

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

Famous saying: "I'd sure like to see it rain."

Add to that the $64 question: "When is it gonna rain?" and you have the two most often spoken sentences in these parts.

Everybody wants it to rain, including the young children who have never seen a rain.

Farmers agree that it's most too late to be of any benefit to 1952 crops of any kind—but still they want it to rain.

They want it to rain because lots of farmers are also cattlemen, whether on a large or small scale. They'd like a rain so they can plant wheat for winter grazing.

And that grazing picture is sort of dark and getting darker as winter comes nearer.

Hasn't been enough moisture to maintain any grass. In fact, we've seen spots of pasture land as bare as a well traveled road.

So cattle are getting poorer, cattle prices going down, feed is scarce as well as money to buy it, and winter's coming for sure.

So the matter of rain is a rather potent topic of conversation.

Prospects looked some better Monday, although a daily paper came out with the headline, "High, 85 degrees, No rain."

Prospects always look better to us, though, when there's heavy thunderheads popping up. Then when it begins to thunder, we even become more hopeful.

And so it did thunder—and rain—Monday. But when the shower was over it was barely noticeable when one got off the pavement.

Which also brings to mind a conversation we had a small part in Monday morning.

We had a newcomer to our town, having come here after it rained.

A few months ago, he came as pastor of the Munday Methodist Church, and a good job he's doing pastoring the church, getting acquainted with the town and its people.

We suppose he's been puzzled quite a bit since arriving here about a certain situation in our town.

So Monday he asked just how often we needed that drainage ditch that runs along the south part of town.

It's been some time since any of us have seen that ditch carrying off the surplus water—but we hope to see it again.

We keep paying drainage district taxes against the day when said ditch will come in handy.

We've seen the time since it was constructed that it had more than it could do to take care of the water. Don't ask us for any dates, but we've seen it, and we hope to see it again.

We hope, too, that our pastor sees it carrying off the water the town doesn't need.

Another sign that winter is coming is the opening of the football season.

A pretty good bunch of fans seemed to enjoy seeing the Moguls in action last Friday night, especially since they came out one point in the lead.

They go to Seymour next Friday night. They may, or may not, win this game, but we believe our Moguls will be chalking up some more wins this season.

Big time stuff starts next Saturday, and lots of radios will be tuned in for Humble's broadcast of the college games.

Local Dealer Wins Bermuda Cruise In Contest On Sales Of Refrigerators

An 8-day ocean cruise was top prize for a local firm in the recent International Harvester refrigerator sales contest, which closed some two weeks ago.

Winner of first place in the Sweetwater district, which includes 30 dealers, was Munday Truck and Tractor Company. During the heat of the contest it appeared that the local firm was securely wedged in second place, but the final report of sales brought Munday Truck & Tractor Company ahead of the Cotten Butane and Appliance Company of Stamford.

N. A. Chastain, manager of the local store, and Mrs. Chastain plan to make the trip. They will sail from New York on the "Queen of Bermuda" on Saturday, October 11 and dock back in New York on October 18. The cruise includes visits to beautiful Bermuda and Nassau.

The Stamford firm, winner of second place, was also awarded the cruise, while substantial prizes went to others of high sales records through fifth place.

Now that cotton picking time is here, let's have a look at a cotton field evolution. Thanks to agricultural science, the mechanical picker now can do the work of 40 men. More cotton was harvested mechanically last year than ever before; a new high in mechanical harvesting is predicted this year, the National Cotton Council reveals.

Moguls Journey To Seymour Next Friday Night

It's always a top-notch non-conference game of the season when the Munday Moguls and the Seymour Panthers meet in their annual football engagement.

Friday night is expected to be no exception, as the Moguls journey to Seymour for this annual battle. Realizing that a tough conflict is in store, the local boys are going through rugged practice periods this week.

While the Moguls were edging out Iowa Park last Friday night, the Panthers took a shelling of 25 to 14 from the strong 9-A Crowell Wildcats.

