Mr. and Mrs. Motorist—give the kids a brake!

This appeal comes from W. C. Morris, Jr., president of the Texas Safety Association, upon the opening of public schools of Texas.

"This year," he said, "more Texas boys and girls than ever before will be attending school for the first time. It will be a new experience for them and many will be sent out to go to, and to come from, school alone."

Motorists must keep this in mind: A youngster, thinking about baseball or football will often not see your car and may step off the curb into your path. Be watchful!

Morris gave a word to parents, too. Teach your youngsters these safety rules:

Where there are sidewalks, use them. If the children must walk in the street, walk facing on-coming traffic. Cross only at intersections.

If riding a bicycle, ride it on the right side of the street, and use hand signals. Obey the safety patrols when and where safety patrols are used.

In conclusion, he said: Youngsters, today, have the opportunity for a wonderful education. Send them home to learn—not to die!

And with the opening of our local schools, the "hoods" have been taken off the two traffic lights at approaches to the school grounds.

We, as motorists and citizens, must remember this, and become accustomed to observing the traffic signals during the next nine months.

Our officials covered up the lights during the school vacation period—when the grounds were not occupied by children, and there was little or no danger from traffic.

We've probably gotten into the habit of getting pretty speedy when passing the schools during summer.

Now, we must take it more cautiously.

When there were no traffic lights at our schools, we kinda looked upon each day's events as a sort of miracle that no child was killed during school hours.

Parents, teachers and citizens put up such a plea for safety that the lights were installed.

They hoped it would slow down school traffic during the school hours. It did for a large percentage of motorists.

But a traffic signal light is of no value, unless its signals are observed.

We've seen times when motorists were in too big a hurry to stop at school lights.

We've heard of youngsters who've kinda made a race track out of the streets along the school property—sometimes while the school buses were being loaded.

Last year the lights were in operation during school hours, then turned off in late afternoon, when the children had gone home and the danger had passed.

This is expected to be the rule this year, and being done in the hope the lights will be observed when in operation.

Which brings us back to the admonition of the Texas Safety Association: Be watchful—give the kids a brake!

Another thing the association brought out, is this:

For you who travel the highways, here is a point of interest to you. By Texas law, motor vehicles must stop for a stopped school bus—whether you are following or approaching. Don't run down an innocent child—

G. H. Zimmerman, Executive In Wm. Cameron Co., Dies On Friday

G. H. Zimmerman, 63, Waco lumber executive, president and chairman of the board of Wm. Cameron & Co., died of a heart attack in Wichita Falls last Friday morning. He was stricken at a service station and was carried to a hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 10:10 a. m.

Mr. Zimmerman was traveling from Vernon to Waco with a group of business associates. They had been through Munday earlier in the week, enroute to Vernon for a meeting of Cameron employees.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday from the Austin Avenue Methodist Church in Waco. Most Cameron employees, including those of the Munday yard, attended the services.

He joined Wm. Cameron & Co. in 1910 as a traveling salesman in the wholesale department. In 1949, he became president and was named chairman of the board in 1950. He entered the lumber business as a stenographer and bookkeeper in Fort Worth in 1906, and climbed to head the wholesale and retail lumber firm which has branch outlets in 98 cities in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. He was also a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas and of the Texas Central Railroad.

He had been a civic and religious leader in Waco for years, and was mayor of that city in 1932-33. A member of the Austin Avenue Methodist Church, he was a teacher of the Men's Fellowship Class until ill health forced him to give up his Sunday school work three years ago. He was a member of the board of stewards.

Zimmerman was a director and past president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas and a past president of the Texas Industrial Traffic League.

He was past worshipful master of Waco Masonic Lodge No. 92, three illustrious master of Waco Council 33 and past potentate of Karem Shrine Temple.

Born in Spartanburg, S. C., he came to Texas with his family in 1891. He lived in Cass, Nacogdoches, Collin and Shelby counties in East Texas before going to Fort Worth to attend business college.

Survivors are his wife and a sister, Mrs. Corinne Susan Howard, both of Waco.

