New city officials weren't long in taking office. They were elected on Tuesday and sworn in on Thursday.

Two new faces were the only ones there, however; the voters decided to keep the three old councilmen who were up for reelection.

These "old heads" kept their old titles, as commissioners of whatever they were commissioners of before. It seems the old city is going to operate right smoothly as long as funds hold out.

Completion of one improvement is about over—that of eliminating the old sewer farm. It looks like it would make a pretty good cotton farm, now.

We had an improvement in front of our place. The city's maintainer was in that vicinity the other day, knocking out the chug holes in the street.

The Mrs. prevailed upon the operator to blade away all that bermuda grass and blow sand that had accumulated in front of our place and almost covered up the curb. We're right happy with the operation.

Another improvement now under way is the installation of additional street lights in areas of the town that have been in almost total darkness. Quite a number of lights are being installed in strategic places.

The elimination of an old landmark is an improvement which isn't coming under the city's jurisdiction, but an improvement anyway.

As we inspected the old Masonic building Monday, there was not much left but the hull and workmen were still busy. The vacancy left by tearing down this 40-year old building is already becoming rather conspicuous.

But a new and modern building will spring up on the site before many months pass.

And Masons hope to hold their next meeting, which is the first Monday night of next month, in their new building. It's rapidly taking on form, while building funds are diminishing.

Too many vacant buildings in our town. Local people are beginning to take notice, but some of the vacancies are going to be filled soon.

We're often kidded about the errors that appear in our sheet. It's quite a consolation to pick up a daily paper and note that they, too, are not exempt from startling and embarrassing errors.

Our John McGaughy of the Albany News must have had experiences similar to ours. In his column last week we found an article, which kinda proves it. Here it is:

The editor of a small town newspaper, when taken to task because of an error in his newspaper, came up with this answer: "Yes, we know there were some errors in last week's newspaper. We will further agree that there were some errors in the issue the week before. But before bawling us out too unmercifully about it, we want to call your attention to these facts: In an ordinary newspaper column there are 10,000 letters, and there are seven possible wrong positions for each letter, making 70,000 chances to make errors and several million chances for transposition. There are 48 columns in this newspaper, so you can readily see the chances for mistakes. Did you know that in the sentence, 'To be or not to be,' by transposition alone, 2,759,022 errors can be made? Now aren't you sorry you got mad about that little mistake last week?"

We learned from a more or less authentic source that Adolph Hitler is still alive. Doss Holder brought us the information Tuesday morning. He said Joe Stalin called back and said: "Hitler ain't down here!"

Rev. J. R. Bateman, Pioneer Pastor, Dies Here Monday; Funeral Tuesday

Death came at 3:30 a. m. Monday as a release from earthly cares and suffering for Rev. J. R. Bateman, beloved pioneer preacher and retired Methodist pastor of Munday. He passed away quietly at his home in Munday after an illness of several weeks.

When this beloved pastor superannuated several years ago, he decided Munday was the place he wanted to spend his remaining years. Here he renewed acquaintances with old friends and made new ones who were inspired by his wonderful character and his humble, christian life. When he knew the end was near, he asked to be removed from the hospital to his home in Munday to spend his remaining days.

Jasper Rivers Bateman was born March 7, 1876, in Red River County, and was married to Miss Tommie Wallace May 6, 1900. He was 77 years, one month and six days of age.

Much of his life was spent in the Methodist ministry, and he served churches at Weinert, Westover, McCauley, the Munday Circuit, O'Brien and other places. He superannuated in 1940 and moved back to Munday from Whiteface.

During the war years, he was again pressed into service as supply minister, and served the Bomarton Circuit, O'Brien, and preached at a number of area churches. The only time this great man turned down an opportunity to serve his fellowman was after his fatal illness set in.

Rev. Bateman was a member of Knox Lodge No. 851 AF&AM, and served as chaplain of the order for a number of years.

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist Church at 2 p. m. Tuesday, with the pastor, Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, officiating, and Rev. T. W. Guthrie of Sweetwater assisting. Burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Mahan Funeral Home and with members of the Munday Masonic Lodge in charge of graveside services.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Ellen Jackson of Fort Worth and Miss Ollie Bateman of Waco; a brother, Steven Bateman of Fort Towson, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Chris Holt of Muleshoe and Mrs. Annie Carter of Levelland.