The season is not far enough advanced for any sort of prediction or of comparing the merits of the two teams. However, judging from past seasons, fans will see high school football at its best Friday night at Seymour.

Negro Man's Body Believed Identified

Sheriff Homer T. Melton said the first of this week that the body of a Negro man found on the Burnett Ranch east of Benjamin had been tentatively identified as Joe N. Richards of Crosbyton. He was released from the state hospital in Austin on August 26, and apparently was on his way home when death overtook him.

Cause of death was pronounced as resulting from heat exhaustion or from natural causes, and probably occurred 10 days to two weeks before the body was discovered. Sheriff Melton said findings have identified the 33-year-old man as Richards, but positive identification will be determined by fingerprint reports from Washington.

The body was disinterred Tuesday and taken to Crosbyton for reburial.

Moguls Take Season's Opener From The Hawks

Munday's Moguls pulled a game out of the fire last Friday night in the last minutes of play as they downed the Hawks from Vova Park, 13-12, to win the opening game of the 1952 grid season.

Local fans were brought to their feet on the first play of the game, when Gene Haynie received the opening kickoff on his own 20 yard line, eluded several tacklers, broke into the opening and went all the way for a touchdown. The try for extra point was wide.

The team waged a ground battle during the remainder of this quarter. In the second Howard Klinkerman of Iowa Park received a scoring pass from James Williams. Again the try for extra point failed.

The visitors scored a second time in the second quarter when Larry Lee took another of Williams' passes on the 10 and went on over.

Late in the third quarter, the Moguls stayed on the ground with constant gains through tackle and around ends. They ended a 30-yard drive when Tommy Gage plunged over for the final counter. Charles Ratliff tossed to Gene Haynie for the winning extra point.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

COATESVILLE, P., RECORD: "If you went to the bank every working day—five days a week, 52 weeks a year—and deposited $2.04 to the credit of the United States government, you would just about be paying your proportionate share of the $85,444,000,000 budget on a population basis."

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEEKLY NEWS: "What high Federal taxes and inflation are doing to family incomes in Texas and other states is brought out today in a report by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce . . . The study pointed out: A family in the $3,000 net income group today has $2,866.80 for living expenses after Federal income taxes. This has a purchasing power of $1,519.40 in 1940 dollars. A family of four today must earn a net income of $4,165 to equal a 1940 income of $2,000."

LAKEWOOD, N. J., CITIZEN: "The 'long arm of the tax collector' is no idle expression when the tax collector is Uncle Sam . . . Total Federal government internal revenue collections for the fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1951, exceeded 50 billion dollars. This compared with slightly under 39 billion dollars the year before."

PERFECT EXAMPLE

A short time ago the Office of Price Stabilization made some upward adjustments in the ceiling prices of certain lean cuts of pork. As a consequence, the prices charged consumers for these cuts rose a few cents a pound.

A good many people protested the increases, apparently feeling that they were unjustified and that the public was being gouged. Actually, however, the moderate change in the pork situation was a perfect example of how the natural law of supply and demand works.

During the summer, pork production always goes downward. Fewer pigs are being marketed and they naturally sell at higher levels than when supplies are larger, as the packers try to get enough pork to fill orders. The result is that the price charged the consumer for some pork cuts, notably those which are most desirable, rises. This relationship between production and price has prevailed for many years.

Toward the end of September pork production starts to increase and then pork prices usually start to decline. And finally, near the end of November, production advances sharply and prices drop with equal sharpness.

This is the law of supply and demand in classical operation. And it is that law which makes sure that the consumer will be able to get the cuts of pork he wants when he wants them. It should be apparent to anyone that if prices were rigidly fixed at a low level the producers would soon stop raising pigs—and severe and extended shortages would follow. It's one thing to fix a price by political order—and a very different thing to make a man work hard and take risks when he sees no chance to make a decent profit.

ANOTHER INFLATION VICTIM

Never in history has the retailing industry—and this goes for both chains and independents; small stores as well as large—worked harder to control, and, if possible, reduce operating expenses. This, in the view of experts in the field, is retailing's number one problem.

