Here's How Munday Looked When It Used To Rain!

Folks, you've seen this picture before, but it's a pretty good scene to look at today, since we've had only three days of below 100 degrees during June. It's how Munday looked when it really rained here, during the "big flood" of June 13, 1930.

Then in 1940 it rained again, and one could barely walk across the street without water sloshing over the tops of rubber boots.

The "flood" likely won't occur again, with the town's drainage ditch. At least, we'd like to see enough water to clean out the ditch.

Farm Bureau Is Active In Fight For Agriculture

The Texas Farm Bureau Federation lived up to its slogan "protects and promotes agriculture", during the recent session of the 53 Legislature in Austin, according to Hubert H. Sego, president of the Haskell County.

"For farmers and ranchers the most important aspect of the session was the absence of any real threat to take away the rural road program annual appropriations, the counties' share of vehicle registration fees and county road bond assumption monies," Sego said.

During the 1951 session an attempt was made to take money from those sources, plus the farmer's refund on tractor gasoline tax, for use in the construction of superhighways. The Farm Bureau mustered enough strength to defeat the forays and rallied late in the session to push through a gathering tax on natural gas.

This year at the state capitol a bill was introduced to take away one-fourth of the farmer's refund on tractor gasoline tax. The bill was never considered. Also, a bill was introduced to increase the sale tax on gasoline from four to five cents a gallon. It, too, was never brought up for vote. Both bills were contrary to Farm Bureau resolutions, and the County Farm Bureau organizations over the state rose up to help prevent passage.

Another bill which would have been harmful to farmers had it passed, was the Administration-backed plan to reshuffle the state's school funds and force local districts to bear an increasing share of the Minimum School Fund. The Farm Bureau was among many civic-minded groups which successfully fought the bill.

Among the more important bills passed this year with Farm Bureau backing, approval or sponsorship, included legislation designed to eradicate the swine disease, Vesicular Exanthema; a bill which regulates the sale, use and distribution of hormone-type herbicides, a law which gives grain farmers their best warehouse legislation to date; and better seed laws.

The Texas Farm Bureau was instrumental in securing an increase in appropriations of nearly a-half million dollars for Texas A. & M. College Extension Service and Experiment Stations. Of this amount, $238,320 was earmarked for use in the counties. County President Sego said that Texas Farm Bureau opened an office in Austin this year to facilitate the work on its legislative program. The office was staffed by Vice President C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma and State Director Lois D. Barbour of Bova Park. Both men are farmers and experienced in farm legislation.

"We are going to make sure that the interests of farmers and ranchers were protected this year," Mr. Sego explained. "That is why Farm Bureau opened the Austin office. Also, it was easier for the various Farm Bureaus over the state to coordinate efforts with the state organization. The Austin office kept the county leaders informed on what was happening and what was

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Commenting on the unusually high incidence of dysentery in Texas at the present time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer described dysentery as being an infectious disease characterized by diarrhea pain in the abdomen, and toxemia. It is caused by a specific bacteria or germ. These germs cause inflammation of the lining of the intestinal tract which produces pain throughout the abdomen and the discharge of many loose stools that frequently contain blood and mucus. Toxemia results from absorption of the poisonous substances produced by the germs.

"The germs gain entrance to the body through the mouth," Dr. Cox said, "and then make way to the intestines in the same manner in which food does. When they reach the intestines they find conditions favorable to their growth, and there they establish themselves at the expense of the person infected and produce their harmful effects."

Dr. Cox warned that dysentery affects children more often and more seriously than adults, frequently resulting fatally; however, he said it may occur at any age. It is usually more prevalent during the summer season, and the great number of cases now being reported are unusual for spring.

The germ is always expelled with the excreta of persons sick with dysentery and may continue to be expelled for some time after the patient recovers from the disease. These persons who still discharge the germs after they recover are called carriers, and they occur more frequently in this disease than in the majority of other infectious diseases.

Food protection and sanitary measures are more urgently needed now than ever before if we control the potential possibilities of epidemic dysentery in this State.

Better Prices For Cotton With Classing Program

Farmers get better prices for their cotton when they know these things before going to market, according to H. J. Matejowsky of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He named grade, staple length, and knowledge of local price quotations. Then he explained that farmers armed with these facts are in a position to demand fair value where as those who only know that they've got a bale of cotton to sell are likely to get paid less.

There's a simple way for farmers to get this information, he pointed out, and at no cost. They can sign up with a cotton improvement group under the Smith-Doxey program. To do this, a farmer must contact his County Agent, the Cotton Classing Office, or his local ginster. After this group is organized, the elected group leader files one application with the Cotton Classing Office covering all of its members.

"Once this is done," Matejowsky said, "members will get free classing service on all their cotton." And, in addition, they can get USDA's price quotations each week. This service is mailed free upon request.

And when the cotton is classed by USDA, Matejowsky stated, farmers will get back a green classing card showing grade and staple length. With this card they can sell their cotton without bothering to submit samples to buyers.