Barn Is Destroyed On J. L. Ford Farm

Fire was determined to get that barn on the J. L. Ford farm east of town!

Last Friday night, firemen were called to the Ford place to put out a fire at his barn. Mr. Ford had the fire out when firemen arrived, but for safe measure they gave the place a good "wetting down."

Late Saturday afternoon, the barned burned to the ground.

Mr. Ford stated he lost some hay in the fire, and a small calf that was being kept inside the building burned to death.

Hallmark Goes To Cook Auto Supply

M. C. Hallmark was back among familiar things Monday.

On September 1, he became associated with I. V. Vook in the Cook Auto Supply—and there's where Hallmark has had some experience—among auto parts. When the editor came to Munday nearly 14 years ago, M. C. was operating Smitty's Auto Supply. About the close of World War II, he opened his own supply store, the Hallmark Auto Supply in Munday, which he operated several years. For some time he has been with J. L. Stodghill in both the Ford tractor dealership and the Firestone store.

Guess he kinda likes auto parts, since he's gone over to Cook's. Anyway, them boys think they can give better service, with two on the job, and they invite your patronage.

Moguls Train Twice Daily For '52 Grid Season

Coaches Vernon Leverett and Wayne Pestole are putting the 1952 edition of Munday Moguls "through the mill" this week, preparing them for the 1952 football season. Practice periods are being held each morning and each afternoon after the day's classes in school are over.

"Sideline coaches"—the boys who are watching these daily workouts—say the Munday coaches have lots of good material this year, and they predict more football this year upon the part of the locals than in several years.

Munday opens its 1952 season on Friday, September 12, when they meet the Iowa Park team on the local field. The 1952 grid schedule is as follows:

The game, scheduled for 8 p. m. Saturday, will be played on the Rochester field, since the Greyhound field is not quite ready for play.

Wylie boasted a string team last year, and the game Saturday night promises to be an interesting season opener. Many fans from the Munday area are expected to attend, since they are interested in what the Greyhounds will have to offer when they meet the Moguls here on October 10.

Heat Wave Is Broken, Drouth Stays With Us!

Local residents who sweltered under the burning 110 degree temperature Sunday—the last day of August—found welcomed relief in the norther Monday which started the mercury downward. They didn't mind the dust so much, since the temperature reached only 100 Monday.

Tuesday was still cooler, with a high temperature of 87, which dropped down to a comfortable 55 during the night, causing covers to be drawn up by sleeping citizens. High for Wednesday was 95, with the low recorded at 61.

But the drouth remains with us. People continued to look skyward, hoping that the cool front would bring needed moisture—too late for much of the cotton crop, but it would be welcomed by those planning wheat crops next year.

Saturday, September 6, is the deadline for having your car or truck inspected for safety, according to the new motor vehicle safety laws of Texas. Persons driving vehicles without the safety inspection stickers are subject to fines after that date.

As predicted, there are many vehicles in Texas and in this area that still do not have the stickers signifying that they have been inspected according to the new safety code.

Inspection stations in Munday have been rushed during this week by those who are having inspections made during the early part of the week to avoid the last minute rush. These stations expect to remain busy through Saturday, as it takes several minutes to inspect all parts of the vehicles. It is believed that time will not permit inspection of all remaining vehicles.

Benjamin Gets Weekly Paper

Knox County people were greeted with the first issue of Benjamin's weekly newspaper—the Knox County Round-up—the latter part of the last week. The first issue was mailed to all poll tax payers in the county.

The paper is published by the Western Art Publishers of Post, Texas. Its stated aim is to report news of Knox County and West Texas, primarily along the lines of agriculture and oil field production.

The first issue carried congratulatory pages from merchants and professional men of Munday, Knox City, Benjamin, Seymour and Crowell.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "American farmers are better customers for petroleum products than any other group in the United States, including the armed forces, an oil industry information group revealed recently. The fact seems surprising but it helps to illustrate the interdependence of all economic and occupational groups in the United States."