That may seem a little odd at a time when prices are high and the volume of sales in most retail fields is good, even if not so spectacular as a year or two back. But there is a sound reason for it. Retail profits—the money that is left after the bills, wages and taxes are paid—have been declining alarmingly, and in some cases have virtually disappeared.

The seriousness of this to the retailer is evident. In more or less normal times, for example, the big food chains earn as profit but a little more than one cent out of each dollar spent with them. Stores dealing in other wares earn only three or four cents. It's obvious that there isn't much margin in these profit statistics—and that it's easy, when operating costs continue to climb for red ink to replace the black. These are facts, surprising as they may seem to those who still think that inflation has been a boon to the retailer. It has been just the opposite. His stocks carry high price tags—but his profit is less when prices were lower. Like the consumer, he is one of inflation's victims.

WHEN SHOULD YOU PASS?

How much clear vision should you have to pass another automobile when it is going 50 miles an hour and you are going 60?

This is one of the problems facing Texas highway planners in their efforts to modernize Texas highways and make them safe. They must make it possible for you to see a half-mile ahead, or you are taking a chance at passing another vehicle traveling at a mile a minute.

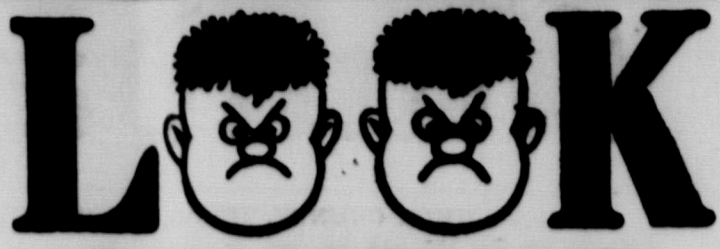

With highways built for only two-lane or three-lane traffic, the Highway Department has to depend upon yellow paint to furnish the safety factor. Every year thousands of dollars are spent painting the center stripe and warning lines down the highways.

"We are all too prone to ignore these warning stripes when we think we have even a half-chance," says Jack Kultgen, president of the Texas Good Roads Association.

"Sometimes when you driving along at 60 miles an hour, have your companion clock you. You'll be surprised at how many times you are facing death in the matter of just a few seconds," he said.

Such carelessness last year caused a big percentage of the 206,000 motor vehicle accidents that killed 2,546 persons in Texas.

Six attempts to gain statehood were made by Utah before it finally succeeded on January 4, 1896. Admission was repeatedly refused because of polygamous practices.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Not Everything That's Coming Out Of Washington In These Days Is Bad

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has a queer idea which he won't get anywhere with, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

Everybody curses Washington these days, it's sort of a national pastime, a man who has something good to say about the place, he's sort of brought under suspicion at once, about the only platform a lot of candidates feel they need these days is opposition to Washington, but I think the thing has gone too far. There's a lot of good in Washington, if the people just had enough sense to recognize it and follow the lead.

For example, I was out here the other day huntin for signs of Fall. I haven't got any objections to Summer but I'm always glad when it's over, it's like a vacation trip, it sounds like a good idea at the start but before it's over it wears pretty thin, and I stumbled on a copy of a newspaper and since I had just about as soon sit down in one place as another I sat down right there and read where a man who owed the government $800,000 in back income taxes had settled for $50,000, another owing $100,000 had settled for $15,000, etc. The government said that was good business as the delinquent tax payers didn't have as much cash as they owed and their earning capacity had diminished and it was better to get something than nothin.

Now that's an example of what I'm talkin about. Why can't private business follow the lead of Washington in this matter? Say I owe the grocery store $50 and am five or six months delinquent about it. Why can't the store get up on the Washington level and settle for $5? I can meet the same terms as them $800,000 taxpayers. I don't have as much cash as I owe either and my earning capacity has diminished too.

Instead of sittin around lambastin what's goin on in Washington, business would be better off, my business anyway, if it caught on to the newer methods of handling ticklish situations.