Matejowsky reminded interested farmers to sign up before the deadline date to insure their place in the 1953 program.

Mrs. Lyn Hay of Abilene visited her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Harrison, last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Marguerite Hammett of Abilene was a guest in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hammett, over the week end.

THE MUNDAY TIMES

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

Washington, D. C., June 19, 1953. This week I discussed the severe drought situation in the Thirteenth District with Congressman Hope of Kansas, who is Chairman of the Agriculture Committee, and Congressman Hill of Colorado, who is Chairman of the Livestock Subcommittee, along with representatives of the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of the Budget in an effort to work out some program that will be of benefit to the drought area. One thing that can be done is Cottonseed meal, cake, and pellets could be made available to the ranchers in this area. At this time the Government has on hand about 700,000 tons of cottonseed meal, cake, and pellets. At the present time this would be sold in the foreign market at a price substantially below the market price in this country. After July 1st, the Government will start moving a greater volume of this on the foreign market at even a lower price. It seems to me that this feed should be made available to the farmers and ranchers in the drought area. It is also necessary, in my opinion, to take some action to assure that corn is available at a price that is reasonable to the feeders. As long as corn can be marketed on the market at a price that is more advantageous than feeding it to cattle, there will be very few cattle fed.

I have also spent a couple of hours talking to Secretary of Agriculture Benson about this problem. He told me that as a result of the earlier meeting we had had with the Chairman of the Congressional Committees and representatives of the Budget and Department of Agriculture, that he had discussed the matter of the severe drought with the President and Members of the Cabinet and that they would have some program concerning the drought area in a very short time.

The Secretary will be in Lubbock on June 27th. I suggested to him that if his time would permit that he personally see a great deal of the drought area and that he discuss the matter with farmers and ranchers in Making feed available to the ranchers or extending any additional credit under the Farmers Home Administration or a similar agency cannot progress with any degree of success without the endorsement and approval of the Executive Branch, or more particularly, the Secretary of Agriculture, and as I have stated, Mr. Benson said that he and his Department had been carefully studying the situation and that they would have some program to announce in a short time. After the program is announced, then we can begin to make some real progress. I intend to keep in constant touch with this situation and to do all that I can to see that some effective, workable program is worked out.

Five Year Average Is Proposed For Cotton Allotments

Cotton acreage under crop control allotments for most West Texas counties will be increased if a three-year average on cotton acres in cultivation is substituted for the present formula which is based on a five-year average.

Hearings are due to start in Washington before congressional committees during the coming week on House Bill 5655 and Senate Bill 2106, which propose the substitution widely supported by many western cotton growers.

Information developed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from records published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that all but 20 of 117 cotton-growing counties in West Texas would gain acreage by passage of these bills, largely because of new acreage put into cotton production during recent years.

The law provides that allotments be based on an average acreage of five crop years—1947, 1948, 1950, 1951, and 1952. The year of 1949 was specifically omitted.

The new proposal would change the basis of the three years of 1951, 1952 and 1953.

West Texas as a whole would gain 688,900 acres for 1954, if the new formula is approved by Congress. The WTCC urges every grower to give his Congressman his opinion of the most desirable formula.

Knox County would be allotted 81,000 acres on the proposed three-year basis and 83,500 on the present five-year basis.

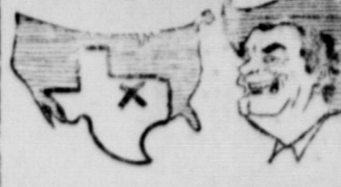

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Clark of San Antonio were visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Suggs, over the week end. Mr. Clark left Saturday for Camp Stoneman, Calif., where he will be shipped to Japan. Mrs. Clark plans on staying here for her parents.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

Each year, farmers and ranchmen use a large amount of short-term credit to good advantage.

Such credit is usually not secured by a lien on real estate but is largely repaid within one year, although some runs for a longer period. A quick look at this situation shows that these short term debts increased for 2.9 billion dollars on January 1, 1946, to about 7.6 billion dollars on January 1, 1953.

In the past few years, farm production costs jumped and labor became scarce. This fact encouraged farmers to do more and more of their work with labor saving machines and to spend more money for fertilizers, farm improvements, and other measures that promote larger output per man-hour of labor.

All this requires money. With incomes favorable, farmers have not hesitated to borrow to supply their short-term debt. The total short-term debt for the country as a whole has increased until it is now higher than the farm mortgage debt.

There are signs, however, that the upward trend has been halted. Economists point out that short-term debts did not increase as much in 1952 as in recent years and suggest that farmers may be tightening their debt belts.

This may be a wise move. The outlook points to a lower farm income, in general, than in recent years, and many farmers and ranchers are more careful in assuming the risks of debt. The well equipped condition of many farms, also, is making the use of short term credit less necessary in some instances.

Perhaps it doesn't pay to get too nervous about the present slide in farm prices. We can hope that most of the shakedown has already taken place. But a big debt load is dangerous. If you already have it, then refinancing on a long term basis may be in order, depending upon your present situation.

But keep your debt burden light.