ST. JOHN, KANS., NEWS: "If there is any statement which burns this writer to a sizzling point, it is one used so many times by officials who wish to pass off huge expenditures with the glib explanation: 'Oh, well, it doesn't cost us anything; the government pays most of it.' I don't care if it is a bridge, a false moustache, a recreation park or a monument to the flea that bit the dog that bit the burglar—nothing we get costs quite so much as that which is bought with 'government funds.'"

ANTIGO, WISC., DAILY JOURNAL: "New Zealand socialists, now out of office, find themselves hard pressed to present a program with sufficient appeal to the voters to return them to power, according to Albert E. Norman, Australian news chief in the Christian Science Monitor. One reason why New Zealanders are getting fed up is that the bills have come in they already are paying $280 per head for every man, woman and child in the country, the highest figure in national history."

MORRISON, ILL., NEWS: "Is the government going to go broke? Probably not this year or next, but there's no use kidding ourselves. If we keep on covering this country and most of the world with a shower of greenbacks, the bubble is going to burst and we'll all be flat broke; all monetary values of every kind and character will go entirely wiped out. Then what? Your guess is as good as mine."

MORE CATTLE COMING

The American Meat Institute reports that consumers will have the largest supply of beef in our history in 1953, if producers continue to build up their cattle herds as they have during the first six months of this year.

The nation's cattle population is expected to increase by 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 head and to the curtin comes down on 1952. During the first half of this year there was an eight per cent cut in cow slaughter, as a direct result of the heard building program, yet producers were able to market about five per cent more cattle than during the comparable period last year by offering a larger volume of steers and heifers.

This is good news to a nation of hearty meat-eaters. Our meat consumption has been tending upward and we eat much more of it, on a per capita basis, than any other nation with a minor exception or two, such as Australia. Even so, experts in nutrition believe that our consumption should be greater still. Science has proven that beef and the other meats contribute very greatly to our mental and physical health. They create strength and stamina. They are of major benefit in aiding recovery from a long list of diseases—including some for which meatless diets were once prescribed, until medical discoveries proved the fallacy of that.

From the view point of farmer and rancher, meat is one of the most valuable of all crops. It's good to know that we'll have it in abundance.

TIME TO HOLLER

A recent editorial in the Portland, Oregon, Journal, cited some facts that should make the weary, beaten taxpayers of the country sit up on their hind legs and holler.

There is a schoolteacher for every 132 people in Oregon—but there is a Federal civilian employe for each 85 persons.

Total government payrolls—Federal, state and local—come to $1,895,000,000 last April alone. This was a rise of 16 per cent from the same month in 1951 and marked the biggest April-to-April jump on record.

In that month, the number of public employes, all supported out of Federal, state or local taxes, was just under 7,000,000.

The Journal said, "No wonder the taxpayer groans." He's going to groan a lot louder unless drastic action is taken to cut out government waste and extravagance in every department of government.

The demand that must have its origin in the grassroots—in every city or town and rural area in the country. And we must demand economy in matters that effect us—not just the other fellow. The lead must be taken by chambers of commerce and every kind of business, civic, labor and consumer groups. Then, and only then, will Congress and the legislatures listen and do something besides talk.

IS YOUR CAR SAFE TO DRIVE?

The nation's garage men think the number of unsafe cars on the highways is far too high. In a check of more than one-half million automobiles, it was found that one out of every three vehicles is in need of maintenance attention. Heading a list of ten items checked is brakes. The garage men found that one out of every seven cars is being driven with inadequate brakes. One out of twelve has bad headlights, while one out of fourteen has faulty rear lights and one out of fifteen has faulty steering or exhaust systems in need of service. A simple car check now may keep you from becoming a statistic in a traffic accident report.

IMPORTANCE OF LEGUMES

Now is the time to make plans for those fall legume plantings.

It doesn't take a student of the soil to know that legumes properly fertilized and inoculated have excellent effects on the soil. Every farmer knows legumes are important in improving soil structure and condition.

Texas A. & M. agronomists depict the best soil structure as being crumbly or granular to allow for deep penetration by roots and water. Proper air circulation between the small particles of soil is also necessary.