But of course, business has got to know which Washington method to follow and which to ignore. I read the other day where a man who was behind $800 on an income tax debt was sent to jail for 18 months. I wouldn't be interested in business followin that trend. It's the $800,000 bracket that I want employed around here.

BOYCE HOUSE

Privacy was not one of the conveniences afforded by the rigors of early Texas society, but it must have been something of a shock to the fastidious Count de Saligny, French diplomatic minister to the Republic of Texas, to have his room at a wayside Texas inn invaded unceremoniously by an American and to be forced to share his bed with an utter stranger.

This anecdote is related by Mrs. M. C. Huston, an Englishwoman, who with her husband, made a visit to Texas in 1843. Her account of the journey, "A Yacht Voyage to Texas," is one of the valuable items in early Texas literature.

"The traveler in Texas must set out prepared for every species of discomfort," Mrs. Houston wrote. "His bed, if he should happen to procure one, will be disputed, or, if he should happen to prefer a compromise, perhaps shared by some other traveler."

"The late envoy of his French Majesty chanced to be travelling up the country in this primitive republic. He was fresh from the luxuries of Paris life, not among the least of which may be reckoned the comfortable beds which are everywhere to be enjoyed."

"On arriving at one of the halting places at night, he retired to what he doubtless imagined would be a solitary couch; and though the winds of heaven were whistling through his log-built room and the bright stars peeping through the roof, the fatigue of the journey soon closed his eyes in slumber. He had not, however, slept many minutes when he was awakened by the entrance of a most formidable looking individual."

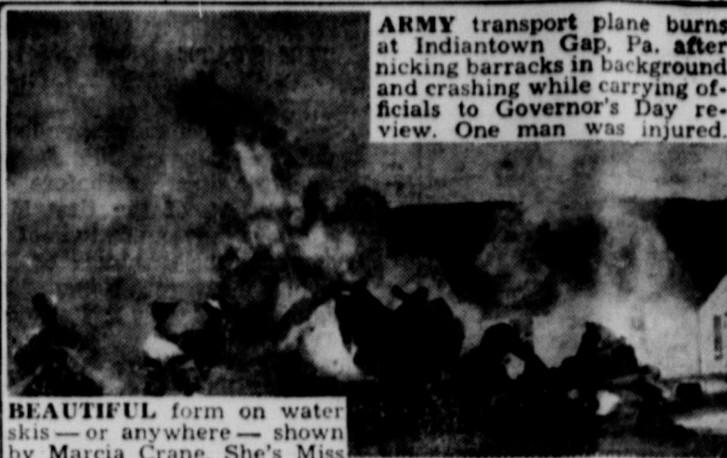

"It was a stout Kentuckian duly armed with a Bowie knife and pistols; and who, while in the act of disencumbering himself of his upper garments, said, in a coarse but not unfriendly voice: 'Well, stranger, I guess I'll take the inside of the bed, if it's the same to you.' I believe the Parisian preferred passing the night on the floor, to the misfortune of having the frontiersman as a bedfellow."

"No innkeeper in this county would ever dream of sending away a traveler on the plea of want of room, as long as one bed remained in his house unoccupied, except by two men."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. H. D. McBurney and Mrs. C. E. Lewis, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Jackson, Mrs. C. H. Robertson and Miss Mary Andrews of Vernon visited Dr. E. O. McClellan last Sunday.

Danny and Scotty Ponder left Sunday for Lubbock where they entered Texas Tech for the school year.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

By TED GOULDY
FORT WORTH. Biggest run of cattle since 1948 went to market Monday at the nation's 12 major markets—over 137,000 head. Over 82,000 sheep and lambs went to market. Fort Worth had 13,500. Omaha and Denver both had 20,000. Western and Northwestern lambs were on the move at those points.

Stocker cows active at Fort Worth, a load at $23, many from $14 to $19. Most other cattle and calves weak to 50 cents off, some spots on medium killing and medium stocker calves $1 off. Only high quality stockers getting reliable play from buyers. Packers say meat is not moving well and freezers and coolers are holding heavy supplies of meat.