LEFLAR DAUGHTER ARRIVES ON FRIDAY

Great Day For Pioneer Pastor

Sunday, April 23, 1950, was a great day in the life of Rev. J. R. Bateman, above, pioneer pastor and man of God, who passed away Sunday night after an illness of several weeks. He is shown turning a spadeful of dirt in groundbreaking ceremonies which marked the beginning of construction of the new Methodist Church building in Munday.

Saveway Store Will Open Soon

Joe Sahade, owner of the Munday Food Store, is constructing a building to house his store and says it will likely be ready for occupancy next week. When the move is made, the store name will change to Saveway Store, Sahade said.

"Our new store will be California styled," he said, "with a four color scheme on the inside and new modern open-type refrigerated meat and milk cases. We will feature a complete stock of groceries, including Stokely's foods from Leonard Bros. in Fort Worth.

"We believe we will have one of Knox County's most modern grocery stores. Another feature will be complete diet and diabetic foods," Sahade continued, "and we will also have plenty of parking space, something we have not had in our old location."

Mr. and Mrs. Sahade invite the public to visit their new store, which they hope to move into next week.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

SOUTH BOSTON, HALIFAX, VA., GAZETTE:
 "Whether the money comes from Washington . . . or from the treasurer's office at Halifax, it still has to be paid by the people. But there dwell among us those who dream of some modern Utopia where the halls are paved with gold and the carpets are of Persian weave. Like all Utopias, it never quite comes off, and bitter is the frustration of those who are led to believe that it will."

MADERA, CALIF., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, former Air Secretary . . . declared . . . that the jealousies and rivalries between the branches of the Armed Forces are . . . seriously impeding military efficiency and are imposing an unnecessarily high cost for defense on the nation."

HAGERSTOWN, MD., MORNING HERALD:
 ". . . the TVA is socialism—and all the evasions and denials emanating from it or from its proponents can't make it otherwise. It is government by bureaucratic authority. It is entirely monopolistic. It pays no federal taxes. It arbitrarily fixes rates. It is not bound by the rules that govern private enterprise—in taxation or competition or responsibility to stockholders."

CONSTANTLY BETTER MEDICAL CARE

A short time ago the eighth National Conference on Rural Health was held in Virginia, under the sponsorship of the American Medical Association. The meeting drew more than 600 representatives of medical, agricultural, university extension services and other groups with a combined membership of several millions. Forty-two states and the District of Columbia were represented. And the gist of the reports and statements made, is that medical care facilities in rural areas are increasing rapidly through co-operative, voluntary efforts of medical, farm and community groups.

Some extremely important talks were made. As an example, many people have felt that a step in bettering rural medical care is simply to increase the number of doctors graduated by our medical schools, on the theory that many of them would establish rural practices. This idea was tellingly refuted by the president of the AMA, who said, "A physician who has spent eight to thirteen years of his life in being trained to practice modern medicine is not willing to settle in an area where there are no facilities for practicing such a type of medicine. Increasing the number of physicians will not do it, as they would still tend to congregate in cities." He pointed out that in some states the problem has been solved by the community providing medical facilities and then permitting the doctor to rent or buy them. Then needed physicians have been obtained. In these days of good roads and automobiles every community does not need a hospital as long as one is available within a reasonable distance.

The big point is that tremendous progress in solving rural medical care is being made by voluntary action. We don't need government to tell us how to do it—or to attempt to do it for us.

"NEAT IDEA"

A surging wave of support has been given to the proposal, first made some months ago by former Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, that the government get out of commercial business, starting with the electric power business.

One convert is the New York Daily Mirror. It ran an editorial pointing out that the government first got into power production and distribution on the phony argument that the primary objective was flood control and that electricity was strictly a by-product. Then it said, "The more we contemplate it, the more we like Charles E. Wilson's idea for returning government business enterprises to private ownership. His plan involves purchase by war bond and other government security holders. They'd swap their earnings for shares. The government would avoid interest payments. The new owners of former government projects would have a chance for better return on their investment. Altogether, a neat idea."

Last, but certainly not least, sale of these socialized businesses would return billions to the Treasury, and would stop the endless output of our tax money for building and supporting such wasteful, unnecessary, freedom-destroying ventures.

COURAGE AND SELF-DENIAL

Can the budget be balanced? Taxpayer's Dollar, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, recently analyzed the 1954 budget offered by the last Administration in some detail—and showed how a balance can be attained. Then it made this wise observation: "Balancing the budget will require courage on the part of the Administration and the Congress. And for us, the citizens, it may require self-denial on some of our pet projects. . . . But the pay-off will be lower taxes, a higher standard of living, and a healthier economy for the long cold war ahead."