Some Texas soil is so packed and tight that very little water or air can penetrate it. Deep rooted legumes such as sweet clover and alfalfa on these "tight" soils can help to improve this fault. Legumes which add good organic matter and nitrogen to the soil content, but which do not necessarily open subsoils are vetch, winter peas, annual yellow sweet clover and crimson clover.

Another farming "bug-a-boo" is the type of land which has a heavy, dense sub-soil at a comparatively shallow depth. These sub-soils restrict the movement of plant roots and hinder circulation of water and air. Good remedies for this condition are deep-rooted legumes or grasses which will punch holes in the sub-soil and aid the water-air-root conditions.

When plowed under the soil as a green manure crop, legumes increase the organic matter of the land. This matter helps hold the small soil particles together and improves the granular quality of the soil structure. High organic matter in the soil almost assures the best type of air circulation and absorption of water which is so essential to plant life.

The farmer who is unsure of the qualities of his soil can get professional help and advice. Soil samples taken from the fields where legumes are to be grown should be sent to the Soil Laboratory, College Station Texas, for analysis. This analysis will determine what kind and the amount of fertilizers needed to make legume growing more successful in the various soil-type areas of Texas.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says That Women Can Learn A Lot From The Political Editorial Writers

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is misconstruing the news again. His letter this week reveals:

Dear editor: I read sometime back where, when General Eisenhower was being interviewed by a lot of reporters, at two or three places, when they asked him a tough question, Eisenhower said "I din't know," just like that, and the reporters found it so refreshing in they wrote long stories about it, and newspapers had editorials on it, saying the honest admission by a candidate that he didn't know the answer to some questions was certainly something new and would set mighty well with the people.

Well, they're right. I like to hear a man come out and admit there are some things he doesn't know, but I would like to point out Eisenhower is havin' more luck with this than I've ever been able to manage. I just don't get the same reaction.

You let my wife ask me when I'm gonna get up out of my start plowin, and you let me say "I don't know," and she ain't refreshed by the answer at all, even though it's an honest one. Eisenhower is a better man than I am, that's all I can say.

Certainly a man ain't supposed to know all the answers, and I find Eisenhower's blunt reply to the few questions he doesn't have a good answer for refreshing. We need more of it in public life, but also we need more of it in private life. Women just ain't as advanced in their thinking as editorial writers. You let a man come in at 2 a. m. and, when his wife asks him where he's been, let him give a thoroughly honest answer of "I don't know," and see what happens. What this country needs is to get the women politically astute.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TRICKS FOR QUALITY EGGS

COLLEGE STATION—The egg is a perishable product. It can't stand rough treatment and maintain in the high quality and grade it possessed when laid if given improper care. The use of good management practices in and around the laying house by the flock owner, says F. Z. Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will increase the income from eggs when sold on grade.

Produce clean eggs. The hens will do their part of the job but it's up to the flock owner to provide the surroundings that make clean egg production possible. First, there must be plenty of nesting space—a nest for each four or five hens; keep plenty of clean absorbent material in the nests, such as straw, peanut hulls or shavings. Keep the floor of the laying house dry and be sure there is plenty of ventilation. If the hens are on range, be sure, says the specialist, they don't play in a mudhole—they'll track mud into the nests and such holes are trouble breeders. Gather eggs at least three times and preferably five times per day, says Beanblossom. Then get the animal heat out of the eggs as soon as possible; case the eggs after the animal heat is removed and always place the little end of the egg down in the case and go to the market twice per week unless cooling facilities are available on the farm. If eggs are held on the farm, the holding temperature should be kept below 68 degrees F., says the specialist.

If eggs must be cleaned, don't wash them. Use an abrasive such as emery cloth or a buffer. Rub only the soiled spot. Doing the little things that are often overlooked in giving the egg proper environment, says Beanblossom, is good management and a sure way to improve egg quality and income.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Fear of cancer cannot help its victim and unreasonable fear should be replaced by intelligent action concerning this disease, is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The doctor said in a statement this week that cancer can usually be cured in its earlier stages. This has been demonstrated by the fact that many persons have been treated successfully by surgery, radium, or x-ray and are living now, many years after a definite diagnosis of early cancer was made. Many people postpone diagnosis when they suspect cancer either because they dread to hear the truth or because they believe that cure is impossible.