Hogs rallied Monday 25 to 50 cents, and sows were 50 cents above last week's close at Fort Worth.

Very firm market for sheep and lambs of all kinds. Not many good fat lambs in the Fort Worth receipts. Northern and Western markets reported lambs lower Monday.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings sold at $25 to $32, and common to medium kinds sold for $15 to $24, with cull yearlings $12 to $15. Fat cows sold from $14.50 to $18 and canners and cutters cashed at $9 to $14.50. Bulls sold from $13 to $20.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $20 to $26.50, a few heavies to $27. Plain and medium butcher sorts sold at $15 to $19, and culls sold from $12 to $15.

Good and choice stocker calves sold mostly at $23 to $27.50, and plain and medium sorts sold from $17 to $22. Stocker yearling steers sold from $27 down, feeder kinds from $26 down. Heifer calves and yearlings sold usually $1 to $2 or more under similar steers. Stocker cows sold from $14 to $23.

Hog top Monday was $20.25 to $20.50, and sows sold from $15 to $17.50.

Good and choice fat lambs sold from $24 to $27, and culls ranged downward to $9 to $12. Stocker and feeder lambs sold from $10 to $18.50. Slaughter yearling wethers sold from $10 to $18.50 and stocker and feeder yearlings sold from $10 to $14. Carves First Statue of Stephen Decatur

CHICAGO—Stephen Decatur, one of America's foremost sea heroes, whose exploits in the Tripolitan Wars at the turn of the 19th century, the War of 1812 and Algerian War of 1815, are among the most brilliant in American naval history, is finally being honored by a statue.

The first full-length sculpture of Decatur has been completed by the noted Chicago artist, John David Brein.

The memorial to one of America's earliest and most revered naval officers, will be unveiled about Oct. 25, which, according to the American Peoples Encyclopedia, is the 140th anniversary of Decatur's famous victory over the British frigate, Macedonian, in the War of 1812.

The Decatur statue will be erected in Decatur, Ill. The figure will stand on a pedestal bearing as an inscription Decatur's immortal words: "Our country, in her intercourse with foreign nations may she be always right, but our country right or wrong!"

Scientist 80 Years Old—Still Working

PEARL RIVER, N. Y.—Dr. Benjamin Duggar, who discovered the antibiotic "wonder drug" aureomycin, will be 80 years old September 1—and he still works every day at Lederle Laboratories in the never-ending search for even better drugs to combat man's diseases.

Born in Gallion, Ala., in 1872, Dr. Duggar was retired from teaching at the University of Wisconsin at the age of 71. Not content with a life of idleness, he came to Lederle in 1944, and in 1948, when he was 76 years old, his great antibiotic discovery, aureomycin, was made available to the world. Dr. Duggar has six children and 13 grandchildren. He works a vegetable garden and plays golf at least once a week, weather permitting.

Hey, Parents! Take Time To Read This

Reneau, substitute membership chairman. The room with the highest representation of membership receives a $5.00 award, so be loyal to your children and join up. You will be particularly interested in the call meeting of the P-TA which is scheduled for next Tuesday, Sept. 23 at 4 P. M. in grade school auditorium. You must be a paid up member in good standing to participate in this important meeting, which is to decide between a Hollowe'en carnival and an autumn festival. The kids are particularly interested in what is decided, so be on hand. The membership drive will run through next week, but join before Tuesday in order to take part in this meeting. You can pay dues at the meeting if you wish.

Many Bridges In Texas Are Unsafe

AUSTIN—There's an old saying about not crossing a bridge until you get to it, but Texas has some 12,000 that are unsafe to cross.

A minimum of $304 million dollars is needed to bring these water-way spans to a point of safety, according to Highway Department estimates now being studied by the Texas Good Roads Association.

More than half these structures, which total 276 miles in length, are inadequate for traffic demands on them every day. One of every ten is incapable of supporting the legal load limit, while half of them are too narrow to permit passing, too low for clearance or too weak to accommodate today's modern traffic load.