What this means is that we must get rid of the attitude that government economy is fine for the other fellow—but that government should keep right on spending the people's tax money on unnecessary projects that happen to be of temporary benefit to us. The minor financial pains that cutting the cost of government will entail must be shared by all—just as the enormous, long-lasting benefits will be shared by all.

THE PREACHER'S BOX

"Let me not, I pray you, respect any man's person; neither will I give flattering titles unto any man. For I know not to give flattering titles." (Job 32:21-22.)

I have been asked by several good, well meaning people, "What is your title?" or "What can I call you?" or "You are a pastor, are you not?"

The above scripture is one reason why I would not wear a title and also why people should not give me a flattering title.

It is the belief and practice of the church of Christ to call "Bible things by Bible names." Thus, another reason.

A preacher is not a pastor unless he has been appointed to the "office of a bishop," overseer or elder. These words in the New Testament mean the same thing and are used interchangeably to denote the same office. I never have been appointed to the office.

The word reverend is not used in the Bible as a title for man. There is no mention in the New Testament of "Reverend Paul" or "Right Reverend Peter." They refused "to glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." (Gal. 6:14.) Some preachers speak of Paul as just plain Paul, James as just plain James and John as just plain John but speak of themselves and other preachers as "Reverend So and So." We are reminded of the pertinent words of Jesus; (Whosoever would become great among you shall be your minister; and whosoever would be first among you shall be your servant." (Matt. 20:26,27).

As far as the word father is concerned, it is often used in direct opposition to the teaching of Christ: "And call no man father on the earth; for one is your Father, even he who is in heaven." (Matt. 23:9.) This is speaking of a religious usage rather than a physical relationship, because the Holy Spirit often uses the word "father" in speaking of one's parents. Is it not strange that millions will use a title that is positively forbidden by Christ?

"If any man speak let him speak as the oracles of God." 1 Pet. 4:11.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Einstein's Newest Theory May Be Just Fine For Albert, But For Him

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is in pretty deep water this week, but he probably lands in the shallows before his letter ends.

Dear editor:
 I read in a copy of a newspaper which was wrapped around some vegetable plants my neighbor gave me yesterday, I guess it was a pretty nice gesture and I appreciate it, but givin me some plants to set out is about as neighborly as givin a man who asked for some firewood an ax, as I say, I read in this paper where Albert Einstein has come up with a new theory of the universe.

As I understand the matter, he has a new formula which explains the universe, but nobody understands the formula and as far as I'm concerned I believe I'd just as soon be baffled by the universe as baffled by a formula about the universe. If you can't understand what any woman are naggin about, it doesn't make much difference which woman is doin the naggin. If I'm gonna lost a crop, I'd just as soon lose it from lack of work as lose it from insects or a hail storm.

Man has learned a whole lot about the universe in the last few hundred years, but it's mostly in the line of gadgets. I doubt if Malenkov, the new Russian dictator, has the mental capacity to make an atom bomb, but the trouble is he has the political capacity to drop one. It seems to me if we allowed only the people capable of makin atom bombs to use them, we might all be safer off. On the other hand you could carry this theory too far in other directions. While it would suit me all right to have only the people capable of building tractors run em, I'm afraid some of my more energetic neighbors wouldn't like it. While it seems to me the least the man who invented the hoe could do is swing it himself exclusively or the man who invented the lawn mower could do is run it himself, there are people who persist in hornin in on hoe-swinging and lawn mowin themselves.

Einstein may be able to figure out a formula that'll explain the universe satisfactorily to him, but I intend to keep on being baffled myself. It's easier, you do it in the shade, and you'll have a whole lot more company.

I've got a formula for runnin this farm more efficiently, but when it comes to a choice between workin and stayin baffled I'll stay baffled.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

There are many ideas for moving pictures—but not many new ones, declares Sam Zimbalist, famous producer of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The difficulty that a movie-maker has, in comparison to other activities, (for example, a writer) is, that a writer can do an article for "Field and Stream" or for the "New Yorker", a specialized audience, but a motion picture to yield a profit, must appeal in Idaho and Indiana as well as in New York; in fact it must appeal to Paris and South America as well as the United States, he continued.