"In the treatment of cancer, time is the most important factor," Dr. Cox said. "To produce satisfactory results, treatment must begin early in the course of the disease while the cancer is still confined to a small area. Persons suspecting cancer should consult their physician as soon as they notice an unexplainable lump, unusual discharge, a persistent sore on any part of the body, or any change in the appearance of a mole or wart. It is often disastrous to wait for pain since this is a late symptom that doesn't usually occur until the malignant growth has made considerable advance."

The value of early diagnosis cannot be stressed too strongly according to Dr. Cox and that is one reason why regular periodic examinations are recommended particularly for those of middle or old age.

Safety Conference Set September 23 At Wichita Falls

Plans are being completed for a Regional Safety Conference to be held at the Kemp Hotel, Wichita Falls, on September 23. It was announced recently by L. H. Estes, Jr., Regional Vice President of the Texas Safety Association. Hundreds of Texans from this area will gather for this one-day meeting to learn how they might make their businesses, schools, homes, and communities more safe. Outstanding speakers, nationally known in their respective areas of safety, will be on hand to provide information to interested citizens.

W. Carlross Morris, Jr., of Houston, who is the president of the Association, emphasized that this conference is open to the general public. He said, "We cannot be effective in a program of accident prevention unless every man, woman and child is aware of the magnitude of this problem and wants to do something about it."

Make plans, now, to attend the Wichita Falls Regional Safety Conference on September 23rd.

To Close Fireplace—

MANY old homes have old-fashioned fireplaces which no longer are serviceable. They are a problem being expensive to remove or put into working condition, and being drafty, dirty, and wasteful of room heat.

There are several ways to close the opening to shut off the draft, but making the closure both functional and attractive is a bit of a trick. The ideal solution is a panel which tightly closes the opening and which may be pleasingly decorated to heighten the interest in an otherwise dull location.

Many leading artists use Tempera Presdwood instead of canvas. Its qualities as a painting medium—permanence, absence of grain, durability, non-spitting or cracking—are the same which make it widely used in some remodeling and new construction in residential, commercial, and industrial fields.

A Presdwood panel, then, used as a fireplace closure and painted or otherwise decorated combines function and beauty. Instead of a painting by some talented member of the family or a drawing of a favorite snapshot. Decorations are another alternative, or the smooth-surfaced material may be painted or enameled.

Since the artistic motif is involved, it is wise to have the panel easily removable so that the scene may be changed from time to time. The simplest way to install the quarter-inch panel for its dual purpose is to fasten a framework of 1x2 lumber in the opening and then attach the hard board with round-headed screws in series through drilled holes at the corners and intermediate points.

Sampling For Science

A GROUP of oceanography research specialists for Texas A. & M. College is shown taking a core sample from the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, during routine research work. A limited number of these samples will be sent to Lederle Laboratories at Pearl River, N. Y., for processing in the laboratories' world-wide hunt for a new antibiotic such as aureomycin. Most of the samples will be from shallow areas but one long-shot sample will be taken from deep water.

Drouth Effects State Agriculture

COLLEGE STATION—Serious drouth conditions have both a short and long time effect upon agriculture. The immediate result is limited crop and livestock production while the long time effect may result in shifts of farm population and agricultural production.

During years of poor production, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, farm operators cannot keep their normal quota of labor and too, tenant families may decide to leave the farm to seek employment in industrial centers. Farm owners may be forced to seek employment off the farm in order to meet current expenses. The long time effect of crop failure is likely to be speeding up of the shift to urban centers, says the specialist.

This is happening while the total population of the nation climbs about 7,000 persons per day. Thus the demand for food and fiber climbs with the increase in population and at the same time, fewer families are left on farms and ranches of the nation to produce the needed demands. Bates says more machinery and labor saving practices must be used by operators to offset the declining farm labor force. This condition requires that farm operators more carefully plan their operations in order to get the maximum returns from their own and hired labor.