Many of these bridges, particularly on through highways, now are being widened. Many more, however, are not on the new surveys and will not be widened. Meantime, only precaution by the drivers will prevent many serious accidents.

HOME FROM COLORADO

C. R. Elliott returned home last Saturday from Colorado Springs and other points in Colorado where he had been vacationing for several weeks. He reported a very enjoyable trip.

Low or "penalty" cotton grades can be avoided if more emphasis is placed on harvesting, both hand and mechanical. Pick only dry cotton and do not tramp it into a trailer are good rules to follow. Also, early stalk destruction will reduce the insects next year.

that may affect any part of the body—skin, joints, blood vessels, heart or brain—but usually it is the heart that is most seriously affected. Unless they are prevented by good management, the acute attacks have a tendency to come back again and again. When this happens, the valves of the heart are usually affected. Sometimes so slightly that the child is not handicapped; sometimes so seriously that the child dies. The present day treatment of rheumatic fever is directed at two things. First, reducing the risk of heart damage from an acute attack by bed rest and appropriate treatment with drugs. Second, doing everything possible to prevent another attack after recovery from the first.

Music by the Home choir will be a feature of the fifteen minute broadcasts which are entitled, "These Are Your Children." Miss Marguerite Jones And Jimmie Morelan Wed Recently In Pecos Miss Marguerite Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, became the bride of Jimmie Morelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Morelan, in the First Baptist church in Pecos at 8 p. m. Thursday, August 28. Rev. W. M. Turner, pastor, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, J. P. Jones of Knox City, wore a blush pink floor length gown of nylon tulle and chantilly lace over blush pink satin, having a fitted bodice and a high neckline of net. She wore opra length gloves and her elbow length veil of French illusion fell from a narrow double bandeau caught at the side with small rosettes of lace and tiny seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible, from which fell stephanatis and narrow ribbons tied in love knots.

Her something new was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom; something old, rhinestone and pearl earbobs; something blue, a garter, and for luck she wore a penny in her shoe.

Miss Ann Graham was maid of honor. Miss Carolyn Myers and Miss Patsy Turner were bridesmaids. They wore pastel taffeta net frocks with matching halos and gloves and carried white lace fans with small arrangements of garnet sweet-heart roses.

Dickie Morelan, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were James Gleason and William Roberts.

Candlelighters were Miss Frances Ann Adams, cousin of the bride, and Miss Frankie Lou Grammer.

Presenting the wedding music were Miss Leota Agee, organist, and Mr. Ed Wittner, soloist.

A reception after the ceremony was held in the auditorium of the educational building.

The bride's table was centered with a floral arrangement of white roses and fern against a white lace fan. Mmes. A. E. Babcock, Ray Whitley, Richard L. Toll, Floyd Carter, L. R. Hudson.

MRS. JIMMIE MORELAN

R. P. Coffey, Zech Dameron and R. L. Doris assisted in serving refreshments.

The couple left immediately for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M. Mrs. Morelan was wearing a beige linen suit with brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. They are making their home in Abilene, where both are enrolled in Hardin-Simmons this fall.

He had a nicely decorated birthday cake with as many of the 100 candles as could be placed on it.

Born at Johnson's Bayou, La., on August 17, 1852, Mr. Gallier has lived all his life in the South. He came to Texas when a small boy and has lived at Beaumont most of the time.

He was a hardy "cowpoke" prior to his 80th birthday anniversary. The aged man is the father of 21 children, 15 of whom are living, and he has scores and scores of grandchildren, great grandchildren and great-great grandchildren.

'Squeak-Proof' Door Hinge

A MILWAUKEE man discovered a clever way to permanently silence a door hinge that has a persistent squeak. He first removed the hinge pin and rubbed the length of it with emery cloth to reduce the diameter slightly. He then filed a flat surface the length of the pin.

Next he coated the pin with petroleum jelly and replaced it in the hinge.

He now had a "squeak-proof" hinge which was silent because the lubricant was stored on the flat surface. Before, the oil he used could not penetrate the full length of the pin.—Illustration courtesy Family Handyman.