Motion pictures have their ups and downs and some attribute part of the troubles to television but recently the movies have been going fine again, Zimbalist stated, adding, "It has been proved that people will go to see a picture that is good."

And Zimbalist has certainly made his share of good ones! Back in the winter of 1939-40, I was associated with him (as technical advisor and writing consultant) in the writing of "Boom Town", which cost $1,500,000 but would cost far more now. "Boom Town" was the biggest box office attraction of the year. Later triumphs of Zimbalist's genius include "King Solomon's Mines", which was No. 1 at the box office two years ago, and "Quo Vadis", the most costly motion picture ever made.

It was my first visit to Hollywood since the "Boom Town" experience and I was more than a little doubtful that I would be remembered—but I needn't have been worried. Zimbalist was most cordial and, over sword-fish luncheon in the M-G-M commissary, between greetings from top executives and stars, he told of his boyhood: born in Brooklyn, being forced by financial needs to drop out of high school, coming to Hollywood where he was film editor and has since "done about everything except act." Related in a modest way, the story nevertheless was heart-warming proof that America is the land of opportunity.

FASHIONS FOUND IN VERSATILE AWNING

Milady can dress to match the roof of her patio this summer. The lounging jacket worn by this pretty miss shows how fashionable and versatile striped awning canvas can be. Many new uses are being found for canvas in and out of its traditional role of protecting homes from summer heat. This heavy, colorful fabric is being widely used not only in window and patio awnings, in vertical shields, pivotable screens, portable shelters, outdoor draperies, backyard umbrellas, but also in feminine apparel.

In his office are native spears and shields from Africa, (moments of "King Solomon's Mines") and jewel-like miniatures of Roman chariots and temples (reminders of "Quo Vadis") and plaques and other trophies which the pictures he has produced have own.

Tall, heavy-set, handsome, his thick dark hair just beginning to grey, Zimbalist said, deprecatingly, "Maybe I should have chosen some other field."

This from a man who is outstanding in a great industry—a man whose creations have made millions all over the world happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Doris Tuggle and children took Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tuggle to Fort Worth last Saturday. Mr. Tuggle remained in Fort Worth while Mrs. Tuggle went to Cleburne to be with her mother, who is ill.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9—Recently Senator Lyndon Johnson had a luncheon in the Capitol honoring America's leading Jet Ace, Colonel Royal Baker of McKinney, Texas. Besides Senator Daniel and the whole Texas delegation in the House, Secretary of Navy R. B. Anderson, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, Chief of Staff of the Air Force, General Vandenberg, Secretary of Air, Harold E. Talbot, attended. I think everyone there was greatly impressed with Colonel Baker. He is a man who possesses one of the most outstanding records of any pilot, having flown over 399 combat missions in World War II and the Korean War, 127 of which were flown in Korea. We were told that he had asked that his tour of duty in Korea be extended because he felt that because of his experience there he could be of more service to his country if he remained in combat. The Colonel spoke to us briefly, and I was tremendously impressed with his modesty, his sincerity and his devotion to his country. Everyone present was visibly moved when he told us that in spite of his brilliant record of service and sacrifice, that he did not feel that he had done his share—in fact, that he did not think anybody knew what a man's share was when he was fighting for freedom and his country. As long as we Americans possess the intangible ingredient that produces men like Colonel Baker, no matter how dark the days may seem, we can face the future with a feeling of confidence and security. He is a man that every Texan and every American can justly be proud of.

The Russians continue to make peaceful overtures to the West. Like all of you, I hope and pray that they are sincere and that their motives are good, however, it is important that we evaluate carefully each of their proposals and remember that time and time again they have gone through this same procedure either for propaganda purposes or for the purpose of lulling us into a feeling of false security.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Montgomery of Fort Worth were week end visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Clough.

Activities of The Colored People

An interesting P.T. A. was held last Thursday night in which a complete report of our activities were given for this school year. Some of the things accomplished by the P.T. A. included purchase of a piano, hexograph set for the primary room, Christmas bags for a hundred children, gravel for school campus and aided the lunchroom by paying the girls a small weekly sum for work in the school kitchen. Amount raised $206.45. We wish to thank our parents and friends for their loyal support.

R. B. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Thomas, left Tuesday morning for the Army. On Monday night he was honored at the school by approximately thirty-five friends. Recorded music, games and refreshments were enjoyed by all. Dennis Williams made an inspiring talk after which Miss A. D. Clay presented the gift.

