was wrong as he should have waited till the trump was declared and then if he had neither 'ace, face nor trump,' he could have claimed a new deal. This point has caused considerable discussion and difference of opinion so please decide it for us."

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. What should A bid with the foregoing hand at either Auction or Contract? A should undoubtedly pass, hoping that Z will obtain the bid at no trump. In the

The writer was under the impression that the following problem was rather easy until one of his correspondents wrote in regard to it: "Only an ostrich would call this problem simple." Why he selected an "ostrich" for comparative purposes is doubtful but probably because of its purported lack of intelligence. After that statement, however, the writer will refrain from expressing an opinion. See if you can figure it out before reading the solution that follows.

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win three of the five tricks against any defense?
Solution: Z should lead the jack of spades and A should play the queen, although he knows that it must lose the trick. By so doing, he retains his truce in Y's suit. If he were to play his ace on the jack, he would leave Y with the truce and Y Z would now win four tricks against any defense. A must play the queen of spades and Y wins the trick with the king. Y should now lead the eight of hearts; B plays the deuce and Z should play the nine. If he should play the king, A should play the queen and A B will then win the last three tricks. When Z plays the nine, however, A must win with the queen. Now either Z wins the king of hearts and Y the nine of spades or else Y takes two tricks in spades. In other words, Y Z must win three of the five tricks.