THE BATTLE FOR COTTON
Down in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, an all-out war is being waged against a dread enemy—the Pink Bollworm. The battlefield isn't confined to the southern tip of Texas, however. It encompasses 189 counties, extending from Val Verde in the Big Bend to Orange County on the Louisiana border. The spoils of this war is cotton—the King of Texas agriculture. The weapons are strictly regulatory measures and practical insect control methods. And the battle has attracted the attention of economists as well as

Champion Gets Hero's Welcome at Home-Coming

The greatest ovation ever given an 11-year-old American occurred when pint-sized Joe Lunn returned to his native Thomsville, Ga. Joe was winner of the All-American Soap Box Derby, sponsored by Chevrolet, after his racer had been virtually wrecked in a first heat crackup. A parade (shown above), speeches by civic dignitaries and lavish gifts for Joe and his family featured the home-coming.

farmers all over the state, who realize that if the insect wins, then cotton can no longer be grown profitably in Texas.

Perhaps the first major victory will be won in the Rio Grande Valley August 31, when cotton stalks in the four southernmost Texas counties will be turned underground. This action will help destroy the winter breeding place of the Pink Bollworm. Three weeks later, 12 counties further north will follow suit, as will the remaining 45 counties in subsequent weeks. By October 20, all counties under planting and plow-up controls of the Texas Department of Agriculture will have done their bit to reduce the Pink Bollworm population. The next step will be up to nature. With adequate moisture during the winter months, the cotton debris will rot—and victory will be nearer—but not complete.

Due to a comparatively mild and dry winter last year, and to delayed plow-ups brought on by an acute shortage of labor, the Pink Bollworm build up was astonishing. Actual counts in four counties showed thousands more "Pinkies" than in 1951. Representative samples of gin trash from Cameron County had a count of 15,000 worms per bushel as compared to only 151 (correct) last year; Hidalgo had 3,000 as compared to 103; Willacy, 7,000 as compared to 13, and Starr, 6,000 as compared to 169. The insect multiplies so rapidly as the season progresses that it can wipe out a whole crop of late cotton within two weeks. The importance of late planting and early plow-ups in infested areas cannot be overestimated. But it is not the problem of the South Texas farmer alone. Every Texas farmer should clean his fields and ditches as soon as the cotton crop is gathered. For as the breeding grounds are destroyed in the south, there is little to prevent the insect from moving farther north in a search for winter quarters.

The government of Mexico is combatting the Pink Bollworm with similar measures. With the cooperation of every farmer in the infested areas and over the rest of the state, we can look forward to crops comparatively free of the destructive pest.

Farm Bureau Wages Fight To Save Tax Refunds

Driving by a farm near Vera the other day, Ansel Waldrip, president of the Knox County Farm Bureau, saw three tractors operating, a sight unusual in this county. "It put me to calculating," Waldrip said.

According to the 1950 census, there were 1,134 farm tractors in Knox County. Every legislative session for the past 12 years at least, the Farm Bureau has waged a fight in Austin to save the tractor gas tax refund for the farmers. Figuring conservatively, if the farmers had to pay this four-cent road tax on gasoline burned in tractors not used on the highways, it would cost them about $40.00 per tractor per year. With 1,134 tractors in the county, this would mean that the Farm Bureau (which is primarily the only organization or group that puts up a scrap on this issue) saves Knox County farmers $7,584.00 every year.

"That's a goodly sum," Waldrip said, "that can well be used in meeting other farm operation expenses." He summed up the situation this way:

"Farm Bureau dues in this county are $10 a year. Say an operator has only one tractor. He can pay his Farm Bureau dues and have $57 left on what Farm Bureau saves him on this one issue."

ON FIELD TRIP

The Greenhand division of the F. F. A. went on a field trip to the B. E. Smith farm last Monday morning. The object of the trip was to examine the cotton for any kind of cotton insects and to see Mr. Smith's cotton-picking machine in action.