We are enjoying the magazines donated our school by Mrs. Moorhouse and Mr. Powell.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—The trouble with spring is that it is a season when most people's thoughts turn naturally to picnics and exploratory sojourns into the great outdoors. At this time of the year, such a turn of mind could, unless care is taken, mean exposure to the fever-laden bite of a tick with a big name.

In scientific circles, one of these pernicious little parasites goes by the name of Ornithodoros turicata. It can bite you without your ever knowing it, so painless is his attack. He feeds so quickly before releasing his hold and dropping off that most of his victims never know they have provided him with a blood meal.

He belongs to the soft-shelled tick family, and is the most important transmitting agent of relapsing fever, a tropical disease well known in Texas.

Technical workers in the Bureau of Laboratories at the State Department of Health go into all sections of the state searching for these little disease bearers, gathering specimens from their natural habitat.

State Health Department laboratory specialists have added many refinements to diagnostic techniques relating to relapsing fever. The strange disease occurs all over the world, despite its being classified as a tropical disease. It has been endemic in Venezuela for many years and has become all too prevalent in the United States in recent years.

There is, as yet no serum known to be effective against relapsing fever. While it usually can be successfully treated when identified, its diagnosis is often difficult. Many cases run their full course without the miserable victims ever knowing what caused their distress.

Soft-shelled ticks usually inhabit caves and abandoned buildings, while their hard-shelled counterparts stick to the woods and fields.

And so whenever you go on a picnic, or whatever you do to commune with nature, have fun—but be careful of those ticks.

Floors of Oak Win Wide Favor

Younger members of the household, like the rail-rodgers above, look with approval upon the growing popularity of hardwood as a home flooring material. Uncovered hardwood floors, many generations of children have found, are ideal for indoor play. Durable and easily cleaned, they provide play-level protection against cold and dampness. Builders report floors of oak rate high on the list of "most wanted" home features for 1953. A recent large scale survey showed they are preferred by 83 per cent of prospective home owners, 90 per cent of architects, 86 per cent of housing contractors and 96 per cent of real estate men. Interior decorators are encouraging home owners to utilize the natural beauty of uncovered oak in room planning. They point out that a gleaming oak floor blends perfectly with any color plan. It also is a harmonizing influence when furniture of different periods is used in the same room.

Grain Prices To Be Determined By The Farmers

The price of the 1953 wheat crop will largely be determined by farmers, it was pointed out at a Wheat Marketing School held in Wichita Falls on March 30th, under the supervision of Fred Dines, Extension Wheat Marketing Specialist from Amarillo. Basis of this statement was a summary of talks by W. B. Coombs, Wheat Marketing Specialist of the USDA, Chicago, Ill.; H. H. Walkden, USDA Entomologist, Manhattan, Kansas; and a representative of the Food and Drug Administration.

Coombs gave a demonstration that should discourage farmers from cutting grain with too much moisture. This test is to gather 100 straws after the combine early in the morning when the wheat is known to be wet, then to gather 100 straws after the combine later in the day when the wheat is dryer, then compare the number of grains of wheat left in the straw of each. FROM 3 TO 10% OF GRAIN CAN BE LOST BY COMBINING WHEN THE GRAIN IS TOO HIGH, for the grain is thrown over, and not thoroughly cleaned.

Walkden then pointed out the dangers of storing high moisture wheat, either on the farm or in the elevator. Wheat with moisture content of over 1% heats rapidly, and this heat increases insect activity. Insect damage of grain occurs mainly in storage, and by a thorough cleaning of the storage bins, and fumigation of the stored grain, insect damage can be held to a minimum when the moisture content is low.

The representative of the Food and Drug Administration pointed out that 75c a bu. and over could result from forced sale of grain as livestock feed, as excessive insect damage, and contamination from birds and rodents would condemn the grain for use in the making of human food.

From the aforementioned statements, it can clearly be seen that the contamination must be controlled by the storage man, but the moisture content can only be controlled by the farmer. Elevator operators have pledged to clean elevators and keep the grain clean, but only co-operation of all the wheat farmers can control the moisture problem. If grain is too wet when brought in, it will either be refused or sold for a lower price, and Coombs also told how each farmer could prepare a moisture tester for 5 cents that would assist in determining when the grain was dry enough for storage. This tester consists of placing 1/2 teaspoon of ammonium chloride which can be obtained at the drug store in a small glass bottle, and filling the bottle half full of grain. Tightly the lid, then shake the bottle for 50 times. If the ammonium chloride does not stick together, the grain is below 14% moisture content, but if the salt sticks together, there is over 14% moisture in the grain, and it is too wet for storage.