Mt. Everest Feat—Coronation Jewel!

A Coronation gift to Queen Elizabeth, so rare it would be almost impossible to duplicate—the conquest of Mount Everest, world's tallest mountain peak—is finally a reality. This "Goddess Mother of the Snows" has defied man's attempts for over 30 years until the 1953 British expedition succeeded in scaling the 29,002 feet to the top. The newest and successful team consisted of 13 members, 362 porters and 20 guides. It was one of the finest equipped expeditions, carrying over 10,000 pounds of baggage, including Grape-Nuts Cereal which was carried for its low weight and high energy content. Their supplies were of the utmost importance, for at these great heights it requires tremendous physical effort to take a step.

The highest mountain peak in the world was named for the famed British Surveyor General of India, Sir Geoyrge Everest, in 1841. Over 11 men have died in the various attempts to scale the mountain. The present British team started their ascent on March 10 and established several camps ranging from 18,000 feet to the last camp which was situated about 1500 feet from the top of the Himalaya giant.

FORT WORTH — The first marketing day of the Summer season at Fort Worth Monday was a typical blazing hot one which saw liberal receipts in the cattle yards off Texas fields and ranges. The sheep run was seasonally large, too.

Trade in the cattle yards was about on par with last week's low close, and prices were at the lowest ebb on most classes of cattle and calves in over ten years. Grainfed steers were lacking, and creepfed heavy calves and a few yearlings made up the choice fat offerings in the cattle division.

Pat and Wren Jackson, Lampasas, had two toppy loads of cows at $12, that averaged 1,059, and C. P. Gray & Son, Brady, had 45 cows and heiferettes that averaged at 1,081 lbs. that topped at $13. Most other butcher cows sold for $8 to $11, and canners and cutters drew

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is trying to be helpful on the cattle price situation, but we can't see that he succeeds.

Dear editor:

I have been reflectin on the cattle market situation out here, and as you know the market has been pretty rough, not only on the cattlemen but also the bankers, as any banker who had a hundred dollars loaned on a two hundred dollar cow is now about in the cattle business with a seventy-five dollar cow and the grazing around most banks I've been in is pretty short.

Naturally, somebody ought to come to the rescue of us cattlemen and bankers, especially us cattlemen, and I don't know of anybody who's better equipped or had more experience than the

Camera Shy

Oblivious to the fame which has come to them as quadruplets, almost as rare a phenomenon with cows as with humans, the four Holsteins born on the ranch of Joaquin and Tony Pereira near Merced, California, turn their backs on the photographer as they tackle a project of much more interest. The Pereira brothers attribute their success in bringing the coy calves through hazardous days of babyhood to use of a feed containing aureomycin, an antibiotic helpful in reducing normal calf mortality from the usual 20 per cent to practically zero.

government in Washington.

Now I've been thinkin over how the government can do it, and it's not easy. A price support deal on grass might help, and I suppose there are experts in Washington who could work out a system where Bermuda grass could be supported at so much, Johnson grass at so much, needle grass at so much, etc., but the thing will be complicated ed as there's not much way to determin how much grass a pasture has been producing over the years, except to take my word for it, and some experts might not consider that reliable evidence. I always judge my pasture by the shape of my cows, when the bones begin showin I know the grass is playin out and if a neighbor's fence doesn't give before long the situation will get serious.

But the best system I've figured out is just a price support program for the cattle themselves. You buy a good Jersey steer for 18 cents a pound and keep it a year and sell it for 8 cents and there ain't no way on earth to come out ahead without goin through Washington and pickin up something on the way, and when it comes to a choice, Washington was designed to bear the brunt.

Naturally, the program is gonna have to be a little different from the price support program for grain or cotton. The government can buy grain and hold it for a better price, but you try storin a cow and you run into all kinds of complications.

But I believe Washington can do it, and if it can't, that's Washington's worry not mine.

I hope Congress will turn up the air-conditioned and really give some heavy thought to this problem. Me and my cows can't hold out much longer.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Brief Articles On The Draft Law And Regulations

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

It is the local draft board's responsibility, under the law and regulations to decide, subject to appeal, the class in which each man registered with it shall be placed.

Each registrant is considered as available for military service until his eligibility for deferment or exemption from military service is clearly established to the satisfaction of the local board.

The board is obligated to receive all pertinent information on classification presented to it, says Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director.

Mailing by the local board of a classification questionnaire to the latest address furnished by a registrant is notice to the registrant that he will be classified in I-A, unless information is presented to the local board, within the time specified for return of the questionnaire, which will justify his deferment or exemption.

Unless the local board gives him added time, the registrant must return the questionnaire filled out within 10 days from date it was mailed.

The state draft director points to this paragraph in the Selective Service Regulations which the board must always keep in mind:

"In classifying a registrant there should be no discrimination for or against him because of his race, creed, or color, or because of his membership or activity in any labor, political, religious, or other organization. Each registrant shall receive equal justice."

Kay Waheed and Abraham Choucair visited relatives in Sulphur, Okla., last Sunday.