To make each hour count and become more productive, Bates suggests that machinery and equipment be provided that is suited to the operations of the farm; that personnel be fully trained in handling and maintaining machinery before they are permitted to use it; that safety devices be installed on machinery; that regular checks be made to see that machinery and equipment is being properly maintained and handled and don't delay making repairs.

And finally, says the specialist, good labor relations can be a big help in maintaining or even increasing farm production. Try to keep families happy and interested in their work. This can be done by working with community leaders and planning for the social and recreational needs of the families. Encourage the families to grow a garden and help them with milk and meat production so they may reduce their grocery bills and improve their diets. They shouldn't be expected to live in run-down houses nor to raise their families under conditions that do not permit them to have a decent standard of living.

Healthy and contented laborers are much better workers than those hampered by poor diets and disgruntled attitudes, says Bates.

"The FARMALL House"

For Sale, Bargain: Stainless Steel Teeth

Not many people know it, but Uncle Sam buys millions of dollars' worth of stainless steel teeth. Don't get upset. They're not the chewing kind. They're the jet plane kind.

You see, stainless steel teeth are blades that fit inside the engine walls of jet planes. The blades help to drive air into the firing chambers. There are more than 1,000 of these teeth in each engine, and up to a little while ago each one had to be forged—a slow, fussy, expensive method.

The problem was dumped in the lap of G-E specialists, and they solved it.

The result is that today we roll a continuous strip of stainless steel, cut the teeth to length, and weld them to a base. Works fine. The cash saving: 55%. Critical material saving: 39%.

There's an extra reason to be happy about this, since all of us taxpayers have to foot the bills. Millions of dollars will be saved by the military services in future blade production. And the how-to-do-it is being shared through the U.S. Air Force with other jet engine builders.

You can put your confidence in—

Better Days Ahead For The Poultryman

Poultrymen who have raised a normal number of pullets this year should soon begin to receive a profit on their investment. This encouraging word comes from Professor E. D. Parnell of Texas A. & M. College's poultry department.

The outlook for egg prices wasn't good last spring, says Parnell and producers reduced their flocks and also their pullet replacements by 7 per cent. Now the picture has changed. Storage stocks are being reduced and prices have strengthened. The future look good. It is true, says the professor, feed prices remain high but feed-egg ratios have become favorable for the first time in several months. Therefore, egg producers should be operating on the profit side for the remainder of the year.

It is now too late to do anything about raising pullets for egg production this year, but Parnell points to the present situation as a reminder that profits are seldom made by those who are in the business one year and out the next. Trying to out-guess the market, he adds, is usually a good way to get out of the poultry business.

For those who have the egg producers, Parnell says, feed them well; give them plenty of room; practice sanitation and keep them in good health. It is his belief that poultrymen who raise only the number of pullets they can care for well, and do it year after year, are the producers who are most successful.

FORT WORTH—Heavy receipts again featured livestock marketing at Fort Worth and other points around the market circle. Prices of cows and bulls on Monday were 50 cents and spots $1 lower, and grass steers and yearlings suffered a similar decline.

Values were uneven, however with prices steady on good and choice fed cattle, and steady on good and fat choice fat calves. The medium and lower grade calves eased off 50 cents or more per hundred. High grade stocker cattle and calves ruled steady but the plainer quality was weak to lower.

The Monday reports from 12 major markets showed the biggest cattle run of the season, over 127,000 head, 28,000 above a week earlier and 54,000 ahead of a year ago on the same day.

Hogs topped at Fort Worth at $21.50, around 25c lower. Sows were steady at $15 to $18.

Sheep and lambs were steady, except some of the lightweight feeder lambs recovered some of

BOYCE HOUSE
Lives You Texas

I was the oldest grandchild of my mother's side of the family and I bore myself with the importance and dignity that such an honor merited. But my father's sister had a son, my cousin Otto, who was older than I—so, on that side of the family, I was just another grandchild.

Needless to say, I had little use for Cousin Otto and resented his air of superiority which of course was no different from my own attitude toward younger cousins on the other side of the family, but that consideration had not occurred to me.