BY FOLLOWING THE ABOVE RECOMMENDATIONS EACH FARMER CAN BE SURE OF HAVING DRY WHEAT FOR THE MARKET AND OBTAINING TOP PRICE FOR HIS GRAIN.

In addition to the sale and storage of grain talks, Dr. I. M.

Siding a New House

IF YOU'RE planning to build a house, you have many things to consider. Among them are three factors which can spell the success or failure of your construction venture—foundation, framing and siding. Good materials and craftsmanship here are mighty important.

Since siding "shows," it is of more than passing interest to the owner. In siding, he wants such things as nice appearance, long life and as little maintenance as possible. A material that meets these qualifications recently was placed on the market as a packaged siding. It is Masonite Siding, made of Tempered Preswood, an all-wood panel that has proved itself over a quarter-century under all weather conditions.

Masonite Siding comes in widths that are ideal for ranch style houses—12, 16 or 24 inches. These widths are inexpensive, and they add greatly to the appearance, used as lap siding with shadow strips. Of course, Masonite Siding can be used as panel siding, too, with attractive batten strips for a nice architectural effect.

Countless builders are turning to this siding because it is economical in first cost, in application and in upkeep. Its smoothness and high density make Masonite Siding an ideal base for paint. The absence of grain and knots gives it unusual paint-holding qualities—meaning that you have fewer re-painting jobs.

Atkins of the Denton Experiment Station gave a report on grain variety research, and gave the following recommended varieties for this area:

COMMANCHE, WESTAR, WICHITA AND EARLY TRIUMPH.

For information on the wheat program, contact your local elevator operator or county agent. Attending the grain school from Knox County were Lester Hickman, Truscott; George Nix, Gore; M. H. Reeves, Munday, and W. C. Pallmeyer, County Agent.

Knox 4-H Members Make Study Of Hogs At April Meetings

Subject to the April 4-H meetings for the boys of Knox County was swine. Slides were shown on fitting, showing and judging hogs to all nine clubs in the county, and boys were encouraged to observe and practice correct methods in handling animals, grooming them, and trimming them for shows. Pointers were also given by the county agent on how to select a good animal, and in connection with the meeting, experiments with antibiotics are being carried on to determine the gains that can be realized by the use of antibiotics in hog feed. Litters owned by Arnold Pack, Knox City,

Cotton Classing Program Is Ready For Knox Farmers

The annual Smith-Doxey program is ready for Knox County cotton farmers, H. J. Matejowski, in charge of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office, announced today.

Sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's PMA Cotton Branch, the Smith-Doxey program enables co-operating Cotton Improvement Groups to get their cotton classed without cost. They also can get free market price quotations from which they can gauge local cotton values.

Application forms for the 1953 program can be obtained from the County Agent, Abilene Cotton Classing Office, or local ginners. One application by the Group leader covers all members.

Last year, 1,172 farmers in the County took advantage of these services, Matejowski said.

Maynard Moore, Rhineland, Gene Montandon, Munday, Lee Jordan, Goree, and Johnny Jones, Goree are being used for the experiment, and also a litter, owned by Nickie Leaverton of Benjamin will be tested. Present experiment is with pellets which are implanted behind the pig's ear, and are supposed to increase weight of the animals at weaning time by 10%. Results of the experiment will be released when completed.

KNOW YOUR NURSERY-MAN

How many times have you purchased nursery stock from a mail order house or roadside stand only to find later that the plants were inferior or misrepresented.

It happens all too frequently. Many times the plants fail to grow at all. If they do, the gardener may discover he has a weak, multiflora hedge rose instead of the American Beauty he was expecting—or perhaps a tree crippled with disease when he was entitled to healthy stock for the price paid.

For many years legitimate nurserymen have suffered the consequences of these actions by unscrupulous operators. Reliable local dealers and out-of-state houses are eager and willing to cooperate with Texas officials in wiping out the fly-by-night firms which abuse the public trust.

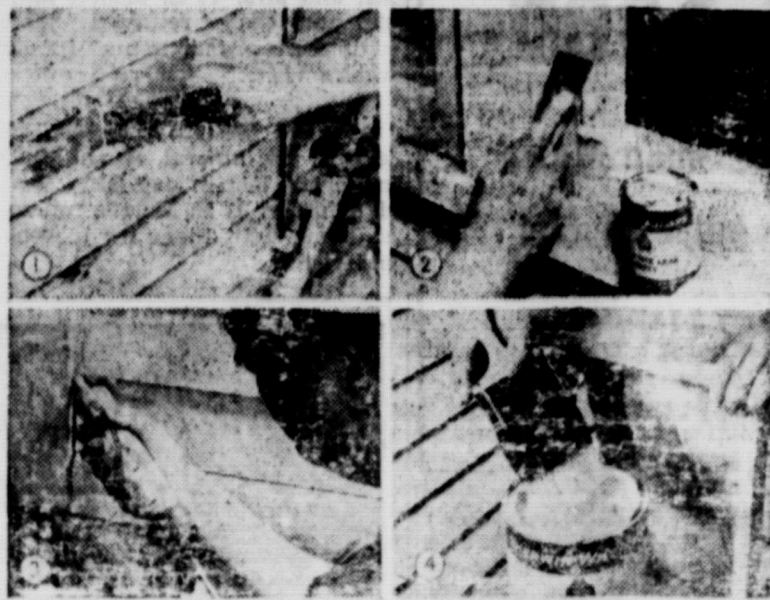

One of the duties of the Texas Department of Agriculture of which few people are aware is the inspection and certification of nurseries operating within the state. The department also checks with similar agencies in states from which dealers want to ship plants into Texas. When the firms and their nursery stock meet state specifications, a certificate is issued.

There are nearly 6,000 state inspected firms operating within Texas. Each one has been issued a license which certifies that the stock on hand is apparently free of disease or harmful insects. Each nursery is spot-checked periodically to make certain a high standard is maintained.

Every person who sells plants, or exposes plants for the purpose of sale—whether in the field off a truck, or in a business house—is required by the Texas Orchard & Nursery Inspection Law to secure a license. The buyer desires good stock should make certain that he is doing business with a legally operating, state licensed firm or individual. It may save disappointment later.

Painting Tips Save Time and Money

"Good paint, properly applied, does double duty for the farmer." So says Arthur W. Stuedel, president of the Sherwin-Williams Co., and he marshals some impressive evidence to back up that belief. "Paint protects buildings against the ravages of weather," he points out, and actually increases property values because well-cared-for buildings are always worth more than run-down structures.

For best results, paint should be carefully chosen and applied in the right way. First rule to remember is that the cheapest paint is not necessarily the least expensive. The real cost of paint is determined by how long it will hold up before repainting is necessary. "Weathered" paint, scientifically formulated to resist excessive chalking, color fading, checking and loss of gloss holds up as many as four, five or six years. Thus the cost-per-year is considerably lower than that of paints with a shorter life span.

Correct application is as important as the paint itself. Paint stays put longer when applied to a properly prepared surface. It does not pay to skimp on the amount of paint. The coat of paint, after all, is all that stands between the wood and the weather. A too-thin coat can be as useless as a silk shirt in a snowstorm. As a final precaution, Stuedel urges farmers to "read the label before you use the paint. The few minutes that takes can save hours of effort."

lieve the nursery stock you bought is inferior, diseased or misrepresented, it should be reported at once. Contact the official nursery inspector located nearest your home.

Men's Fashions Beating The Heat

There's cool comfort in men's summer fashions this year—and it's about time the poor male got a break in that respect. No longer need he choose between sweltering in a heavy suit that looks well and being comfortable but disheveled in a spineless, lightweight suit that collapses into wrinkles by late afternoon.

The National Cotton Council reveals that designers have fashioned cotton cord and denim with wrinkle-resistant finishes into excellently tailored business suits. Casual jackets of cotton tweed, denim, cotton cord, or corduroy come in charcoal grey, browns and golds, and soft blues. They are worn with matching or contrasting slacks or shorts or walkers (popular with golfers.)

Sport shirts in plisse, chambray, and cotton madras are available in every color of the rainbow. Fast-drying terry cloth is a favorite for beachwear. Reversible beach jackets combine terry and sailcloth or denim.