My sentiment toward Otto was not helped by an accident I am going to relate. My parents, my small sister and I were visiting my aunt, Otto's mother, and he and I had gone to the store and were returning to the house.

Down the street toward us came a fine carriage, with driver in livery and a beautiful lady as a passenger. However my interest (you will recall I was very young) was centered on the horses. They were a pair of blacks and they were moving at a good speed, their manes tossing and their hooves beating a rhythm upon the firm dirt road.

We had been walking along side the road, but Otto, always cautious, scurried far to one side and told me to do likewise. I was in no danger; there was margin for the team to pass. I did not propose to take orders from Otto; furthermore, I would show him I had courage. So I continued walking. Then Otto grabbed me and pulled me three or four feet to one side.

When we got home, Otto told about the incident and everyone said, "Boyce is obstinate and Otto is a hero; he saved his cousin's life." And his attitude was more superior and insufferable than ever.

I then concluded that there was no justice in life—a conclusion which has been confirmed by other events many times since.

Leaders Of Farm Bureau To Meet At Crowell Saturday

County Farm Bureau members from this area will gather in Crowell on Saturday, September 6 for a sub-district meeting. This is one of 24 such sessions being conducted throughout the State by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, it has been announced by J. Walter Hammond of Tye, Texas, president of the organization. In attendance will be Marvin Carter, Federation organization director, and O. R. Long, Field Representative, American Farm Bureau Federation. Loys D. Barbour of Iowa Park, state director for this district, will preside. The all-day meeting will be held in the District Courtroom at Crowell beginning at 10:00 a. m.

In announcing the sub-district meetings President Hammond

Wonder Drug Increases Pork Production

You may have taken aureomycin for a strep throat, but pigs get this "wonder drug" to help them grow faster. There's no arguing the fact that the two pigs on the right side of the scales weigh almost the same as the three on the other side. They're from the same litter, and received the same diet (peanut meal and corn), except that the two heavier ones also received aureomycin and vitamin B12. Farmers throughout the country are using feeds containing this antibiotic to speed up the growth of pigs, chickens, turkeys and calves.

emphasized the importance of county leaders meeting with state officers and staff members to discuss current issues and policies vital to farm and ranch people. Mr. Long will discuss the organization's program of work this year and the responsibilities of local leaders. Mr. Carter will present the enrollment plan which has been developed by the State organization and recommended to counties for use in their annual membership enrollment drive scheduled for the week of October 10-17.

The sub-district meetings have been planned to discuss four major things, Hammond said. (1) State and National issues pertaining to agriculture; (2) to have expression from local leaders; (3) how to raise money to finance state government; (4) plans for enrolling 75,000 members in 1952.

THANKS, FIREBOYS

I take this means of thanking members of the Munday Fire Department for answering the call Friday night when my barn was afire. This makes twice in recent years they have come to my aid, and I sincerely appreciate their willingness and help. J. L. Ford and family.

Money Available To Increase Water Supply On Farms

Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor, Wilburn A. Satterwhite, of Seymour, announces that funds are now available through the Water Facilities Program to qualified applicants who wish to improve the existing water supply of their farms or to develop and install new facilities, and who are unable to obtain the necessary credit from other local established sources.

Farmers interested in obtaining this assistance should contact Mr. Satterwhite, whose office is located in the Baylor County Court House, Seymour, and discuss with him their needs for water development or improvement of domestic, livestock, or irrigation water supplies on the farm.

Big Dipper

The biggest silver teaspoon in the world is displayed in Dallas by Arthur A. Everts, piece of business man, above. Made of sterling silver, the spoon is 12 1/2 feet tall. Its huge bowl would hold a full gallon of coffee. To handle it gracefully, Mr. Everts would have to be 40 feet tall. The mammoth spoon is currently being exhibited in Dallas along with a collection of rare art objects and precious antiques.

Successful and profitable livestock and poultry production can be maintained during the hot summer months provided good management practices are followed in caring for the herds and flocks.

Shade trees, suffering from several years of unprecedented weather, are in poor condition and need to be fed. A circular dike of soil equal to the shade canopy of the tree is suggested as the area for watering and fertilizing.