And the final triumph! No longer is it necessary for wives to bully husbands into their formal wear on muggy summer evenings, for now men can enjoy cool dinner clothes made of sail-cloth. For that double cool look, the jacket is made in white; the trousers, black. Ensembled with this cotton suit are an organdie shirt, a checked cummerbund and bow tie.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Rev. Deon Martin, ministerial student in McMurry College and Miss Patsy Morrow, student in Hardin-Simmons in Abilene, were week end guests in the home of Miss Morrow's mother, Mrs. Freddie Morrow. Rev. Martin preached at the Methodist Church Sunday night.

Spell petrochemical the easy way...

P-R-O-G-R-E-S-S

Progress in finding and producing oil is an old story to the oil country. Nearly everybody has heard about the oil industry's day-to-day miracles in exploration and production.

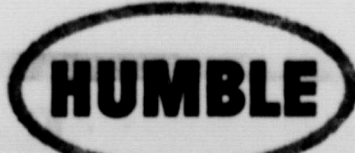

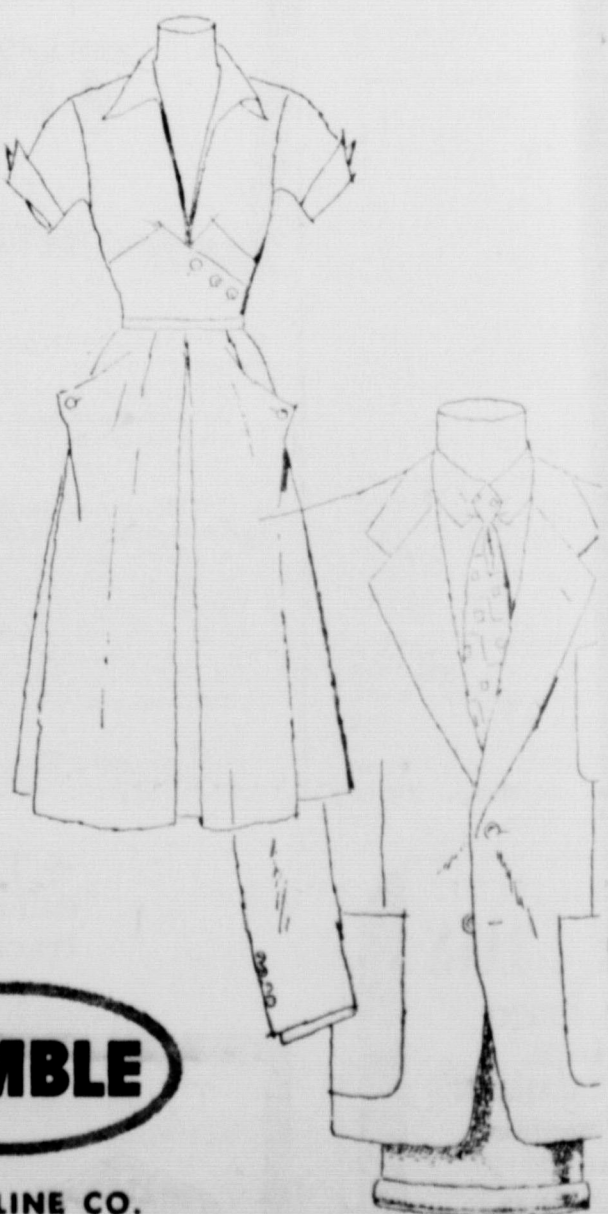

Now we all have a new series of miracles to wonder at—the transformation of petroleum hydrocarbons into chemical products of astonishing variety. These chemicals from petroleum have even added a new word to the American vocabulary—petrochemical.

Progress in the field has been amazing. The capital investment in new industries based on the petrochemicals has mounted to hundreds of millions. The new plants have created thousands of new jobs. And petrochemicals, as an industry, have provided a wider, a more complete, use of the country's oil resources.

Butadiene and butyl for synthetic rubber, toluene for TNT, solvents, aldehydes, and many other petrochemicals—even alcohols—are now produced in oil refineries. For example, the Humble Company, at its Baytown, Texas, refinery, is building facilities to manufacture paraxylene, the raw material for the new fabric called dacron.

The day may come, and very quickly, when you can be clothed from tip to toe in synthetic fabrics derived from petroleum; when petrochemicals provide the rubber for your tires, the plastics for your car's interior fittings, the fabric for the seat covers, the vehicle for body paint and polish.

The petrochemicals spell progress... progress to which the oil industry contributes research, capital, manufacturing facilities and, most importantly, an enterprising spirit.
